Finns Tense

were kept strictly secret. The President had met for hours yesterday with his foreign relations committee and members of his government.

Ever since the Communist success in Czechoslovakia, rumors have spread swiftly in this country concerning relations with Russia.

As in many of Finland's political crises, the news of this development reached the outride world before it reached the Finns. The nation learned of it only in this afternoon's newspapers.

Informed sources said they believe the Soviet letter asks for some kind of friendship or mutual defense pact, or both, from the Finns. Such a pact has been discussed previously many times, the Finns themselves taking the initiative shortly after the armistice in September, 1944.

Under the peace treaty Finland ceded the Petsamo (Pechenga) area to Russia and gave the Russians a 50-year lease for a naval base on the southwest coast overlooking sea routes to Helsinki. Finland ceded the strategic Karelian Isthmus and agreed to pay reparations of $300,000,000 in six years.

When a Finnish government delegation visited Moscow last November, it was reported the Russians again brought up the question of a defense pact. Nothing came of the discussions.

Last month a stir was created in Helsinki when the Soviet minister visited the President twice. He was reported to have told Paasikivi the Russians would prefer Finland, as the smaller nation, to take the initiative in the matter of a defense pact. Paasikivi was reported to have replied Finland would like to take up the whole problem after the parliamentary elections scheduled here in July.

civil war.

"You're talking to me like Hitler," this informant quoted the President as telling Gottwald.

The government radio—like other propaganda outlets now completely in the hands of the Communists—said the President told Gottwald at the swearing in ceremony he wished "that your way will be successful and happy."

Gottwald was said to have thanked Benes and replied:

"The attempt to split the government was a wilful act against the interests of the people. The people wanted to throw out the traitors and wanted assurance of a people's democracy. You, Mr. President, helped dissolve the crisis."

Meanwhile, the legionaries of World War I came under fire. Josef David, chairman of Parliament and a National Socialist of the old regime, is their leader. Benes is honorary commander of the Legionaries.

Veterans of World War II criticized the older veterans as having wavered during the political crisis, and demanded they be excluded from government activity.

this country."

Rosen also said it must be borne in mind that some nations which to embarrass and attack are seeking loopholes through which to embarras and attack this country.

There were these other developments:

1. In Mississippi, Judge Herbert Holmes, a leader of the southern rebellion, claimed "reluctant" governors have lost leadership of their people. Holmes was referring to the recent governors' conference plan to "go slow" in countering the President's proposals. The governors' meeting next week at Gainesville, Fla., Holmes said, will accomplish little.

Holmes declared the rank and file of southern Democrats have made the revolt "their business" and that before November the South would again be solid—"Solid Against Truman."

2. Governor James E. Folsom of Alabama counseled against talk of a southern revolt from the Democratic Party. Himself an avowed candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, Folsom said he thought differences could be ironed out within party lines.

Chairman Gessner T. McCervey of the Alabama Democratic Executive Committee contradicted Folsom. He proposed that Alabama voters choose presidential electors "who firmly believe in states' rights." McCervey had said earlier he wants southern electors free to bolt the party if they deem it wise.

3. In Arkansas it was disclosed that Democrats of that state are free to ignore the Democratic presidential nominee in November under rules adopted four years ago. The rules provide that members are not bound to support Democratic nominees in national elections—all they have to do to remain in good standing is vote for the party's state and district nominees.

Farm Prices

were set up during the war to encourage maximum production by guaranteeing farmers a relatively high price for their crops.

Now that needs are easing somewhat, Anderson wrote Capper and Hope, there is danger that the present "inflexible" support system will encourage "excessive and wasteful" production of some products.

The secretary said he favors a system of flexible price supports, ranging from 52 to 90 per cent of parity. The larger the supply of a commodity the lower the price support would be. And the other way around.

Anderson said he was prompted to ask for congressional action now because of the possibility of another potato surplus this year. He said it has cost the government $134,000,000 to support prices of the past two potato crops.

There was no immediate reaction from either Capper or Hope to Anderson's letter.

Stock Market

NEW YORK, Feb. 27 (AP)—Light selling continued to depress leading stocks in today's market, although real weakness was a rarity.

Dealings were a bit more active than in the preceding session, but slowdowns appeared frequently. While small advances remained here and there near the fourth hour, declines of fractions to a point or more were widespread.

Most customers, as well as professionals, inclined to stand aside or lighten commitments because of persistent doubts regarding disturbing international situations, business, taxes and labor.

Brooklyn Union Gas pushed up in the wake of a rate increase. Dividends and earnings brought timid support for Western Union, Tidewater Associated Oil and Commercial Credit.

New lows for the past year were touched by Autocar (on a cut quarterly), Continental Motors, North American, Pacific Telephone and R-K-O.

Backward most of the time were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, Youngstown Sheet, Chrysler, General Motors, Goodrich, United Aircraft, Lockheed, American Smelting, Phelps Dodge, Du Pont, General Electric, Dow Chemical, International Paper, Owens-Illinois, Santa Fe, Southern Railway, Pacific Western Oil, Gulf Oil and Mission Corp.

Livestock Market

THOMASVILLE, Ga., Feb. 27 (AP)—(USDA)—Livestock arrivals totaled 250 cattle, 120 calves, and 2,000 hogs at eight major packing plants at Albany, Columbus, Moultrie, Thomasville and Tifton, Ga., Dothan, Ala., and Jacksonville and Tallahassee, Fla.

Hogs prices were steady to 50 cents lower. Composite quotations at eight plants for soft and semi-hard hogs were as follows: medium to choice Barrows and Gilts 180-240 lbs. $18-$18.25; 240-270 lbs. $17-$18.50; over 270 lbs. $16.50-$18; with instances down to $17 and one 400-lb. $18-$18.75; sows to 400 lbs. $16.50-$17.50; and 130-140 lbs. $13.50-$14. Medium and good sows, $14.50-$16.50. The principal price limit in the area was $18.50 a hundredweight for good and choice 180-240 pound well shrunk soft and semi-hard hogs.

In the cattle trade of Georgia, Florida, and Alabama, prices were fully steady. Good fed steers and heifers weighing from 800-900 lbs. and more were quoted from $23-$27. Common grades were $14.50-$21.50, mostly $16.50-$19.50. Canner and cutter grades of steers, heifers, and bulls ranged $12-$17.75.

Medium beef cows were $17.50-$20.25; common, $15-$17.75; with a few common around $14-$15. Cutter cows brought $14.50-$17, with canners from $11.50-$15.50, and shelly canners $8-$13. Common and medium sausage bulls brought $17.50-$20.25.

Calves sold strong. Good and choice slaughter calves were scarce and quoted from $23-$27, with a few up to $29 in Florida. Medium grades were mainly $19-$22; common, $15-$20, and culls, $10-$17.50.

Stocker cattle sold under a broad demand. Medium grades of steers, heifers and calves were quoted from $17-$20; common $14.50-$19; and interior lightweights, $11-$16.

Although the ancients apparently knew zinc as a separate metal, the knowledge seems to have been lost in the Middle Ages.

Newspapers Show Big Advertising Gain

NEW YORK Feb. 27 (AP)—Despite newsprint shortages, more retail stores in 1947 made use of the newspaper advertising medium than in any previous year and the linage for every month in 1947 established a new record, the Bureau of Advertising, American Newspapers Publishers Association reported today.

The report was based on an analysis of 52 cities by Media Records, Inc.

The average gain of each month over a like period in 1946 was about 14 million lines. In December, newspapers gained 155 million lines over December, 1946, the announcement said.

Truman Silent On Discussion Of Candidacy

President Gravely Declines To Comment On Czech, Finnish Or Palestine Issues

WASHINGTON, Mar. 1 (AP)—President Truman today asked Congress to extend the reciprocal trade agreements act for three years, until June 12, 1951. Mr. Truman said in a message that the trade agreements act has been in effect for 14 years and has become "an essential element of United States foreign policy." The act gives the President power to work out tariff-cutting agreements with other nations.

KEY WEST Mar. 1 (AP)—President Truman refused to discuss his own candidacy and attributed to 1948 politics today the failure to get speedier settlement of foreign and domestic problems.

Speaking in a palm-shaded yard of this submarine base where he is vacationing, the chief executive gravely declined to talk about Soviet pressure on Czechoslovakia and Finland or the continued disorders in Palestine.

He did say that he has been in daily communication with Secretary of State Marshall through the State Department, but he said he could not answer in each case when reporters asked:

1. Did he think the time has come to form a military alliance in Western Europe?

2. Were there any conditions under which United States troops might be sent to Palestine?

Presidential year politics, he said, is having a very bad effect on all attempts to settle foreign affairs and domestic problems, too, particularly the housing program. He said he was not quarreling with any one since it is a situation that develops in presidential campaign years.

He said there are so many candidates in and out of the

Greyhound Given Okay To Stop In Oviedo On Detour

Florida Greyhound busses traveling between Orlando and Titusville and Miami or the east coast via State Road 426, a detour made necessary due to reconstruction of the Cheney Highway, have been granted temporary authority to make passenger stops in Oviedo and other intermediate points on the detour, it has been announced by Jerry Wharter, chairman of the Florida Railroad and Public Utilities Commission.

Busses have been running through Oviedo to and from Miami for the past month, but no passenger stops could be made until the order was received, according to Frank Talbott, mayor of Oviedo. The order was granted by the Commission Friday.

Oviedo is expected to have the bus service during the next year, the time it is estimated it will take to complete construction of Highway No. 50 between Orlando and Fort Christmas.

The detour begins from State Highway 50 about four and a half miles east of Orlando, follows the county road from Goldenrod to State Highway 426 through Oviedo to Chuluota and Lake Pickett via State Road No. 419, and from Lake Pickett to Fort Christmas via State Road 420 to the Cheney Highway which leads to Titusville.

One Of Largest Ferry Boat Fleets Closes

SEATTLE, Mar. 1 (AP)—One of the world's largest ferry fleets closed down passenger operations today, leaving an estimated 100,000 persons with only emergency transportation.

Capt. Alex M. Peabory, president of the Puget Sound Navigation Company, said early this morning:

"We're going to start the orderly liquidation of the company at once.

"The ferries will not run today."

The shutdown was ordered by Peabody after the State Department of Transportation cut a 30 per cent temporary rate increase to 10 per cent above the rate charged Feb. 15, 1947. He said the company could not operate at a profit with the lower rate.

HELSINKI, Mar. 1 (AP)—Arvo Salminen, chairman of the conservative group in Parliament, said today his followers tentatively opposed a treaty of friendship and mutual aid with Russia. He emphasized that the party's stand is not yet definite. Salminen said President Juho Paasikivi had placed this single question before various parliamentary groups: "Shall Finland appoint a delegation to discuss forming this new pact?"

Budget Director Asks Congress To Face Hard Facts

Webb Says Everything Done To Meet Problems Costs Money

WASHINGTON Mar. 1 (AP)—Budget Director James E. Webb urged today that Congress look at the "hard facts of international life" when deciding about cutting income taxes. Those "hard facts," he said, do not give much hope for big cuts in government spending in the next two years.

Webb testified before the Senate Finance Committee which is considering the House-passd bill to cut income taxes $6,500,000,000 this year.

Before Webb took the committee's witness chair, Secretary of the Treasury Snyder had stiffly opposed the House bill. Snyder said that instead of passing it Congress should adopt President Truman's plan for a $40 "cost of living" tax credit for everyone.

Webb said:

"Present indications are that this nation will face uncertain world conditions for an extended period. Practically everything we do to meet these conditions will cost money and be reflected in the budget.

"Unless world conditions change drastically for the better, the federal budget in 1950 will undoubtedly be large. That fact cannot be ignored in any consideration of legislation on taxes.

(The 1950 federal budget will be for the 12 months ending July 1, 1950).

"We Americans always have

Los Angles Has 2nd Quake Since Feb. 29th

LOS ANGELES, Mar. 1 (AP)—An earthquake of moderate intensity awakened residents throughout a pie-shaped belt of Southern California early today, but apparently caused no damage.

Its greatest force was felt in the San Bernardino Valley, 40 to 60 miles east of Los Angeles.

The quake was felt at 12:12 A. M. with an aftershock a minute later.

The tremor, which shook homes and rattled windows, was the second in 12 days. A severe quake jolted the Los Angeles area Feb. 19.

British Blame Jewish Agency For Outrages

Call For Aid Of Jewish People In Putting End To Terrorism In Palestine

WASHINGTON, Mar. 1 (AP) Government officials said today they understand Spanish bankers plan to seek a loan from commercial banks in the United States. They added there are no legal barriers to such a loan, even though the United Nations officially frown on the Franco regime in Spain.

LONDON, Mar. 1 — (AP) — Defense Minister A. V. Alexander said today Britain must be strong because "the troubles of Western Europe may again engulf the world." "No one can doubt, in the difficult situation in the world today, that we must have defense forces," Alexander said, opening a House of Commons debate on the government's defense White Paper.

JERUSALEM Mar. 1 (AP)—The British mandate government told Palestine's 700,000 Jews today they must help control terrorism or lose the right "to be numbered among civilized peoples."

It accused the Jewish Agency of excusing itself of responsibility for such acts as yesterday's train bombing by "calculated innuendoes, falsehoods and propaganda."

The Agency represents the Jewish people in their attempt to make Palestine their national home. Gershon Hirch, Jewish Agency spokesman, told a news conference shortly before the government statement was issued that the Agency abhors incidents such as the bombing.

The government said it had tried in vain to enlist the Agency's aid in fighting terrorism. It continued:

"Jewish community leaders have felt themselves unable for political reasons to take any steps to bring to justice the persons responsible for these crimes and have thus facilitated the spread of lawlessness and disorder to the point where the community itself is threatened by destruction by elements within itself.

"The Agency's recent statement that it stands for law and order whereas the government does not must be judged in the light of the fact that for many years this body has been breaking the laws of Palestine and of other countries in which it has operated.

"A recent illustration is its refusal to put forward any witnesses to give evidence in official inquiries in the Palestine Post

Greek Troops Rout Guerrilla Forces From 16 Villages

ATHENS, Mar. 1 (AP)—Newspapers said today Greek forces had chased guerrillas from 16 villages near the Albanian border.

"Violent hand-to-hand fighting" occurred in many sections, the accounts said. Informed military sources said the operation, on a loose 30-mile front, is the most extensive ever undertaken in Epirus.

The drive started Saturday. Greek troops struck from Philiates and Dholiana toward the frontier of Albania, midget Communist state.

Military commanders of the Greek Eighth Mountain Division were reported pleased, in dispatches from Ioannina. In some areas the rebels had to be dug from their fortifications.

The troops took Ashia Nicholas, five miles from Albania. They stormed and captured Likous and Kerasova and withstood counterattacks. Other villages taken included Palambas, Phaterion, Yeromeri, Malouni, Parkamkvouni, Vryzamies, Keromitsa, Ktismata, Valtitista and Lavdani.

One dispatch said the capture of the last three localities gave the army complete control of Mt. Kassadari, which dominates the area immediately south of the Albanian frontier and west of Delvinaki.

British Papers Plead For U. S. To Halt Red's Growth In Europe

LONDON, Mar. 1 (AP)—London's morning newspapers almost unanimously called today for action now to stop Russian expansion. Strikingly similar editorials appeared in newspapers of both the right and moderate left.

The conservative Daily Graphic said:

"The United States should tell Russia, explicitly and forcibly, that if she moves another mile forward in Europe, then atom bombs will rain on the Soviet Union."

The Daily Herald, organ of the Labor movement, headlined its leading editorial: "Peace or War?"

"The Soviet policy is sinister," it declared, "and the Western peoples would be reckless if they ignored its implications. But we would add this: The democracies should not be content with closing their ranks in the anticipation of conflict. They should simultaneously make a renewed effort to enlist Russian cooperation in the world-wide partnership which was planned in the San Francisco charter."

New Ministers Say Red Rule Of Czechs Is Will Of People

PRAGUE, Mar. 1 (AP)—New cabinet ministers told foreign reporters today the events last week giving Communists control of the government were the will of the people.

Vaclav Kopecky, Communist minister of information, told a news conference questioner "no figure is available" on the number arrested or how many persons were expelled from their positions. He declined also to identify the western powers Premier Klement Gottwald asserted were behind "reactionaries" in the former government.

The cabinet will meet tomorrow for the first time. The Communist leaders already have made broad promises to farmers and workers.

One minister told the reporters constitutional elections would be held in the prescribed time before Parliament is due to adjourn June 7. Alois Nuemann, National Socialist minister of posts, said however the crisis and the crush of legislation might cause a legal postponement. Kopecky said foreign correspondents would be allowed to report the election.

Antonin Gregor, Communist minister of foreign trade, said Czechoslovakia hopes to maintain trade relations with the West. He said a delegation left Saturday for Brussels to discuss trade with Belgium.

Vandenberg Urges U.S. To Stop War Before It Begins

Debate Is Begun On Five Billion Dollar Program For Aid to European Nations

By OLIVER W. De WOLF

WASHINGTON Mar. 1 (AP)—Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) appealed to the Senate today to "help stop World War III before it starts" by approving the European Recovery Program.

The Foreign Relations Committee chairman opened debate on the $5,300,000,000 Marshall Plan by telling his colleagues they face a decision "that can be a turning point in history for 100 years to come."

Denouncing "treacherous Moscow propaganda" that has "charged us with iniquitous American imperialism," Vandenberg said the 16 Western European nations must be saved from economic chaos.

"This vast friendly segment of the earth must not collapse," he said.

"The Iron Curtain must not come to the rims of the Atlantic by aggression or default."

The Communist Cominform, the Michigan Senator said, is frankly calling on its adherents to wreck the Marshall Plan.

"It is indeed 'cold war,'" he declared. "It is pressure war against the independent recovery of Europe. Obviously it also is aimed at us."

Yet Vandenberg said there is nothing in the proposal to help Western Europe economically that "threatens the Soviet police empire with any sort of consequence which she does not herself choose voluntarily to invite."

"Peace with justice is our utterly paramount concern," he declared. "Any thought of another war is abhorrent to our soul.

"But peace and appeasement are not on speaking terms; and the totalitarian idea of virtually dividing the earth between Washington and Moscow would not be peace. It would simply be a dishonorable truce preceding final, unspeakable disaster."

As Vandenberg took the floor there were indications that the

Half Billion For Japan Proposed To House Group

Expert Sees Japan As Bulwark Against Communist Forces

WASHINGTON, Mar. 1 (AP) The House Foreign Affairs Committee today invited General Douglas MacArthur and Claire Chennault to testify on aid to China. The two Generals were asked to testify either in person or by correspondence. The invitations were telegraphed by Chairman Eaton (R-NJ) after a closed committee session.

WASHINGTON Mar. 1 (AP)—A $500,000,000 recovery program for Japan together with military and economic aid for China were proposed to the House Foreign Affairs Committee today by a committee consultant.

Calling Japan "a bastion of pro-American sympathy and ideology in the Far East," William Montgomery McGovern said:

"As long as it remains reasonably prosperous it forms a bulwark against Communism. It has an importance to the Far East not unlike that of Germany for Europe.

"To reduce production in both is to heap on the direct burden on the taxpayer of the United States, and to shorten the period of general world deficiencies of production that makes United States aid necessary."

McGovern is professor of political science at Northwestern University. He made a special tour of the Orient for the Foreign Affairs Committee last year. No action has been taken by the committee on his report.

McGovern said the half-billion dollar aid he proposed should make Japan self supporting by

Body Of 80 Year Old Negro Found Floating In Lake

Victim Is Recovered By Police Department's Life Boat

The body of Will Gardner, 80 year old negro, who had been reported missing since he was seen at dusk Friday evening fishing from the sea wall at the foot of French Avenue, was recovered from the lake at 10 o'clock this morning by Deputy Charles Beck and City Patrolman Max Bass.

The recovery of the body was made by means of the Police Department's new life boat, equipped with outboard motor, and together with the trailer, put into condition under direction of Capt. Roy Tillis. This was the first time that the boat has been used for this purpose. Police Chief Roy C. Williams and Capt. Tillis operated the power winch to lower the boat into the lake at the foot of Myrtle Avenue near the Legion Hut.

The Mosely Ambulance arrived and removed the body which was first viewed by a coroners jury, hastily summoned by Justice of the Peace W. E. Watson and which included Carl Williams, C. G. Bowen, W. B. Riser, J. W. Douglas, J. T. Hardy and C. L. Franklin.

Mr. Watson, who was accompanied to the scene by Sheriff P. A. Mero, stated that an inquest concerning the death would depend upon further investigation. The negro was last seen by a group of negro women who declared he was still fishing when they left at dusk.

Patrolman Bass stated that the head of the drowned negro was sighted bobbing above the water at a point about 200 yards west of French Avenue and 50 yards from shore.

The negro is survived by the widow, Zeller Gardner of 810

DISPLACED PERSONS

WASHINGTON, Mar. 1 (AP)—Legislation to admit 100,000 "displaced persons" to the United States got the Senate Judiciary Committee's approval today. Dredging Company Directed To Fill City Terminal Area

The Hill Dredging Company was directed by the City Commission, at a special meeting Friday afternoon, to fill in the City-owned terminal area west of French Avenue to a height of two feet above the bulkhead, it was reported this morning by City Manager H. N. Sayer.

A previous bid of $10,000 by the company had been rejected by the Commission, but yesterday's bid of $8,000 for the fill was approved, said Mr. Sayer.

The land, frontage more than 1,200 feet on Seminole Boulevard and extending south to Fulton Avenue a distance of 900 feet, was formerly filled in, but not to the extent needed for freight terminal purposes, according to Mr. Sayer.

Work on the pumping of the sand from the lake bottom into the area is expected to be started in the near future, or as soon as the Woodruff Creek cut is completed at the east end of Lake Monroe. The huge dredge will also cut the triangular channel 12 feet deep in the lake, which will be used by river boats to carry freight to and from the new terminal area.

Following the completion of work in the lake, the dredge will work on the completion of the 12-foot channel in the river north of Sanford.

The City Commission will meet this evening at 7:30 o'clock in regular session. One of the major items of business, said Mr. Sayer, will be consideration of proposals by appraisal companies for the appraisal of real and personal property in Sanford.

2 Persons Injured In Auto Collision Saturday Evening

Two people were injured as the result of an automobile collision Saturday evening at 7:35 o'clock at Palmetto Avenue and Third Street.

Mrs. R. P. Sharrock, who lives at the Montezuma Hotel, suffered from bruises and shock, and was taken to Fernald-Laughton Memorial Hospital. Laurence Percy Smith, local insurance salesman of 304 West Second Street, had several broken ribs and was also taken to the hospital.

The accident occurred when the 1941 Plymouth sedan driven by R. P. Sharrock collided as he turned the corner going east on Second Street to Palmetto with a 1935 Ford coupe driven by Mr. Smith, who was going north on Palmetto. The impact of the collision, according to police, caused both cars to turn over, and the Ford also hit a parked Dodge sedan. Sheriff P. A. Mero also inspected the accident.

Mrs. Sharrock was reported this morning to be resting at the hospital. Mr. Sharrock was not reported by police as having been injured. Both drivers are charged with reckless driving.

Merchants Directors Will Meet Tuesday

Directors of the Sanford Merchants Association will meet at the Tourist Center Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock to discuss plans for completing their membership campaign.

Other items up for discussion, according to W. A. Morrison, association president, include possible plans for another barbecue to be held by the association during the latter part of the month.

It is expected that directors will plan the extension of their advertising program to newspapers of nearby cities; a country sale day event will be outlined, and miscellaneous business brought up for discussion.

"Any merchant who would like to have anything discussed at the meeting should take up the matter by contacting the director of the association in the merchant's classification, said Mr. Morrison.

Livestock Market

JACKSONVILLE, Mar. 1 (Special)—Livestock handled on 13 Florida markets during the latest weekly sales for which figures were available today in Jacksonville offices of Florida State Markets brought producers a gross cash total estimated at approximately $240,000, for offerings which included 2,125 cattle and 3,426 hogs. Actual cash totals reported from 11 of the cooperating markets amounted to $199,389.34, the remainder of the estimated gross receipts representing stock handled on two markets submitting incomplete reports.

Reports from some areas indicated producers were still withholding stock from sale, due to the recent drop in prices. Continued recovery from the lower levels reached during the price-slump was reported during the week on a number of the cooperating markets. Today's report includes figures from five State-operated markets and eight independent sales centers. All but one of the 13 markets submitted figures dealing with sales during the current week, the single exception covering heretofore unpublished figures on operations during the preceding week.

On the Monticello market hogs advanced approximately $1, cattle prices running strong to higher. Vandenberg Urges

Senate will approve the recovery program in about the form voted by the Foreign Relations Committee—after 10 days or two weeks of debate.

Vandenberg said he has no quarrel with those who disagree with the plan to make American funds available over a 52-month period to aid European nations rebuild.

"But I am bound to say to those who disagree that they have not escaped to safety by rejecting or subverting this plan," he said. "They have simply fled to other risks and, I fear, far greater ones."

The plan, he said, "strives to help stop World War III before it starts," adding:

"It fights the economic chaos which would precipitate far-flung disintegration. It sustains western civilization. It means to take Western Europe completely off the American dole at the end of the adventure."

Some members, including Senator Taft of Ohio, chairman of the Republican Policy Committee, have said they will vote to cut the $5,300,000,000 limitation on aid spending for the 12 months beginning Apr. 1.

Defending this amount, Vandenberg said it is better to "start with figures which enjoy the preponderance of supporting evidence rather than to arbitrarily slice off what might be the difference between success and still-born failure."

He noted that Congress will be called upon to review the whole program next January. That is not too long, he said, "to wait for the accounting with so much at stake."

Vandenberg said the success or failure of the program will depend in large measure on "the quality of its administration."

"The choice of the administrator and his associates is one of the most solemn responsibilities that has ever confronted a President of the United States," he declared.

"I beg of the President to search for the best and to be satisfied with nothing less. This act is challenge to the best brains and to the best experience in the nation."

Under terms of the bill the administrator would have cabinet status. If any differences arose between him and the Secretary of State over policy, the President would settle them.

Vandenberg said experts agree that the program will not lead to government controls that would not otherwise be required. But he added:

"This is no happy picnic. Heavy postwar expenditures involve a burden—just as did the infinitely heavier expenditures of the war-that-was, or the expenditures of another war which we propose, with every resource at our command, to prevent."

"War has no bargains," Vandenberg declared. "I think peace does. I believe I am talking about one now."

China-Jap Aid

1951 or 1952. He proposed yearly appropriations rather than a lump sum grant.

He declared, however, that no long term solution of Japan's economic problem is possible if Korea and China, including Manchuria, "are in a condition of chaos and anarchy or if they are dominated by inimical Communist regimes."

Of China, he said:

"Politically and economically she is in a desperate situation, so desperate that the central government may well collapse within a year."

If that happens, McGovern said, and, more especially, if the Communists succeed in gaining control over China, it will be a major blow to American national policy and even to American security.

"If China falls into Communist hands in all probability the rest of the Far East will also be engulfed by Communist forces and the effect of our victory in the Pacific war will be completely nullified."

McGovern said the Russians have been supplying the Chinese Communists with arms and ammunition for two years. And he added that any American help should start with the sale or gift of surplus military equipment.

He estimated that China will need from $500,000,000 to $600,000,000 over a three or four year period. President Truman already has proposed a $570,000,000 program of economic aid for China during the next 15 months.

and Ben Yehuda street incidents (bombings).

"In spite of official denials the Jewish Agency has repeated that it was certain a British army convoy was responsible for the Ben Yehuda street outrage.

"Nobody outside of Jewish circles believes this, and there can be no other purposes in repeating it than to stir up racial hatred.

"The fact is that vehicles responsible for this outrage were no more a British army convoy than vehicles stolen from time to time by Jews and used by them on numerous occasions for the murder of many more people than were killed in Ben Yehuda street.

Truman Candidacy

Senate, he couldn't blame any one for this natural circumstance, but added it does make a difference.

He said former Ohio Governor James M. Cox, who visited him here today, told him of a similar situation in 1920. The President couldn't go into details since he wasn't so deeply interested in politics then.

On the domestic front, Mr. Truman said the increased steel price was a good argument in favor of his anti-inflation proposals to Congress which included a request for standby wage-price controls and rationing.

Mr. Truman said he had been too darned busy with affairs at home and abroad to do any thing about his own candidacy when reporters asked the "jackpot question" whether he was running.

Some one asked if Senator Pepper (D-Fla) would strengthen his ticket if nominated for Vice President. The President dodged a discussion of that one, saying he was not discussing anyone for Vice President.

If nominated, will he accept? He'll answer that question when, and if, it happens.

He would not talk about the threats of revolt by Democrats in the South, and even called Virginia Governor William M. Tuck's proposal to keep his and other names off the ballot in that state a return to the old constitutional approach in selection of delegates.

He said he was working just as hard here as he would at Washington, transacting the same business. The only difference, he said, is the change in scenery.

The President said flatly the Russians have made no overtures looking to a meeting with Premier Stalin in Stockholm or anywhere else.

No such overtures have been made, formally or informally, he said, either through the White House or the State Department.

He has not changed his position that if there is to be another "Big Three" meeting, it must be in Washington.

Is James A. Farley likely to be more active in Democratic politics? He was asked. He suggested the reporter take that one up with Farley.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

THE MIRACLE OF THREE THOUSAND YEARS AGO IS A COMMONPLACE TODAY. OUR MORALS HAVE NOT PROGRESSED SO MUCH.—2 Kings 6:6: The iron did swim.

One thing about the "new look," as someone said to us the other day, it may not be as bad as it looks.

We see where Great Britain is about to have a war with Guatemala. That's about as big a war as they could afford. . . . after two years of Socialism.

We cannot agree with Senator Upchurch of St. Augustine that the Florida Jefferson-Jackson dinners to raise funds ought to be called off. Let them go ahead and have the dinners and see how much money they get.

"Henry Wallace is the only man who can save the world from catastrophe and war", political demagogues told a Wallace meeting in Tarpon Springs the other day. What's he going to do, plow under every third pig?

Uncle Joe Stalin is trying desperately these days to put through a defense pact with Finland. Recalling the way the Finns licked the Russians back there in 1940, we can understand why the Russians would like to have the assurance of Finnish aid in any future war.

Senator Claude Pepper, Florida's senior Senator, denounces the movement in the South to keep President Truman's name off the Democratic ballot on account of his civil rights stand as a "brazen attack on the voters' freedom of choice". "Surely", he says, "wise leaders devoted to the principles of our democracy, the basic one of which is government by the people, will not be so shortsighted as to strike at the very root of our political democracy." Surely, put Truman's name on the ballot, but give us someone else to vote for too.

Thornton Wilder, noted author, who stopped at the Mayfair for a while last winter, is out with a new book, "The Ides of March", which is receiving the warmest praise from the nation's critics. It deals with the life of Julius Caesar and particularly with the dramatic events leading up to his death in March of that fateful year of 44 B. C. "'The Ides of March' is a fascinating book', say Prof. Max Radin in the New York Herald Tribune, "and while it owes some of its fascination to the period with which it deals, perhaps the most exciting of our history, a great deal of its charm is entirely the author's, who manages to depict with high effectiveness a number of vivid, glowing and powerful personalities who meet in crowded conflict in the last few months of a great man's life".

Those who do not think that Communists are a menace to the standard of living of the people of this country should read what Commodore Harry Manning says about Red agitators among the crew of his ship, the SS America. Manning is one of the oldest and best in the American Merchant Marine with a record almost unparalleled in American seamanship. But after landing 779 passengers safely in New York the other day, he says he's through. "They can tie up the ship until hell freezes over as far as I am concerned", he says. "We are always being plagued by Communist agitators and it's about time to find out who runs this ship, the captain, or the delegate commissars". If the same kind of Communist obstruction prevails in other industries, it is small wonder prices are high and goods scarce.

The Nominees

It is generally supposed that the nominees of the major parties for president and vice-president are chosen by small groups of party leaders, who make their choices and then manipulate the strings of the nominating conventions. The picture may be accurately drawn. But it need not be so.

If delegates to nominating conventions are prone to listen to the suggestions of the manipulators, it is largely because they do not hear enough suggestions from the people. A delegate who hears from large numbers of the voters he represents can reasonably be expected to make an effort to bring about the nomination of the persons preferred by the largest number of voters. But it is not reasonable to expect the delegate to read the minds of his constituents.

When the individual citizen decides in his own mind whom he thinks his party should nominate, he can help to nominate his choice by telling his convention delegates about it. A letter or telegram to members of the state delegation will help to shape the course of the convention deliberations. The citizen who takes the trouble to make his preferences known in this way need not be content with simply casting his vote for one of the presidential nominees on his ballot in November. He can help to choose the persons whose names will be on that ballot.

Plea For Training

In his first public utterance as the Army's new chief of staff, Gen. Omar N. Bradley has urged the American Association of School Administrators to lend its support to the proposal for universal military training. School men are in an excellent position to help bring a training program into being, if they will, but many in the profession are opposed to the idea. Gen. Bradley was laying his artillery in a direction where a great deal of good might be done.

The general's thesis was that history shows the most effective restraint upon an aggressor nation is the fear of retaliation by an equal or superior force. He said as long as there are nations which are willing to resort to intimidation or force "we must invite aggression if we lose our ability to strike back".

Although there obviously is effective opposition to a universal military training program, the opponents have not raised any argument which seems to those in favor of the idea to be valid and sound, or to make sense. As supporters seek to batter the opposition, they find little to strike at which is concrete. This frustration was expressed by Gen. Bradley when he said:

"As a soldier entrusted with the preparation of our nation's defense, I can find no satisfactory alternative to universal military training in any comparable expenditure or plan."

World's Greatest Men

Gandhi is not the first Hindu who might arguably rank among the greatest men who have ever lived. A quarter of a century ago H. G. Wells, British novelist and social philosopher, listed the men whom he thought the six greatest in all history. Starting with Jesus of Nazareth, he included Aristotle, most profound of Greek philosophers and learned men; Roger Bacon, the medieval English scientist who experimented with gunpowder and seems to have foreseen the automobile and the plane, and Abraham Lincoln. The other two, or one third of the number, were Hindus.

One was Buddha, founder of the religion that bears his name. The other is a ruler whose mere name is unknown to most Americans; Asoka, an Indian monarch of the third century B. C., whose wisdom and virtues have only one rival among recorded kings: the Roman philospher-emperor Marcus Aurelius.

Considering Wells' temperament and Gandhi's merits, had Wells been making up his list today, he might very likely have included Gandhi as a seventh.

EATING THEIR WORDS

TAMPA TRIBUNE

American fellow-travelers of the Communist line go to great lengths in an attempt to explain that Communism is simply a different form of "democracy" in which the all-powerful state looks after the welfare of the individual. But they'll really have to do some explaining about this new "democracy" in light of events in Czechoslovakia.

It is noted that the Czech Communists have begun a sweeping purge. We notice in particular the reports indicating that the Communists will take over the Boy Scout and Girl Scout movements.

Such action in Czechoslovakia forces the American Communists to eat their own words. If the Reds are believers in "democracy," why should these steps be necessary? What do they find so objectionable in these movements among future citizens? Is it the Boy Scout's pledge of allegiance to the flag and his oath to "do a good turn daily?"

No, of course not. The truth is that Communism is the direct opposite of democracy. Our way of life is based on the doctrine of the dignity of the individual and the worth of the human soul. The concept of individual liberty, with all that it has meant in the release of human energies and all that it has accomplished in raising the material level of man's existence and enriching his spiritual life, is a Western concept. It is our contribution to mans advancement. It is our faith. In Russia, on the contrary, the men in the Kremlin are cruel cynics, who use the beliefs of simpler men to serve their own lust for power.

It is important for all Americans to understand and appreciate the differences. When we see the Communists taking over such great and good societies as the Boy Scout and Girl Scout organizations, we know they are not even remotely interested in maintaining a shred of individual liberty.

THE WORKINGS OF BUREAUCRACY

FORT MYERS NEWS PRESS

It seems to be the nature of federal bureaus to take ever-increasing power to themselves, to invade more and more the fields previously reserved to state and other local authority. This tendency may be modified by the character of the men who serve on these bureaus, but the pressure is always there.

A good example is the recent decision of the Federal Communications Commission holding that radio stations may not delete libelous or slanderous remarks from political broadcasts. It is based on the federal communications act which prohibits censorship of a political speech by a radio station. The ruling attempts to override all state laws on libel and slander.

It grew out of a case in Port Huron, Mich., where three candidates for the city commission bought time for speeches over the local station. The station operator considered one of the proposed speeches to be libelous and untrue so he cancelled the candidates talk and then, to try to be fair, barred the other candidates from using his station as well. Two of the candidates thereupon had him hauled up before the FCC on a charge of violating the act. The FCC found him guilty but did not take away his license, holding that he violated the law unwittingly. Then the commission laid down its dictum that not even libel or slander may be deleted from a political speech by a station owner.

The National Association of Broadcasters is protesting the ruling. It points out that stations now stand to lose their licenses if they do not permit libellous statements to be broadcast in political speeches, and yet they stand to be sued for civil libel damages or prosecuted for criminal libel under state laws if they do permit such broadcasts. The position of the FCC is that the federal law is what the commission says it is, and that it takes the matter out of the hands of the states. In other words, the FCC says that a candidate may be sued for libel but a radio station may not, regardless of what the various state laws may be on the subject.

The controversial ruling will probably wind up in the courts for a final decision, but its promulgation shows how federal bureaus operate, once they are established. Local authority has been similarly whittled away in many other fields. Now the proponents of anti-lynching and anti-poll tax legislation and FEPC seek to set up many more new bureaus in many more new fields. Even aside from other considerations, the resulting extension of federal bureaucracy into local fields should be enough to condemn the proposals.

THE WORLD TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Czechoslovakia's Democratic government is dead, a victim of aggressive Communism. For the second time in a single decade her people are under the bondage of an autocratic dictatorship which denies God and arrogates unto itself the power of life and death.

However, while Democratic government is dead in ancient Prague, I am one of those who believe the spirit of Democracy still lives there. Having had long acquaintance with Czechoslovakia and her citizens, I haven't the slightest doubt that this spirit is strong in their fiercely independent hearts and needs only the right spark to set it in action once more.

So on the basis that where there is life there is no reason to despair, friends of Czechoslovakia have reason to hope that some fortuitous circumstance will produce that spark.

And what will be the nature of the spark? Well, it strikes me that it may well be an intangible thing—an inspiration. It might, for instance, come from their deep affection for President Eduard Benes and their faith in the principles for which the wise old revolutionary risked his life to help build the Republic.

Now I don't mean to suggest that this inspirational spark might be the result of direct action by Dr. Benes. He is in no position to take direct action. The inspiration will come from what he has done in days long past, rather than in what he may do now. But come it will, in due course.

If anybody could have saved Czechoslovakia in this grim hour of need, it likely would have been Benes. But unhappily the crisis has found him far from well. The years of sparring with death as he plotted against oppressors, and organized his people into underground forces of resistance, have taken their toll.

Benes was born in 1884—one of 10 children of peasant parents. He worked his way through Charles University at Prague and later received a Ph.D. at Dijon. It was while he was at Charles that Benes met Dr. Thomas Masaryk, who was a professor there. The two became fast friends and co-plotters to free the Czech people from Austria-Hungary and establish a republic. Masaryk once said:

"Without Benes we never would have had the Republic."

In 1914 the two joined in a political conspiracy against the Austro-Hungarian government. When World War I started Masaryk went to Switzerland to carry on the work which was to make him father of his country. Benes remained in Prague and built an undercover organization. Just as the Austrian police were about to arrest him, he escaped to Switzerland and joined Masaryk.

There the two conducted their historic campaign for the establishment of a Czechoslovak Republic. This was created out of former Austro-Hungarian provinces in 1918, when it was recognized by the Allies, with President Woodrow Wilson sponsoring it.

Masaryk became first president of Czechoslovakia and Benes was his foreign minister for 17 years until 1935, when Masaryk resigned because of ill health. Benes followed in the presidency, which he has held ever since, barring the German occupation, and even then he was head of the Czechoslovak government in exile. With all his other duties Benes still managed to serve seven terms as president of the League of Nations council.

Well, that's a picture of one of Czechoslovakia's two greatest national heroes. Masaryk is dead, and the faith of the people long has been centered in Benes. It is reasonable to believe that his life of service will continue to be their inspiration.

Sooner or later that inspiration will provide the spark which will set Czechoslovakia to reaching again for freedom. And when that happens other slave states may follow until a great conflagration spreads across the Communist dominated zone of Europe.

A farm which required the work of two men in the United States a generation ago is now operated easily by one man.

Indian Reds Claim Nation Will Become Sovietized By 1950

BOMBAY—(AP)—Native Communist prophets, who number their disciples today in paltry thousands, and claim Indias 400 millions will become Sovietized in the 1950s.

They boast of a "federation of people's democracies" that will cover all of the sub-continent and wipe out the British-approved partition of 1947 which created the 87 percent Hindu dominion of India, and Moslem Pakistan.

This future Soviet India, they grandly say, will eagerly accept Moscow's guidance in the same spirit as Communist regimes set up in Eastern Europe under the Red Army's protection.

Since there is no likelihood of Soviet troops occupying India, short of a third World War, native Communists insist the transition here will resemble Chinese developments instead of, for example, those in Romania.

"But what took 20 years to achieve in China," commented G. Adhikari, an editor of the official Communist newspaper in India, "can happen in India in five years, or at the most, ten. This is an age of quick changes."

Most Indian intellectuals say Communist predictions are nothing but pipe dreams. Organized in 1927, the Party's membership is still only 77,000, of which a bare 2,000 is in Pakistan, the remainder in the Indian dominion.

The dull, repetitious propaganda written by Cominform hacks in Moscow and Belgrade is distributed here without changing a comma.

This propaganda is drab reading compared to the brilliant political utterances of men like the dominion Prime Minister, Pandit Jawarharlal Nehru. It falls flat with the masses, who remember Mahatma Gandhi's words: "Communism of the Russian type, that is Communism which is imposed on a people, would be repugnant to India."

After decades of struggle to rid themselves of British rule, few Indians seem in the mood to want old Bolsheviks to take place of the old school tie.

If any political idea has general popularity at the moment, it is that India is of, by and for the Indians.

But native Communists, apparently because of the rigidity of Moscow directives, have been unable to steer a course that would take full advantage of current political trends.

INSULIN
Preserver of life

By W. V. BITTING

When your doctor orders insulin for a diabetic condition, you may be sure that it is necessary . . . that your life depends upon its use as prescribed.

Because insulin would lose its effect if taken through the mouth, injections must be made directly into the blood stream by hypodermic needle.

Thus the diabetic, taking insulin under the doctor's orders must become his own nurse, using the finest made injector, and quality prepared insulin.

A good pharmacist, efficient and trustworthy, can be of real service. He will co-operate with the doctor and make certain that your insulin requirements are met promptly.

Rosalie Smith Wed To Frederick Wight

In a beautiful candlelight ceremony Miss Rosalie Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Vernon Smith of Arlington, Va., became the bride of Frederick Carey Wight, son of Mrs. Frederick Carey Wight and the late Mr. Wight of Sanford. Rev. Ernest Williams officiated at the ceremony, which was performed at 8:00 o'clock Saturday at the Trinity Episcopal Church in Arlington, Va. Prior to the service Miss Elizabeth Hudson rendered a program of nuptial music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a bridal gown of ivory faille taffeta fashioned with a high round neckline and deep yoke of sheer marquisette appliqued with beading and silk braiding. The bodice featured long sleeves and the full skirt extended into a sweeping train. Her fingertip veil of imported illusion was fastened to a tiara of seed pearls and she carried a prayer book topped with a white orchid showered with stephanotis. She wore single strand of pearls, a gift of the groom.

Mrs. Harry A. Schwalm served her sister as matron of honor and was gowned in rose moire taffeta with which she carried an old-fashioned nosegay and wore a matching coronet of flowers in her hair. Bridesmaid, Mrs. Vincent A. Kelly, another sister of the bride, wore blue moire with a nosegay and coronet of pink roses.

The best man for the bridegroom was Frank Fugale of New York City and ushers were Richard Allsop of New York City and William Henry of Arlington.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents for relatives of the bride and groom and close friends. Late in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Wight left for a motor trip to Daytona Beach. For traveling, Mrs. Wight wore a pastel blue suit, a white hat trimmed with black and her accessories were of black patent leather. A white orchid formed her corsage.

Mrs. Wight is a student at Duke University, where she will receive her Bachelor of Arts degree in June. Her family has been prominent in Arlington County, Va., since 1880 and traces its ancestry back through a long line closely identified with colonial history of New Jersey and Virginia. Among her ancestors was a member of General Washington's staff, a member of Virginia House of Burgesses in 1752 and a signer of the Concessions and Agreements in London in 1672 which provided for the settlement of New Jersey.

Mr. Wight is a member of one of the pioneer families of Central Florida. He is a grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. David A. Caldwell. His grandparents on his paternal side are Mrs. Henry Wight and the late Mr. Wight, who came to Sanford from Cairo, Ga., in 1905. The Wight family came to the United States from the Isle of Wight and settled in Rhode Island. Mr. Wight attended Columbia Military Academy in Columbia, Tenn., and received a Bachelor of Arts degree from Duke University in Durham, N. C. For some time he has been associated with Thompson and McKinnon Brokerage Firm in New York City and will work with this group in Daytona.

Mrs. Proctor Given Surprise Party

Mrs. R. W. Lippincott entertained on Thursday afternoon with a surprise birthday bridge party in honor of her mother, Mrs. C. F. Proctor. An Easter theme was used in decorating and in the refreshments, which carried out a pastel color scheme. Mrs. Proctor received many gifts from her friends.

At the conclusion of the progressions of bridge the high prize was awarded to Mrs. Ross Adams, consolation prize to Mrs. Proctor and screeno was won by Mrs. Roy Wiley. Mrs. Lippincott was assisted in serving by Mrs. R. M. Burns.

Those invited to be with Mrs. Proctor were Mrs. Adams, Mrs. Wiley, Mrs. Collier Brown, Mrs. J. D. Cordell, Mrs. Roy Tillis, Mrs. William Schnabel and Mrs. Burns.

Following the wedding and reception Mr. and Mrs. Wight left for a motor trip to Daytona where Mr. Wight will be associated with the Thompson and McKinnon brokerage firm.

Mrs. Laney Honors Sanford Visitors

Mrs. E. H. Laney entertained recently with a party honoring her daughter, Mrs. Cottrell Tally of Columbia, S. C., Mrs. Nicholas Ashby of Greenville, S. C., and Mrs. Harold Moseley of Washington, D. C. The Coca Cola party was held at the Laney home on East Eighteenth Street with about 35 invited to be with the honor guests.

The rooms of the Laney home were attractively decorated with lovely arrangements of camellias, azaleas and sweet peas. Assisting Mrs. Laney in serving were Mrs. John Galloway, Mrs. James C. Higgins, Mrs. J. O. Laney and Mrs. G. D. Bishop.

GARDEN CLUB TOURIST TOUR

These Women

By ADELAIDE KERR
AP Newsfeatures Writer

If you dream that Katy the Cook will soon come back to the kitchen and set you free from the dishpan, you are due for a jolt.

A topflight labor expert says Katy will not come back while jobs are plentiful outside unless the American people take big steps to induce her.

"And unless we take those steps, we are going to suffer hardships," says Frieda Miller, director of the Women's Bureau of the Department of Labor. "I mean such hardship as lack of care of babies and sick people or the breakdown of your mothers and working wives because they have to work too hard.

"I think we could well borrow some ideas from other countries in solving this problem of home help to relieve women. I don't mean we should copy them on a national scale, but rather adapt them locally."

Miss Miller sketched briefly the plans of three countries.

"In England," she said, "the government launched a National Institute of Houseworkers. It is designed to raise houseworkers' social standing and give them better working conditions. The Institute schools them in housekeeping methods and gives them a graduate diploma, so they have a professional standing. The first group of girls and women trained under this plan will receive their diplomas this spring.

"Institute houseworkers will work 44 hours a week at most and get fixed wages which cannot fall below a certain sum. They will be entitled to one and a half free days a week every week and two weeks' paid vacation a year. When the plan was launched in 1947, applications for training from stenographers, war widows and former service women flowed in."

As a second example, Miss Miller cited Sweden, which passed a 1944 national law covering domestic workers' rights and stating employers' responsibilities. It does not fix either a minimum wage or maximum hours of service, but it stipulates that houseworkers shall not work after seven, shall have certain free time weekly and enjoy free vacations based on their length of service. They are also entitled to a room of a certain standard and medical care when ill.

The Women's Bureau head thinks Australians also can teach an interesting lesson on how to provide home help. In Sydney four husky veterans founded a business giving maid service.

"Besides thinking of ways to make housework attractive to women again, we need to plan for different ways of giving it," Miss Miller concluded. "Times have changed since Katy left the kitchen for the factory. Peoples' lives and ways of living are different. Some families do not want a maid-of-all-work any more. They simply want a maid to cook and serve dinner. Others want the house cleaned daily. Still others need a part-time nursemaid. So communities need to survey the local situation and find out what the need is.

"In some cities this is already being done. Recently the Women's Bureau surveyed 12 cities including Syracuse, N. Y., St. Louis, Mo., Cincinatti, Ohio, and Oakland, Cal. We found that all had an active group studying such questions as training, working standards, hours, etc. That's a fine beginning. But more communities need to get busy and much more work needs to be done."

Per capita annual consumption of cigarettes in the United States increased from 469 in 1921 to 1,550 in 1941.

Jim Spencer Wins Golf Crown

Raymond Lundquist Drops Title Match; Spencer Cops 2nd Club Championship

By ARTHUR BECKWITH, JR.
Herald Sports Editor

Jim Spencer defeated Raymond Lundquist 7-5 to cop the Seminole Country Club crown Saturday to become a two-time winner of the cup, it was announced today by Clyde Terwillegar, club pro.

"Jim played excellent golf throughout the tournament and was under par most of the time," Terwillegar stated.

Spencer was six up at the end of nine holes with three birdies on the front side.

The tenth hole was halved with birdie fours and Lundquist copped the eleventh.

They tied the twelfth and Spencer ended the match on the thirteenth with seven up and five holes to play. Spencer was one under par at the end of the thirteenth hole.

Richard Deas eliminated J. L. Ingley in the final round of the first flight. He won one up on the 21st hole in one of the most thrilling matches of the tournament.

Dr. T. F. McDaniel defeated Dick Elsberry in the finals of the second flight.

Terwillegar reported that the championship rounds attracted more golfers than have ever competed before in a club championship match over the Seminole Country Club course.

Prizes will be awarded winners and runners up in each flight, Terwillegar stated.

First Drills To Open For Major Leaguers Today

NEW YORK, Mar. 1 (AP)—Major League baseball clubs knuckled down to the serious business of getting into shape for the 1948 season today by beginning their spring training programs.

Banned by a Major League rule from starting spring training before Mar. 1, the players will be forced to round into playing form quicker than usual.

All clubs were scheduled to hold workouts today and the athletes will have few breathing spells between now and the start of the championship season.

Beginning Saturday when the Chicago Cubs and the Chicago White Sox meet at Los Angeles and the Cleveland Indians and New York Giants battle at Tucson, Ariz., the clubs will play a total of 378 "Grapefruit League" games.

With the exception of the Brooklyn Dodgers, all of the nines are doing their training in the states. The Dodgers are getting ready for the National League campaign at Ciudad Trujillo in the Dominican Republic.

Five American and four National League teams are going through the paces in Florida while two from each circuit are conditioning in California and one from each loop in Arizona.

With the arrival of spring training unsigned players can officially be classified as holdouts.

Among those who have failed to reach terms with their respective clubs are Johnny Vander Meer, Cincinnati; Pee Wee Reese, Ed Stanky and Bruce Edwards, Brooklyn; Buddy Kerr, Ken Trinkle and Bob Thompson, Giants; Harry Walker and Eddie Miller, Philadelphia Phillies; Barney McCosky and Elmer Valo, Philadelphia Athletics; Johnny Sain, Al Trechel, Mike McCormick, Bama Rowell and Nanny Fernandez, Boston Braves.

Cincinnati and Philly officials, however, refused to regard Vander Meer and Miller as holdouts.

Six players averted the "holdout" stigma by coming to terms yesterday.

They were Babe Young, Cincinnati first baseman; Eddie Joost, Philadelphia Athletic shortstop; Infielder Emil Verban, Catcher Don Padgett and Pitcher Ken Heintzelman of the Phillies and Catcher Phil Masi of the Boston Braves.

Following is the list of the major leagues' training camp sites:

Chicago—Pasadena, Calif.
Cleveland—Tucson, Ariz.
Detroit—Lakeland.
New York—St. Petersburg.
Philadelphia—West Palm Beach.
St. Louis—San Bernardino, Calif.

National League

Boston—Bradenton.
Brooklyn—Ciudad Trujillo, D. R.
Chicago—Los Angeles.
Cincinnati—Tampa.
New York—Phoenix, Ariz.
Philadelphia—Clearwater.
Pittsburgh—Hollywood, Calif.
St. Louis—St. Petersburg.

DiMaggio Serves Notice That He Wants Bat Title

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Mar. 1 (AP)—Joe DiMaggio has served notice on Ted Williams that he is out to wrest the American League's batting championship from the slugging outfielder of the Boston Red Sox.

The star centerfielder of the New York Yankees, who nosed out Williams for the league's most valuable player award last year, says he thinks a .350 percentage can do the trick. At least that is the figure he has set his sights on for 1948. Williams won the batting title last year with a mark of .343.

"I'm really looking forward to a fine year, one of my best," said DiMaggio yesterday. At one time or another Joe has led the league in batting, runs batted in, home runs, triples, hits and runs scored.

"I feel as good right now as I ever have at the start of spring training in all my years with the Yankees," he said. "My arms and legs are in great shape. My weight is okay. I'm just itching to get a bat in my hands."

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

MIAMI, Mar. 1 (AP)—The Chicago Bears' Joe Omanski dropped in at Hialeah the other day to visit his old schoolmate, jockey Rocco Sisto. First thing he began telling Cy Miller, who keeps the jockeys in condition, was how he had taken off 30 pounds by eating at the Bears' "fat men's table" . . . Warren Wright likely would like to have that diet to feed racing secretaries He's been moaning that they can't get up a race in which his horses don't have to carry top weight . . . Sisto, incidentally, seems to be the champ at the jockeys' favorite pool a tricky affair in which they set up the balls in certain positions and then try to clear the table with the fewest shots . . . Larry MacPhail reports the arrival of the first colt born to one of the three brood mares he acquired last year . . . That 63 that Ben Hogan shot in the St. Pete open golf tourney the other day was only one stroke above the world record, which Ben has equalled twice.

Hard Liner

Denver's nomination for 1948's most unusual injury to a sports writer:

Chet Nelson, Rocky Mountain news sports writer, was covering a ski meet when the wirephoto truck of the rival Denver Post got stuck in a ditch . . . Big hearted Chet pitched in to help push it out . . . In the confusion, Nelson managed to break his left elbow, so now he's wearing a big cast that hampers his efforts at the typewriter to no small extent.

Mail From Home

California's intercollegiate champion baseball team opens its season today with the annual "Big C" lunch and a game against the alumni, which is a strenuous assignment since a lot of recent gradates are playing pro ball . . . The Chicago White Sox picked up three hitch-hikers when they started for their Pasadena, Calif., training base. Three writers assigned to cover the club in Los Angeles were left without transportation when the national league decided not to travel to camp as a unit . . . George Washington University is dickering with Johnny Fenlon, former U. of Richmond coach, to take over the football duty at G. W . . . In a recent dual track meet between Oklahoma U. and Kansas, the married men on the Oklahoma squad outscored the bachelors by a wide margin. So coach John Jacoba' warning before the big seven meet was: "Come up with some points or get married."

Olle Smoke

Mike Phipps, the 38 year old poloist, was fumbling for words the other day trying to tell what he thought of the Olle Tandberg-Walker Hafer fight here . . . Finally he looked at pudgy Jack Ivory, who was just riding onto the polo field, and gasped: "Why, Ivory could lick 'em both — and give them a mallet, too" . . . Maybe it wasn't too far-fetched, at that. Only a couple of years ago Jack was a pretty fair 175-pound boxer for Michigan State College.

Bets All Brothers

Horsemen hereabouts won't adopt the old "Break Up The Yankees" cry in reference to the Calumet stable because they feel that merely would mean the Jones boys would win everything in sight at three tracks instead of just one . . . But they do say Ben Jones keeps his colts "covered up just the way the Yanks were accused to hiding good ball players in the minors, and, speaking of that Calumet array, Jimmy Jones wont admit that Coaltown is a really good colt until he sees him run against other fast ones . . . "That kind of a horse is like a fighter who moves around so fast you cant hit him. Jimmy maintains. "And you don't know how good the fighter is until he gets tagged

FELLER AIMING AT NEW MARKS

Automatic Clock Will Operate At Local Dog Track

A new automatic timing device will be placed in operation for the first time tonight at the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club, it was announced today by Robert G. Baird, general manager, who said the clock would officially record the running time of all greyhound races throughout the remainder of the current meeting.

The automatic timer, it was said, is hooked up with the Eye-in-the-Sky camera and the clock starts keeping time automatically with the opening of the starting boxes. The clock stops when the leading dog's nose has crossed the finish line and a photograph of the finish reveals the time recorded on the clock.

The clock, it was pointed out, has been certified by the U. S. Bureau of Standards to record accurate time within one one-thousandths of a second. The face of the clock will show the time of tenths of a second but these will be reduced to fifths to conform to the track's past method of posing time.

Baird said the Sanford-Orlando track was the only one in the state using this newest automatic timing mechanism. Tonight's program of 10 events starting at 8 P. M., will launch the ninth week of running during the 1948 season.

Citation Is Boosted As Derby Favorite

NEW YORK, Mar. 1 (AP)—The Kentucky Derby is a couple of months away, but many race goers will provide you with the name of the winner of the run for the roses today—Citation, Warren Wright's sensational three-year-old colt.

Citation enhanced his rapidly growing reputation by streaking to a six-length victory in the $50,000 added Flamingo Stakes at Hialeah Saturday.

The win was the magnificent colt's 12th in 13 starts and overshadowed Talon's winning of the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap at Arcadia, Calif.

NYU Will Be Team To Beat In Field Meet On May 28-29

NEW YORK, Mar. 1 (AP)—New York University, as usual, will be the team to beat in the important outdoor track and field championships of the intercollegiate AAAA at Triborough Stadium here May 28 and 29.

This was demonstrated Saturday night when the Violets overcame numerous handicaps to walk off with the IC4A indoor crown in the 27th annual Board Track Carnival of the nation's oldest track and field organization at Madison Square Garden.

With several of their number recovering from illness or injury, the New Yorkers tallied 21½ points to take their second straight indoor team title and their sixth since 1929.

Following the same pattern he employed in bagging the outdoor championship last year, NYU Coach Emil Von Elsner relied on a balance of power rather than individual stars and the strategy paid off.

Orlando Foursome Wins Pro-Am Tourney Held At Seminole Club

Tom Carney, pro at Dubsdread Country Club in Orlando, paced his foursome including Pete Dye, Clyde Kelly and Alice O'Neal, three Rollins College students, to win the honors in the pro-am tournament held at the Seminole Country Club yesterday before a gallery of over 100 persons.

The winning foursome carded a 64 on the local course to take honors for the day.

Tied for second place in the affair were Clyde Terwillegar, club pro at the local course; Jim Spencer, recent Seminole Country Club champion; E. R. Smith and Al Bryant, and a foursome composed of Pro Andy Beljan, Andy Arcury, Jim Bennett and Jim Kirk, all of Daytona Beach.

Terwillegar tied with Beljan for first place in the pro-am event with 67.

Dye and Kelly were victorious in the pro-am event with a 64 round.

Roy Horan, pro at the Orlando Country Club, won low medal honors with 71, and the second low medal score was turned in by Curty Byrd, pro at the Daytona Beach Golf Club, who was one point behind Horan. Dye was low amateur with 67.

Special prizes were donated by E. B. Smith, John Ivey, G. W. Spencer and Terwillegar.

Celerymen Drill For Tournament Play In Tampa

Coach Fred Ganas called his Seminole High School Celery Fed basketball aggregation to the court again today after a week of rest to drill for the coming Class A tournament in Tampa.

Sanford is slated to meet the Orlando Tigers in the opening round in Tampa on Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock, and should the Feds emerge victoriously they will meet the winner of the Mainland (Daytona Beach)-Plant (Tampa) contest, Ganas stated.

The Fed mentor asserted that 12 players and two managers will make the trip.

"We might stay down there, if we get trimmed in the first round." Ganas stated this morning. "It will do our squad a lot of good to witness the tournament play. The squad for next year will need the experience," he added.

British Pleas

urged speed in organizing the European Recovery Program and economic and military pacts with the United States, saying:

"Russia has gone far enough. She must be allowed to go no farther."

The influential Times of London declared:

"The only way now to a settlement with Russia—and the peace of the world depends upon it—is to take up the challenge and bring both the recovery program and western union (of Europe) to a successful outcome."

The Daily Express urged reorganization of Britain's armed services.

"This is a minimum requirement in a dangerous world," it said.

Reporting a sudden awakening to the dangers of the world situation, the liberal News Chronicle said:

"Once again we have to learn that it is not enough to wish for peace. If peace is to endure we must labor for it tenaciously and unceasingly."

The conservative Daily Telegraph said "The situation that has developed calls for diplomatic action far more urgent than has hitherto been attempted."

NEW YORK, Mar. 1 —(AP)— The United States must arm strongly rather than "rest our national security in the United Nations" under present conditions, says General Joseph T. McNarney.

"When the United Nations was organized," he said, "it was thought that there would be no question that could not be peacefully discussed and upon which general agreements under law could not be reached. That this has not proved to be the case has been one of the bitter disappointments of our time."

McNarney, U. S. Army Chief of Air Material and former commanding general of American occupation forces in Europe, spoke at a dinner celebrating the 53rd anniversary of the Jewish war veterans of the United States.

Saying "We cannot afford to rest our national security in the United Nations," He declared: United Nations," he declared:

"Under current conditions, our United States so strongly that as a nation we cannot be bluffed, to arm so strongly that other nations will hesitate to attack us or our vital national interests, because of the violence of the counter attack they would have to face."

Rotary Luncheon

that the boy who has been trained a year and a half in the Army has a better chance, morally and physically, than the boy who doesn't have the advantage of that training".

He also quoted from a recent address of Army Chief of Staff General Omar Bradley, who said that there are four principal milestones on the pathway to peace:

1) American support of the charter of the United Nations.

2) The early enactment of a system of Universal Military Training.

3- Financial and economic aid to democratic nations of Europe.

4- The withholding of any aid and comfort to aggressor nations.

Prior to Dr. Silsby's talk, A. C. Stine program chairman introduced today's visitors at the club and called upon them for a few words regarding Rotary in commoration of the 43rd anniversary of Rotary International.

Henry C. Black of Johnson City, Tenn. said that there are about 100 members of his club which has an attendance record of 91 percent. He said his club has contributed $1,000 to the Paul Harris fund.

Horace Heley of Deland said that he has been a member of the Deland club for about one year without missing a single meeting. And Clarke Dolive, also of Deland, said that he has been a member for only six or seven months, but considers it a honor to be associated with the fine group of men he has met there.

Fred A. Saywell of Hudson, Ohio, said that he is a charter member of the club which was founded in 1930 and now is active in sponsorship of Boy Scout troops. He said that the spirit of fellowship and understanding found in Rotary is one of its finest characteristics.

C. Herb Whitman of Massillon, Ohio, said he has been a member of his club for 18 years and enjoys the distinction of having visited more Rotary clubs than another other Rotarian in Massillon.

Herbert Sheets of Indianapolis, Ind. said he has been for 24 years a member of a club with some 340 members. Its outstanding work in that time, he said, was the raising of some $250,000 for the construction of a crippled children's home now known as the Riley Rotary Hospital, and named in honor of James Whitcomb Riley.

Other visitors introduced were Charles G. Marionof Lakewood, N. J., Chas. F. Allen of Twinsburg, Ohio, E. C. Brownelige of Ballston Spa, N. Y., I. C. Strauss of Sumter, S. C., G. H. Ojerkirk of Newark, N. Y., Harry Simpson of Morrisville, Penn., C. C. Maben of Wayne Mich.

President Gordon Brisson appointed H. H. Coleman chairman of the "On To Clearwater" conference on Mar. 29, and George [illegible] chairman of the Junior [illegible] Committee.

Florida State News In Brief

BOAT EXPLODES

CLEARWATER, Mar. 1 (AP)—Mayor Fred Howard declared today an investigation would be launched into the cause of two boat explosions here yesterday, one of which blew Paul Cheney of Chicago off his 76-foot yacht "Shadrack," and the second sinking the boat.

Cheney, who escaped with multiple cuts, said he had just stepped aboard for a final inspection before sailing to Mexico. He said he heard a "strange noise and was investigating when the first explosion blew him out of the cabin and into the water. The second blast, just as Cheney was being pulled from the water into a passing boat, enveloped the "Shadrack" in flames and it sank almost immediately.

SHERRILL APPOINTED

TALLAHASSEE, Mar. 1 (AP)—Governor Caldwell today appointed J. H. Sherrill, Pensacola Industrial and civic leader, to the State Board of Forestry and Parks.

He will succeed Basil E. Kenny of Port St. Joe, who died two weeks ago.

YOUTH ARRESTED

PALM BEACH, Mar. 1 (AP)—Detective Homer Large reported today the arrest of a youth giving the name of William Quick, 16, and recovery of government bonds worth $1,850.

The bonds were made out to Mrs. Esther L. or Walter W. Crane, Rock Island, Ill. Police Chief Eddie Longo said the boy confessed to him that they were stolen from the Crane home.

He claimed at first that Mrs. Crane was his mother, said Longo.

CONVICTS CAPTURED

TALLAHASSEE, Mar. 1 (AP)—Two convicts who escaped from a state road camp near Fort Myers last week were recaptured here during the weekend and charged with a new series of robberies.

State Highway Patrolmen Bill Joyce and Tony Mascola arrested Raymond Crago of Sarasota on the highway near here Saturday night. They said he was driving a car which had been reported stolen in Lake City.

Charles M. Krulik was arrested by a city policeman about the same time.

RENT CURB ATTACKED

TAMPA, Mar. 1 (AP)—A suit attacking rent control in Sarasota County by two Sarasota landlords has been dismissed by Federal Judge W. J. Baker.

Mr. Hultgren and V. D. Humphrey charged the federal government lost its power to control rents when the war ended.

NO FUNDS

TALLAHASSEE, Mar. 1 (AP)—The Florida Forest and Park Service may not pay expenses of a special legislative committee that is investigating the state park system, Attorney General Tom Watson ruled today.

He advised Comptroller C. M. Gay the joint House-Senate resolution creating the committee and authorizing the study made no appropriation of funds to defray the cost. The forestry and park budget does not cover the expense, Watson said.

One of the daughters, Luella Gardner Crosby, who had been summoned here from Jacksonville, was present when the ambulance arrived for the body, and requested a coroner's investigation. She declared that her father had not been ailing and was apparently in fine health when he visited her a month ago.

Police and the Sheriff's office were informed Saturday morning of the old man's disappearance. His fishing rod, flashlight and cane were found on the seawall, said Sheriff Mero. When found, he was in his stocking feet, and it was reported by relatives that when he went fishing he had worn high laced boots, and carried an overcoat. The latter two items have not been found, said the Sheriff.

been optimistic. The hard facts of international life do not, in my opinion, justify the degree of optimism which would make it possible to forecast a 1950 budget materially lower than that for (fiscal) 1949."

President Truman's budget for the 1949 fiscal year, starting July 1, calls for spending $39,700,000,000.

Webb told the committee the budget for fiscal 1949 is based on the assumption that prices and employment will remain at about the level of last fall. He added:

"Rises in prices inevitably will mean increased costs for most of the things the government buys. Likewise a decrease in agricultural prices or an increase in unemployment would mean that expenditures would rise for such mandatory programs as farm price-support, veteran's unemployment allowances and public assistance."

Snyder argued vigorously for Mr. Truman's tax plan.

VOICE BEAMED

NEW YORK, Mar. 1 (AP)—The U. S. State Department's worldwide broadcasting division today stepped up programs beamed toward Czechoslovakia, the scene last week of a Communist coup d'etat.

Charles W. Thayer, acting chief of the "Voice of America" broadcasts, said "recent developments" in Prague had brought the decision to add 15-minute presentations of news and news analyses to the 45-minute programs now directed toward Czechoslovakia.

Trade Activities To Be Told To Visitors

By WILLIAM FERRIS
AP Newsfeatures

CHICAGO—Visitors to the Chicago Board of Trade henceforth will have explained to them the meaning of the shouting and waving of traders on the floor of the big grain market.

Directors have equipped a lecture room. Miss Eunice Dustin, formerly a school teacher in Moline, Ill., presents an illustrated talk on the market's functions. Slide films are used with the lecture.

She encourages questions. The most frequently asked question, she said, is:

"How can anyone sell what he doesn't own?"

This is a query directed at short seller.

The reply is that many commercial goods are sold before they are manufactured, and that the short seller must deliver the grain eventually unless he cancels out his obligation by buying futures.

"Will prices go up or down?'

To this attempt to get an inside tip on the market, she answers:

"Some think they will go up and some think they will go down, which is why there is a buyer and a seller for every transaction.'

In recent weeks, Miss Dustin's most tremulous lecture came when a group of economic professors here for the annual convention of the American Economics Associations, strode into the lecture room. She gave her lecture, then braced herself for questions.

"Where can we get hold of some of those slides to use in our classes?" the professors asked.

Rural Common Sense

OF CROP LAND DROPS CONSERVATION NEEDED

Not long ago there was an average of 3½ acres of crop land in the United States to produce food and other necessities for each person, but the average today is about 2¼ acres.

Those figures, cited by R. S. Dennis of the Production and Marketing Administration, are based on the total crop land and the total population of the United States. "Crop land" is land that will produce satisfactorily.

Unwise use of land, failure to protect and conserve it, and increase in population are responsible for the reduction in the average crop land acreage. "In addition to actual losses of soil through erosion, we have, without realizing it, allowed the fertility of our soil to get away from us," Mr. Dennis declared.

As the population of the United States increases, the number of acres of land available for producing essentials will decrease if there is no further loss of soil and fertility. There will be much greater decrease in available crop land if losses of soil and fertility continue. It has been estimated that the average crop land per person will drop to 1.9 acres by 1980 if the population continues to increase and the losses of soil continue.

To prevent further reduction in crop land and to produce adequate food and fiber for Americans, then agricultural conservation is necessary. Agricultural conservation, according to Mr. Dennis, is the use of agricultural facilities so the soil will be maintained while being used. Because of misuse of much American land, however, many acres must be rebuilt and restored to productive fertility.

Maximum production at minimum cost is necessary for profitable farming. And more and more farmers, having had this fact emphatically impressed upon them by reduced crops, are making efforts to rebuild and conserve their soil. Through the agricultural conservation program, they are making good progress along this line, but millions of acres need special treatment before they will be economically productive.

The agricultural conservation program offers assistance to any farmer who needs it to rebuild and restore his land. And the farmer who needs this help is overlooking a great opportunity if he does not take advantage of it. To be eligible for the 1948 program, however, a farmer must sign a farm work sheet by Apr. 15. That date is not far off, and farmers who wish assistance in the highly important matter of agricultural conservation should file work sheets in their county PMA offices as soon as possible.

Early Passage Of UMT Urged By Marshall

Senator Knowland Urges Better Defense; Bullitt Asks Military Aid for China

WASHINGTON Mar. 2 (AP)—Secretary of State Marshall urged upon six members of the Senate Armed Services Committee today early passage of a Universal Military Training program for the United States.

Chairman Gurney (R-SD) of the Armed Services Committee said the members went to see Marshall partly because of the Communist seizure of power in Czechoslovakia and Soviet pressure on Finland.

Gurney told reporters: "In view of all the things that have happened lately in the international field, including Czechoslovakia and the critical situation in Finland, our committee decided we wanted to talk with Marshall. We spent the time this morning getting his viewpoint on Universal Military Training and his definite assurance he is for it just as he has always been."

Senator Knowland (R-Calif) urged Congress to put American defenses "in first class condition" as well as combatting Communism through aid to Europe.

"We must have an airforce in being, and not just in blueprint," Knowland told the Senate during

Sanford Property To Be Re-Appraised Soon By Engineer

Re-appraisal of Sanford real and personal property will be started in the near future by J. M. Cleminshaw, appraisal engineer of Cleveland, O., and New York, whose bid was accepted yesterday evening by the City Commission in adjourned session, it was reported this morning by H. N. Sayer, city manager.

The appraisal, upon which the City will base its future assessments for tax purposes, will not be made on personal property in homes, said Mr. Sayer. This appraisal, however, will be made in apartments, he revealed, as these go under the category of commercial property.

Present for the bidding also were Warren P. Hunicut of St. Petersburg and a representative of the Cole-Layer Tremble Co. of Dayton, Ohio.

The Commission tentatively approved the transfer of a beer and wine selling license to J. Waitts from Mary Alexander whose store is at 310 Sanford Avenue, and subject to final approval by Police Chief Roy G. Williams.

A temporary permit, subject to revokation by the Commission, was granted to Charles Gormly to establish a doughnut shop in the metal building formerly used for a fruit stand at Palmetto Avenue and Third Street.

Due to the fact that the Commission offered only a short time lease of the 300 acres of unused land at the north end of the Municipal Airport area, A. C. Meddy, director of the Fellowship Front informed the Commission that he would have to decline the rental of the property for grazing and agricultural purposes.

DESTROYER RETURNS

LONG BEACH, Calif., Mar. 2, (AP)— The destroyer Duncan limped into port today with one man dead, at least six injured and a gaping hole in her side from an internal explosion 200 miles at sea.

As a Navy tug brought the 390-foot ship to dock, spectators could see a split more than 30 feet long and three or four feet wide on the starboard side near the stern and along the water line. Steel Deck plates were buckled.

British Fight Beside Jews In Palestine

JERUSALEM, Mar. 2 (AP)—British troops battled beside Jews today against Arab snipers dug in on hillsides commanding the Jerusalem-Jaffa road, a Jewish Agency source said. The British vowed last night to use their weapons henceforth "impartially against whatever side is firing." The informant said both British police and Tommies moved into the area, about 12 miles outside Jerusalem. A large-scale battle appeared to be under way, and the Jews were believed to be bringing up mortars.

Telephone Call From Prague Reveals Resignation Of Benes

PRAGUE, Mar. 2, (AP)—President Eduard Benes remains under the care of his personal physician, and his scheduled return to Prague Thursday still is uncertain, the ministry of information said today.

A ministry spokesman termed "stuff and nonsense" a London Evening News story that Benes had resigned and that the Communists now in control of the government were keeping the resignation secret.

Benes, 64 and frail, is at the presidential country home at Sezimovo Usti, the ministry said. His physician is a Dr. Klinger, who long has attended him.

LONDON Mar. 2 (AP)—The London Evening News said today Eduard Benes had resigned as president of Czechoslovakia, but a Czechoslovak embassy official speedily denied it. The newspaper's story was telephoned from Prague.

Benes, at 64, is in frail health. He agreed last week to Communist demands giving Communists complete control of the government under Premier Klement Gottwald.

"Last week he put his signature to a formal declaration relinquishing his title as President of the Czechoslovak republic," the Evening News said.

"Communists have not yet allowed the resignation to be made public for fear of a violent re-

1573 Fork Is Found At Site Of Fort Reed

A two pronged fork bearing the inscription, May 11, 1573 was recently found by Mrs. John Bennett at 2602 Orange Avenue near the site of old Fort Reed. Mrs. Bennett stumbled upon the fork when she went out to see her husband, a member of the local fire department, working in his garden.

Mr. Bennett today had the fork on exhibit at the Fire Station, and pointed out that a small attachment, that enabled the fork to hang over an iron pot was missing, but said that he hoped to find it, as his children may have gotten it to play with. The handle of the fork is made of deer horn.

EXPENSE MONEY

WASHINGTON, Mar. 2 (AP)—Bleriot H. Lamarre testified today that he accepted expense money from Maj. General Bennett E. Meyers and from the government when he testified falsely about Meyers at a Senate inquiry last year.

Lamarre said he accepted $500 from Meyers to pay expenses for himself, his wife, and for M. and Mrs. Thomas E. Readnower. That was when all four were called to Washington to appear before the Senate committee.

Steel Price Is Subject Of Senate Probe

Taft Presses Fairless On Effect Of Recent Price Hike On Wage Demands

BOSTON, Mar. 2 (AP)—CIO President Philip Murray said today he had "no comment" on testimony of U. S. Steel President Benjamin F. Fairless before a congressional committee investigating steel prices. The CIO leader is in Boston to address a Catholic conference on industrial problems.

WASHINGTON Mar. 2 (AP)—Senator Taft (R-Ohio) expressed fear today that the recent steel price increase might touch off new demands for wage boosts.

He said he is concerned that "one of the fundamental industries comes along and increases its prices" despite pleas from President Truman and others to hold down prices generally.

Taft, head of the Senate-House Economic Committee, aimed his remarks at Benjamin F. Fairless, president of the United States Steel Corp. Fairless was a witness at a committee hearing on the steel price hike.

Taft asked Fairless if he did not think the increase would encourage every labor union to ask for more wages.

"Isn't that the moral effect?" he pressed. "Hasn't it increased the demand for government con-

Pennsylvania Sets New Divorce Rules To Begin June 1st

PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 2 (AP)—New procedural rules aimed at cutting red tape in uncontested divorce actions in Pennsylvania courts become effective June 1.

The rules, prepared by a committee appointed by the State Supreme Court, change neither the requirement for a year's residency in the state, grounds, nor proof, said Roland A. Anderson, committee secretary.

"Pennsylvania courts are not being thrown open to a divorce racket," Anderson emphasized.

Anderson explained that the purpose of revised procedures is to bring divorce laws in line with equity and law actions.

It eliminates, he said, "a number of old fashioned laws."

The effect Anderson said will be to cut as much as two months off the time now required in some Pennsylvania courts to obtain a divorce.

As an example, he cited Philadelphia County, where a divorce now requires five to eight months. This period would be reduced to three to six months under the new procedural rules, Anderson said.

In Pittsburgh, Allegheny County Prothonotary David Roberts said yesterday the new procedures would enable residents of two Pennsylvania counties to obtain divorces in as little as 46 days.

"That's wrong," Anderson said.

Roberts, interviewed in Pittsburgh after Anderson's statement, said the 46-day interpretation was his. "If we've interpreted it (the procedures) wrong, we'd be happy to have them (the Supreme Court) inform us."

POPE'S BIRTHDAY

VATICAN CITY, Mar. 2 (AP)—Papal banners flew today from Vatican City in honor of Pope Pius XII's 72nd brithday and the ninth anniversary of his election as pontiff.

Both events will be observed formally on Mar. 12, anniversary of the Pope's coronation, with a Papal mass in the Sistine Chapel. Most of the Vatican offices were closed today, but the Pope went about his usual duties.

Election Results Of Seminole County Student Candidates Told

Ann Dunn of Junior High School was elected as mythical "Sheriff" of Seminole County in the Jaycee sponsored Youth Governmental affairs election Friday, J. Brailey Odham, Jaycee president, announced today. With 156 solid votes behind her, Ann won with 159 votes to the 141 votes received by Tommy Stringer, 105 of which came from Seminole High School. There were 14 candidates in the running.

Pupils evidently believed that "chips off the old block" would succeed in public office, since they elected George Herndon, son of O. P. Herndon, as "Clerk of the Circuit Court." George got a solid 174 votes from Junior High School to Glenn McCall's 150 votes, 120 of which were from Seminole High School "precinct."

Tommie Speer, son of County Prosecuting Attorney G. A. Speer, also won the right to "serve in his dad's place for a day" by receiving 200 votes, 184 of which were from Junior High School.

Another Junior High School candidate, Banks Register, edged out his Seminole High School opponent by one vote, getting 187

Seminole County Red Cross Opens Campaign For Operation Funds

The Seminole County Chapter of the American Red Cross opened its county-wide campaign yesterday for funds to advance its operation for the years 1948-49. The drive will last through March.

Karlyle Housholder, chairman for the drive, and A. E. Shinholser, chapter chairman for the county, today united in their request to the people of the county that they give generously to the Red Cross, for which the County has a budget for the coming year of approximately $7,200.

An effort will be made to solicit individually every person and family within the county, but in the event workers should fail to contact anyone wishing to make a contribution, a worker will be sent to pick up any contribution upon notification at headquarters at 500 Oak Avenue, telephone 80, or the contribution may be mailed direct to headquarters, it was announced.

Mr. Shinholser today pointed out that the work of the Red Cross in Seminole County has been active and varied during the past year and involves such a variety of work that a simple analysis is practically impossible.

In the general line of activity, he said, the local Red Cross has functioned during the hurricane alerts of the fall of 1947 and through its executive secretaries and voluntary services as well as its disaster committees and has functioned by aiding numerous cases of individual families.

There has also been activity throughout the year by the Production Corps and the Junior Red Cross and a program of safety training for accident prevention has been carried out, he revealed.

Miami Beach Police Join In Playing "Cops And Robbers"

MIAMI BEACH Mar. 2 (AP)—Three young Canadians captured yesterday in a spectacular "cops and robbers" raid, are being held in city jail while police officers investigate 12 separate burglaries to which detective Lieut. Charles Pierce said they had verbally confessed.

The trio, identified as Roland Arbic, 27; John Rondow, 24, and Nicholas Mauizio, 21, all of Windsor, Ontario, Canada, were captured on the stage of the Carmen Theater after 20 heavily-armed policemen surrounded the building.

Pierce said 12 burglaries, amounting to nearly $10,000, are being investigated. He said no formal charges have been filed pending the outcome of the investigations and they are now being held on a vagrancy charge and for investigation.

Pierce said the trio verbally stated that they had robbed safes

Finland Reds Begin Organizing Meetings

HELSINKI, Mar. 2 (AP)—Finland's Communists today began organizing factory and trade union meetings to support a military pact with Russia.

The Communist organ Tyoekansa Sanomat said workers favor a friendship and assistance treaty with the Soviet Union because it is the best way to guarantee the interests of Finland and the cause of peace.

The first of the factory meetings being organized by the Communists were held yesterday at Turku and Tampere, two of Finland's most important industrial centers.

The Turku metal workers adopted a resolution recommending acceptance of the military pact. The resolution said "We must take a friend's hand if it is offered."

Committee Named To Stop Disparity In Freight Rates

Discrimination Is Charged In California Shipments

William C. Hutchison, rate expert and representative of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, and Miss Mell Whitner of the J. C. Hutchison Company of Sanford were named Saturday on a committee headed by John A. O'Rourke, secretary manager of the Growers and Shippers League of Florida, to confer with a railroad committee regarding disparity of weights for identical celery crate sizes as shipped from California and Florida.

J. E. "Ted" Wathen, former Sanford manager of American Fruit Growers, Inc. and now manager at their Ft. Pierce office, was also named to the committee. The meeting was held at the Angebilt Hotel, with Monty Graw, manager of the Florida Growers Association, presiding.

If the rate discrimination is removed, the Florida celery growers should receive greater net returns on their celery, and more nearly compete with California in those markets where California now has the advantage, it was pointed out by Mr. Hutchison.

The discussion was led at the meeting by Homer Clause of Pahokee, sales manager of the Everglades Growers Association.

Mr. Clause stated that at Kansas City he had weighed crates of California and Florida celery, and found that California celery was in the same size crate as Florida celery, and that the California railroads accepted this crate for billing purposes at a weight of 50 pounds, while the

John W. Hanes Favors Income Tax Reduction

Ex-Treasury Official Says Cut Shouldn't Be $6,500,000,000, But Healthy Sum

WASHINGTON Mar. 2 (AP)—John W. Hanes, a former New Deal treasury official, said today he favors a "good, healthy" income tax cut.

But the New York corporation executive told the Senate Finance Committee the cut should not be as large as the $6,500,000,000 voted by the House.

Hanes, Undersecretary of the Treasury in 1938-39, said the House figure should be "somewhat reduced." Just how much, he added, should be left to the "good judgment" of Congress.

Earlier Hanes had predicted that the government will take in nearly $20,000,000,000 more than it spends this year and next.

He said in his prepared testimony that this would leave "ample room" for a tax cut.

Senator Barkley (D-Ky) wanted to know whether Hanes was arguing for passage of the House bill.

"I am advocating tax reduction by a good, healthy amount,"

Snow Covers Parts Of U. S. From New York To Colorado

NEW YORK, Mar. 2, (AP)—Snow covered the New York City area today, bringing the city the second highest winter's total on record — 58.4. But the inch and a half that fell began melting as the snow turned to rain.

The Weather Bureau, in its 64 years of record taking, recorded more snow only during the winter of 1892-93, when a total of 77.6 inches was reached. The mark set today eclipsed the snowfall of 58.3 inches of 1898-99.

The snow belt extended from eastern Colorado through Kansas, parts of Nebraska, Iowa, northern Illinois, southeastern Wisconsin, southern lower Michigan to western New York. There also was snow in the Red River Valley of North Dakota and Minnesota and near the Canadian border in the Rocky Mountains. Iowa City, Ia., reported a fall of nine inches. In Des Moines eight inches of new snow covered the ground.

Rain fell from the Carolinas across Tennessee and Kentucky to Indiana, Illinois and southern Missouri. A band of freezing rain made driving hazardous from central Missouri into Illinois and to Fort Wayne, Ind.

There were a few spots reporting below zero temperatures. The mercury dropped to -8 in Caribou, Me., and was below zero near the Canadian border in North Dakota and Minnesota.

Warm weather was reported in parts of the South yesterday. Highs included 84 at San Antonio, Tex., and 78 at Miami and New Orleans.

Statement Taken As Meaning He Will Accept If Drafted

LINCOLN, Nebr., Mar. 2, (AP)— The name of Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) will be entered on Nebraska's presidential preferential ballots in the Apr. 13 primary election, Raymond A. McConnell, Jr., said today.

McConnell, newspaper editor and chairman of the Nebraska Bipartisan Presidential Preferential Primary Committee, made the announcement after receiving a telegram from the Michigan Senator.

"I decline to speculate with utterly impossible contingencies," Vandenberg replied.

ALBANY, N. Y., Mar. 2 (AP)—Governor Thomas E. Dewey will pass up his usual Spring vacation and personally lead his forces in a drive for the Republican presidential nomination, he disclosed today. At the same time the Governor denied a newspaper report, not carried by the Associated Press, that he had offered jobs in return for political support in the Wisconsin presidential primary, where he is contesting with Harold E. Stassen and General Douglas MacArthur.

WASHINGTON Mar. 2 (AP)—Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) declined today to "speculate" whether he would accept the Republican nomination for President.

Vandenberg urged Raymond A. McConnell, Jr., Lincoln, Nebr., newspaper editor again, asking that his name be withheld from the Apr. 13 Nebraska primary.

Klan To Parade In Georgia County

WRIGHTSVILLE, Ga., Mar. 2 (AP)—The Ku Klux Klan will parade tonight in advance of Johnson County's Democratic primary election tomorrow at which negroes are eligible to vote.

Dr. Samuel Green, Georgia grand dragon of the Klan, said in Atlanta that he planned to attend, if the weather is favorable. 500 to 600 Klansmen are expected to March.

The County Democratic Committee ruled several weeks ago that all voters must pledge support of white supremacy and racial segregation. Strong protests from citizens followed. The committee backed down and opened the voting to all.

Dr. Green didn't say why the Klansmen would stage tonight's demonstration. Wrightsville is 150 miles southeast of Atlanta. Four hundred of the county's 5,000 eligible voters are negroes.

Measure Must Pass Rules Committee Before Coming Before House Members

WASHINGTON, Mar. 2, (AP)—Senator Russell (D-Ga) today offered to join Republicans in cutting any funds President Truman might spend on his civil rights program. Russell's remarks were made as a Senate Appropriations Subcommittee began studying a House-approved $991,518,551 independent offices supply bill. The bill provides money for the White House and a score of independent agencies, such as the Federal Communications Commission. Included in the White House total is a $700,000 emergency fund for the President. Senator Reed (R-Kan) offered a breakdown showing Mr. Truman has spent $50,000 of a $500,000 emergency fund this fiscal year for the President's Committee on Civil Rights."

WASHINGTON Mar. 2 (AP)—Anti-lynching legislation was approved today by the House Judiciary Committee. The action sends the bill—a key one in President Truman's civil rights program—just one step short of the House floor. It must be cleared by the Rules Committee before the House can vote on it. It is one of the measures which has southern Democrats threatening a party revolt.

The Judiciary Committee voted behind closed doors and the vote was not announced officially. However, members said it was 18 to 8.

The bill, drafted by Rep. Clifford Case (R-NJ), declares it to be the duty of the state to protect the life, liberty and property

BALTIMORE, Mar. 2, (AP)—Nineteen-hundred veterans stopped mortgage payments yesterday, and a major loan association said it would grant no more credits "to any builder who has been unable to maintain the good will of G.I. home buyers."

Contending they were cheated by contractors who used faulty materials, the veterans said they would halt principal payments on loans acquired under the G.I. Bill." They also charged that contractors had not met the specifications on which the houses were purchased and had not complied with the Balitmore city building code.

Samuel W. Borden, president of the Loyola Federal Building and Loan Association, said his firm would tell contractors it has financed that they they must "do anything, reasonable or unreasonable," to satisfy the complainants. The company has about $8,000,000 invested in veterans' homes.
