School Staff Changes Made In Enterprise

By MRS RITCHIE HARRIS

Changes in three of the staff members at Enterprise Eelementary School were announced by Mrs. Lois Laskey, principal, at the April meeting of the Parent-Teacher Council.

Mrs. Jerry Watson has replaced Mrs. Lynelle Owens in the office, while Mrs. Doris Wilcoxson has replaced Mrs. Owens as teachers aide. Mrs. Marian Braddock also has replaced Mrs. Janice Semones as teacher aide.

Mrs. Laskey reported that beginning date of construction on the school's new playground obstacle course was April 1.

Report on the recent Florida Education Association convention in Jacksonville was given by Mrs. Muriel Kauffman, who, with Mrs. Ruth Ryon, attended as delegates from Enterprise.

Mrs. Pat Hatchett, safety patrol chairman, reported on the patrol's trip to Washington, D. C., and the alternate trip to Six Gun Territory.

Following a talk by Mrs. Letha Garrison, coordinator of Library Materials Services for the Volusia County School System, open house and a book fair was held in the library.

Workshop was open for sale of articles with Mrs. Vi Gillespie in charge.

DCT Schedules Fete Tuesday

The Diversified Cooperative Training Club of Seminole High School will have its 11th annual employer-employee banquet at 7:15 p.m. Tuesday in the student house of the school.

Guest speaker for the evening will be John Mercer, executive vice president of United State Bank. His topic will be "In Pursuit of Pleasure."

Other activity to take place during the banquet includes presentation of honorary memberships and of student and employer awards.

Louis Girard is co-ordinator of the DCT Club.

County Road-e-o Slated By JCs

County-wide Road-e-o for all high school and Sanford Naval Academy students is planned by the three chapters of the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Seminole County.

Richard Bailey (South Seminole), Thomas Estes (Oviedo) and Joseph Hunt, Ralph Russell and Ronald Renaud (Sanford) said a written quiz for contestants will be held April 14 at Oviedo High, Lyman High, Seminole High, Crooms High and Sanford Naval Academy.

Driving competition will be held April 22 at the Sanford Plaza parking lot.

A Herald Survey - - - - -

How Uncle Sam Helps Seminole

By DONNA ESTES

If federal funds aiding Seminole County in various ways, other than Sanford Naval Air Station, would be stopped today, how would it affect the local taxpayers?

This question was researched by The Herald this week. Startling conclusion of the research was that more than $3 million in federal funds for welfare purposes, the school system and for other projects is poured into the county annually by Uncle Sam.

The most jarring conclusion is that if Uncle Sam should stop all the assistance, and the programs would be continued Seminole taxpayers would feel the bite of 13.6 additional mills of ad valorem taxation.

The public school system got the largest share of the money with $834,784 designated for many uses.

Welfare assistance, including old age assistance, aid to dependent children, aid to the blind, aid to disabled, drug aid, hospital and nursing home care etc., sees another $690,343.54 annually.

Indications are that medicare will pay Seminole Memorial in the neighborhood of $600,000 this year. February totals of medicare payments at the hospital were $51,785 or 32 per cent of the hospital's business for that month.

Obtaining the exact amounts of federal moneys spent in the county in cooperation with the state in the road program was near impossible. Only figure available was a designation of $19,100 for the primary road program.

Federal grants and loans of $625,000 for a new water system for the Town of Oviedo were recently approved by the Department of Housing and Urban Development while a loan for extension of the Altamonte Water system of $275,000 also was recently approved by HUD.

Planning funds of $11,000 plus were approved just recently for Oviedo and Altamonte.

City To Review Inn Complex

The City Commission Monday night is expected to approve plans for the new $650,000 Holiday Inn complex on the lakefront, paving the way for immediate construction.

The Rogers Construction Co. of Orlando is expected to start on the project as soon as plans and the lease agreement is approved.

JOE HICKSON

In other business expected at the meeting, the board will name an architect to come up with plans for redesigning and moving the zoo facility.

Indications are that Eoghan Kelley will get the job.

At the same time the board will approve the six-month Industrial Board budget of $15,000. Money for the program will either come from the 800 mill tax, street light program and contingency.

Commissioners are also expected to review with Seminole High School, the lease to operate the stadium for the coming football season. The school turns over $2,500 per year for the facility and has a three year lease agreement.

Hickson Dismissal May Be Aired April 20

The Civil Service Board moved cautiously last night toward an April 20th hearing on Lt. Joe Hickson's appeal of his dismissal from the police department.

Hickson was dismissed on March 21 for conduct unbecoming a police officer and was accused of intoxication while off duty.

His attorney, Gordon Frederick last night asked the board that before a hearing is scheduled, he be allowed 10 days to file motions, objections and charges on Hickson's dismissal.

MACK CLEVELAND JR.

Frederick also demanded the names of all witnesses that will appear for the city. The board gave Frederick until April 17 and, at the same time, gave City prosecutor William Hutchison three days to prepare his case.

However, Civil Service Board members indicated if need be, they would give Hutchison additional time postponing the hearing.

At the meeting last night the board decided to reconvene Saturday morning to make sure they would have a five member body at the time of the hearing. Board member Hugh Whelchel is hospitalized and if he cannot attend, the City Commission will probably have to name someone else to sit in.

Guidelines for the upcoming hearing were set forth by Mack Cleveland Jr. who urged the rest of the board to take every precaution that all sides are heard fairly in the case.

JESS CRAWFORD, 12, of Yale Avenue, and a couple hundred family members of ACL railroad employees, along with top officials enjoyed a fish fry and safety pep meeting last night at the depot park.

Students To Handle City And County Affairs Next Week

Sixteen outstanding students from Seminole High School next week will be working with city and county officials in the first "Youth Government Week" ever to be conducted in Seminole County under sponsorship of the Sanford-Seminole Jaycees.

Thomas Freeman Jr. is serving as chairman.

Students and the positions they will be filling are Rick Goerss, W. R. Beasley, Gray Wrisley, Pat Marazita and Chris Wilson, county commission; Frank Whigham, Jay Stokes, Marilinette Welch, Karen Thornall and Ken Martin, city commission; Lamar Oxford, county prosecuting attorney; Cindy Wilson, tax assessor; Steve Leach, county judge, and Sue Nichols, clerk of circuit court.

Brenda Carter will be editor of The Sanford Herald.

City Manager Warren Knowles and Deputy County Clerk Ashby Jones will meet Monday morning with the youths for indoctrination of staff type activities of the city and county Monday night, the city commission members will meet with their youthful counterparts, while the county commissioners will meet Tuesday with their student group.

County officers are to meet Thursday afternoon with those filling their positions and editors of the newspapers will meet with their replacements upon arrangement.

Purpose of the event, Freeman states, is to "communicate to young people of the community the problems and responsibilities of local government. By participating in conferences with elected representatives, it is hoped they will get better understanding of the functions of these governmental bodies."

Response and cooperation of the city, county, and school officials have been outstanding, Freeman reports. "Due to this fact, Jaycees expect to continue the observation on an annual basis and probably will enlarge the participation next year," he said.

Planners View Kelley's Downtown Mall Project

Architect Eoghan Kelley presented his million dollar mall and parking plan to the Zoning and Planning Board last night and will return on April 20 with phasing of the program and cost estimates.

At the same time, Kelley told Board members he will show the project to the "We Care" group next Wednesday. The executive board of the merchants have already viewed the plan.

Longwood Unveils Mass Annexation Plan

BUD SCOTT

Massive annexation south and east of the present city limits of Longwood was discussed at the meeting of the City Council Thursday evening.

Mayor A. R. Lormann revealed the plans after informing the board of the request of ABC Liquor Store, located at the corner of Wilbmere Avenue and U. S. 17-92, that the city provide water to the new store expected to be constructed at the site. Construction of the building is expected to begin in the next 90 to 120 days, Lormann said.

Councilman H. A. (Bud) Scott further informed R. T. Milwee, superintendent of public instruction, has been requesting water be supplied to the new proposed high school set to be built on SR 427, north of the Dog Track Road, just outside the city limits.

Scott stated consideration is being given to naming the new school Longwood High School.

He suggested plans be made to not only annex SR 427 to Dog Track Road but to include the road and the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club in the plans.

In other business, council:

Referred to the attorney, complaint of a resident user of the services of a bottled gas firm located in Maitland, that the company had increased its rates and suggestion the city set up a license fee to recover part of the increase;

Approved advertising of an appropriate legal notice of the proposed new charter with public hearings and a referendum to be scheduled at a later time;

Deferred action on the request of Mrs. Geri Hitsman that her place of business be granted a liquor license until an investigation of city requirements for such a license can be completed by the city attorney;

Authorized purchase of a cash register for the clerk's office, as suggested by the auditor, at cost of $1,358.67;

Agreed to hire John Fitzpatrick, CPA, to serve as city accountant and auditor at fee of $100 monthly;

Voted to amend the water ordinance to require deposit of $20 rather than $10 for new customers;

Curtailed service of picking up trash and limbs to once monthly rather than weekly with leaves to be picked up only if in a disposable container and approved purchase of two large plastic containers for the service;

Approved attendance by the mayor and city attorney at a seminar to be conducted by Florida State University in St. Petersburg Beach May 26-27 at cost of $45.

Our Sanford Youth—See Page 2

The conclusion of a two-part series started in The Herald last Friday appears on Page Two today. Subject of the articles deals with problems and conditions met by young people today, which could lead to delinquency, and what churches in Seminole County are offering to help the youth on their way to becoming responsible adults.

Nab 2 Teens

Police have apprehended two juveniles and charged them with stealing an acetylene torch from Sanford Junior High School. Police Chief Ben Butler reported today.

Butler said the pair, both 16, will come up before Juvenile Judge Karlyle Householder. The torch was valued at $100.

Parks Serve All Youngsters, Swofford Says

Little more than six per cent of the youths using the Little League ballfield in Altamonte Springs are residents of the town, Mayor W. Lawrence Swofford reported today.

Survey of the boys using the field was made by the city following refusal of the County Commission to provide clay for the facility because it is inside the city limits of Altamonte.

It was found in the survey, according to Swofford, only 45 of the 700 ballplayers live in the city. Little Leaguers from as far north of Altamonte as Sunland and Lake Mary and all the surrounding communities of the town use the field for practice during the week and for scheduled games on Saturdays, C. L. Cooper, Little League president, reported at a Town Council meeting earlier this week.

Green Light For Multi-Million Dollar Project

State OK's SJC Master Plan

Approval of the master plan for Seminole Junior College was received from the State Department of Education today by the Seminole County Board of Public Instruction, according to Walter Teague, administrative assistant.

Next step will be for Architect John A. Burton IV to present preliminary building plans for the first phase to the state board by June 30.

First phase—financed by state and federal funds—will include the Learning Resources Building, administration building, science building and utilities building. The resources building will house a vocational school library, snack area, classrooms and labs, mechanical and electrical equipment rooms and a book store.

The first phases will accommodate 2,850 students and will cost $4.5 million. As growth increases another $8 million phase will be added.

Predict Peak Enrollment For 1st Grades Here

A record number of students are expected to be enrolled in the first grade of the elementary schools of Seminole County this fall, Walter Teague, administrative assistant to the School Board told The Herald today.

"It's indicated 1,760 first graders will attend the 19 schools with first grades in the county," Teague said.

Because of the large numbers of first - graders expected at South Seminole Elementary, Altamonte Springs Elementary and Bear Lake Elementary, double sessions have been recommended for both the first and second grades at the three schools, he reported.

Education authorities believe double sessions do not hurt first and second graders as much as it would upper classes.

The schools around the county have been scheduling round-ups to give prospective first graders the opportunity to meet the teachers and tour the schools they will attend, before the fall term begins.

The most recent pre-school roundup was held at Hopper School in Georgetown.

Teenagers Drink?

By REV. THOMAS H. MAKIN

Presbyterian Church of the Covenant

The answer is, of course, that some do and some do not. Here are some questions that teenagers ask about alcohol.

Q. Do you consider teenage drinking dangerous? A. There are at least three dangers. First, they may get ideas about drinking that are not valid. You may decide that a drink or two does not affect your driving ability. Tests have shown that it does not take much alcohol to cut the reaction time necessary to avoid an accident in today's fast traffic. Second, a young person may make a decision with regard to drinking that may affect his personality later on. Alcohol, often called a "social lubricant" is really a "personality crutch." If you fail to develop your personality in your teens, you will probably seriously affect your chances for a happy, successful life. Finally, as a result of impaired judgment, you may commit an act that will ruin your life, as did many of the another.

A. Are teenagers exposed to drinking at home more likely to drink or avoid it? A. Studies show that youth tend to follow the example set by their parents, but there are exceptions.

Q. Is there any risk in "social drinking?" A. For some this only leads to more social drinking. For others, in fact for one out of 15 social drinkers, the result is alcoholism. Seventy out of 100 alcoholics started drinking as teenagers. There is no scientific way to predict whether you will be that one person in 15 who drinks socially who will become an alcoholic.

Q. How can I turn down a drink, especially when I am in a group where most of the other kids are drinking? A. "No thanks; I feel good enough already." "Sorry, my doctor is against it." "I can't because I get high on grape juice." "No thanks; I want a clear head to appreciate you fully." "Sorry, I'm counting calories." "Sorry, I never drink on Friday" (or whatever day it is). "No thanks; I'm on the wagon." "No thanks, Pete can't sand me any giddier." "No thanks, I can get the same effect by taking off my glasses." "No thanks, I prefer to watch." "Sorry, I'm allergic to alcohol and fresh air." "Sorry, my faith forbids it." Perhaps the best of all is "No thanks; I don't drink." One can be gracious and avoid a "holier-than-thou" attitude while turning down alcohol.

Why do teenagers start drinking? A. Some who are shy and timid just follow the crowd, afraid to call attention to themselves. This is called the "sheep" reaction. Thus some develop a sheeplike personality. Another may have an inferior complex, but tries to obtain the spotlight by acting the "big shot." Some are secretly afraid, but try to prove they are "he-men" by downing a drink. Real he-men do not have to prove it. Swilling alcohol is often a public admission that you are secretly afraid. Some teenager will try to fortify his dating technique by bringing along liquor. He is secretly unsure of himself so he drinks to reassure himself that he is a man. Courage does not come in bottles. Alcohol does not increase courage, but only puts part of the brain to sleep. Then one no longer realizes the rashness of his action. Another type feels that he is a failure and tries to anesthetize himself to forget his failure.

Teenager, will you stop and analyze the drinkers you know? Try to classify them in this list. Courageous Americans don't need to drink! Keep it cool!

St. Ann's Guild Sets Card Party

The Women's Guild of St. Ann's Catholic Church, DeBary, will have a dessert card party at 1 p.m. Monday in the social hall of the church.

Those planning to attend are requested to bring their own cards. There will be tables and door prizes.

Mrs. Thomas Meehan is serving as overall chairman of the event, with Mrs. Howard Yearkes as co-chairman. Hostesses will be Mrs. Billie Welch and Mrs. Frank Pietrepinto.

In charge of ticket sales are Mrs. Ernest Walsko, Mrs. Robert Morrison, Mrs. Herbert Vitt, Mrs. Mary McManus, Mrs. J. Poley, and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Donlon. Other workers are Mrs. F. T. Reardon and Edward Smith.

The public is invited to attend.

Area Methodists Plan Visit To Youth Camp

Youth and adults of Bear Lake Methodist Church will spend Sunday afternoon and early evening at the Methodist Youth Camp near Leesburg. Departure time will be 2:30 p.m.

The youths have challenged the adults to compete in various sports events during the afternoon and there will be a Vesper Service before return home.

Those attending are asked to bring their own snack supper.

Monday, 7 p.m., the church's committee on nominations will meet with meeting of the official church board to follow at 8 p.m.

The Woman's Society of Christian Service will meet at 8 p.m., Thursday, at the home of Mrs. George Hayter, 1633 Frances Drive, Bear Lake.

Methodist Women Plan State Meet

Methodist women from throughout the state will meet April 18-20 in Jacksonville for the 27th annual meeting of the church's Women's Society of Christian Service of the Florida Conference.

Total attendance is expected to exceed 1,500, including conference officers and delegates of more than 500 church societies and affiliated Wesleyan Service Guild units.

"Called to Renewal and Service" is program theme of the meeting to be held at the George Washington Hotel.

One of the state's largest women's organizations with more than 50,000 members, the WSCS is affiliated with the Woman's Division of the Methodist Church's General Board of Missions.

Last year the national organization contributed more than $11 million to Methodist missionary projects around the world.

This year's budget of the Florida WSCS totals $318,500, including a pledge of $281,000 for missions.

Mrs. Bruce Gray of Hastings is president of the state organization. Other general officers are Mrs. John W. Wilson, Gainesville, vice president; Mrs. H. E. Zink, secretary, and Mrs. L. F. Shore, treasurer, both of Jacksonville.

Principal guest speakers will include Mrs. Curran L. Spottswood, a native of Gainesville who has served 21 years as missionary to the Philippines; the Rev. Dr. J. Wallace Hamilton, pastor of Pasadena Community Church in St. Petersburg, and William A. Meadows Jr., Miami, U. S. district attorney and lay leader of the Florida Methodist Conference.

Methodist Bishop James W. Henley, Lakeland, will conduct a service of Holy Communion.

A "love offering," expected to exceed $20,000, is earmarked for four special projects, including the Methodist Hospital in Jacksonville.

Mrs. W. H. Mathews, Jacksonville, is general chairman of a large local committee handling arrangements for the meeting. Mrs. Dale Jenkins is president of the Jacksonville District WSCS.

DR. H. A. HARRIS

Oklahoman Will Preach Here Sunday

Rev. Dr. Harold A. Harris, senior minister of Pilgrim Congregational Church, Oklahoma City, Okla., will occupy the pulpit of First Congregational Church of Sanford at the 11 a.m. service Sunday.

Dr. Harris, a native of Rexhill-On-Sea, England, has served in the states for the past 15 years. He is a graduate of New College, Manchester, England, London University School of Theology, and holds a Th. D., from the University of Bristol. He also has had special training in institutional ministry and social work at the Institute for Religious and Social Studies, Union Seminary, New York City.

Dr. Harris served Pilgrim Fathers' Memorial Congregational Church, London, and Emmanuel Congregational Church, Morcambe, before coming to the United States. He has served pastorates in Baltimore, Md., and First Congregational in New York City. His present pastorate is the oldest and largest Congregational Church in the Southwest, and a new educational building is presently under construction.

Active in denominational work of the National Association of Congregational Christian Churches, Dr. Harris is a member of the Commission on the Ministry, Commission on World Christian Relations and Chairman of Youth Camping Program. His plan for a campus ministry to college and university students will be presented for adoption at the Annual Meeting of the National Association in June.

He also is Moderator of the Mid - America Congregational Conference, which the Rev. Glen R. Asplin, minister of the Sanford Church, assisted in organizing while serving as interim minister to Pilgrim Church some years ago. He has served in a summer exchange program in Europe since the summer of 1958, and was in Britain last summer for two months visiting Congregational Churches. While there he received the D. D. degree from Bristol University.

On Sunday evening, members of the Community Congregational Church of Mt. Dora will join the Sanford Church for a covered dish supper meeting at which Dr. Harris will speak briefly on the British Congregational Churches and play a taped service from Westminster Chapel Church, London, which was broadcast during his visit last summer.

REV. HIGGINBOTHAM

Revival Services Scheduled At Oviedo Church

First Baptist Church of Oviedo will launch a week of public revival services Monday, April 17, at 7:30 p.m. Preacher for the nightly series of meetings will be Allen H. Higginbotham, Southern Baptist Evangelist of Orlando. Wayne B. Hailey, minister of music at the North Park Baptist Church, Orlando, will be the song leader.

The week of special services will include two youth rallies, a hamburger fry for ages 9-12 Monday at 6 p.m., and an after-service fellowship for ages 13-up Tuesday, both featuring the talents of Higginbotham as a guitarist and singer of popular songs.

"Mr. Higginbotham enjoys an effective evangelistic ministry to all ages," states A. Flourney Jernigan, pastor of the Oviedo church. "But, since the evangelist began preaching while a freshman in high school, his testimony bears special appeal to youth. He was converted at age eleven, began preaching at age fourteen, and was ordained to the ministry at age seventeen. After serving as a pastor for fourteen years, he has been a full-time evangelist since 1965."

Minister Gives Program For WSCS

Program for the monthly meeting of Christ Methodist Church Woman's Society of Christian Service was presented by Rev. and Mrs. Lawrence Ward of First Methodist Church, Geneva.

The meeting took place Monday evening at the home of Mrs. James Somerville in Sunland Estates. Rev. Ward told the Easter story, "The Secret Lily," which was illustrated on the flannelgraph by Mrs. Ward.

The WSCS will sponsor a bake sale from 9:30 a.m. until 6 p.m., April 14-15, in the old Western Auto building on First Street in Sanford. At the same time, the Men's Club of the church will be sponsoring a rummage sale.

Phebian Class

The Phebian Sunday School Class of First Baptist Church, Sanford, will have its April meeting at the home of Mrs. Errol Simmons, 1813 Paloma Drive, Monday evening. All members are urged to attend.

Communion Set Sunday For All Souls Groups

Communion Sunday will be observed this week at All Souls Catholic Church, Sanford, for members of the Catholic Women's Club and the Holy Name Society.

Announcement of the service was made at the monthly meeting of the Women's Club Monday in the church social hall with Mrs. Winkie LePils, president, in charge.

Guest speaker was Mrs. George Coyle of Jacksonville, past diocesan president. In her talk, Mrs. Coyle stressed working under directions of the pastor, abiding by and supporting his decisions. "We should work with, first of all, faith, loyalty, tolerance and courage. We should work with age being of no concern since we all have hidden talents to share and teach to others. We all know learning is fun!," she stated.

Quoting Pope Pius XII, she reminded "women are meant to complement men, not to compete with men. We should all strive to be modern Marys," she stressed.

In business of the meeting, Mrs. Doris Smith, treasurer, presented the proposed budget for the year. Mrs. Evelyn Serrear expressed appreciation for cooperation in holding a successful bake sale and announced the next sale would be April 16.

Mrs. LePils outlined a number of future projects and Mrs. Sue Ceynowa announced a tentative program plan for the next three months. With these plans in mind, members voted to continue monthly meetings during the summer months of July and August.

Churches Combat Youth Delinquency

Concluding part of a two-Friday series on problems and conditions facing young people today, which could lead to delinquency, and what the churches offer in the way of educational and recreational activity to provide stimulus and outlets for creative talents of youth, is written by Julia Wells, Herald Church Editor, from materials submitted by a number of the area churches.

* * *

What are churches doing to help combat juvenile delinquency and how are they doing it?

With the aid of extensive outlines from First Baptist and First Methodist Churches of Sanford and Casselberry Community Methodist Church, together with facts submitted by many area churches, The Herald learns that most are expanding and broadening their youth programs to bring about greater individual participation.

Many interesting and thought provoking ideas are presented through panel discussions, guest speakers, movies, and student programs, on such subjects as dating, adolescence, relations of the teenaged and parent personality problems, and what the future holds in the Space Age, to name a few.

The youth ministry at First Baptist Church includes opportunity for development in recreational, cultural, and spiritual nature for youth of all ages. In addition to customary programs, the church promotes an annual youth camp at Lake Yale near Eustis each August, a Youth Retreat each March, and encourages attendance at Ridgecrest Baptist Assembly in North Carolina and State Assemblies at Lake Yale.

"Juniorama," an all-day program for juniors (nine-12 years) is offered one day each week during the summer. Activities include recreation, music, swimming, picnics, and field trips to spots of educational interest in Central Florida.

In the way of sports, the church offers bus trips to out-of-town high school football games and its softball team, for ages 16 years old and older, plays in the City-Church Softball League.

"Youth Speaks," a monthly newspaper with items of interest at church, school, and home, is published once each month by the young people at First Baptist, giving them a first hand opportunity to express their creative talents in the fields of reporting, composition page make-up, and the age-old responsibility of meeting a commitment on time.

On the first Friday of each month, the church sponsors "Family Night Recreation," providing opportunity to all members of the family to participate in a well-planned, interesting, evening of entertainment.

Perhaps most significant in the program offered at First Methodist Church is the personal counseling with youth, both at church and at home, by Richard Davy, minister of education, who advises "a one-to-one relationship, outside the group setting of the church, provides opportunity to delve into real problems and frustrations of the young people.

"This is where I learn most about today's youth as they reveal their real feelings and worries. They mostly want to be listened to and need competent and concerned adults who will take the time to be present when their need to talk arises," Davy writes.

Both First Methodist and Casselberry Community Methodist offer active youth programs on Sunday evenings and during the summer. The Methodist Youth Camp near Leesburg is open for all young people, 12 to 21 years old, from June through August.

In addition, the Casselberry church conducts its own summer recreation program, under supervision of two fulltime youth directors, which features a variety of indoor and outdoor activities. Monday through Thursday afternoon, and a Friday evening program of games, films, parties, and beach trips.

Both churches have a "Youth Activities Week" during the summer in which programs and activity for each evening of the week is planned and carried out by the young people themselves.

The youth in Casselberry have expressed putting on religious plays and have been invited to present these productions in many Central Florida churches.

There are at least three of the area churches, First Pentecostal, First Baptist of Longwood, and Lake Mary Church of the Nazarene, which promote a variety of contests to catch and hold the educational and creative interests of the young people.

The Sanford Ward of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints (Mormon) offers a continuing opportunity to its young people and young adults in the fields of education, sports, entertainment and competition, through program presented by special guest lecturers, instructors, of professional men and women, and movies and film strips. Youth of the church also meet before school each weekday for prayer, religious study and discussion of world-day conditions.

This article in no way attempts to cover every phase of every program offered by the churches in Seminole County for their youth. Only the highlights of a few are reported.

However, the key to success of any church program lies in involving all of the youth and in the support and understanding given them by the pastor, counselors, the parents, and other church members.

WILLIAM R. BARRON

Presbytery Of St. Johns Meeting Here

Examination of William R. Barron, who is expected to become assistant minister at First Presbyterian Church, Sanford, upon his graduation from Columbia Seminary in June, will be made Tuesday at the local church during a day-long meeting of St. Johns Presbytery.

The meeting will open with a worship service at 9:30 a.m. with the meditation to be given by the retiring moderator, Rev. Orlow A. Rusher of Okeechobee. There will be a Communion Service.

Election of officers and adoption of docket will follow with a report from the committee on the minister and his work, Rev. Edward R. Rowley Jr., Orlando, chairman, at 10:45 a.m.

Those on the examining committee are Rev. Thomas H. Makin, of Sanford, Rev. James F. Van Dyke, of Winter Park, and Dr. Harvard A. Anderson, of Orlando.

After luncheon, the meeting will convene with Dr. John R. Wilson, of Sanford, to be commissioned at 3 p.m. as a commissioner to the General Assembly before adjournment for a recreational period.

Supper will be served to Men of the Church at 7 p.m., Rev. Van Dyke giving the devotional. Speaker for the supper program will be Dr. Harold N. Stinson, president of Stillman College, Tuscaloosa, Ala.

A native of Arkansas, Dr. Stinson is the son of a Presbyterian minister and has served in the educational program of the Presbyterian Church for his entire life. He has a rich background of experience and a national reputation for educational leadership.

Visitors will be welcomed for the examination of ordination and the supper meeting also is open. Reservations should be made with the church office.

Rev. Peterson To Be Guest In Geneva

By MRS. JOS. E. MATHIEUX

Guest minister for the 11 a. m. worship service Sunday at First Methodist Church of Geneva will be Rev. Charles Peterson, former pastor.

Special music for the service will feature a quartet made-up of Rev. and Mrs. J. Lawrence Ward, Mrs. Peterson, and W. G. Killbee.

Following the worship, there will be a carry-in dinner, a hymn sing, and a short program.

Rev. and Mrs. Peterson soon will be leaving the area to make their home in the north and all members of the church are urged by Rev. Ward to be present for Sunday's events in their honor.

Spring Festival Is Success

By MRS. RITCHIE HARRIS

The Spring Festival sponsored Friday by Barnett Memorial Methodist Church of Enterprise has been termed " a huge success" by Mrs. Frank Winkler, general chairman, and Mrs. Ray Lawson, assistant.

The oven fried chicken dinner was served to a capacity attendance and the country store, candy, cookie, plant, fish pond and other booths reported excellent support.

More than $225 profit from the event will be added to the church treasury.

Men's Club of the church, at Saturday's dinner meeting, planned an evening of musical entertainment for May 5, featuring the "Sand Dunes" from Sanford Naval Air Station. Tickets will be on sale by all members of the club.

School Of Churchmanship Is Announced

A School of Churchmanship opened at the DeLand First Christian Church Sunday for all Christian Churches in Volusia and Seminole Counties, it has been announced by Deltona Christian Church.

In other reports from the church, a Christian Women's Fellowship rummage sale will be held next weekend at the former Western Auto Store building on First Street in Sanford. All items for the sale should be at the church by Thursday morning.

WORSHIP KNOWS NO CALENDAR
Some select Sunday as a day of worship. Others prefer Friday or Saturday. But the solace of worship knows no boundaries—temporal or spatial.
Some find their God in church. Others see him in a spring sunrise, or in a fresh-mown meadow at dusk. Children oft find peace in an evening prayer.
Each seeks peace in his own way. All place their trust in a Supreme Being and worship as conscience dictates.
Why not join them? You, too, can find solace and guidance in prayer.

So. Vietnamese Chief Threatens To Bomb Red Capital

MARK 76 practice bomb (arrow) dug this hole in a beanfield on SR 15, just off SR 46, after it fell from a TA3B Sky Warrior jet, out of Sanford Naval Air Station, yesterday afternoon. Plane was en route to the practice bombing range at Lake George when the bomb, armed only with a cartridge to explode to mark point of contact, accidentally dropped off the plane's wing. Politics Holds Sway In Capitol

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Politics was scheduled to hold court in the Florida Legislature today with the nominations of Reps. Fred Schultz and Phil Ashler as 1969 House speaker and speaker pro tempore

Ashler, D-Pensacola, confirmed that the House was to dissolve into a Democratic caucus—to which the 39 Republicans were invited—and nominate Schultz, D-Jacksonville and himself according to an already-written script.

The move would be some what anti-climactic. Both men claimed sufficient pledges to wrap up the jobs months ago. Their election, of course, would be contingent on Democrats retaining a majority in the House.

Of more impact would be an expected claim to the 1971 speakership by one of two men now collecting vote pledges: Reps. Richard Pettigrew and Lou Wolfson II, both of Miami.

Sources say it's a close contest, with Pettigrew perhaps holding the edge. He has family ties in Jacksonville and lives in Miami.

Meanwhile, the "move-the-capital" campaign of Sen. Lee Weissenborn broke into the open Thursday with some 25 legislators meeting informally with the Miami Democrat.

While most agreed not to commit themselves on reseating the capital somewhere in Central Florida, the group decided to block a proposed $10 million appropriation for capitol improvements and legislative building construction.

Sen. Tom Slade, R-Jacksonville, predicted the campaign to relocate the capital could only fail if strategy was haphazard.

The Legislature made official its objection to immediate constitution revision Thursday as proposed by Gov. Claude Kirk in a 29-19 Senate vote. Senate Republican leader C. W. Young of Pinellas Park was rebuffed by that vote as he attempted to get senators to drop everything else.

There was no similar test vote in the House and GOP leaders said none was likely.

In House committees, the appropriations group was told by chairman Henry Land, D-Tangerine, that voters have made it clear in two previous elections that "they want no new taxes.

But the Democrat said the committee should be guided by the governor's "white papers" and his remarks of Tuesday in making money available to wipe out crime, make Florida first in education and reduce property taxes.

Double And Triple

Located in the South Pacific, the New Hebrides Islands have three sets of laws, two police forces, two systems of weights and measures, three currencies and two national languages—English French.

Bystanders Watch As Two Cops Slain

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A man who killed two policemen could have been stopped without bloodshed, Police Chief William Barnes says.

"If just one person had stepped in, my men would be alive today," Barnes said. He said a group of women witnesses told him several men stood by Thursday while a berserk man disarmed Sgt. William H. Fletcher and killed him with his service revolver.

"They just stood there," Barnes said. "And if my man had used his pistol to subdue the suspect he would have been charged by the press with police brutality."

Fletcher, 52, and motorcycle patrolman David Van Curler, 31, a father of five, were slain with their own service revolvers as they answered a complaint at a federal savings and loan association.

John C. Cooley, 32, an unemployed Negro, was charged with first degree murder. He was captured in front of the Fidelity Federal Savings and Loan Association as he stood over the dead policemen, a gun in his hand.

Cooley was subdued by Thomas Gorham, 20, a Silver Star winner who picked up Van Curler's discarded gun and got the drop on Cooley. Van Curler's pistol had only one bullet in it but the other was empty.

With Fletcher and Van Curler lying dead in the street, Gorham held the gun on Cooley while onlookers yelled: "Kill him! Kill Him!"

"Even the guy yelled, 'Yeah! Shoot me, I wanna die!' And I told him, 'You don't have to worry about that,' said the Army veteran who won his medal by overrunning a Viet Cong machine gun nest.

"When the guy saw me he dropped the gun and raised his hands," Gorham said. "That's all I wanted. I ignored the cries of the crowd.

Gorham remained calm until police reinforcements took charge of Cooley, who was not injured.

Fletcher, a 19-year veteran of the force, first answered a call for help by a female teller who said a man had tried to kick in the door, shouting, "Let me in, I'm John the Baptist!"

Witnesses said the man, raving and wild-eyed, first shot Fletcher, then cut down Van Curler before he could get off his motorcycle.

Two boys who watched the episode told police the man took Van Curler's pistol out of his holster and, stepping over his body, walked to Fletcher and began pumping bullets into him.

"I hate you, I hate you," Gorham quoted Cooley as screaming at the dead officers as they lay in the street.

Police Lt. Patrick Hickey said Cooley, a thin man about 5-foot-9, fought police, was screaming and cursing when officers brought him into the station, but later was calm and carefree as he was questioned.

Credit Ease Is Pictured

WASHINGTON (AP) —The first drop in the Federal Reserve discount rate in more than 6½ years could spell more trouble for the administrations plan for a 6 per cent surtax on corporate and most individual incomes.

The board in a dramatic move Thursday which could signal a further general easing of credit and lower interest rates, dropped the discount rate from 4.5 to 4 per cent over most of the country effective today.

But Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., chairman of the Senate-House Economic Committee, said the action should reinforce opposition to the surtax plan designed partly to cool inflationary pressure expected by the government economists later this year.

Proxmire said softening business conditions demanded the unanimous action taken Thursday by the board for 10 of its 12 districts. Although the Atlanta and St. Louis districts failed to seek a lower discount rate, they are expected to follow suit.

If government policy now is aimed at stimulating the economy, Proxmire said, "it would be a mistake to shove up taxes that would discourage business expansion at the same time we reduce interest rates to encourage business."

The Treasury Department welcomed the discount action as a sign of a "desirable further easing of credit availability and interest rate levels." The administration has sought lower interest rates

Some government experts said the lower discount rate would act as a stimulant to the economy which is now more sluggish than the administration anticipated. This could give the administration stronger economic data to present to Congress later this spring in defending its surtax plan.

Bobby Baker Gets 1-to-3

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Bobby Baker, onetime Senate aide, was sentenced today to not less than one year and not more than three years in prison.

Baker stood quietly in the courtroom as Judge Oliver Gasch pronounced the sentence.

Baker was convicted of seven counts on charges of income tax evasion, theft and conspiracy. The judge sentenced him to one to three years on each count, with the sentences to run concurrently.

KIDNAP VICTIM Kenneth Young, 11, right, was released unharmed after his father, multimillion-aire financier Herbert Young, left, paid a $250,000 ransom. The youth was abducted from his Beverly Hills, Calif., home April 3 and held three days. (NEA Telephoto)

Kidnaped Boy Says: 'Didn't Feel Chicken'

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — The mother of 11-year-old Kenneth Young, a kidnap victim now safe at home after a 72-hour ordeal and payment of $250,000 ransom, says of her son's abductor: "I feel sorry for the man — out there being hunted. If I saw the man, I would thank him for returning my son home alive and well."

Arline Young made the comment Thursday night at a news conference in the family's expensive home, once owned by film star Deanna Durbin. This was the first meeting with newsmen for Kenny, who wore a baseball cap over his shaved head.

Impatient about photographs but anxious to relate details of his kidnaping, he disclosed that apparently only one man was involved.

Flashing a shy smile, Kenny said, "I didn't feel chicken about it. On the first day, he said I would be home Wednesday night.

"I wasn't scared except when he showed me the gun."

Consistently referring to his abductor only as "he," the financier's son told of the food given him.

"I didn't like it. He fed me TV dinner — meat loaf. He forced it down me."

Then he described the shaving of his head, a maneuver apparently designed to make the tape of a blindfold stick better.

"He did it Monday at 1 o'clock," Kenny said. "He put me on the bed, then made me bend over with my feet on the floor and clipped my head."

Kenny wore only undershorts when he appeared at 3:30 a.m. Thursday at the apartment in nearby Santa Monica of John A. Negrey, 43, an aerospace engineer.

Negrey said the boy's wrists were taped with adhesive, and a strip of adhesive dangled from his forehead. The boy was drowsy from sleeping pills given him by the kidnaper.

"I've been kidnaped. Can I come in?" the boy asked.

Negrey then learned that Kenny was the son of Herbert J. Young, 35, president of the $423 million Gibraltar Savings and Loan Association of Beverly Hills.

A telephone call to the Young home released a torrent of joy and relief.

"Hi, dad," Kenny said. "I'm all right. Come and get me."

Mrs. Young said she had been certain "deep down — here in my heart" that Kenny would be returned unharmed.

But she described the phone call as "the happiest moment in my life."

Her son said he had been left bound and blindfolded in a car parked in the basement garage of an apartment building in Santa Monica. Following instructions, he waited 30 minutes, then wiggled free of the binding and ripped loose the bandages over his eyes.

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnam's chief of state threatened today to bomb Hanoi or invade North Vietnam if the North Vietnamese don't stop attacking the South Vietnamese half of the demilitarized zone.

The threat by Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu came in the wake of a Communist attack on a South Vietnamese border post as well as the raid Thursday by perhaps 2,000 North Vietnamese troops on the provincial capital of Quang Tri.

In the air war against North Vietnam, U.S. planes attacked Communist missile sites Thursday within the defense ring surrounding Hanoi and Haiphong, North Vietnam's main port. Two of the sites attacked were only five and seven miles from Haiphong.

Just south of Haiphong, two U.S. destroyers, the Waddell and the Duncan, were hit by Red shore batteries Thursday. But the Navy said there were no casualties and damage to the ships was light.

Thieu said Communist attacks in the South Vietnamese half of the six-mile-wide demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam are a deliberate violation of the 1954 Geneva agreement, and South Vietnam "reserves the right to retaliate against any forces involved."

Asked what form the retaliation might take, Thieu said Hanoi might be bombed or South Vietnamese troops could be sent into the North.

"And these actions must be considered as self-defense," he added.

Premier Nguyen Cao Ky flew to Quang Tri today to survey the damage from the latest Red attacks south of the Ben Hai bridge, which marks the border between North and South Vietnam and is the dividing point between the northern and southern halves of the demilitarized zone.

Ky's government filed a protest with the International Control Commission charging that North Vietnamese soldiers moved across the bridge Wednesday, forcing South Vietnamese civilian police to abandon their post at the southern end of the bridge.

The United States and South Vietnam have charged the Reds with repeatedly violating the demilitarized zone and infiltrating troops through it into the South. U.S. intelligence also reports that some 35,000 regular North Vietnamese troops are now in and around the zone.

St. Johns Study Of Pollution Set

JACKSONVILLE (AP) — A study of pollution in the headwaters of the St. Johns River has begun with surveys of the use of herbicides against water hyacinths and mosquitoes.

State health officials say present spraying by the Florida Game and Fish Commission and Mosquito control districts is within the tolerance of one-fifth part per million of 2, 4-D herbicide used in public water supply.

However, the studies will determine how much has built up over the two years in which spraying has been carried out in Lake Washington — which provides water for Melbourne and Eau Gallie — and the river's source in Blue Cypress Lake near Vero Beach.

J. B. Miller, director of the division of water supply in the State Health Department, said federal standards may be relaxed slightly as the result of recent studies indicating small concentrations of 2, 4-D are harmless.

Limited use has been approved previously at Fort Gordo and in the Hillsborough River, he said.

Peterson And The Demos

A. B. Peterson Jr., earlier this week said in public, what a lot of Democrats felt in their hearts but, didn't have enough courage to say out loud.

"By party association we are directly tied to the administration in Washington. By historic belief we are conservative. The revolt that has occurred so far is within the party; that which we are faced in the immediate future is a mass exodus from the party.

"Thus we stand unable to live with our consciences for deserting our party, or unable to live with out consciences within our party. There seems to be two courses of action open:

1-Desert the Party;

2-Fight within the party for a popular conservative trend."

And with this Mr. Peterson, to use a cliche, had hit the nail squarely on the head.

There is no doubt that the Democratic candidates were beaten severely in Orange and Seminole County for one reason:

Resentment against Washington.

Resentment against Lyndon B. Johnson.

Resentment against the Anti-poverty programs.

Tom McDonald lost the election because of Mr. Johnson, not because South Seminole and Orange County were voting against him.

Mr. McDonald lost eight out of 11 precincts in a usually strong Democratic stronghold (Sanford).

It is high time our Democratic candidates in the courthouse took stock of the situation here or, there will be plenty of "new faces" in the courthouse come 1969.

How can they do this?

Let me quote again from Mr. Peterson's open letter that appeared in Tuesday's Herald.

"Now is the time to roll up our sleeves and fight within the party for stronger, conservative government on a local level . . . The decision then must be stay with the party and fight for change.

"Our strong Southern conservative heritage has taught us that defeat is never final until accepted by the vanquished."

Mr. Peterson makes good sense.

It might be a good idea if the Democratic Executive Committee called on Mr. Peterson at its meeting next week.

He could very well be a vibrant force in molding a new Democratic image in Seminole County.

We certainly could use it.

Where The Heat Is

Next week is "Youth Government week" in Sanford and compliment the Sanford-Seminole Jaycees for starting this worthwhile project.

How else can our youngsters get a chance to see how our local city and County government operates?

Next week they'll be able to learn first hand the problems of being in the spotlight.

The problems of making decisions that can affect thousands and thousands of people.

Five outstanding Seminole High youngsters will sit on the City Commission and five will sit with County Commissioners on Tuesday.

We hope they listen carefully.

Someday they may be sitting up there "where the heat" is in future years.

Political Notebook

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Ellsworth Bunker's major assignment as the new U.S. ambassador to Vietnam will be to make certain Saigon's military junta turns the government over to civilian rule after the upcoming national elections.

Bunker has been told to make certain there are no sudden military coups by disgruntled Vietnamese army or air force officers.

He has been ordered to sniff out any behind-the-scenes Vietnamese military pressures or roadblocks that would prevent the new civilian government from being effective.

He has been authorized to talk to Vietnamese leaders "like a Dutch uncle."

It isn't Prime Minister Nguyen Cao Ky who worries President Johnson and his aides. It's some of the generals around Ky and some generals and colonels in opposition, who, Americans fear, might use the changeover to civilian government period for a take-over. Ky, for all his strong words in public has so far demonstrated personally a willingness to cooperate with civilians.

It is no secret Bunker was chosen for the Vietnam job because of his success in bringing diverse elements together in the Dominican Republic, thus making possible a workable government on that harassed island.

It is no secret either that Eugene M. Locke was chosen as Bunker's principal deputy in Vietnam because he has been able to iron out very serious problems in U.S.-Pakistan relations during his tenure as U.S. ambassador in Rawalpindi.

Locke's Pakistan job was especially difficult. It was carried out in a period when Pakistan was flirting strongly with Mao Tse-tung's Red China. Locke's key to success was in being very friendly "but very frank."

The Johnson administration is putting great faith in the creation of the new South Vietnam national civilian government to be created under the newly written proposed constitution.

The military junta has been a great embarrassment to U.S. diplomats. It has been difficult to explain that until the way could be paved for a civilian government, there had to be some government. Too-hurried establishment of civilian rule would have resulted in a government without power. It could have been dictated to or overthrown by a military coup — over U.S. opposition.

The problem has been to reason, cajole and argue with the military men until they were ready to assent to a change.

There has been only so much pressure the United States could lay on unless we were prepared to take over by force or walk out. To the administration, neither seemed the proper solution.

The able work of the constitutional assembly and the willingness of the assembly members to stand up for what they believe indicate South Vietnam may be ready for the major step toward democratic self-government that national elections will inaugurate.

LETTERS

To The Editor

Editor, Herald:

The house is falling down. . . Democrats have neglected the base foundation for 10, these 20 years and depended on the "New Deal," the "Square Deal," the "Fair Deal," the "New Frontier," the "Great Society" and ended up with the "RAW DEAL." The Democrat party is entrenched with the leadership that believes in the TAX and SPEND for VOTES philosophy. The house is falling down so tear it down and treat the ground with a good conservation antidote. Do this if your choice is the mistaken cliche', "I'd rather fight than switch."

If you are prepared to switch; you must be prepared to fight. We are fighting the people who keep their heads in the sand of past philosophies and those who embrace the theory of "let the other guy do it." Republicans are prepared to fight officials who speak with a conservative tongue and then spend our money like true liberals.

The Republican party in the South is a young party with fresh ideas reflecting sound principals. The Republican party believes in Government OF the PEOPLE, BY the PEOPLE and FOR the PEOPLE. We have tried and tested leadership in our ranks, but unlike the Democrat party, we have room at all levels for sound, conservative thinking people. Ours is not the old crowd devoted to cocktail parties and coffee klatches, but we are the working party who get out and ring doorbells and listen to the ideas on the street. We are the people of a young party who are not beholden to old ideas and groups who ask "What am I going to get out of this?"

The choice of the Seminole County voters is plain to see:

1. Fight within the party (Democrat) if you can unshackle yourselves from the chains of past cronyism and national policy making.

2. Join the Republican party, prove your worth with honest to goodness hard work ringing doorbells and understanding the wishes of the people and rise to the top. Join the Republican party if your goal is our goal. . . .Good Government in this great land called Seminole County, Florida, U. S. A.

I am writing this letter to you in regard to a letter you had in your paper a couple of weeks ago sent in by Mrs. Dorothy Grant about the measles vaccine.

I am one of the mothers who didn't get to bring my three children in the first time it was given. And after reading her letter in your paper, I looked at my little ones and felt so ashamed of myself because I had my Sunday planned and, as she put it, I was thinking of my own enjoyment, never stopping to think what this vaccine might mean later on should my children come down with the measles.

Believe me, they have received it now and it took your paper to make me realize how true her letter was.

I enjoy your paper very much and would like to thank you for reading this and at the same time thank Mrs. Grant for the good advice. I sincerely hope more people give their children the vaccine, too.

At 6 p.m. Monday evening, the Police Department called the Seminole County Humane Society in reference to a small brown dog that had been struck by a car, at 25th Street and French Avenue. It was apparent that the accident had occurred some time ago as the dog had been seen dragging herself around the area in search of food and water. She had made a "bed" in some palmetto scrub and it was too dark to find her Monday night. The Humane Society left food and water within reach of the dog's bed.

Tuesday morning she was taken to a local veterinarian where it was discovered she had a broken back. Had the driver of the car that hit the animal stopped or at least reported it to the Humane Society or City Police, this kind act would have saved a lot of needless suffering. Anyone seeing an animal in distress, please report it to phone 323-1750 or 322-7681.

Dr. Crane's

Worry Clinic

CASE C-511: Polly D., aged 18, is a college freshman.

"Dr. Crane," she asked, "during your address to our Convocation this morning, you said that men do not want wives who smoke.

"Why should they object?

"For many men are chain smokers themselves!

"And aren't women entitled to equal rights with men?"

Only ONE man of possibly 50,000 who have written to our interfaith eleemosynary Scientific Marriage Foundation has ever asked for a girl who smoked or drank liquor!

And possibly half of all those men have specifically warned us:

"Don't waste my time introducing me to a woman who smokes."

But suffragettes like Polly will reply:

"Men offer girls cigarettes and liquor, so doesn't that fact disagree with the Scientific Marriage Foundation's data?"

No, it doesn't, at all!

For when men seek a wife, they use a double standard!

On a casual evening date with a woman about whom they care little and whom they plan to seduce before morning, they naturally offer her liquor and cigarets.

But those girls are rated as simply "Goodtime Gerties" and not prospects for marriage.

They may be cast aside next morning like a used cigaret.

You modern girls must thus get hep to the rigid distinction that still exists between paramours and wives!

"Dr. Crane," the usual male will protest, "I don't want a wife who will suck on a cigarette while our baby is nursing at her breast, lest she drop ashes into its eyes!"

Advertisers, however, hoodwink millions of teenagers by making it appear sophisticated and popular to suck on cigarettes and swill down hard liquor.

Girls, it isn't so!

One of my big, husky Northwestern University students, irritably stated:

"Dr. Crane, I never like to kiss a coed and smell a camel!"

But women are less logical than men!

They stampede more easily, which is why the advertisers can quickly get them to adopt any bizarre fashion or fad.

It is no exaggeration to say that a few smart advertisers could easily stampede college coeds into pinning raw oysters on their evening gowns in lieu of corsages!

All that would be necessary is to get a few of the social pacesetters in society (bellwethers, the sheepherders, cell such) to start the fad.

Quote a few endorsements from society leaders. Run pictures of a few female movie stars wearing the raw oysters.

And, presto, you would have the fad sweeping the colleges just like previous college fads of swallowing live goldfish or cramming into phone booths and compact cars.

The present craze is screaming over Beatles and marching in beatnik street parades!

Men know that it is much easier to seduce a girl who drinks for after a couple of highballs, she can excuse her sexual misconduct with the alibi:

"Well, I was intoxicated and didn't know what I was doing."

Note tomorrow's follow-up if you want to see how "sheepish" college coeds can be!

FARM AND HOME

The Farm Front

By DOYLE CONNER
Commissioner of Agriculture
(Special to The Sanford Herald)

TALLAHASSEE — I am pleased to report that the first comprehensive workshop ever held on infrared color photography, sponsored last month by the Florida Department of Agriculture, was highly successful.

The Department, through its Division of Plant Industry, began an intensive study of the potential uses of infrared color photography in the detection of plant pests about two years ago.

Although a complete breakthrough has not yet been reached, the results have been encouraging.

The recent workshop in Winter Haven brought together leading authorities on the use and development of infrared color photography.

They represented more than 20 professions involved in the use of infrared color photography, including the U.S. Armed Forces, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Canada Department of Forestry, U.S. Department of Interior, and private industrial firms and educational institutions.

Gerald G. Norman, chief of the Division of Plant Industry's Methods Development Section has been developing the use of infrared photography as an aid to plant pest detection work.

Mr. Norman has headed our program since its inception and is a recognized authority on the subject.

Infrared film had not been widely used in plant pest detection work until recent years, although it has been in general use for almost a century.

Interpreters of aerial photographs taken with infrared-color plants from healthy plants by evaluating the intensity of intensity of infrared rays reflected from within plant matter.

Vigorous and healthy plants appear red in the photographs, while diseased plants appear in other tonal variations of the color spectrum.

State and federal agricultural officials predict that if infrared photographic survey methods can be made operational in a six-week period. Such a procedure would permit a constant and immediate check on the spread of disease of citrus.

Although great strides have been made toward expanding the knowledge of plant physiology and infrared photography in recent years, much of the knowledge of how infrared rays effect plants is incomplete.

The Department's workshop provided a sounding board between research and industry as the photographic needs of the 57 delegates attending were outlined to manufacturers.

Also present for the two-day meeting were representatives of the Eastman Kodak Company and Dr. Walter Clark, a pioneer in the development of infrared film.

Some encouraging news on the possibility of an improved vaccine for rabies within two to three years has come from scientists at the U.S. Public Health Service at Lawrenceville, Ga.

Research of a similar nature is being conducted at the Florida Department of Agriculture's animal diagnostic laboratory in Kissimmee.

Our Department scientists are seeking to solve the nature of rabies: What is it? How is it spread? How long does it take to develop?

With the threat of rabies to humans increasing, because of a rising incidence in wildlife and the growing number of Americans taking part in outdoor activities, the answers to these questions become increasingly important.

Diagnosis in most cases is practically impossible and post-exposure treatments now used are painful, sometimes dangerous and not always effective.

Although there still remains quite a lot of work to be done before an effective antidote to human rabies can be perfected the two to three-year goal is very encouraging.

April Award

Residents of Mr. and Mrs. John Hamilton, 2427 Laurel Avenue, was selected by Dirt Gardeners Circle of the Sanford Garden Club to receive the Garden of the Month award for April. Beautiful blooming flowers and a good landscape design was a deciding factor in selecting this garden. Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton do their own yard work. Heading the civic beautification committee for her circle is Mrs. R. F. Robison.

Hospital Cited

Seminole Memorial Hospital was selected by the Dirt Gardeners Circle to receive the Business of the Month civic beautiful award for April. Selected on the overall basis of year-round beauty, it is especially attractive at this time with many flowers in bloom. This award is open to any business or establishment in the city limits. Selection was headed by Mrs. R. F. Robison.

Agricultural News And Views

By CECIL A. TUCKER II
County Agricultural Agent

Last week we began a discussion on agricultural careers. This week we'll continue this, using some of the facts and figures about agricultural careers which we gave recently in a meeting to a group of Senior High School students.

Few men today have as much freedom of thought and action as the farmer—few have as much financial independence. Except for a couple of months each year—during seeding and harvesting time—his hours are as long as he wants them for he makes them himself. He is no longer a manual laborer. Most of the drudgery, both around the house and in the fields, is done for him by power equipment.

The farmer plants crops which will flourish in his particular soil and climate, which are adapted to the layout on his farm land, and which are suitable to the market he serves. He may specialize in a few crops rather than grow a variety. He may produce specialties for canneries or refrigerating companies. He also maintains livestock and devotes some of his farm to hay and other cattle foods and to grazing land.

Owning land, or having money to buy it, often is regarded as the first requirement for anyone who wants to go into farming. This is not so. If a man or woman knows how to farm the land, he or she can get into farming. There are many avenues to farm operation and ownership. In the United States there are over three million owner-operated farms. But there are over 800,000 farms operated by part owners, plus about 1½ million farm renters. Approximately one out of every 200 farms is operated, not by its owner, but by a paid manager.

Income for the farmer depends, of course, on the size, value, and productivity of the farm, and will vary widely. The actual cash-in-hand cannot be considered the entire income because milk, fruit, vegetables, meats, and even savings on clothing costs, and transportation to and from work add to the "real" wages of the farmer.

So far, we've been talking about the farmer. Few young people will be farmers BUT there is a place for you in agribusiness jobs. Agriculture provides more jobs and careers in the city than on the farm—more jobs and careers than any other industry. Of 70 million employed Americans, 28 million work somewhere in agriculture—10 million on farms, seven million produce for and service farmers, and 11 million process and distribute farm products.

About 40 per cent of all jobs are in agriculture—jobs important to everyone, jobs with futures, jobs with financial and personal rewards!

Agriculture supplies our food, most of our fiber, and some of our building materials. So we can look at it this way. As long as we eat, wear clothes and live in houses, there'll be jobs in agriculture.

Today, many young fellows are at a cross roads in life. In a few short years the rest of the younger Future Farmers will be at the same cross roads.

Where do the roads lead? Who knows—to the armed services, to college to further education, or to a job. The important thing—have they thought about it now so as to set their compass and direction toward the right goal in life?

The U. S. Department of Labor says that in less than 10 years, 47 per cent of all labor will be under 25 years of age. This is our young people of today. Unfortunately, by that time, 74.4 per cent or three-fourths of them will have received no education beyond what they received in grade or high school. This 74.4 per cent will be roughly 35 per cent of the total working force of our nation. It is predicted that in 1970, unemployment will be the highest among those with the least education. Education is good job insurance.

Let me turn it around and say it in a positive way—what will a college education do for you or me? In the first place, it will make you and me a better citizen. Secondly, it will make our jobs more secure. Thirdly, it will mean more money for our families. How much more? Well, in your life time from $25,000 to $103,000 more dollars.

If you go on to four years more of college, it will mean $102,000 more—you add it up—that's 720 classroom days. Divide this into $100,000 and you'll find that on the average for every day spent in college earning a degree, you add $140 to your life income. To use common language—$140 a day ain't hay.

So I say to our young people. Stop! Think! What is your next step? For you Freshmen, Sophomore, and Juniors, I tell what my next step would be if I were you. It would be STUDY —make the best of today. Plan for tomorrow. Our crowded universities can handle only the best students. Be one of those. Set your goal to be a scholar for the dollar—useful citizens in a world of tomorrow.

County Events Day Saturday Set For 4-Hers

Saturday is a big day for Seminole County 4-Hers.

They will be gathering at the Agriculture Center at 9 a.m. for their annual County Events Day.

The boys and girls will be putting on demonstrations, showing the knowledge they have gained through study of various projects in 4-H work. There will be public speaking, insect collections, food and nutrition demonstrations, exhibits of reading lamps made by the members, a tractor driving contest, general demonstrations including horse, agricultural and home and family.

"Share-the-Fun" entries will bring out the best of the 4-H talent in skits, songs, etc.

Several women of the Homemakers Club, as well as Dr. Greene of the Central Florida Experiment Station, and Mr. Farrens, of the Sanford Junior High School agricultural department, will be among those who will help the County Agent in judging these various events.

All winners 14 years of age and over have the opportunity to go on to District Events Day, which will be held this year on April 21-22 at Camp McQuarrie.

Remember the date, place and time: Saturday, 9 a.m. through 3 p.m. at the Agricultural Center, south on highway 17-92, Sanford.

Yardner's Corner

By CECIL A. TUCKER II
County Agricultural Agent

All of us who grow plants—whether we are home gardeners, nurserymen, ranchers, growers or something else — are concerned with plants.

Do you know how to recognize when your plants are diseased? Here are the symptoms of plant disease: the stem may be stunted; the leaves may be curled, mottled or spotted; the plant may wilt; it may lack green color; or the flowers may be distorted or have an unusual color.

There are many things that make plants do poorly, but there are three major causes of plant disease. These are fungi, bacteria and viruses.

Fungi are the most important cause of plant disease. They are mold-like plants without green coloring matter, and so must live off food manufactured by other plants. Most of the parasitic fungi reproduce by spores. The vegetative body of fungi consists of a mat of thread-like cells.

Some typical fungus diseases are left spot of chrysanthemum, black spot of roses, and powdery mildew.

Some forms of bacteria cause plant diseases. Bacteria are microscopic, one-celled plants. Like the fungi, they have no chlorophyll, and so must live as parasites on plants or animals of live off dead plant or animal tissue.

Symptoms of bacterial diseases are usually water-soaked spots, or blotches on the leaves; black water soaked or soft rotted areas on the stems; or such spots on the below-ground parts of plants.

An example of a bacterial disease is stem rot of geranium. Plant diseases are often caused by viruses. No one knows just what viruses are. We do know that they are submicroscopic in size and can multiply in the plant. They spread by handling, propagating or by insects.

Some of the symptoms of virus diseases in plants are mottling, stunting, streaking, ring spotting, yellowing and the like. Ring spot of aster is a typical virus disease. This disease produces a very striking "oak leaf" or ring spot pattern on the leaves.

For help in identifying specific plant diseases, as well as details on the control of these diseases, seek out the assistance of the Agricultural Extension Service through your County Agricultural Agent.

Wrong Pills Worth $8,000

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — A Puyallup (Wash.) woman who gave birth to a girl after dehydration pills were accidentally substituted for birth control pills was awarded an $8,000 judgment Wednesday by a Superior Court jury.

Her husband, Larry Coloff, was awarded one dollar. The couple's daughter was born Oct. 11, 1965.

The suit against a Puyallup drug store claimed negligence through a mistake in refilling a prescription for birth control pills. The suit contended that pills used to lower body liquid content had been substituted.

Lyman 9 Goes After 11 Straight, OBC Crown

Coach Jim Payne and his Lyman Greyhounds will try to extend their winning streak to eleven games this weekend when they entertain the Apopka Blue Darters in an Orange Belt Conference match at Cooper Field in Casselberry on Saturday night.

The Hounds are undefeated in OBC play, seeking their first league title. The defending champions DeLand Bulldogs are the only remaining threats to Lyman's supremacy. The Bulldogs trail Lyman by two full games in standings, while Leesburg and Kissimmee are each three games back.

The Greyhounds whitewashed Apopka 5 to 0 earlier in the season when southpaw Charlie Newell hurled his first of two no-hitters of this season. Mark Brewer, who is unbeaten in four decisions this year and has a team record of nine victories over the past two seasons, will be the starter in Saturday's ball game. Brewer, with a remarkable earned run average of 0.81, has forty-six strikeouts in thirty-three innings. Opponents are batting just .144 against the crafty right-hander.

Lyman, on the other hand, boasts a team batting average of .293 with 13 home runs in as many ball games. Eight have batting marks over three hundred. Sophomore Mark Dowell, the southpaw first baseman, leads the club with a .450 swat mark. He is followed by Jim Lucas (.367), Newell (.363), centerfielder John Tipple (.357), and shortstop Brent Helms (.343).

Tipple, the senior slugger, currently has hit safely in eight consecutive ball games. The powerful outfielder leads the team in at bats with forty-two, hits with fifteen, runs scored with ten, runs batted in with ten, doubles with three, home runs with four, and total bases with thirty-four.

Coach Payne, in his 21 year career, has now won 324 ball games and lost just 107. The Hound pilot has a winning percentage of .676.

Lyman's starting lineup against Apopka will probably include Mark Brewer (.286) on the mound, Tom Pinnock (.269) behind the plate, Dowell at first base, David Unley (.333) or George Milteer at second base, Helms at shortstop, Bryan Burg at third base, Lucas at left field, Tipple in center, and Don Paulsen (.306) in right.

Seminoles Flying High

Coach Owen McCarron's high flying Seminole baseball nine will be looking for wins 12 and 13, today and tomorrow, with only five more games left on this season's schedule.

Seminole High is currently riding a six-game winning streak and possesses an 11 and 4 log through today's play.

This afternoon at 4, they travel to meet the Seabreeze nine, who were defeated by Seminole earlier in the season, 6-5. McCarron pointed out that Seabreeze does have a good team, especially in the hitting department, and that Sanford scored three of these runs in the last inning to take the victory.

Tomorrow, the Seminoles will host the New Smyrna Beach "Barracudas" at 1 p.m. This will be the first meeting of the season between these two teams this year and the only comparison would be that the "Cudas" tripped the Oviedo Lions earlier in the year.

"We're getting our hits now when they count. When we have men on the sacks, the singles are starting to drop for us and we're moving the men around to score," said McCarron. "The key game, was when we beat Colonial High last Friday, 8-6. This was the turning point and we've been playing good ball since then, both mechanically and mentally."

The starting line-ups for the two games will have Mark Cable leading off in left field, followed by the pitcher Steve Shumaker, Bill Miller at first, Tommy Bryan returns to the cleanup position with shortstop Frank Whigham hitting sixth. Whigham is the team's leading slugger with a .315 batting average.

Either Karl Shumaker or Mike Morgan in leftfield will be hitting seventh and newcomer Mike Farrel at second base (.350) eighth with Bill Gracey covering third for the injured Donny Anderson.

Seminole is looking forward to the Sub Group Pairings scheduled for Leesburg on Thursday, April 20, in which they have been placed as co-favorite with the Lyman Greyhounds.

On the opening day, Sanford will play Lakeview at 2 p.m. and Lyman tangling with Leesburg that night at 7:30. Bishop Moore and Apopka, the two other teams involved in the eliminations, look down byes.

The winner of the Lakeview-Sanford contest will meet Bishop Moore at 4 p.m. on April 27 with the winner of the Lyman-Leesburg fray going against Apopka at 7:30 p.m.

Two winners and the runner-up will meet in the finals at 6:30 p.m. on Saturday, April 22.

It will be limited to members of the local golfing association and their husbands and guests with trophies and prizes being offered for team and singles scores.

There are 62 members in the Sanford Women's Golfing Association which helps to make it one of the best supported mixed golfing tournaments of the year.

Winners of the A, B, C and D Classes for this week were Marge Persons, Ada O'Neil, Mary Anderson and Mary Ann Williams tied for the C Class and Jane Hunter copped the title for the D group.

Ruth Kenney led the group of women golfers who restrict their play to nine holes.

Busy Weekend For Oviedo Nine

Titusville will be hosted by the Oviedo Lions today at 4 p.m. and Saturday the Lions will receive the Father Lopez Green Waves at 2 p.m. Both games will be at John Courier Field.

Today's game will be the Lions' first clash of the season with the Titusville Bulldogs. The Lions retired the Green Waves 10-0 on the 10-run rule last Saturday in their first clash.

Righthander Bob Sugre will be on the mound for Oviedo. Fugate started last Tuesday against the Florida Air Falcons but lost his control after being beaned by a hot one-hopper.

Randy Janson, Hank Tulp, and Fugate will be the Lions' biggest hitters. Both Janson and Tulp are batting over .300. Fugate, although inconsistent with his hitting, is the Lions' best long ball slugger.

Tomorrow's lineup for Oviedo will have Ted Janson in leftfield, Randy Janson in center, and Joe Patton in rightfield. Don Boyd will be at third, George Bradshaw at short, Hank Tulp at second, and Wally Jarnagan at first. Either Boyd or Johnny Smith will be behind the plate catching Fugate.

Steaks And Sportsmen Sat. Night

Delicious steaks, a good time, and a satisfying feeling that you've helped a worthy cause.

These are the sentiments of the Seminole County Sportsmen Association as they extend the invitation to their annual "Family Steak Dinner" to be held at the American Legion Hall on Highway 46 at the Wekiva River.

Festivities will get underway at 5 p.m.

Howard Hodges, association officer, said that all of the proceeds would be used for improving the facilities at the park. Everyone is invited, whether they are members or not.

"Some of the intangible benefits derived by all concerned will be seeing the fine Florida picnic facilities or the abundance of game and fishing, are the efforts and programs aimed at improved outdoors legislations, hunting and fishing licenses, gun restriction laws. These are but a few of the projects that the Seminole County Sportsmen Association has undertaken," added Hodges.

Is Estrada Ready For Majors Again?

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Chuck Estrada was perfect—and that might be just good enough to get him back into the major leagues.

The veteran right-hander retired all 12 men he faced Thursday night in the New York Mets' 2-1 10-inning victory over St. Louis at St. Petersburg, Fla.

Estrada, listed on the roster of the Mets' Williamsport farm club in the Eastern League, most likely will move up to the parent club on the basis of his fine showing.

The former member of the Baltimore Orioles and Chicago Cubs, who spent last season with Vancouver in the Pacific Coast League, didn't pitch this spring until two weeks ago because of a blister on his index finger. The Mets obtained him from Vancouver for about $20,000.

Estrada got the victory when Jerry Grote doubled home Jerry Buchek in the bottom of the 10th. Don Cardwell pitched the first six innings for New York, giving up three hits and striking out six. Bob Gibson yielded one run on five hits and struck out eight in going seven innings for St. Louis.

Woody Held's two-run double capped a three-run 10th-inning burst as Baltimore beat Minnesota 6-3 in a night game at Orlando, Fla., and the Chicago Cubs whipped the Chicago White Sox 8-4 under the lights at Arlington, Tex.

In day games, Washington outfumbled the New York Yankees but still won 5-2; California edged San Francisco 1-0; Atlanta slugged Houston 9-2; Boston topped Detroit 4-1; Kansas City trounced Philadelphia 11-3 and Cleveland routed Cincinnati 11-4.

SOKC Track Championship On The Line

Don Abernathy and Cecil Austin, still locked in a battle for the track championship, have entries in tonight's featured 11th race at the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club and the pups are co-favorites.

Austin holds a slight lead for most wins with just two weeks remaining. Running under the Austin colors tonight will be Tack Sue.

Expected to be the Abernathy kennel is Sandover.

Tack Sue is a 10-time winner this year while Sandover has scored eight times. Also in the field will be Flyer's Theobold, Loises Troubles, Marked Miss, H. F.'s Patty, Dirksen and L. G.'s Hector.

THREE MASTERS IN A ROW? - By Alan Maver

The Day Arnie Ended In The Mud

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Arnold Palmer went tromping through a muddy ditch. Jack Nicklaus floundered through woods and water. Billy Casper was bothered by the gusty, fickle winds.

But it was all clover for young Bert Yancey.

"It's a friendly course," the one-time West Point cadet said Thursday after forging a five-under par 67 and taking a three-stroke lead in the first round of the 31st Masters Golf Tourney.

"It's a lovely course," Yancey continued after playing his first competitive round over the lush, flowery Augusta National course. A week ago he hadn't even seen the 6,980-yard, par 72 layout.

"Terrible," said Palmer, the only four-time champ and co-favorite with Nicklaus in the pre-tourney picking, who shot a 73.

"Not good," said Nicklaus, who has won the last two Masters' titles and had a first-round 72.

"Difficult," said Casper, the reigning U.S. Open champion who recovered for a solid 70.

"I love it," said Yancey.

But they agreed on one thing — 28-year-old Bert had played himself quite a round.

"I thought I'd do well," said Yancey, whose gallery on the first few holes consisted almost entirely of his mother, his father and his wife.

Casper, two over par in the early going, rallied with birdies on 8, 12, 16 and 18 and gained a share of second place with surprising Downing Gray, an amateur from Memphis and Portland opens.

Palmer and Nicklaus were very critical of the course — but didn't offer it as an excuse. Palmer said the grass on the fairways was very deep "giving us a lot of grassy lies." Nicklaus made the same observation. "You can't put any spin on the ball," Jack said.

Both also complained of the wind, tricky, shifting and gusty.

Casper had even more trouble. He bogeyed the first hole when, on the backswing for his second shot, a spectator's hat blew to within a yard of the ball, he jumped and flubbed the shot.

He played in 11 tournaments, didn't win a cent and dropped out.

He rejoined the tour in 1964, but hadn't finished higher than 27th before winning the Azalea Open last year. He later added triumphs in the Memphis and Portland opens.

Birds, Bucs, In Series, Poll Reveals

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Baltimore and Pittsburgh in the 1967 World Series.

So say 138 sports writers and broadcasters in the Associated Press' annual pre-season poll. The Orioles were chosen on 83 ballots and the Pirates drew 85 first place votes.

On the basis of 10 points for a first place vote, nine for a second and so on, the Orioles had 300 points in the American League voting and the Pirates collected 1,209 in the National League count.

Minnesota was picked to finish second in the American League follow by Detroit, Chicago, Cleveland, California, New York, Kansas City, Boston and Washington.

San Francisco was figured to take second in the National League followed by Atlanta, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Los Angeles, Cincinnati, Houston, New York and Chicago.

Jerry Depoyster of Wyoming scored 71 points last season on 13 field goals and 32 conversions.

Hawks, Canucks Hold Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Chicago and Montreal, as expected, held 1-0 leads today following their opening games in best-of-7 Stanley Cup semifinal playoffs Thursday.

But it was a lot easier for the Black Hawks than the Canadiens.

Chicago, the National Hockey League's regular season champions, walloped Toronto 5-1 while Montreal staged a furious last-period rally and topped New York 6-4.

The Canadiens, defending Cup champions, lost New York in the second game of their series Saturday afternoon before a national television audience. Chicago and Toronto resume their series Sunday.

Denis DeJordy kicked out 42 Toronto shots and the Black Hawks got goals from Stan Mikita, the NHL scoring champ, sore-legged Bobby Hull, Pierre Pilote, Ken Wharram and Lou Angotti.

Hull, who served 52 goals during the regular season but missed the final three games with strained ligaments in his left knee, complained after the game that he felt "like a man of 90."

Frank Mahovlich and Jim Pappin hit for Toronto.

The Rangers held a 4-1 lead midway through the third period on a pair of goals by Rod Gilbert and one each by Boom Boom Geoffrion and Vic Hadfield.

But the Canadiens roared back. Claude Provost jammed a goal under Ed Giacomin from close in and less than a half minute later, J. C. Tremblay made it 4-3. Then John Ferguson's shot bounced off two Rangers and past Giacomin, tying the score.

Ralph Backstrom's second goal of the night put Montreal on top and Jean Beliveau wrapped it up with less than two minutes remaining.

"They just kept coming," said Emile Francis. "It's funny how a game can change so fast. We had control of it until the Canadiens got rolling. They were like a brush fire then."

During 1966 there were 218 new golf courses, reports the National Golf Foundation.

Raider Star Paces Florida JC Batsmen

Hard hitting third baseman for the Seminole Junior College Raiders, Larry Baker, leads the hitting department of all 16 junior college baseball teams in in the state.

Baker has collected 11 hits in 24 at bats for a .448 average and has one triple, one homer and seven RBIs to his credit, too.

The only other Seminole listed in the latest junior college baseball reports by the Florida Junior College Service Bureau is Tom Pulling with a .333. Pulling is eight for 24 and has knocked five runs in, all on single base knocks.

The overall team hitting percentages lists Seminole in sixth place with .245 but is in last place defensively, .818.

Ed Bravo of Miami-Dade Junior College is the slugging leader of the loop with seven HRs and 25 RBIs, plus a lofty .352 batting average.

Academy Shell Squad Wins

The Sanford Naval Academy shell squad stroked its way back into the victory ledger on the calm waters of Lake Monroe Wednesday at the expense of Javorek Winter Park.

The Midshipmen started at a 42 strokes per minute pace and 36 body strokes per minute, and finished with comparative ease at the finish and 40 strokes per minute. Coach Ensign Charles Hamm noted that the normal pace at the finish is around 30, but they had such a sizeable lead over their opponents, that the crew eased off.

The race was run over a one mile stretch directly in front of the Sanford Naval Academy, located on the banks of Lake Monroe.

The winning time for the varsity was 6 minutes and 16 seconds to Winter Park's 6 minutes and 25 seconds, permitting the local crew to win by the margin of three shells.

The Junior Varsity crew wasn't as fortunate as their more seasoned counterparts, dropping their contest to the Winter Park JV's by the times of 5.5 and 5:20. Coach Hamm noted that three of the members of this crew have recently joined the squad with little prior experience.

Women's Golf Title At Stake

OCALA (AP)—Miss Rhonda Glenn, a newspaper society writer, met school teacher Maureen Crum today for the title of the Florida State Women's Golf Tournament.

Miss Glenn, a staff writer on the West Palm Beach Post Times, defeated Cindy Meyers 4 and 3 Thursday to gain today's 36-hole championship match.

Miss Crum downed Linda Morris of Orlando 5 and 4 in Thursday's other semifinal.

Brown Hurls 1-Hitter As Casselberry Romps

Larry Brown hurled a one-hitter last night as the Casselberry Indians chalked-up a 6 to 0 victory over Longwood in Seminole Little League play at Cooper Field.

Brown, whose brother, James, pitched a no hitter Saturday, came within one out of duplicating the performance last night. The Casselberry right hander did not allow a hit until Eddy Beach rapped a double with two outs in the bottom of the sixth inning. Brown struck out 13 in the ballgame and walked five.

His teammates rapped seven hits and were aided by several Longwood errors. Catcher Dan Perry belted a homerun in the second inning, which remained the only score of the ballgame until the top of the sixth when the Indians exploded for five more runs. Phil Holder, Johnny McKay, and James Brown had hits in the big rally. Holder, McKay, J. Brown, Perry and Tom Bacchus scored the runs.

Larry Brown and battery mate Perry each had two hits in the game. Longwood pitcher Doug Sturgill pitched excellent ball for Longwood allowing just four hits in the first five innings.

In minor league play Longwood, rallied to win 6 to 5 over Casselberry. Bobby Dale Clark was the winning hurler for the Braves while Lee Smith took the loss for Casselberry. Both pitchers allowed only five hits in the ball game.

Women's Golf Assn. Sets Spouse Play

The Sanford Women's Golf Association revealed their preliminary plans for an upcoming mixed golfing tournament and also announced the names of the winners in their regular Wednesday event at the Mayfair Country Club.

Publicity director Mary Whelchel said that the association will hold the Annual Husband-Wife Singles and Doubles Tournament at the Mayfair on Sunday, April 23.

Youth Guidance Outlined For Church Women

By FRANCES WESTER

A program on Career Guidance For Youth, with guest speaker Chester Davidson, was given at the United Presbyterian Churchwomen Association meeting in the educational building of the Community Presbyterian Church, Lake Mary.

Davidson is vocational guidance counsellor at Sanford Junior High School. He also has worked as vocational aide at the First Presbyterian Church in Sanford, where he is a member.

Davidson pointed out that adults must become disturbed about the actions of the young people today. "They are bewildered," he said, "and most of them do not know what they would like to plan as their career. This is where vocational education plays its part. We must start at home, then in school and church, to search the souls of these youth to find a program suited for them.

"The church must take up the slack between home and school and help the young people by teaching them how to live and plan their lives for the future."

He continued, "There is a great demand for trained personnel in all types of careers. The well-trained person is more suited for positions than the untrained."

Davidson explained that vocational education works in three areas: the mental capacity of a youth, or intelligence; his aptitude, or what he can do best; and the area in which his interests are the greatest. From these findings the counsellor can guide the youth in the career field best suited for him.

It is hoped there will be some interested people in the local church who will be able to attend a workshop to be held at the new Presbyterian College in St. Petersburg in expectation of starting a vocational educational program in the Lake Mary church.

A short business session followed. Members were reminded April 8 is the date for the Spring Presbyterial Meeting.

The next association meeting will be April 25 in the educational building, with a program of reports given by the department heads, world, service, fellowship, and program.

The meeting adjourned with the Fellowship Circle and Mizpah benediction.

Members present were Margaret Ulmer, Verlie Crocker, Lena Gleason, Arolyn True, Mildred Donaldson, Geneva Cochran, Phyllis Rugenstein, Libby Smathers, Mildred Sandusky, Grace Jenkins, Fannie Leffler and guest Florence Cotterman, Betty Freeman, Nanearle Stevens, and Kay Sassman.

Men attending were Rev. Alec Stevens, Tom Freeman, Arnold Omey, Ben Jenkins, Homer Gleason and Robert Brown.

J. David Pratt To Get Degree

Rev. J. David Pratt, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Pratt Sr., of Altamonte Springs, has qualified for his Bachelor of Divinity Degree from Emory University in Atlanta at the end of the winter quarter. The degree will be formally awarded at June commencement exercises.

Pratt is pastor of the Methodist Church in Evensville, Tenn., where he lives with his wife, Gay.

Deltona Church Plans Christian College Day

By MILDRED HANEY

United Church of Deltona will observe "National Christian College Day" at the 11 a.m. worship service Sunday at the Deltona Community Center on Lake Monroe.

Rev. George B. Owen, pastor, will deliver the sermon on the theme "Light for Minds and Souls."

Welcoming committee will be Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Grandy. Ushers are to be George Murphy and Leroy Kittredge. House committee for April is William Koopmans, Ole Olson, Jacob McLain and Philip Peters.

A meeting of the Church Council has been announced by Rev. Owen for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday. The Administrative Facilities Committee of the church building program will meet at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland Ashman, 1435 Stillwater Avenue.

United Church of Deltona is a local congregation of the United Church of Christ, a denomination resulting from the union of former Congregational Christian Churches and the Evangelical and Reformed Church. Newcomers and visitors in the area are welcomed.

Student Tutors Get Acquainted With 18 Pupils

By JANE CASSELBERRY

Volunteer student tutors held their initial get-acquainted session with 18 pupils chosen for tutoring at Longwood School as Community Action's tutorial assistance program got underway.

Glenn Humes Jr., director, of TAP, said that the 18 tutors, 14 from Lyman High School and four from Seminole Junior College, were enthusiastic following their first experience in this person-to-person program.

Humes said that as far as he knows, Seminole County is the only place utilizing high school students in the program, in addition to college students.

A lot of effort has gone into matching the tutors with the students. In one case, the daughter of a hearing specialist interested in that field was placed with a youngster who has a hearing problem and in another case, a partially blind child was matched with a tutor with a sight problem.

Tutors have volunteered for the eight-week program from Lyman, Seminole, Crooms and Oviedo High Schools and Seminole Junior College.

Tutoring sessions have been scheduled for Rosenwald, Midway and Southside on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons, and Longwood, Pinecrest, and Goldsboro on Monday and Wednesday. Assignments for Booker-town, Monroe-Wilson, Jackson Heights, Oviedo, West Side, and Hopper should be completed by the end of this week.

Adults have been recruited to serve as co-ordinators and help transport tutors to the tutoring centers. The program has been set up to aid elementary school pupils referred by their teachers as needing extra assistance to help them achieve at the level of which they are capable and to spark a desire to learn.

School Roundup At Pine Crest

Pre-school round up will be held at Pine Crest School on April 14, at 1:30 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Principal R. R. Heckenbach asks parents who have children who will be six on or before Jan. 1 to bring birth certificate for registration.

Mrs. Jackson, county health nurse, will be present to answer any questions about the physical examination that is required of all first grade children before entering school. Children will be given a tour of the first grade rooms, a bus ride, and treated to refreshments in the lunch room.

Fla. Tech Area Planning Outlined

Planning to guide the growth and development of the critical area in Seminole County which lies north of Florida Technological University was explained to the Sanford-Seminole Jaycees at their weekly meeting in the Civic Center by Jack Goodin, county planner for Seminole County yesterday. Using the Big and Little Econlockhatchee Rivers as natural buffers these plans would promote development of 350 acres for sophisticated industrial use (such as IBM research laboratories) and yet give FTU the one-quarter mile barrier which would prevent misuse by industry of adjacent land.

Goodin spoke of this as part of major long-range planning for the entire county. But he emphasized that FTU would be a major factor in the growth of Seminole County although the University is located in Orange County but near the Seminole County line. And it is to control such predictable expansions that it is his office's concern. Planning, he made quite clear, was not a governmental action agency. It's basic objective is to keep the citizens informed and advise officials.

His audience of young Sanford business and professional men were told that they would have a great opportunity to play key roles in the next 25 years. Goodin quoted reliable estimates of the growth of Seminole County from its present population, of 80,000 to 360,000 in 1992. And to drive home that that this period is not as long as it sounds he reminded the Jaycees that Pearl Harbor happened just a little more than 25 years ago.

Using a series of charts the Seminole Planner showed the factors which must be taken into consideration when looking ahead in the probable growth of a county. Urban centers, agricultural areas, and roadways were all on the maps.

But of all these factors Goodin placed thoroughfares as the top priority. And he said that some of the roads could be started within the next six months if the County Commissioners so decided. Asked about the provision for public parks, Goodin pointed to two areas that looked good for such locations. One would be at Big Tree Park, west of 17-92 and the other at the spot where the Big Econ and the Little Econ rivers meet.

PTO Stresses 'Americanism'

"Revive the spirit of Americanism," urged Dr. Luis Perez at West Side-Grammar School PTO meeting. He called upon parents, teachers and students to be good citizens, to enjoy the freedoms of their democracy and to assume the responsibilities of maintaining that democratic government.

Dr. Perez was the main speaker for an "I Speak for Democracy" program. Student winners from each fifth and sixth grade class gave speeches they had written for a class assignment. Jim Feldmeyer, Debra Griner, Johnette Howell, John McLellan, Larry Turner and Cyndy Watt were the student speakers.

Judges Mrs. Elizabeth O. Young, West Side-Grammar School teacher, and Charles W. Warner, junior high school teacher, chose a first and second place winner. Jim Feldmeyer won a $3 prize for his first place essay and Cyndy Watt won a $2 prize for second place.

A brief PTO business meeting preceded the program. Caren Gager announced that all PTO projects had been completed. Two overhead fans have been installed in the auditorium of the Grammar building. Additional silverware and glasses have been purchased for the cafeterias. Mrs. Frances Walton, principal, added that the new overhead projectors and projector stands are now in use in both Grammar and West Side buildings.

Kenneth Echols, fifth grade teacher and chairman of the nominating committee, announced that the slate of officers for next year is Caren Gager for president, William Pixler for vice president, Mrs. Mildred Nicholas as treasurer and Mrs. Carol Goodermote for secretary.

The PTO Spring Festival will be April 22. Committee chairmen Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Smith are still looking for volunteers to build and decorate booths.

Stamps To Aid Area Census

Some family living within the city limits of Casselberry will receive 5,000 top value trading stamps during the current census being made in preparation for publication of a new city directory.

The project is being conducted under sponsorship of the Police and Volunteer Fire Departments with Police Chief Ken Triplett and Fire Chief Paul Bates as co-chairmen. Card of the family receiving the stamps will be selected from among those turned in during the census.

Additional cards may be obtained at police headquarters if those sent to the home are lost or misplaced. There is no charge for the cards or listing in the directory to any family living within the municipal limits of Casselberry.

Deadline to obtain listing has been announced for April 15.

Hair Hats For Fun Nights

AURELIEN LINTERMANS BELIEVES a woman's hair should be styled to suit her face and personality. He cuts hair dry, blunt to give body and always with scissors . . . a razor splits the ends. Cruisewear Fashion News

NEW YORK (NEA) — One theme runs throughout the fashion picture for '67 — color.

There are colorful prints, colorful woven stripes and novelty woven patterns that catch the eye with their bold brilliant geometrics.

Emphasis is on the wild, exotic prints in primary colorings such as orange, yellow and turquoise and on woven stripes in multicolors of blue, purple, red, chartreuse and white. And the many faces of cotton reflect this theme.

American designers are showing clothes for winter vacations that make the most of these imaginative harmonies. Sun dresses in lustrous stripes are architecturally styled with halter necklines and body-free A-line silhouettes. Skirts are shown short and emphasis is on simplicity of cut.

For sun and patio fashions, new interest is achieved by novel sleeve treatments. A slim sun-and-date frock shown in one of the current collections features only one sleeve, worn long and full. The dress is simply cut, the one full sleeve contrasting with the tiny silhouette. Made in cotton satin, printed in all-over design in red, gold, green and black, the dress is a timely statement of contemporary fashion.

Dotted swiss, once considered the most delicate and feminine of cottons, goes native this year with Indian-inspired prints in brilliant colors. In this new guise dotted swiss fashions vacation day dresses cut classically simple in order to show off the prints to eye-catching advantage.

FOR WARM WEATHER fashioning, Court Jester shows this dress in dotted swiss printed in vivid Indian-inspired motifs dramatically colored in orange, purple, yellow and turquoise. To show the print to advantage, style lines are kept to a minimum.

Rice takes on extra savor when it is cooked in well-seasoned chicken stock instead of water.

Know Your Travel Manners For A More Enjoyable Trip

Each year travel becomes a more important element in our way of life. Whether it's everyday moving about in an automobile or a once-in-a-lifetime trip on a cruise ship, we all need to know how to handle with grace the various situations that are peculiar to a particular method of transportation.

About train travel: On a train the conductor — the employee who checks tickets, changes accommodations, gives information, and handles emergencies—is addressed as "Conductor." A tip is never offered him.

Porters (addressed "Porter") help with baggage, make up berths, and provide other services for passengers in parlor cars, sleepers, and sleeper coaches. Other coaches usually do not have porter services. Porters are usually tipped $1 for an overnight trip or more for a longer one, depending on the amount of extra services.

Train stewardesses (addressed "Stewardess") perform special services for women and children; for a day's travel or overnight, their gratuity should be $1 or more.

Dining-car and club-car stewards are addressed "Steward." In the dining car the waiter's tip should be not less than 15 per cent of the total bill. On short trips passengers rarely talk to strangers at the same dining-car table. On long trips, passengers in the dining car and club car usually exchange amenities.

For a surprise addition, add diced candied fruit to a casserole of mashed sweet potatoes. Good served with ham.

Mrs. O. E. White Hosts Daughters Class Meeting

The Daughters of Wesley Sunday School class met at the home of Mrs. O. E. White on Myrtle Avenue Monday afternoon, with Mrs. P. A. Rowland, Mrs. D. M. Paul, Mrs. Chester Daniels, Mrs. Lloyd Athow, Mrs. Harry Brown and Mrs. White as hostesses.

The large party room held arrangements of Amaryllis in variegated colors and also an arrangement of yellow Snapdragons and Belles-of-Ireland.

Mrs. Paul gave a devotion, using "Faith" as her theme. Her talk was followed by prayer by Mrs. R. F. Cole, class teacher.

Mrs. C. J. Meriwether presided over the business session with routine reports given by all committee chairmen.

Mrs. Athow made a donation to the birthday bank.

The hostesses served cake, coffee, nuts and mints to the 24 members present.

Miss Gail Hoffman Engaged

Lt. Col. and Mrs. George A. Hoffman, 111 Parkview Drive, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Miss Gail Ann Hoffman, to James Alan Buckman, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Buckman, of Orlando.

The bride-elect was born in Chincoteague, Va. She is a 1966 graduate of Seminole High School, where she was a cheerleader, senior class secretary, senior superlative, and a member of Anchor Club and Tri-Hi-Y Club.

She presently is attending Seminole Junior College as an English major. Miss Hoffman is cheerleader captain and Student Government secretary there.

Mr. Buckman was born in Rochester, N. Y., and was graduated from Colonial High School, Orlando, in 1966. While there, he was a member of the Key Club, basketball team and swimming team. He attends Seminole Junior College and his activities include basketball and Circle K. Mr. Buckman is majoring in Physical Education.

Complete wedding details will be announced at a later date.

African Make-Up Fantasies

By PATRICIA KING
Beauty Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK — (NEA)—"Of course, matching party moods and fashions is only for fun. No one could really take it seriously," says Mr. Gill, the young international make-up artist who has put Africa on the make-up scene.

The idea was conceived in Florence, the heart of artistic Europe, by the African print fashion collections of Pucci, Tiziani and Princess Luciana Pignatelli.

If you have a longing for an interpretation of the "Watusi" image, the "A Zomba" look is what you've been waiting for. Remember, it was created exclusively for Pauccl's runway models, for the sole purpose of helping to sell his clothes.

To achieve this mysterious glow, Gil applied a gold bronze ultraluscent base with a natural pastel glow (blusher). For the lips, he used beige lip gloss outlined with gray-black eyebrow pencil. His highlight was the black and white-striped eyebrows. This happens with misty white eyeshadow and gray eyeline pencil. The look is carried through with black eyeliner.

If you're planning to do yourself a la "A Zomba," avoid El Morocco, famed New York bistro. You'd only fade into the zebra-striped upholstery.

FROM HIS SHOP in Rome's famous Via Condotti, Mr. Gil of Max Factor put Africa on the make-up scene. His latest designs and trends were revealed to introduce the uninhibited exotic African prints of the Pucci fashions in Florence. Note the detail of the zebra striped eyebrow above.

"Africa," an exclusive for Tiziani, features the wide, pouty mouth with blackshadowed round eyes. If you want this look don't worry about getting eight hours sleep a night.

"Wahinili," for Princess Luciana Pignatelli has the characteristics of "Africa" but slightly lighter and with colors that exist in a jungle atmosphere . . . bamboo-green and yellow-chartreuse.

These are only make-up fantasies. Gil believes in the "light, natural look for daytime." He sees a shine on the lips but little color and feels the most natural eyeshadows are the browns and grays.

"Real beauty is old-fashioned," he exclaimed. "The fashionable woman is the one without the 'perfect' face, such as Sophia Loren and Jacqueline Kennedy. They do not have flawless features; therefore, they add a certain mystery to their type of beauty."

'Hope Chest' Of Happiness

The role of money in a marriage is spidery. We'll leave the analysis of its overall impact upon how the marital web turns out to the psychoanalysts and marriage counselors. In its place will be some tips on setting up a financial hope chest—one of the slickest ways a woman can plan ahead.

Most couples learn, often too late, how much a few dollars in the bank could have helped them set up a new home.

Since this is spring and the season traditionally renews the hope of a wedding, the alert young working woman is wise to review her money status. If she has some notion of how to handle her money, it is a head start on a certain phase of domestic tranquility.

At least 82 per cent of those in the 16-19 age group have savings accounts, according to a Gilbert Marketing Group study. Another study by the Opinion Research Corporation for the Foundation of Commercial Banks shows that 28 per cent in the 18-21 age group have checking accounts.

Fifty-eight per cent of those 21-34 have a checking account.

This should indicate that three young people know some thing about handling their income — from salary or allowances. But, do they?? For example, a newly married couple recently had checks bouncing like a four-walled handball game.

It seems both were writing checks from a joint checking account and neither was filling in the check stubs.

This is why it is important to have a working knowledge of how to handle a checking account. A woman should know how to write a check properly, how to reconcile a bank statement.

Ideally, every prospective bride is stashing a few dollars into a savings account, which pays interest, to help pay for many prewedding and post-wedding purchases. The couple may decide that this amount makes a good emergency fund. Whatever the decision, start now to shop for a savings account with a bank that offers the most in interest rates and ask how they are compounded. For example, four per cent compounded quarterly will eventually make more money for your money than four per cent compounded annually.

Another thing to check is whether there are "days of grace" for withdrawing your money without losing interest for that period.

With finances becoming so complicated, a course on personal or family finance at the local YWCA or union hall is worth the hour or two a week it takes. Speakers from local banks, savings and loan associations and merchants explain the ins and outs of all areas of finance.

Saute a duck liver in butter, then chop fine and add to liver spread to use for canapes.

Calorie Trimming?

If one of your resolutions has you trimming your calories, consider the low-calorie content of variety meats, to help make the diet interesting.

Three and one-half ounces of cooked beef heart or kidney or liver (or pork liver) yield less than 200 calories, but they give a big nutrition wallop in the form of protein, vitamins and minerals.

Using grenadine syrup as a glaze for baked ham adds a rosy glow. Angostura bitters, used the same way, also adds ruddy color.

Beta Sigma Phi Council Sets Founders Day Event

Sanford City Council of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority held the monthly meeting April 3, in the Caucus Room of First Federal Savings and Loan.

The meeting was called to order by Council president, Mrs. Jan Cahill. The new representatives from the several chapters were introduced to the Council. These representatives will be the members of the Council for next year. A special meeting of the Council for election of next year's officers is set for April 17.

More discussion was held on the Joint Founder's Day Luncheon to be held at the Lookout on April 29 at noon. Honors and Awards will be presented by the chapters to their deserving members. The Girl of the Year awards also will be announced at the luncheon.

Convention information was made available to all chapters. The convention this year will be June 2-4.

The meeting was adjourned with members repeating the Closing Ritual.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a 15-year-old girl with a problem. It is my 24-year-old sister who considers herself "independent." She has her own apartment and her own car, which my parents pay for. She lives in the same city as we do, and teaches school.

When she comes home for a visit, she walks in unannounced and goes right into our refrigerator and helps herself to anything she wants.

Don't you think she should wait to be offered something to eat? Or should she just barge right in and take over just as if she were still living there? After all, we do not support her any more.

SEEING RED

DEAR SEEING RED: You may be "seeing red"—but I am "seeing green." What do you mean, "WE don't support her any more?" Your sister apparently still feels very much at home. And until and unless your parents inform her otherwise, I see no reason for her to wait until she is offered something to eat. (What's eating YOU?)

* * *

DEAR ABBY: The blabbermouth who worked for a loan company isn't the only one who uses confidential information picked up at work to entertain her friends.

I heard tell there are several Gray Ladies (or whatever you call those do-gooders) who are only too happy to do volunteer work in a hospital in exchange for a free lunch and all the snoop they can do in a few hours. They claim they have access to the patient's charts, which tells how Mrs. So and So is, and also the details of what ails her.

When women volunteer to work at a hospital, someone ought to be there with a yardstick to measure their tongues.

GEORGIA ON MY MIND

DEAR GEORGIA: There are exceptions among professionals as well as volunteers, but generally speaking, people who elect to serve are unselfishly motivated, and know how to keep their mouths shut.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am always pleased when you encourage mothers to build the kind of relationships with their daughters that will enable them to have good frank talks. DON'T QUIT, Abby. It is so important.

I work for an adoption agency, and until parents realize that "going steady" usually leads to going "all the way" we will continue to do a booming baby business.

At least 95 per cent of our girls are pregnant by their "steadies."

I wish every parent who has a daughter "going steady" could sit beside me for one day and hear all the misery and heartache reflected in the conversations with girls who are giving up their babies.

Jacoby On Bridge

Jacoby and Son

A letter from El Paso, Texas asks: "Does the correct play always win?" Don't experts ever take a losing finesse?"

The answer to that is that experts frequently take losing finesse. Sometimes they have no choice. If you have to finesse for a king you only have one way to go. Other times they go wrong just as everyone else does and on some occasions they deliberately finesse in a certain direction to make sure that the dangerous hand does not get in the lead.

West opens the seven of spades against South's three no-trump contract. East plays the jack and South holds back his king. East continues with the ace and another spade and South is in with the king.

He has two ways to finesse for the queen of diamonds. You can see that queen repposing quietly in the West hand and can see that if South plays the king of diamonds and continues the ten he will take the rest of the tricks and won't even have to finesse at all. The queen will show up when he leads the ten.

Our expert would also lose his membership in the expert's union if he made that play. The reason is that he does not know where the queen of diamonds is but he does know where the rest of the spades are. If he plays that way and East holds the queen he goes down at three no-trump.

If he leads a club to dummy, plays any diamond but the ace and finesses his ten, he is going to lose to the queen this time but he makes his contract irrespective of where the queen is.

We The Women:

By BETTY CANARY

Now I ask you. What is this bit about students grading their teachers? I mean, where is this going to lead?

It isn't that I'm completely preteacher mind you, at least, not any more than I am anti-child. Who I am trying to protect is ME.

The thing is, if this catches on (and they are really trying it in some schools) everyone knows that after teachers come parents.

I have already earned an "F" in "Always Has Pants Pressed for School." But at least now, when I'm frantically ironing clothes before breakfast all my kids do is line up and glare. I don't know if I can take them standing there with charts.

Of course, I'm not the only one who would get an "F." My friend Stacey would get a very bad grade in "Lunch Box preparations," because I know for a fact she gave her kids the same kind of sandwiches twice last week. And the poor things had to open them in front of everybody. Another friend would make low marks for the opposite reason. Her boys only like peanut butter and jelly and heaven help her if she tries to slip in an egg salad or salami once in awhile.

The possibilities of this kind of child-power really gets to me, so I'm busy building my defenses. Already I'm tossing little tidbits out to the kids—just to show them that after all, chocolate cupcakes for dessert every single night isn't EVERYTHING.

Just this morning, for example, when Stu was whining around because I had forgotten to buy him new shoelaces, I said, quick as a wink, "You'd better not eat any leaves off a pear tree because they are FULL of hydrocyanic acid!"

"Gee, mom, I just can't tie these anymore!" he snuffled.

"Listen, Stu," I confided, "the jimson weed is considered responsible for more poisonings than any other plant in the U. S."

"For gosh sakes, mom! So what?"

"Honey," I said, "Mother is just trying to point out that being safe in the midst of all these hazards is more important than new shoestrings. And mother can protect you."

"Do you know any more?"

"More what," I asked.

"Poisonous weeds."

"Oh, sure!" I said. "Castor bean plants and poinsettia leaves, and . . . ."

"Well, look, mom," he said "If I promise not to eat any of THOSE, will you promise to get me some shoestrings?"

What I'm going to do is start grading THEM. But, should I give Stu an "S" in "Sarcasm" —or "A" for "Smart Aleck?"

POLLY'S PROBLEM

DEAR POLLY—How can I wash my soiled dust mop in the automatic washer without doing a washing for it alone?—A CONSTANT READER

DEAR POLLY—I cover the head of my dust mop with an old nylon stocking before washing it in the machine with my scatter rugs. The stocking collects the lint from the mop and keeps it off the rugs during the wash.—E. K.

GIRLS—How is that for promptness? This seems to be dust mop day.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY—To save having to wash it so often I use a yard square of hemmed white flannel over my dust mop. I tie this, crosswise by the corners, over the mop head with one fairly loose knot for each two corners. When this cloth is full of lint, I take it off and dip it up and down in a pail of warm water, wring it out as dry as possible and hang it near the heat to dry. It can be used this way a few more times before receiving a thorough washing. This also eliminates the untidy habit of flopping a linty mop outside to clean it. I keep several of these squares on hand to avoid breathing in dust and dirt from a linty dry mop.—L. S.

DEAR POLLY—There was a big snow on the day we had invited 20 people for dinner. I had each person place his boots in the bathtub and hang his coat on a hanger on the shower bar. Children's wet gloves and scarves were hung on folding shirt hangers over the rod and all the dripping went into the tub. When they had all left I cleaned up by rinsing out the tub. I have continued to use this idea and thought mothers of small children might find it handy since they make so many trips in and out of the house.—MARIE

DEAR POLLY—I am writing in answer to Mrs. R. T. who wanted to know how to restore dull, dingy-looking, gold-finished frames. Moisten a pad of cheesecloth with a solution of equal parts of ammonia and denatured alcohol. Do small areas at the time, using as little pressure as possible. DO NOT RUB. Use a dry pad to take up the soil and proceed to the next area.—MARY

DEAR GIRLS—I found that dirt and grime came off on the dampened cloth, so it was necessary to keep refolding it. The dry piece was used to blot it dry.—POLLY

Out For L. A.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors wants the 1968 Democratic National Convention to be staged in Los Angeles.

But, Rep. Thomas M. Rees (D-Calif.) wrote Wednesday:

"Please tell the board of supervisors that after viewing the 1966 spectacle, I will do everything possible to keep the Democratic convention out of Los Angeles.

"I am in favor of Bangor, Maine, or Key West, Fla., or maybe even some place in Puerto Rico."

Beauty after Forty

by Edyth Thornton McLeod

I've just met a man who has such interesting ideas as to what "young mature" women should wear. He is a well-known designer—one of the American creative artists who have made an indelible mark on the fashion world.

I saw some of his collections in an intimate showing. A lady sitting next to me said, "I hope you think I can wear some of these creations. You see, I'm an after-40 and I'm planning to go on a cruise very soon. . . ." I agreed that she could and that the attractive tops and, yes, the beautifully shaped pants would be right for her. After the showing, I decided I wanted to meet the designer, Joseph Ferrelli, and here are some of the interesting things he told me:

"Mature women should wear flattering things, conservative but beautiful. That is my standard in designing Manhasset casuals, pants and pant-tops. The tops are designed extra long so that women with hip problems are 'covered.' Also, the longer length gives a graceful silhouette and goes well with a skirt."

Handsome and an excellent conversationalist, Joseph Ferrelli was born and bred in New England; his background is Anglo-Italian and he is a graduate of that truly magnificent school, "The Rhode Island School of Design." Ferrelli is not only a designer but an artist as well. He designs his own materials; he mixes his own colors and they are a delight. All of his prints are of his own design and made up exclusively for his own creations.

Joseph Ferrelli truly has a feeling for the correct "fashion setting" for the after-40 woman. His creations can be worn by women of any age but they are so suitable for the mature woman who wishes to be in modern style.

One of his "tops" had a curved hipline which I thought most flattering. Our designer feels that women should be colorful when dressed in casuals and if pants are well-cut and well-designed, women look wonderful in them. But they must be on the slender side. It behooves mature women—with all the cruises and the importance of so much casual living today—to learn to wear the proper casual clothes. Ferrelli's creations are certainly ideal.

Like so many New York people, he lives in Connecticut and often invites guests on weekends to enjoy his charming home. He has a pretty wife and three attractive children, two girls and a boy. When it snows they all slide down those Connecticut hills on big metal trays. A youthful family with a youthful spirit.

Ferrelli says, "Family life is warm, homy and fun but I love every day in the world of fashion."

Highlights

TV Time Previews

7:30-8:30 p.m. (CBS) The Wild, Wild West. (Color). Guest star Michael Dunn is back for the eighth time in his Dr. Loveless role to give West and Gordon headaches. They have been assigned to investigate a string of robberies, little knowing their miniature evil genius enemy is the mastermind of the crimes. To make it all the more harder for the two heroes, none of the money stolen has been put back into circulation.

7:30-8:30 p.m. (NBC) Tarzan. "Algie B. For Brave." (Color). This series draws top-notch guest stars and tonight it is Maurice Evans coming back for the second time. He is on a British intelligence mission in the jungle to search for nuclear detection devices which have been put there by unfriendly Eastern powers. There he finds his great nephew living in a jungle settlement after his father was killed executing the same mission on which Evans was sent.

8:30-9:30 p.m. (CBS) Hogan's Heroes. (Color). Colonel Klink believes there's a maniac in the Stalag who is out to murder him, so he gets Hogan to masquerade as the Colonel while he goes into hiding. Naturally you know this is just what Hogan wants, so he can get an allied agent out of the camp. But he didn't figure on the Gestapo.

8:30-9:30 p.m. (NBC) The Man From U.N.C.L.E. "The Five Daughters Affair." (Part II). (Color). The conclusion of this two-parter has Illya and Napoleon being captured in Tokyo and, after escaping, making a mad dash to the Orient to stop The Thrush plot turn sea water into gold. Terry-Thomas, Jill Ireland, Telly Savalas, Diane McBain and Curt Jurgens appear in cameo roles in this one.

9-11 p.m. (CBS) The CBS Friday Night Movie. "The Long Ships." (Color). This film pits the Vikings, led by Richard Widmark, against the Moors, headed by Sidney Poitier, in a search for a legendary long-lost solid gold ball known as the "Mother of Voices." The Vikings are in the race just for the booty, while the Moors want to get the ball to avenge their ancestors. Not even Maxwell Smart would ask you to believe this one.

9:30-10 p.m. (NBC) T.H.E. Cat. "The Sandman." (Color). (Rerun. Cats offers to protect his old friend Emil "The Sandman" Sanderson (Lee Bergere), an aging jewel thief who plans to steal a priceless emerald.

'A Funny Thing...' A Hit

PHIL SILVERS, as a "harem queen," stars in "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum," opening Sunday at the Movieland Drive-In Theatre.

LEE REMICK stars as Lola in the NBC two-hour production of "Damn Yankees" Saturday night.

Two features, both adult entertainment, have their first Sanford showing at the Movieland Drive-In Theatre starting Sunday. "A Funny Thing Happened on the way to the Forum" and "A Thousand Clowns."

Phil Silvers and Zero Mostel star in "A Funny Thing. . ." and Jason Robards in "A Thousand Clowns."

Also in their first Sanford showing are two features starting Thursday, Annette and Fabian in "Thunder Alley" and Marlon Brando in "The Appaloosa."

If you were to go only by the billing of the Melvin Frank comedy spectacle, "A Funny Thing Happened on The Way To The Forum," you'd get the impression that there are no women in it.

Perish the thought!

There are a whole slough of them—slave girls, houris, levelies, dovies—and, depending upon which way you look, they're just as much of an adjunct to the famous Burt Shevelove-Larry Gelbart book which made Harold S. Prince's stage production of the story such a tremendous Broadway hit, as the gentlemen of the ensemble who are Zero Mostel, Phil Silvers, Jack Gilford and Buster Keaton. Only they don't get any advertising credits.

They include Leila Bridou and Myrna White, both from the Broadway hit; Helen Funai, a set of twins—Jennifer and Susan Baker, Inga Neilsen, a nearly six-foot-tall nordic blonde who plays the role of Gymnasia, "a woman who speaks only with her body," and the proverbial others, others, others who, we are told, make the film just as rewarding to the eye as it is to the ear.

The latter include Annette Andre, Patricia Jessel and Janet Webb.

WHOOPING CRANES are on their 2,500-mile migration from their Arkansas wildlife refuge, across the great plains and into northern Alberta, Canada. The federally protected birds are watched closely by wildlife officials, who figure only 43 remain. That's an increase of eight, however, since 1962. (NEA Telephoto)

High Wire Vs. High Flying

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — The last of the Flying Wallendas has rejected the high wire for a career of high flying.

"I'm going to be a parachute jumper in the airborne division," Steve Wallenda, 17, said Tuesday. "That will be my life's work from now on.

"My father didn't want me to be hurt on wires like so many in our family. I respect his wishes."

Four members of the Wallenda troupe than Steve's Uncle Karl brought to the United States from Germany in the 1926 have been killed and there have been numerous injuries.

Steven, en route to Ft. Lewis, Wash., for Army training, said he looked forward to parachute jumping.

All Not Well In Wells, B. C.

WELLS, B. C. (AP) — All is not well in Wells. Most of the town is up for sale.

For the purchaser, however, there's an estimated $80,000 in gold in addition to a hospital, 35 homes and other buildings and machinery.

The gold is to be had for the digging—in cracks in floors, in debris in a mine and embedded in the dirt around the mine.

It has been lost in 24 years of operations during which Cariboo Gold Quartz Mines Ltd. has produced more than $21 million produced more than $21 million

The company says the cost of mining almost equals the fixed price of gold so it has decided to shut down its operation and sell its property here.

Heart Fund

Mrs. Marian Braddock, Enterprise chairman for the Heart Fund, and her workers, will be calling upon residents of the area for contributions as Sunday has been designated "Heart Fund Sunday" in the area. Those who are not contacted should call Mrs. Braddock.

The United States imported nearly all of its silver before the discovery of the Comstock Lode in 1859.

Planning a big shindig? Forget the drudgery and let OTTO'S HOF BRAHAUS do it—cater your party, that is.

OTTO'S HOF BRAHAUS has all the facilities for handling a cozy twosome to the most elaborate of banquets and will plan the whole works for you.

Join the crowds during the cocktail hour, 4-7 p. m. daily, where your favorite drinks are served at a minimum price and to top it all, you can feast on free German hors d'oeuvres. Light and dark Lowenbrau beer are on tap with your favorite bottled brands also available.

Appearing nightly at the fashionable restaurant are BOB LEHMAN and RAJAH HAUPERT, who provide exceptional musical entertainment for the patrons.

Luncheon is served daily and quality American dishes are prepared at all times as well as authentic German foods.

TRADE WINDS CAFETERIA makes every meal a special occasion. The variety of tempting and attractive fare will make the most fastidious diner sit up and take notice.

The entire family can dine elegantly at the relaxing cafeteria in a cool and comfortable atmosphere where service is prompt and efficient and special facilities are available for the kiddies.

For the budget-minded, you can stay well within your budget, have an evening of relaxation and enjoy delicious food all at the same time at the TRADE WINDS.

It's a fiesta daily and nightly at the charming FIESTA RESTAURANT AND COCKTAIL LOUNGE where good food, good drink and good fun combine to spell gaiety at the quaint spot. luncheon is served daily and the house specialty, sizzling KC Steak, continues to be the talk of the town.

CARL is still appearing nightly in the lounge with your favorite music played upon request during the dinner hour and until closing time.

Hostess NINA welcomes all patrons with warmth and hospitality to the popular restaurant and lounge.

MAXINE at PINECREST INN is keeping the ovens at just the right temperature for home baked goodies which are as close to your dining table as your phone. Just call Maxine—in advance of course—and she'll whip up your favorite delicacy from the freshest of ingredients.

If you're in the usual rush, phone in your luncheon or dinner order and take advantage of the drive-in walk-up window.

If you're an early bird or a night owl, you'll find PINECREST INN serves meals to order around the clock—whether it's sandwich or fancy dinner. Friday nights is Fish night and Monday is Chicken night—all you can eat on both occasions for a low, low price.

MAXINE is emphatic that all vegetables served at the Inn are garden fresh and fit for royalty. Don't take our word—see for yourself.

Ever hear of a customized hamburger? Just consult MR. SANDWICH, PLACE and the staff at A&W ROOT BEER DRIVE-IN and they'll put you "hep."

If you're not in the mood for a burger, name your favorite sandwich and the fixin's you like, and it will be custom prepared—just for you.

Add an order of crispy French Fries, an ice cold root beer, always served in a frosted glass, and friends you're "in." Dine a la car or go festive on the cool, shaded patio.

For the unexpected crowd who enjoy your home, but catch you with a bare cupboard, A & W will prepare your favorite foods for the gang. They will be wrapped in aluminum foil and guests will be more pleased than if the goodies came from your own grill. As for you—you're a wise one indeed!

So you finally tried the sumptious Buffet at the TROPHY? Now, didn't we tell you it's the most?

For those who haven't, LEON WALKER has initiated the newest and most convenient food service available in the area and it is on U. . ame ar as ANY within a 40 mile radius, but at less than half the price.

Beginning at 5:30 p. m. daily, you are invited to serve yourself to a vast array of exciting foods and the beauty is, keep filling your plate 'til you're full. The Buffet continues until 10:30 p. m., after which time, dancing begins.

The noon salad bar opens at 11:30 a. m., is similar to the evening Buffet and for the working clan or shoppers in a hurry, there's just nothing like it. You're in, enjoy a delightful luncheon and are on your merry way in nothing flat. Check this out also.

Your favorite drinks are blended in the cozy lounge and the Trophy also takes pride in the foods they prepare for your special order.

For all steak fanciers—Everybody knows that the sirloin steak for two at LAKE MONROE INN has made the quaint Inn famous. The thick juicy steak is served with a large baked potato, crisp salad, relish tray, hot breads and beverage.

A new 12-ounce fillet has been added to the steak family and the quality steak is served with the same trimmings at a very reasonable price.

Saturday luncheon specialty features yummy Pit Bar-B-Qued ribs for an unbelievably low price. They're super.

You'll find live entertainment four night weekly and LOUISE is keeping "mum" about surprise entertainment scheduled for tonight and tomorrow night.

Also at Lake Monroe Inn, special children's dinners are available nightly and of you really want to score a hit with the wee ones, order them the special "Kiddie Cocktail." It's pink and pretty, they love it and you're the most for making them feel so important.

WHAT'S COOKIN'? Exceptional food ONLY AT PHELPS'S RESTAURANT. Just name it and the gourmet king, AL PHELPS, will concoct it before your very eyes.

This weekend the house specialty at PHELPS'S is Roulade of Beef Valencia with Provencale Sauce. The savory beef roll is stuffed with ripe olives and other ingredients that will send your taste buds into outer space. Ye olde master won't reveal the exact mixture used, but anything he prepares is the ultimate in elegant dining.

The friendly atmosphere at Phelp's is ideal for the entire family and children are welcome. Hostess POLLY personally sees to it that all patrons are satisfied and pretty RO BERTA gives the best in service.

FRAN AND STEVE LARSSON are constantly on the ball in maintaining the excellent reputation of FREDDIE'S as being Central Florida's Finest Steak House, where only the prime of heavy western beef is charcoaled to perfection.

Nightclubbers from far and near keep the highways hot to the fashionable night club with superior entertainment. HOWIS EVANS, musician and entertainer, has scored a terrific hit in the Lamplighter Lounge and BILL ADLER keeps the requests rolling with his violin in the Gaslight Room.

If it's the very best you want in food, drink and entertainment, FREDDIE'S is the spot!

YES SIREE! We're off to REMLEY'S the family restaurant with the family atmosphere.

Owners DAVE and his wife, ALLENE, are restaurateurs from way back, and would you believe—do all the cooking?

DAVE has been in the restaurant business for 30 years and definitely knows his P's and Q's. He does all the cooking with the exception of the salads, salad dressings and desserts, which demand the feminine touch of ALLENE, who is in a class all to herself.

You'll find the luncheons the very best and you'll be amazed at the dinner menu. The food and service are excellent and the price—right!

Treat the family to Sunday dinner at REMLEY'S. They're open every Sunday from noon to 8 p. m.

For something really different, join the nightly parade leading to the LOOK OUT, where entertainment, deluxe foods and sparkling beverages are on the rampage.

CHAPPY continues to cast a spell of magic over patrons in the Pirates Den where everybody is invited to "Sing Along With Chappy." He appears Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, beginning at 8:30 p. m. and he's there Friday from 9:30 p. m. to 1:30 a. m. We promise, you'll be delighted.

Manager STEVEN KRONBERG is always on hand to greet everyone and his aim is to please, if you please.

Charbroiled steak is a house specialty, but you'll agree that all foods are extra-special at the LOOK OUT. See you there real soon!

Horoscope Forecast

SATURDAY, APRIL 8, 1967
GENERAL TENDENCIES: A most peculiar day — for most everyone wants to put some new plans into effect but at the same time is tied down to completing what has not yet been performed but that has been promised. A Saturday to think deeply upon what you want in the future while getting whatever is holding you back out of the way.

ARIES: (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) —Although you are working on a very intellectual plane, conditions around you are very confusing, so get first things done first. Stop feeling so frustrated. Show that you have courage and fortitude.

TAURUS: (Apr. 20 to May 20) —Forget those private anxieties and get right down to business in whatever faces you now. Be more objective. Get duties behind you and you find that problems vanish as well. Increase your income.

GEMINI: (May 21 to June 21) —you are a clever person by nature, so handle others in such a fashion now and stop vacillating so much. Avoid difficulties. Carry through with promises made instead of trying to put your work off on other shoulders.

MOON CHILDREN: (June 22 to July 21)— Better get right at that civic work ahead of you and avoid trouble which could otherwise follow. Be sure that you do not anger bigwigs. This could backfire in a more or less serious manner.

LEO: (July 22 to Aug. 21) — You have to plan a new modus operandi and figure out where others can fit into the picture more ideally. You have time to study much information that you need as well. Have a more serious, practical approach to life in general.

VIRGO: (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) —Finding better methods for making the future more successful is good now, but don't permit mate to think you are neglecting him, or her. Discharge certain obligations you have to others. This includes the social.

LIBRA: (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) —Sit down with associates and discuss what you desire from them and how you can operate together more successfully. Get that duty completed in the outside world. Stop being afraid of it. It is really quite simple.

SCORPIO: (Oct 23 to Nov. 21)— Don't try to get all those tasks done in a slipshod manner; you have plenty of time. Get your work better organized. Then you make all future work much easier to perform. Be more practical.

SAGITTARIUS: (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21)— Entertainment is fine, but don't get into something new that you know nothing about and which could prove to be expensive or embarrassing. Take the time to finish some task you started some time ago. Get it done with alacrity.

CAPRICORN: (Dec. to Jan 20) —Be sure you maintain equilibrium where kin, relatives or servants are concerned if some altercation arises. Use that good sense to get mental affairs going very well, make real progress. Keep busy.

AQUARIUS: (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)— If you can handle most of your affairs on the telephone or in writing, do so, since you can avoid some danger on the road, etc. Check over reports for errors. Gain more respect from others.

PICES: (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) —Keep busy at your work instead of going out for pleasure if you want to get ahead in your career, increase income. Make improvements to property that are worthwhile, add value, beauty to them. Be wiser.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he, or she will be a most brilliant youngster but there is a habit of not going through with any project until it is completed, so teach early to finish what is started and then the career can become a successful one, even a famous one. Otherwise your progeny could just never accomplish anything and be misunderstood by others. Give spiritual training to help channel energies correctly.

SUNDAY, APRIL 9, 1967
GENERAL TENDENCIES: You can certainly tune in on whatever is best for you in the future this Sunday and particularly if you go to the places or are with the people who are spiritual, scientific or educational in their own spheres of activity. Get into all kinds of worthwhile discussions, studies, conversations, sermons, meetings.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Think along more personal lines so that you make your future more ideal and big advancement can come. You need to be more practical instead of almost flighty if you want the right results. Be happy in P.M.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) You are thinking along lines of getting others to go along with your finest ideas, which is good. However, be sure you observe the Golden Rule in all that you do and say. You then make wonderful progress.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Getting in touch with brilliant persons will mean getting information and ideas that are very worthwhile and profitable. Decide how you can work together harmoniously in the future. Show that you are clever, on your toes.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 2.) Ideal day to contact philanthropists and either give or get backing. Your finest benefits come from the world of action during the coming month, so start now and get ball rolling nicely. Be active, ambitious.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Your newest ideas require much thought and study if they are to be truly profitable. Don't neglect to go to services of your choice where much wisdom is expounded. Enrich your spirit and your mind.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) If you tap your subconscious, you find that you get answers you need and wisdom that will help you solve problems easily and well. Arrive at decisions. Talk these over with closest ties. Get cooperation, understanding.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Show appreciation for that associate who has advanced ideas that you have not been able to grasp before this. Then sit down and plan how to work out ideally in the future. This could lead to great things.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Plan what is best to do so that you can be of greater service to those who deserve it and get the right results. Show that you have poise in the face of emergencies. This could even save a life.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Find some way that you can become more happy in your regular outlets and be more positive in your dealings with loved one. Show that you are a warm and devoted person. Be encouraging.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Look to kin for support you need now although others are also willing to give you their backing. Concentration will reveal how to start an upswing in all of your affairs. Plan for such.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Concentrating on how to increase spiritual stature is fine, since today you can go to place of worship that is ideal for such. Do some private studying, also. Then out to visit with those you admire.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Some serious thought will reveal how to make that bank account grow in a relatively short time and most ethically as well. Call on some expert in finances. Get ideas that can be most helpful.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he, or she, will be one of those very forceful youngones who will be expecting something to happen every minute so that a great deal can be accomplished in all sort of unusual outlets. It is very possible that just such conditions will be attracted and a big career be realized during this lifetime. The quality of leadership is very apparent here very early. Send to college.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU! Carroll Righter's Individual Forecast for your sign for May is now ready. For your copy send your birthdate and $1 to Carroll Righter Forecast, The Sanford Herald, Box 1921, Hollywood 28, Calif.

MONDAY, APRIL 10, 1967
GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day and evening when beneath all the surface tensions and the apparent battling and discord, real progress can be made both in personal and business relationships by a new attitude and awareness both of what the other fellow wants and also what you need the most. Get down to specifics but with a big wide smile.

ARIES: (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) After two days of deciding what you must do in the future, this is the day to start working out the details. Make a fine impression on higher-up by being attractive and businesslike. Take time out for the social in P.M.

TAURUS: (Apr. 20 to May 20) Don't be so reticent about getting finest talents before the right people who can help you to commercialize on them. Sociability is also fine. However, if you bite back that snide remark, you find you get along very much better.

GEMINI: (May 21 to June 21) Getting in touch with brilliant persons will mean getting information and ideas that are very worthwhile and profitable. Decide how you can work together harmoniously in the future. Show that you are clever, on your toes.

MOON CHILDREN: (June 22 to July 21) Going direct to the head man or right persons in outside world is fine, provided you are tactful. If criticism is directed your way, treat it like water off a duck's back. This can be very constructive.

LEO: (July 22 to Aug. 21) New situations arise that will give you an opportunity to advance quickly, so be sure that you are on your toes. Those at a distance can give you fine ideas. Study them well and then use to your advantage.

VIRGO: (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) An expediter could be of infinite assistance to you in handling your own affairs more successfully. Then carry through happily. Go out in the evening with one you admire very much and vice versa.

LIBRA: (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Stop trying to get even with associates over some hasty remark and be kind, businesslike, cooperative. Do your best to work along together in a clever manner that teamwork wins the game.

SCORPIO: (Oct. 23 to Nov 21) Ideal day to handle all personal matters in a very deft and efficient way and keep out of trouble. Some co-worker may not be doing what you think is exactly right. Say nothing and keep at your own duties.

SAGITTARIUS: (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You may really be enjoying some problem instead of resolving it intelligently and getting into something that is constructive and good. Do it now. Be happy with a charming person who is also amusing.

CAPRICORN: (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Be more concerned with maintaining a good family life that is an inspiration to others. Avoid frivolity. Be sure you get into all fundamental affairs with real enthusiasm and determination.

AQUARIUS: (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Be willing to combine energies with those who appreciate you and vice versa toward some constructive mutual aim. Get right down to business. Be sure you do not neglect important reports that have to be made out.

PISCES: (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Being concerned with the practical is the only way to add to your present income, make plans for greater abundance in the future. Get your budget improved, also. Avoid whatever is of a flighty nature.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he, or she, should have the finest education along financial lines since the interest lies here, whether to make own money grow, or help others with their own investments. A fine family man, or woman, in this chart, and one who enjoys luxuries. The career starts quite early in life and success in gradual but considerable through sheer drive and hard work.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU! Carroll Righter's Individual forecast for your sign for May is now ready. For your copy send your birthdate and $1.00 to Carroll Righter Forecast, The Sanford Herald, Box 1921, Hollywood 28, California.

Use No Tricks

Fire walkers of the Fiji Islands use no tricks and physicians who have watched the ceremony attribute the phenomenon of dancing on red-hot stone pits to a self-hypnosis induced by deep faith of the fire walkers.

FVER HIRE!— Attractive 1 year old Home 2 Bedroom, 2

Come to Church Every Week

The high spot of our family album! We've only seen Meg hold this solemn expression once before, when she was a freckled angel in the Sunday School pageant . . . and then she wasn't quite so cross-eyed!

Meg's our darling adopted daughter, and usually she's a little livewire . . . full of surprises. It was Meg's enthusiasm for Church School that led us to improve our own record of church attendance. It was Meg's searching question, "Why don't we ever thank God for dinner like the Andersons?" that revived the custom of mealtime grace in our home. And it was Meg's worry about "the poor hungry children" that eventually drew us into our work for the Mission Fund.

Frankly, we used to be "fringe Christians," giving God very little of our time or thoughts. Meg was God's instrument in showing us that our church really needs us . . . and that it is a blessed thing to be needed.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Longwood, too, (like Sanford) needs to take a long look at its downtown section. With the new, wide paving of "the main stem" nearing completion city fathers and civic leaders should get together on plans to make passers-by become sloppers-in. wanna frinstance? That ghastly old hotel . . . And the block of storefronts across "the stem" from it . . . As in other "sick" downtown areas, property owners will find the value of their holdings going down—and taxes going up—unless appearance invites tenants, and, in turn, shoppers.

Unveil Major Retail Complex

First major retail construction in downtown Sanford in more than a quarter-century . . . estimated between $350,000 to $400,000 . . . was announced today for the city block bounded by First and Second Streets and Sanford and Cypress Avenues.

The building program will be started within days by Robert Pentland, of Miami, who already owned the site of the present Winn-Dixie store and who has acquired the balance of the land in the block-size plot. City Commission will be requested tonight to vacate alley rights-of-way now on the property.

Announcement of the new building program was made this morning by Mack N. Cleveland Jr., representing Pentland, and John Krider, manager of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce.

Cleveland said Pentland is ready to commence construction as soon as the city vacates the alley ways.

Krider said all present buildings on the site will be razed to make way for new construction. This includes the present Winn Dixie store, the service station at First and Sanford, and other structures.

A new Winn Dixie supermarket will be constructed at the rear of the present grocery. Site of the present grocery and of the service station will be paved for parking.

Cleveland said contract also has been signed for Pentland to construct a building to house a new T. G. and Y. variety store, fronting on Sanford Avenue. He added that other smaller buildings for other shops will be added to the complex.

Cleveland paid tribute to Krider for the expanded building program, saying that original plans called only for Winn Dixie to replace its grocery with a new structure.

Cleveland said Krider prevailed on Winn Dixie and Pentland to construct the larger complex.

Won't Tolerate 'Shot-Gun' Trial, Hutchison Says

"The City will not be a party to any shotgun trial of Police Chief Ben Butler." And with these words Sanford City Attorney William Hutchison accused Joe Hickson's attorney of turning the police lieutenant's appeal into a court of law.

Hutchison made his remarks at a reconvened Civil Service Board meeting Saturday morning, pointing a finger at Gordon Frederick's three page letter to the city which asked that certain charges of Hickson's dismissal be answered before a formal hearing on the dismissal.

At the same time, the board postponed the hearing for at least two more weeks giving Hutchison until May 4 to prepare his case. Last Thursday the board gave Frederick (Hickson's attorney) until April 17 to file any additional charges, motions or, objections in the case.

Hickson was dismissed on March 21 for "conduct unbecoming an officer, intoxication and neglect of duty."

Hutchison called Frederick's answer to Hickson's dismissal "clear claptrap" and warned the city would not be a party to any shot gun trial of Butler, or the city.

Hutchison stressed he feared Frederick would turn the hearing into a court of law. "This is not the function of the board."

However, Mack Cleveland Jr., of the Civil Service Board spelled out that they (the board) wanted to give all sides a chance to tell the story. Cleveland indicated that the board would meet "informally" after May 4 to decide on the guidelines and the formal hearing will be held shortly thereafter.

Frederick, in his wordy three page report, asked answers to special charges by Butler after the Hickson firing.

He stressed a more definite statement of facts as to "the alleged neglect of duty, conduct unbecoming a police officer with command responsibility, and failure to carry out reasonable orders and responsibilities of your office."

He asked for specific dates, names and ranks of police officers referred to in the charges.

State Raids Mar-Lou Bar

State Beverage Agents raided the Mar-Lou Cocktail Lounge on Hwy. 17-92 Friday night and arrested the bartender on illegal sale of alcoholic beverages to minors and nabbed five minors with possession Sheriff J. L. Hobby reported today.

Arrested were John W. Urban charged with allowing minors to consume liquor. The five minors arrested were Roger Young, George Matingley, Clarence Wiggins, Leroy Hopper Jr. and Robert Bupp.

Hobby also reported two arrests in two wire cable thefts involving Atlantic Coast Line spur lines last week.

On Wednesday Edward Siles of Longwood was arrested and charged with disposing of stolen property after a mile of cable was stolen from the Paola spur. That same day Cleo Barker and a juvenile were arrested for petty larceny in the theft of same cable from the ACL spur between Sanford and Longwood.

FIRE of undetermined origin, which started about 12:30 p.m. Saturday, burned 100 acre strip from back of 18th Street in Goldsboro all the way over to Country Club Road, at one time threatening Arcadian Chemical Plant on the corner of Country Club Road and Atlantic Coast Line railway tracks. Battling the blaze for more than two hours were three units from Lake Mary, two from the Forestry Service, and one from Ginderville. Sanford had a standby truck at the scene. (Herald Photo)

County May OK New Bridge At Little Econ

County Supt. J. C. Lavender will recommend the Lockwood Road Bridge across the Little Econ, east of Oviedo, be rebuilt at a cost of $5,000 at the meeting of the Board of County Commissioners scheduled for 9 a.m. Tuesday.

Lavender will recommend the bridge be reconstructed of timber at a length of 100 feet and that the Little Econ be widened at the site of the bridge to lessen the danger of flooding at the bridge.

One of the county trucks, which was loaded, fell through the bridge recently.

In other business, Harold Johnson, county attorney will report on whether the fish camp operated by Frank Chasrik at Pleasant Point near Mullet Lake Park is encroaching on county property.

Consideration will be given to adopting a resolution designating the right of way to the Wekiva Springs Bridge at Miami Spring Road.

Bulletin

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court affirmed today a decision that approved merger plans or the Atlantic Coast Line and Seaboard Air Line Railroads.

Donald Martin, assistant vice president of ACL in Jacksonville, told The Herald no change in personnel is anticipated and present employes' jobs are secure.

Chamber Backs Daylight Time

The Chamber of Commerce Executive Committee today unanimously endorsed going on Daylight Savings time to keep "in the mainstream" with the rest of the country.

Little David Dekle Of Sanford Dies

David Dekle, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Dekle of 2405 Adams Court, Sanford, died at 5:20 p.m. Friday at Duke University Hospital in Durham, N. C.

DAVID DEKLE

A native of Sanford, he attended First Baptist Church and was in the sixth grade at Pinecrest Elementary School. He was a member of the American Athletic Union swimming team and also played on a Little League baseball team.

Survivors, in addition to his parents, include a sister, Susan, and his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Dekle, all of Sanford, and his maternal grandmother, Mrs. A. M. Fitchett of Fayetteville, N. C.

Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Tuesday at First Baptist Church with Rev. Fred Chance officiating. Pallbearers will be H. E. McKinsey, Bob Steel, George Swann, Kenneth McIntosh, Dickie Roundtree and Herold Heckenbach. Honorary pallbearers will be deacons of the church.

Burial will be in Oaklawn Memorial Park.

Funeral and burial arrangements are under direction of Gramkow Funeral Home.

Dekle Fund Drive Nets Over $4,000

Overwhelming hospital and medical bills accumulated for the Dekle family during David's suffering from a rare fungus-type infection, he had been hospitalized since last September, first in Sanford, then in Orlando, and finally at Duke.

A "David Dekle Fund," started some weeks ago by the people of Sanford to help defray these expenses, totals $4,730 today at Florida State Bank. Donations have come from special events sponsored by local businesses, service stations and auto parts houses, as well as from individuals whose names fill 10 pages in the contribution book, the bank reports.

In an effort to express appreciation for the kindnesses and sympathy extended the family, Mr. and Mrs. Dekle, in a statement to The Herald Sunday, said, "We would like to thank the many people who helped in our hour of need. It was very heartening and made us proud we are from Sanford."

Okay Due Tonight On Industrial Funds

The City Commission tonight is expected to turn over some $15,000 in surplus funds for the Industrial Board.

The six-month budget for the board originally set at $25,000 was trimmed by City Manager W. E. Knowles to $15,000.

In other business, the board is expected to name Eoghan Kelley as architect for the new $2,500,000 first Congregational Holiness Church, approve plans for the Holiday Inn construction; hear a request for a concrete walk next to the bulkhead from the bandshell pier to Mellonville Avenue with railings and benches; renew the stadium lease with the school board for $2,500; hear a resolution of ordinances amending the present trailer law; creation of central contractor's board and abolishing the present two examining boards and vacating the eastwest alley north of the Pico Building.

Cancer Meet

Mrs. R. L. Tucker's residential unit of the Cancer Crusade will have a kick-off meeting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at Florida State Bank.

All-Out Hunt For Oviedo Camp Escapee

A convict described as "not dangerous" escaped from the Division of Correction Road Prison at Oviedo Sunday evening by cutting a hole in a window and sawing through a bar, Capt. W. W. Cone, head of the prison camp reported today.

Ronald Rewis of Fort Myers, convicted of aggravated assault, had served nine months of a five year sentence when he escaped from the prison located on SR 426 at Oviedo. The escape occurred between 10 and 10:30 p.m. Sunday.

Eleven convicts escaped from the "close custody" institution in 1966. Rewis is the first escapee of 1967.

Work Begins On Large Casselberry Road Jobs

Work began today on slurry seal treatment of six of the streets in Casselberry, Mayor Arthur Wheatley will report at the meeting of the City Council to take place at 8 p.m. today at the Woman's Club.

First road to be given the treatment in the project will be Lotus Lane. Other roads in the project are Wilshire, Hibiscus, Lilac, South Lake Triplett and Sunnytown Road.

The slurry seaking is being done by Oneman Engineering Inc. of Delray Beach at an expenditure of $3,200.

Also on the agenda for tonight's meeting, are consideration of annexation requests for scattered pieces of property within the city limits and appointment of a member to the Board of Adjustment to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Lee Staples, who has moved out of the city.

Auto Mishap

Harry Robson Jr., of 1817 Summerlin Ave., Sanford was arrested for careless driving yesterday after his car struck a light pole on N. French Ave. and Seminole Blvd. Robson was hospitalized with minor injuries police said.
