urged speed in organizing the European Recovery Program and economic and military pacts with the United States, saying:

"Russia has gone far enough. She must be allowed to go no farther."

The influential Times of London declared:

"The only way now to a settlement with Russia—and the peace of the world depends upon it—is to take up the challenge and bring both the recovery program and western union (of Europe) to a successful outcome."

The Daily Express urged reorganization of Britain's armed services.

"This is a minimum requirement in a dangerous world," it said.

Reporting a sudden awakening to the dangers of the world situation, the liberal News Chronicle said:

"Once again we have to learn that it is not enough to wish for peace. If peace is to endure we must labor for it tenaciously and unceasingly."

The conservative Daily Telegraph said "The situation that has developed calls for diplomatic action far more urgent than has hitherto been attempted."

NEW YORK, Mar. 1 —(AP)— The United States must arm strongly rather than "rest our national security in the United Nations" under present conditions, says General Joseph T. McNarney.

"When the United Nations was organized," he said, "it was thought that there would be no question that could not be peacefully discussed and upon which general agreements under law could not be reached. That this has not proved to be the case has been one of the bitter disappointments of our time."

McNarney, U. S. Army Chief of Air Material and former commanding general of American occupation forces in Europe, spoke at a dinner celebrating the 53rd anniversary of the Jewish war veterans of the United States.

Saying "We cannot afford to rest our national security in the United Nations," He declared: United Nations," he declared:

"Under current conditions, our United States so strongly that as a nation we cannot be bluffed, to arm so strongly that other nations will hesitate to attack us or our vital national interests, because of the violence of the counter attack they would have to face."

that the boy who has been trained a year and a half in the Army has a better chance, morally and physically, than the boy who doesn't have the advantage of that training".

He also quoted from a recent address of Army Chief of Staff General Omar Bradley, who said that there are four principal milestones on the pathway to peace:

1) American support of the charter of the United Nations.

2) The early enactment of a system of Universal Military Training.

3- Financial and economic aid to democratic nations of Europe.

4- The withholding of any aid and comfort to aggressor nations.

Prior to Dr. Silsby's talk, A. C. Stine program chairman introduced today's visitors at the club and called upon them for a few words regarding Rotary in commoration of the 43rd anniversary of Rotary International.

Henry C. Black of Johnson City, Tenn. said that there are about 100 members of his club which has an attendance record of 91 percent. He said his club has contributed $1,000 to the Paul Harris fund.

Horace Heley of Deland said that he has been a member of the Deland club for about one year without missing a single meeting. And Clarke Dolive, also of Deland, said that he has been a member for only six or seven months, but considers it a honor to be associated with the fine group of men he has met there.

Fred A. Saywell of Hudson, Ohio, said that he is a charter member of the club which was founded in 1930 and now is active in sponsorship of Boy Scout troops. He said that the spirit of fellowship and understanding found in Rotary is one of its finest characteristics.

C. Herb Whitman of Massillon, Ohio, said he has been a member of his club for 18 years and enjoys the distinction of having visited more Rotary clubs than another other Rotarian in Massillon.

Herbert Sheets of Indianapolis, Ind. said he has been for 24 years a member of a club with some 340 members. Its outstanding work in that time, he said, was the raising of some $250,000 for the construction of a crippled children's home now known as the Riley Rotary Hospital, and named in honor of James Whitcomb Riley.

Other visitors introduced were Charles G. Marionof Lakewood, N. J., Chas. F. Allen of Twinsburg, Ohio, E. C. Brownelige of Ballston Spa, N. Y., I. C. Strauss of Sumter, S. C., G. H. Ojerkirk of Newark, N. Y., Harry Simpson of Morrisville, Penn., C. C. Maben of Wayne Mich.

President Gordon Brisson appointed H. H. Coleman chairman of the "On To Clearwater" conference on Mar. 29, and George [illegible] chairman of the Junior [illegible] Committee.

Florida State News In Brief

BOAT EXPLODES

CLEARWATER, Mar. 1 (AP)—Mayor Fred Howard declared today an investigation would be launched into the cause of two boat explosions here yesterday, one of which blew Paul Cheney of Chicago off his 76-foot yacht "Shadrack," and the second sinking the boat.

Cheney, who escaped with multiple cuts, said he had just stepped aboard for a final inspection before sailing to Mexico. He said he heard a "strange noise and was investigating when the first explosion blew him out of the cabin and into the water. The second blast, just as Cheney was being pulled from the water into a passing boat, enveloped the "Shadrack" in flames and it sank almost immediately.

SHERRILL APPOINTED

TALLAHASSEE, Mar. 1 (AP)—Governor Caldwell today appointed J. H. Sherrill, Pensacola Industrial and civic leader, to the State Board of Forestry and Parks.

He will succeed Basil E. Kenny of Port St. Joe, who died two weeks ago.

YOUTH ARRESTED

PALM BEACH, Mar. 1 (AP)—Detective Homer Large reported today the arrest of a youth giving the name of William Quick, 16, and recovery of government bonds worth $1,850.

The bonds were made out to Mrs. Esther L. or Walter W. Crane, Rock Island, Ill. Police Chief Eddie Longo said the boy confessed to him that they were stolen from the Crane home.

He claimed at first that Mrs. Crane was his mother, said Longo.

SNEAK THIEVES

TALLAHASSEE, Mar. 1 (AP)—Sneak thieves took about $1,700 worth of jewelry and clothing from three houses in the same neighborhood here last night while the owners were away for the evening.

CONVICTS CAPTURED

TALLAHASSEE, Mar. 1 (AP)—Two convicts who escaped from a state road camp near Fort Myers last week were recaptured here during the weekend and charged with a new series of robberies.

State Highway Patrolmen Bill Joyce and Tony Mascola arrested Raymond Crago of Sarasota on the highway near here Saturday night. They said he was driving a car which had been reported stolen in Lake City.

Charles M. Krulik was arrested by a city policeman about the same time.

RENT CURB ATTACKED

TAMPA, Mar. 1 (AP)—A suit attacking rent control in Sarasota County by two Sarasota landlords has been dismissed by Federal Judge W. J. Baker.

Mr. Hultgren and V. D. Humphrey charged the federal government lost its power to control rents when the war ended.

NO FUNDS

TALLAHASSEE, Mar. 1 (AP)—The Florida Forest and Park Service may not pay expenses of a special legislative committee that is investigating the state park system, Attorney General Tom Watson ruled today.

He advised Comptroller C. M. Gay the joint House-Senate resolution creating the committee and authorizing the study made no appropriation of funds to defray the cost. The forestry and park budget does not cover the expense, Watson said.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

TALLAHASSEE, Mar. 1 (AP)—J. M. Lee, Jr., was granted leave of absence this week from his position in the comptroller's office to enter the campaign organization of Comptroller C. M. Gay, successor to the late Col. J. M. Lee in the high state office.

Maple Avenue, two sons and two daughters. One of the daughters, Luella Gardner Crosby, who had been summoned here from Jacksonville, was present when the ambulance arrived for the body, and requested a coroner's investigation. She declared that her father had not been ailing and was apparently in fine health when he visited her a month ago.

Police and the Sheriff's office were informed Saturday morning of the old man's disappearance. His fishing rod, flashlight and cane were found on the seawall, said Sheriff Mero. When found, he was in his stocking feet, and it was reported by relatives that when he went fishing he had worn high laced boots, and carried an overcoat. The latter two items have not been found, said the Sheriff.

been optimistic. The hard facts of international life do not, in my opinion, justify the degree of optimism which would make it possible to forecast a 1950 budget materially lower than that for (fiscal) 1949."

President Truman's budget for the 1949 fiscal year, starting July 1, calls for spending $39,700,000,000.

Webb told the committee the budget for fiscal 1949 is based on the assumption that prices and employment will remain at about the level of last fall. He added:

"Rises in prices inevitably will mean increased costs for most of the things the government buys. Likewise a decrease in agricultural prices or an increase in unemployment would mean that expenditures would rise for such mandatory programs as farm price-support, veteran's unemployment allowances and public assistance."

Snyder argued vigorously for Mr. Truman's tax plan.

VOICE BEAMED

NEW YORK, Mar. 1 (AP)—The U. S. State Department's worldwide broadcasting division today stepped up programs beamed toward Czechoslovakia, the scene last week of a Communist coup d'etat.

Charles W. Thayer, acting chief of the "Voice of America" broadcasts, said "recent developments" in Prague had brought the decision to add 15-minute presentations of news and news analyses to the 45-minute programs now directed toward Czechoslovakia.

Trade Activities To Be Told To Visitors

By WILLIAM FERRIS
AP Newsfeatures

CHICAGO—Visitors to the Chicago Board of Trade henceforth will have explained to them the meaning of the shouting and waving of traders on the floor of the big grain market.

Directors have equipped a lecture room. Miss Eunice Dustin, formerly a school teacher in Moline, Ill., presents an illustrated talk on the market's functions. Slide films are used with the lecture.

She encourages questions. The most frequently asked question, she said, is:

"How can anyone sell what he doesn't own?"

This is a query directed at short seller.

The reply is that many commercial goods are sold before they are manufactured, and that the short seller must deliver the grain eventually unless he cancels out his obligation by buying futures.

"Will prices go up or down?'

To this attempt to get an inside tip on the market, she answers:

"Some think they will go up and some think they will go down, which is why there is a buyer and a seller for every transaction.'

In recent weeks, Miss Dustin's most tremulous lecture came when a group of economic professors here for the annual convention of the American Economics Associations, strode into the lecture room. She gave her lecture, then braced herself for questions.

"Where can we get hold of some of those slides to use in our classes?" the professors asked.

Rural Common Sense

By SPUD JOHNSON

OF CROP LAND DROPS CONSERVATION NEEDED

Not long ago there was an average of 3½ acres of crop land in the United States to produce food and other necessities for each person, but the average today is about 2¼ acres.

Those figures, cited by R. S. Dennis of the Production and Marketing Administration, are based on the total crop land and the total population of the United States. "Crop land" is land that will produce satisfactorily.

Unwise use of land, failure to protect and conserve it, and increase in population are responsible for the reduction in the average crop land acreage. "In addition to actual losses of soil through erosion, we have, without realizing it, allowed the fertility of our soil to get away from us," Mr. Dennis declared.

As the population of the United States increases, the number of acres of land available for producing essentials will decrease if there is no further loss of soil and fertility. There will be much greater decrease in available crop land if losses of soil and fertility continue. It has been estimated that the average crop land per person will drop to 1.9 acres by 1980 if the population continues to increase and the losses of soil continue.

To prevent further reduction in crop land and to produce adequate food and fiber for Americans, then agricultural conservation is necessary. Agricultural conservation, according to Mr. Dennis, is the use of agricultural facilities so the soil will be maintained while being used. Because of misuse of much American land, however, many acres must be rebuilt and restored to productive fertility.

Maximum production at minimum cost is necessary for profitable farming. And more and more farmers, having had this fact emphatically impressed upon them by reduced crops, are making efforts to rebuild and conserve their soil. Through the agricultural conservation program, they are making good progress along this line, but millions of acres need special treatment before they will be economically productive.

The agricultural conservation program offers assistance to any farmer who needs it to rebuild and restore his land. And the farmer who needs this help is overlooking a great opportunity if he does not take advantage of it. To be eligible for the 1948 program, however, a farmer must sign a farm work sheet by Apr. 15. That date is not far off, and farmers who wish assistance in the highly important matter of agricultural conservation should file work sheets in their county PMA offices as soon as possible.

Early Passage Of UMT Urged By Marshall

Senator Knowland Urges Better Defense; Bullitt Asks Military Aid for China

WASHINGTON Mar. 2 (AP)—Secretary of State Marshall urged upon six members of the Senate Armed Services Committee today early passage of a Universal Military Training program for the United States.

Chairman Gurney (R-SD) of the Armed Services Committee said the members went to see Marshall partly because of the Communist seizure of power in Czechoslovakia and Soviet pressure on Finland.

Gurney told reporters: "In view of all the things that have happened lately in the international field, including Czechoslovakia and the critical situation in Finland, our committee decided we wanted to talk with Marshall. We spent the time this morning getting his viewpoint on Universal Military Training and his definite assurance he is for it just as he has always been."

Senator Knowland (R-Calif) urged Congress to put American defenses "in first class condition" as well as combatting Communism through aid to Europe.

"We must have an airforce in being, and not just in blueprint," Knowland told the Senate during

Sanford Property To Be Re-Appraised Soon By Engineer

Re-appraisal of Sanford real and personal property will be started in the near future by J. M. Cleminshaw, appraisal engineer of Cleveland, O., and New York, whose bid was accepted yesterday evening by the City Commission in adjourned session, it was reported this morning by H. N. Sayer, city manager.

The appraisal, upon which the City will base its future assessments for tax purposes, will not be made on personal property in homes, said Mr. Sayer. This appraisal, however, will be made in apartments, he revealed, as these go under the category of commercial property.

Present for the bidding also were Warren P. Hunicut of St. Petersburg and a representative of the Cole-Layer Tremble Co. of Dayton, Ohio.

The Commission tentatively approved the transfer of a beer and wine selling license to J. Waitts from Mary Alexander whose store is at 310 Sanford Avenue, and subject to final approval by Police Chief Roy G. Williams.

A temporary permit, subject to revokation by the Commission, was granted to Charles Gormly to establish a doughnut shop in the metal building formerly used for a fruit stand at Palmetto Avenue and Third Street.

Due to the fact that the Commission offered only a short time lease of the 300 acres of unused land at the north end of the Municipal Airport area, A. C. Meddy, director of the Fellowship Front informed the Commission that he would have to decline the rental of the property for grazing and agricultural purposes.

DESTROYER RETURNS

LONG BEACH, Calif., Mar. 2, (AP)— The destroyer Duncan limped into port today with one man dead, at least six injured and a gaping hole in her side from an internal explosion 200 miles at sea.

As a Navy tug brought the 390-foot ship to dock, spectators could see a split more than 30 feet long and three or four feet wide on the starboard side near the stern and along the water line. Steel Deck plates were buckled.

British Fight Beside Jews In Palestine

JERUSALEM, Mar. 2 (AP)—British troops battled beside Jews today against Arab snipers dug in on hillsides commanding the Jerusalem-Jaffa road, a Jewish Agency source said. The British vowed last night to use their weapons henceforth "impartially against whatever side is firing." The informant said both British police and Tommies moved into the area, about 12 miles outside Jerusalem. A large-scale battle appeared to be under way, and the Jews were believed to be bringing up mortars.

Red Czech Agent Denies Benes Has Quit Presidency

Telephone Call From Prague Reveals Resignation Of Benes

PRAGUE, Mar. 2, (AP)—President Eduard Benes remains under the care of his personal physician, and his scheduled return to Prague Thursday still is uncertain, the ministry of information said today.

A ministry spokesman termed "stuff and nonsense" a London Evening News story that Benes had resigned and that the Communists now in control of the government were keeping the resignation secret.

Benes, 64 and frail, is at the presidential country home at Sezimovo Usti, the ministry said. His physician is a Dr. Klinger, who long has attended him.

LONDON Mar. 2 (AP)—The London Evening News said today Eduard Benes had resigned as president of Czechoslovakia, but a Czechoslovak embassy official speedily denied it. The newspaper's story was telephoned from Prague.

Benes, at 64, is in frail health. He agreed last week to Communist demands giving Communists complete control of the government under Premier Klement Gottwald.

"Last week he put his signature to a formal declaration relinquishing his title as President of the Czechoslovak republic," the Evening News said.

"Communists have not yet allowed the resignation to be made public for fear of a violent re-

1573 Fork Is Found At Site Of Fort Reed

A two pronged fork bearing the inscription, May 11, 1573 was recently found by Mrs. John Bennett at 2602 Orange Avenue near the site of old Fort Reed. Mrs. Bennett stumbled upon the fork when she went out to see her husband, a member of the local fire department, working in his garden.

Mr. Bennett today had the fork on exhibit at the Fire Station, and pointed out that a small attachment, that enabled the fork to hang over an iron pot was missing, but said that he hoped to find it, as his children may have gotten it to play with. The handle of the fork is made of deer horn.

Lamarre said he accepted $500 from Meyers to pay expenses for himself, his wife, and for M. and Mrs. Thomas E. Readnower. That was when all four were called to Washington to appear before the Senate committee.

Steel Price Is Subject Of Senate Probe

Taft Presses Fairless On Effect Of Recent Price Hike On Wage Demands

BOSTON, Mar. 2 (AP)—CIO President Philip Murray said today he had "no comment" on testimony of U. S. Steel President Benjamin F. Fairless before a congressional committee investigating steel prices. The CIO leader is in Boston to address a Catholic conference on industrial problems.

WASHINGTON Mar. 2 (AP)—Senator Taft (R-Ohio) expressed fear today that the recent steel price increase might touch off new demands for wage boosts.

He said he is concerned that "one of the fundamental industries comes along and increases its prices" despite pleas from President Truman and others to hold down prices generally.

Taft, head of the Senate-House Economic Committee, aimed his remarks at Benjamin F. Fairless, president of the United States Steel Corp. Fairless was a witness at a committee hearing on the steel price hike.

Taft asked Fairless if he did not think the increase would encourage every labor union to ask for more wages.

"Isn't that the moral effect?" he pressed. "Hasn't it increased the demand for government con-

Pennsylvania Sets New Divorce Rules To Begin June 1st

PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 2 (AP)—New procedural rules aimed at cutting red tape in uncontested divorce actions in Pennsylvania courts become effective June 1.

The rules, prepared by a committee appointed by the State Supreme Court, change neither the requirement for a year's residency in the state, grounds, nor proof, said Roland A. Anderson, committee secretary.

"Pennsylvania courts are not being thrown open to a divorce racket," Anderson emphasized.

Anderson explained that the purpose of revised procedures is to bring divorce laws in line with equity and law actions.

It eliminates, he said, "a number of old fashioned laws."

The effect Anderson said will be to cut as much as two months off the time now required in some Pennsylvania courts to obtain a divorce.

As an example, he cited Philadelphia County, where a divorce now requires five to eight months. This period would be reduced to three to six months under the new procedural rules, Anderson said.

In Pittsburgh, Allegheny County Prothonotary David Roberts said yesterday the new procedures would enable residents of two Pennsylvania counties to obtain divorces in as little as 46 days.

"That's wrong," Anderson said.

Roberts, interviewed in Pittsburgh after Anderson's statement, said the 46-day interpretation was his. "If we've interpreted it (the procedures) wrong, we'd be happy to have them (the Supreme Court) inform us."

POPE'S BIRTHDAY

VATICAN CITY, Mar. 2 (AP)—Papal banners flew today from Vatican City in honor of Pope Pius XII's 72nd brithday and the ninth anniversary of his election as pontiff.

Both events will be observed formally on Mar. 12, anniversary of the Pope's coronation, with a Papal mass in the Sistine Chapel. Most of the Vatican offices were closed today, but the Pope went about his usual duties.

Election Results Of Seminole County Student Candidates Told

Ann Dunn of Junior High School was elected as mythical "Sheriff" of Seminole County in the Jaycee sponsored Youth Governmental affairs election Friday, J. Brailey Odham, Jaycee president, announced today. With 156 solid votes behind her, Ann won with 159 votes to the 141 votes received by Tommy Stringer, 105 of which came from Seminole High School. There were 14 candidates in the running.

Pupils evidently believed that "chips off the old block" would succeed in public office, since they elected George Herndon, son of O. P. Herndon, as "Clerk of the Circuit Court." George got a solid 174 votes from Junior High School to Glenn McCall's 150 votes, 120 of which were from Seminole High School "precinct."

Tommie Speer, son of County Prosecuting Attorney G. A. Speer, also won the right to "serve in his dad's place for a day" by receiving 200 votes, 184 of which were from Junior High School.

Another Junior High School candidate, Banks Register, edged out his Seminole High School opponent by one vote, getting 187

Seminole County Red Cross Opens Campaign For Operation Funds

The Seminole County Chapter of the American Red Cross opened its county-wide campaign yesterday for funds to advance its operation for the years 1948-49. The drive will last through March.

Karlyle Housholder, chairman for the drive, and A. E. Shinholser, chapter chairman for the county, today united in their request to the people of the county that they give generously to the Red Cross, for which the County has a budget for the coming year of approximately $7,200.

An effort will be made to solicit individually every person and family within the county, but in the event workers should fail to contact anyone wishing to make a contribution, a worker will be sent to pick up any contribution upon notification at headquarters at 500 Oak Avenue, telephone 80, or the contribution may be mailed direct to headquarters, it was announced.

Mr. Shinholser today pointed out that the work of the Red Cross in Seminole County has been active and varied during the past year and involves such a variety of work that a simple analysis is practically impossible.

In the general line of activity, he said, the local Red Cross has functioned during the hurricane alerts of the fall of 1947 and through its executive secretaries and voluntary services as well as its disaster committees and has functioned by aiding numerous cases of individual families.

There has also been activity throughout the year by the Production Corps and the Junior Red Cross and a program of safety training for accident prevention has been carried out, he revealed.

Forest fires in New England, the hurricane in Florida, the disaster at Texas City in which 550 were killed, 3,500 injured and 8,800 left in need of assistance

Miami Beach Police Join In Playing "Cops And Robbers"

MIAMI BEACH Mar. 2 (AP)—Three young Canadians captured yesterday in a spectacular "cops and robbers" raid, are being held in city jail while police officers investigate 12 separate burglaries to which detective Lieut. Charles Pierce said they had verbally confessed.

The trio, identified as Roland Arbic, 27; John Rondow, 24, and Nicholas Mauizio, 21, all of Windsor, Ontario, Canada, were captured on the stage of the Carmen Theater after 20 heavily-armed policemen surrounded the building.

Pierce said 12 burglaries, amounting to nearly $10,000, are being investigated. He said no formal charges have been filed pending the outcome of the investigations and they are now being held on a vagrancy charge and for investigation.

Pierce said the trio verbally stated that they had robbed safes

Finland Reds Begin Organizing Meetings

HELSINKI, Mar. 2 (AP)—Finland's Communists today began organizing factory and trade union meetings to support a military pact with Russia.

The Communist organ Tyoekansa Sanomat said workers favor a friendship and assistance treaty with the Soviet Union because it is the best way to guarantee the interests of Finland and the cause of peace.

The first of the factory meetings being organized by the Communists were held yesterday at Turku and Tampere, two of Finland's most important industrial centers.

The Turku metal workers adopted a resolution recommending acceptance of the military pact. The resolution said "We must take a friend's hand if it is offered."

Committee Named To Stop Disparity In Freight Rates

Discrimination Is Charged In California Shipments

William C. Hutchison, rate expert and representative of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, and Miss Mell Whitner of the J. C. Hutchison Company of Sanford were named Saturday on a committee headed by John A. O'Rourke, secretary manager of the Growers and Shippers League of Florida, to confer with a railroad committee regarding disparity of weights for identical celery crate sizes as shipped from California and Florida.

J. E. "Ted" Wathen, former Sanford manager of American Fruit Growers, Inc. and now manager at their Ft. Pierce office, was also named to the committee. The meeting was held at the Angebilt Hotel, with Monty Graw, manager of the Florida Growers Association, presiding.

If the rate discrimination is removed, the Florida celery growers should receive greater net returns on their celery, and more nearly compete with California in those markets where California now has the advantage, it was pointed out by Mr. Hutchison.

The discussion was led at the meeting by Homer Clause of Pahokee, sales manager of the Everglades Growers Association.

Mr. Clause stated that at Kansas City he had weighed crates of California and Florida celery, and found that California celery was in the same size crate as Florida celery, and that the California railroads accepted this crate for billing purposes at a weight of 50 pounds, while the

John W. Hanes Favors Income Tax Reduction

Ex-Treasury Official Says Cut Shouldn't Be $6,500,000,000, But Healthy Sum

WASHINGTON Mar. 2 (AP)—John W. Hanes, a former New Deal treasury official, said today he favors a "good, healthy" income tax cut.

But the New York corporation executive told the Senate Finance Committee the cut should not be as large as the $6,500,000,000 voted by the House.

Hanes, Undersecretary of the Treasury in 1938-39, said the House figure should be "somewhat reduced." Just how much, he added, should be left to the "good judgment" of Congress.

Earlier Hanes had predicted that the government will take in nearly $20,000,000,000 more than it spends this year and next.

He said in his prepared testimony that this would leave "ample room" for a tax cut.

Senator Barkley (D-Ky) wanted to know whether Hanes was arguing for passage of the House bill.

"I am advocating tax reduction by a good, healthy amount,"

Snow Covers Parts Of U. S. From New York To Colorado

NEW YORK, Mar. 2, (AP)—Snow covered the New York City area today, bringing the city the second highest winter's total on record — 58.4. But the inch and a half that fell began melting as the snow turned to rain.

The Weather Bureau, in its 64 years of record taking, recorded more snow only during the winter of 1892-93, when a total of 77.6 inches was reached. The mark set today eclipsed the snowfall of 58.3 inches of 1898-99.

The snow belt extended from eastern Colorado through Kansas, parts of Nebraska, Iowa, northern Illinois, southeastern Wisconsin, southern lower Michigan to western New York. There also was snow in the Red River Valley of North Dakota and Minnesota and near the Canadian border in the Rocky Mountains. Iowa City, Ia., reported a fall of nine inches. In Des Moines eight inches of new snow covered the ground.

Rain fell from the Carolinas across Tennessee and Kentucky to Indiana, Illinois and southern Missouri. A band of freezing rain made driving hazardous from central Missouri into Illinois and to Fort Wayne, Ind.

There were a few spots reporting below zero temperatures. The mercury dropped to -8 in Caribou, Me., and was below zero near the Canadian border in North Dakota and Minnesota.

Warm weather was reported in parts of the South yesterday. Highs included 84 at San Antonio, Tex., and 78 at Miami and New Orleans.

Convict Is Spared So He Can Marry

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Mar. 2, (AP)— Governor Jim McCord today commuted to 88 years imprisonment the death sentence of Daniel Budzynski, who was scheduled to die in the electric chair Thursday.

The commutation was granted after a 20-year-old Methodist Sunday school teacher from Pittsburgh asked for clemency for her girlhood sweetheart.

Pretty Jeanne Clair Lucas came here from Pittsburgh to marry Budzynski in his death cell if the Governor would not commute his sentence.

The commutation was announced by the Governor following a conference with Hugh Helm, attorney for the Pittsburgh girl, and Jess Talley, president of the Tennessee Association for Relief of ex-convicts.

Vandenberg Wont Say He Will And Won't Say "No!"

Statement Taken As Meaning He Will Accept If Drafted

LINCOLN, Nebr., Mar. 2, (AP)— The name of Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) will be entered on Nebraska's presidential preferential ballots in the Apr. 13 primary election, Raymond A. McConnell, Jr., said today.

McConnell, newspaper editor and chairman of the Nebraska Bipartisan Presidential Preferential Primary Committee, made the announcement after receiving a telegram from the Michigan Senator.

The telegram replied to one from McConnell asking: "If you were nominated by the Republican convention, would you accept the nomination?"

"I decline to speculate with utterly impossible contingencies," Vandenberg replied.

ALBANY, N. Y., Mar. 2 (AP)—Governor Thomas E. Dewey will pass up his usual Spring vacation and personally lead his forces in a drive for the Republican presidential nomination, he disclosed today. At the same time the Governor denied a newspaper report, not carried by the Associated Press, that he had offered jobs in return for political support in the Wisconsin presidential primary, where he is contesting with Harold E. Stassen and General Douglas MacArthur.

WASHINGTON Mar. 2 (AP)—Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) declined today to "speculate" whether he would accept the Republican nomination for President.

Vandenberg urged Raymond A. McConnell, Jr., Lincoln, Nebr., newspaper editor again, asking that his name be withheld from the Apr. 13 Nebraska primary.

McConnell had held up filing of a petition to place Vandenberg's name on the Nebraska ballot until the Michigan senator had opportunity to answer this question:

"If you were nominated by the

Klan To Parade In Georgia County

WRIGHTSVILLE, Ga., Mar. 2 (AP)—The Ku Klux Klan will parade tonight in advance of Johnson County's Democratic primary election tomorrow at which negroes are eligible to vote.

Dr. Samuel Green, Georgia grand dragon of the Klan, said in Atlanta that he planned to attend, if the weather is favorable. 500 to 600 Klansmen are expected to March.

The County Democratic Committee ruled several weeks ago that all voters must pledge support of white supremacy and racial segregation. Strong protests from citizens followed. The committee backed down and opened the voting to all.

Dr. Green didn't say why the Klansmen would stage tonight's demonstration. Wrightsville is 150 miles southeast of Atlanta. Four hundred of the county's 5,000 eligible voters are negroes.

FAMILY DIES

WASHINGTON, Mar. 2, (AP)—Four members of a negro family died and five others were seriously injured today in a flash fire which destroyed a two-story frame house in southeast Washington. Police said an overheated oil stove, which exploded, was believed cause of the tragedy.

Nine persons, including the injured, escaped by leaping from second story windows.

Measure Must Pass Rules Committee Before Coming Before House Members

WASHINGTON, Mar. 2, (AP)—Senator Russell (D-Ga) today offered to join Republicans in cutting any funds President Truman might spend on his civil rights program. Russell's remarks were made as a Senate Appropriations Subcommittee began studying a House-approved $991,518,551 independent offices supply bill. The bill provides money for the White House and a score of independent agencies, such as the Federal Communications Commission. Included in the White House total is a $700,000 emergency fund for the President. Senator Reed (R-Kan) offered a breakdown showing Mr. Truman has spent $50,000 of a $500,000 emergency fund this fiscal year for the President's Committee on Civil Rights."

WASHINGTON Mar. 2 (AP)—Anti-lynching legislation was approved today by the House Judiciary Committee. The action sends the bill—a key one in President Truman's civil rights program—just one step short of the House floor. It must be cleared by the Rules Committee before the House can vote on it. It is one of the measures which has southern Democrats threatening a party revolt.

The Judiciary Committee voted behind closed doors and the vote was not announced officially. However, members said it was 18 to 8.

The bill, drafted by Rep. Clifford Case (R-NJ), declares it to be the duty of the state to protect the life, liberty and property

Chairman Thomas Subpoenaes Files Of Atomic Official

WASHINGTON, Mar. 2 (AP)—The Commerce Department's Loyalty Board files concerning Dr. Edward U. Condon were ordered subpoenaed today by Chairman Thomas (D-NJ) of the House Un-American Activities Committee.

Condon, 46-year-old scientist and head of the government's Bureau of Standards, was accused by a House group of being "one of the weakest links in our atomic security." He also was accused by the group, headed by Thomas, of associating with Communist Communist agents.

As Thomas acted to obtain records in the case, the Atomic Energy Commission told a Senate-House Committee that Condon has had no access to top atomic secrets.

1,900 Baltimore Vets Stop Loan Payments

BALTIMORE, Mar. 2, (AP)—Nineteen-hundred veterans stopped mortgage payments yesterday, and a major loan association said it would grant no more credits "to any builder who has been unable to maintain the good will of G.I. home buyers."

Contending they were cheated by contractors who used faulty materials, the veterans said they would halt principal payments on loans acquired under the G.I. Bill." They also charged that contractors had not met the specifications on which the houses were purchased and had not complied with the Balitmore city building code.

Samuel W. Borden, president of the Loyola Federal Building and Loan Association, said his firm would tell contractors it has financed that they they must "do anything, reasonable or unreasonable," to satisfy the complainants. The company has about $8,000,000 invested in veterans' homes.

Air Experts Urge Congress To Make U. S. Air Leaders

By JAMES J. STREBIG
AP Aviation Reporter

WASHINGTON, Mar. 2 (AP)—Congress heard a call from its own aviation experts today to make American supreme in the air because the political and industrial phases of "the next war" have already begun.

"Civilization stands vulnerable to annihilation," the 10-member congressional aviation policy board declared.

The six Republicans and four Democrats who reported on a seven month study said this country needs 35,000 fighting planes and must be ready to spend nearly $10,000,000,000 a year to make air power the "dominating factor in maintaining world peace."

"To defend ourselves in the age of atomic bombs, of radioactive dust, of bacteriological contamination and guided missiles—to mention some of the new and terrible weapons—we must have air power that is supreme," they said.

"It is folly to pretend that the world does not live under a sense of impending tragedy. Deliberately and continuously we are faced with the possibility of aggressive attack."

"The political phase of the next war has been actively engaged in since VE-Day—and the industrial phase is clearly recognizable."

The best answer would be a "Magna Carta of world defense written in the United Nations, to whose inspectors modern weapons could be surrendered. However, because it is tragic but true that no such answer is in prospect, the policy board said these first steps must be taken:

1. Immediate action to resolve the conflict that is delaying a unified military plan.

2. Build toward a 70-group Air Force with 20, 541 planes and a Naval air arm with 14,500 planes—about double the present total.

3. Give top research priority to applying atomic power to aircraft.

4. Develop a federal airways system with ultra modern equipment for all weather, large volume flying to serve both civil and military needs.

These are the main proposals among 92 recommendations in the 54 page report. Some of the steps may be put before Congress soon in the form of legislation.

Senator Brewster (R-Me) was chairman of the board and Rep. Hinshaw (R-Calif.) was vice chairman. Their report generally agrees with a similar study completed seven weeks ago by President Truman's Air Policy Commission.

The congressional group said it had been unable to learn the air requirement of the Navy and Air Force for a unified plan of action.

"Moreover, there is no present indication that such a plan is in process of determination," the report said.

The board placed the blame largely on the joint chiefs of staff. But it said a conflict between the 1947 National Security (unification) Act and a later presidential order defining the wartime roles of the Army, Navy and Air Force was partly responsible. The report urged immediate clarification of both the law and the order.

ROT-PROOFED COTTON

Mildew and other forms of rot cause such serious losses of cotton fabric every year that scientists have long been searching for ways to treat cotton against this damage. The best means discovered so far is to partially convert the fabric or yarn to cellulose acetate, similar to acetate rayon, by chemical treatment, research at the Southern Regional Research Laboratory of the U. S. Department of Agriculture has shown.

Partially acetylating cotton fabric does not change its appearance, "feel," or strength, yet greatly improves its resistance to all forms of rot and also improves its resistance to heat. After treatment the fabric can be dyed as acetate rayon is dyed. The Laboratory has developed practical and rapid commercial methods for treating cotton this way and foresees many possible uses for it.

Cotton bags for water softening systems already are being made of acetylated fabric. In these systems the bag of softener is held in a tank of circulating water. Untreated bags rot and go to pieces in a month or less, but those from partially acetylated cloth remain in good condition for more than a year.

Partially acetylated fish nets and cotton linings for shoes are who being tested commercially. Other possibilities are: fabric for awnings, tarpaulins, outdoor furniture and tents; sewing thread for shoes and other leather goods; insulation for outdoor electric wires.

20 Year Old Girl Seeks To Wed Boy Sentenced To Die

NASHVILLE, Mar. 2, (AP)— A 20-year-old Methodist Sunday school teacher sought a way today to marry her teen-age boy friend who is under sentence to die Thursday for murder.

Petite, dark Jeanne Clair Lucas flew here from Pittsburgh yesterday to beseech Gov. Jim McCord to commute the death sentence of 18-year-old Daniel Budzynski to life imprisonment.

That failing, the neatly-dressed brunette said she was ready to marry Danny in the death-house of the state prison, where he is waiting to die in the electric chair Thursday for the slaying of a Memphis clothes dealer and pawn broker.

"I love him," Miss Lucas said yesterday.

It is her third visit to Nashville in her efforts to marry the child-hood sweetheart she met at a Christmas party eight years ago. Danny's sister Henrietta accompanied her on the trip here.

Jeanne said she applied for a marriage license immediately after her arrival yesterday. Today she plans to ask Governor McCord to waive the three-day waiting period required by law.

She explained that the waiting period does not expire until several hours after Danny is scheduled to die. If the waiting period is waived, she will even be willing to marry Danny by proxy, said the young Sunday school teacher in the Bingham Street Methodist Church in Pittsburgh.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

MAN IS IMMORTAL TILL HIS WORK IS DONE.—Job 5:26: Thou shalt come to thy grave in full age.

Paul Gallico proposes a "Be Kind to Truman Day". And no doubt he would like to hold it on the 2nd of November.

So much free publicity stuff is coming in from the candidates for state offices that an additional waste basket has been placed in the offices—Florida Advocate. How many do you have now?

We see where an American citizen serving with the American embassy in Moscow has decided to marry a Russian and renounce her American citizenship. And believe us, when the man bites the dog, that's news.

"Tragic unpublicized fact about the President's civil rights message is that it's creating just what it is aimed to prevent—a new reign of terror against negroes in some parts of the South", says Drew Pearson of Washington Merry Go Round fame. What did you expect? That's just what some of the real friends of the negroes in the South have been telling you all the time.

Senator Glen Taylor of Idaho, Henry Wallace's running mate, does not believe the Communists are all bad. He would not give them key positions in the government where they could turn over important information to Russia, he says, but he sees no harm in employing them in certain other government positions, such as the Labor Department, for instance. Evidently he does not recognize that a traitor is a traitor no matter where you hire him.

Down at Plant City the other day a 14 year old girl was shot and killed by a 15 year old boy who had been chasing robbins (with a small guage shotgun) from a strawberry patch. It is too late to do anything about it now. Nothing can bring the little girl back to life. But similar tragedies in the future can be prevented if parents will keep their children away from firearms until they have been properly instructed in their handling.

According to a recent poll conducted among the students at the University of Florida, Colin English seems to be the favorite candidate among the student body for governor of Florida. He received 33 percent of the votes cast, while Fuller Warren was second with 25 percent. Other candidates trailed in this order, Dan McCarty, Tom Watson, Bill Shanda and Bernarr MacFadden. Significantly, 22 percent had failed to make up their minds, hence had no favorite. What this 22 percent ultimately decide to do can have a tremendous effect on the outcome of student voting.

We are indebted to the House Judiciary Committee which recently approved the anti-lynching bill for a delinition of lynching. We had always wondered. A lynching, it seems, "is an organized effort not only to punish the persons lynched but also to terrorize the groups, in the community or elsewhere, of which the persons lynched are members by reason of their race, creed, color, national origin, ancestry, language, or religion, and thus to deny to all members of such groups, and to prevent them from exercising, the rights guaranteed to them by the Constitution and laws of the United States". In other words, if a group of men take a man belonging to a different race or religion out and kill him, it is a lynching; but if he belongs to the same race or religion, it's just a murder.

Move Against Caste

The draft of a constitution for India contains provisions which are aimed at the destruction of the caste system. Its adoption would be a gesture meaning that the leaders of India are aware that the caste system must be abolished if their new nation is to advance. It would be little more than a gesture.

It is extremely difficult, if not impossible, to fight prejudice effectively with laws. Americans have learned that truth in their own experience. With a basis established in the constitution, there will begin for India the long process of educating the people to erase the lines of caste in their daily living. It will be a process not of years but of generations.

The Hindu caste system is deeply rooted in the historic origins of the people, and is inseparable from Hinduism itself. Caste determines irrevocably the Hindu's religious sect, family and social life, and means of earning a livelihood. The equivalent of the caste system is found in many non-Hindu groups in the same kind of hereditary social and occupational groups, the lines of which cannot be crossed.

The system strangles and suffocates social, economic and political progress in India. It will not be ended in a day by a new political state and its constitution. But if this enlightened constitution is adopted the millions who labor under the yoke of caste will have a source of hope.

Coal Getting Short

Another problem to worry about is coal. Contrary to popular belief, the United States has only enough coal to last 250 years, and not, as we used to be told, 3,000 or 4,000. In the eastern part of the country, where 92 per cent of the coal is produced and used, there is enough only for 90 years' use. So Andrew B. Crichton, a Johnstown, Pa., mining engineer, recently told the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgy.

Use oil or natural gas instead? Oil is getting so many demands now that to increase them seems more than risky, and who can tell how long natural gas will hold out?

"Oh, some other form of energy will be developed," a good many persons say airly, "perhaps sun or tidal power, or atomic energy." All this is possible, but to rely on such possibilities is something like hoping to escape bankruptcy by digging gold out of the back yard.

The situation calls for a fuel survey which would consider the problem at long range, and make recommendations for some decades to come.

Diplomacy Of Sanctions

The economic sanctions of League-of-Nations days are recalled by the suggestions of things the United States might do to express rejection of the new state of affairs in Czechoslovakia. The ideas include denial of credit, freezing of assets, and restrictions on exports of machinery and equipment.

Such steps seem a poor reply to the highly effective measures totalitarian regimes use to obtain their goals. But they appear to be the only ones available to us, and even they are open to question. By its own ideals Democracy is sharply limited in the means it can use to defend itself against other ideologies.

Pack 10 Cub Scouts Have Meet, Feed At Southside School

By WILLARD CONNOLLY

Pack 10 of the Cub Scouts held their monthly pack meeting and supper at the Southside Primary School lunch room at 6:30 o'clock fine attendance of Cub Scouts, Friday evening and there was a den mothers, also fathers who beamed with pride as they presented awards, in some instances to their own sons.

One look at these neat, clean cut lads, many soon to be Boy Scouts, would enable any real American to know why these parents were justly proud of the accomplishments of their sons. The boys were as bolsterous and full of fun as any normal boys are, but it was evident that something had been added.

Cub Scouts got up and asserted themselves clearly. The other boys listened respectfully. There were no loud "show offs," no offensive rough house. It was clearly evident that Scout training in the principles of courtesy, self control and manliness were becoming habitual in the boys.

It was also evident that Cubmaster Evans McCoy, who had charge of the meeting, held the interest, respect and affection of the boys. He led a rousing song service with a bit of my guitar picking as accompaniment.

Ralph A. Smith, boy scout executive, presented Pack 10 with the presidential award of the Central Florida Council. Individual awards were given to the different dens by Jack Russell, John Krider, Jack Burney, R. Wyatt and Robert Reely.

Mr. Reely announced that March was kite month and that each boy is to make his own kite for competition on March 20 at 3:00 P. M. at Ft. Mellon Park.

The Cub scouts had various

25 Year Old Girl Dies In Fire, 3 Rescued

PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 2 (AP)—Twenty-five-year-old Marion Righter died today in a fire that swept her home, trapping her in a bedroom.

Three others, including a 10-day-old infant, were rescued as the flames damaged two adjoining houses and drove four persons to the street.

Miss Righter's brother-in-law, William Connors, 34, made three trips across the porch roof below his front bedroom window to rescue his infant son, William, Jr., his wife and his mother-in-law.

Connors made his daring rescue by carrying each of the three across the roof and passing them through the next door bedroom of Mrs. Sophia Phillips, a neighbor.

20 YEARS RESTORED

TALLAHASSEE, Mar. 2 (AP)—The prison sentence of Armando Alcala for assault with intent to rape in Tampa was restored to its full 20-year term today by the State Pardon Board.

The board withdrew its Jan. 6 commutation of the sentence to five years after curtly refusing to hear a letter in which Attorney General Tom Watson recommended exactly that action.

The shortening of Alcala's prison term, over objections of the State Parole Commission has been criticized by the Tampa press.

THE WORLD TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Britain's sagacious war-time prime minister, Winston Churchill, not long ago advocated in the House of Commons that the Western democracies unite and seek a showdown with Russia before the latter developed atomic weapons.

Sound advice—but have we delayed too long? It certainly makes one wonder when a House of Representatives Un-American Activities subcommittee reports that the U. S. Bureau of Standards, which has been working on atomic energy processes, "has become the target of espionage agents of numerous foreign powers."

Not only that, but the subcommittee asserts that Dr. Edward U. Condon, head of the bureau, is "one of the weakest links in our atomic security." The subcommittee charges that he "knowingly or unknowingly, entertained and associated with persons who are alleged Soviet espionage agents" and "has lent his name and influence to one of the principal Communist endeavors in the United States."

There's a lot more to the report, but that's enough to send a chill down the spine of any loyal citizen. A chill, but not panic! Let us hope that we have been forewarned, for to be forewarned is to be forearmed.

What we need now is energetic action to put our defenses in shape, and quit this bunk about poor Russia being driven to aggression because she is in mortal fear of attack by the United States. The Soviet isn't afraid, but is in process of carrying out a campaign of long-planned world conquest.

The brazen and brutal enslavement of Czechoslovakia by the Reds already had convinced the major Western democracies finally that the time had arrived when it would be flirting with disaster if they let Russia push them about any more. This atomic report ought to put a cap on that decision.

The consensus on both sides of the Atlantic, even before the atomic sensation broke, was well summed up in an editorial by the powerful London Times: "The only way now to settle with Russia—and the peace of the world depends upon it—is to take up the challenge and bring both the recovery program (the Marshall Plan) and western union (of Europe) to a successful outcome."

The Marshall Plan now is before the U. S. Senate, and Senator Vandenberg, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, yesterday appealed for approval of the program to "help stop World War III before it starts." He declared that while "any thought of another war is abhorrent to our soul," "peace and appeasement are no on speaking terms."

The project of a Western European union, recently proposed by British Secretary of State Bevin, also is being pushed to a decision. U. S. Secretary of State Marshall has endorsed this plan, and there has been speculation—which officials privately approve—that in due course the United States might welcome an alliance with the countries of Western Europe.

This thought of bringing military power into the picture through an alliance also was raised at the weekend in England by none less than Anthony Eden, who 10 years ago resigned as foreign secretary in the Chamberlain cabinet because he no longer could countenance appeasement of dictators Hitler and Mussolini. Eden last Saturday urged close collaboration of the Western powers and America in a program of "mutual assistance covering the economic, political and military fields."

Interest Created In School Pupils By Red Cross Head

Much interest in the Junior Red Cross was aroused in school pupils of Seminole County during the past week by Miss Jennie Ramsey, field representative for the organization, who made talks to pupils in eight white schools and who conferred with colored school supervisors.

Miss Ramsey was accompanied by Mrs. Ethel Geisler, Red Cross Chapter secretary, by Miss Ruth Hand, county supervisor of public instruction and by Miss Edna Chittenden, JRC leader.

Junior workers have aided in preparing for the current Red Cross Drive by preparing supplies for distribution and making a house to house distribution of 250 rotogravures and 800 pamphlets as advance publicity for the fund drive.

The Junior Red Cross report for February reveals that 21 schools are enrolled, and efforts are being made to enroll six other schools so as to make a 100 percent total. The sum of $57 was received in enrollment fees; $50 was sent to the Area office as a contribution to the National Children's Fund, Miss Chittenden reported. The Service Fund balance of $256 will be used for Junior Red Cross activities of various natures.

TEEN TALK

AP Newsfeatures

Dear Judy,

Now we'll believe that music can calm the savage beast: It seems to have subdued Master and Miss Bobby Soxer of 1948.

No longer jive mad, the majority of teen agers, who'd jitter until dad turned out the lights, now are long-hair music fans. It seems they can't get enough Bach, Beethoven and Tchaikowsky, and suddenly they are begging for music knowledge.

This year's teen ager seeks to learn what made these great composers tick. At the RCA Exhibition Hall in N. Y., where schools are invited to make up groups to listen to music recordings in their Little Theater, the place is jammed with young people eager to learn and listen.

Along with the programs of classical music, there are commentaries about the composers, stories and explanations of the story behind the composition. One official of the exhibit, Steve de Baun, said he believes the key to music appreciation as far as the kids are concerned is the commentaries. It is the "something personal" which they learn that makes real music more understandable.

Gilbert and Sullivan is a big favorite with the kids. So is the Nutcracker Suite. Often the schools select their own programs after discussing 'em with the students.

What the kids would like is to have more music study periods in the classroom. Then when they gather around for a long-hair session, they can better appreciate to what end the composers were driving.

In case you haven't heard, girl finalists in the science talent search (Westinghouse): are Patricia Lee Childress, 17, of Los Angeles, Calif.; Charlotte Elizabeth Decker, 17, of Chicago, Ill.; Millicent Margaret Sawyer, 17, of West Terre Haute Ind.; Barbara Claire Wolff, 17, of Flushing, N. Y.; Ursel Joyce Blumenheim, 16, of Kew Gardens, N. Y.; Laura Caroline Maurer, 17, of Rockville Center, N. Y.; Nancy Jean Rowe, 16, of Canton, Ohio, Marjorie Ann Gilbert 17, of Broadhead, Wis.

It is estimated that 85 to 90 per cent of the driving accidents in many large cities are caused by persons who break traffic laws.

The yield of meat, including leg bones from common snapping turtles, is said to be about half the weight of the live specimen.

Giants Sign 50 Players From Baseball School Here

Locals Get Largest List of Players; Eight Other Teams Also Receive Men

By ARTHUR BECKWITH, JR.
Herald Sports Editor

The New York Giants signed 50 baseball players from their baseball school held here at their Municipal Airport site for nine of their farm clubs, it was announced today by Carl Hubbell, director of the New York Giants farm system.

The former New York Giants mound ace stated he termed the school a success from every standpoint. "We had some mighty good-looking prospects at the school, and, of course, we had some which were not so good," Hubbell added.

Nick Shimkoff, scout for the Giants, who is now maintaining the records for the farm club training base, stated that there were over 250 men here at one time last month, but they dwindled to about a dozen last week. None of the men are here now, he stated.

When asked how many men attended the school, Shimkoff stated, "There must have been 350."

The Sanford entry in the Florida State League received more players from the school than any other club in the Giants system. Sanford received 14 men.

The Giants signed eight pitchers, one catcher, four outfielders and a first baseman from the school for Manager Hal Gruber's Sanfordites.

Sanford's list of pitchers include Don Umsheid, Jim McKenna, Jerry Creasy, Charles Spinks, Joe Schultz, Bob Peppers, Bob Marshall and Lyman Peck. The outfielders include Frank Giordano, Connie Kavakis, Lester Booher and Joe Lashley. Len Matte is the catcher and George Street holds down the initial sack.

Chanute, Kas., of the K. O. M. circuit has 13 players assigned; Lawton, Okla., has seven; Sanford, Del., received four and Oshkosh, Wisc., of the Wisconsin State League obtained one.

Fort Smith, Ark., of the Western Association received eight; Reno, Nev., Trenton, N. J., and Knoxville, Tenn., each received one man.

Twenty-nine of the 50 players were outfielders. The others were infielders and catchers.

Two Outfielders Sign Contracts With Sanford

Manager Hal Gruber of the Sanford entry in the Florida State League today announced the receipt of two additional contracts signed by youngsters who attended the Giants school at the Municipal Airport.

The two are Lester Booher and Joe Lashley, both are outfielders.

Booher is a Pennsylvanian and Lashley makes his home in North Carolina. Both men hit and throw left handed, Gruber reported.

Hialeah Park Ends 40 Day Race Meet With 2 Features

MIAMI, Mar. 2 (AP)—Hialeah Park ends its 40-day race meeting today with a double-barreled feature—the $20,000 Black Helen and the $10,000 Juvenile Stakes.

Coming to the final day with pari-mutuel play only 7 per cent below last season, Hialeah officials predicted more than 22,000 would attend the closing day's program, with wagering likely to exceed $1,000,000 on the eight-race card.

Mrs. Helen K. Haggerty's Rampart will carry top weight of 120 pounds in the Black Helen handicap, chiefly on the strength of the mare's triumph over Armed early in the year.

A. C. Ernest's Alfoxie, in with a feathery 102 pounds, also drew strong support on the basis of three victories in a row.

Of the 13 named in the $10,000 Juvenile Stakes for two-year-olds, at three furlongs, all except two have won at the Hialeah meeting. Of the exceptions, William Veeneman's Irish Sun was second in two appearances. Victor Emanuel's Kypnos is the other non-winner.

Catholic Basketball Tourney Is Delayed

ST. AUGUSTINE, Mar. 2 (AP)—Dates of the State Catholic High School Basketball Tournament have been set back a week to Mar. 19-21.

The change will give eligible teams a chance to compete in both the Florida High School Athletic Association eliminations and the Catholic Tourney.

St. Joseph Academy of St. Augustine teams were seeded first in both boys and girls divisions. Other seedings among boys teams ranked St. Peter and Paul of Miami second, St. Leo third and St. Anthony of Ft. Lauderdale fourth.

7-1 Combination Returns $242 At Sanford Track

A mutuel refund amounting to $242.20 was returned on the daily double last night at the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club when the 7-1 combination copped both halves. The winning greyhounds were Little Wrangler and Blackwell, the victory being Blackwell's first triumph in 16 starts.

Featured in tonight's "hot box" ninth event will be Susan Stavers, who showed a flash of her old form in winning her last out. Several years ago this greyhound ace from Ed Brown's Kennel was one of the track's top runners.

Offering Susan the stoutest contention will be Half Label, Spanish Matron, and Flocine, the latter still leading all entries this season in victories with a total of seven.

Post-time for the first event will be 8 P. M., and it was announced the new automatic time clock will be operated on all 10 events.

Training Camp Notes

PHOENIX, Ariz., Mar 2 (AP)—The New York Giants, short on pitchers, are planning to convert Jim Gladd, strong-arm rookie catcher, into a hurler.

BRADENTON, Mar. 2 (AP)—Alvin Dark, highly regarded rookie shortstop, up from Milwaukee, was the center of attraction as the Boston Braves began their conditioning for the coming season.

SARASOTA, Mar. 2 (AP)—Ellis Kinder, pitcher obtained by Boston's Red Sox from the St. Louis Browns, was the only absentee as the Hose went through their first workout under their new manager, Joe McCarthy.

WEST PALM BEACH, Mar. 2 (AP)—Manager Connie Mack of the Philadelphia Athletics received word that First Baseman Ferris Fain has been advised by a doctor at Richmond, Calif., not to report for spring training until Mar. 26.

Fain underwent an operation for the removal of a cartilage from his knee last summer. He recently had another operation to correct a condition that developed later and apparently needs more time to recover.

ST PETERSBURG, Mar. 2 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals opened their camp yesterday with a workout while Manager Eddie Dyer named the Brooklyn Dodgers, the Cards' arch rivals, as the team to beat in the coming flag race.

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic, Mar. 2 (AP)—Manager Leo Durocher wasted little time in putting his Brooklyn Dodgers to work yesterday. The 1-lip had his charges zip through a two and a half hour workout.

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Mar. 2 (AP)—Manager Bill Meyer, making his debut as a big league manager, laid down the law to his Pittsburgh Pirate crew yesterday.

Meyer, up from Kansas City, said curfew would be at midnight except when night games are on, and he banned poker playing.

GOLDEN GLOVES

NEW YORK, Mar 2 (AP)—Pittsburgh, Huntington, W. Va., and Hempstead, N. Y., are out in front in the race for the team title in the 1948 Golden Gloves' Tournament of champions.

The Defending Champion Pittsburgh entry sent seven of its eight men into the quarter-final round. So did Huntington and Hempsted.

Florida High Schools Tangle On Tournament Trail This Week

By F. T. MacFEELY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Florida high school basketball teams hit the tournament trail this week.

Twenty-one group tourneys, five in Class A and eight each in Classes B and C, will determine the eight teams in each class to vie for state title honors in next week's finals.

This year marks a change to three eight-team state tournaments. In Classes B and C only the winner of each group tourney will advance to the state finals.

Winners and runners-up in three Class A tournaments and winners only at Jacksonville and Panama City will advance. The five-tourney elimination in Class A also is an innovation this year. Group 1 was divided into Eastern and Western sections to reduce the long distances traveled by competitors in the northern part of the state.

More than 300 teams will compete in the annual hardwood derby. Class A has 29 entrants, Class B 81 and Class C about 110. A few group tournaments, those with the largest number of teams, will begin Wednesday, but most will get under way Thursday. Winners will be named in Saturday night title games.

Tampa and Miami, in addition to Jacksonville and Panama City, will be host to Class A group tournaments. Both Group II and III events are scheduled for Tampa to provide adequate seating.

Seven teams will play in each of those two, Hillsborough being seeded on top in Group III and Jefferson in Group II. Three teams will play in Group I's Western Division at Panama City and four in the Eastern Division at Jacksonville.

Class B tournaments will be played at Marianna, Lake City, Jacksonville Beach, DeLand, Vero Beach, Lake Wales, Largo and Lake Worth.

Tourney sites in Class C will be Milton, Marianna, Tallahassee, Hilliard, Trenton, Reddick, Tavares, LaBelle and Homestead.

State finals next week will be played at Tampa (Class A), Daytona Beach (Class B) and Mount Dora (Class C).

Irish Trim NYU To Wipe Slate Clean Of Unbeaten Teams

NEW YORK, Mar. 2 (AP)—There isn't a single unbeaten college basketball team in the nation today.

The Last of the Mohicans' New York U 's Violets fell with a crash before the fight and fury of Notre Dame in Madison Square Garden, 64-59, last night.

NYU had run up 19 straight victories and was only three games away from a perfect season until the Violets bumped head-on with their Notre Dame jinx.

Notre Dame had whipped NYU 11 times in 14 tries prior to last night and the Irish made it 12 in 15 with a relentless attack fired by the great Kevin O'Shea.

The handsome 22-year-old San Franciscan captivated a roaring crowd of 18,435 with one of the finest exhibitions seen in the big arena since the peerless performances of famed Hank Luisetti more than a decade ago.

SPRING TRAINING

NEW YORK, Mar. 2 (AP)—At least 26 layers were still unsigned today as the 16 Major League clubs began the second day of their 1948 spring training program.

Heading the lists of holdouts are Stan Musial, hard-hitting first sacker of the St. Louis Cardinals, and Harry Walker of the Philadelphia Phillies, National League batting champion.

Gov. Kim Sigler Of Michigan Calls Pro Hockey Meet

LANSING, Mich., Mar 2 (AP)—Reports of a betting scandal in professional hockey and hints of new evidence in a long unsolved slaying drew Michigan's top law enforcement officials and leading hockey men to a "tell all" conference with Gov. Kim Sigler today.

Sigler called in police, corrections and hockey officials to pool their information and to decide on a course of action.

The conference resulted from published reports that Detroit Police Commissioner Harry S. Toy had obtained information of gambling by unidentified professional hockey players.

The scope of the inquiry broadened, however, to cover the 1945 slaying of the late State Senator Warren G. Hooper of Albion, as well as general hoodlum activity in the state.

Sigler said the officials would be asked to lay on his desk all the information they have obtained on those subjects since he ordered a statewide investigation of hoodlum operations last week.

Toy, former state supreme court justice and attorney general whom Sigler directed to lead the underworld investigation, headed the list of enforcement officials scheduled to attend the conference.

President Clarence Campbell of the National Hockey League, Manager Jack Adams of the Detroit Red Wings, and Boston Bruin Coach Aubrey Clapper also were on hand.

Weston Adams, president of the Bruins, has been quoted a saying that several of his players told him they were acquainted with James Tamer, who is reported to have placed bets on league games for two NHL players while on parole from Southern Michigan prison.

Red Smith

Red Smith, sports scribe for the New York Herald Tribune, is in Florida vacationing and getting ready to make a swing through the Major League training camps in the state.

Writing from Avon Park last Friday for his "Views of Sport" column, Red gave one of the best accounts of a fishing trip in Florida we have ever read.

He painted pictures with words which were written with elegance, yet simple enough to convey a deep meaning.

He said in part:

"The boat worked along the shoreline, pausing at this likely spot and that one. With three men aboard, two fished and the third handled the boat, shutting off the motor and using a paddle to work along the edges of weed beds. The fishermen tried assorted lures on their flyrods—a tiger-striped popper, a big bucktail, a wooden-bodied frog with tufts of bucktail behind to simulate legs.

"There should have been a vast and congested bass population alongside the patches of water hyacinth in the rushes, just off the tough, elephant-eared weeds which they call "bonnets," and around the roots and knees of the big cypress trees which stand out in the water like bathers. The lures splashed and popped and jiggled on the surface. Nothing else happened.

"All of a sudden around a bend, a deep hole was alive with fish. The surface dimpled and swirled, and here and there came a manifest splash as a fish rose clear out of the water.

"There was a moment of panicky haste, and a lure got itself hung high in a tree. (The creek isn't wide, and you must watch your back-cast while fishing from midstream.) It was necessary to bring the boat right into the fishing hole to disentangle the hook. But that didn't bother the fish. They continued to make the water bubble and gurgle on all sides. Yet they would take no lures.

"Maybe they weren't bass. They could have been bream, locally pronounced "brim." Maybe they were "specks"—speckled perch, which are like the crappies of the north or war-mouth perch or stumpknockers or shellcrackers. Anyhow, they paid no attention to a meal that should have made any man's mouth water.

"The trip back to Avon Park was finished before evening. The sun went down during dinner. The [illegible] is on a hillside overlooking [illegible] Lake, which was a mirror [illegible] evening.

"[illegible] Lake, big stage [illegible] across the [illegible] were fishing."

Alien Communists Refuse U. S. Meals At Ellis Island

NEW YORK, Mar. 2. (AP)—Irving Potash, manager of the Furrier's Joint Council (CIO), immediately joined four other alleged alien Communists today in refusing to appear for meals at Ellis Island detention quarters.

The others, who haven't reported for government meals since yesterday morning, are Gerhart Eisler, described by a congressional committee as the "No. 1 Communist" in the United States; John Williamson, labor secretary of the Communist Party; Ferdinand C. Smith, West Indian-born negro and secretary of the CIO National Maritime Union, and Charles A. Doyle, regional director of the CIO gas, coke and chemical workers at Niagara Falls, N. Y.

District Director W. F. Watkins yesterday discounted the threatened hunger strike, saying the four men had plenty of food.

In reporting today, however, that the four had not appeared for breakfast and had been joined by Potash in boycotting lunch, Watkins said their food packages had been finished "and there now is no food in their possession."

Potash, the latest to be picked up in the Justice Department's roundup of more than a score of alleged alien Communists, was said by the department to be a member of the American Communist Party's national committee. He was born in Russia and has lived here since 1915, the department said.

Vandenberg

Republican convention would you accept the nomination?"

Vandenberg wired McConnell: "Responding to your message I decline to speculate with utterly improbable contingencies. Your question defies intelligent answer without full knowledge of unknown ultimate events.

"I have heretofore made my position clear. I shall not discuss it further.

"I again request that my name be not filed for a position for which I am not a candidate. If it is filed despite this urgent and earnest request, I ask my Nebraska friends to confine their primary votes to others."

The reply apparently left the way open for McConnell to go ahead with a move to place Vandenberg's name before Nebraska voters. McConnell is chairman of a bi-partisan committee seeking a "full choice" for his state's voters. He filed names of six Republicans and a Democrat yesterday, but held off temporarily on Vandenberg.

Vandenberg's telegram also was interpreted by politicians immediately as indicating he would accept the nomination if it came to him as a result of a genuine draft at the June Republican convention.

Vandenberg outlined his views in a national magazine (Life) a year ago.

Un-American Group

said the Commission reported that Condon has not been cleared for access to its restricted files.

Replying the House Committee accusation, Condon retorted:

"This is gratifying information because I'm absolutely reliable and therefore we have nothing to worry about. The country can relax."

To an accusation that he "knowingly or unknowingly entertained and associated" with alleged Russian spies, Condon commented to a reporter:

"That's just too vague to talk about. I certainly didn't do it knowingly."

At a three-hour closed session with commission members, Hickenlooper said the special Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee was told:

The commission has an FBI report on Condon. (An FBI report that Condon associated with alleged Soviet espionage agents was mentioned in the report of the House Un-American Affairs Committee).

The commission has not decided whether to clear Condon for access to its files.

Hickenlooper noted that as a physicist, of 25 years standing, Dr. Condon had worked on the wartime Manhattan atomic project. He said subsequently Condon was a scientific adviser to the special Senate committee which drafted the Atomic Energy Act.

As adviser to the special Senate group, Hickenlooper said Condon was present at closed meetings but heard nothing more there than information "fairly widely known to physicists generally."

Hickenlooper quoted commission members as saying they would give "every consideration" to the House committee's report before taking any action which would make top atomic secrets available to Condon.

Student Elections

votes to 186 secured by Bobby Parks.

Another "chip off the old block," Bobby Morris, son of Principal Herman E. Morris, was elected "County Superintendent of Public Instruction" when Junior High School's solid block of 189 votes gave him a total of 245 to the 191 cast for his nearest opponent, Billy Brinson, who got 173 votes at Seminole High School.

Walter Gardner became County Judge by getting 196 votes, 177 from Seminole High School, to the 186 votes for Walter Routh, his nearest opponent, who had a 185 Junior High School bloc vote. Floyd Cooper with 236 Seminole High School votes out of his total of 278 beat Bob Kilpatrick in the race for County Tax Assessor. Bob had a JHS vote of 183 out of 201 votes.

County Commissioners elected were: Keith Schumacher at Seminole High School, Happy Abney at Junior High School, Donald Langent at Lyman, Bobby Ward at Oviedo and Florence McGill at Geneva.

For School Board members the following were selected: Leroy Strawder, SHS; Janet Ratliff, JHS-Lake Monroe; Clyde Walker, Lyman-Lake Mary; Sadye Fleming, Oviedo, and Isabel LeFils, Geneva district.

The candidates who were elected will be permitted to visit the Court House on Mar. 9, when the County Commission convenes, to confer with heads of various departments and offices and see how they go about their official business. On Mar. 11, the youth government leaders will be special guests, along with faculty members, at the Jaycee luncheon at the Mayfair Inn.

LARGEST EGG

C. E. Harrell yesterday afternoon came forward to contest the claim of F. Hasky Wight, local publisher, to finding the "largest hen egg" in a local chicken coop. Mr. Harrell, who lives at 311 North French Avenue, brought a six ounce tan colored egg to The Herald office yesterday afternoon. He announced it was a hen egg and that he will put it on exhibition soon.

Mr. Wight, as the owner of the "largest egg" was presented with a Kiwanis inscribed turtle by County Agent C. R. Dawson at a meeting at the Mayfair Inn about a year ago. The egg was also put on exhibit in the Kader Jewelry Store window.

Rear Admiral Richard F. Whitehead, (left), receives hearty best wishes from Rear Admiral E. C. Ewen, whom he recently succeeded in command of Naval Air Reserve Training for the entire nation. Admiral Whitehead is no newcomer to Naval Reserve activities, having enlisted in the Naval Reserve prior to World War I. He served as a Reserve Officer during the first war, and shortly thereafter was commissioned in the regular Navy. During the late war, he served as Commander, Support Aircraft Air Force, Pacific Fleet, and immediately prior to assuming the Naval Air Reserve Training Command was Commander of Carrier Division 14 which operated in the Atlantic.

Steel Probe

trols?

"Not unless we make a mountain out of a molehill," Fairless replied.

Both Fairless and Arthur B. Homer, president of Bethlehem Steel Co., told the committee they do not think a third round wage increase is justified.

Fairless said further wage boosts would "only result in further inflation and distress for many of our people." He urged labor to forego its demand saying it would bring "still higher prices for most of the products of industry."

The committee called the steel makers to find out whether the $4.85 a-ton increase in semi-finished steel prices will mean higher living costs.

Fairless said the increase is "too small and unimportant" to be inflationary. Its influence on the general price level has been "grossly exaggerated," he continued, adding that much of the criticism is "emotional or political in character."

Both Fairless and Homer told of rising costs. Fairless estimated labor costs of his firm were up 80 per cent since 1940, while he said worker output has dropped.

Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) wanted to know how, in view of this "sad picture," U. S. Steel was able to pay an extra dividend in 1947.

"We declared it out of earnings, of course," Fairless answered. "The history of U. S. Steel dividends is a sad one as far as the stockholders are concerned."

Fairless said U. S. Steel "will give earnest consideration to a cut in prices of various steel products "when costs are no longer on the upward trend."

Homer, too, said that price reductions "will not be too long deferred" once cost increases "can be sufficiently restrained through wage stability and increased production efficiencies."

The Bethlehem chief insisted that his firm has followed a policy of "price restraint." He said it has carried that policy "so far that we are now forced to rely heavily on our earnings in order to finance the largest expansion in our history."

Homer said that average hourly earnings have gone up 95 per cent over the 1936-1939 base, and that the cost of living went up 68 per cent in the same period. Saying he saw no need of further wage increases, he added:

"We believe that our employes are becoming convinced that it is in their own interest and the public's interest that the spiral of upward costs and prices be halted."

Anti-Lynch Bill

of every individual. The federal government could step in and bring prosecutions when there was a lynching.

Persons participating in any manner in a lynching would be guilty of a felony and punishable by 20 years imprisonment and a fine of $10,000.

Peace officers failing to make "diligent efforts" to prevent lynchings in their jurisdiction could be punished by five years imprisonment and a $5,000 fine.

Any person injured by a lynch mob could recover up to $10,000 from the community in which the incident occurred, provided the community did not prove that it had made every effort to prevent the violence. In event of death, the victim's heirs would receive the money.

These committee members were reported to have voted against the bill: Representatives Hobbs of Alabama, Kefauver of Tennessee, Bryson of South Carolina, Cravens of Arkansas, Chelf of Kentucky and Gossett of Texas, Democrats, and Fellows of Maine and Gwynne of Iowa, Republicans.

The southern "rebellion" has raised Republican hopes of winning the White House in next fall's election, but some party leaders say they anticipate a hard fight to keep control of the Senate in any event.

in several drug stores for narcotics which they sold for amounts ranging from $100 to $600.

JACKSONVILLE Mar. 2 (AP)—Lawrence R. Duncan, 33, arrested here several weeks ago as a participant in a Birmingham, Ala., jewel robbery last December, was ordered returned there today by U. S. Commisioner T. V. Cashen.

Louis W. Perry and his daughter, Mary, told the commissioner, a room full of Alabama police officers and FBI agents that Duncan was one of four men who entered their home, bound and gagged the girl and her mother and waited for Perry to return from his store at the end of the day to force him to give up his safe combination, store keys and keys to his car.

Duncan pleaded that they were mistaken in identification. He asked to be returned to Georgia because "there probably are a dozen warrants against me there. Since they were issued before the Alabama warrant, I'd like to go to Georgia to plead guilty to that charge."

were among the major disasters to which the 3,745 Red Cross chapters responded. In all, Red Cross was able to furnish workers and relief supplies at 312 disaster operations. In the last fiscal year, 95,600 persons in 46 states, the District of Columbia and Alaska were given emergency and rehabilitation aid.

Since its founding in 1881, Red Cross Disaster Service has assisted in 3,651 disaster operations in the United States. During the first 10 months of 1947, the American National Red Cross had allocated more than $8,000,000 for the relief and rehabilitation of disaster victims. Assistance is given to families on the basis of need, not loss, and is an outright gift, not a loan.

Tax Reduction

Hanes replied.

"Surpluses of the size that are now in prospect," he said, and "mean that the government is taxing the people far beyond its needs," he added:

"Tax laws which steal from the individual the fruits of his labor will produce stagnation in this country just as it has done in England, France, Italy and elsewhere.

"Socialism and capitalism cannot live together, and our obligations are so great we cannot afford any further experiments in Socialism."

Before today's hearing opened, Senator Brewster (R-Me) predicted the finance committee will vote to cut taxes only by $4,500,000,000.

Freight Rates

Florida railroads required a weight of 68 pounds to some destinations and 57 pounds to other destinations.

He declared that he could not understand this discrimination in favor of California and asked the representatives of the Florida railroads for an explanation. The representatives of the Florida railroads admitted this situation, but offered no solution. Mr. O'Rourke also agreed that this situation existed.

Present at the meeting were shippers, growers, representatives of the Everglades branch of the Florida Growers Association, of the National League of wholesale fruit and vegetable shippers. Railroads represented were: Atlantic Coast Line, Seaboard Air Line, Florida East Coast, Baltimore and Ohio and Pennsylvania.

YOUTHS ARRESTED

MIAMI, Mar. 2 (AP)—Two youths who escaped from a Lansing, Mich., reformatory and later from the Inverness, Fla., jail were held in federal custody on a car theft charge today.

The two were placed under a $1,000 bond yesterday. C. H. Carson, agent in charge of the Miami FBI, said the two either would be turned over to Michigan authorities or tried in federal court at Tampa.

action among the people."

The British Press Association reported that an official at the Czechoslovak embassy denied the resignation report, saying:

"We are authorized to say that it is not true. President Benes has not resigned."

Benes was reported in Prague to have feared civil war would have broken out had he not acceded to the Communist demands. A friend said he had told Gottwald "You talk to me like Hitler" in one of the conferences over the crisis.

Benes helped Thomas G. Masaryk form the Czechoslovak republic with the assistance of Woodrow Wilson after the first World War. He first became President of Czechoslovakia in 1935 when Masaryk died, but four years later he saw his republic dissolved by the Germans. The six war years of exile were spent mostly in England, where he headed a refugee government.

He addressed both houses of the U. S. Congress during a visit to the United States in 1943. He was restored to rule in Czechoslovakia in 1945, two years after he had signed in Russia a 20-year mutual assistance pact—the same type Russia now is offering Finland.

Stock Market

NEW YORK, Mar. 2 (AP)—Stocks continued their recovery on a selective basis today, although many market leaders failed to progress.

Prices turned irregular and dealings slowed after a fairly active opening. Assorted steels and oils then came to the fore and volume expanded a bit. Most of Monday's climbing aircrafts were grounded. While declines were plentiful, gains of fractions to a point or so predominated near the fourth hour.

Another rally in commodities stimulated the stock division. Buying for an extension of the recent technical revival was a bolstering influence. Professionals cashed quick profits and public customers still avoided the market. Doubts regarding taxes, business, labor and foreign situations provided cautionary arguments.

Pacific Western Oil and Mission Corp. enjoyed a rising flurry as merger gossip persisted. Better performers included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, U. S. Rubber, Grumman Aircraft (at a 1947-48 top), Paramount Pictures, Standard Oil (NJ), Illinois Central and Southern Pacific Twentieth Century-Fox held about even despite a sliced dividend. Backward most of the time were Boeing, Lockheed, United Aircraft, American Airlines, Transcontinental & Western Air, United Air Lines, Chrysler, Owens-Illinois, Kennecott and International Nickel.

Bonds were narrow. Grains exhibited strength.

In the curb support was accorded Cities Service, Kaiser-Frazer, Raytheon and Monutain Producers.

debate on the $5,300,000,000 European Recovery Plan. He also urged that Congress pass legislation for Universal Military Training.

Knowland took the floor after offering an amendment to legislation for the aid program. He proposed to write in a prohibition against sending to countries not taking part in the program any materials needed by those countries coming in the program.

William C. Bullitt, former ambassador to Russia, advised Congress to vote $100,000,000 for "military supplies to China." Bullitt testified to the House Foreign Affairs Committee which is considering the Administration's request for $570,000,000 aid for China.

The Administration's program contemplates only ecohomic help for the Chinese—money to finance food and other consumer imports and for improvement of railroads, roads and factories. Some Congress members have urged that the program be broadene to include weapons the Chinese government can use in fighting Communists.

Bullitt accused the State Department, which drafted the aid program, of "blindness and apathy" toward China.

"China is the key to the entire Far East," he said. "If our government should permit the Communists to take over China, it would have failed to bar the way to attack on our country by overwhelming masses of Stalin-driven slaves. We cannot successfully oppose Communist conquest of the world by opposing Communism in Europe only."

Bullitt said economic aid for China is but one leg of the table to protect the vital interest of the American people in Chinese independence.

Meanwhile, President Truman asked Congress for legislation enabling him to reappoint Dean G. Acheson as civilian member and chairman of the American section, joint United States-Canadian Defense Board.

Present law forbids anyone to hold a government job, even part time, who is connected with a private firm that may prosecute claims against the government.

Greeks, Turks In Dire Need, Say Officials

Marshall, Forrestal Say Nations Can't Be Free If Military Aid Not Increased

WASHINGTON Mar. 3 (AP)—Secretaries Marshall and Forrestal told Congress today there is "grave danger" Greece and Turkey cannot remain free unless they get more military aid from the United States.

The two cabinet members testified jointly to the House Foreign Affairs Committee in support of the Administration's request for $275,000,000 to be spent on gun, planes and other weapons for the two nations.

Secretary of State Marshall said that arming the Greeks and Turks would be "discouraging" to further aggression against their countries.

Both Marshall and Secretary of Defense Forrestal left little doubt they were thinking of Russia.

Marshall said there is "clear evidence in Greece and Czechoslovakia of Communist intention against all nations that stand in the way of their expansion."

And as long as threats confront Greece and Turkey, Marshall said, there can be no assurance that American assistance can be stopped.

Forrestal said it is evident that "the military position in both countries must receive our first attention." Both the cabinet members said the guerrillas are getting help from neighbor-

Tobey Raps McCab On Sale Of B-25's To Chinese Agency

WASHINGTON, Mar. 3 (AP)—Senator Tobey (R-NH) said today that Thomas B. McCabe ordered the tails cut off 11 nearly-new B-25 bombers "to forestall bad publicity" from their sale to a private Chinese firm.

Tobey made this charge as the Senate Banking Committee opened hearings on McCabe's fitness to be a member of the Federal Reserve Board of Governors. McCabe was in charge of war surplus abroad from 1944 to 1946.

The planes were sold to a private firm owned by T. L. Soong, brother of Premier T. V. Soong, Tobey said. He continued:

"Testimony will be adduced that when the newspapers broke the story on this deal, Mr. McCabe, with no authority whatever for such action, ordered the destruction of these bombers by cutting the tails off.

"Evidence will be presented to the effect that Mr. McCabe admitted that his objective was to forestall bad publicity at home.

Later McCabe told reporters he has no recollection of ordering the tails cut off 11 nearly-new surplus Army bombers that were sold to China. "That is all new to me," McCabe said.

Union Is Indicted For Political Work

WASHINGTON, Mar. 3 (AP)—The Justice Department today announced the indictment of an AFL union local in connection with charges of violating the Taft-Hartley Act's ban on political spending.

Attorney General Clark said the indictment was returned by a federal grand jury in New Haven, naming Painters' Local Union No. 401 (AFL), and the local's President, John R. O'Brien.

He said the indictment charges the illegal use of union funds to buy political advertising space in the Hartford Times, and to buy buy broadcast time for a political speech over radio Station WKNB.

FOR MACARTHUR

WESTFIELD, Mass., Mar. 3, (AP)— Joseph B. Ely, prominent Democrat and twice governor of Massachusetts, today came out in favor of General Douglas MacArthur as a presidential candidate because the General is "truly American" and "the country needs a leader."

Ely declared in an interview that he was not for Truman because "he has let political considerations sway his actions."

High Catholic Body Pleads For Members To Vote Anti-Communist

VATICAN CITY, Mar. 3 (AP)—The sacred Consistorial Congregation of the Roman Catholic Church issued a decree today informing Catholics that they may vote only for candidates who will "respect and defend the rights of the church."

Throughout Italy Catholic prelates, following the lead of Alfredo Ildefonso Cardinal Schuster, immediately made clear that the decree precluded a vote by Catholics for Communist or extreme left candidates. The Consistorial Congregation is the high legislative and administrative body of the church.

A pastoral letter by Cardinal Schuster two weeks ago ordered priests in his diocese to refuse absolution to Communists.

The letter was attacked by the extreme left as a violation of Italy's electoral laws. There was a possibility that it might be discussed in today's session of a Central Committee of major political parties formed to help maintain an electoral truce for the Apr. 18 elections.

The decree of the Consistorial Congregation—a body whose functions include discipline and administration—was described by Vatican sources as "normal" guidance for the faithful in political elections.

Last week the Vatican's paper, Osservatore Romano, backed Cardinal Schuster's stand. It declared the Church would be lacking in its duty if it maintained silence before "heresy that raised a political banner."

A collective pastoral letter signed by Alessio Cardinal Ascalesi, archbishop of Naples, 17 other archbishops and 55 bishops of Southern Italy, was issued recently.

The letter said "Nobody can at the same time be a good Catholic and a Socialist."

The Communist paper Unita said today the Bishop of Como had "exceeded even Schuster" in a pastoral letter condemning the Communist Party, the Popular Front and the Workers Party.

11 Die, 27 Injured By Dynamite Blast In Jewish Attack

7-Story Building Destroyed, Wide Area Rocks To Explosion

JERUSALEM Mar. 3 (AP)—A truckload of dynamite was exploded in an Arab residential section of Haifa today, and police said the blast killed 11 Arabs and wounded 27.

Police said the extremist Jewish undergroup, the Stern gang, had taken responsibility for the blast.

Several children were killed. It was the heaviest toll of life from a bombing incident since the blasting of Jerusalem's Ben Yehuda Street Feb. 22, in which 55 Jews were killed.

The seven-story Salameh building, near Haifa's central police station, was wrecked. The explosion also crumpled the front half of a building across the street housing the Arab division of the government welfare office. A wide area was shaken by the explosion.

Army bulldozers and rescue crews tore at the wreckage, fearing more victims were trapped in the debris.

Two of the dead were Arab policemen, who were walking toward the nearby courts building. The blast coincided with an announcement by Jerusalem police that an advance partition party of the United Nations secretariat had arrived by air in the Holy Land. They are to be quartered in Jerusalem.

Russia's renewed support of partition and a stronger American stand heightened prospects at Lake Success, N. Y., for cutting Palestine into Jewish and

Funds For Red Probe Doubled By House Group

Some Of Money May Be Used To Investigate Dr. Condon

WASHINGTON Mar. 3 (AP)—A $200,000 fund for investigating un-American activities this year was approved today by the House Administration Committee.

The House itself still must okay the amount. It may do that later in the week. That would give the Un American Activities Committee twice the sum it operated on last year, and $50,000 more than it ever had before.

Some of the money may finance public hearings centering around a sub-committee report that Dr. Edward U. Condon, director of the National Bureau of Standards, is "one of the weakest links in our atomic security."

Chairman Lecompte (R-Iowa) of the Administration Committee said the Condon case had nothing to do with his committee's action.

Senator Chavez (D-NM) told the Senate that "I do not believe he (Condon) is disloyal."

Condon is a native of New Mexico.

Folsom Says Politics Reason For Law Suit

WASHINGTON, Mar. 3 (AP)—Gov. James E. Folsom of Alabama today blamed politics for the filing of court suits naming him as the father of a 30-year-old divorcee's baby son.

The governor, here for a congressional hearing, told reporters:

"I am in a political campaign in Alabama. I have had to face this type of tactics in other campaigns. That is all I have to say on that subject."

Two suits were filed against Folsom. Both charge he is the common law husband of Christine Putnam Folsom and the father of her 22-month-old son, James Douglas.

The court was asked to declare Folsom the woman's lawful husband and the father of the baby.

Former Solon, William Upshaw, Gives Appealing Talk To Pupils

Gales of laughter and storms of applause from pupils punctuated former Congressman William Upshaw's address at Seminole High School yesterday morning.

Speaking on "Pluck, Purpose and Patriotism," the former Georgia lawmaker caught the students with wit, kept them rolling with laughter, and then suddenly turned into a serious vein, declaring: "There are no doors barred that ought to be opened to the ambitious youth who says, 'God helping me, I will!'"

He told the story of his own struggles after spending seven years in bed from spinal injury received while working on a Georgia farm and fighting his way to Mercer University on a rolling chair at 21. He had the student body stand up and repeat his life motto that he said that he has taught millions of boys and girls in 42 states, "Let nothing discourage you; never give up."

"Thank God for this land of measureless opportunity," exclaimed the former congressman as he sat on the corner of a table or leaned on his crutches in his more fervid moments.

"From the American log cabin to the White House of the Nation there is a Great Appian Way along which the American people ask but three questions of the purposeful boy or girl," he asserted. "Not who was your father, but who are you? Not where did you come from, but where are you going? Not what have you promised, but what have you performed?" He closed with a baseball story that the students received with enthusiasm.

Mr. Upshaw invited all the students and their parents to be guests at a county-wide patriotic rally to be held Sunday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock at the Methodist Church. His subject will be "The Americanism That Will Save America." The school glee club has been asked to furnish music for the occasion.

British Labor Attacks Pinks In Slovakia

Playing Ball With Commies Is Blamed; Finland Gets Ready For Kiss of Death

LONDON Mar. 3 (AP)—Britain's ruling Labor (Socialist) Party maintained today that the Communist victory in Czechoslovakia would have been impossible without the aid of Socialists who play ball with the Communists.

The party's executive committee issued a statement last night declaring that last week's events in Prague constituted "a warning and lesson to Democratic Socialists."

Lord Pakenham described the Communist coup in Czechoslovakia as "Hitlerite in technique and utterly damnable in every way."

The fate of Czechoslovakia "should be a warning to all who put faith in fellow travelers elsewhere," said Lord Pakenham, government spokesman in the House of Lords.

"In Czechoslovakia a revolution has been carried through in a few days," he said. "Now Finland is being approached with the kiss of death."

Meanwhile in Helsinki President Juho Paasikivi was described as impatient to get Parliament's views. Political leaders are to favor opening negotiations for a pact, but they emphasize

Wallace Scornful Of Statement By House Sub-Group

NEW YORK Mar. 3 (AP)—Henry A. Wallace says a House Un-American Activities Sub-committee was "stooping a little low" when it said the Communists "got a man as vice-president of the United States, and he is now their candidate for President."

"In other words, the sub-committee is saying that President Roosevelt was a Communist when he asked me to run for Vice President in 1940," Wallace told a CIO union convention yesterday.

"I think that's stooping a little low," he declared. "I think that's a little lower than the (J. Parnell) Thomas committee ordinarily goes."

The Third Party White House Aspirant, addressing the national convention of the left-wing CIO united office and professional workers in Brooklyn, blamed United States foreign policy for the Communist coup in Czechoslovakia.

"We don't know the full story yet," he said, "but the United States apparently was backing very vigorously the right wing in Czechoslovakia. This wing seized the initiative to precipitate a crisis. They thought they could swing things their way.

"It did not work out that way, so the new government is composed very largely of Communists. We don't like that, but we have to realize we brought it on ourselves.

"We have to realize how we would act if Russia had sent arms to Cuba or Mexico and had built airports within bombing range of our factories, especially if they had the atomic bomb and we did not.

"We must realize Russia is terribly afraid. I am telling you these things because the American press only gives us one side of the story."

New World Agency Sought As Red Curb

WASHINGTON, Mar. 3, (AP)—A new, veto-free world agency with power to curb Russian expansion was proposed to the Senate today.

The idea was offered as an amendment to the Marshall Plan by a group of Republican senators.

They called for the United States to take the lead in creating a Supreme International Council apart from the United Nations.

The chief job of this "Supreme Council" would be to combat either "aggression or subversion in any form."

Senator Ball (R-Minn) announced he would offer the plan formally when debate resumes on the $5,300,000,000 European Recovery Program.

The super agency proposal emerged from a meeting of 14 Marshall Plan "revisionists" last night.

A number of improvements are under way at the Sanford Zoo, particularly on the north side, where new additions to the "bird fly," as Zoo Superintendent Sid RiChard calls it, are being built.

Papa and Mama Deer and the baby Deer will be moved within the next three weeks to the present large screened area now housing larger birds, said Mr. RiChard, who pointed out that the deer are seldom seen at their present out-of-the-way location near the Legion Hut. There is plenty of room for the deer in the large enclosure he pointed out.

Other improvements include putting the eagles in a larger pen Otto and Otter have been quite proud of late of the blooming azaleas planted around their pool and pen.

The concession booth, long a worry to officials due to children standing in the street to buy soda and peanuts, has been moved across the sidewalk to the Zoo proper. An addition to the booth will be made for storage purposes, eliminating an unsightly shelter now used for storage of empty bottles, said Mr. RiChard.

Britain Uses Up Last Of Its American Loan

White Paper Reveals Country Has Overspent Income By 4 Billion In 2 Years

WASHINGTON Mar. 3 (AP)—Britain has exhausted its $3,750,000,000 loan from the United States with a final $100,000,000 draft the Treasury disclosed today.

Originally expected to last three to five years, the loan funds held out only 19½ months. Britain checked them out at an average rate of nearly $200,000,000 a month.

The last withdrawal was made Monday.

Exhaustion of the loan came a short time after a British government white paper declared, in effect, that Britain faces bankruptcy and that it has overspent its income by $4,000,000,000 in the last two years.

New dollar aid, however, is in prospect in the $5,300,000,000 European Recovery Program now under debate in the Senate. Upwards of one fourth of ERP funds may go to Britain, expected to be the biggest beneficiary under the program.

The loan agreement, which took effect July 15, 1946, provides that Britain must begin repaying the money Dec. 31, 1951, and clean it up with payments once a year over a 50 year period, unless the U. S. grants waivers.

The annual payment would amount to about $140,000,000 each

Senator Says U. S. Surplus Should Pay Off National Debt

WASHINGTON, Mar. 3 (AP)—Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) said today any government surplus should be used to pay off the national debt as long as there is any danger of inflation.

"Until we get the national debt down to the level of national income we are playing with disaster," O'Mahoney told a Senate Finance Committee hearing on proposals to cut taxes.

O'Mahoney estimated the annual national income at $200,000,000,000. The debt is now approximately $255,000,000,000.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) took issue with O'Mahoney and Chairman Millikin (R-Colo.) echoed Taft's views. Taft said a proposal to reduce the debt as much as $7,000,000,000 to $8,000,000,000 annually is a "dangerous theory."

Too large a payment on the debt will make too big a cut in the amount of money available and will have a pronounced deflationary effect, Taft said.

O'Mahoney appeared before the committee to urge restoration of an excess profits tax on corporations. He said such a graduated tax will tend to reduce prices and stabilize the whole economy.

The committee is considering a House-passed bill to cut income taxes by $6,500,000,000. A prediction by Millikin that the Senate group may cut this by $2,000,000,000 was termed politics" by Senator Lucas (D-Ill.).

Meyers Got $208,000 From Aviation Firm

WASHINGTON, Mar. 3 (AP)—Bleriot H. Lamarre told a federal jury today that Maj. General Bennett E. Meyers drew a total of $208,000 during the war years from a Dayton, O., plane parts firm.

Lamarre, a former business associate of Meyers, said $58,000 of the money was repayment to the general for loans to the concern, the Aviation Electric Company. The remaining $150,000 represented profits paid to Meyers, former deputy purchasing chief of the Army Air Forces, the witness testified.

The 36-year-old Lamarre added that most of the $150,000 was concealed, at Meyers' direction, in salary "kick-backs."
