Cardinals' Mort Cooper Pitches A Loser In First World Series Game

By JUDSON BAILEY

SPORTSMAN'S PARK, ST. LOUIS, Oct. 1, (AP)—In a wild beginning to a world series that had been expected to be one of the tightest in history, the powerful New York Yankees stalled the St. Louis Cardinals for eight innings today and won, 7 to 4, after smothering an almost incredible ninth-inning outburst by the Redbirds.

Charley (Red) Ruffing thrilled a capacity crowd of 34,385 with one of the finest pitching performances in his long and luxurious career, establishing two world series records while shutting out the indomitable Cardinals till the game was within one out of being over.

Mort Cooper, bearing all the hopes of the National league, had been steadily shelled and finally removed from the scene — and thousands of fans were on their way out of the park.

Then the Cardinals suddenly showed the spirit and spark that had earned them a place in this year's baseball classic. They hammered Ruffing out of the box and continued their assault on Spurgeon (Spud) Chandler until the great crowd was near hysteria and they had four runs across, the bases loaded and one of their finest hitters, Ronald Stan Musial, standing at the plate with what represented the winning run if they could get it across.

But the pink-cheeked freshman missed a chance for fame by grounding out and the Yankees thankfully vacated the field with their victory.

The remarkable Cardinal rally stole the show from Ruffing, who pitched no-hit ball for 7 2-3 innings for one record and received credit for his seventh world series triumph for another mark.

Musial, a .315 slugger who did not make a hit the entire game, raised a feeble foul to start the ninth. Walker Cooper smashed a hot grounder down the third base line and Red Rolfe was unable to make a play although he knocked the ball down.

It was a scratch hit, the second of the game off the 38-year-old Ruffing, and Johnny Hopp (fled out to apiecework) any threat. But Pinchhitter Ray Sanders walked and Marty (Slats) Marion hit a left inch runner's home with a triple into the deepest corner of right field.

After that it was bing-bang for Pinchhitter Ken O'Dea, summoned to score Marion and Jimmy Brown slapped a single into short center to force McCarthy to remove Ruffing.

The squat, smart leader of the defending world champions, wasted no glance at his usual relief battery. Instead he called for Chandler, one of his best starting pitchers.

But even the George righthander could not cool off the Cardinals immediately. Terry Moore singled to left to bring in O'Dea. Frank Crosetti, running for Chandler, and Enos Slaughter slashed a grounder to short to load the bases when the ball took a bad hop and hit Phil Rizzuto square in the face. Hal Marnie snuffed out their hope by ending an easy grounder down the first base line and Cooper, who had hit Buddy Hassett to Chandler's error, forced out the Cardinals' seventh hit behind Musial's single.

Cooper had held the Yankees to a grounder to short to load the bases when the ball took a bad hop and hit Phil Rizzuto square in the face. Hal Marnie snuffed out their hope by ending an easy grounder down the first base line and Cooper, who had hit Buddy Hassett to Chandler's error, forced out the Cardinals' seventh hit behind Musial's single.

Cooper had held the Yankees to a single run in the first inning on a double by Joe DiMaggio, who made three hits to lead the Yankees' 11-hit attack, and a triple by Joe Gordon in the fourth, leading off with a sharp single to left. The next two batters popped up, but Bill Dickey walked and Musial no other play.

Then in the fifth with one away Rolfe singled. Roy Cullenbine doubled against the right field wall and Rolfe scored as DiMaggio grounded to Third Baseman Whitey Kurowski, who tagged Cullenbine on the base path but was forced at second.

DiMaggio again led off with a single in the eighth and after Charley Keller and Joe Gordon had fanned in succession, Dickey singled against the pavilion wall in right and Hassett rammed yet another run with a single in the ninth.

With one run across in the eighth, two on and two out, Ruffing lifted a long fly to Slaughter, who let the ball bounce out of his glove for a two-base error, scoring both runners.

This was where Cooper left the game, Manager Billy Southworth summoning Harry Gumbert to pitch the final out. Gumbert then was taken out for a pinchhitter and Lefty Max Lanier pitched the ninth inning and personally made two errors to help New York get its two other runs.

Rolfe opened with a single and Cullenbine sacrificed, but Lanier, who fielded the ball neatly, threw over first Baseman Happy Chandler, letting Rolfe come all the way around and Cullenbine reach third. After getting the next batter out, Lanier walked Keller and then tried to pick him off. When Hopp returned the ball to the pitcher, Lanier let it slip through him and trickle over behind third while Cullenbine scampered home.

As soon as Ruffing reached his new record of 7 2-3 innings of hitless ball, passing the mark set by two former Yankee hurlers, Herb Pennock and Monte Pearson, he was rapped for a single by Moore. This removed the suspense of a no-hitter.

The game wound up in confusion and excitement and it was impossible to count out the Cardinals even though they had had their leading pitcher batted out of the box and had lost the game.

Southworth had nothing to say about the loss except that Rookie Lloyd Heasley, a righthander who has won 21 games this year, would go to the mound here tomorrow. McCarthy said he would use Ernie Bonham, the big fellow who topped all American league pitchers with 21 victories and five defeats.

Winter Garden To Play Celery Feds Friday Night Here

The Celery Feds will play a scrappy little team from Winter Garden at Seminole High School Field, Friday evening at 8:00 o'clock.

That was the good word revealed today by Coach Leonard Morgan, who since cancellation of the Lake City game, has been trying to find a team for the Celery Feds to oppose this week.

Yesterday afternoon Coach Morgan put the team through a good hard scrimmage, and new offensive and defensive plays were rehearsed. Players were also drilled in staying in position and not getting offside too easily.

Although the probable lineup has not as yet been fully determined, some changes have been made; Andrew Hasty has been shifted from center to end; High Carleton from halfback to end; Singletary from tackle to guard; Wolfer from fullback to right halfback, and Ridge from guard to fullback.

A cheering note in the news that Bill Fleming is in good playing condition again and will be back in his old position at left halfback.

"I look for a good game," said Coach McLeoma. "We may expect some keen competition, from Winter Garden. I believe our boys have profited from their setback from Eustis last week, and will give a much better account of themselves."

Tars Claim To Be In Fine Shape For Davidson Tussel

WINTER PARK, Oct. 1, (Special)—With only one casualty as a result of their impressive 31-0 victory over Presbyterian last week, the Rollins Tars are reported fit as fiddles for their encounter with the Davidson Wildcats in Charlotte, N. C. Pointing for their first win over the Wildcats, the Tars are going thru a stiff week of practice, varying the daily round of brushing scrimmage by extensive field blocking and pass drill sessions.

"Davidson will be tougher" was Coach McDonald's comment after the season-opener with Presbyterian last week.

Sole injury to date is the sprained ankle of Sterling Scott, ace Tar guard, but it is possible that he may be able to get in the game. The brunt of the power offensive against the Wildcats will be borne by the sturdy legs of 185 pounds of fullback Grady Ray from Haines City. Ray piled up 110 yards from scrimmage against Presbyterian, most of them in vicious smashes over guard or around tackle. Much of Rollins' confidence also lies in the able field generalship of Paul Meredith, senior blocking back, who has demonstrated an amazing ability to pick the weak side of an opposing line.

McDonald's scoring hopes are pinned upon the two fast junior backs, Ben Pugh and Quentin Bitts. Both of these men showed up better against the Blue Hens than at any time last season, the they have yet to realize their full possibilities. Calvin Peacock, the sophomore sensation, is McDonald's "ace in the hole." He may not be a starter, but he is likely to be in the scrap before the game is a few minutes old.

They are still talking about sliding little Johnny Axis. We've heard about it for months and long of for two years. Why don't they do it?

In Iceland we read a newspaper suspended publication for one day so that the staff could go on a picnic and pick blueberries. Now then, Iceland, no fair!

Veronica Lake, who recently toured Florida's bustling war industries, is going to have a baby and right well on her way here in a single week with its appearance. Miss Lake succeeded in selling $5,276,825 worth of war bonds. There's a real slap in the Japs.

The thieves are still with us figured on to get something. Hanner buys a few gallons of gas at a time to chase his kids and praze. The other two or three get out of the car. And there is the person who is going into some racket. Hanner. That's what you get for hoarding any cash in your sock.

So far tourist registrations at about 45 percent or nearly half of what they were at this time last year. That is not good but then it is not bad either considering the circumstances. And it is a matter of fact some hostels will probably come than the early registrations indicate. The future is so uncertain that people are likely to wait until the last minute to make up their minds.

American newspapers faced with constantly diminishing advertising revenue and rapidly mounting costs, have no alternative other than raising subscription rates if the same service which has made them the world's foremost press is to be maintained. One of these, the Los Angeles Herald and Express increased its subscription price to $1.10 a month the other day.

President Roosevelt reveals that we have furnished over five billion dollars worth of food and war materials to our allies in the last 18 months. And the stuff has been delivered despite submarine and bombing planes. Part of this has gone to the British and Chinese as well as the Russians, but no one can say that this country has made no contribution toward holding the Germans at Stalingrad.

Superintendent Chapman of the Florida State Prison joins those who are predicting "a crime wave after the war of such proportions as has never dreamed of." Because the last war, it does not take much of a crystal gazer to see that it will be followed by another war. Yet it must be admitted that a certain repression is likely to make a little difference. Men who have seen the bodies of their buddies blown to bits by the explosive bullets of the enemy are not likely to be too easy on the gangsters. Certainly the killing of a stickup man by a group of veteran G-Men would not be too much of a shock to the nerves of anyone.

Nation-wide offer to enlist the Japs, just continue but for the duration of our theatre. Our mother-in-law visited here the last time he had enough Japs to supply a dozen armament factories.

The Little Business Man

It comes as no particular surprise to those who have known all along that you can't stop making goods for civilian consumption without adversely affecting business conditions when they see that the State Director of the census announces that retail sales were eight percent less in August of this year than during the same month of last year, and that for the first ten months of this year the decline was ten percent under the same period a year ago.

But it may shock some of our Washington bureaucrats out of their complacency when the Undersecretary of Commerce predicts that no less than 300,000 small retail stores will go into bankruptcy during the coming year which Philip Reed, former WPB official, estimates that at least 2,000,000 of the nation's 184,000 manufacturing concerns will be forced out of business. It is evident that all business concerns not directly benefitting from war contracts are facing a depression more serious than 1932.

It has been hard for many people to understand the plight of the small business man when so large a part of our agricultural and industrial community is prospering War industries are booming. Labor is being paid the highest wages in the history of this country. Farmers on the whole are securing profitable prices for their crops Farm labor, though it is being lured away from the farms by the higher wages in the cities, is nevertheless being paid higher than usual on the farms.

But the small business man, whether factory owner or retailer, is facing bankruptcy. Without capital he is unable to retool his factory for armament making. Without huge reserves of merchandise he is unable to replenish his shelves for sales to his customers. The things the manufacturer once made for an eager public are now banned. The goods the retailer sold are no longer obtainable, except in such limited quantity that his margin of profit is eliminated.

Price ceilings prevent him from raising his prices. Draft, the higher wages of war industries, and competitors rob him of his employees. He finds himself unable to secure efficient help and unable to pay adequate wages if he could. Meanwhile, his taxes go higher, higher while the clerical work in connection with his taxes, his social security accounts, his workmen's compensation insurance, his price ceilings and government red tape grows heavier and heavier.

It is a serious matter, this problem of the small business man, for if it his taxes alone which are independent of government contracts and governmental subsidies. What he pays into the Treasury is clover. The war industry merely returns a small percentage of what it gets from the Treasury. And the industrial workers pay his tax all of the wage he gets from the factory goes into the treasury from the government.

If the little business man goes under we doubt if the industrial and anything else to fully take his place.

National Newspaper Week

We suppose there was something peculiarly appropriate in the President's returning to Washington from a secret 2,500 mile trip around the country. Such is the way this country was to begin the celebration of National Newspaper Week commemorating the freedom of the press.

Although the President was absent from his desk in Washington for two weeks, although he traveled from coast to coast and visited 24 states, stopped at nine of his famous "hideaways" to confer with hundreds of workmen, inspected shipyards and seven naval stations and called eight Army camps, not a single word concerning his tour was ever limited at lid and non-paper.

This certainly demonstrates the effectiveness of wartime censorship. No! in our life time and we doubt if ever before in our history has such a thing been possible. It is almost unconcievable that some newspaper somewhere, somehow, would fail to break the news. It is almost unconcievable that a newspaper, even a prosperous ever-bearing competitor of some big city daily! But not a line.

The President made his trip and the newspapers, inspected shipyards and seven naval stations and called eight Army camps, not a single word concerning his tour was ever limited at lid and non-paper.

Well it was a great trip and a great secret kept. But one wonders now whether it was government censorship which muzzled the press or government propaganda which described a trip which may never have taken place at all.

Dear Soldiers, please accept Sureease as a heartfelt tribute for you and all the Allied soldiers fighting with you.

We had such a nice visit with Mrs. J. A. Bumley the other day. We had asked her especially for an interview, but she was so very modest that we have had a time getting it. Is America A Christian Nation?

If we were to look back some two hundred years into the pages of American History, we would see our early American forefathers planning and forming a new nation. One of the main reasons this country was being formed was to have freedom of religion. Today that country is fighting the greatest war ever to be recorded. As we think of this war, one of the questions that pop into our minds is, "What are we fighting for?" Some would say to defend Christianity; others the freedoms etc.

The question that comes to me is, "Is America A Christian Nation?" The answer will come from all directions, emphatically, "yes". But are we?

America, a nation founded on the ideals of Christianity, has strayed far from that early beginning. In the United States today with a population of one-hundred and thirty-two million, sixty million are unchurched; two million children appear in our Juvenile Courts annually; one home out of every four is touched by crime each year; our crime bill is fifteen million dollars annually; commercialized gambling costs six billion dollars each year; more than four million, five hundred thousand dollars was spent for liquor in 1941.

With these above facts a shadow of doubt will probably be formed as to whether we can honestly call our nation a Christian nation.

Today with soldiers going off to war every day, we should do all in our power to help. One way we can help is by doing our part in making our country a more Christian America.

Florida P.-T.A. Month Proclaimed In October

MARGARET MYERS

Governor Holland has proclaimed October of this year as Florida Parent-Teacher Month. He is urging that the press and radio of our state properly publicize the event prior to and during the month of October by devoting space and time to informing the public of the accomplishments of the Florida Congress of Parent Teachers. This proclamation was sealed July 18, 1942. Since Governor Holland has proclaimed October as "Parent Teacher Month", wouldn't it be a fine thing if every parent would join the P.T.A. The P. T. A. Wartime Pledge for this year follows:

"We, the members of the National Congress of Parents and teachers, in defense of our beloved country and our country's most sacred heritage and responsibility, her growing sons and daughters, do hereby solemnly pledge ourselves, individually and as an organization,

"To remember with reverence and love the ideals of our Founders, who cherished above all else the welfare of the whole child;

"To Continue with zeal and devotion our efforts to secure and preserve the good life for all children, even in the face of war and disaster;

"To Persevere in discovering new avenues of service and help to youth;

"To Strive forever forward, counting no effort wasted that brings us a little nearer to the ideal of a world founded on the principle of human brotherhood;

"To Protect our children against all the dangers of war, whether those dangers be physical, mental, or spiritual; and

"To Keep The Faith delivered unto us by our forefathers, who hewed this America out of the wilderness and dedicated it to liberty, justice, happiness, and truth for every human being."

Teachers Plan To Utilize Magazines

By JOHN BELYEU

The first issues of the "Reader's Digest" have arrived and all teachers have been ready by the month, however, this year there will be present a variety of articles and stories will be used from other periodicals, such as the "Scholastic" and "Junior Scholastic" and various other periodicals.

Students Book Guild

HELEN QUARTERMAN

The STUDENT BOOK GUILD of New York City offers a plan by which students may select books for their home library. These books may be selected from a list of approved titles each month for a monthly fee of 30c per book.

Students who continue their membership through four consecutive months receive a free book in the fifth month.

Each month a new list of books is released. Those for September are: "Jane Eyre" by Charlotte Bronte; "Huckleberry Finn" by Mark Twain; "Green Mansions" by William H. Hudson; and "The Oregon Trail" by Frances Parkman.

STUDENT COUNCIL

MARY RABURN

The Student Council held its weekly luncheon meeting in the home economics room. The main topic of discussion was the congestion in the lunchroom. It has been agreed to request that schedules be rearranged to reduce the number of students in second-lunch period. A committee with Hugh Welchel as chair man will try to make the lunchroom lines more orderly especially the breaking-in. The Student Council is waiting for class meetings to be held to elect representatives to the council, then their work really will begin!

My First Day

ROSEMARY BURDICK

What a thrill it was to me when I stared on an exciting new adventure—my first day at Seminole High School.

As I approached the stately structure, the spacious, well kept lawn with its trees ad shrubs, made a pleasing and artistic picture. Upon entering the building, I was impressed by the large halls and the well-lighted class rooms. Another feature of the building is the auditorium.

Seminole High has an excellent principal in Mr. McKay and it also has a fine staff of teachers. I am pleased with those who were assigned to me and I am satisfied with my schedule.

The communication system is an extreme help to Professor McKay and the faculty, and the lockers are a benefit to the students. We have a nice cafeteria in the school and I am sure that I enjoy my lunches there.

I hope my high school career will be a success and that each succeeding day will produce some new adventure.

War Bonds & Stamps

AUDREY BACH

We can, we will, we must support the sale of War Bonds and Stamps in our school. Even if it is only a dime or so, don't say, "Well, my dime wouldn't do much good," but it WILL. Just think of the hundreds of students in the thousands of schools over the nation, who think their dimes don't matter. If they bought stamps with them, we'd be that many Bonds closer to winning the war.

Miss Earl, who is in charge of the Stamps and the room chairman, various students picked for their capability have done a great deal in promoting the sale of Stamps.

Last week we students bought $91.80 worth of Stamps with Mrs. Lynch's room heading the list. Let's all get behind this drive and double the amount of sales next week, to protect our life, liberty and to continue the pursuit of our threatened happiness.

Mrs. Dyson is substituting for Miss Laurr who is ill.

Mrs. E. D. Brownlee is substituting for Coach McLucas who is confined at home with an infected eye.

Mrs. Babcock is holding art classes every Monday.

CATCH THAT COWL!

That cowl is here again. A softly, feminine neckline, it is flattering to women of every age and figure with its soft and graceful drapery. Many of the New York creations now being shown are fashioned with contrasting materials, the cowl neckline and cuffs, for example, being of another color than the dress.

Speed And Grit Of Cards Give Them 4-3 Victory Over Yankees In Second Game Of World Series

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

SPORTSMAN'S PARK, ST. LOUIS, Oct. 2. (AP)—Showing the same speed and grit which won them the National league championship the St. Louis Cardinals today tamed the New York Yankees 4 to 3 before 34,255 fans in another breath-taking chapter of the 1942 world series and left for New York tonight all even with the American league powerhouse.

The Cards simply ran their way to victory with probably the most dazzling show of sprinting the present Yankees ever had seen and their will to win more than offsett New York's slugging which was climaxed with a tremendous two-run homer by Charley (King Kong) Keller to momentarily tie the score in the eighth inning.

Held to only six hits by big Ernie Bonham while the Yankees pummeled Johnny Beazley, the Cards' 25-year-old rookie sensation, for 10, St. Louis scored twice in the first inning, again in the seventh and finally won the game with another thrilling tally in the last half of the eighth.

Speed figured in every one of the Cardinal runs but never more so than with the score tied and the pressure on in the eighth.

Jim Brown and Terry Moore were easy outs but Enos Slaughter slammed a scorching liner to the deepest corner of right field and slid headlong into second base for a double. Roy Cullenbine, who had been somewhat confused by the Cards' earlier foot-racing, made a good throw to the bag, but little Phil Rizzuto to let the ball slip a few yards away from him and while he still was trying to locate it Slaughter jumped to his feet and dashed safely to third.

Before the smoke had cleared Stan Musial, the rookie outfielder who had a chance to be a hero yesterday and failed, smashed a ground single directly over second base to bring home the deciding run.

Much of the responsibility for the Yank defeat could be charged to the fact that Bonham, the great control artist who walked only 23 men during the entire American league season, gave a base on balls to the first batter he faced.

Apparently feeling the tension that bears heavily on all players in a world series, Bonham threw three balls to Brown before he got a strike across at the start of the game and Brown ultimately was passed.

It was a costly mistake because Moore laid down a sacrifice bunt on the first pitch and when the big Yankee ace threw to second trying to head off the run, Brown beat the throw and both runners were safe.

Bonham patiently worked on the next two batters and got them out but Walker Cooper sliced a double over Second Baseman Joe Gordon's head and the ball skidded tantalizingly all the way to the wall in right center, both runners tearing home.

Bonham, winner of 21 games against five losses, settled down and for two innings not a hit got the fans roaring to their feet. Then Lou Boudreau opened the fourth with a single to left and Johnny Hopp followed with a double to right center, Boudreau stopping at third.

Beazley, fanned Joe Gordon to end the inning, but had another narrow escape in the ninth.

Bill Dickey led off with a single and Tuck Stainback was sent in to run for him. Buddy Hassett crashed another single into right and Slaughter made the most magnificent throw of the series, sending a strike to Kurowski in time to catch Stainback sliding into third.

Manager Billy Southworth held a hasty conference on the mound but decided to let the Brooklyn ace finish his own fate and he did it magnificently — making Frankie Hayes, right end, Wally Pinkston, quarterback; Bill Wolfer, right halfback; Ralph Wolfer, right halfback and Jimmy Ridge, fullback.

The fleetness of the Redbirds didn't get any farther in that inning nor had it caused trouble in the seventh when he shot another liner to right for wat might have been the same sort of play.

Hopp again rounded first and the crowd taunted Cullenbine, a former outfielder for the St. Louis Browns, to throw to first but this time he kept the ball ahead of the runner. It didn't make any difference, as it turned out, because George (Whitey) Kurowski followed with a triple.

This hit infuriated Manager Joe McCarthy and his Yankees because it was a liner so close to the left field foul line that when the ball bounced out of Keller's glove it landed a few inches in foul territory. But Umpire George Magerkurth ruled it a fair ball, apparently judging that it was fair when Keller charged into it on a dead run.

This hit punched the Cardinal lead to 3 to 0 and at the time it seemed all that Beazley would need. The young righthander had been hit intermittently, the Yankees getting runners on base in every one of the first five innings, but he worked himself out of these jams with the help of some fancy fielding by his teammates, who performed the series' first double play in the fifth after Bonham had walked and Rizzuto singled with none out.

However, Beazley set down the Yanks in order in the sixth and seventh and got the first two men out in the eighth before the bombers blasted.

Cullenbine hit a grounder which Brown managed to knock down but could not throw and it was scored as a single. Joe DiMaggio, who had made three hits yesterday, came through with a sharp line single to right to bring Cullenbine home.

Then Keller connected with Beazley's next pitch with all the force of an electric shock and the ball sailed high and far over the right field pavilion to knot the score.

Beazley fanned Joe Gordon to end the inning, but had another narrow escape in the ninth.

Bill Dickey led off with a single and Tuck Stainback was sent in to run for him. Buddy Hassett crashed another single into right and Slaughter made the most magnificent throw of the series, sending a strike to Kurowski in time to catch Stainback sliding into third.

Manager Billy Southworth held a hasty conference on the mound but decided to let the Brooklyn ace finish his own fate and he did it magnificently — making Pinchhitter Red Ruffing fly out to Musial, which will be the Cardinal outfielder's last chance to be a hero.

As a result it was a jubilant Cardinal club that boarded its train for the trip to New York, where the series will be played on Saturday. Southworth said he was undecided whether he would start Mort Cooper or Lon Warneke.

Hoping to see the Yankees work out his own fate had brought a huge crowd to Sportsman's Park today. Actually, it was a good show they put on for the fans, who gave him a big hand when he shot another single into right and Stainback followed with a double to left center, Hopp stopping at third. The play gave the fans some fun because Hopp rounded first on his hit and Cullenbine sought to trap him with a throw to Buddy Hassett. But as soon as Hopp saw where the ball was going, he set sail for second. Hassett fumbled the throw, when it arrived, and no play ever was made on Hopp.

The fleetness of the Redbirds didn't get any farther in that inning nor had it caused trouble in the seventh when he shot another liner to right for wat might have been the same sort of play.

Feds Get Ready To Meet Winter Garden Tonight

With ideal weather for football prevailing, Coach Leonard McLucas yesterday put his squad of County Feds through a loosening up drill, and rehearsed offensive and defensive plays to be used in the game here tonight with the Winter Garden team.

Coach McLucas stated this morning that with the addition of Bill Fleming at left halfback, the team should show considerably more offensive power. Bill was unable to play in the game last week with Eustis owing to a slight injury but now he is said to be in good shape for play. An experienced letter man, Fleming is a strong runner and should succeed in advancing the ball considerably.

Ray Fox, Jr., in center, is picked to show the same aggressive spirit he did last week when he blocked a Eustis kick behind their goal line giving Sanford the only two points scored in the game.

Warren Daniels will be back in there at quarterback, directing plays and marking up the team generally.

Hugh Carleton as an end should because of his weight and strength, prove a big help in offensive and defensive work, Coach McLucas said.

Following is the probable Celery Fed lineup for tonight's game according to Coach McLucas: Hugh Carleton, left end; Charles Hardy, left tackle; Gene Shelgetary, left guard; Ray Fox Jr., center; Ralph Johnson, right guard; W. L. Villers, right tackle; Andrew Hasty, right end; Warren Daniels, quarterback; Bill Fleming, left halfback; Ralph Wolfer, right halfback and Jimmy Ridge, fullback.

"SPIRIT" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, October 4.
The Golden Text is: "Be that moveth of the Spirit, shall of the Spirit reap everlasting life" (Galatians 6:8).
Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world. And the world passeth away, and the lust thereof: but he that doeth the will of God abideth for ever" (1 John 2:16-17).
The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following from the book, Christian Science textbook, Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, by Mary Baker Eddy: "Hold thought steadfastly to the enduring, the good, and the true, and you will bring these into your consciousness proportionately to their permanency of your thoughts" (p. 241:7-9).

Gators Are Ready To Meet Tampa Spartans

GAINESVILLE, Oct. 2. (Special)—Florida's coaching board of Gator gridders through their final practice tactics devoted to perfecting an attack and defense for their meeting with the Tampa Spartans Saturday. They left Gainesville today.

The Gator squad members know they will have no easy chore among of them in their approaching clash with the speedy and determined Spartans and not one bit of overconfidence has cropped up in the Florida camp this week.

Billy Wynne, classy Plant high halfback of last year reported in uniform today along with several football-minded students to soar the speed total to around 60.

Coach Tom Lieb continued his efforts toward making the lineman a ball-minded crew as he sent a pair of them racing out in a snappy drill to receive aerials and laterals off to their running mate.

SO SORRY

CHICAGO, Oct. 2. (AP)—It was almost a pleasure for William T. Dwyer, Cook county (Ill.) Sheriff, as Chagwidden was forced into a dark nook in front of his limo and relieved of the money, the bandit kept repeating, "I'm so sorry to trouble you."

One egg out of every seven produced in 1942 will be made into egg powder for use by the United States armed forces on far-flung battlefronts, and by the Allies.

HE'S A REAL BUSINESS MAN, that Herald carrier who delivers your newspaper each afternoon! He's not afraid of hard work or of long hours and there's plenty of both in the newspaper business. This is his day and we're pleased proud of him and of the other boys who make Herald deliveries. These boys who are getting a taste of what the business world is like are the men who tomorrow will shape the nation's destiny. We sincerely urge that you give these boys the co-operation they deserve.
