Egypt Accuses United States Of Plotting Against Syria

By UNITED PRESS
Egypt observed the first anniversary of the Israeli invasion today by accusing the United States of plotting against Syria.

Cairo newspapers hailed the day as "Hero's Day" and reported that President Gamal Abdel Nasser would speak on the occasion. The English language Egyptian Gazette recalled that the United States was one of the first nations to speak out against the Israeli-British-French invasion and said it was repeating their mistakes.

"Exactly one year after the Suez aggression it seems as if a similar venture is being prepared. Again there is the threat of a third world war," it said. Other newspapers failed to recall U.S. intervention on Egypt's side and Al Shaab said "America is preparing to take some specific action in the Middle East." It warned that the Arab states would act together. The government newspaper Al Gomhouria also at-lacked the United States. The Egyptian press comment was in contrast to belief in the United Nations that blunt statements by the American, British and Turkish delegates had taken the crisis edge off the assembly debate on Syria. However Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko was speaking this morning and his speech should show for sure. Syria gave indications Monday night it thought the crisis far from over. It warned seven NATO powers that Turkey might seize the opportunity of forthcoming NATO maneuvers in southern Turkey to "commit aggressive action against Syria." Syria sent identical notes to the United States, Italy, Greece, West Germany, Belgium, Holland and Denmark calling their attention to "the fact that Turkey might seize the opportunity" of the NATO maneuvers to "commit aggressive action against Syria."

Warm Turkey May Act
It said Turkey might act in behalf of the presence of NATO forces in the Turkish coastal areas near Syria "to protect Turkish forces during their possible aggressive operations." The maneuvers were Oct. 21-Nov. 2. In Cairo the Middle East News Agency reported on Tuesday that two unidentified aircraft flew over north Syria on Monday and that a British made Canberra bomber flew toward Iraq.

The U.S. Embassy in Damascus meanwhile formally protested to Syrian authorities over the alleged seizure of one of their chief Syrian employees in Latakia nine days ago. An embassy spokesman said Syrian authorities seized Mohammed Sukkar, chief clerk and interpreter at the Aleppo Consulate, in Latakia on Oct. 20 while he was there with Vice Consul Arthur Lewis. The spokesman termed the alleged arrests — third since mid-August — was "unjustifiable interference" in embassy work. Moscow Continues Propaganda

Moscow Radio kept up its anti-American and anti-Turkish propaganda and demanded the United States halt its "imperialist schemes in the Middle East for the sake of universal peace." Jerusalem dispatches indicated growing concern at Israeli relations with Syria, almost the first time Israel has indicated it might become embroiled in the current Turco-Syrian dispute. Other Middle East Developments
Cairo: Egypt said it was sending its chief delegate to the Anglo-Egyptian economic talks back to Rome next week with instructions to break off negotiations unless Britain releases Egypt's frozen assets. Cairo: Delegates from ten African countries announced they would fly to Damascus Wednesday to examine the Syrian crisis.

Mollet's Attempt To Form Government Rejected

PARIS (UP)—The National Assembly early today rejected Socialist Guy Mollet's attempt to form a new government. President Rene Coty promptly tapped young financial wizard Felix Galliard, Radical Party leader, to make the next try.

The assembly turned down Mollet by a 290-227 vote, thus prolonging the four-week political crisis conceded to be the worst since World War II. The Conservatives lined up with the Communists and extreme Right Wing Poujadists to defeat him.

At 4:40 a.m. Coty summoned Galliard to the palace. He is 37 and finance minister in the government of caretaker Premier Maurice Bourges-Maunoury. A half hour later Galliard emerged and announced he would decide later in the day whether he would make the effort to become France's 24th postwar premier.

Standing on the chilly steps of Elysee Palace before sunrise, Galliard told reporters his task was a formidable one, indicating he did not hold too much hope of success. Observers gave him a 30-50 chance.

The Conservative votes actually were what killed Mollet's chances since he had counted on Communist and Poujadist opposition. The Conservatives refused to accept his insistence that pensions and health benefits be increased even at the cost of higher taxes.

Personal Solicitations In Drive Start Monday

Next to the final phase of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce membership drive will get underway Monday and continue through Nov. 15. J. Bralley Odham, chairman of the membership committee said yesterday at a meeting of his team captains.

Personal solicitation will get underway next Monday following an intensive telephone follow-up of letters mailed to more than 700 licensed businesses and professional people in Seminole County, Odham said.

Dedication Service For Highway 415 To Be At Osteen

Plans are complete for the dedication of Highway 415, which has been named the Campbell Thornall Highway, on Nov. 13 at 4 p. m. The dedication ceremony will take place at Osteen where members of the Chamber of Commerce Highway Committee, representatives of City and County governments, State Road Department officials and others will take part in the formal opening and hear the dedicatory address by Justice of the Florida Supreme Court Campbell Thornall, a former road board member.

Explaining the goal of the membership committee, Odham told the group yesterday afternoon "The membership committee along with the budget committee of the Chamber of Commerce has considered the needs for 1957-58 and this money represented in our goal is needed to promote advertising on a national basis. "A group of businessmen met and discussed the potential. They

Members of the committee meeting with Odham yesterday to plan this phase of the drive were: Jack Hall, Art Pleva, Art Harris, Jim Grant, Carroll Burke, Tommy McDonald, George Andrew Speer, Clifford McKibbin and Dr. W. A. Woodall.

He Devalued France
It was Galliard's virtual devaluation of the franc this summer that brought home forcibly to Frenchmen the seriousness of their country's economic plight.

However, commissioners asked that additional parkway lights be provided for the Sanford City Center area and the municipal parking lot. A plan is to be submitted to the city by the city manager, for the placement of the lights and the financing of the additional facilities.

Firemen's Assn. Meet Tomorrow

The Seminole County Fireman's Association will convene tomorrow night at 8 o'clock at the Longwood Fire Hall. All County firemen are requested to be present for this meeting. A spokesman said that anyone else interested is welcome to attend.

Members of the committee meeting with Odham yesterday to plan this phase of the drive were: Jack Hall, Art Pleva, Art Harris, Jim Grant, Carroll Burke, Tommy McDonald, George Andrew Speer, Clifford McKibbin and Dr. W. A. Woodall.

Deaths from motor vehicle accidents in Seminole County were 10 and 16 accidents of other kinds claimed fatalities. In third place for cause of death was influenza and pneumonia with 18 for the 8 months. Other deaths and causes were: diabetes 7, chronic nephritis 6, other (CVR) diseases 5, tuberculosis 2, dysentery 1, and acute poliomyelitis 1.

Florida is just a wee bit safer to live in this year than last, according to figures just released by the State Board of Health. With an estimated increase in population of 6 percent, deaths from all causes increased only 3.8 percent in the first eight months of the year, compared with the same period in 1956.

Excitement is running high at Seminole High School this week as the students prepare for their annual Homecoming celebration. One of the many big events that the students look forward to each year, this year it will be held Friday, Nov. 1. The "Lighting Seminoles" will meet the New Smyrna Beach Barracudas at the Memorial Stadium at 8 p. m. The celebration will start with a bonfire Thursday night at 7:30 across from the high school. This event is to stir up the spirit of the students for the "big game". Cheerleaders, dressed in Indian outfits, will lead the crowd in cheers while the band will furnish music. Friday afternoon a parade will proceed through the downtown

UF Drive Captains Discuss Progress

United Appeal team captains met in the board room of First Federal Savings and Loan Assn. yesterday afternoon to discuss with Campaign Chairman Harold Kastner and President George Touhy the progress in the current campaign to raise $35,000 for the seven participating agencies. They report collections in funds and pledges of slightly more than $10,000.

Two elements characterized the statements of a majority of the canvassers. One was that apparently many firms and individuals felt that United Fund was the preferred way to contribute to charity organizations and that they "intended to give something". The other factor was that "we are still pushed around and stalled, and just can't seem to get the story across that the time to give is NOW."

Present Ordinance On Photographers Better Says Board

An ordinance presently in force on the city's statute books "is better than a proposed ordinance requested by photographers" members of the Board of Sanford City Commissioners decided last night. Fred Kirchner, Henry Jameson and George Bergstrom, Sanford photographers, requested that an ordinance, similar to one used in Denver, Colo., be adopted here to protect the local photographers from itinerant solicitors. City Attorney William C. Hutchinson told the photographers "our problem is one of enforcement." Henry Jameson pointed out that local photographers pay taxes, sewer and water charges, garbage collection fees and support the city. "These itinerant photographers come in and take business from us."

City Fathers Ask For Additional Parkway Lights

The Board of Sanford City Commissioners last night approved an ordinance for a position classification plan and made into law by ordinance a new electrical code. Commissioners were also advised that parkway lights on French Ave. and Park Ave. were turned on Oct. 24, bringing to near completion the entire system.

Club Meet Slated At Parish House

The Holy Cross Episcopal Church Parish House has been set as the meeting place for the joint meeting of Sanford civic clubs who will hear Congressman A. S. "Syd" Herlong at a 12 noon luncheon on Nov. 3. The Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce is in charge of arrangements and all civic clubs are invited. Reservation must be made by Oct. 31 through civic club secretaries or at the Jaycee Information Booth.

Approved by the commissioners

Approved by the commissioners was a motion "to permit the use of the park for the purpose of putting up facilities for tourists and citizens. That the Jaycees be permitted to construct the building with plans to be approved by the City and that the city will buy back at such times as the park is vacated by the Jaycees, at a figure not to exceed $10,000 at the pleasure of the municipality." It is expected that the local Jaycee organization will begin immediate plans for the construction of a booth and to begin cleaning up the site for use as a tourist park. Buildings and concrete areas now in the park are to be torn down and cleared off, according to previous action by the Board of Commissioners.

Another one of those days when I can't think of anything to write about. This sounds downright silly to me now that I read it over, as I've just finished writing several letters! I never seem to have trouble with those, but "oh" . . . the trouble I have trying to write a column when no one has called me with any news!

I have exactly one thing to write about, so I guess I had better get at it, and stop stalling!

Ruth Armistead was honored at another baby shower last Friday evening, at her home on Rosalia Drive. The hostess was Mrs. Polly Gardiner, a very good friend of Ruth's. The color scheme was yellow and green. (playing no favorites) with all the gifts piled in the pretty pale green bannette Ruth has all ready and waiting for the new arrival. An unrelenting with green and yellow streamers hung over the bannette, and beautiful white gladiolus were the flowers used. Several games were played with prizes being won by Dorothy Odell, Nona Fretwell, and Betty LeCuyer. Those attending were: Mrs. Helen Walsh, Mrs. D. A. McClary, Mrs. E. C. Dobson, Mrs. Louise Sauman, Mrs. Jane Fretwell, Mrs. Mary Ann Galloway, Mrs. Stella Ripley, Mrs. Frances Fretwell, Mrs. Nona Fretwell, Mrs. Lois Ann Dropchuck, Mrs. Elise Cornell, Mrs. Dorothy Odell, Mrs. May Davis, Mrs. Bunnie Yarbrough and Mrs. Betty LeCuyer. Several girls were unable to attend, but sent gifts along with others. They were: Mrs. Bernice Sisson, Mrs. Monteen Flowers, Mrs. Gloria Smith, Mrs. Sue Lohelk, Mrs. Lucy Fore, Mrs. Imogene Yarbrough, Mrs. Connie Hale and Mrs. Carol Kenny.

Ruth received some very beautiful baby gifts and hardly a repeat among them!

CHAPTER 22
AFTER the Christmas dinner, Isabella Randall turned her chair toward the fire, then stooped and laid several chunks of cottonwood on the low flames. She said, "Let's sit here, Chad." For a moment Chad Endicott could not take his eyes from her. She stood facing him, a sad but lovely woman. Chad wondered, as he had many times since he had first seen her, why she had married Colonel Saunders. Chad placed his chair beside hers, a sudden wariness in him. He was afraid to stay here, afraid of himself. He heard the steady, gasping sound of the Colonel's breathing in the next room.

"Tell me about your sweetheart, Chad," Isabella said. So he told her about Elizabeth, about Christmas a year ago, about their plans. As he talked, the wariness left him, for he was remembering things long forgotten, little things like the infection of Elizabeth's voice and the sound of her laughter.

When he stopped speaking, Isabella murmured, "She must be a wonderful girl." She brought her gaze to Chad's face. "Tell her you love her after you're married. Tell her over and over until you think she must be tired of hearing it, but she won't be. Believe me, Chad, she won't be." She turned her head to stare at the fire. "I know the questions that are in your mind. You're too courteous to ask them, but I'll answer them anyway. I married the Colonel when I was sixteen. He was twice my age but he was handsome and I loved him. Age was not anything to worry about. I met him in New Orleans, in fifty-six. The year Buchanan was elected President. There was talk about war even then, but we didn't take it seriously."

She threw out her hands in a gesture of futility. "Oh, I don't know, Chad. Maybe he did want to come here. Maybe he thought he could prove his courage to himself. And to all of you. But he never will." She laid a hand on his arm. "Forgive me for talking the way I have, but sometimes I think I'm going crazy, cooped up this way inside the stockade. No one to talk to. The Colonel just sitting and looking at me." Her fingers tightened on his arm. "Chad, will you let me have a horse to go riding? Just a little way. I wouldn't go far."

"I'm sorry," he told her. "I couldn't. We don't know how many Indians are around, but they're watching us all the time." "Please, Chad. I've just got to get outside the stockade." "Ask the Colonel." "She shook her head. "I couldn't." Chad rose. "I've got to go. Thank you for the dinner." "Thank me with a horse. Please, it would mean so much to me."

"I'm sorry, I can't." He took his overcoat down from a peg beside the door and put it on. Then he turned to Isabella. She was standing as if she were frozen, her eyes on her chest, her face filled with outrage. He looked down at the chest, puzzled; then he saw the half-smoked cigar that lay on the lid. Reaching down, he lifted the cigar and threw it into the fireplace. There, on the smooth and shiny surface, was an ugly, charred scar. Randall must have left the cigar there before he sat down at the table. A little thing, but in Isabella's mind it was magnified until it must have seemed the end of everything. She whirled toward the fireplace, giving Chad her back.

old plug to ride," she said. Saunders led the mare and a brown gelding from the stable, and Chad helped Isabella into the saddles. He wanted to ask her if her husband knew she was going and decided against it. "Don't go far," he said. If anything happens, the Colonel will have my aide." "Thank you, Chad," Isabella said. "It's a poor word, but I think you understand." He watched them ride through the gate, Saunders stiff and awkward in the saddle, Isabella graceful and relaxed and making a startling contrast with the plodding, heavy-boned mare that she rode. Chad returned to his quarters, thinking he would have liked to take a ride with Isabella. That, he told himself, would fix everything with Randall.

He had just finished cleaning his revolver when Zack Cuberly came in without knocking. "Howdy, Loohtant," he said as he sprawled on Chad's bunk. "Gittin' ready for war?" "Just getting ready, in case of war." "You'd best be ready," Zack grunted. "Cause you're shore nankerin' after trouble."

Chad struck the table with his fist. "We don't have many Indians around. You told me yourself." Zack sat up. He shouted, "I can't seem to hang it into nobody's head that we don't know how many Injuns are around here. I don't see 'em and you don't see 'em, but that don't prove Cut Lip's whole band ain't jest over the hill." He was more upset than Chad had seen him for a long time. Chad stared at his revolver, knowing he had made a terrible mistake.

Pat Boone Is Man Haunted By Time Revised Standard

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—Pat Boone, a young man in a hurry, is haunted by time.

At the age of 23, Boone occupies a snug niche in what the untamed refer to as show biz. He is what the trade calls "a gasser" in the record and personal appearance branches and seems to be conquering a third medium, TV. In his movie appearances, he has not exhibited any conspicuous talent for acting, but this, of course, has never been a deterrent to success in Hollywood. He should, in time, prove a gasser in pictures, too.

He is a young man spectacularly unburdened with vices. But he also is a young man squeezed by the clock. He divides his days between a demanding career, a beckoning home life and Columbia University's School of General Studies, where he is in his senior year.

Above all, he seems to harbor a fierce drive to make good—even in his school life he is buckling for a Phi Beta Kappa key.

Not Much Idle Time
He does have a few outlets outside his daily regimen, but not much time for them. He owns some hi-fi equipment and a half-interest in an inboard cruiser with Frank Musiello, a member of the Arthur Godfrey production family. Boone also shares a financial, but not much of an emotional interest, in a race horse, "April's Love," with his manager, Jack Spina and actor Arthur O'Connell. The horse's name is an inexact swipe from the title of Boone's second picture, "April Love." But viewed from any angle, Boone is a slave to the clock. His day-to-day life is as carefully mapped as a military campaign. It is not surprising, therefore, that Boone's chief fault lies in the resistance, even resentment, he shows to the push of the clock.

"It's kind of fantastic, but we just can't seem to get him to change," says his wife, Shirley. "He just refuses to have any conception of time. Getting him to arrive for an appointment on time is a job in itself."

Spina concurs. He has a collection of stories about Boone's disregard for the clock.

Very Costly Miscalculation
"Once, he had an appointment for 8:30 in the morning and he didn't even get up until 11:30," moans Spina. "There was another time in Hollywood where he was eating a Thanksgiving leftover dinner."

"Well, I pleaded with him to quit—we had a recording session that day—but he began digging into the miscalculation. Well, that piece of pie cost us about $1,000—that's how much overtime the musicians got because Pat got to the session late."

Strangely enough, Boone's troubles with time extend in another direction—he collects watches. "He kind of likes the real thing kind right now," says Shirley Boone, "but it's hard to tell how many he has because he constantly gives them away."

"It's one of his quirks—the toothbrushes. He's always brushing his teeth. When we were going together, he even used to keep a toothbrush at my house."

"Listen, we have been careful with this boy, careful from the start," says Spina. "He may not phrase like Sinatra, but who does? He may not have that tone of Combs', but again, who does? Pat has a good voice, a great personality and that extra something that makes a great star."

A BRAVE CALIFORNIAN set out on a hunting trip, and came on the trail of a giant grizzly bear. Three days later he limped back home, minus, alas, the bear. "Lost the trail, eh?" scoffed his wife. "Lost it nothing!" he asserted. "The fact was that I kept right on it. Suddenly I found them footprints was getting too fresh — so I quit!"

Lewis Copeland tells of the time the noted clergyman, Dr. S. Parker Cadman, received a letter from a youth inquiring, "Is it possible to lead a good Christian life in New York City on eighteen dollars a week?"

"My dear boy," replied Dr. Copman, "that's about all you can do."

Halloween Is For Fun—We All Admit—But Make It Safe, Too

Roasting marshmallows over a bonfire, bobbing for apples in a tub of water, trick-or-treaters at the neighbors' house and hoping that you won't be asked for the "pay"—a dance, song or poem—for the treat.

All this is Halloween, a once-a-year occasion when Johnny and Mary can fill their paper sacks with a collection of goodies even the heartiest of appetites can barely dent.

Halloween... a night when bedtime is moved back an hour (or two, if you protest enough), a night when small spooks slither through the streets of Pumpkin Center, Calif., Skull Creek, Colo., and Treat, Ark.—and most places in between.

The originators of the observance of All Saints Day probably never realized how the eve would be marked in the twentieth century.

And for sure, they never realized the dangers of Halloween hijinks.

The holiday, a safety organization points out, can be full of fun for youngsters if a few simple rules and precautions are observed.

No one wants a repetition of the tragedy in Seattle, Wash., when a youngster's Halloween mask slipped, blinding his view of an onrushing auto.

How can parents make this October 31 safe from Halloween hazards?

By buying their children light-colored costumes, for one. They're easier to see at night.

For another, by making sure the outfits aren't tripping hazards and that they are flameproof.

Other tips:

Masks are dangerous because they restrict vision. They're also hot and scratchy, so kids will welcome a painted false face. A little rouge, eyebrow pencil and moustache stick can make children miniature ghosts, goblins, pirates or clowns—but with the added safety factor of allowing them to see danger in time to avoid it.

Use a flashlight instead of a candle in jack-o'-lanterns.

Remind children that on Halloween, as during the rest of the year, safety precautions should be observed. No dashing between parked cars, no playing in streets, no crossing streets without first looking both ways.

To make doubly sure motorists can see costumed children, put reflectorized tape or bands on their outfits. A novel idea is a reflectorized paper pumpkin for pasting on trick-or-treat bags. The pumpkin gives off a yellow glow in auto headlights.

Further, grownups can help make October 31 accident-free if they will:

Light porches so trick-or-treaters won't trip in the dark.

Watch out for disguised dangers in the streets—logs, barrels or piles of leaves, for example—that may conceal pranksters.

The white strips of cloth on wires or ropes surrounding newly planted trees.

Take indoors any objects that may tempt vandals and be turned into safety hazards. In this category are barrels, trash cans, lawn mowers and bicycles.

If, despite your precautions, your car windows get soaped, take time out before driving to clean them.

Most of the autumn antics are good for laughs. But many can lead to accidents.

Have fun, but don't let your guard down!

Help Is Essence Of Psychotherapy

By DELOS SMITH

United Press Science Editor
NEW YORK (U.P.)—This will tell you what psychotherapy is—since you're bound to have wondered.

It is one of those words which gets kicked around without anyone—including many doctors—being quite sure of its meaning.

Psychotherapy is "helping psychologically disturbed people to a better adjustment" with themselves and the world they live in, according to Drs. Abram Blau and Bertram Slaff who explained it in simple terms at a recent medical meeting.

"Help is the essence of psychotherapy," they said, but to apply it you must have a clear understanding of the emotional processes of the person who needs the help, some idea of what the person is up against, extensive training in how minds work, but "most of all, good common sense."

Five Level Applications

Psychotherapy can be applied on any or all of five levels—"insight," "educational," "emotional," "environmental," and "physical." They cited psychoanalysis as an example of "insight" psychotherapy in which a person is made aware of the meanings of "various competing tendencies" within himself.

The "educational" level is when psychotherapy uncovers "a real lack of knowledge. Common instances of this sort are sex information, other biologic facts, and the differences in thinking of children as compared with adults."

The "emotional" level permits the person "to talk more openly about his fantasies, and in some cases to accept direct advice when this is urgently necessary."

"Although it is accepted that psychotherapists should avoid direct advice and direction because it tends to "infantilize" the patient and encourage dependency rather than independency, there are times when it is necessary to accept the responsibility that a sick patient may be regressed and, like a little child, may need to be controlled and led until he can do better by himself."

Need For Change

With children and the severely ill mentally there may be a need for changes in the environment. And the psychotherapist must also be aware that bodily conditions

"may sap the individual's energies." They referred specifically to allergies, acne, and disorders of the endocrine glands.

So far the psychotherapist has been treating only the symptoms of the psychologically disturbed person. Having done that, he shifts his part and "it then becomes related to that of the teacher, the parent, and the friend."

"We believe that psychotherapeutic effects derive from the whole range of human experience," the doctors said. "The patient raising the child, the teacher befriending his friend, the doctor treating his patient—all are instances of constructive psychotherapeutic activity."

The professional medical psychotherapist differs from parent, teacher, friend because his training and experience permits him to work with a knowledge of what he is doing and to have both "working principles" and "a well-defined goal."

Drs. Blau and Slaff are psychiatrists at Mount Sinai Hospital, New York.

Elections Coming Up

By RAYMOND LANE

United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (U.P.)—Elections coming up in six states in the next two months will provide the first ballast box tests for the national political parties since Little Rock and Sputnik.

Except in Virginia and perhaps New Jersey, however, national issues are expected to be minor or insignificant factors in the results.

Kentucky, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania and Virginia will hold elections Nov. 5 to fill state and local offices and two vacant seats in the national House of Representatives. In the seventh Illinois congressional district in Chicago, candidates will be nominated in a Nov. 13 primary for a special election Dec. 31 to fill another House vacancy.

The administration has shown much interest in the campaign of New Jersey Republicans to win back the governorship in that pivotal state. A Republican victory would repair some of the damage suffered by the GOP two months ago when Wisconsin Democrats elected a senator for the first time in 25 years.

State Sen. Malcolm S. Forbes is the underdog but hopeful Republican nominee to unseat Democratic Gov. Robert B. Meyner in New Jersey. Meyner's reelection would project him into the national picture as a potential candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1960.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon toured New Jersey Wednesday in behalf of Forbes.

The administration has made no comparable effort in Virginia where the campaign centers on methods of preserving segregated schools. State Sen. Ted Dalton, who polled a surprising 45 per cent of the vote for governor four years ago, is again the Republican nominee.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd, chief of Virginia's dominant Democratic organization, has laid his prestige on the line in campaigning for the Democratic candidate, former state Atty. Gen. J. Lindsay Almond Jr.

Byrd is advocating "massive resistance" to federal court decisions against segregated schools, and berating the President for sending federal troops to Little Rock, Ark., in the school segre-

Letters To The Editor

Sanford, Herald
Sanford, Florida

Dear Sir:

The latest feasibility report to the City of Sanford by Gee and Jensen on the Dock and Terminal facility brings up to date the conclusions of the 1946 Smith and Gillespie engineers report on the advisability of constructing a dock and terminal facility. The advantages and apparent profitable operation are well set forth in both reports although to my mind, neither report thoroughly exhausts the possibilities for barge traffic. For instance, new automobiles are now hauled south on the inland waterway to Jacksonville for further distribution; this possibility, together with hundreds of other heavy finished products that find a Central Florida market could have been included, with little additional operating cost but considerable additional operating revenue. We of the Seminole Chamber of Commerce envision an extensive warehousing and distribution operation in this vicinity if the terminal becomes a reality. And the saving in transportation costs which will benefit agricultural, commercial and industrial firms, both existing and those to develop in the future, because of the very existence of a terminal will justify construction; low-cost water transportation will by competition lower rates of other freight carriers operating into Sanford. The terminal should be constructed in our opinion for the benefit of the community.

NEW ORLEANS (U.P.)—George W. Porter, managing editor of the Gainesville, Ga., Daily Times, has been appointed assistant editor of the New Orleans Item.

Porter, formerly with United Press in its Montgomery, Ala., bureau, succeeds Leo Davis at the Item. Miss Davis will retire from active newspaper work but will be on the public relations staff at Tulane University.

National Acreage Allotment Is Set

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—The Agriculture Department today set the national acreage allotment for 1958—crop peanuts at 1,610,000 acres, the same as last year and the minimum required by law.

The department set the marketing quota for this acreage at 238,000 tons. The yield from the same national acreage allotment for this year will produce a crop estimated at 187,000 tons.

Producers approved marketing quotas on 1957, 1958, and 1959 crops of peanuts in a national referendum last Dec. 11.

Price support will be available at a level between 75 and 90 per cent of parity in 1958 and 1959 depending upon the supply at the beginning of the marketing year, Aug. 1.

State allotments include Alabama 218,523 acres, Georgia 325,929; North Carolina 198,257; South Carolina 13,779; Virginia 105,807; Florida 54,915; Mississippi 7,378 and Tennessee 3,373.

Just For The Record!

News—and its emphasis by news media—seems, in the nature of things, much more often bad than good. We suppose it's that way because actually it's not news when one teen-ager does not knife another one. And ordinarily it is not news when one nation does not hoist a man-made moon—until another nation does so. Then the fact that the second nation has not created a man-made moon immediately becomes news of the first magnitude.

haps we had better not try to define news any further than to say again that there is both good and bad news. Certainly the American public has had its share of the latter recently, whether a man has been a stock market investor or a U. S. scientist building satellites or only a taxpayer watching the cost of Government going up, the news hasn't been very good.

So maybe worth mentioning is the report of Secretary Folsom of Health, Education and Welfare about the Salk vaccine statistics. Across the nation, paralytic polio decreased this past year by 80 per cent compared to 1955. Out of 28 million persons inoculated, only 63 cases have developed. Experts say the dread disease might even be wiped out.

Maybe we'll be called an unrealistic Pollyanna, and maybe we deserve it. Maybe it's just because we live in a neighborhood full of kids that sometimes we think Salk's scientific conquest pretty important, too. (Wall Street Journal).

Reports of the first earth satellite fatality came from Johannesburg, South Africa, where a man fell from a building trying to get a glimpse of Sputnik.

Many persons long on talk are short on things worth talking about.

A TRIO OF HUNTERS failed to catch even a sight of a deer all day, and two admitted they had had it. The third insisted on continuing his search. Suddenly he came head on to two enormous grizzly bears. He threw down his gun and hotfooted it back to camp with the bears in hot pursuit. He dove through the entrance of the tent and yelled to his companions, "You boys skin these two, and I'll go back to try to find some more."

A kid at Michigan State resigned from the football squad after one practice scrimmage. "I didn't mind a thing," he explained, "till one varsity back grabbed my left leg, handed my right leg to a tackle—and said 'Make a wish!'"

Drugs And Treatments Among New Discoveries

By HERMAN H. NUNDESEN, M.D.

TWO new drugs for treating rheumatoid arthritis and gout, helpful when the eyes are bothered with reactions to fever or asthma. Investigators say it gives prompt relief from itching, tearing and burning.

Application of mild electric current to the temples is said by two Maryland doctors to have improved vision greatly in 10 persons with varying degrees of visual loss.

In the cases studied the impaired vision apparently was due to vascular problems. The investigators reported the patients improved with the treatment "probably because of improved nutrition to the visual apparatus as a consequence of improved circulation."

It is nice for the public to know about the new advances in medicine, but it is also equally important to understand that medicines should always be taken under the advice of the doctor.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
T. W.: I have a cousin who suffers from hookworm disease. Can you tell me something about it?
Answer: Hookworm mainly affects people in the tropics and southern temperate zones. The symptoms are listlessness, weakness, loss of physical and mental ability, loss of weight and anemia. The cure consists of the use of thymol or carbon tetrachloride, but always under the doctor's supervision.

Colcemeid is reported to be highly effective in suppressing painful and distressing arthritic symptoms that accompany acute gouty attacks.

The new eye preparation is Metron Optical Suspension, which can be used for a wide variety of resistant allergic eye conditions.

Both drugs are extracted from a particular variety of European and Asiatic crocus that blooms in the autumn.

Geneva P-TA Hears Mrs. Edson Goit

A meeting of the Geneva P-TA was held in the School Auditorium, Tuesday night, Oct. 22 at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Edson Goit, Supervisor of Elementary Education for Seminole County was the speaker for the evening. Her topic was "Reading Methods used in the Elementary Schools. Her talk was most enlightening as she explained these methods by the use of the actual text books and teachers manuals.

A count was made of the parents present representing each room and Mrs. Lowry's room won by a count of nineteen.

The budget for the year was approved. It was voted to change the night of the P-TA meetings to the third Tuesday of each month instead of the fourth Tuesday. Mention was made of important coming events in the month of November, namely: P-TA dinner at Community House 6 o'clock November 2, the School Trustee and Millage election on November 5, the State P-TA convention to be held in Orlando on November 5, 6, and 7, and the School Bond Issue vote on November 19th. Everyone was asked to think about the float to be made for the Christmas Parade and to make suggestions; this will have to be decided on by November 20th.

Conning The News

By VIRGINIA CONN, Society Editor

The Cotton Pickers from Hog Holler were much in evidence Saturday night at the Halloween party given at the Yacht Club by the Sanford Boat and Ski Club. Patty Walker was especially charming as she attempted to keep her trousers in the proper spot. There was room enough in them for another person Patty's size. She even dislained shoes for a large bow tied to one of her dainty toes.

Other cotton pickers were Evelyn and Bob Cushing, Booty Howard, Rita and Glenn McCall, Christine and Jimmy Wright, and Ernie Fritz. Gene Fritz went oriental for the evening.

Bill Evans was celebrating a great event Saturday night. If rumors are true, they will have to get a bigger car.

Winners at the Officers' Wives Club Halloween party Saturday night, were hard to choose. The judges were Lionel and Riddle Arthur and Jean and Jim Reedy, Jack and Lorraine Langford were dressed as a magician and his gruesome cat (and good looking). Cy and Jean Filson as the big bad wolf and little red riding hood also won. Pat Hansen was a little old lady and sold her apples all night. Joe Schifgens portrayed a gruesome admiral.

All reports are that the costumes were for the most part extremely original and well conceived. What a bunch of spooks! Velma Mitchell reports that packages of every shape, size and color are arriving daily. The mailman marvels at the number which have been sent for the carnival Thursday. The postoffice at the carnival should do a bangup business.

Certainly worth attending is the Glee Club concert tonight at Seminole High School. Anytime 150 to put up the twenty booths for the carnival Thursday night. The men will work until all the booths have been built.

New lights have been installed, so this year's carnival will be brighter than ever. The lights may be used Wednesday night.

True Facts About Society Items

The Sanford Herald is interested in all local society events which may appeal to the majority of our readers. Wedding and engagement pictures should be 4 by 5 inches. Forms are available at the Herald. There is no charge for space in the paper for social events.

News and visitors, out-of-town trips, birthday parties, anniversaries, civic and church activities, are all welcome, subject to space. Pictures of outstanding events will be taken without charge, subject to the editor's discretion.

Typewritten articles, preferably double-spaced, will receive immediate attention. Whenever possible, written articles, whether typewritten or longhand, are preferable. It must be understood that these may have to be edited due to a possible lack of space.

Calendar notices of all kinds are welcomed, in order that we may give a good picture of Sanford social activities and a reminder for those involved. News should be phoned to the Sanford Herald before 2:00 P. M. of the day preceding publication. Call FA2-2011.

Steve Soderblom Celebrates Birthday With Halloween Theme

Mr. and Mrs. Courtney Soderblom of 3321 West First St. gave a birthday party Saturday afternoon for their son, Steve, who was celebrating his seventh birthday.

The hall and living room were decorated with orange and black streamers. Hanging from the chandelier were a black cat and orange moon. A witch on a jet-propelled broom and jack-o-lanterns completed the decorations.

Games were played. Prizes were won by Gail Elizabeth Redd, Brenda Carter and Wayne Hardin.

The dining room was attractively decorated with blue and yellow streamers. The large birthday cake was adorned with cowboys and Indians. The guests were served ice cream, cake and candy pumpkins. They each received one of the balloons that hung above the table, besides suckers and hats.

United Church Women Will Have Observance Friday

The Sanford United Church Women will observe "World Community Day" Friday, November 1, at 2 P. M., in the First Methodist Church. The theme will be "Bread, Freedom, and Dignity". Mrs. George E. Wells, president of Sanford Church Women, has stated that through gifts and prayer suffering throughout the world will be greatly relieved.

Good used clothing, especially for children, blankets and house hold linens are being gathered by individuals and church circles. They will be dedicated as "Parcels for Peace" at the observance Friday.

Mrs. Arthur Beckwith, program chairman, has announced that the speaker will be Mrs. R. E. Rutland. Clifford McKibbin will be guest soloist. The organist will be Mrs. Frances Hickson. The ushers will come from the various churches participating.

Sanford Boat And Ski Club Has Gals Party At Yacht Club

Halloween came a week early for the Sanford Boat and Ski Club Saturday night, as the Yacht Club was jammed with members and guests for a Halloween Costume Party.

Boat Club member F. D. Scott donated a Marine Spot light to be awarded to the most outstanding costumed member.

Past Commodore Joe Nicholas spotlighted the parade with his hilarious antic and costumed attire of the opposite sex.

Mrs. C. L. Fritz took the coveted award for the evening with her outstanding display of oriental finery that was completed with black wig and beads.

The more than 60 guests ranged in their clothing from the roaring 20's beachwear as modeled by Commodore and Mrs. A. W. Woodall to the personification of a carpet bagger by F. D. Scott whose wife modeled the new HB look made by the hanging together of two burlap bags.

Mat Dillon and Kitty made their appearance in the persons of Gerald and Claudette Behrens.

The most authentic and comment causing costume of the evening was worn by Mrs. Darwin Bruce. She wore an ankle-length, hand-made, bustle back gown that was sported by her grandmother in the gay 90's. Jewellery worn by Mrs. Bruce was also of the same era.

Sunday the club completed the gala weekend with a cruise to Shell Island.

Four Unbeaten, Untied Teams Face Tough Opponents Saturday

By FRED DUNN
United Press Sports Writer
Four of the nation's six remaining unbeaten and untied major powers will face tough, once-beaten opponents next Saturday when the final push for lucrative bowl bids begins in earnest.

Oklahoma, its national crown drooping a bit to the port side after Saturday's 14-13 squeaker with Colorado, should have relatively easy pickings with Kansas State 9-3-1 and Auburn, 6-7 victor over Houston Saturday night, will be a 3-1 choice over Florida.

But the other four — second-ranked Iowa, third-ranked Texas A&M, fifth-ranked Notre Dame and unranked but also unbeaten and untied Dartmouth — could easily be knocked out of the elite group. In Texas A&M's case, a defeat could mean no telephone call from the Cotton Bowl Committee.

Iowa wins in rain
Iowa, which beat Northwestern 6-0, on a rain-and-snow soaked field thanks to a fluke play, goes against Michigan, which is 4-1 overall and walloped Minnesota, 24-7, on Saturday, Ohio State, Big Ten co-leader and the league's likely Rose Bowl nominee, takes on Northwestern, Illinois plays Purdue, Minnesota meets Indiana and Michigan State plays Wisconsin in other games.

Texas A&M, 6-0 after Saturday's 14-0 triumph over Baylor draws a real "toughie" in the Arkansas Razorbacks. The Razorbacks knocked Mississippi from the perfect record list, 12-0, and have outscored six opponents, 105-61, in running up a 5-1 overall record.

Notre Dame, making a great comeback under Terry Brennan, places its 14-0 record on the line against a Navy team that has won five games, lost by a touchdown to North Carolina and romped over Pennsylvania, 33-7, Saturday. Always a colorful game, this one ranks as one of the top intersec-

STRENGTH FOR YOUR DAYS
The Bible
Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ.—(Romans 5, 1)
How can a man ever be at peace with himself until he first has peace with God, and loves Him and trusts in Him? The Way is through faith—through Our Lord Jesus Christ, Blessed Saviour who died for us. Faith is the answer; it is forever the answer.

Fox Hunter Assn. Members Attend Field Trials, Show

Five County Field members of the Florida State Fox Hunters Association attended recent field trials and bench show held in Apalachicola.
The Chamber of Commerce of Apalachicola sponsored an open and fish supper for the group which included Mr. and Mrs. D. Varner, Bobby and Sherry Hessel of Yonkersville and Roy Alfred of Ocala.
There were 214 hounds entered in the field trials and bench show representing 15 states.
Mr. and Mrs. Varner won two trophies and several ribbons; Bobby Hessel won second best derby dog trophy, the trophy for the hound with the best voice and several ribbons.
The contests were held at Wilson Beach Cottages at Passaic on St. Johns Island.

DeMarco Uncertain Favorite To Regain Welterweight Title

BOSTON (UP) — Hard-working Tony DeMarco was rated today an uncertain 10-8 favorite to regain the welterweight championship when he meets durable Virgil Alkins Tuesday night in a scheduled 15-round title bout which has raised storms of controversy all over the fight world.
DeMarco's status as the leading contender and former champion gave him the edge in the early line for the match, which was expected to draw at least 2,000 to the Garden since it will be neither televised nor broadcast nationally.
However, there was considerable local betting for the hard-punching Alkins who has been very impressive in recent sparring sessions. The ambitious number four contender from St. Louis has consistently showed the form which earned him victories over Isaac Logart, Joe Micelli, Sugar Hart, Joe Brown and Hector Constance among others.
DeMarco, recognizing the clear threat to his expected ascendancy, staged the stiffest training period since his hedge-podge career for the battle.

More Bowlers Less Pinboys This Season

This new bowling season will see more bowlers and less pinboys than ever before, according to a century-old bowling equipment manufacturer.
Automation of the bowling lanes is helping reduce both both changes. Amazing machines are coaxing more bowlers onto the lanes and at the same time displacing pinboys all over the nation.
The only manual action with an automatic pinsetter is for the counter attendant to turn on the machines. After that the bowler and his ball do the rest.
First, the bowling ball activates the machine when it hits the "pin" cushion. Then, the ball is automatically returned to the bowler and the machine's "magic" brain tells it whether it was the first or second ball of the frame. If it was the first ball, fallen pins are removed and standing pins are left for the bowler's second or "spare" ball.
After the second ball is rolled (or a strike on the first ball) all pins are removed and a new set of ten pins is put up for the bowler — all automatically.
This automation has come to the recreation field which is booming today. Interestingly enough, one of the reasons it is booming is the fact that automation in industry has given the working man more leisure time to enjoy a pleasant recreation like bowling.

Many firms previously unconnected with the medical world seek an opportunity to make quick money. They hire people to go from door-to-door to sell unknown brands of vitamins.
Unfortunately, these door-to-door salesmen have no knowledge except what they memorized from their canned sales pitches. Why gamble? We pharmacists have the training to properly answer your vitamin questions.
Before obtaining any vitamins from these door-to-door opportunists, check their prices for unknown makes with what we charge for products of the reliable firms physicians endorse. Despite their glib promises, our prices are usually much less.

TOKYO — 10 — Japan stood at the top of the golf world today because an Oriental Gene Sarazen and a Manchurian-born malleo artist proved once again that while you drive for show you putt for dough.
That was the story as Nippon mopped up in the International Trophy and Canada Cup matches at Kasumigasaki Country Club to wallop the best hitters from 29 other nations over a demanding 72-hole route.
Torakichi Pete Nakamura, a 41-year-old refugee from the rice paddies, won the individual international trophy with a 14-under par record 274 for the 72-hole distance. They said he "cast his hit out of his own shadow" but he finished seven shots ahead of America's Sam Snead, South Africa's Gary Player and Welshman Dave Thomas.

And Nakamura, a slant-eyed ex-cop of Sarazen, teamed with "under Koichi Ose, a naturalized Japanese from Manchuria, to cop the Canada Cup (rosanna title with a total of 537—19 shots under par and nine fat strokes ahead of the second place total of 566 earned by Snead and Jimmy Demaret.
Nakamura's individual 274 broke by one stroke the International Trophy record of 275 set by Canada's Stan Leonard in 1954. It came with a 283 while Demaret had a 285 which locked him with Australia's Bruce Crampton. The Japanese, however, fell one short of matching Australia's record winning total of 554 in 1954 but it was no contest as they stroked home nine shots ahead of the Yanks' 266 with South Africa third at 569, Australia fourth at 572, Wales sixth at 573 and Canada seventh at 576.

"We're all proud of you, Pete," said International Golf Association President Frank Face in presenting Nakamura the $2,500 top prize — $1,500 for individual honors and half of the $2,000 team prize.
"Me too," Pete grinned, kissing his putter.
"He ought to kiss that putter," said Demaret. "That's the club that won the whole ball of wax."

Sarnoff Says Pay Television Hostile To Public Interest

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Robert W. Sarnoff, president of the National Broadcasting Co., says that pay television "is hostile to the public interest."
"The public would have to pay for entertainment now free; and in the process might lose all the other benefits of free television," Sarnoff said.
Speaking at a lunch given by William Block of WILC, NBC's newest television affiliate in Pittsburgh, Sarnoff said that pay TV would be able to use box office revenue to outbid free television for programs, even if the pay system had smaller audiences.
"He said this would result in 'a movement of the major attractions from free to pay television.'"
"Instead of being available to everyone without charge, the programs would be available only to the minority of the public willing and able to pay for them," he said.

Americans Getting More, More Hep To Finance World

By VIVIAN BANDE
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—Americans—including women—are getting more and more hep to the world of finance.

So say the GGG's of New York, eight girls who guide visitors through a financial landmark that has become the third largest tourist attraction in New York City. Any one of these girls might tell you about the Texas who some time ago entered the building and asked, "but where's the cattle?"

The "three G's" are the gallery girl guides of the New York Stock Exchange.

Million Dollar Gallery
They now operate in a million-dollar visitor's gallery and exhibition hall which last March was opened by the New York Stock Exchange Building to accommodate the ever-growing numbers of visitors.

Each year the guides take nearly 400,000 visitors, about half of them women, through the visitors galleries of the 18-year-old exchange. Over the gallery railing they point out the busy trading floor below, about the size of a football field but far more crowded.

The exchange now has 1,366 dues-paying members. Since 1950 the prices paid for the memberships (called seats) although every-one on the floor stands) have ranged from $38,000 to $113,000. Members are entitled to execute "buy" or "sell" orders in the exchange's 1,800 listed stocks. More than half—51.6 per cent—of the $30,000 stock owners in the United States are women.

Know More Now
The girls say it is obvious more visitors know about stocks and the Stock Exchange than they did five years ago, because they never ask anymore: "Where are the seats?" They know there aren't any.

A recent survey shows the most frequently asked question today is "Can I go in the floor and place an order?" The answer: "No."

Other frequent questions: "What's the price of a seat on the exchange now? Answer: Around $72,000."

Why aren't there any women on the floor? Answer: No woman ever has applied for membership. How did you get your job? Answer: "Applied for it."

Actually the gallery girl guides also have to apply themselves to their jobs. Catherine Wittmore, a former airplane mechanic and flier, says they're chosen for personality, appearance and ability to learn.

Dancers, Models, Artists
She said most of the 35 girls (ages range from 20 to 35) who have been GGG's since the service started, including former ballet dancers, models, an artist and a comparison shopper, know little of finance when they began. They hone up on the business in an intensive 16-week training course at the Institute of Finance. It's part of their job to give a 15-minute talk on the Stock Exchange, then answer questions, and it's a tribute to them that they rarely are stumped, even by experts.

Visitors rarely ask their guides for tips on stocks. When they do, they are told, "we never forecast the future of the market."

Of course the gallery girl guides get their share of odd questions. The favorite anecdote of the week:

A little old lady excitedly pointed to the figures 3:12 on the wall above the stock quotation board and said breathlessly, "Oh, tell me quickly what that stock is. I want to buy some as soon as I can. I've been watching it, and it's gone up two points in two minutes."

What she saw was a dial-less electric clock.

THE CARD OF THANKS
Very often a Card of Thanks in the Sanford Herald meets a need which is difficult to fill in any other way. Not only is it a graceful expression of gratitude to those who have sent floral tributes but also courteously acknowledges the services and kindnesses of the many to whom a personal note of thanks cannot well be mailed.

Newspaper Cards of Thanks are accepted as socially correct. Emily Post, the noted authority on etiquette, feels they serve many good uses.

There is no prescribed form for a Card of Thanks. It can be as brief or as detailed as you desire. When the occasion comes you will find a sympathetically understanding member of our staff to assist you.

THE "IN MEMORIAM" NOTICE
It is the custom of many families in this country to commemorate a bereavement by an "In Memoriam" notice in newspaper classified columns. They find a real solace therein. Preparation of a suitable verse brings back to them tender, pleasant recollections. As Eliza Cook, the English poet has so beautifully expressed it:

"How cruelly sweet are the echoes
That start
What memory plays an old tune
On the heart?"

Most frequently an In Memoriam is inserted on the anniversary of death. However, other dates, which it is felt are appropriate or meaningful are also selected. The birthday of the departed, the wedding anniversary, Memorial Day, even Christmas are among other significant occasions chosen.

If you are hesitant to express your tender thoughts in poetic form, you may avail yourself of the Herald's collection of original verses. These express in poetic beauty the emotions of the heartstrings. Among them are verses appropriate to any circumstance.

THE RATE
Cards of Thanks and In Memoriam notices, due to the fact they may run to considerable length, are billed at $1.00 per column inch.

DEATH STRIKES AT CHURCH DOOR

A police photographer works to snap a file picture of the body of Mrs. Lucy Negron Rodriguez, 24, who lies where she died, at the entrance to a New York church. Police said Mrs. Rodriguez was trying to reach the sanctuary of the church when she was shot to death by her estranged husband, Louis, 29. The berserk mother later killed himself. (International)

Motion Picture Mogul Louis B. Mayer Dies

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Motion picture mogul Louis B. Mayer, 67, died suddenly last night at his home on 628 South Scott Ave. Funeral services will be announced at a later date.

Mayer, who was 74, had been suffering from the blood disorder since early this year and had undergone several transfusions recently. The reaction was complicated by a kidney infection.

Death came at 2:28 a.m. e.s.t. in the UCLA Medical Center.

A second little man, Mayer—known to his intimates as "L.B."—was a one-man Horatio Alger story, starting as a rascally junkie at the age of 14 and rising to earn a salary of $1,000,000 in one of the largest individual checks ever reported by the U.S. Treasury Department.

At the height of his career as movie-maker and race horse owner, Mayer was acknowledged as the most powerful man in Hollywood. As boss of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, the world's largest film factory, his secret whim was law to thousands and the elite of movie-makers respected his judgment.

He resigned from MGM in 1951 and in recent years had worked as an independent producer while he waged a behind-the-scenes battle to regain control of the vast studio property at nearby Culver City through the directorship of its parent company, Loews Inc. There had been some critics who complained he failed to keep pace with the entertainment times.

Resident's Father Dies In Ocala

S. W. Webb, 81, died suddenly at his home in Ocala Monday morning. He was the father of W. E. Webb of this city.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Lucy Lawson Webb; two sons, W. B. Webb, Sanford; Roger W. Webb, Nashville, Ga.; three daughters, Miss Louise Webb and Mrs. I. L. Hicks, both of Ocala; Mrs. G. W. Smith of Gainesville; five grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Wednesday at Hiers Funeral Home in Ocala. Interment will be at the Ocala cemetery.

Certain Ills Aggravated By Excessive Smoking

TO MEN to add a little fuel to the fire which is raging about the advantages and disadvantages of smoking.

But I'm not going to talk about cancer. Instead, I'd like to discuss some other ailments in which excessive smoking apparently plays a part.

If you have asthma or suffer from hay fever year after year, I suggest that you give up smoking, at least for two months or so to see whether it will ease or eliminate the symptoms. If it does, then you know what you will have to do.

Not Easy To Stop

Now I know it is not easy to stop smoking. Certainly it isn't easy for a doctor to convince some patients to end the habit.

But recent tests have proved that persons with frequent colds, chest pain, coughing, difficult breathing upon exertion and, of course, asthma and hay fever, have been helped by stopping the smoking habit.

Chronic coughing, especially has been alleviated in many instances simply by giving up smoking.

Bad Chronic Cough

Two University of Virginia physicians carefully examined 25 patients with chronic cough and other respiratory disorders.

© 1957, Rex Feature Syndicate, Inc.

After an analysis, they reported that nonsmoking was the "sole cause of improvement" in 15 cases and "a major factor" in the remaining 10. Or, to put it more positively, the majority of the patients improved simply because they stopped smoking.

All Gained Weight

Four of these patients showed improvement within one to five days. Average time for maximum improvement was five weeks. All of the patients gained weight, from five to 25 pounds, after they stopped smoking.

These persons had been fairly heavy smokers over a long period of time. They had smoked an average of 28 years and only three of them smoked less than a pack a day. Some smoked as many as 45 cigarettes each day.

I don't imagine it was easy for them to break the smoking habit. But they did.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

A. H.: What is a rectal fissure and how is it treated?

Answer: A fissure is a cracking of the membranes around the opening of the rectum. It is like an open sore, with pain, bleeding, itching and general rectal discomfort. It may be treated by local applications of silver nitrate. In some cases, surgery is necessary.

STRANDED ON AN ASTEROID—This drawing, published in 1956, shows that men have always reached into the mysteries of outer space. Now, with Sputnik whizzing around the earth, the picture of two men stranded on a deserted asteroid does not seem so far-fetched. The United States has announced plans to send a mission to the moon, and there would be asteroids on the route there. (New York Public Library Print Section and General Press)

Talk On Missile Test Center Given By Naval Unit CO

Capt. R. F. Sellers, USN, Commanding Officer of the Naval Ordnance Test Unit at the Air Force Missile Test Center, Cape Canaveral was the guest speaker at a dinner sponsored by the officers of VAF's recently.

Capt. Sellers gave a very informative and interesting talk about the organization and function of the Missile Test Center and he also discussed, to a certain degree, several of the projects which are presently under development.

Capt. L. A. Arthur, USN, Commanding Officer of NAS Sanford and Capt. J. E. Reedy, USN, Commanding Officer of Heavy Attack Wing One were among the honored guests attending the dinner.

The dinner was the beginning of a new custom established by Cdr. R. C. Knight, USN, Commanding Officer of VAF-7. Once each quarter the officers of Seven will hold a stag dinner. These gatherings, although primarily designed as a social function to better the acquaintance of squadron officers, also serve as a means of gaining outside professional knowledge through guest speakers. It is believed that this custom is the first of its kind ever established at NAS Sanford by a squadron.

During the course of the evening, Cdr. Knight gave a brief summary of the squadron's history and also assisted in the presentation of several awards. Lt. E. R. Fritz, USN, acted in the capacity of Toastmaster for this initial gathering.

Wilson Gets Cool Response To Local Airport Question

City Commissioner A. L. Wilson met with cool response to his question "What can we do about an airport for the City of Sanford?"

Civic leaders admit that industry, locating in any city, looks for an airport or airport facility to bring their small planes used by company officials.

Commissioner Merle Warner, an aviation enthusiast, backed up Commissioner Wilson in his question as to "what can we do about an airport?"

A present out of town facilities must be used for commercial airlines travel and industrialists searching for locations and sites must use the same facilities for landing their aircraft, either personal or leased.

It is expected that additional efforts will be made to secure facilities nearer Sanford for an airport.

WANTS MONIES WORTH

ALONG 1,000 MILES—The Far-side rocket dangles from a balloon over Eniwetok Atoll in the Pacific Ocean as it is carried to a launching altitude of 100,000 feet. From there, the Far-side was successfully fired into outer space to a height reported by the Air Force to be between 1,000 and 4,000 miles, at least twice the altitude of the Russian earth satellite.

Band Assn. Thanks Those Taking Part In Recent Barbecue

The Seminole Band Association yesterday thanked all of the people who took part in the chicken barbecue held at the Elks Club Saturday night, said Ernest Cowley, Bandmaster of the Seminole High School Band.

"It was a wonderful success," Cowley said. Proceeds from the barbecue will go toward purchasing new uniforms for the Seminole High School Band.

Amount raised during the barbecue was not announced.

SPACE STATION—A space station that gives the appearance of a flying saucer (top), this "Rotary House" was envisioned by Capt. Hermann Noordung of Germany in his book, "The Problems of Space Flying," published in 1929. The "house" revolves like a wheel about a central portion to give the artificial effect of weight. A mirror on the opposite side would gather the sun's rays to heat air cables connect it with its companion body. The air lock is at one end. (New York Public Library Files and Central Press)

Kremlin Power Struggle Unlikely To Spark East-West War

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—The current Kremlin power struggle is unlikely to spark an East-West war, U.S. officials said today. A congressional report back from Russia said that the Soviet rulers don't want war.

President Eisenhower had an opportunity to assess the dramatic new developments in Moscow at his first news conference in three weeks.

Eisenhower could be expected to give at least a clue to his plans for attending the December meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Council in Paris. The President is awaiting a formal invitation to the proposed "summit" meeting, designed to follow up on the President's agreement with Macmillan to expand allied scientific and military cooperation.

Rep. James E. Van Zandt (R-Pa.), one of a group of Congressmen recently returned from a trip to Russia, told the United Press today he saw or heard nothing while there to indicate any Kremlin leader wants war—now or in the foreseeable future.

The current big question at the White House, in U.S. intelligence agencies and in the State and Defense Departments is what upheaval in the Kremlin caused Marshal Georgi Zhukov to lose his job as Soviet defense minister.

Questioned prior to the President's news conference, U.S. officials professed no knowledge of what Soviet Communist Party boss Nikita Khrushchev would do, with Zhukov, or whether Khrushchev &

Ch. may have fired other high Soviet officials.

Eisenhower, as commander of Allied Armies in World War II, was friendly with Zhukov in Berlin following the defeat of the Nazis. They met again when Eisenhower visited Moscow shortly after the war, and when the President attended the Big Four summit meeting in Geneva in 1953.

Officials watching the Kremlin power struggle took some heart in Moscow Tuesday. This was a startling development, perhaps designed to calm the Turkish-Syrian situation. Khrushchev himself was the leading Soviet saboteur during the Red-Soviet saboteur war of nerves between Turkey and Syria. But officials noted Tuesday night that Khrushchev was talking about peace again.

The question of war possibilities was raised Tuesday when Secretary of State John Foster Dulles told a news conference the United States must be alert for possible Soviet ventures during the unsettled situation in Moscow.

... Whenever a great nation seems to be having internal troubles, one has to bear in mind the historical fact that sometimes these internal troubles lead to external acts designed to palliate the situation at home or divert attention," Dulles said. "We are always on the alert under these conditions."

But Dulles said "I don't want to give you the impression that we think there is war around the corner, because we don't think there is."

Waterways Group Convenes Nov. 8

The newly-formed Florida Waterways Committee, headed by John Krider of Sanford, will hold its first regional meeting in the Greater Orlando Chamber of Commerce building, Friday Nov. 8, at 7:30 p. m.

This will be the fourth District meeting said Krider, in a letter released today to all members, "with all groups and individuals interested in sound, orderly development, conservation and use of our state water resources attending."

Counties comprising the Fourth District are: Seminole, Indian River, Osceola, Orange, Brevard, Lake and Volusia.

Krider said today in his letter "For the first time in the history of Florida all individuals interested in the development of waterways have an opportunity to join with a state-wide organization and associate in a united effort to promote the use of our natural state resources."

Krider, chairman of the state-wide committee and G. G. Ware, member of the Fourth District, in a joint statement strongly urged all chambers of commerce, boating organizations, municipalities, counties and individuals interested in this vital subject to plan to attend the meeting.

Funeral Services For W. W. Dawson Tomorrow At 3 p.m.

Mr. William W. (Bill) Dawson Jr., 60, passed away at home at 9:45 p. m. Monday from an acute coronary heart attack. He made his home at 428 Scott Ave. and was formerly of White Plains, N. Y.

A professional engineer designer and builder, he has been in the construction business in Sanford and Casselberry for the past ten years. During World War II he was with the war production board in Jacksonville. He was a World War I veteran, past president of the Orlando Exchange Club, former member of the Kiwanis Club of Sanford and a member of the First Methodist Church of Sanford.

Survivors include the wife Gladys M. Dawson; mother, Mrs. W. W. Dawson Sr., Hastings on Hudson, N. Y.; and one brother, Edwin P. Dawson, New Haven, Conn.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow at Brison Funeral Home with the Rev. J. E. McKinley of the First Methodist Church of Gainesville officiating. Burial will be in Oaklawn Memorial Park.

Peanut Bowl Dec. 13

LeDr. Louis B. Hoop Jr., General Chairman of the Peanut Bowl, announced today that plans for the Bowl on Dec. 13 are progressing satisfactorily. However, volunteers are still needed from the fathers of Sanford Grammar School to make this the best Peanut Bowl in the series.

"Lightning" George Pittard, Captain of the sixth grade "Lions", and Commander "Fireball" Cy Filton, Captain of the fifth grade "Tigers" are presently enlisting players for the game. Secret practice drills are scheduled later to make this father's game a whole of a ball game. Speedy, swivel-hipped, daredevil fathers are being signed up with more skill needed. The phone number for Pittard is FA 5-1318 and Filton FA 3-1908.

Mrs. Gustave Bamburger of 1218 E. Crescent is heading the Ticket Committee. The majority of ticket sales are to be through the school and at City Stadium. Ticket sales by the school children will be prohibited in the business area of Sanford. A downtown location for the sale of tickets has not been selected as yet.

City Commission Candidates Jaycee Speakers Tomorrow

Candidates for the Board of Sanford City Commission in the Nov. 5 city election will be guests of the Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce at its noon luncheon meeting Thursday.

Robert Brown and Mrs. Alice Willink will speak to the Jaycees in behalf of their candidacies for the city commission seat. The two candidates are opponents in the same group.

A. L. Wilson, candidate for reelection to the Board of Sanford City Commission is unopposed but will be a guest speaker.

So far no issues have come out of the race in the two-candidate opposition for the same seat.

Candidates for the Board of School Trustees, all three unopposed in the Nov. 5 countywide election, have been invited as guests of the Jaycees at the Thursday noon luncheon.

Ambrose Olliv, chairman of the Get-Out-The-Vote Committee for the Jaycees, is program chairman for the Thursday meeting.

Reds Said Using New Generation In South

MEMPHIS (UP)—The Senate Internal Security Subcommittee warned today that the Communist Party is using a roving new generation to maintain operations in the South.

The subcommittee issued a statement detailing its contention following a stormy hearing on alleged Communist activities in the Midsouth area surrounding Memphis.

The hearings ended a day ahead of schedule in an uproar with Sen. William Jenner (R-Ind.) denouncing Mrs. Grace Lorch, one of the witnesses, as a "Communist organizer."

Jenner threatened to have Mrs. Lorch cited for contempt of court and the subcommittee said it would consider whether to press those charges. Mrs. Lorch broke into the news by befriending a Negro child at Little Rock, Ark., but Jenner charged she was previously identified as a Communist Party worker in New England.

The statement said there has emerged a pattern of "a new and younger generation of communist teachers who have been trained by older members and are now carrying on the functions of the (Communist) network."

Jobs Come Easy

The subcommittee noted "the apparent ease and facility with which a Communist professor has been able to move to another section of the country and get a new job in the teaching profession."

"Objects of this Communist network have been the churches, the parent-teacher associations, organizations," the Senate group said.

Many To Take Part In Halloween Events Tomorrow

Interest in tomorrow night's annual appearance of ghosts and goblins has been building up for two weeks.

There have been carnivals, dances, parties, get-togethers, all slanted toward Halloween.

And, as the evening devoted to merrymaking draws nearer, the larger the crowds taking part in the festivities seem to grow.

Although not available for comment this morning, Police Chief Roy G. Williams will in all probability have his entire force on duty.

City Manager Warren E. Knowles said this morning that there will be special watchmen on duty around city property, special police on duty patrolling various areas of the city, and the entire force of policemen and patrol cars watching throughout the city to prevent vandalism and mischief.

Halloween, the evening of Oct. 31, is the evening preceding All Hallow's or All Saints Day.

The big event in Sanford will take place at Southside School when the annual carnival takes place. Year by year the carnival and activities have been growing with bigger and bigger crowds attending the supper which precedes funmaking and celebrating.

More than likely there will be preponderance of bed sheets and pillow cases used as costumes depicting ghosts and a combination of many types of clothing, both discarded and new, forming ideas of goblins, appearing along the streets for tomorrow night's event.

Merchants To Stage Banner Days Nov. 1-2

Sanford merchants again this year are staging another of their gigantic "Banner Day" celebrations for the shoppers of the Seminole County area.

The annual event will take place Friday and Saturday following weeks of preparation by local merchants.

One of the most astounding arrays of special merchandise has been purchased specially for the two-day occasion which has been adopted as an annual observance by Sanford merchants.

Already special personnel has been working many hours marking, tagging and making ready for display the hundreds of items that will bear price tags denoting savings.

Store counters and display units are being readied for the many bargains that will be shown and made available to local shoppers. Showcards are being printed and painted so that the specially marked merchandise can be easily seen and selected.

Practically every store in the Sanford area will be displaying "Banner Day" merchandise, many items of which have been carefully selected so that they may be purchased for Christmas gifts.

Doors will open Friday morning at 9 o'clock in downtown Sanford on one of the biggest sales ever staged here, and the sale will continue through Saturday.

New styles, new materials, new innovations and popularly-demanded items will appear in the vast array of Banner Day merchandise in every store throughout the city. Most stores have special sales people all ready to help customers make their selections easily and with the least possible trouble.

Many merchants are optimistic about this year's event. They say "It's the greatest Banner Day celebration we've ever staged with more and better merchandise arranged for our customers' selection."

Thousands of shoppers are expected to crowd into the downtown stores during the two-day Banner Day celebration and sales event.

"We've ordered more stock than ever before," one merchant said, "and we hope that there will be plenty to go around for all of our customers."

However, merchants point out that those who choose their Banner Day sales bargains early will be sure to get a full selection of sizes, colors, styles and patterns.

National Farm-City Week Is Nov. 22-28

Local civic leaders will hear top men in the field of agriculture during National Farm-City Week, Nov. 22-28, according to Cecil Tucker II, Seminole County Agricultural Agent.

Proclaimed by President Eisenhower as a week "with special emphasis on notable achievements by rural groups and individuals and on the enrichment of American country living through adequate cultural, spiritual, educational, recreational and health facilities for both rural youth and adults," a series of addresses will be heard by local civic clubs.

Tucker said today that speakers from the field of agriculture will appear before the Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce on Nov. 22; the Sanford Rotary Club on Nov. 23; the Sanford Lions Club on Nov. 24; and the Sanford Kiwanis Club will tour the Sanford State Farmers Market on Nov. 27.

Proclamations are expected from both state and local government leaders setting aside the week in November to "recognize the interdependence of all citizens, rural and urban, in contributing to the strength, character and prosperity of our nation."

Before she could be identified for the record, Mrs. Lorch started reading her statement.

No Interest in Little Rock

"I am here under protest and have been denied my constitutional rights."

Jenner broke in and asked that she give her name and hometown. Mrs. Lorch tried four more times to read the statement but each time Jenner interrupted.

"I'll tell you what you are here for," Jenner shouted. "You came in here as a Communist functionary to tell the press you were subpoenaed because you befriended Negroes in Little Rock."

Khrushchev Emerging As New Stalin

LONDON (UP)—Western diplomats said today Nikita S. Khrushchev was fast emerging as the new Stalin. They expressed doubt and uncertainty on the future course of Soviet diplomacy.

Communists outside Russia appeared as uncertain as western observers just what the victory by Nikita S. Khrushchev over Marshal Georgi Zhukov will mean in future Soviet policy.

The most significant sign of uncertainty came from Belgrade where President Tito cancelled an expected visit to Moscow next week on the excuse he was suffering from acute lumbago.

Western observers quickly diagnosed the ailment as more political than physical and said the independent Communist leader apparently did not want to step into a factional fight even as observer.

U. S. officials said the Kremlin power struggle was unlikely to spark an East-West war.

The May Asses Moves

President Eisenhower may assess the dramatic Moscow developments today at his first news conference in three weeks.

Moscow information and dispatches to Communist newspapers in the West indicated the Central Committee of the Communist Party still had not taken final action on the deposed defense minister.

Khrushchev's remarks Tuesday night at a Turkish Embassy reception in the midst of Russia's threats of war in the Turco-Syrian crisis gave rise to speculation that the Communist leader might tone down talk of conflict in the Middle East.

He said things appeared to be brighter in the Syrian crisis and even said he believed there would be no war. And the very appearance at the reception was a surprise in view of Russia's current anti-Turkish campaign.

An indication that the West was disturbed by the future Soviet policy came Tuesday morning from

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles in Washington.

West Alert Dulles Said

Dulles told a news conference the developments might indicate serious political and economic tensions in Russia and that the West was alert to the possibility that stiffened and more provocative external policies might be adopted to screen domestic troubles.

Khrushchev promised Zhukov a new job in his remarks during the Turkish reception but he still did not throw any light on whether Zhukov would retain his high party post as member of the Presidium.

Khrushchev said only Zhukov would be given a new job in line with his "experience and qualifications."

Official party spokesman said almost the same thing of Vyacheslav M. Malotov, George Malenkov, Dmitri Shepilov and Lazar Kaganovich when they were dismissed from their high posts for "anti-party" activities earlier this year.

NEW HAWK MISSILE LOADER—This tractor-driven Army Hawk missile loader makes it possible to quickly transfer three "birds" at a time from the storage area to the missile launcher. The loader and other interested units help give the Hawk system its speed and mobility of operation. The loader, self-propelled and highly maneuverable, negotiates rough or muddy terrain.
