more abundant where the climate is suitable for things which grow in that region.

Also there must be plenty of rainfall.

5 In places, the flora and fauna have to adapt themselves to the surroundings.

And again there may be many varieties, and they will all become fitted for that growth, and the country will in time be different because there will be so many species.

Some of the forest grounds are the pampas, llanos, campos, and prairies, they are places or kinds of country which are found.

some in other parts.

(8.) Man is said to have been somewhat like animals, and originated from that state. But now man 9 has more mental power, and is so different that it is hard to see the resemblance.
