$10 Million Sanford Projects Slated

By BOB LLOYD
City Editor

Developers said Thursday night $10 million in construction is scheduled to begin by September near Sanford's Airport Boulevard-U.S. 17-92 intersection.

The projects include a branch office for a DeLand-based savings and loan association, a K-Mart shopping center and the first phase of a 2,000 unit multi-family development.

Sanford planning and zoning commissioners approved site plans for a 8,500 square foot office for First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Mid-Florida. The $750,000 project is slated for the northwest corner of the intersection at the edge of the Zayre Shopping Center.

H.A. "Speed" Moreland, who will manage the new office, said a temporary office will open on site by July 15 and Shoemaker Construction Co. will start building the permanent facility at the same time.

"We hope to be in the new building within 10 months," Moreland said.

The city board approved site plans for the 14-acre K-Mart center in the southeast quadrant of the intersection but ruled construction cannot start until all engineering and drainage plans are submitted and approved by the city engineer.

Last month the board told Developers Diversified of St. Petersburg, developers of the $4 million project, that an access road to Airport Boulevard should be located opposite the Southgate Road entrance to Sanford Plaza Shopping Center on Airport Boulevard for easier control of traffic.

Thursday night the Z-P board agreed, however, to accept plans showing the K-Mart center access road entering Airport Boulevard approximately 500 feet west of the Southgate-Airport intersection.

The board also relaxed the 850 parking space requirement for the 134,986 square foot K-Mart center to 625 spaces with dividers between parking tiers. Developers Diversified representative Michael O'Neill said the firm will agree to set aside land for additional parking space with a decision on its need to be made 12 months after the shopping center opens. He said target date for the opening is Jan. 1, 1975.

O'Neill said the required engineering plans are expected to be approved by the city within 30 days and construction hopefully will start Aug. 1.

Developers Diversified has not released names of major drug and food stores that will share the shopping center with K-Mart. Several other smaller shops are also planned for the center.

The Z-P board agreed to relocation of an entrance road east of U.S. 17-92, south of Airport Boulevard, to a 190-acre portion of the Dreyfus planned unit development.

Mel L. Mindich of Mod Properties Ltd., Hartsdale, N.Y., said the firm has purchased the acreage from McCormick Enterprises of Sanford and is revising plans for a $65 million multi-family residential development.

The total project, expected to take six years to complete, will have 2,000 units, Mindich said.

He said EDG Engineering Inc. of Winter Park is engineering the project and construction should start by September on the $6 million first phase of 200 units.

The zoning and planning board has yet to receive the revised plans for the Mod Properties Ltd. project.

In other business the zoning and planning board:

— Approved site plans for 8,000 square feet of mini-warehouses south of West 12th Street and west of French Avenue. Owner Bill George was told the approval is conditioned on city acceptance of drainage and engineering plans.

— Approved a parking lot site plan for a former radio station building, 1100 East First Street (across from Seminole Memorial Hospital). J.F.P. Enterprises will renovate the building for use as a doctor's office.

— Approved site plan for an office building at the northeast corner of Oak Avenue and Second Street.

— Approved site plan for a 1,600 square foot addition to the Sanford Herald building at 300 North French Ave.

The board was told by City Planner David Farr that he doesn't think Sanford needs a condominium ordinance.

Z-P member Kirby Moncrief, an attorney, said he thinks state condominium regulations will be effective.

Condominium is a legal method of selling structures and units on common land.

Longwood Campaign Donations

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — More money is being spent by city council candidates in preparation for the Tuesday special election than at any time in the city's history.

The election will fill the discrict 1 city council seat left vacant by the resignation of 18-year council veteran E. E. Williamson 17 days before his death.

The candidates, Michael Donovan, Robert Hammond and H. A. (Bud) Scott, have placed campaign signs from one end of the city to the other. All have mailed letters to the electorate.

Scott and Donovan have listed only self contributions.

Hammond has received $665 in contributions since the report filed 10 days ago for a total received of $975. The newest contributors are H. A. Duncan, Tangerine $95; Charles V. Eidell, Maitland $50; Albert L. Land, Longwood $20; William C. Cavney, Longwood $50; Sanford City Commissioner John G. Morris, $20; R. E. Payne, Winter Park, $50; George M. Nader, Orlando $95; Gary G. Martin, Orlando $95; Jerry Coone, Longwood $95 and William Gross, Winter Park $95.

Hammond reports total spending of $358.53.

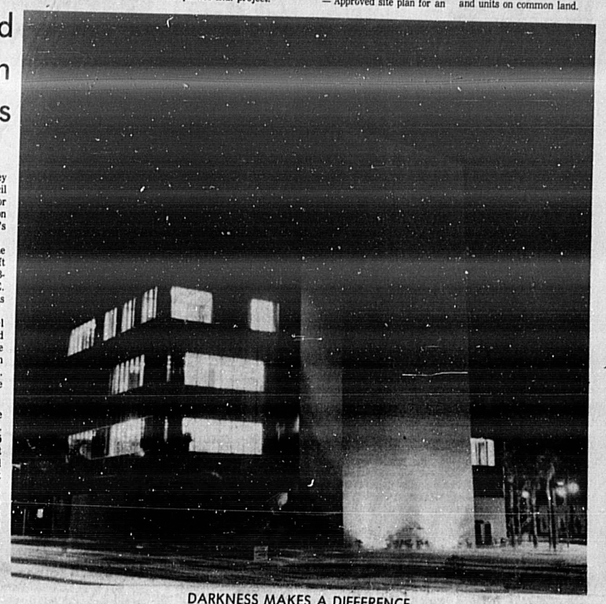
Michael Donovan reported he has contributed $120 to his own campaign and spent $116.25, and Scott reports self contributions of $500 and spending $363.34.

The ballot, in addition to council candidates, includes a charter amendment providing a method of recalling elected officials.

Straw questions include: (1) Shall the city of Longwood continue to have a historic preservation district? Shall the city financially support the historic district by purchasing the Bradlee-McIntyre (Grant) house for a city hall or public purpose? Shall city funds be spent to restore, renovate or participate in restoring, renovating or going into business in the historic district?

(2) Shall the city approve the Sunday sales of alcoholic beverages?

(3) Shall the city enter into a 30-year indebtedness to pay for a sewer line system to the Altamonte Springs sewer plant?



DARKNESS MAKES A DIFFERENCE

FIRST FEDERAL Savings and Loan Association of Seminole's new six-story office tower on West First Street, Sanford, takes on totally different appearance at night. During daylight hours the building's mirror-like exterior reflects downtown surroundings. This view, by Herald chief photographer Bill Vincent Jr., was captured in 90-second time exposure with aid of 22 separate bursts of electronic flash. Streaks at bottom of photo were made by headlights of passing cars.

AROUND THE CLOCK

By John A. Sprski

I take pause before striking the first words of today's column—knowing full-well the many times you've called and said, "I'm tired of reading about Watergate."

Usually the caller was a Republican, while in the background we were encouraged to "keep the heat on 'em" from the Democratic ranks.

There were those who actually and sincerely felt that this expose would be the ruination of this country, and for them we felt the keenest sense of remorse and pity.

The situation didn't change much after some of our state's Democratic office holders were being exposed by the press for their alleged wrongdoings. The only difference came from those who encouraged our writings (this time from the Republicans) while the Democrats wished we'd take up another subject.

Which brings us to the cause of today's column.

I was very much impressed with the comments attributed to Sen. Gale W. McGee, and would like to share them with you.

"One of the great strengths of our democratic system of government is that it has always benefited from the give and take between liberals and conservatives.

"Looking at our long history, neither group could ever claim to have had a monopoly on wisdom or truth. They both have made vital contributions at regular intervals.

"The liberals wrote the Declaration of Independence; the conservatives would have remained with the British for the rest of their days. But it was the conservatives who wrote the Constitution; the liberals would have nothing to do with it—in fact even boycotted the Philadelphia Convention.

"It took both for the making of our nation. And it takes both still today to keep it strong; constructive liberalism and conservatism are the warp and woof of what we mean by the American way of life."

———

"We see a lot of free movies on TV we wouldn't pay to see in theaters, which proves Americans don't mind being bored if the price is right."

Contract Date Set For Osteen Bridge

By JANE CASSELBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

Hope that the antiquated and hazardous Osteen Bridge will be replaced at last by a modern structure was renewed today with announcement that a contract for construction of the new bridge on SR 415 east of Sanford will be let in April, 1975.

Julian Stenstrom, chairman of the Long Range Planning Committee of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, in making the announcement, said it is expected to take 18-20 months to complete the estimated $3.3 million project.

"The contract will be let several months ahead of the original schedule due to availability of Federal funds under the bridge replacement program," Stenstrom said.

The Chamber has actively pushed 15 years for the new bridge across the St. Johns River. The old State Road Department applied for permission to build the new bridge in 1966 and it took five years to get approval by the Corps of Engineers.

Charles Sylvester, deputy district engineer for the State Department of Transportation in DeLand, said today the new bridge is included in the 1974-75 DOT work program and the major reason for the April contract date is time needed to complete the bridge design and to obtain appropriate permits. Roadway designs have already been completed, he added.

After bids are taken, Sylvester said, it will take another two to three months for construction to begin—possibly June, 1975.

The 44-foot-wide concrete bridge will span the St. Johns 25 feet above the mean high water level and will be so designed so a draw span can be added at a later date if necessary.

Two 12 ft. driving lanes will be included with a 10 ft. safety margin on each side of the 2300 foot bridge, which will be built just to the east of the present bridge, Sylvester said.

The main approach to the new bridge will be a 24-foot roadway running from SR 46 on the south and on the Volusia County (north) side from the new bridge to the existing road, SR 415. The project will be a total of 1½ miles in length.

After completion of the new bridge the old structure will be removed, but approaches will be left for convenience of boaters and fishermen.

Food Stamps End Near?

By JEAN PATTESON
Herald Staff Writer

About 80,000 blind, aged and disabled Floridians, including about 600 persons in Seminole County, will lose Federal food stamps July 1 unless Congress acts on an extension bill, Family Services Director Douglas Endsley said in Tallahassee Thursday.

The loss of food stamps will cause many problems in Seminole County and will be a hardship to many families, said County Family Services Director Lawrence M. Dougher.

"It's pretty short notice for people who have been relying on food stamps, who have built their budgets around them," Dougher said.

"Until they take up the slack and adjust to being without food stamps many families will be forced to look to county welfare or private groups for help."

Endsley has sent a telegram to Sen. Lawton Chiles, D-Fla., asking him to push for approval of a bill sponsored by Rep. James C. Corman, D-Calif., which is in the House Ways and Means Committee.

The bill is intended as a non-controversial means of extending rights of these persons to buy food stamps until July 1, 1975, Endsley said.

He explained the problem is a result of a 1972 law which provided for federal takeover as of Jan. 1, 1974 of welfare payments to the aged, blind and totally and permanently disabled.

The original bill called for these persons not to be eligible for foods stamps. Congress later extended until June 30 their rights to stamps while other welfare legislation was being considered.

But a bill providing major revisions in the 1972 laws is unlikely to pass Congress before the deadline, Endsley said.

The telegram went to Chiles even though the bill is in the House, because Chiles has been the state Health and Rehabilitation Services department's contact with the Floridian congressional delegation, a spokesman said.

Loss of the stamps will not prove a serious hardship in every case, said Dougher, because many families in Seminole County are better off with the federal Supplementary Security Income (SSI) than when they were receiving state assistance.

However, those who rely on the food stamps to stretch the food dollar will be affected substantially, Dougher said.

At the county food stamp office, director Curtis Spencer said the loss of the stamps July 1 would mean a hardship for most of the 350 families affected.

Spencer said there was no preceptible feeling of panic at this point, but he was receiving queries how persons affected should proceed to have their stamps extended.

"We can only refer them to their senators and congressmen," said Spencer.

Russia Never Was In Moon Race

WASHINGTON (AP) — During the 1960s, the United States conducted a crash program to beat the Russians in putting a man on the moon. Now, American space officials have evidence that the Soviets never were in the race and that they trail this naton by several years in manned space technology.

Their manned spaceship, the Soyuz, has less capability than the U.S. Gemini craft of a decade ago. It is almost totally controlled from the ground and could not make a lunar trip.

Cosmonauts play much more passive roles than American astronauts. They mainly go along for the ride. Pinpoint landings, common in the U.S. program, are unheard of in Russia, the philosophy being "just so they land somewhere in the Soviet Union."

Soviet rockets are far less powerful than America's.

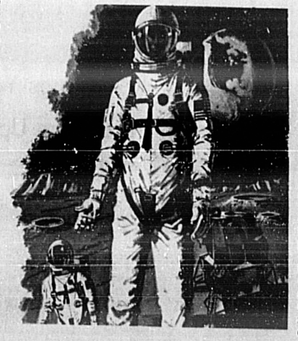
These facts have come to light during discussions between American and Russian experts planning a joint manned flight next year.

In their desire to promote this cooperative venture, the Soviets have revealed many of their long-guarded space secrets. Disclosure was necessary by both sides to assure there would be no hidden danger when the Soyuz and an American Apollo ship hook up in orbit.

U.S. officials don't downgrade the Soyuz; they say it is fine for its purpose: Relatively brief orbital flights up to a week and for ferrying cosmonauts to a space station.

But they were surprised at the lack of sophistication.

"Through the early and mid-part of the 1960s we were sure the Soviets were in the moon race," one official said. "By 1967 or 1968 we had enough information that told us they didn't have the technical capability to make a lunar journey for several years."



Three astronauts and two cosmonauts are to make the joint flight, set to start July 15, 1975.

Because the Apollo craft is more sophisticated and reliable:

—Russia will count down two rockets and spaceships on adjoining pads and will launch the second if something should go wrong with the first. The second countdown will trail the first by three days. Two separate Soviet prime crews are being trained.

—Once in orbit, the Soyuz will be mainly passive. The Apollo will be launched from Cape Canaveral, Fla., seven hours later and will conduct all maneuvers over a 24-hour period.

School Funding Bill Might Contain Flaw

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — House Speaker Terrell Sessums, D-Tampa, says the legislature may have pessed a faulty school-funding bill in its haste to adjourn the 1974 session last Friday.

Sessums said Thursday that he will instruct House Clerk Allen Morris and his staff to research the question and decide whether House approval of the bill was flawed.

If the bill passed improperly, Sessums said, it may be necessary to ask Gov. Reubin Askew to call a two-or three-day special session to approve a corrected version.

Sessums said there were two choices if the bill is indeed invalid — "We can proceed without a bill and be subject to the Florida Finance Act of 1973 or come together for a short two or three day session next week or the following week and address ourselves once again to education funding.

"My primary concern is on the procedural question of whether we failed to follow the constitution and rules to the point where we produced a nullity or a bill subject to easy invalidation," he added.

The educational finance bill, a compromise measure worked out at the last minute, was the last measure to pass both Houses of the legislature. The session ended at 11:01 p.m. immediately after the House acted.

Sessums said he feared that the bill passed the House without the conference committee amendments being on hand, an oversight that might invalidate the action.

A meeting between Sessums and Gov. Reubin Askew was set for Monday.

Grand Jury Indicts Dickinson Partner

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Frederick C. Prior of West Palm Beach has been indicted on perjury charges by a federal grand jury investigating Florida Comptroller Fred O. "Bud" Dickinson, court officials said today.

The U.S. District Court clerk's office in Tampa said the seven-count indictment was opened today naming Prior, a former law partner of Dickinson.

Prior, carrying numerous records, appeared before the 18-member panel in its sixweek-old investigation.

The sealed indictement — the first handed down in the Dickinson probe — was returned Thursday and ordered to be kept secret by federal judge Ben Krentzman until the person named was served.

Prior will be scheduled to appear in Tampa for a bond hearing, probably June 14, court officials said.

The jury reportedly is investigating Dickinson's financial affairs and his granting of state bank charters in his role as Florida banking commissioner.

More than 20 witnesses, including Dickinson, have appeared before the secret 18-member panel since the investigation began in late April.

J. Edward Houston, a banker, Fort Lauderdale attorney and a personal friend of the comptroller, was the only witness to testify Thursday before the jury recessed for the weekend.

He has made several appearances before the panel.

U.S. Attorneys pushed back the scheduled voluntary appearance of state Senate President Mallory Horne until Monday. Horne already had arrived at the federal courthouse Thursday for an afternoon session behind closed doors when he was told of the delay.

Telephone Pioneers Organize

Long service Southern Bell Telephone employes, both active and retired, recently formed a Sanford chapter of the Telephone Pioneers of America.

Russell Kitner was elected president of the new chapter. Vice-president is Maxine Henn, secretary Ann Hunter and treasurer Glen McKendree, accounting to publicity chairman T. J. McElroy.

McElroy said Pioneers members are involved in community activities and programs to aid the blind and retarded, school drop-outs and speech handicapped persons. Pioneers also entertain at Veterans hospitals and donate time and money to local museums and historical projects.

The local chapter will sponsor a booth at the Sanford Fourth of July Celebration at Ft. Mellon Park.

MARK GRAYSON

Altamonte Mall Gets M. Grayson

Mark Grayson of Orlando has been named manager of the 1,284,000 sq. ft. Altamonte Mall, the South's and DeBartolo Corp.'s largest, located one half mile east of I-4 on SR 436.

The Altamonte Mall is scheduled to open Aug. 1, and will include four major department stores—Sears, Jordan Marsh, Burdines and Robinsons, plus 154 specialty stores.

Grayson has been with the DeBartolo Corp., for six months and served as assistant manager of the Palm Beach Mall in West Palm Beach.

Grayson will serve as permanent secretary of the Altamonte Mall Merchants' Association tenants who contribute financially to the association budget based on square footage of individual stores.

Tenant monies thus prorated fund the advertising and production costs for mall-wide promotional events. Grayson will initiate and publicize these events. Each store additionally has its own independent advertising and promotional programs.

Grayson also will act as property manager for the DeBartolo Corp. He will assume responsibility for the physical plant, working with the mall's maintenance supervisor, Sam Agner, and a full-time maintenance crew. Grayson is a graduate of Florida Technological University.

Deltona Organizes Day Camp

By FANNETTE EDWARDS
Herald Correspondent

DELTONA— Registration for Deltona Community Day Camp will be held on Saturdays, June 8 and 15 at the Deltona Plaza from 10 a.m. till noon. A fee of $1 per child to cover cost of insurance and materials will be charged. Registering for fishing, woodworking, knitting, sewing and shuffleboard (ages 9 to 12) will be done.

Plans for the camp are well under way, with chairmen, Mrs. Marion Rockhill and Kay Hosick, having held several meetings of committee members, who will aid in the smooth operation of the event which will take place August 5-16, from 9 to 11:30 a.m.

In attendance at the planning meetings, in addition to the co-chairmen, were: The Rev. H. Wight Kirtley, Yolanda Caldwell, Shirley Hardin, Dorothy Hardwick, Fred Ganas, Esther Kaszas, Lorene Burgard, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edwards and Mr. and Mrs. Karl Schier.

The next committee meeting is Wednesday at the United Methodist Church Fellowship Hall, at 10 a.m.

Delegates Election Is Certain

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Florida's 38 delegates to a mid-term Democratic conference in Kansas City will be elected in a Sept. 10 primary ballot, state party chairman Jon Moyle said today.

He said a bill passed by the legislature at the close of the 1974 session assures that delegates will be elected instead of chosen at party caucuses.

The conference is being held in Kansas City on Dec. 6-8 to adopt a permanent charter for the National Democratic party.

Moyle said Florida's 38 delegates will be chosen from congressional districts. He said the first, second, third, fourth, fifth, eleventh, thirteenth, and fifteenth districts will elect three delegates each.

The sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth, tenth, twelfth and fourteenth districts will elect two delegates each.

Any registered Democrat can run by submitting a filing fee of $100 or petitions bearing the signatures of at least 500 registered Democrats in the congressional district, Moyle said.

W. Springs Youth Group To Spruce Up The City

WINTER SPRINGS— The newly-formed Winters Springs Youth Group will participate in the city's annual "Clean-Up, Paint-Up, Fix-Up" weeks, June 17-29.

Thirty members voted recently to participate. They will conduct a paper drive in conjunction with this clean-up effort. Proceeds from the projects will be used to buy recreation equipment or a cookout.

Junior Volunteer Fireman Richard Canne has been authorized to ask the Volunteer Fire Department's help in setting up a First Aid class.

Another dance is scheduled tonight at the recreation building. Membership is open to all youths of the community between the ages of 12 and 18.

Forty teens attended the first dance last week with 20 new members signing up to bring the membership count to 51.

LAKE MARY — Councilman Harry Terry has put a $69,700 price tag on maintaining and paving roads for next year.

"Don't use these figures," Terry, who is chairman of the council's roads, streets and parks committee protested throughout the meeting. "They're not official."

Included in his "figures" are $7,904 to pay for a full time and part time city employe to work as a road crew at $3 and $2 per hour, a wage Terry admits may be too low to be realistic.

Council has been under the gun to get its combined city-county road improvement and maintenance priorities in line. The Seminole County Commission wanted such work requests submitted before June 1.

Included in council discussions at the workshop were five roads to be submitted to the county road department for cooperative work, with the city claiming arterial use by county residents.

The city pays for materials and the county foots the bill for equipment and labor in the joint project, Terry said of the plan, but added even if the county accepts all the roads proposed they will be very low on the list because the city did not submit the request in time.

Included in the list by priority are: Lake Mary Boulevard, Crystal Lake Road-Lake Mary Road, Country Club Road, Longwood-Lake Mary Road and Broadmoor Avenue.

Also included in the road "budget, which is 70 per cent of last year's approximately $100,000 city income, is new paving on 1.5 miles of the city's 12 miles of dirt streets.

Mayor Margie Hess said she would write a letter to the county commission including the city's priority list for the city-county road work plan.

Terry, who said the priorities listed would give the county a guideline as to how the city felt the roads should be worked on, said he thought all the road work requested would be accepted.

"Maybe not this year because it's too late, but surely for next year," he said.

Terry's figures included a dump truck at $2,900; increased street lighting at $5,616; and a patrolled road grading program for the city's dirt roads at $5,700.

The city's first proposed budget listed roads and streets at $46,853 but the city has spent only $2,673.70 of that this year, according to a financial report given to council by City Clerk Kay Sassman.

Council said at least one-third of the road and street budget figure will come from state and federal revenue sharing funds.

Phone Booths Don't Make Any Change

NEW YORK (AP) — Tourists in Louisiana may be surprised to learn the dime they deposited for a pay phone call was a nickel too much. And phone booths don't make change.

Travelers at the Dallas-Fort Worth regional airport have been known to respond angrily upon discovering a pay phone call costs a quarter.

The two areas represent the apparent extremes in a nation full of phone companies beginning to raise the prevailing 10-cent rate for local pay phone calls, a rate that has endured nearly everywhere for more than 20 years.

The first statewide 20-cent pay phone rate went into effect May 15 in North Carolina. Washington has a 15-cent rate. Requests are pending in several other states.

When Ma Bell seeks an increase, so normally do the more than 1,700 independent phone companies, the largest of which is General Telephone & Electronics Corp.

A General Telephone & Electronics subsidiary, General Telephone Co. of the Southwest, has the 25-cent rate at the Dallas-Fort Worth airport and at 16 communities in the metropolitan areas of the two cities and of Houston. Texas is the only one of the 50 states where phone rates are set by inunicipality.

Hawaiian Telephone Co., another GT&E subsidary, is seeking increases to 15 or 20 cents on various of the islands.

Why do the phone companies want to do away with the dime rate?

Simply because pay phone calls "cost more to carry through than is paid," says Robert D. Lilley, president of AT&T.

AT&T subsidiaries have rate-increase requests pending in Nebraska, Iowa, Oklahoma, Utah, Minnesota and Colorado. Other Bell companies either have been turned down for rate increases by state public utility commissions or are considering submitting the requests.

South Central Bell, however, has lost to the Louisiana Public Service Commission in its fight to retire the nation's last five-cent phone call.

Record Oil Profits Will Boost Employe Salaries

By The Associated Press

Most of the nation's major oil companies are dipping into their record profits to boost employe salaries. One company is giving workers a bonus of a month's salary.

An Associated Press survey shows that Exxon, Mobil, Standard of California, Continental, Standard of Indiana, Shell, Atlantic Richield, Union and Mobil are raising the paychecks of nonunion U.S. employes. Some are offering the boosts to union employes as well.

Most of the increases by these oil companies were 6 per cent raises. Mobil was the only company to give a onetime bonus of one month's pay, which meant nearly $900 in cash to many workers.

Most of the companies would not say immediately how much the boosts would cost their companies. Union oil workers currently earn about $11,500 a year, the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union (OCAW) says. The Mobil bonus, presuming the average employe makes $11,500 a year, would come to about $32 million.

Rawleigh Warner Jr, chairman of Mobil, said the bonuses were being given because of company concern that inflation was eroding its employes' salaries. He said Mobil felt the lump sum bonus would be of more use to employes than a raise. He said the bonus would go to all 37,000 employes except the company directors and Mobil is negotiating with the OCAW about distribution to union employes.

Asked if the bonuses were being given to reduce the size of upcoming second quarter profits, a Mobil spokesman said: "Definitely not."

Some of the other company officials also mentioned inflation as a prime reason for the increases.

None of the officials said the increases had anything to do with higher earnings or an attempt to soften second quarter profits.

Meanwhile in Denver, the oil workers union told the oil industry it would seek pay raises totaling $4.50 an hour over three years when the current contract runs out Jan. 1. It represents 60,000 oil workers who earn an average $5.50 an hour.

He Won't (Ouch!) Bite

Sometimes a big dog is an effective deterrent to crime, but sometimes even a faithful watchdog can get confused.

That's what happened Thursday to the Great Dane belonging to Guy St. Dennis of the Summit Apartments at 1001 Esplanda Way, Casselberry.

St. Dennis took his affectionate 'dane' for a walk late Thursday night and when he returned to his home he was assaulted by a burglar who knocked him out and stole $63 from his wallet while his 'watchdog' watched, Casselberry police said.

The burglar escaped, but an off-duty Casselberry patrolman happened on the scene and called the station for help, Casselberry Police Chief George Karcher said.

Patrolman Tom Karl hastened to St. Dennis' home, Karcher said. Seeing St. Dennis unconscious Karl bent over to help him.

That's when the dane's curiosity turned to vengeance — he bit Karl in the posterior.

Karl was not injured because the dog got only a mouthful of wallet Karcher said.

Karcher said when St. Dennis came to he told police, "oh, you don't have to worry about him (the dog), he wouldn't bite anybody."

Schools Collect Stamps For Zoo

By JANE CASSELBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

Longwood Elementary School licked its way to victory in a contest among county schools to collect trading stamps and gift coupons for the Central Florida Zoological Society.

The project, sponsored by Sanford Junior Woman's Club, netted 824 books of stamps contributed in the county—equivalent to $2,462.

Stan Brock, TV personality and wildlife expert, visited Longwood Elementary to announce the winner.

In return for donating 310 books, Longwood pupils were named the zoo's new bobcats, "Longwood Louie" and "Seminole Sam."

Longwood physical education teacher Jane Camp was in charge and conducted competition between classes in the school with the winning class receiving a cake baked by the lunch room staff.

Idyllwilde Elementary was runner-up with 171 stamp books contributed, and little Golaboro Elementary donated 164. The fourth and fifth grades at Goldsboro held a baseball game charging admission of five stamps. Mrs. Doris Duxbury was in charge.

Teams of students kindergarten through fifth grade at Idyllwilde did double duty by pasting all unglued stamps from other schools into books for two weeks during free time and before and after school, in addition to the stamps they collected. All the children working on the project gathered for work in the kindergarten pod of Barbara Sawyer and Lynda Moncrief, zoo chairman for the Junior Woman's Club.

Others contributing were Sabal Point, 91 books; Sanford Grammar, 91 books; Forest City, nine books; Red Bug, 850; Lake Mary first grade, $2.65 and miscellaneous, $1.05 Bram Towers contributed 16 books and the Junior Woman's Club and others, 51.

Jackson Heights Middle School, Lake Brantley High School, Casselberry Elementary, English Estates Elementary, Geneva Elementary and Eastbrook Elementary also participated.

Neighbors Stunned After Shootout

LOS ANGELES (AP) — In a gold suit and old brown fedora, Tommy Howard sat outside the ruins of the house where "Cinque" and five other Symbionese Liberation Army members died last month in a shootout with police.

"Every little bit helps" reads a poster behind him. He shook a glass jar which held coins and a few rumpled dollar bills.

He was collecting money for Mattie Morrison. She was inside a white Baptist church 90 feet away, lying on a rumpled couch.

A pink stucco house where she lived for 20 years was next door to the SLA hideout.

Fire erupted when a police bullet apparently hit a firebomb inside the SLA house. Flames spread to her home. Now she lives in the church.

She mourned for her three pet mongrel dogs, killed in the fire.

"I lost everything, that's all. I lost my three dogs ... and that's the worst," she sighed. A frail woman, she wore an old print dress, a gift from a neighbor.

Howard, a friend, is trying to help her. Both are in their early 50s.

"People will help out," he said. "Times are tough but the people who come down give me something for her."

The lean man was collecting money from tourists who still come to see the rubble and the bullet holes. They kick through the ashes and dirt in the wreckage of the house where the SLA members died and walk over to Mrs. Morrison's home, now a shell of charred beams and crumbling plaster.

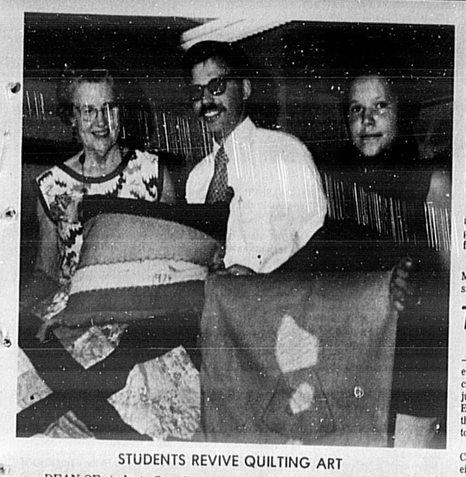
Many residents are still angry when they look at the aftermath of the shootout.

"If this had been in Beverly Hills or North Hollywood, the police wouldn't have done what they did here," said resident Freddie Boyd.

"They started shooting up the neighborhood without warning any of the people. If someone had been killed, all they could do was say they were sorry." Police officials say there was no time to warn the neighbors and pointed to the heroics of officers who evacuated residents though under SLA fire.

More than $150,000 in claims have been submitted by residents to the city attorney's office. City officials have promised to honor every valid claim. Mrs. Morrison isn't sure yet what she will ask in compensation.

Tears began to streak down her face as she recalled how, after police carried her from the home, "I started crying for my dogs. I knew there was no way they could get out."



STUDENTS REVIVE QUILTING ART

DEAN OF students Gene Brewer of South Seminole Middle School at Casselberry was presented a pillow made in the patchwork quilt interest group by Teresa Hilton (r) and teacher, Mrs. Lona Battle, who will retire at the end of the school year. Students also made skirts, jackets and aprons. Quilt squares were made for the Duval Home for Retarded Children.

Tornado Rips Arkansas Town

FORREST CITY, Ark. (AP) — A tornado ripped through this east Arkansas town of 12, 500, causing deaths, scores of injuries and widespread damage. Early reports from officials on the death toll ranged from two to eight.

Joe McCollum, a St. Francis County deputy sheriff, said eight were confirmed dead. He said the bodies were pulled out of debris of a 45,000-square foot Gibson's discount store that collapsed late Thursday.

Police Chief Dave Parkman said, however, only two deaths had been confirmed Thursday night. Parkman was quoted earlier by Rep. Bill Alexander, D-Ark., in Washington as saying six were dead.

Lt. Bill Lawson of the state Military Department said Gov. Dale Bumpers had ordered 50 National Guard members from the Forrest City area on duty to prevent looting.

Power lines were knocked down but electrical service was generally restored in the city within about one hour. A Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. spokesman said about 1,100 telephones were out of service.

Kersh Hall of the Forrest City Times-Herald said three churches were destroyed and some two-story townhouse apartment buildings were left with only the ground floor intact after the storm.

Sam Smith Junior High School was reported heavily damaged and Alta McDaniel Elementary School was demolished. School Supt. Bill Irving said only the gymnasium was standing at the junior high school.

Nature's Calling Won't Cost Dime

Political reputations are made — and sometimes manufactured out of whole cloth — in strange ways.

More often than not our legislators and chief executives spend a great deal of their time straining at gnats, debating endlessly subjects of little or no concern to the average person.

That is not to say that their efforts are entirely useless nor that the legislation isn't necessary for our future well being and protection. It is simply to say that for the most part the legislation usually has little direct bearing on the individual.

But every now and then a legislator or governor seizes on a problem we can all relate to in very human terms. Generally speaking it usually involves some annoyance that we — much to our regret and shame — accept like so many sheep as something over which we have no control.

One example is the pay toilet in public buildings. The number of times and the number of people who have been caught in public places with a very urgent need to perform very natural act without a dime necessary to make use of the facilities boggles the mind.

Folk lore is full of stories of imaginative men and women who have worked out schemes to foil the lock — sliding under the door, climbing over the door, propping the door open for the next customer, etc.

But for some reason or another we have never organized an anti-pay toilet lobby. We accepted the inconvenience much as we have come to accept automobiles that collapse just as we make the final payment, ground meat that consists largely of cereal, ice cream that is more ice than cream, frozen juices, tasteless bread and the thousands and one other indignities we suffer in silence.

Then along comes someone in a position of authority who gets caught without a pocket full of change and asks, in effect, 'What the hell is going on here?'

Thus it is that Gov. Milton Shapp of Pennsylvania and State Sen. Lori Wilson of Merritt Island will probably be remembered longer and with greater affection by the public than many of their better known colleagues who spend their time wrestling with tax programs and road repairs.

Gov. Shapp, who apparently up until that time had never spent much time driving the Pennsylvania Turnpike (or never heard the call of nature while doing so) was horrified to find that the Howard Johnson restaurants — operating on the toll road under franchise arrangement with the state — maintained pay toilets. The governor's ire was a joy to behold and before you could say 'Miss could you give me change for a quarter?' word came out of Harrisburg that the locking mechanisms were to be removed from the rest rooms immediately. And they were. And Gov. Shapp, though he may raise taxes until Hell won't have them, will always retain a sizeable group of admirers among Pennsylvanians forced to travel the Turnpike with any degree of regularity.

So too will it be with Ms. Wilson, who slipped through the Florida legislature a bill that will at least limit the number of pay toilets in places that serve the public. The Wilson legislation notes Florida requires a minimum number of toilet facilities be made available in places serving the public. These must be free. Any facilities above those required by law can be of the pay variety.

The bill may not rank as one of the greatest legislative achievements of all time, but it at least removes one more barrier to the 'good life'.

Nixon's Economists Show Their Failing

By RAY CROMLEY
The Herald Services

President Nixon has rent to Congress the program his chief economic advisers have developed for attacking inflation and unemployment. It is shockingly sterile.

A study of the 44 pages makes clear these men have no new answers, no new thoughts and no new initiatives.

Their major hope for beating inflation apparently rests on keeping the money supply tight and the costs of borrowing high.

Steep interest rates drive dollars from investments. Witness the unhappy state of the New York Stock Exchange and the Dow Jones industrial, transportation and utilities averages. When funds normally raised in the stock market are not available for legitimate and necessary expansion, conversion and modernization, consumers suffer.

The nation has a major need today for rapid expansion of conventional and nuclear power plants, increased exploratory drilling for oil, increased production of equipment to mine more coal more efficiently and to convert electric power plants from oil to coal. If the money required, either through borrowing or the sale of new stock, is high in cost, higher prices will be locked into the system for years to come.

High interest costs discourage the installation of energy-saving devices by that myriad of small concerns and ordinary homeowners where the need is greatest, thus nullifying national efforts to conserve energy.

Scarce, expensive money also drives to the wall, or at best makes life extremely difficult for, that multitude of small and medium-sized industries which produce many of this nation's breakthroughs in research and new products. Original devices and concepts are urgently needed to increase industrial efficiency and thus break the back of inflation.

The added cost of high-priced money can be expected to hamper the President's $10 billion program for encouraging home building — for it will tend to drive the cost of houses out of sight, and tend to dry up mortgage funds as rapidly as the government pumps new "low interest" money into the system.

The President's Council of Economic Advisers, however, theorizes tight money will cure inflation by squeezing out the market. As competition for credit is intensified, these advisers say, the "less creditworthy borrowers" tend to be crowded out or become unable to pay the high interest rates. "That is part of the process by which monetary restriction reduces inflationary pressure."

This assumes falsely some relationship between the worth of an industrial or commercial project and the ability to borrow in a tight market at disastrously high rates.

Cambodian Impeach Issue Won't Wash In The Courts

By WILLIAM A. RUSHER
The Herald Services

As I have noted before, the very eagerness of certain members of the House Judiciary Committee to demand more and more tapes of presidential conversations, and then to make Mr. Nixon's refusal to produce them an additional item in the forthcoming bill of impeachment against him, suggests that they feel their case badly needs that sort of fortification.

After all, if Messrs. Rodino and Doar were really up to their knees in hard evidence of presidential "Treason, Bribery, or other high Crimes and Misdemeanors," they would scarcely be spending their spring trying desperately, with net and trident, to entangle Mr. Nixon in some arguably contumacious rejection of their futher and ever-growing demands for tapes and documents.

And indeed, a look at the substantive case against Mr. Nixon confirms the suspicion that it is still dangerously thin. Right now the impeachment forces' strategy seems to be to try to wring an obstruction-of-justice charge out of that annoyingly ambiguous conversation in the Oval Office on March 21, 1973. The effort isn't going particularly well; and if you don't believe me let me refer you to the following paragraph from the New York "Times," which is rarely accused of Nixonian sympathies:

"The House Judiciary Committee, completing closed hearings on the Watergate cover-up, appeared divided and uncertain today on whether evidence presented to date had implicated President Nixon in any impeachable misconduct."

But, unsatisfactory as this state of affairs may be, the impeachment advocates apparently prefer its disadvantages to those involved in focusing attention on some other alleged instance of presidential wrongdoing. Take Cambodia, for example.

For at least a year, no list of Mr. Nixon's alleged misdeeds has been complete without a reference to his secret bombardment of Cambodia in 1969-70. Since Article I of the Constitution expressly vests in Congress the power "to declare War," and since Congress not only didn't authorize the bombing of Cambodia but (with the exception of a few high-ranking members of the relevant committees of the two Houses) didn't acquiesce in it or even know about it, it follows—so runs the argument—that Mr. Nixon deliberately violated the Constitution and his own oath of office.

But the President has a devilishly ingenious and highly plausible defense of his action in ordering the bombing of Cambodia. That neutral nation's territory was, of course, being used without permission by the North Vietnamese as a sanctuary and supply route for its forces fighting Americans in South Vietnam. Prince Shihanouk, Cambodia's head of state, was helpless to prevent this, but (according to Mr. Nixon) gave his consent to American bombardment of the intruders in his country on the condition that the bombings remain unannounced. Otherwise, he explained, he would be compelled, for reasons of sheer face, to object to them. Hence the secrecy.

Of course, one is not required to believe this explanation. And it is only fair to add that Prince Sihanouk, who subsequently abandoned his precarious neutrality and currently lives in Peking on the sufferance of the Chinese Communists, now hotly denies that he ever gave his consent. But few think that the House Judiciary Committee will elect to believe Sihanouk; Mr. Nixon's version of the episode is altogether too plausible, and accords too well with the known facts.

But if we accept the President's explanation, note how it demolishes the case for his impeachment on this particular ground. For Mr. Nixon can hardly be said to have waged an unauthorized war against a foreign nation if its head of state had given his advance consent to the action in question. It is much as if somebody had tried to impeach FDR for authorizing the bombing of Dutch targets during World War II, despite the fact that Queen Wilhelmina, whom we still recognized as head of state and who was living in Canada at the time, knew all about the bombings and thoroughly approved of them. We were not at war with the Netherlands; on the contrary, that country was our ally. The bombings would have constituted acts of war against it only if they had been conducted without the consent of the recognized Dutch authorities.

So it's back to the drawing-boards, gentlemen. The Cambodian-bombing argument just won't wash.

Dear Sir:

Re the article about Mr. Ralph Willis by Jean Patteson — Why should I have the expense of buying aerosol dog repellent to protect my lawn when we have a leash law?

The repellents I have tried were expensive, and rains destroyed any effect in a short time.

I do not hate dogs but resent having to clean up after other people's animals.

The problem with inconsiderate owners seems to be universal. There have been articles in several magazines recently, about the pet-owners responsibility, and complaints in letters to editors because leash laws are not enforced.

Orlando has a leash law. They also have a law that garbage must be put in 20-gallon plastic bags. Recently a senior citizen was arrested and served a short time in jail because he refused to use the plastic bags, for the very good reason that dogs tore them open. The dogs and their owners went free. Good old American justice!

The leash law has helped in my neighborhood. I seldom have to clean up after dogs now. But there are two dogs I still have to chase away — a small short white dog with orange spots and a shaggy white one with brown spots.

The people in the city voted for a leash law. It should be enforced.

Lucie Campbell

Old gas stations never fade away. They just die.

Abandoned stations are a growing urban blight. (They're not so pretty in the country, either, but there the landscape tends to swallow them up.)

Some 10,000 service stations went out of business in 1973, the American Petroleum Institute reports, and the gasoline crisis was just getting started then. Thousands more will probably close this year, even with improving gasoline supplies.

What to do with all these properties? Fortunately, many of them are in very advantageous locations, usually on a busy corner right across from two or three other stations.

Realtor magazine recently asked its readers to send in suggestions for new uses for gas stations. Some it received:

Dry cleaning substation, office, auto repair shop, bus terminal, monument sales, parking lot, beauty shop, small stores or shops, fast food service, open-air market, drive-in bank, laundromat, mobile home sales, used car lot, convenience food market.

None of these ideas exactly grabs one, does it?

The, Uh, Profane Expletive

By DON OAKLEY
The Herald Services

President Nixon's use of deleted expletives in the White House transcripts has drawn comment by spokesmen from both the spiritual and the secular worlds, from the sacred and the — uh — profane.

First was John McLaughlin, a Jesuit priest on the White House staff whom some reporters have dubbed the President's resident exorcist.

"I see the profanity as a form of emotional drainage," said the good father, "...of therapy...of release." Used as an escape valve for the tremendous pressure at the top, this kind of cussing was "good, valid, sound."

Now comes a University of Wisconsin professor who says President Nixon is a "typical American" when it comes to swearing.

Reinhold A. Aman, an assistant professor of German who considers himself an expert on swearing, says he "read the whole (expletive deleted) thing" (the transcripts) and found that the President "acted like anyone else. He had to get rid of his emotional steam. He could have kicked Pat or started a war, or he could have sworn."

Americans will be happy to know that they have as Commander in Chief a regular fellow who swears rather than kick his wife or call out the Marines. And anyone with a smattering of understanding of human nature will agree as to the therapeutic value of a resounding, hair-singeing, wall-shaking oath vented under the appropriate circumstances. The man who knows how to swear—and when to swear—has learned a useful art.

But is that what we have in the transcripts?

It would seem that very little emotion was expressed at all, by any of the participants. Rather, they cold-bloodedly discussed "options" and "scenarios." Far from signifying explosions of presidential wrath, the deleted expletives attributed to Mr. Nixon seem to have been almost neutral, all-purpose adjectives—so far as can be determined from reading the transcripts rather than hearing the actual tapes.

The conversations recorded in the Oval Office were little different from the kind that can be heard in any military barracks, where a small number of stock expletives are used routinely and incessantly as a substitute for thought.

Certainly, very little first-rate thinking seems to have taken place in the Oval Office, at least as far as Watergate is concerned.

If only the President had really let loose when he learned about his aides' involvement in the affair and had delivered himself of a few choice words that would have fried those tapes and curled them around the edges.

That would not only have been therapeutic for him but for the whole nation.

Jack Anderson Milk Scandal Chronology

(Copyright, 1974, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON — The dairy lobby's $2 million pledge to help re-elect President Nixon was originally timed to influence his decision on dairy import quotas, rather than price support.

The offer was put in writing on December 16, 1970, after the White House hatchetman, Charles Colson, had threatened to "put the screws" to the dairymen for contributing to Democrats.

Two weeks after this written pledge was delivered to the White House, the President adopted the import quotas.

Then the dairy lobby began campaigning for higher price supports, which the White House ordered on March 25, 1971. But before issuing the announcement, according to sworn testimony, the White House demanded a renewal of the $2 million offer.

This is the chronology of the milk scandal, which we have put together from our own investigation. Here are the details:

The milk producers began talking to the White House about campaign contributions in the early autumn of 1970. At a September meeting in Colson's office, the milk producers agreed to put up $10,000 apiece for the Senate races of 11 conservative candidates whom the White House favored.

But the dairy people also contributed to the campaigns of Democrats, who had influence over dairy legislation. When Colson learned about this, he fired off a sharp memo to another White House aide, the late Murray Harrison.

"Would you please check with your friend, Harrison, and tell him if he wants to play both sides, that's one game; if he wants to play our side, it is entirely different," wrote Colson. "This would be a good way for you to condition him before we put the screws to him on imports, which we are about to do."

True to Colson's threat, the White House held up dairy import quotas which the Tariff Commission had recommended. Harrison complained to us that "Colson wanted a one-way street. He wasn't interested in doing anything for our clients."

This upset Harrison and his legal associate, Pat Hillings, who had served briefly as Nixon's successor in the House and had maintained close ties with Nixon. Hillings, therefore, dictated a scorching letter to the President, attacking Colson.

Harrison persuaded him to tone down the letter. The second draft didn't mention Colson, but it reminded the President that the dairymen had contributed "about $135,000 to Republican candidates in the 1970 election" and were now preparing "to contribute $2 million for your re-election."

This was the famous December 15, 1970, letter which put the $2 million dairy pledge in black and white. Hillings said he pulled the $2 million figure "out of the air." It was not intended as a "quid pro quo" he said, but as an "attention getter" to get action for the dairymen.

Colson used the $2 million figure in a memo to President Nixon, however, three months before Hillings put it in writing. In any event, the President adopted the dairy import quota on Jan. 1, 1971, only 15 days after receiving the Hillings letter.

The White House claims that the President never saw the Hillings letter and that the $2 million pledge had nothing to do with his action on imports. The repentant Colson told us that he had sought milk contributions but that he had scolded Harrison and Hillings for linking the money to government action.

The following March, President Nixon, overriding the Agriculture Department, ordered increased milk price supports as well. The public announcement was held up, according to sworn testimony, until the White House received a renewal of the $2 million campaign pledge.

The President's personal attorney, Herbert Kalmbach, who had solicited campaign funds from the milk producers, testified that the public announcement, "was, in fact, linked to this reaffirmation of the $2 million pledge."

Meanwhile, Colson sent Chotiner another blistering memo complaining about Harrison and Hillings. "Your friends, Harrison and Hillings, have just run out of string . . . with me," wrote Colson. "They are personally abusive — particularly Harrison — not only to . . . us but to the secretaries in this office and they're making impossible demands . . . .

"They have so muddied up the present dairy import situation that I almost think there is no way we can help them . . . I practiced law for 10 years in this city and wouldn't think of treating a messenger from GSA the way these guys think they can order the White House around.

"Frankly, in view of the relationship with the dairy industry that is involved, I think that these guys are simply too dangerous to deal with and that they should either be put in their place or cut out of the act altogether.

"They have also refused to help recently in a matter of great importance to us. In sum, they are very, very bad news."

Jewelry Haul Seized

BARTOW, Fla. (AP) — Police say found an estimated $27,000 worth of jewelry when they stopped Christopher Floyd on a minor traffic infraction.

Floyd, 21, of Miami, was sent Thursday to the Polk County Jail under $50,000 bond on charges of failing to dim his lights, driving without a license, carrying concealed weapons, and possession of marijuana.

Assistant Police Chief Bob Laws said Floyd was stopped when he failed to dim his lights in the early Thursday on U.S. 17.

Officers checked the car and spotted what they thought was marijuana in the front seat, Laws said. The car was towed to the police station where Floyd agreed to the search, Laws added.

Officers said they confiscated 48 rings, 45 watches, earrings, lockets, and a $20 gold piece with a price tag of $1,800.

Exile Charged In Bombing

MIAMI (AP) — A Cuban exile has been charged with planting a bomb that exploded in Port au Prince, Haiti, federal agents say.

The bomb went off in a baggage room at the Francois Duvalier Airport on June 1, an hour after the suitcase in which it was hidden was removed from an Air France flight that carried 42 passengers and crewmen from Miami to Port au Prince, the agents said Thursday.

Agents of the Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms bureau said Pablo Uribasterra of Miami was arrested on a charge of violating the Federal Explosives Act of 1970.

A spokesman for the ATF said a policeman was injured when the bomb exploded. The ATF gave no motive for the bombing.

2nd Candidate To Withdraw?

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — One candidate has dropped out of the race for state education commissioner and another said today she is reconsidering her decision to run.

Edward Eissey, assistant school superintendet in Palm Beach County, said he dropped out of the six-candidate Democratic primary race because of Ralph Turlington's recent appointment to the position.

Eissey said he quit the race because he doubted he could beat Turlington as an incumbent. He said the appointment of Turlington made it hard to raise money to finance a campaign.

Louise Taylor, resting at her Cocoa Beach home with a severe case of bronchitis, said she was re-evaluating her candidacy in light of Turlington's appointment. She said she would not make a final decision until qualifying begins in July.

Mrs. Taylor, a Brevard County school board member, said "money got very, very difficult" after Turlington's appointment.

TB Patients Decline

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The state Tuberculosis Control Bureau has reduced the number of patients in its two hospitals as its expenditures have increased, the state auditor general said today.

The number of patients in W.T. Edwards Hospital in Tampa and A.G. Holley Hospital, Lantana, dropped from 646 June 30, 1970 to 478 on June 30, 1973, Auditor General Ernest Ellison said.

Spending by the hospitals rose from $4.9 million to $6.6 million over the same period, an increase from $21.05 to $33.67 per patient per day.

Horne Says He'll Resign Post July 1

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Senate President Mallory Horne, D-Tallahassee, says he will resign July 1 to devote full time to his campaign for the U.S. Senate.

Horne has already announced his candidacy, set up a campaign organization and revealed his financial holdings.

He told newsmen in Tampa Thursday that he will resign his state post July 1, although under Florida law he is not required to do so. State officials seeking a higher state office are required to resign in order to seek the new post.

Secretary of State Richard Stone, also an announced Senate candidate, has said he has submitted his resignation effective July 8.

Senate President pro tem Louis de la Parte, D-Tampa, will become Senate President until Nov. 5. De la Parte, whose Senate seat is up for reelection, has said he will not run again.

Senate President-designate Dempsey Barron, D-Panama City, is scheduled to become senate president in November if approved by a majority of senators.

Kidnaper Gets Two Life Terms

MIAMI (AP) — One of two men accused of kidnaping a young Colombian couple and shooting the husband has been sentenced to two life terms in a federal prison.

U.S. District Judge Peter Fay imposed the sentences Thursday for Milton Traylor, 22, in the abduction of Fernando and Maria Medina of Medijil, Colombia. Traylor was also sentenced to three years for using a stolen car.

Medina, 22, and his wife, 21, were on their honeymoon last Oct. 9 when they were abducted from Miami and driven to Ocala in Central Florida. Medina was shot there and left for dead. Mrs. Medina was driven to Georgia but escaped from her abductors near Atlanta.

Medina recovered from his wounds and the couple reportedly is back in Colombia.

Traylor already had been sentenced to life in a Louisiana prison in the slaying of Clinton Jones, who police say aided him in the kidnaping. Jones was found dead in Louisiana two weeks after the abduction.

Still pending are murder charges at Knoxville, Tenn., where Traylor is accused of killing a kidnap victim whose car he was using when he was arrested in New Orleans three weeks after the Florida abduction.

DOT Officials: Stolen Device Could Kill Thief

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Officials say the thief who took an object that looks like a big car battery from a construction field office had better give it back — if he values his life.

A Department of Transportation spokesman Thursday said the object was a Traxler nuclear densitometer, capable of inflicting irreversible bone cancer on anyone who opens it.

"In the wrong hands, it could be extremely dangerous," the spokesman said. "It can't cause an explosion, but if the thieves open it, they will die. They also could make other people sick if the radioactive materials inside are scattered around."

The nuclear density device, used to measure compaction in roadbeds, was stolen Wednesday night from a DOT field office on the Interstate 95 rightofway near Pompano Beach, the spokesman said.

He said the device is about two feet long, one foot wide and one foot high. It is decorated with orange and white triangles on a circular field and carries a radioactivity warning.

The nuclear materials — 10 millicuries of cessium and 15 millicuries of Americium — are contained in a probe attached to the battery-like box.

The DOT spokesman said thieves who stole a similar device in Miami last year dropped it off at a post office and called police after warnings were issued.

4 Indicted In 'Pot' Conspiracy

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Two Columbians, a Tarpon Springs fisherman and a Land O' Lakes man have been indicted on marijuana conspiracy charges by a statewide grand jury investigating large scale narcotics trafficking in Florida.

The 18-member panel returned the sealed indictment Thursday after only one full day of testimony — most of it from Florida law enforcement officials who reportedly used graphs and charts to outline alleged narcotics rings operating in the state.

Those indicted were identified as Raymond Grady Stancell Jr., 36, of Tarpon Springs; Lee Adolp Dunn, about 33, of Land O' Lakes, and Eduardo and Raul Davila of Columbia. They were charged with conspiracy to possess marijuana.

Dunn and the Davilas were indicted last May by a federal grand jury in Tampa along with 10 other persons, including three former Tampa police vice squad officers, on charges relating to conspiracy to import and distribute marijuana.

Dunn is serving a four year term in federal prison after pleading guilty last September to charges of conspiracy to distribute the illegal weed.

Hillsborough State Atty. E.J. Salcines, who is heading the probe, said efforts will be made with the Columbian government to extradite the Davilas.

Stancell was arrested by agents of the Florida Department of Law Enforcement in St. Petersburg. Bond was set at $1 million.

Presiding Judge Marvin U. Mounts ordered the indictment sealed until the suspects were in custody.

Salcines refused to comment on where or when the four would be arraigned.

Boater Cuts Up Dock, Tows Away Only To Find His 'Gift' Was Hoax

MIAMI (AP) — Everyone now agrees that a misunderstanding caused J. J. Devertevil to cut a 40-foot dock in half at a Miami marina and tow the pieces to the Florida Keys behind his 42-foot sailboat.

But for a while Thursday, Devertevil had a hard time explaining to Florida Marine Patrol officers who boarded his catamaran just why he happened to be sailing south with Bert Tumpson's $5,000 floating dock following on a tow line.

Tumpson said the mixup started Wednesday at his Phillips 66 Marina on Watson Island near downtown Miami when he noticed something was missing.

"I sort of did a doubletake. I knew something wasn't where it should be, but it took me a couple of minutes to realize it was the dock we'd put up on land for repair."

Finding sawdust where the dock had been, Tumpson vaguely remembered hearing the whine of a chain saw cutting wood the day before. But he said he hadn't paid much attention to it.

Then he found the saw, with a note from Devertevil thanking him for taking care of it and advising Tumpson that the owner would return in a few days to pick it up.

Tumpson called the police. Warrants were issued and the marine patrol started a search.

"They were pretty hard to miss," said an officer who spotted the catamaran and the three-ton dock — with a small skiff riding piggyback — loafing along Card Sound 30 miles south of Miami at about one mile an hour.

Marine patrol officers who took the catamaran to Alabama Jack's Marina at Card Sound said Devertevil, 48, and his crewperson, Bib Maas, 37, were startled to find themselves listed as docknapers.

Tumpson said Miss Maas explained that a man at the marina told them they could have the dock. So, she said, they sawed it in half for easy towing, hired a crane to lift the pieces into the water and headed for the Keys where they planned to use it to build a houseboat.

"We've got it all cleared up now," Tumpson said. "They agreed to pay to repair the dock and they'll start towing it back tomorrow."

"At first I wondered how anyone could just take it like that," he said. "But I guess it's why people could sell the Brooklyn Bridge."

Chairman's Removal Is Sought; End To Barber Apprentice Plan

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — A group of barbers is circulating petitions asking Gov. Reubin Askew to remove Bill Porter as Barber Commission chirman.

Bill Aldridge, who operates a barber shop and a barber school in Jacksonville, said the petitions had been laid aside when the group thought the legislature might pass a bill to end an 18-month apprenticeship program for barbers. But the bill failed.

The program, supported by Porter, discourages people from entering the undermanned field, Aldridge said.

And, he added, "apprenticeship doesn't make them any better."

Students leave barber school after 1,500 hours of training in latest styles and then have to work for men who still "clip 'em close and comb 'em dry," Aldridge explained.

But Porter said the apprenticeship training was supported by the entire commission and is still needed.

"I don't know of any bricklayers or electricians who just go out on their own without knowing their trade," he added.

Barber school graduates must pass a commission examination, go through the 18-month apprenticeship and pass another commission test before becoming master barbers.

In addition to the apprenticeship program, the main grievance against Porter centers on his advocacy of teaching the trade in public schools, said Aldridge.

Bernie Parrish, an aide to Askew, said he had asked Porter to meet with Gary Lanham, operator of a Tallahassee barber college, over the issue, but a vacation by Porter intervened.

State Health Plan Sets Goals For Better Medical Services

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The state's comprehensive health plan calls for training programs and incentives for doctors and nurses to go where there is a shortage of healthcare personnel.

The plan, released Thursday by Gov. Reubin Askew's office, set broad goals and recommendations for bringing better medical services to Floridians.

Its proposals called for assistance from many state agencies and every individual in Florida.

"Providing health care and services to underserved citizens in rural areas and ghettos continues to be Florida's principal health delivery problem," the plan said.

Askew said in a statement that the report "is expected to serve as a basis in guiding the orderly development and improvement of health care."

The report covers the entire range of health care, from poor distribution of doctors and nurses to environmental health hazards and migrant health needs.

Recommendations range from educating people about the dangers of smoking to the state licensing of medics discharged from the service.

The top priority for personal and community health is "consumer health education to motivate Florida's population to utilize health resources and information to promote individual health maintenance and disease prevention," the report says.

The plan will be incorporated in a master growth plan being developed by the Department of Administration, Askew said.

The Health and Rehabilitative Services Department will also examine the plan and use it in developing future budgets, he added.

The plan is required by the federal government if Florida is to retain certain U.S. funds.

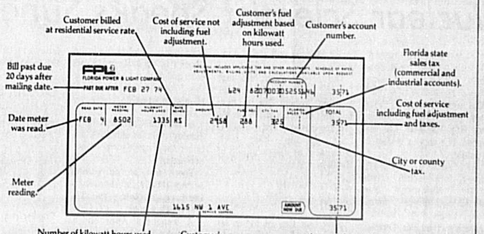
How to understand your electric bill.



There's a new item called "FUEL ADJ" on your electric bills. It stands for fuel adjustment, and has been a part of the rate structure since 1925. We started itemizing it on your bills last December to help you better understand your monthly charges.

It represents the changes in cost and quantities of fuel necessary to meet the demand for power. It also reflects the higher cost of burning lower polluting fuels. It gives us a chance to make appropriate increases or decreases in your electric bill without having to go through costly rate case proceedings.

Yes, decreases.

From 1964 through the summer of 1971, FPL's residential customers enjoyed reductions in billings totalling over $25,500,000. (Customers in previous years experienced increases or decreases depending on prevailing conditions and the formula being applied at the time.)

Of course, now fuel costs are rising and the fuel adjustment reflects an increase. But not a rate increase. The fuel adjustment goes directly to pay higher fuel costs, rather than producing any profits for the company.

And because the fuel adjustment is based on an average fuel cost which includes part of our oil inventory purchased at lower prices, and our less costly nuclear and gas generation, the increase on your bill is not nearly as severe as the increase in our oil prices.

We've seen the per barrel cost of residual fuel oil leap by 64% during January 1974 alone. The rise is nearly 200% over January 1973. That's a jump from $3.84 per barrel to more than $11.50 per barrel.

And that's why you're seeing the fuel adjustment increase in your electric bill.

But there is something you can do. Look under that column on your bill that says "Kilowatt Hours Used." That tells how much electricity you use. It's your control over how high or low your bill is. Compare it from month to month. Try to observe the Watt Watcher rules.

And you'll find that electricity isn't the only thing you save.

Activist Going After Iron Curtain POWs

PROSPECT HEIGHTS, Ill. — Remember the Pueblo?

If you recall a Navy ship captured by North Korea in January, 1968, you have a good memory. Now try this one:

Who was the man behind the movement to remember the Pueblo?

Not so easy, you say? Well, maybe not. However, that man, the Rev. Paul D. Lindstrom, not only is surviving, but he is thriving in this northwest Chicago suburb.

In fact, Lindstrom is not really removed at all from the sort of activity which prompted him to organize the Remember the Pueblo Committee and then to gain headline attention while negotiations were held for the release of the ship's 83 crewmen.

Lindstrom, 33, serves here as pastor of the Church of Christian Liberty, a highly fundamental, nondenominational church he, his family, and another family founded in 1965.

Additionally Lindstrom heads the Christian Liberty school for 100 preschool through 12th grade students whose parents apparently accept Lindstrom's premise that American public schools are "politically oriented to produce within the student an acceptance of the philosophy and character of socialism."

If this philosophy does not indicate a political activist bent, Lindstrom's involvement in yet another organization — the Christian Defense League — does.

Formed by him in 1971 and now the claimant of more than 8,000 members, the league currently is active in attempts to free thousands of American prisoners of war allegedly being held behind the Iron Curtain.

According to the league, between 3,000 and 5,000 POWs are being held in Russia alone.

Lindstrom, who says his activism is consistent with fundamental Christian teachings because "there is a time and a place for the use of the sword," travels extensively and claims the ability to obtain "inside information" from "highly placed officials in many governments."

Using this "information," Lindstrom has led numerous demonstrations throughout the country attacking the United Nations, the "drift away from the free enterprise system," and President Nixon.

Lindstrom describes the U.N. as "a foolish idea inspired by Satan and advantageous only to Communist countries."

A supporter of George Wallace the last two presidential elections, Lindstrom labels President Nixon "a political liberal" because of Mr. Nixon's support of Red China's admission to the U.N. and the subsequent expulsion of Taiwan.

Under the Nixon administration, Lindstrom adds, "the United States has passed through socialism and is approaching a totalitarian government not far removed from Hitler's brownshirts and the Communist secret police."

Brothers! Listen! In this man Jesus, there is foregiveness for your sins!

Everyone who trusts in Him is freed from all guilt and declared righteous — something the Jewish law could never do.

Oh, be careful! Don't let the prophets' words apply to you! For they say, "Look and perish, you despisers (of the truth), for I am doing something in your day — something that you won't believe when you hear it announced." (Acts 13: 38-41 L.B.)

Paul and Barnabas delivered this message many years ago, but it still rings loud and clear today if we will just open our hearts and ears to hear it and believe it! The same gift is available today for all of us. (See in your Bible Acts 13:26)

Yes, Heaven is a FREE GIFT! Do you see it?No one can ever be made right in God's sight by just doing what the law (Commandments) commands. For the more we know of God's laws, the clearer it becomes that we are not obeying them; His laws serve only to make us see that we are sinners.

But now God has shown us a different way to heaven — not by "being good enough" and trying to keep His laws, but by a new way (though not new, really, for the scriptures told about it long ago.) Now God says He will accept and acquit us — declare us "not guilty" — if we trust Jesus Christ to take away our sins, and we all can be saved in this same way, by coming to Christ, no matter who we are or what we have been like. (Rom. 3:20-23)

This gift is yours "For God sent Christ Jesus to take the punishment for our sins and to end all God's anger against us. He used Christ's blood and our faith as the means of saving us from His wrath. (Rom. 3:25)

Do you want this free gift? Do you want to be made into a new creature and old things pass away and be forgotten?

Then accept this gift and confess your sins and ask God to forgive you and strengthen your faith. With the help of the Holy Spirit you can gain new understanding of God's word and his will for your life.

Methodists Name New Area Pastors

LAKELAND — United Methodist Bishop Joel D. McDavid announced 144 pastoral changes among 700 churches at the closing session of the Florida Conference's four-day annual meeting.

Wednesday, June 12, will be "moving day" for the 144 pastors being transferred. The 556 others will remain in their same pastorates.

New ministers assigned to local pastorates in the DeLand District include William Sotis, Osteen United Methodist, and Lloyd Hampton, Christ United Methodist Church, Sanford.

Methodist ministers are subject to annual appointment, regardless of position. Pastors are assigned to one of 12 districts in the state, each headed by an administrative superintendent.

Two new superintendents were named earlier by Bishop McDavid. The Rev. D. W. Scott Bozeman, pastor of Clearwater's First Church since 1968, becomes superintendent of the St. Petersburg District's 49 churches in four counties. The Rev. Paul L. Hartsfield, pastor of Tampa's First Church since 1969, transfers to the Sarasota District to supervise the work of 67 churches in nine counties.

The Rev. Dr. Gaylon L. Howe was appointed to the newly created post of administrative assistant to Bishop McDavid with headquarters in Lakeland. He has completed a maximum six-year term as superintendent of the St. Petersburg District.

The Rev. Victor L. Rankin, pastor of Cocoa's First Church since 1971 and a former missionary to Cuba and Argentina for 19 years, was named associate director of the Florida Conference Council on Ministries, which has its headquarters in Lakeland.

The Florida Conference pastor with the longest service at one church, the Rev. Dr. Paul R. Hortin, returns to Christ Church in St. Petersburg for this 41st year.

Western Man Faces 'Integrity Crisis'

By CLAIRE COX
The Herald Services

NEW YORK— Western man is in the throes of an "integrity crisis" in which his entire culture seems to be threatened with "a kind of nervous breakdown."

That bleak picture of life in America is drawn by Dr. Harold J. Berman, a Harvard University law professor since 1949, in a special study of "The Intersection of Law and Religion" originally presented as a series of theological lectures at Boston University.

Berman, in an analysis issued by the Abingdon Press, the publishing house of The United Methodist Church, finds a major symptom of social ills to be a "massive loss of confidence in law" on the part of "law consumers," "lawmakers" and "law distributors" alike.

Another symptom he pinpoints is a "massive loss of confidence in religion" by the occupants of both pulpit and pew.

While there have been complaints in every generation that people were losing their religious faith and respect for law, and despite the fact that there are more churchgoers than ever before, Berman still finds "unmistakable" symptoms of an "integrity crisis."

He detects signs of a "sense of futility and a premonition of doom" in the progressive demoralization of cities, the deep frustration of many youths and the inability of nations to act decisively in the interests of peace.

What creates an integrity crisis, according to Berman, is a general loss of confidence in both religion and the law.

"Law is not only a body of rules," he explained. "It is people legislating, adjudicating, administering, negotiating—it is a living process of allocating rights and duties and thereby resolving conflicts and creating channels of cooperation.

"Religion is not only a set of doctrines and exercises; it is people manifesting a collective concern for the ultimate meaning and purpose of life—it is a shared intuition of and commitment to transcendent values."

Put in different terms, Berman said that law helps to give society the structure it needs to maintain cohesion and fight anarchy, while religion helps to give society the faith it needs to face the future and combat decadence.

Yet, he emphasized, each is a dimension of the other, with some societies having lived under systems in which the law is the religion. The Torah of ancient Israel is an example.

Even in societies where law and religion are separate, they still need one another, Berman added, stipulating that law gives religion its social dimension while religion gives law its spirit and direction.

In all cultures, he noted, law and religion share four elements—ritual, tradition, authority and universality. The prevailing concept he finds in Western society, however, is that law is primarily an instrument to effectuate the policies of those in control. This he predicts will, in the long run, be a self-defeating concept.

The lawmaker, as described by Berman, induces people to behave with an understanding of the consequences if their conduct falls short of expectations. Trust, fairness and credibility are more effective in encouraging obedience to rules, he said, adding:

"No amount of force which the police are capable of exerting can stop urban crime.

"What deters crime is the tradition of being law-abiding, and this in turn depends upon a deeply or passionately held conviction that law is not only an instrument of secular policy but also part of the ultimate purpose and meaning of life."

This observation led Berman to conclude that when a society rests its law of property and crime "solely on its rational perception of human nature and of social necessity and not also on its religious commitment to universal values—then it is in grave danger of losing the capacity to protect property and to condemn and punish stealing."

Today, Berman said, the law is failing to communicate its values to large numbers of people in urban ghettos to the youth culture, and to followers of peace movements.

He called for ways to be found to hear cases and treat people humanely and "creatively while at the same time expressing society's condemnation of their wrongdoings but not of them as persons."

Emphasizing a need for new procedures for dealing with political crimes, he advocated that "all trials should be educational, not vindictive."

The United States was cited by Berman, a specialist in the law of the Soviet Union, as a country that has not only the traditional Christianity and Judaism but also "the secular religion of the American way of life," which gives "sanctity" to basic legal norms and procedures.

"In few other legal systems," he noted, "does one find such explicit reliance on divine guidance and divine sanctions and so great a reverence for constitutional appeals to universal standards of justice."

The "crisis of confidence in law" in America can be dealt with, he said, only "if we recognize that law is not only a matter of social utility but also and fundamentally, a part of the ultimate meaning and purposes of life, a matter involving man's whole being, including not only his reason and will but also his emotion and his faith."

What about the crisis of confidence in religion? How can religion regain its own vitality? Partly through restoration of its legal dimension, Berman said, explaining:

"As law without religion loses its sanctity and its inspiration, so religion without law loses its social and historical character and becomes a purely personal mystique."

Law was described by Berman as "the process of resolving conflicts and creating channels of cooperation by allocation of rights and duties," and religion as "a collective concern with and commitment to the ultimate meaning and purpose of life."

The two are separate dimensions of human experience and yet, at the same time, are dimensions of each other, he said.

"They stand or fall together," Berman concluded.

LAYMAN OF THE YEAR

JOHN WEAVER, 201 Collins Dr., Sunland Estates, Sanford, was named Layman Of The Year by the Florida Conference of Seventh Day Adventists at the annual encampment at Forest City. Weaver was cited for outstanding service in work with the Adventist community van giving free blood pressure and urinalysis tests in shopping centers. Mrs. Weaver, left, is his partner in the work.

Thoughts

Guard within yourself that treasure kindness. Know how to give without hesitation, how to lose without regret, how to acquire without meanness.—George Sand, French novelist.

"We must be truthful and fair in the ordinary affairs of life before we can be truthful and fair in patriotism and religion."—Edgar Howe, American journalist.

Nuclear Scientist Speaks Sunday

Dr. Lawrence Hammond, PhD, spirit-filled Episcopal layman, will be guest speaker Sunday at the 9:45 a.m. service at Calvary Assembly, 1919 Miller Ave., Winter Park, pastor Roy Harthern has announced. The service is open to the public.

Businessman, author, engineer, and nuclear scientist—Dr. Hammond has produced and directed many national radio and television programs such as "Mr. District Attorney" and "We, the People". He served as special assistant to Gov. Nelson Rockefeller and was former president of Era International development Corp., involved in helping underprivileged nations find markets and technical skills.

An influential world figure and spiritual leader, Dr. Hammond has personally witnessed for Christ to many international leaders including the late Prime Minister Nehru of India and his daughter, Indira Gandhi, now prime minister. He is on the committee sponsoring weekly Congressional and the annual Presidential Prayer Breakfasts.

Messiah Lutheran

Messiah Lutheran Church, 510 N. Highway 17-92, Casselberry, will observe Trinity Sunday at 9 and 11 a.m. service.

The congregation has just finished a successful capital funding appeal for a new building program in which all projected goals were exceeded. This Sunday has been designated as a special day of thanksgiving.

Community Methodist

A "Great Day of Methodist Singing" is planned Sunday at Community United Methodist Church of Casselberry at the 8:30 and 11 a.m. worship services. All the church choirs will be participating.

A breakfast at 9:30 a.m., Sunday in fellowship hall will honor the church's high school graduates.

There will be no evening service this Sunday because of the baccalaureatete services at local high schools.

A Teachers Appreciation banquet will be held June 14 in fellowship hall to honor Sunday School workers.

Gospel Sing

A Gospel Sing featuring Gail Walker and the Melody Makers of Perry will be held Saturday at 7:30 p.m. at the Church of God of Prophecy, 2509 Elm Ave. Free will offering, public invited to attend.

Deltona United Methodist

The Deltona United Methodist Church Men's Group will hold its monthly breakfast Saturday at 7:30 a.m. in fellowship hall. On June 14, the Men's Group will hold its annual dinner meeting at 6:30 p.m. in fellowship hall.

Altamonte Community

The Fishers of Men Club of Altamonte Community Church, UCC, will meet for breakfast at 8 a.m. Sunday in the educational building. The Rev. Wayne E. Smith will present the program.

At 10 a.m. the graduating seniors will be honored by the church. A social period will be held on the patio following the service.

Texas Pastor Returns All Salary To Church

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Dr. W. A. Criswell of the First Baptist Church of Dallas says he will return all of his salary from the church since he became its pastor 30 years ago—more than $600,000.

The Rev. Dr. Criswell, 65-year-old former president of the Southern Baptist Convention, said he already has begun to return the money and will fulfill his total pledge upon his death—"I have consummated my pledge in my will."

The pastor of the 18,000-member congregation said he did not know how he was going to live without any money, "but I had the tremendous feeling that I had given my life to God freely.

"I feel I still want to give back to the church everything that it has given to me so that when I meet the Lord I can say I did all of my work freely."

The pastor of the world's largest Southern Baptist church is the first to acknowledge that not all of his money has come from his salary at First Baptist.

The Rev. Dr. Criswell said he has received substantial income from the sale of his more than 15 books, numerous speaking engagements and some private gifts.

Susan Bryant Elected Presbytery Delegate

Miss Susan Bryant, 18-year-old daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Virgil L. Bryant Jr. of First Presbyterian Church of Sanford, has been elected by St. Johns Presbytery as youth delegate to the 114th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, U.S., meeting in Louisville, Ky., June 16-21.

Each year the Presbytery elects only one youth delegate from its constituency of 36 churches in East Central Florida to represent youth in the decision making process of the highest judicatory of the Presbyterian Church, U.S.

Miss Bryant, who is completing her freshman year at Florida Technological University, was elected on the basis of her leadership in youth work in First Presbyterian and in the St. Johns Prebytery.

Giants Use 'Wind' To Win

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

The San Francisco Giants won in a breeze Thursday. Literally.

Aided by the well-known Candlestick Park wind, the Giants scored seven runs in the fourth inning and went on to beat the St. Louis Cardinals 9-5.

"Candlestick is by far the toughest park to play outfield in the National League," said St. Louis center fielder Lis Melendez.

He lost a fly ball in the wind during that wild fourth inning and it cost the Cardinals three runs. Frustrated over Gary Matthews' wind-blown double with the bases loaded, Melendez noted: "All you can go by is the sound of the ball hitting the bat. It sounded hard hit, so I started back. But the wind held it up and I ran as hard as I could but couldn't get to it."

The wind also pestered St. Louis starter Lynn McGlothen, who held a 3-0 lead until he was blown out in the fourth.

"I had great stuff and when I got that 3-0 lead, I thought I was in control," said McGlothen, a former American Leaguer making his first appearance in Candlestick's wind cavern. "But I just couldn't adjust to the wind. I felt like I had a good, live fastball, but the wind was moving it two or three feet."

In the other National League games, the New York Mets nudged the Cincinnati Reds 4-3; the Houston Astros beat the Montreal Expos 4-0; the Los Angeles Dodgers blanked the Pittsburgh Pirates 6-0 and the Chicago Cubs beat the San Diego Padres 5-1.

BASEBALL

Mets 4, Reds 3

John Milner hit a tremendous leadoff home run against reliever Pedro Borbon in the eighth inning, lifting New York over Cincinnati.

Astros 4, Expos 0

Lee May hit two bases-empty home runs and Larry Dierker pitched a three-hitter, pacing Houston over Montreal.

Dodgers 6, Pirates 0

Andy Messersmith pitched his second straight shutout with a five-hitter and Ron Cey blasted a two-run homer, leading Los Angeles over Pittsburgh.

Messersmith, 6-1, permitted only five singles while running his scoreless inning streak to 18.

Cubs 5, Padres 1

Don Kessinger and Rick Monday each knocked in two runs to help Chicago and left-hander Ken Frailing beat San Diego.

American League scores: New York 5, Chicago 1; Milwaukee 9, California 7 and Texas 6, Cleveland 2.

Brewer, Pinch Hitter, Halts Jinx With 2-Run Single

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Sports Writer

In Milwaukee pinch hitters are as popular as prohibitionists ... and about as successful.

But that was before Mike Hegan.

Hegan, a newcomer to the Milwaukee bench, laced a two-run pinch single Thursday, the first successful Brewer pinch hit in 24 attempts this season, and the Brewers dumped the California Angels 9-7.

Elsewhere in an abbreviated American League schedule, the Texas Rangers dropped the Cleveland Indians 6-2 and the New York Yankees downed the Chicago White Sox 5-1.

In a pinch, the last person you'd call on would be a Milwaukee pinch hitter. But California Manager Bobby Winkles left the Brewers little choice.

"I knew they didn't have any right-handed hitters left on the bench but (Bob) Collucio," said Winkles, explaining why he replaced right-hand pitcher Skip Lockwood for lefty John Cumberland in the seventh inning. "I knew Collucio had been hurt and I wasn't sure he was able to hit."

Milwaukee Manager Del Crandall, who later confirmed that Collucio was unable to hit, was forced to send up the left-hand hitting Hegan.

He said his teammates "told me he has a big breaking ball, so I tried to lean up to the plate," said Hegan, recently acquired from the New York Yankees. With their advice, he got his hit.

Rangers 6, Indians 2

Jackie Brown threw a curveballing seven-hitter at the Cleveland Indians, supported by Alex Johnson, who knocked in four runs, two in a three-run Texas seventh.

Yankees 5, White Sox 1

George Medich scattered 10 hits and the Yankees deprived former teammate Stan Bahnsen of his 100th major league victory in his fifth straight unsuccessful bid.

National League scores: New York 4, Cincinnati 3; San Francisco 9, St. Louis 6; Houston 4, Montreal 0; Chicago 5, San Diego 1; Los Angeles 6, Pittsburgh 0.

Sanderson Trade Shakes Pro Hockey

NEW YORK (AP) — Derek Sanderson, quickly becoming known as hockey's one-man shake-up, may be coming to New York.

Ranger fans are ready; they've been clamoring for personnel changes since the Philadelphia Flyers eliminated New York from the National Hockey League playoffs in April. The loss marked the eighth consecutive year the club has made the playoffs in futile chase of the treasured silverware.

Reportedly, the trade has been made. Informed sources say the outspoken, controversial center will join New York next week through a complicated three-team transaction at Monday's intraleague draft.

The Rangers will leave defenseman Jim Neilson unprotected, and he will be chosen by the California Seals—owners of the draft's first selection.

Under NHL draft rules, the Rangers then would be allowed to accept a player or cash as compensation for Neilson. In this case, a player will be taken: Center Walt McKechnie, the last-place Seals' third-leading scorer.

McKechnie will be traded to Boston for Sanderson, the mod center whose lifestyle appears to clash painfully with that of the club's conservative coach and general manager, Emile Francis.

Francis demands that his players wear neckties in public. A necktie on Sanderson is a rarity. There is a No Smoking rule in the Rangers' dressing room, but one of Sanderson's first moves in the room after a game is lighting a cigarette. Francis does not permit facial hair on his players. Sanderson has a mustache.

Also, Sanderson, 27, is not known to mince words. He holds nothing back from reporters after a game—a move popular with the media, but unsettling to the far less outspoken Francis.

There has been pressure on the New York front office to get rid of aging, high-salaried veterans while they can still bring something in a trade. High-priced left wing Vic Hadfield was traded to the Pittsburgh Penguins last week for a less expensive defenseman named Nick Beverly.

The scrappy Sanderson is one player who could shake things up. He twice fought with teammate Terry O'Reilly in Oakland last March, and when Sanderson missed the team plane back to Boston the next day, he was suspended for the rest of the season.

In 1972, he jumped from the Bruins to the then Philadelphia Blazers for a $2.5 million. But he injured his back after just eight games, and had his attorney negotiate his return to the Bruins.

Through Bob Woolf, his attorney, Sanderson has expressed a strong desire to play for Francis. "Derek has always admired Emile Francis, and despite his flamboyant nature and style, Derek has said he really wants to prove himself and could be very compatible with Emile and the Rangers," Woolf said.

Fund Raising Track Meet Drawing Olympian Help

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — It started as a small, fund-raising event but the field will include 20 former Olympians and Rick Wolhuter, Steve Prefontaine and Don Quarrie will shoot for world records Saturday in the Hayward Field Restoration track and field meet.

But Bob Newland, the meet director, who directed the 1972 Olympic track and field trials in Eugene, said, "Then I began to get all kinds of calls; these guys wanted in. Some are coming in at their own expense just to compete."

The meet is to raise funds for completion of the new west grandstand at Hayward Field on the University of Oregon campus.

In a telephone conversation with Wolhuter, world record holder in the 880, Newland said he told the University of Chicago Track Club star he could guarantee a good but not an extremely strong field in the half mile.

Wolhuter, who holds the world mark of 1 minute 44.6 seconds, will try to erase the record only a week after winning the mile in 3:55.1 at a U.S. Track and Field Federation meet last weekend at Wichita State.

Prefontaine, a former Olympian now running for the Oregon Track Club, "says he'd like to go for a world mark in the three-mile but needs someone to set roughly a 4:16 first mile," Newland said.

Golf Course Designer, 90, Shooting His Age Or Under

CARMEL, Ind. (AP) — "I'm just a decrepit old athlete who keeps on trying because I'm too hard-headed to quit," said Bill Diddel, a celebrated amateur golfer and golf course architect.

The long time native of Carmel, an Indianapolis suburb, marked his 90th birthday today, and once again is being honored by members of the Woodland Country Club.

This birthday will be a little different. In the past, he's always played a special round of golf on June 7, but a case of rheumatism is going to keep Diddel off the links this year.

"It seems to be getting better all the time," says Diddel. "I think within a couple of weeks, I'll be able to play again. Before I had to take it easy, I was shooting in the low 80s. But it'll be a while before I ever do that again. Of course, even the high 80s and low 90s is bad for anybody who knows as much about golf as I do.

"The first time I did it was back in 1955 (at age 71) when I shot a 70 at Daytona Beach," says Diddel.

"Since then, I've been shooting my age a great deal of the time. Twice I ended up with a score twelve strokes under my age, and I guess that's some type of record. Over-all, I've played 1,120 rounds below my own age."

He began golfing in 1900, won the Indiana Amateur Championship five times, the Central State Championship twice, took numerous tourneys in central Indiana, and most recently, the overwhelming majority of Senior Citizens Championships in Florida.

"I had pretty fair success throughout the early 1900's, winning some tourneys along the way. Then I quit playing on a competitive basis for about 15 years to concentrate on designing golf courses."

Diddel currently is designing a golf course in St. Petersburg, Fla. Since 1922, he has designed nearly 200.

Orange Bowl Signs Big 8 For 4 Years

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The football champion of the Big Eight Conference will play in the Orange Bowl four consecutive years starting with the 1976 game, it has been announced.

The Big Eight and the Orange Bowl Committee announced the contract Thursday, which does not prohibit one school from playing in the Miami, Fla., classic two or more consecutive years.

A conference representative will select a team to play in the bowl game in event of a tie for the championship. Big Eight teams not competing in the Orange Bowl will be allowed to play in other postseason games.

CLOSE RACE TO FIRST

DESPITE GRIMACE on face of Veterans of Foreign Wars' Sanford Junior League player, as he chugs into first just as the ball does against Elks, there was a lot of grinning around when the VFW posted a 16-7 victory Thursday afternoon at Pinehurst Park.

Cannonade Taking Time To Be Belmont's Fastest

NEW YORK (AP) — Trainer Woody Stephens thinks Cannonade could be the fastest 3-year-old in the Belmont Stakes Saturday because the Kentucky Derby winner wasn't so fast in getting ready for the race.

"Maybe I worked Cannonade too fast for the Preakness," Stephens said Thursday after a field of 12 was entered for the 1½-mile Belmont.

Cannonade, who worked a leisurely mile in 1:44 1-5 Monday compared to miles of 1:41 1-5 for Little Current and 1:38 1-5 for Hudson County, went five eighths in 59 3-5 and out six furlongs in 1:12 2-5 Thursday. His first quarter was in :24 seconds and the half in :47 3-5.

No matter how fast Cannonade goes Saturday, it appeared he will run without Angel Cordero Jr., who rode him in the Derby and to a third place finish in the Preakness.

The New York State Racing and Wagering Board ruled against Cordero's appeal of a suspension for careless riding last week at Belmont Park. The suspension began last Monday and ends next Monday.

Stephens said he has conferred with owner John M. Olin and it was decided to name Jorge Velasques to ride Cannonade.

The early favorite for the 106th Belmont, scheduled to start about 5:40 p.m., EDT, was Little Current, who inished fifth in the Derby and then won the Preakness by seven lengths under Miguel Rivera, who will ride again.

Little Current was entered as part of a John Galbreath entry with lightly-raced Covered Pontage, winner of two of four career starts. The latter horse may be scratched.

Yanks Cautious About British Golf Victory

MUIRFIELD, Scotland (AP) — Jimmy Gabrielsen and John Owens carried American hopes into today's quarter-finals of the British Amateur Golf Championship, and both seemed a little surprised to be still in there fighting.

Gabrielsen, a U.S. Walker Cupper from Atlanta, has found a sweet putting touch just at the right time. But he has been cautious about his victory chances all week.

Owens, a 47-year-old accountant from Lexington, Ky., is similarly modest.

"I came because I always wanted to play in the British Amateur, since I was a little boy," said Owens, on his first visit to Britain.

He was twice Kentucky amateur champion. He was a quarter-finalist in the U.S. Amateur 11 years ago.

After losing the first two holes Thursday, Ownes came back to win a thrilling match by one hole over George Haines, a 30-year-old teacher from Far Hills, N.J.

Gabrielsen has been one of the few golfers to consistently master Muirfield's windy, 6,862-yard, par-71 links this week.

He completely outclassed Bill Cosgrove of Worcester, Mass., to win 5 and 3 in Thursday's sixth round.

Today Gabrielsen met Peter Davidson, a 44-year-old English dental surgeon, while Owen took on 1972 British Amateur winner Trevor Homer.

The other quarter-final matches all involve British players: Peter Hedges against Mike Poxon and Tom Melville against Hugh Stuart.

Men Flash Tennis Color

PARIS (AP) — The color bar on tennis attire has been lowered for the French Open championships, but the men seem more eager than women to break out with bright dress.

Some men players sported rose colored shirts, others tangerine shorts and shirts, still others blue, while most of the women stuck with the more traditional white, often with colored trim. A few wore yellos dresses.

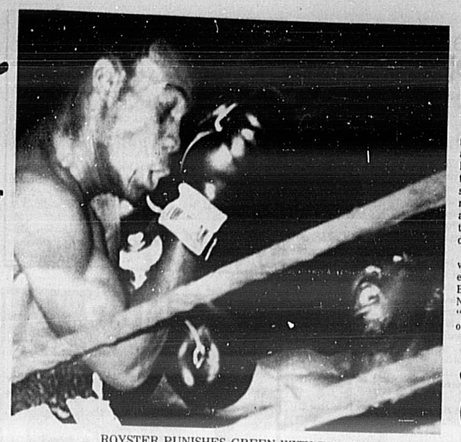
Ten Americans play in the second round of the men's singles on today's program.

Eddie Dibbs of Miami won his way to the third round Thursday with a 6-2, 6-3 victory over Hans-Jurgen Plotz of West Germany.

Arthur Ashe of Miami, a joint No. 3 seed, meets Jun Kuki of Japan. Marty Riessen of Amelia Island, Fla., meets Jeff Borowiak of Berkeley, Calif.

In another all-American match, Harold Solomon of Silver Springs, Md. meets Paul Gerken of East Norwalk, Conn.

Charles Pasarell of Santurce, Puerto Rico, meets Jaime Fillol of Chile. Brian Gottfield, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., meets Onny Parun of New Zealand.



ROYSTER PUNISHES GREEN WITH RIGHT

'Trim' Roman Bops Rondon For TKO

By LEE GEIGER
Herald Correspondent

TAMPA — Jose "King" Roman kept his Florida record unblemished by blasting out a technical knock out over Vincente Rondon in the second round at Curtis-hixon Hall here last night.

The win was the eighth straight in the Sunshine State for the Puerto Rican born Roman and one of his easiest.

Rondon, a last minute substitute for Hal "T.N.T." Carroll, was a pathetic sight as he showed little of the form that gained him the world championship in the light heavyweight division in 1971.

Weighing in at 185 the former title holder was woefully out of shape and offered only token resistence to a slimmed-down Roman who tipped the scales at a surprisingly light 181 pounds.

The winner dominated the action from the opening bell as Rondon was content to do little more than try to cover up. His only offense consisted of light lefts or rights that brought jeers from the 1,145 assembled fight fans.

The end came about at the 1:57 mark of the second after Roman first dropped Rondon with a crushing overhand right. This was followed up by a two-fisted barrage that brought referee Lee Sala to Rondon's rescue.

The main event was a poor conclusion to an excellent preliminary card arranged by promoter Roger McKinney.

In a blistering eight rounder Tampa's "Fast" Eddie Davis scored a split decision over former highly ranked light-weight contender Eddie Linder of Miami.

The bout marked the first time that Linder had been in the ring after an abscense of almost three years, and the rust showed.

"Fast" Eddie took command in the early rounds with crackling left hooks and right uppercuts. Linder was able to make it close with a counter attack in the middle rounds but it proved too little, too late as Davis swept rounds seven and eight from the tiring Linder.

The win was the second straight impressive showing for Davis this year in a Tampa ring. Two months ago he soundly thrashed Sanford's Vic Perez to temporarily halt the popular junior middleweights rise.

Another eight rounder found Lee "Junior" Royster continue his dominance of Tony Green by coming out on top via a unanimous decision.

The fight was the third in recent months between the two light heavyweights. Royster won the first contest with the second judged a draw.

The shorter, less flashy Royster caught the eye of the judges with his aggressive style while Green was content to jab and look for the one big punch that could bring him victory.

The win might have set Royster up in a Florida State Light-Heavyweight bout with the current title holder, "Snake" White.

Promotor McKinney is trying to arrange it for later this month in Tampa.

In the opening four rounder "Sweet" Marlin Lewis drubbed James Van Pelt to take an easy win. The bout marked the pro debut of both young light heavys.

NFL Earinings 'Moderate'

NEW YORK (AP) — Bidders for the new $16 million Tampa and Seattle National Football League franchises may be interested today in a report issued by the league's Management Council showing an average 1973 per club profit after taxes of less than half a million dollars.

"As a prudent business investment," said Arthur B. Modell, owner of the Cleveland Browns and a member of the NFL's Finance Committee, "football never has been as one of the best investments."

Modell and Wellington Mara, owner of the New York Giants and chairman of the Management Council, presented the audited report to the owners Thursday. Copies also went to the NFL Players Association, which resumes contract negotiations with the Management Council next week, and to W.J. Usery, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, who is acting as mediator.

The report said that on an average, NFL clubs last season earned $472,500 after taxes, a 7.6 per cent profit return.

The report said player costs account for 39.2 per cent of club expenses, the largest bite into each team's income. That compares with a figure of 28 per cent used by the Players Association. The largest income source is ticket sales, accounting for 62 per cent of revenue.

Pre-tax operating profits were reported at $945,000 compared to a figure of $2.3 million used by the Players Association. The report pointed out that $16 million—the price of the two new expansion franchises—invested in standard 7.5 per cent deposit certificates would yield $1,200,000.

Expansion income was not included in the audit. "We had no expansion income in 1973," explained Modell.

Modell said the higher salaries caused by the advent of the World Football League would wipe out increased 1974 television reveues for several NFL teams. The report said average television and radio earnings per club for 1973 was $1,711,000, a 27.4 per cent of the total income.

Two clubs were reported to have lost money in 1973 and although they were not identified, one of them was known to be the Houston Oilers. K.S. "Bud" Adams, owner of the Oilers, reported last week that the club had lost $459,000.

The report showed that the 26 NFL clubs earned a gross income of $162.5 million in 1973. It said 651 industries in the United States last year earned more than that.

LITTLE LEAGUE

Although he was touched up for eight hits, James Smith hurled Medical Center to a 4-2 win over Chase in Sanford's Little League.

Chase opened the National Division action by taking a 1-0 lead in the second inning, but Medical Center countered with a three spot in the fourth while adding another in the following frame. Chase closed out the scoring for the night as they tallied one in the last half of the sixth.

Smith struck out nine while walking only three and his mound opponent, Kevin Davis, fanned six, walked seven and allowed just three safties.

Milford Hayes picked up Chase's only extra base hit, a double, while David Sonnenberg cracked an all-important four bagger for the winners.

Other National League action found the Railroaders defeating Seminole Sporting Goods by a forfeit.

In the American League, Seminole Petroleum trounced Goodyear, 19-1, behind the pitching and hitting of Rocky Jernigan.

Jernigan singled and tripled while throwing a two-hitter. Seven of the 12 outs made by Goodyear came via the strikeout route, but the hard throwing pitcher also walked three.

Other standouts with the stick for Seminole Petroleum were Todd Burkhard, Mike Towers, Bobby Bridges the Adams brothers, Jim and Billy.

Sanford Atlantic also took home an American League triumph by coming out on top of U.S. Bank, 9-3.

Tim Shephard and Robert Woodson combined to stop U.S. Bank with only two hits while their teammates were scoring in every inning but the first. After spotting U.S. Bank a one run lead, Sanford Atlantic tied the game in the second then put it out of reach with two runs in both the third and fourth and a big four run outburst in the fifth.

In Western Pee-Wee League action the Cubs and the Tigers scored convincing victories.

The Cubs' win came at the expense of the Twins, 16-5. Scoring five times in the opening inning, the winners were paced by the heavy hitting of Andy Griffith, Ray Bridges, and Gary Carter. The losing visitors were paced by Brad Hudgins, Robert Butchers, Shaun Hanna and Ed Rinkarage.

In the Tigers' contest the eventual winners spotted the Rebels a five run lead, then rallied to take home an 11-6 win.

Stuart Smith did an outstanding job coming out of the bullpen to hold the Rebels scoreless as his teammates jumped on Pat Dougherty and Bret Von Herbulis for their game winning 11 runs.

In the Continental League, Apex and Jack Prosser Ford were victorious over United Transport Union and George's respectively.

The final in the Apex win was 14-6, but the score is deceiving as UTU carried a 6-4 lead into the next to last inning.

The eventual losers opened the scoring with a pair in the first frame. Apex tied the game up in their half of the inning but dropped behind again when U.T.U. came up with another two runs in the second.

The only scoring in the third was one run pushed across by Apex cutting the deficit to 4-3. United Transport Union scored again for two runs in the fourth, but were shut out the rest of the way. Dean Brown and Scott Fine combined to take home the win for Apex with Fine doing most of the effective hurling. The hard throwing right hander struck out 12, but his control cost him as he issued seven bases-on balls.

Richard Frederick, Wayne Connelly, Billy Terwilliger and Mike Parker tried in vain to hold Apex during their mound chores.

Leading hitters for Apex were Dean Brown, Fine, Pat Miller, Wesley Cooper and Bill Cosgrave. Mike Parker and Jeff Hughey stood out at the plate for United Transport Union.

Jack Prosser Ford's win was obtained much easier as they rolled to a 7-1 triumph over George's.

Mike Link dominated the game as he stopped the losers by hurling a no-hitter, fanning 16 and not allowing a single walk. The only score Link allowed came on an error.

Pat Leonard, Randy Hanson, Bryant Townsend, Chris Tharpe, and Walter Law picked up base hits to pace Jack Prosser's attack.

The winners scored twice in the first off loser Jack Wiggins, then added five more in the third.

Doctors Test Ailing OSU's Woody Hayes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Doctors at University Hospital expected to complete tests today on Ohio State University football Coach Woody Hayes, who was hospitalized after complaining of chest pains.

The 61-year-old Hayes was being treated in the hospital's coronary care unit, and his physician, Dr. Robert J. Murphy, said, "It does appear he (Hayes) had a small heart attack."

A hospital spokesman said an official diagnosis would be announced today.

Hayes, college football's second winningest coach, was listed in guarded condition Thursday night. A hospital spokesman said Hayes was resting comfortably and his pulse and blood pressure were stable.

'Draft' Veteran Finally 'Picked'

NEW YORK (AP) — Marvin Townsend, at 21, already is a veteran of baseball's free agent draft. In 1972, he was selected by the California Angels. In 1973, the Pittsburgh Pirates drafted him.

And in the two-day 1974 draft, which ended Thursday after 48 rounds and 726 selections, Townsend was drafted again ... twice.

The Baltimore Orioles selected the rangy 6-foot-2, 170-pound shortstop Wednesday in the primary phase of the draft, but the choice was invalidated by a complicated by-law. Because Townsend had transferred from a junior college to a four-year school, he was eligible only for Thursday's secondary phase.

After the Orioles passed up their second chance at him, the Boston Red Sox selected and signed Townsend, who hit .356 this season at Campbell College.

Five players chosen in Wednesday's first round signed with the clubs that drafted them.

The Pittsburgh Pirates announced signing left-hander Rod Scurry, 18; the Philadelphia Phillies agreed to terms with Lonnie Smith, an outfielder; Claude Edge, a pitcher, signed with the Milwaukee Brewers; the California Angels inked shortstop Mike Miley, and third baseman Ronald Sorey agreed to terms with the Montreal Expos.

Townsend may be a veteran at being drafted, but he is still modest and unassuming. He calls interviewers "sir," lives with his parents in their Norfolk, Va., home, and says he continually strives for perfection on and off the field.

'Professionalism' Rears Head In NCAA Track Championships

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The hush-hush word of "professionalism" found its way into the NCAA track and field meet Thursday night.

Taunts have been following Northeast Missouri quarter miler Larance Jones of Northeast Missouri State since he signed a contract as a wide receiver with the New York Giants of the National Football League.

"I've been getting the shaft as far as publicity goes," said Jones. "Everyone is saying 'who is this Larry Jones and where is Northeast Missouri State and what is all this trouble he's causing? Everyone is pointing a finger at me ... they make me feel as if I had committed some kind of sacreligious sin."

Because he signed with the Giants, Jones will not be eligible for AAU competition.

The semifinals of the 440 was one of the glamour events scheduled for tonight in Memorial Stadium.

There's little concern among the athletes competing here that the AAU will flex its muscles to make ineligible all those competing against Jones.

Terry Erickson of Southern Illinois said, "Yeah, I thought about the consequences of running against Larry, and the consequences are, I might break 45 (seconds in the 440). I never considered not running. Larry's the best in the world and I've been waiting all year to run against him ...."

Brigham Young and Tennessee were hanging close to UCLA but the defending champion Bruins are rocking along as expected with strong showings in the field event preliminaries.

Finals were scheduled Friday night in the hammer, long jump, shot put and six-mile run.

Texas—El Paso, a darkhorse, suffered a severe blow Thursday when Pole vaulter Larry Jessee failed to qualify. Jessee, a junior who had the best effort of the year as a collegian at 17 feet, 6 inches, missed three times at 16 feet.

Golf Lessons Help Berning

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A putting tip from George Archer has produced the leading player of the $100,000 Desert Inn Ladies' Professional Golf Association Tournament.

Sue Berning took a lesson from Archer three weeks ago in Reno, Nev., and Thursday the Incline Village, Nev., professional took only 30 putts with her new side-saddle putting method to fire a first-round leading 68.

Dear Abby

Keep Your Cool With Other Gal

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1974 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married for 18 years, and I always thought we had a great marriage.

Having once been his secretary, I sometimes fill in at his office when one of his girls is on vacation.

Last week while I was working there, a man phoned, and in a very gruff and angry tone, he asked to speak to my husband. Since my husband happened to be standing right beside my desk at the time, I handed him the telephone.

Then I heard this booming voice say: "My wife just told me everything, and even though I have a loaded gun, you're not worth going to prison for and neither is she, but if I ever catch you near her again, don't say I didn't warn you!" Then he hung up.

Abby, I nearly fell apart. I went home immediately, and my husband followed me. We had a long talk, and he told me who she was. (She and her husband belong to our club, and she certainly doesn't look the part.) My husband said he'd seen her only a few times, she meant nothing to him, and he'd never see her again.

I forgave him, and believe him when he says he'll never see her again, but I'm bound to run into her at the club, and I'm not sure I can handle it. I want her to know that I know. Should I tell her?

SHOOK

DEAR SHOOK: No. Keep your cool, and resist the temptation to tell her that you know. (Your husband will tell her.) No need to punish her further. Her husband has probably already taken care of that.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-Agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Cal. 90212.

Divorce Has Start In Bedroom

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph.D., M.D.

CASE A-653: Linda B., aged 37, is in a sex triangle.

"Dr. Crane," she tearfully confessed, "I have been happily married for 15 years to a wonderful guy named Zeke.

"We also have three children, all in school and both of us are crazy about them.

"But this past year, Zeke developed an affair with a secretary who is only 20 years old.

"He doesn't know I am aware of it, but I have found out and now feel devastated.

"So far he hasn't demanded a divorce and I can't image how he could desert me and the three children.

Cheesecake

"But you have always urged wives to fight fire with fire and beat their rivals with more enticing boudoir cheesecake.

"So please give me specific data on how to prepare such boudoir cheesecake."

Divorce usually starts in the bedroom.

And it is due in large part to the usual contented wife's failure to realize that her mate needs MORE boudoir cheesecake instead of less as he grows older!

Alas, the typical wife thinks his wanning ardor is due to his age, so she figures he doesn't crave as much erotic romancing as 16 to 20 years earlier.

That's a sad mistake!

He want even MORE, for as his organic ardor slowly wanes, his psychological appetite zooms!

Even in the gastric realm, it's the man with a diffident stomach hunger who needs more sauces, appetizers and relishes to stimulate his former youthful ravenous appetite.

So you stodgy wives better wake up, even BEFORE you learn that your mate is having a clandestine affair.

And to prevent your husband from straying, even in thought if not acutally in deed, memorize this recipe for boudoir cheesecake:

(1) Streamline your figure till you are within 10 pounds of your weight at your wedding.

For fat, waddling wives suggest "mother" instead of "siren" and the old incest taboo subconsciously inhibits his ardor toward a "motherly" type of wife.

(2) Shop around for the specific type of perfume that changes him from a tepid lover into a tiger.

Remember, though, not to pick perfume just because you enjoy it, for the purpose of perfume is to inflame your mate's erotic hunger.

Perfume is one of the feminine fetishes that men early develop with reference to the opposite sex.

Often they get "conditioned" to the same scent that their mother used when they were nursing at her breast, so ask your mother-in-law what perfume she employed.

(3) Lacy hems on your slip are another feminine fetish.

(4) Beware of tanned, rough outdoor type of skin. Tan suggests "he-man," not seductive feminity!

(5) Use diaphanous nighties, silky and sinuous; not pajamas, for pajamas masculinize the female figure and vaguely rebuff eroticism.

(6) Avoid other masculinizing factors, like cigarettes, liquor, vulgar language, profanity and lewd jokes!

(7) Disrobe coyly and slowly to whet his amorous appetite.

For other components of "boudoir cheesecake" send for my booklet "How to Prevent Platonic Marriage," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of The Sanford Herald, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

CARROLL RIGHTER'S HOROSCOPE

from the Carroll Righter Institute

SATURDAY, JUNE 8, 1974

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The earliest part of the day can bring some frustrations, but shortly the influences change and you feel more harmonious and can get into activities that give you the feeling of progress. Amusements fine in p.m.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Complete chores and get out to amusements with congenials. Boating would be a fine outlet; let worries vanish in the breeze.

TAURUS (apr. 20 to May 20) Finish important career work and gain the goodwill of bigwigs. Then get at public work that requires time and effort. Companionship favored in p.m.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Fine day to get into delightful new outlets that will give you interesting knowledge. Secure needed data from a new acquaintance. Watch wallet.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Take care of most pressing promises made to others. Later in the day is a fine time for going out with romantic tie.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You are angered with a partner, but this will soon change and then you can sit down with other associates and accomplish a good deal.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Find the right way to get your tasks rolling along in a more modern vein so they are not laborious and time-wasting. Improve health.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Once regular work is done in a.m., get out and join friends for recreation. Plan well for the p.m., too. Do creative work you like.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Pay more attention to kin; establish more harmony, beauty and comfort at home. Entertainment there is favored and a good time will be enjoyed.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Ideal Saturday to make telephone calls and visit with others who mean much to you in either business or personal life. Plan vacation. Improve hobbies.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Spend some time improving abode, or any real estate you may own, so you add to both beauty and charm. Cut down on expenses and improve budget.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Don't permit a.m. gloom to keep you from enjoying the fine aspects of the later part of the day. Meet right people at worthwhile group affairs.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Do something about fine inspirations and jot down those you might forget. Show affection to mate and get into his or her good graces.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will have much ability at whatever is of a social nature, so slant education along humanitarian lines, or for work with governmental projects. There is much love for people in this chart and your youngster can be a great boon to humanity throughout the lifetime. Sports and religion are important early. Make sure you give this child credit when credit is due.

SUNDAY, JUNE 9, 1974

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Pleasant and interesting times can be yours now by: allying yourself with mentally and spiritually alert people, so join group or other activities for new outlets.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Know early what you most want to do with good friends and then join with them at appointed time. Avoid one who is a real troublemaker.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Join with bigwigs who can give you the boost you need toward advancing in your career. Express any desire to get into philosophical or philanthropic matters.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Crystalize ideas so you know exactly what you are doing now and later. Then join new friends for interesting activities.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Your intuition is very accurate now, so be sure to follow its promptings. Modernize your activities. Romance is favored in p.m.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Revise agreements for better relations with partners. Once better accord is reached, go out for social activities with them.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Show those who have been good to you how appreciative you are and that you repay kindnesses brilliantly. Improve vitality with health treatments.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Plan to please associates, relieve tensions, and have a good time. Be with new friends you have recently met.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) An ideal Sunday to be with kin and do what is mutually enjoyed. Talk over important matters. Get rid of fixed ideas for more accord.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Get into the philosophical studies you like the most during a.m. Then you can get about with good pals and be happy.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan 20) If you desire to have greater prosperity, elevate your consciousness to greater heights. Discuss any doubts with clever business persons.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Get busy with whatever is of real importance to you in a personal way today. Join pals you like who will want to be with you in p.m.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Meditating upon eternal truths is wise now, and studying new wisdoms, which is what a Piscean likes to do. Get needed data from a wise partner.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY...he or she will get along very well with others and will be easy to rear if given chores to do and problems to solve, for this young person has the ability to solve them and thrives on such activities. Life's work should be slanted toward serving the public in general. Take care that you give a good diet early in life.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Opening lead—♣Q

Here is another hand from the Reese-Dormer book. South is in what looks like a most comfortable two-heart contract, but things start out badly. The opening lead of the queen of clubs kills off dummy's king.

South ruffs the third club. If he simply bangs down his ace and king of hearts, he is going to have 11 lead spades himself. If this happens he will lose three spades and one heart in addition to the two clubs the defense has already taken to the bank.

A little thought should show him a way to be sure of his contract except against most unlikely breaks.

He simply cashes one high heart. Then he leads a diamond to dummy's king and one back to his ace. Now he ruffs his last diamond, leads dummy's jack of hearts and lets it ride.

This is what might be called an "I don't care" finesse. If it loses, West will either have to lead a spade or give South a ruff and discard. Either way South will lose two spade tricks.

Actually it wins. Now South doesn't lose a trump trick and makes his contract in spite of the three spade losers.

A—Three hearts is an underbid. Four hearts dangerous. Take your choice and hope you are right.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of doubling a second time your partner has bid three clubs. What do you do now?

POLLY'S POINTERS

Drain Remedy Spots Counter

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — I used an acid to unclog my kitchen drain and some of the acid accidentally dropped on my new olive laminated plastic countertop. How can I remedy the resulting discoloration? — NANCY.

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with the stores whose cash register tapes are so lightly printed it is impossible even to tell the name of the store much less the date or price when they are needed to make an exchange, return a purchase or even to check the bill. — LUCILLE

DEAR POLLY — My answer is for Mrs. R.J. whose suitcase has a musty odor from being stored in the basement. I suggest that she fold a newspaper into a basket sort of shape, fill it with charcoal, put this in the suitcase, close it and leave for a week. The ink on the newspaper will absorb the musty smell and the charcoal will get rid of any mold. I used this in a closet that had mildew after it was suggested to me by our county home demonstrator and it worked. — BETTY ANN.

DEAR POLLY — After trying most everything for removing a crease from knitted fabrics I finally succeeded. Cut strips of waxed paper, lay on the crease and press with the iron set at the proper temperature for that particular fabric. I have been able to lengthen several dresses after doing this.

My bath brush never seemed to have a chance to dry as I take a bath before work and another after work. Mold that formed on the brush would not wash off but bleach did away with it completely. Now my brush is white and clean. — GERDA.

DEAR POLLY — A little shampoo on the washcloth will help clean away body oil left in the bathrub or sink. — BONNIE.

DEAR POLLY — A TV tray on legs is most useful as it is so lightweight. I carry mine all over the house and use it to write letters on while watching television or by a window with sewing on it or when peeling vegetables, to put hair curlers on when doing my hair or for doing book work. Its uses are endless.

I always put on rubber gloves when defrosting the refrigerator. Otherwise, the cold pains my arthritic hands. — MARY W.

DEAR POLLY — Prolong the life of overalls that are too short for a toddler by attaching sockmocs to the bottoms with snaps. The snaps will keep the stocking part of the sockmocs pulled up and cover the ankles and lower legs. Both can be put on at once when the child is dressed. — ELIZABETH.

DEAR POLLY— and Mrs. L. A.— To keep that shower curtain from blowing up and away from the tub while showering, just clip some clothespins to the edges of the curtain. Heavy buttons the same color as the curtain could also be sewed on but put on the inside so they will not scratch the tub.—MARTHA

Film Theater Drops 5 Shows

By DAVE McINTYRE
The Herald Services

HOLLYWOOD—The American Film Theater has trimmed its roster from eight to five productions for its second subscription series, which will begin in January of 1975, but there will be a new Children's Film Theater, and that program will offer eight specially made motion pictures, designed for audiences in the 7-to-12 age category.

Three of the five new productions for AFT will be made in England and all but one of the five plays selected for filming are of foreign origin, so the American in AFT is somewhat misplaced. However, that's nothing to complain about if the selections are good. The majority of AFT patrons appear to have been satisfied with the first round. At least attendance held up well throughout the season.

Three pictures to be filmed in London this summer include Bertolt Brecht's "Galileo," a play about the effect of scientific discoveries on authority. It will be directed by Joseph Losey, known for such films as "The Go-Between" and "The Servant."

Nixon's Mideast Voyage Underlines U.S. Interests

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's Middle East tour is a major diplomatic act, not because of any expected agreements but rather for its symbolic representation of the emerging new American power in the area.

There may be a few tangible results from the President's five-nation swing that starts next Monday—establishment of full diplomatic relations with Syria, for example.

But the main purpose as stated by White House spokesman Gerald L. Warren this week is to "consolidate what has been achieved on the road to peace" by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

Left unstated by White House officials but clearly understood is that Nixon's visit means the United States is committed at the highest level to creating an entirely new status in the Middle East, not only among the Arabs and Israel but also on the part of the superpowers.

That this can be done simply by Nixon visiting Egypt, Saudi Arabia, Syria, Israel and Jordan is not accepted universally. And some critics say the Watergate scandal at home is the real reason for the President's journey.

However, leaders of the nations involved in the trip have indicated Watergate has not affected their plans to welcome Nixon warmly.

And American experts generally agree that the President's journey is important and will be effective.

His presence will underline what Kissinger has described as the U.S. commitment "to bring about a just and permanent peace" between Arabs and Israelis.

By being only the second American chief executive to travel in that part of the world in 30 years, Nixon will be supporting the U.S. pledge to be even-handed in its treatment of Middle Eastern nations.

ANALYSIS

A corollary of the point that only President Nixon of the major world leaders can travel in both Arab capitals and Israel is an object lesson aimed at Moscow. Each step the President takes in the Middle East reflects a diminishing Russian influence.

This will be particularly true, if, as is hoped by American officials, Nixon is welcomed enthusiastically.

From all indications, these hopes will be fulfilled. Egyptian Ambassador Asraf Ghorbal told a newsman this week the visit is of "tremendous importance" to his government.

Syrian leaders have been more restrained, but they are ready to give Nixon a warm welcome, if for no other reason than to create a friendly atmosphere that could help them obtain American economic aid.

Jordan and Saudi Arabia are traditionally pro-American, and Nixon is expected to pledge them aid and cooperation for the future.

For Israel, Nixon will be working to convince the Jewish state that the new U.S.-Arab relationship will not be at its expense.

If all goes as planned, Nixon will tour the Middle East in an act marking one of the most dramatic diplomatic transformations of recent years.

Kidnap Victim's Wife Keeps Lonely Watch In N. Ireland

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — The eyes of Ingeborg Niedermayer are haunted by the memory of her husband, Thomas, who vanished in violence-torn Northern Ireland more than five months ago.

She waits in her suburban Belfast home for him to return — a vigil of love that police believe is becoming more and more futile as every day passes.

Niedermayer, a 45-year-old West German Industrialist was kidnaped outside his home last Dec. 27.

Officially, the detectives on the case say they don't know whether Niedermayer is alive or dead. But privately, they are more pessimistic.

A most everyone who connected with Niedermayer speaks of him in the past tense. The only people who keep their hopes alive are his wife and Niedermayer's colleagues in the Grundig electronics factory on Belfast's outskirts where he was the boss.

Mrs. Niedermayer keeps her vigil in the ranch-style bungalow in the affluent Belfast suburb of Suffolk where they lived for 13 years.

"I must stay here," she said. "I want to be here in case Thomas walks through the door one day. I know he is still alive. I have faith. It's all that has kept me going for the last five months."

Niedermayer, who is also the German consul in Northern Ireland, was last seen around 11:15 p.m. two days after Christmas.

Two young men knocked on his door and claimed they'd accidentally bumped his auto parked outside. Niedermayer, clad in slippers, sweater and slacks, walked down his drive with them to examine the supposed damage.

Witnesses said he turned to walk away, apparently after finding his car unmarked. Then the men bundled him into their auto and raced off into the night.

"The trail vanished 20 paces from his front door," a police spokesman said. "Twenty paces into oblivion."

His disappearance touched off one of the province's biggest manhunts. At one stage, about 15,000 policemen and British troops were searching for him. They found nothing.

Detectives have examined dozens of theories. All were dead ends.

Among the theories:

—Niedermayer was abducted by Irish Republican Army guerrillas as a hostage to free members jailed by the British. The IRA is battling to oust the British from the province.

—Rival Protestant extremists grabbed him because he had stumbled on a gun-running operation they may have been operating out of the Grundig plant.

But no ransom demands have been made and the IRA and other guerrilla groups have insisted they had nothing to do with the apparent kidnaping.

Teen Charged In Socialite Kidnaping

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Bail was set at $1 million today for a teen-ager charged in the abduction of a socialite who was released unharmed four hours after she was kidnaped Thursday. Authorities said $60,000 in ransom money was recovered.

The FBI was searching for two others wanted in the abduction of Mrs. Jack M. Friedland, 43, from her suburban estate. Friedland is president of the Food Fair supermarket chain.

An FBI spokesman said Frank Wyatt Jr., 18, was taken into custody while walking down a South Philadelphia street after the ransom was paid. The spokesman said the ransom money was in a canvas bank bag tucked in the sleeve of a coat slung over Wyatt's arm. He is the son of a Philadelphia police sergeant.

FBI agent Richard E. Kent said there were about 15 FBI agents and Philadelphia police officers "in the immediate area of the drop. The whole thing, roughly, took place within 15 minutes."

The woman had been released about 10 blocks away minutes earlier.

Wyatt was charged with kidnaping, extortion, theft by extortion and weapons violations.

Municipal Court Judge John J. Poserina set the $1 million bail during a 30-minute hearing early today and scheduled a preliminary hearing for June 12.

Philadelphia Asst. Dist. Atty. William T. Cannon said there were no federal charges because there was no interstate transportation and the abduction did not last longer than seven hours.

After being questioned for several hours by FBI agents, Mrs. Friedland, mother of four, returned late Thursday night to the sprawling $200,000 estate in Gladwyne, in a suburban section known as the Main Line.

The Friedlands are prominent socially and culturally in Philadelphia.

Early Thursday afternoon, as Mrs. Friedland was working in a small garden, three men, two wearing stocking masks, forced her into the house and bound Mrs. Friedland's 5-year-old son Roger and an elderly gardener with wire rope, police said. She was forced into a brown Ford and driven away.

FBI agent Kent said the kidnapers telephoned her husband shortly after 2 p.m. at his downtown office and told him his wife was being held for ransom. They instructed him to go to a phone booth several blocks away and wait for a call.

The FBI said Friedland did as instructed and received a call at the telephone booth an hour later. He was told to get $60,000, drive to a nearby location in South Philadelphia, leave the money in the car and then leave the car for 20 minutes.

Kent said Friedland got the money "in $100 bills and less" and drove his Mercedes-Benz to the location. He said Mrs. Friedland was released shortly later and called her husband's office.

Jobless Rate Rises

WASHINGTON (AP) Higher unemployment among teenagers boosted the nation's jobless rate to 5.2 per cent in May, the first increase in four months, the government reported today.

The turnaround is expected to continue in the coming months, rising to between 5.5 and 6 per cent by the end of the year, according to administration forecasts.

The Labor Department said 4.7 million Americans were unable to find jobs last month, an increase of about 170,000 from the previous month.

Unemployment has hovered in the 5 to 5.2 per cent range since January, after rising from a 3½-year low of 4.6 per cent in October. It was 5.2 per cent in January and February, 5.1 per cent in March and 5 per cent in April.

Total employment in May, at an adjusted 86 million, rose slightly after showing little growth during the winter and spring months. Over the past year employment has expanded by two million.

Official Assassinated

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Riot police sealed off three blocks in the center of Kuala Lumpur today as they hunted for the killers of Malaysia's top policeman. Two young gunmen shot and killed Abdul Rahman bin Hashim, 50, in the city this morning as he was being driven to work. His driver-bodyguard was seriously wounded. The assassins escaped on foot in the rush hour crowd. Abdul Rahman was the inspector-general of police and headed a special branch fighting Communist subversion. He was the fifth countersubversion police officer murdered this year. The government blamed the earlier killings on the clandestine Communist Terrorist Organization.

Thailand Kidnaping

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Three men grabbed the fouryear-old daughter of a Colorado man working in Thailand and dragged her screaming into a car five days ago in a town 100 miles southeast of Bangkok, the Bangkok Post reported today.

The Post said the father, Tony Trevino of Mancos, Colo., had not yet received a ransom demand for the girl, Linda.

The child reportedly was buying candy from a vendor in front of the family home when the men grabbed her. Her Thai mother was standing about 50 yards away and tried to follow the car but lost it.

The U.S. Embassy reported it had not been officially informed of the case. A spokesman said Trevino is employed by a firm that works for U.S. government agencies in Thailand.

IRA Striker Near Death

LONDON (AP) — The Irish Republican Army claimed today that another Irish hunger striker in a British prison is near death. One Irish prisoner, Michael Gaughan, died Monday night after a 64-day fast. The IRA spokesman said Frank Stagg "is in the same state as Michael was last week, and if something is not done he will be dead by the weekend." Stagg, 31, is one of five IRA members on hunger strikes in prisons in Britain. All were convicted on criminal charges, and all are demanding that they be classified as political prisoners and transferred to prisons in Northern Ireland. This would make them eligible for any amnesty that might be declared as part of a peace settlement in the strife-torn province.

Asylum Sought

TOKYO, Japan (AP) — A Soviet professor who had been teaching Russian at Osaka University has requested asylum in the United States, the U.S Embassy said today.

An embassy spokesman said the request by Boris P. Redkin, 36, a graduate of Leningrad University, was "under consideration in Washington."

Japanese sources said he came to Japan in 1972 under the Japan-Soviet cultural exchange program.

Vietnam Bombing

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — South Vietnamese pilots rained tons of bombs on North Vietnamese positions 25 miles north of Saigon today as hard fighting for control of the Ben Cat area continued for the 22nd day. Military sources said the Al Skyraiders and F 5 jets flew 60 strikes in one area west of Ben Cat. The South Vietnamese government announced it was resuming diplomatic privileges and phone lines to the Viet Cong delegation in Saigon in hopes of getting stalled cease-fire talks going again as well as resumption of the search for remains of more than 1,000 Americans missing in the Vietnam war.

Rome Strike

ROME, Italy (AP) — Italy's public transportation was disrupted today when 500,000 transport workers walked off the job in stagger four hour protests.

The three major labor federations called the strike to pressure the government into adopting a more socialistic transportation policy.

Man Slays 2 Teens, Dad In California

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — A man man battered and sliced two teen-agers to death and stalked the wounded, manacled homeowner outside a suburban home before firing a fatal shot.

Officers arriving at the house Thursday said they found the bodies of a teen-aged boy and girl bound and sprawled in separate bedrooms. Cringing beside the girl's body was her 18-month-old niece, Sharionda, who sat unharmed, crying in a pool of the victim's blood.

Witnesses saw Sharionda's father, Larry Calhoun, 30, hobbling manacled from the house, pursued by a man in a gray suit, authorities said.

Police said the unidentified man caught up with Calhoun and shot him once in the neck. He collapsed in a vacant lot across from his home before he was rushed to a hospital, where he died in surgery, authorities said. Calhoun had been shot once inside the house before his futile attempt to flee, officers said.

Kleindienst Jail Term Suspended

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst today received a suspended one-month jail sentence and a $100 fine for refusing to answer "fully and accurately" questions about the ITT antitrust case before a Senate committee.

U.S. District Judge George L. Hart Jr. said Kleindienst was entitled to the light sentence as a man of highest integrity.

Hart said that when Kleindienst testified before the Senate Judiciary Committee in 1972, he "was not bent on deception."

Rather, Hart said, Kleindienst was attempting to protect someone else, an apparent reference to President Nixon's order that Kleindienst drop a big antitrust suit then pending against the International Telephone & Telegraph Corp.

The sentence imposed on the former attorney general was the minimum possible.

Kleindienst, the second U.S. Cabinet officer ever to be convicted of a crime, was accused under an obscure statute making it illegal to withhold information or documents from a congressional committee.

The charge was brought after lengthy negotiations between Kleindienst and special prosecutor Leon Jaworski.

Kleindienst pleaded guilty to the misdemeanor charge on May 16.

Under terms of his sentence, Kleindienst remains free, but is on a month's probation.

President Won't Yield Documents

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presidential lawyer James D. St. Clair said today President Nixon will not give up all documents subpoenaed by former White House aide John Ehrlichman. A federal judge immediately began a hearing that could lead to a contempt citation against the President.

U.S. District Judge Gerhart A. Gesell asked Nixon's lawyer, James D. St. Clair: "You are saying he (the President) will not comply with the court's order."

"I think that's a fair reading," St. Clair responded.

Gesell, who had said earlier that unless Ehrlichman gets all the material from his own White House files that he deems necessary for his defense, he might have to dismiss the conspiracy case against Ehrlichman, then said:

"I propose to have a hearing into who has custody and control ... so I can take appropriate action under the contempt statute.

"The dismissal the President's action seems to be pointing for is a course I should not follow until I have exhausted every other opportunity."

NATION TODAY

No-Knock Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Charles Percy is seeking repeal of federal no-knock statutes under which government narcotics agents may make unannounced, forcible entries.

The Illinois Republican said legislation he was introducing today would make clear that federal officers must identify themselves and announce their purpose and authority before entering and searching private premises.

Percy deplored what he called "instances of drug agents trampling on constitutionally guaranteed rights."

He said his repeal measure would apply both to no-knock provisions of the Drug Abuse Prevention and Control Act of 1970 and to separate legislation providing similar authority in the District of Columbia.

Joan Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's wife, Joan, joined members of her family at memorial services for her brother-in-law in her first public appearance in weeks.

Mrs. Kennedy, who has been hospitalized for fatigue and mental strain, attended services Thursday at Arlington National Cemetery marking the sixth anniversary of the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. She was reported looking well and rested.

Camp David

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is spending some time at his Camp David, Md., retreat.

The President flew to Camp David on Thursday night after a dinner cruise aboard the Navy yacht Sequoia. Mrs. Nixon and Tricia Cox, the Nixons' daughter, accompanied him on the cruise. But they did not accompany him on his trip to the camp.

Vice President Ford

NEW YORK (AP) — Vice President Gerald R. Ford has gotten a 43-32 per cent positive rating on performance in the latest Harris poll. That's six points better than he did in March, but 14 points under his rating when he was named vice president last November.

William Middendorf II

WASHINGTON (AP) — J. William Middendorf II has been confirmed by the Senate to be secretary of the Navy. Middendorf's confirmation Thursday promotes him from Navy undersecretary, a post he's had since last year. A former New York banker, Middendorf also also served as ambassador to the Netherlands.

Arkansas Tornado

FORREST CITY, Ark. (AP) — A tornado ripped through this east Arkansas town of 12,500, causing deaths, scores of injuries and widespread damage. Early reports from officials on the death toll ranged from two to eight.

Soviet Spies In U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A substantial proportion of the 979 Soviet officials assigned inside the United States have been identified as intelligence operatives, FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley says. Kelley said the Soviet Union continues to carry on an intensive political, military and economic intelligence gathering effort in the United States. He said the FBI is reassigning more agents in an attempt to counter the intelligence operatives.

Patricia S. Lindh

WASHINGTON (AP) — Patricia Sullivan Lindh, a Republican national committeewoman from Louisiana, has been named a White House special assistant in charge of women's programs.

Presidential counselor Anne Armstrong announced the appointment to the $23,000 a year job Thursday, saying, "I chose her for her commitment to the advancement of women."

Mrs. Lindh, 46, who worked for the Equal Rights Amendment in Louisiana, said she will try to make middle class women in America aware of the problems facing their sex.

Casino Chapel

JACKPOT, Nev. (AP) — Volunteers from North and South Carolina wind up work today on a new chapel they built so children in this gambling town of 500 won't have to learn about the Bible in a local casino. Nearly two dozen Baptists from the South spent their vacations along with five Southern Baptist ministers building a 70 by 35-foot chapel with a 22-foot redwood tower.

Kissinger On Mideast

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger says "there is some validity to the criticism" that his Middle East peace-making efforts may have been costly in other foreign policy areas. But Kissinger told a news conference that his role in arranging military disengagement between Israel and Egypt and later Syria will "not become the normal pattern of diplomacy." However, he did not rule out more travel.

Methadone Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration acted illegally when it restricted the distribution of the heroin-substitute drug methadone to clinics and hospitals, U.S. District Judge John H. Pratt has ruled.

Pratt said in a decision Thursday that the FDA has no power to place limits on a drug's distribution by pharmacies once it has approved its use.

Methadone is used in clinics to block an addict's craving for heroin, but the FDA regulations were adopted in 1972 in an effort to halt illicit use of methadone, which is addictive itself.

Pratt ruled in a suit brought by the American Pharmaceutical Association.

Abrams Recuperating

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, the Army chief of staff, is recuperating from four hours of surgery to remove his cancerous left lung.

Abrams, 59, entered the hospital May 23 for treatment of what was then described as a mild case of pneumonia.

Cancer was detected last week and the entire organ had to be removed to rid Abrams of a tumor, a spokesman at Walter Reed Army Medical Center spokesman said.

"All visible evidence of the malignancy has been removed," the spokesman said.

Kissinger, Nixon Tied To Spying

DETROIT, Mich. (AP) — Secret documents show that President Nixon and Henry A. Kissinger received regular summaries of spying and wiretapping conducted by the FBI on White House subordinates and supporters, the Detroit Free Press says.

The documents, given Thursday to the House Judiciary Committee, indicated that Nixon, Kissinger and former White House Chief of Staff H.R. Haldeman were actively involved in domestic spying, the newspaper said in its Friday morning edition.

The documents show that between May 1969 and February 1971, then-FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover sent the President, Kissinger and Haldeman frequent memos on the White House surveillance program, the paper said.

The article said the wiretaps never led to incriminating information, but netted data on personal habits, a few minor vices and private political beliefs.

In a staff memo, Hoover said Kissinger threatened to "destroy whoever did this ... no matter where he is" if the FBI could determine who had been leaking information.

The Knight Newspapers story said another memo showed Kissinger agreed to the widespread use of wiretaps on Hoover's recommendation.

Kissinger, then a top presidential adviser and now secretary of state, has denied under oath that he ordered wiretaps. He said Thursday that he never made a direct "recommendation" to wiretap.

Nixon and Kissinger were particularily concerned with leaks to newspaper reporters, particularily a 1971 story in the New York Times disclosing strategy in the arms limitation talks with the Soviet Union, the paper said.

The Knight Newspapers story said the documents indicate the White House plumbers squad, a group created to halt news leaks, may have been used to carry out spying and wiretap missions rejected by other domestic intelligence-gathering agencies because of questions about their legality, the paper said.

Patty Indicted In Bank Heist

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The FBI hunted fugitive heiress Patricia Hearst today as a suspected bank robber after her indictment in the April holdup of a San Francisco bank by the Symbionese Liberation Army.

The armed robbery indictment returned by a federal grand jury Thursday in U.S. District Court changed Miss Hearst's status in the April 15 holdup from material witness to suspected felon.

Miss Hearst, 20 also was charged with use of firearms in the $10,690 Hibernia Bank branch robbery. The two charges carry a combined maximum prison sentence of 35 years.

Miss Hearst, daughter of newspaper executive Randolph A. Hearst, initially was not charged with robbery because of the possibility she was coerced into the crime by the SLA which kidnaped her Feb. 4. Four persons previously charged with the robbery were among the six SLA members killed in a May 17 shootout with police in Los Angeles.

Security camera photographs of a smiling Miss Hearst toting a carbine inside the bank were among the evidence considered by the grand jury in determining she willingly participated.

Two passersby were shot and seriously wounded during the holdup.

In an April 3 taped communique, Miss Hearst pledged herself to the revolutionary struggle of her captors. In a taped message a week after the holdup she declared she had joined in the robbery of her own free will, but some authorities and her family claimed she may have been forced or brainwashed.

On recommendation of U.S. Atty. James L. Browning Jr., Judge Oliver J. Carter dismissed the material witness warrant against Miss Hearst and continued her bail at $500,000.

Miss Hearst is wanted in Los Angeles on kidnaping and robbery charges with SLA members Emily and Bill Harris in connection with a bungled shoplifting attempt.

She was charged earlier with a federal firearms violation, for allegedly firing an automatic weapon in a suburban Los Angeles sporting goods store on May 16. She and the Harrises are wanted on 18 state felony charges, including robbery, kidnaping and assault.

Nixon Requests 'Gate Role Airing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Now that the secret is out, President Nixon wants formal court disclosure that a federal grand jury linked him with the Watergate cover-up.

The matter was to be argued today before U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica, who barred such disclosure originally.

After it was reported Thursday that the Watergate grand jury voted 19 to 0 to include the President among unindicted co-conspirators, Nixon asked Sirica to lift the protective order.

There was no indication whether special prosecutor Leon Jaworski would agree or contest the matter. The motion was filed by White House lawyer James D. St. Clair minutes before the court closed Thursday.

"The reasons for the continuance of the protective order are no longer compelling," St. Clair said.

He referred to "the grand jury's naming of certain individuals as co-conspirators," indicating that Nixon was not the only person on the list.

The names were expected to be made public eventually when prosecutors file a "bill of particulars" for the former Nixon aides and campaign workers scheduled to go on trial Sept. 9.

Such a bill insures that defendants are aware of allegations against them and is almost routinely requested before trial.

Legal experts said the grand jury's inclusion of the President weakens his legal argument for continuing to withhold subpoenaed tapes and documents.

Jaworski's attempt to pry 64 tape recordings from the White House is to be heard by the Supreme Court next month, focusing on whether executive privilege entitles the President not to release evidence requested for the cover-up trial.

"The argument that Mr. Jaworski will make will be essentially that executive privilege does not and cannot cover criminal activities by any member of the executive branch of the government," Supreme Court expert Philip Kurland told NBC News.

He added: "What the grand jury action does is to document the fact that the activities were criminal activities and therefore that the tapes should be produced as outside whatever executive privilege might exist."

Constitutional authority Alexander M. Bickel said that naming the President in the case puts before the court "a finding of probable cause that the stuff involves criminal activity."

Jaworski undoubtedly would have disclosed the grand jury's action to the court, possibly in a sealed filing, so the public knowledge probably made little difference.

In deciding a previous tapes case last year, the U.S. Court of Appeals ruled that executive privilege was a question of competing interests—between the President's need for confidentiality in his official duties and "a strong showing of need" by another institution of government.

The disclosure added a potentially explosive element to the House impeachment inquiry. "I think it's a matter members will view rather seriously," said Rep. Peter W. Rodino Jr., chairman of the Judiciary Committee.

Committee Republicans generally urged that its decision on whether the President's role in Watergate was grounds for impeachment be based on the evidence rather than on what the grand jury has concluded.

St. Clair said, "The grand jury allegation which is based on partial evidence produced only by the prosecutor does not automatically mean any individual is guilty. We have many examples of people charged by grand juries found to be innocent when all the evidence is in—as will be the case as far as the President is concerned."

Vice President Gerald R. Ford said he is not sure the grand jury "has heard all the evidence." He said he probably has heard more evidence than the grand jury and repeated that he believes the President is innocent of any involvement in the Watergate break-in.

In other Watergate-related developments:

—It was disclosed that former Nixon aide John D. Ehrlichman issued subpoenas to the Central Intelligence Agency, the FBI and other agencies for evidence he says will prove he had no advance knowledge of the break-in at the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

—Kenneth R. Cole Jr., Nixon's chief domestic adviser, said the intent of the President during taped conversations with top aides about Watergate "was entirely proper and right."

Tons Of DuPont Wastes Going In Gulf Of Mexico

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Federal authorities have authorized the Du Pont Co. to dump industrial wastes in the Gulf of Mexico off the Florida coast instead of off Louisiana. But officials in Louisiana fear tides may wash them back toward New Orleans or the Florida coast.

The new site, which will receive some 12,000 tons of chemical wastes monthly, is in international waters off the Florida coast—230 miles directly south of Pensacola and 200 miles south-southeast from the mouth of the Mississippi River in Louisiana.

Louisiana officials were not informed by the Environmental Protection Agency of its decision Thursday. Clint Pray, head of the Governor's Council on Environmental Quality—which has actively opposed dumping of industrial wastes in the Gulf of Mexico—was first told of the exact site by The Associated Press.

Once informed of the location, Pray's office issued a map which shows that water currents in the area could carry the waste in a loop along the Florida Gulf coast, or could send it back west toward New Orleans.

Spokesmen for the Florida Pollution Control Department and the Department of Natural Resources said they had not been informed of the EPA decision to approve the new site.

Jim Warr, chief administrative officer of the Alabama Water Improvement Commission, said he hadn't heard anything about dumping off the coast of Pensacola.

Du Pont maintains that Gulf currents are strong and dispersal of the wastes will be immediate. But Randy Arnt, an assistant to EPA Administrator Russell Train in Washington, said he thought the water is so deep—8,000 feet deep—there would be little circulation in the coastal areas.

The waste is from Du Pont's chemical plant in Belle, W. Va., and is about 74 per cent water. The rest consists of antifreeze and metallic compounds.

Du Pont claims the waste is not harmful to fish and other marine life, even when it was being dumped 45 miles off the Louisiana coast, near a prime shrimping area. Louisiana officials call it toxic.

Nixon 'Dropped' 300,000 Lie Tests

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon considered giving lie detector tests to several hundred thousand federal employes during a 1971 hunt for security leaks, says a House Judiciary Committee source.

In a taped presidential conversation the committee heard Thursday, Nixon reportedly discussed giving the tests to all employes with a security classification, estimated then to be 300,000.

Advised the tests would result in mass resignations, he finally ordered the them for about 1,000 employes in the State and Defense departments, the Central Intelligence Agency and the National Security Council, the source said. There is no evidence they were ever administered.

The source quoted Nixon as saying about the polygraph tests, "I don't know much about these things, but it scares the (expletive deleted) out of them."

The July 24, 1971, tape was played as the committee, conducting its impeachment inquiry, received evidence relating to the domestic surveillance activities of the Nixon administration.

It also received details about White House-ordered wiretaps on 13 government officials and newsmen, and about the "Huston Plan" for gathering domestic intelligence that contemplated the use of burglary and other illegal acts.

The late FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover vigorously opposed the plan, named for its chief drafter, Tom Charles Huston, and Nixon has said he withdrew approval July 28, 1970, five days after granting it.

Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., declined to answer when asked whether the committee received evidence the plan was terminated.

The administration justified all the activities examined by the committee on grounds of national security.

Rep. Robert F. Drinan, D-Mass., called the national security justification "totally unwarranted" in the case of the 17 wiretaps. He said nothing involving national security was picked up by any of the taps and that several of them were remained for months after it was clear they were producing nothing.

Another member said the information was given to former White House aide H. R. Haldeman, who used it for political purposes.

Drinan said at least one person also was kept under physical surveillance and the White House was told what he did when his family was out of town. None of the individuals was identified.

At its next session Tuesday, the committee will look into the break-in of the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist by the special White House investigative unit—the plumbers.

Rodino said presentation of evidence can be completed in about five more sessions, or by June 19. It then will consider calling any witnesses that might be needed, he said.

Republican committee members are demanding that witnesses be heard, but many Democrats feel the committee will have enough evidence by then to permit consideration of articles of impeachment.

Rodino said the committee may meet next week to consider issuing another subpoena for White House tapes relating to the dairy industry and International Telephone & Telegraph Corp., matters that the committee examined earlier in the week. It requested 66 taped conversations, but Nixon has refused to provide them.

Student 'Beats' Prankster

BUFFALO AP — James M. Kaczmarek of Buffalo has been cleared of charges stemming from the cashing or an altered United Air Lines refund check.

Kaczmarek, 21, a student at the University of Miami in Florida, said the whole thing was a practical joke — one of many played on him by a seemingly vindictive, unknown and untiring prankster.

The student was accused of cashing a $9 refund check that prosecutors said he knew had been altered to read $2,009. The U.S. District Court jury returned the innocent verdict Thursday after about three hours of deliberations.

Trinity '74 First 7-12 Students

By MARILYN MYCOFF

The senior class of 1974 is a very special class at Trinity Prep. Our class is the first to have attended all grades (seven) at Trinity since we entered in 1968. We have watched Trinity grow from 128 students to a fine school of over 400 students. We have seen a swamp turned into a beautiful and growing campus complete with one of the best Prep School libraries in the southeast. Trinity's own island has been Trinity's own for two years to become a sanctuary for more than 25 different species of birds and animals.

This year's senior class as well as all of Trinity's senior classes has certainly been outstanding in school. These students have been accepted at many of the finest colleges and universities in the nation, such as Yale, Princeton, Harvard and Vanderbilt. They have received numerous outstanding awards to further honor Trinity's name in both academic and citizenship.

As a senior class of 60 students, we have had many great times together, in both work and play. Early in the year we had a fund raising project in which we raffled off a car and raised money as well as several other valuable prizes. We donated the proceeds of this project to Gilman Hay as the "Senior Class Project" for the beautification of the campus. This project has already produced a lighted water fountain.

As a senior class of Trinity Prep, we feel we uphold the high standards for which Trinity stands. They've been a part of the honor and joy a student experiences at Trinity.

Most of all this class has helped create a situation in which students in the future can also be as happy as we have been at Trinity

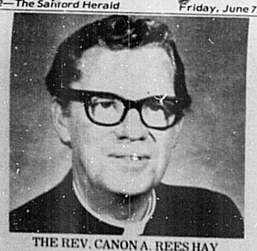
Trinity Tops Sports Ladder

By MIKE TOTH



THE REV. CANON A. REES HAY

To The 1974 Graduates

I have a great many hopes for this graduating class, but most of all I hope that your years at Trinity have been rewarding ones.

I hope that you will look back and realize that Trinity has been a place that has sustained and supported you in your efforts to discover yourself and your purpose in life.

It is my hope that you will find yourselves well prepared to do college level work, but most of all I hope that you have discovered values that will enrich your life and the world around you.

I hope also that you will continue to feel a part of Trinity's family and that you will be committed to Trinity as a school that seeks to fulfill God's commandments, "That we should love one another as He loves us."

The great privilege of a school like Trinity is the personal involvement we have in each other's lives. It is a wonderful experience to be able to share so intimately our joys and sorrows.

Education should challenge us to want to learn in order to take full advantage of the exciting opportunities that are offered us both now and in the future. I hope that Trinity has offered you this challenge.

Canon Hays' Background

Founder and Headmaster of Trinity Preparatory School of Florida, Canon Hay has lived in Orlando for 17 years. He came to Florida from New Haven, Conn., where he was widely known for his extensive work with Hungarian refugees.

He was called to Florida to be the director of Christian Education for the Episcopal Diocese of South Florida. Subsequently, he was to organize his church's work with Cuban refugees in Florida and the southeast.

He personally took charge of the Cuban students and was responsible for seeing 69 Cuban refugee students through college.

For 10 years he conducted the TV program, "Your Life in the World Today."

Seven years ago, he brought together civic leaders of the major religious faiths of the area and started Orlando-Winter Park's first college preparatory school. The school is located on a multi-million dollar campus. Recently completed on the campus is one of the nation's finest college preparatory school library buildings.

Because this is the first year that Trinity has had graduates who have gone through all six years of Trinity's existence, it seemed appropriate that Canon Hay should be the commencement speaker.

Our Graduates' Destiny

Trinity's graduating seniors have been accepted at the following colleges and universities:

Abraham Baldwin Agricultural College, American University, Bauder Fashion College, Brandeis University, Brenau, Bryn Mawr, Catawba, Centre College of Kentucky, Connecticut College, Converse College, Dartmouth, Davidson College, Duke University, Emory,

And, Flagler, Florida Institute of Technology, Florida Southern, Florida State University, Florida Technological University, Furman, George Washington University, Georgia Institute of Technology, Gordon College, Guilford, Hampden-Sydney, High Point, Hobart, Jacksonville University, Johns Hopkins La Grange, Lenoir Rhyne, Loyola, Lynchburg College, Mercer, Montreat-Anderson College, Newberry College,

Also, Newcomb, Northwestern University, Oglethorpe University, Patricia Stevens, Queens, Roanoke College, Rollins, Saint Andrews Presbyterian, Saint Olaf, Salem, Shorter, Southwestern at Memphis,

Stephens, Stetson, Tulane, University of Colorado, University of Florida, University of Georgia, University of Miami, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, University of North Carolina, Greensboro, University of Pennsylvania, University of South Florida, University of Wyoming, Wake Forest, Wellesley, West Point, Wheaton College, Williams College, Wofford, Yale.

Trinity is justifiably proud of her interscholastic sports program. There are few schools the size and age of Trinity that have such an extensive and fine sports program which continues to produce championship teams.

Trinity is a member of the Florida High School Activities Association and was classified as a AA school for the first time this past year. The "Saints," as Trinity's teams are called, play both private and public schools throughout the state.

As do other schools, Trinity divides its sports program into three seasons—Fall, Winter, and Spring. The major sport of the fall season is football, in which Trinity has both a varsity and junior varsity team.

The varsity football team, under the direction of head coach Tom Ruby and assistant coach Joel Kelley, finished the season with a 7-2-1 record. Many of the players received individual honors, some of whom were: Greg Chandler, back of the week, First team all state and all central Florida, second team all tri-county; Jon Kerbs, all state second team; and Rob Knowles, all state third team.

Other awards won were: the All American honorable mention and the all central Florida honorable mention by Jon Kerbs, Rob Knowles, Greg Miles, Walt Morgan, and David Carlisle. This team won respect as a small school power and should continue to do so.

This past school year, 1973-74, was the first year that Trinity had a junior varsity football team. For this reason, many people were surprised that it was undefeated in six games which included games against much larger schools.

Another fall sport was one of the most rugged and exhausting sports known, cross country. Trinity had both a varsity and junior varsity team, both coached by Luis Leon. The varsity team finished with a 2-8 record while the junior varsity team finished with a 5-3 record and finished third at the Mt. Dora Bible Invitational.

Many Trinity students participate in swimming. This is demonstrated by the fact that teams participate in this sport during both the fall and spring seasons. During the fall, the junior high swim team, coached by Pat Snow, Dennis Bluge and John Joslin, compete with area schools. This year, they finished the season with a 4-2 record.

Many junior high swimmers were good enough to join the varsity swim team, under the same coaches, in the spring. The varsity had many fine individuals and was able to send many of them to the state meet in Coconut Grove following three wins and three losses for the season. There the boys' 400 free relay team, made up of David Terwilliger, Walt Morgan, Tom McDonald, and Scott Bartholomew, broke the old school record by five seconds and set the new one at 3:38.4. One of the individuals on that team, Tom McDonald, set a new school record in the breast stroke of 1:07.1 and placed eleventh at the meet.

During the winter season, Trinity has only two sports, but both are considered major sports at Trinity. Both the basketball and the soccer team did very well during their respective seasons.

The varsity basketball team, coached by George Austin, who was assisted by Luis Leon and Joe Prouse, finished the season with an 18-7 record. The team was also runner-up in the district tournament and had two award winning individuals. Pat Crimmins led the team by breaking his 1,000 point career record in in addition was named to the all district team, all regional second team and received an all state honorable mention. Another leading scorer, Doug Dyson, was also named to the all district team as well as the all regional third team.

The junior varsity basketball team finished the season with a fine 13-7 record. It was coached by Joe Prouse, as was the junior high team, which finished its first year with four wins and six losses.

One of the fastest developing and most popular sports at Trinity is "the world's most popular sport," soccer. This year, over fifty percent of Trinity's male student body (and one girl) came out for soccer. This year's varsity and junior varsity teams were coached by Richard Arscott who was assisted by players from area colleges. Many of last years' Central Florida champions had graduated, but many newcomers readily filled their places. The teams also learned much during their trip to England for three weeks of training during the past summer.

At the end of the season, the varsity team once again was champion of its division of the central Florida high school soccer league for the third year in a row. The players did this by being undefeated in their division. Their 10-5 record is outstanding when one considers that they played such big schools as Winter Park and Edgewater.

There were many outstanding individuals on the team. Captain Jay Hundley was named to the Florida all state second team while goalie Jim Aebli, Kent Sterchi, and Troy Deal were all named to the third team and Royal Raidle received an honorable mention.

The junior varsity soccer team finished the season with a 4-2-2 record. During the first half of their season, the junior high team, coached by Bill Graesser and Paul Stuart, had a rough time. However, during the latter half, they improved greatly with the leadership of Captain Phil Stiles to finish out with a 4-6-2 record.

During the spring season, Trinity's track team achieved recognition throughout central Florida. The team, coached by George Austin and Luis Leon, tied for the district championship. Outstanding was hurdler Greg Chandler. He set a new state record by running the 120 high hurdler in 14 seconds. He also set a new school record in the long jump with a jump of 21 feet, eight inches and assisted Norbert Seals, Troy Deal, and Bruce Barnett in setting a new school record of 3:35.6 in the mile relay. Rob Knowles also set new school records by throwing the shot 48.7 feet and the discus 123.6 feet. Distance runner Thad McNully recovered from an injury to set a new school record in both the mile and two mile runs.

Trinity fields a fine varsity baseball team under Coach Tom Ruby. They finished the season with an 8-7-1 record. The junior varsity had problems getting enough players. This problem was so acute that they played one game with only eight players; yet they won 13-1, and under Coach Barry Grogan they finished with a 3-7 record.

One of the busiest sports at Trinity is the golf team. Coached by David Waud, they beat all the schools in the Orlando area except Lakeview and finished with a 27-5 season record. Number one player, John Pratt, who finished fourth at the district match, won the Patriot Invitational, and Matt Darden finished second there.

The tennis teams at Trinity played very well under coaches Jane Snook and John Joslin. The junior varsity girls finished with a 2-0 record while the boys finished with a 3-1 record.

Both boys and girls varsity teams went to district where they finished sixth out of twenty-eight teams. All of the boys made it to the quarter finals and finished with an 8-6 record.

From the girls team, Kim Harden, Laurie McNulty, and Lolly Arnold and the number two doubles team all placed in the semi-finals. They finished with only two losses out of thirteen matches.

As one can readily see, Trinity's sports program has rapidly developed in the past six years into one of the best in the area. This is due to many factors, one of which is a fine coaching staff. In addition to the fine athletic coaches, many teachers spend their free time assisting in the training of each team.

One of the most important contributions to Trinity's sports program is the support of the student body. Although some of Trinity's teams travel gret distances to sporting events, there are always a number of Trinity students and their parents cheering the teams on.

The 1973-74 school year was one of the most gratifying for Trinity sports. With many returning athletes and new ones working their way up, Trinity should do even better next year.

Whether our seniors were swimming or observing their religion, they put hearts into it

Jail For Union Boss, Pals' Sentences Cut

By CHRIS NELSON
Herald Staff Writer

An Orlando union official has been sentenced to five years in jail for his role in the Sept. 19 Air Flow Inc. truck blaze.

Daniel Evans, 26, who lives in Altamonte Springs, will remain free on $75,000 appeal bond until the higher courts determine whether he should get a new trial.

Circuit Court Judge Robert McGregor, upon sentencing Evans Friday, blasted unions using industrial sabotage to force membership, then referred to evidence of Plumbers and Pipefitters Local 803 sabotage complicity during the past five years.

During Evans' April trial, convicted arsonist Ben Hanes implicated the union by testifying that Evans conspired with him to commit industrial sabotage.

"I thought we left that in the last century," McGregor said, adding "apparently Mr. Evans thinks it's fair game, fair play, to destroy the property of those firms which don't want to join the union.

"Why the union membership puts up with its present leadership I'll never understand," McGregor continued. "They can't all be bad . . . there must be some good people there."

Warming to the task, McGregor lectured the absent union's national and international leadership, saying, "I can't believe the national would endorse this kind of activity."

McGregor carefully omitted mention of Evans' boss, business agent William K. Beck, 55, of Orlando, acquitted of similar charges in the Air Flow case last week after the state could not show conspiracy evidence it wished to use.

In other court action Circuit Court Judge Volie Williams reduced the six-month-to-five-year sentence imposed on Hanes, the father of nine, and the six month-to-two-year sentences of his accomplices, Arthur Brundon and Kilce Mullins.

Citing the recent sentence reduction of Watergate conspirators, Williams said, "I feel it would be obscene to have one law for the socially powerful and another law for the social nobodies. If these people (the Washington group) received favored treatment for their testimony then I couldn't treat these people (Hanes, Brundon and Mullins) any different."

Hanes now faces six months-to-three years; Brundon six-to-18 months and Mullins, under the work-release program, will spend weekends only in jail. His sentence will run for 18 months.

For Evans, the judge turned aside defense attorney Charles Truelock's plea for probation, saying since Evans is still maintaining his innocence, "he has not taken the first step towards rehabilitation — admission of error."

In a minor legal squabble, Trulock failed to gain access to confidential portions of Evans pre-sentence investigation report by the parole and probation commission.

Trulock claimed that hearsay evidence harmful to Evans might go unchecked without defense cross examination, but McGregor refused the request, although assuring Evans the report was actually quite favorable to him.

ONE WAY to combat soaring food costs is demonstrated by these enterprising people who are picking blackeyed peas in a field west of Sanford on SR 46. Grower opened the field to public for $3.50 bushel, which represents a tremendous savings by eliminating the middleman and putting the food on a path straight from the field to the table.

Longwood Clinic To Reopen

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Good news for the people in Longwood who were dismayed about the loss of their medical clinic: U.S. Rep. Bill B. Gunter (D-Orlando) has announced release of $30,000 in federal matching funds to construct a new facility.

The Longwood city hall administration kicked the medical services out of the clinic on Oct. 1 to make more room for city hall officials.

Since then, Longwood community leaders have been trying to find funds to build a new clinic for the elderly, poor and otherwise disadvantaged.

Gunter said the program, administered by County Commission Chairman John Kimbrough, calls for the federal money to pay half of the $60,000 proposed new construction cost. Kimbrough said today county commissioners are considering spending even more for the project, perhaps beefing it up with revenue sharing funds.

"The health clinic project was extremely important to the late (Longwood Council Chairman) E. E. Williamson and to many citizens," Kimbrough said. "We (the commissioners) committed ourselves to placing a clinic back in operation in the city."

Kimbrough said discussions with Williamson and Acting Council Chairman Don Schreiner prior to Williamson's death last month were that the old clinic at Wilma and Church could be restored to its original condition with an addition or that the building could be razed for a new facility. The third possibility was the city could provide land for a new building, leaving the old building for city use.

He said the county wants to cooperate with the city on the project.

Schreiner said today Williamson feared renovations which began in mid-December and halted in early January on the clinic building had weakened or deteriorated the basic structure beyond reasonable repair.

Kimbrough said a preliminary survey of the building to estimate costs of repair and reconditioning indicated putting the building back in shape would cost more than it was worth.

"Mr. Williamson's major concern was that a great deal of time should not be wasted on feasibility studies with the old building. He thought the primary and immediate goal was providing a location in the city for free medical care to those in need," Schreiner said.

Schreiner said he is sure the city council will cooperate 100 per cent with the county on the project.

He lauded the county commissioners, especially Kimbrough, for the effort given to obtaining the federal money to get a clinic back in operation, saying it must be the fastest federal grant approval ever seen for the area. Schreiner said the first grant discussion with Kimbrough took place little more than three months ago.

"My late husband gave many hours attempting to save the old clinic before it was destroyed. He would have been happy to know that a new one will be built," Mrs. Williamson said today.

Linton L. Cox, a major worker in raising money to build the original clinic building in the mid-1950's, expressed delight at the news. "This is a great day for the people of Longwood," he said.

One year ago the city council and Mayor Eugene Jaques announced the building, constructed through private donations of money and labor, would be taken over by the city for additional office space.

The building housed Seminole County health department facilities for the medically indigent, providing other services to all, including glaucoma testing.

Cox appealed to the city council often to reverse its decision. When his appeal was refused Cox spearheaded a drive that ended with petitions containing 750 signatures strongly urging the city government to leave the building for the use it was intended.

A few days after the December council election the lame-duck council voted to award a renovation contract on the building. Williamson, Schreiner and Mrs. June Lormann subsequently went to court but were unsuccessful in stopping the move.

After taking office in January they halted the clinic renovations and the building has remained half-completed since. The renovation contractor has filed suit against the city, seeking a court judgment for damages and the profit he would have made had work continued.

At a town hall meeting just prior to the trio's assuming office, Kimbrough and Commissioners Greg Drummond and Dick Williams pledged to aid them in restoring the clinic.

Williamson resigned April 19 and died 17 days later.

Dickinson's Bank Tie Key To Partner's Indictment

By John A. Spolski

A few weeks back, comment was made regarding the "condition" of the newly resurfaced Highway 17-92, especially the northbound lane beginning at the General Hutchison Parkway towards Sanford.

I understand that the road crews are back on the scene—removing the "washboard" effect.

There is still another spot which urgently needs corrective measures (before we lose some small car driver who drops out of sight).

It also is on Highway 17-92, however, this one is heading south almost at the area where you'd make an attempt to turn left into the Seminole Plaza.

There's a drop in the road which certainly must put a gleam into the eyes of those who are in the business of wheel alignments!

If they can't fill in the hole at least thought should be given to erecting some sort of a toll bridge there...

Your message was received, Cynthia Barron of Longwood. She's the mother who called and thanked us on behalf of two of our employes who helped her out of her auto distress call. Dewey Robinson and Mal Collins not only tried to get her buggy rolling again, but being unsuccessful in that attempt, drove to the nearest service station and brought back help.

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Florida Comptroller Fred Dickinson had an interest in a West Palm Beach bank and received money from the sale of stock in it, according to allegations in a federal indictment charging Dickinson's former law partner with perjury.

Frederick C. Prior, a West Palm Beach banker, was ordered Friday to appear in federal court June 14 to answer a seven-count perjury indictment stemming from his testimony in a grand jury investigation of Dickinson.

The indictment accuses Prior of lying when asked if Dickinson was involved in the Palm Beach Mall bank.

It alleges that Prior knew the comptroller had an interest and that he sent sent Dickinson a check for $9,751.62 as his share of the proceeds on the sale of 1,650 shares.

Under oath, Prior told prosecutors that as far as he knew Dickinson had no investment or interest in the bank's stock.

The grand jury is investigating Dickinson's personal financial affairs and his methods of granting state bank charters in his capacity as state banking commissioner.

Prior's was the first indictment returned in the six-week-old probe that has involved the appearance of more than 20 witnesses, including Dickinson.

U.S. Atty. Anthony Laspada said in the indictment that it was material to the investigation to determine whether stock in the Palm Beach Mall bank had been held on Dickinson's behalf.

In Tallahassee, Dickinson said: "No one holds any stock for me and no one has held any stock for me." He refused further comment.

A partial exchange between questioning prosecutors and Prior was included in the 14-page text of the indictment:

Q. Did Mr. Dickinson have any investment or financial interest in the Palm Beach Mall Bank at any time?

A. Not to my knowledge.

Q. Did you ever hold stock in the Palm Beach Mall Bank for Mr. Dickinson?

A. No sir, that was my stock...

Q. And why were you going to send Mr. Dickinson $9,751.62?

A. Because I wanted him to receive it.

Q. His share of the Palm Beach Mall Bank stock that you sold?

A. No, sir, he had no share in it...

Q. Was the (check) paid to Mr. Dickinson as Mr. Dickinson's share of the profits from the sale of the 1,650 shares of Palm Beach Mall Bank stock?

A. No sir. That was my stock...

Q. Mr. Dickinson did not have any share in that, any interest in that?

A. No sir.

The indictment alleges that Prior lied in that he "did send moneys from the sale of stock in the Palm Beach Mall Bank to Mr. Fred O. Dickinson as his share of the sale proceeds."

The Palm Beach bank was chartered by Dickinson after Prior was added to a list of the original bank directors.

Prior was Dickinson's law partner for 10 years before Dickinson became comptroller in 1965.

Wallace Albritton, an assistant attorney general in Tallahassee, said he could not give an "official opinion" of whether state law would be violated if it were proven that Dickinson had an interest in a state bank.

But Atty. Gen. Robert Shevin has said that Florida law "absolutely prohibits a public officer or employe from having any personal investment 'in any enterprise which would create a substantial conflict between his private interests and his public interests.'"

Federal law forbids a bank examiner from accepting "a loan or a gratuity from any bank examined by him or from any person connected therewith..."

The remaining five counts of the indictment accused Prior of perjuring himself in testimony about fees he received from the Commercial Bank of Winter Park.

Prior received $4,663 in five separate checks from the Winter Park bank between December 1969 and January 1971, according to the indictment.

Prior told prosecutors that the checks covered legal services such as consultation and conferences.

But the indictment charged that Prior "knew he had not performed the services set forth in the said work statement bills..." and that the bills were submitted to obtain money "to be used to pay part of the interest on a loan outstanding that the said Frederick C. Prior had made from the South Seminole Bank of Fern Park, Fla."

That bank reportedly was later absorbed by Com-Banks, the holding company which operates the Commercial Bank of Winter Park.

Nixon: Go Public On Jury Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge revoked the secrecy order cloaking grand jury papers which name President Nixon as a co-conspirator in the Watergate cover-up.

But it's up to the Supreme Court to determine when the material becomes public.

U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica lifted the order at the request of presidential lawyer James D. St. Clair who sought the action after it became known that Nixon and others were named as unindicted co-conspirators.

But he noted that the material is in the hands of the Supreme Court in connection with its review of a Watergate tapes subpoena battle between Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski and the administration.

In another courtroom U.S. District Court Judge Gerhard A. Gesell warned that Nixon risks "appropriate procedures under the contempt statutes" if he continues to withhold records subpoenaed for a trial beginning June 17 in the Ellsberg break-in case.

Meanwhile, the U.S. Circuit Court for the District of Columbia refused to disqualify Sirica from sitting in the cover-up trial. By a 5 to 1 vote with three judges abstaining, the court rejected a petition by lawyers for five of the seven defendants, arguing that Sirica demonstrated bias in the first Watergate trial and should be removed from the cover-up trial.

The defendants who sought to remove Sirica were former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, former White House aide Gordon Strachan, former domestic affairs adviser John D. Ehrlichman, and Kenneth W. Parkinson, a lawyer for Nixon's reelection committee.

The fifth was Charles W. Colson, a former Nixon aide who pleaded guilty to Watergate charges Monday. The cover-up charge then was dropped in the plea-bargained agreement.

Gesell's warning came after he ruled last week that Ehrlichman has the right to examine his own White House files for material necessary to his defense. Ehrlichman, G. Gordon Liddy and two others are accused of conspiring to violate the civil rights of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist, Dr. Lewis Fielding. The charge stems from the Sept. 4, 1971, break-in at Fielding's office.

The administration consented, but then refused to allow Ehrlichman's lawyer, William Frates, into the file room housing Ehrlichman's papers. Sternly lecturing St. Clair, Gesell called the administration action "complete disregard of the court's order.... I just don't see how I can tolerate it in terms of this case and in fairness to this defendant."

Gesell said Nixon's action, in effect, denied Ehrlichman his constitutional right to legal representation.

Declaring himself "totally astounded" at the President's position, Gesell said he will draft an order dealing with the situation.

It was not clear whether Gesell would approach the impasse through contempt proceedings against the President or whether he would lean toward dismissing the charges against Ehrlichman.

During the hearing, Ehrlichman's lawyers said they have subpoenaed Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, White House counsel J. Fred Buzhardt and White House Chief of Staff Alexander M. Haig Jr. to testify on the opening day of the trial. Gesell rejected a subpoena for Nixon who will be out of the country.

In other Watergate developments:

—A staff report of the Senate Watergate committee asserts that the Nixon administration used the federal bureaucracy for political profit, apparently violating criminal laws in the process.

The draft report, submitted to committee members and obtained by The Associated Press, describes operations of a White House "Responsiveness Program" set up secretly in 1971 to take maximum advantage of the power of government agencies to help Nixon's re-election.

—Deputy White House press secretary Gerald L. Warren acknowledged that Nixon once expressed willingness to help Ehrlichman and Haldeman pay legal expenses. But Warren said Nixon never followed through.

He denied a report that Nixon offered Haldeman and Ehrlichman financial help from a $400,000 fund controlled by Nixon's friend, C. G. "Bebe" Rebozo.
