Wuhu 14th December 1900.

My dear Sir,

beg your pardon to inform you as now I remaining in China is quited well since I left the United States, whom as you well known as employment at your house was ten years ago. so long times we never do hearing from each other therefore I do never forget your kindness with whatever you have favored me. I now employed as an officer at Lord Li's residence but am very sorry about the poor China. She could not geting alone well. It is shameful to say as an affair at present which the Manchurians done great prejudiced destroyed our chinese friends and foreign brotherlyships with such bad politics. I do hopt they will take good consideration of the matters and not to become any more savagely again. will excuse for my poor educated writeing please give my best kind regards to our lovely friends and your sister with her family.

with my best compliments.

I am,

my dear sir,

your obedient servant

Y. P. Louis.
