A Seminole County native, Bettye Reagan enjoys creating pastel portrayals of the people and street scenes of everyday life. She is particularly fond of capturing the expressions and body language of social interactions where each person represents a different idea, but each personality is an integral part of the overall statement of the painting.

Bettye is recognized locally for making the past come alive with expressionistic, colorful renditions of historic scenes from Florida's "good ole days." Her work can be found in many private and corporate collections. An award-winning artist, she participates in about 15 outdoor shows each year. She has also had several solo gallery exhibitions, the most recent at First Street Gallery in Sanford. This show, "Tandem Times and Turnings," featured Bettye and her husband Don, an award-winning wood sculpture.

Constantly exploring new ideas and ways of expressing themselves through art, they both agree, "There is never enough time for art."
