Costs going through the roof

LONGWOOD — The cost of just about everything seemed to be higher than estimated Monday night.

City administrator W. Shelton Smith added some items to his report not listed on the agenda.

About $1,500 more is needed to do repairs on one of the city annex buildings which is being re-roofed. The job originally slated to cost $4,840 increased to $6,390 when additional damage was found.

"It continues to get worse," the administrator warned, noting $1,000 earmarked to create an office for parks director Sandi Lomax at Candyland Park was going to cost $4,600. Her old office will be used for storage of finance department records.

"And it gets worse," Smith said, in his Georgia drawl, drawing laughter from the audience. The lowest total bid on the three-phase renovation of the firehouse was $124,532.

Fire Chief Charlie Chapman has about $55,000 left in his budget for the project after the purchase of an administration building last year.

The project includes general renovation, installation of a laundry room and converting some of the building to storage. The lowest of seven bids submitted for the renovation was $86,000.

"That was the worst of it," Smith concluded.

The city commissioners agreed a presentation or a work session is needed to discuss the cost overrun on the fire station.

Assault arrest

SANFORD — Seminole County deputies have arrested Edwin Coronado, 27, of 106 Grove Hollow Court, Sanford. He has been charged with two counts of lewd/lascivious assault on a child.

Sheriff's spokesman Ed McDonough says Coronado was taken into custody at his home. He is accused of sexually molesting a 9-year old girl on two different occasions earlier this year.

The assaults reportedly occurred at Coronado's previous residence on Georgetown Drive in Casselberry, when Coronado's wife was babysitting the girl. They are said to have taken place when the wife left the girl alone for a brief time.

Coronado is being held under $10,000 bond at the John E. Polk Correctional Facility.

SANFORD — The Sanford Lions Club held their annual fishing tournament for the visually handicapped recently at Mullet Lake Park and the St. Johns River.

They have done this for 19 years with more interest generated every year. The club had participants from the Conklin Center in Daytona Beach and the visually handicapped from the Seminole County school system.

Trophies were presented to the anglers who caught the most fish, most weight and largest shad. A group of local boat owners furnish their boats for the tournament and club members help with the fishing.

Sanford Mayor Bettye Smith, a club member and past president of the group, described the event as wonderful. "The weather was beautiful," Smith said of the Feb. 25 event. "It couldn't have been better."

Sex case: Preacher arrested

By NICK PFEIFAU

SANFORD — A religious ceremony Tuesday in Sanford ended in a sexual battery case after police arrested the preacher they say was involved.

The attack allegedly occurred in an apartment on Georgia Avenue. According to police Commander Dennis Whitmire, a family had made arrangements by phone, to have a laying-on-of-hands religious ceremony conducted. They were told to meet at the apartment, which Whitmire said was apparently not the preacher's residence.

Parents learn about student drug use

By VICKI DeBORMIER

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Parents are sometimes blissfully ignorant of the subtle signs of drug activity by their children.

Parents who don't watch for the signs or who fail to question where their teens are going or what they will be doing could be asking for trouble.

Last night, school district and law enforcement officials kicked off a month of informational meetings with parents at which they presented them with the weapons they might need to fight against the threat of drugs in their schools and in their own homes.

More than 100 parents attended a meeting at Lake Brantley High School last night. There, they learned about Raves, about pacifiers and about the dangers of aluminum cans with holes in them.

The most important lesson they learned was to be vigilant for the signs of drug use.

In an effort to inform rather than alarm, law enforcement officers showed parents video shot with a hidden camera at a local "Rave" party. The all-night parties at local nightclubs are billed as relatively innocent events, but law enforcement officers say they are hot-beds for drug activity.

An undercover agent who had posed as a student at Lake Howell High School last fall told parents, on videotape, he had attended numerous Raves as a student. There, he said, he had sold drugs to students from all over the county.

Drugs, he told them, were the main focus of the parties.

Pacifiers have become a fashion accessory among teens over the past few years. While most parents probably thought they were foolish or bizarre, law enforcement explained they could be considered drug paraphernalia.

Teens who have used strong drugs will often suck on the pacifiers in an effort to avoid grinding their teeth as they come down off the high.

Cops quick to nab burglar SANFORD — Sanford police arrested a suspect within hours of a business burglary Tuesday afternoon.

Police responded to Heilig Meyers Furniture at 1100 French Avenue, as the result of an alarm and a call from an anonymous passer-by who reported seeing a man in the store.

When police arrived, Commander Dennis Whitmire said they found someone had smashed through the glass front to gain entry, had broken open a watch display case, and taken a tray of watches.

"The entire burglary took only 22 seconds," Whitmire said.

The store video camera recorded the entire event, and when police examined the tape, they sent out an all points bulletin for the person seen taking the watches. He was described as a black man wearing white clothing and white sneakers.

"Shortly after we sent out the description," Whitmire continued, "officer Mike Ansley spotted a man near 11th Street and Cedar Avenue who matched the description, and found the man to be carrying several watches with price tags still on them."

Woodpecker habitat saved from road

ORLANDO — After three years of squabbling, environmentalists and developers have agreed to realign a road, preventing damage to an endangered woodpecker's habitat.

Developers will pay at least $1.3 million for another 1.3 miles of pavement; the original road was to cover 4.2 miles.

When completed, Alafaya Trail will create a new north-south link from the International Corporate Park east of Orlando International Airport to the University of Central Florida.

It will skirt a 2,000-acre wildlife preserve noted as a nesting area for the endangered red-cockaded woodpeckers once common to Central Florida.

Environmentalists want to protect the ecosystem to give plant and animal life a better chance of survival, said Charles Lee, Florida Audubon Society senior vice president.

The compromise was struck after lengthy hearings with a mediator. A total of 24 federal, state, regional and county agencies and individuals are party to the case. This was the first time mediation was used in a public land case.

Hunter charged in companion's death

CRESTVIEW — A hunter has been charged with third-degree murder for shooting a companion last year in a case authorities had then labeled an accident.

Faron Eugene Henderson, 33, of Crestview, was charged Friday in the Nov. 27 death of Stevie Ray Ziglar, 29, of rural Okaloosa County. Henderson was released from jail under a $10,000 bond.

Third-degree murder is a charge made in deaths resulting from negligent acts. The maximum penalty is 15 years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

"Just because it was accidental doesn't mean someone isn't culpable," Okaloosa County sheriff's spokesman Rick Hord said Monday.

At the time of the killing, Henderson was charged with possession of a firearm by a convicted felon and cited for hunting without a license, hunting without a 10-day quota permit and failure to wear an orange vest.

Investigators also had prepared a murder warrant in November but did not serve it, Hord said. After further review of the case a new warrant was served Friday, said Assistant State Attorney Filth Jernigan.

Henderson's record includes a 1984 conviction for vehicular homicide.

Securities dealer gets public assistance

FORT LAUDERDALE — A former securities dealer and civic leader who admits stealing more than $3 million from his own clients is getting his legal bills paid for by Florida taxpayers.

Former Wilton Manors City Council member Michael Curran earned $150,000 to $180,000 a year until the federal Securities and Exchange Commission shut down his company, First Lauderdale Securities Inc., last November. The SEC action followed a random audit, which turned up the theft of client funds.

Curran's attorney, Marc Nurik, told U.S. Magistrate Lurana Snow at a hearing on Monday his client couldn't afford counsel.

Snow agreed to Nurik's request that he continue as Curran's attorney, but at public expense. The attorney is to receive $40 to $50 an hour in public funds.

Curran maintained last January in a financial affidavit that he had assets of $477,000 and liabilities of $380,000.

But since filing that affidavit, Curran has transferred title of the $450,000 house to his wife, Jayne Curran, and announced they have separated.

Not the first time this has happened

TAMPA — A hospital where a surgeon recently amputated the wrong foot of a patient had an earlier slipup, on a patient who had arthroscopic surgery on the wrong knee.

Orthopedic surgeon George Campanioni faces disciplinary action from the Florida Board of Medicine for the September 1993 case at University Community Hospital.

A state administrative complaint says Campanioni operated on a 41-year-old woman's right knee when it should have been her left. Before he finished, a nurse noticed the mistake and the needed repair was made to the left knee, according to the complaint.

Although Campanioni found damage in the right knee as well, he is sorry for the mistake, said Campanioni's attorney, Mike Blasiack.

Campanioni has been practicing 14 or 15 years.

The patient returned to Campanioni for followup and a later surgery, the attorney said.

Hospital spokesman John Andreas acknowledged the error Tuesday.

On Feb. 20, the wrong foot of Willie King, a diabetic, was amputated at University Community.

Governor hints at T-word

State of state speech calls for tax overhaul

By ADAM YEOMANS
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE — Lawmakers promised no new taxes this year but that hasn't stopped Gov. Lawton Chiles from reviving a top priority unrealized since he was first elected in 1990.

In his State of the State speech Tuesday, the governor hinted that a tax overhaul may be needed to improve the state's economy and create a "world-class education system."

"Limited resources may restrict our ability to do all that needs to be done. We know that education is not a partisan issue," Chiles told lawmakers on the opening day of the 1995 regular session.

The governor suggested a special session later in the year but conceded there was little chance for the kind of tax reform he advocated during his first term.

"I've said forever, that at some stage, I want to try to tackle tax reform," he told reporters after his speech, adding "I don't think that we will do the things this session to create the world-class education system that we need."

Senate President Jim Scott, R-Fort Lauderdale, said he didn't think it was time to talk about a special session or tax reform.

"It's a little premature to say we're going to have a special session. Let's see how well we do this session," said Scott, who wants to spend up to $200 million more on public schools than Chiles next year.

Chiles has proposed increasing spending on kindergarten through high school by about 4 percent to $9.6 billion next year.

House Speaker Peter Rudy Wallace said the Legislature will try to address the governor's concern about education during the regular session, but he expected the governor to return to taxes.

"I hope that at some point over the next two years we'll have an orderly and rational debate about tax reform," said Wallace, D-St. Petersburg. "It appears that the governor is ready to set us down that road."

In 1991 and 1992, Chiles sought about $1.7 billion in increased taxes, mostly by eliminating sales tax exemptions for dozens of goods and services. He got about $482 million in those two years.

Study says bad roads will mean higher automobile tag fees

By The Associated Press

TALLAHASSEE — Auto tag fees need to be raised 43 percent and gasoline taxes need to increase nearly 5 cents a gallon to pay for repairs on Florida's roads, a university study says.

The hikes are necessary because the wear on roads from highway traffic is increasing faster than tax revenues, according to the study by the Center for Urban Transportation Research at the University of South Florida.

"If we don't do something now, in a very reasonable time frame, we'll have some very serious harm" to the highway system, said Gary Brosch, director of the research center.

"There's an enormous backlog of needs," said David Kerr, a state transportation commissioner. "Unless we address this in the next three to five years, it will be impossible to catch up."

The new report is part of a three-year research project by the center for the Legislature and Gov. Lawton Chiles' office. The project will include 12 separate reports in areas such as highway needs, community design, air quality and zoning.

The report predicts a dramatic increase in traffic tieups if the state continues to rely on current funding.

In 1992, fewer than 10 percent of the state's major arterial roads were seriously jammed during peak hours each day. The study said that will climb to more than 40 percent by 2012.

"We find that we are falling behind on our resurfacing and repaving, our bridge program and our ports and airports," Kerr said. "In almost every major category, we have to play catch-up."

The report predicts a state highway money shortfall of $16 million to $33 million by 2012 and says dramatic tax increases would be necessary to save roads from further deterioration.

Besides raising gas taxes and tag fees, lawmakers also would need to increase the rental car surcharge by about 34 percent and raise vehicle title fees, registration fees and aviation fuel taxes by about 50 percent each, the study indicated.

Local governments, facing shortfalls of their own, would need to boost local gas taxes an additional 3 cents just to maintain current road conditions, the report said.

Because counties have the option to impose higher rates, gas taxes vary around the state. The state tax is about 13 cents a gallon and local taxes can be up to 16 cents.

But costs will be higher if state and local officials want to improve highways instead of just preventing deterioration.

To do that, some vehicle registration fees would need to double and state gasoline taxes would have to be increased by 9.5 cents a gallon, the report said.

Chiles speech aimed to please all

By BILL BERSTROM
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE — Republicans liked what they heard from Democratic Gov. Lawton Chiles.

Facing a new Republican majority in the Senate and only a narrow Democratic lead in the House, Chiles on Tuesday outlined an agenda aimed to please almost everyone.

"Now the governor is sounding more like a Republican," said former Senate president and longtime Chiles nemesis Ander Crenshaw.

The Jacksonville Republican, who unsuccessfully sought his party's gubernatorial nomination, often blocked past tax proposals by Chiles. New taxes were absent from the State of the State speech opening the annual 60-day legislative session.

And whenever Chiles strayed away from goals pounded home by voters in November — such as cutting red tape — and toward pet projects like health care or tax reform, fees quickly squelched his hopes.

For example, Sen. Alberto Gutman, R-Miami, said the Senate Health Care Committee he chairs has no intention of taking up Chiles' health care reform proposal, though he respects Chiles for "sticking to his guns."

For the most part, Republicans said Chiles' speech affirmed their new power and opened a legislative session where they no longer have to go along to get along.

"There's no locking down and rolling over," said Rep. Daniel Webster of Orlando, Republican leader in the House, which still has a slim Democratic edge.

Chiles has said being in his last term makes him less flexible on goals that are dear to him.

But he also faces the challenge of defending ground for Democrats in Florida after the GOP won a four-vote majority in the Senate and pulled within six votes in the House.

A burglary was reported Friday in a Florida Hotel apartment at 500 Oak Avenue. A TV set valued at $150 was said to be missing.

Shed burglaries on the rise

By NICK PFEIFAU

SANFORD — More shed burglaries than usual have taken place in and near Sanford. Although such burglaries are not uncommon, eight have been reported in the past few days.

Items taken generally consist of lawn mowers and edgers, power tools and at times, fishing tackle.

Sanford police Cdr. Dennis Whitmire commented that such items are generally easy to pawn, and as such, are easy targets for burglars. "Probably 98 percent of these items don't have serial numbers," he said, "and even if they do, most people never write them down or remember them."

"Then, when these things are pawned," Whitmire said, "even if a person recognizes a tool or a lawn mower, unless there is proof, there is no way anything can be done or any theft proven."

The following cases were reported over this past weekend:

Friday, a $600 lawnmower and air conditioning unit stolen in the 1800 block of Jerry Avenue in Goldsboro. The air conditioner was located and recovered by sheriff's deputies a few homes away.

Saturday, tools and fishing equipment valued at $580 were reported stolen from a shed in Lake Monroe Terrace.

Saturday, a man told Sanford police he saw a man attempting to remove a lawn mower and tool box from his shed in the 2500 block of Grenada, in Sunland Estates. Although the man was not apprehended, most of the items were reportedly found strewn in grass nearby the home.

Sunday, Sanford police reported a shed burglary in the 2400 block of Elm Avenue. Items said to have been taken were totaled at $200.

Sunday, approximately $350 in items were reported stolen from a shed behind a residence in the 1200 block of Crescent Street.

Monday, Sheriff's deputies investigated the theft of several bikes, an air compressor and other items valued at $237 from a shed behind a structure in the 2700 block of Celery Avenue.

Monday, Sanford police said a lawn mower and swing with a

Shed some new light

Certainly, there are more important news stories which could have occupied the space. But we believe bringing the recent increase in storage shed burglaries to light may be of assistance to people.

Read the reports. People are losing $300 to $500 worth of items each. Lawn mowers, edgers, power tools, hand tools, other gardening equipment, and even fishing tackle are being transferred from private residence to pilfering and pawning perpetrators.

There should be little doubt these people are selling the items for money to be eventually used in drug or alcohol purchases. The former probably more common.

Husbands and wives, ask your spouse. Youngsters, ask your parents. "Do you have any idea what the serial number is on our lawn mower?"

We suspect that many may not even be able to tell the brand names of the items or where to look for the serial number.

This isn't only for small push-mowers. People with the $1,000 and $2,000 riding mowers with headlights and all the fancy gadgets are also forgetful about keeping accurate records.

Sanford police Commander Dennis Whitmire says there are also burglaries in carports and utility rooms. Some people believe in keeping nothing but worthless items stored in them, but to the thief, they may be able to pawn or sell even the most useless-appearing item.

Then too, a burglary in your carport is, in effect, an invasion of your private property.

It's a shame we have reached this point where even fenced in compounds are being burglarized and the youngest of criminals have a complete set of burglar tools and bolt and wire cutters.

But we are here. This is 1995, and we must take action accordingly. Start with serial numbers. Find them, write them down, and if the items are stolen, at least you have a chance to give a positive identification if they are recovered.

Then consider some stronger locks on shed and utility room doors. Look into outdoor lighting which goes on by movement in the surrounding area.

Investigate home security systems. Do everything possible to protect yourself and your property.

It will cost money. There is no question about that. But it will also save the loss of items which may be valuable and badly needed, and it could help police apprehend more of these burglars.

Firefighters pay

In 1990, the firefighters in Seminole County found the need to be represented by a union due to conflicts with the county administration. Since that time, they have been in negotiations for a contract, without success.

Twice they have gone before a state-appointed mediator, and twice the mediator has offered a compromise, which was accepted by the firefighters and rejected by the county administration, on almost all issues.

One of the six issues is pay. The Seminole County Fire Department is approximately the 15th largest fire department in the state of Florida, but their pay ranks at 58th.

The firefighters have proposed the following to the county government and on Wednesday, March 8, the issues go before the county commission in a public hearing.

A base EMT firefighter presently makes $18,695-$24,411. The mediator proposal is $21,499-$37,641. The average statewide pay range is $24,007-$36,534.

An engineer presently makes $18,695-$29,411. There is no figure for mediator proposal. The average statewide pay range is $27,389-$38,331.

A lieutenant presently makes $25,043-$39,428. The mediator proposal is $28,800-$47,379. The average statewide pay range is $32,243-$43,563.

I believe that our Seminole County firefighters deserve reasonable compensation for risking their lives to help others on a daily basis. Firefighters are leaving to go to other agencies (Orlando, Orange County, etc.) after our local tax dollars are spent to train them, the major issue being higher wages to support their families. Please contact your commissioner in support of your local firefighters. They need you now!

It's time for Barney to earn his keep

In Berlin, the German parliament is ceding government ownership of the nation's air-traffic control system to a private corporation. In Santiago, the Chilean government is privatizing its Social Security system. And in Amsterdam, the Dutch parliament has sold stock in the government-run postal system with plans to eventually turn it over to private hands entirely.

Throughout much of Europe, Asia and Latin America, governments are reaping the benefits of privatization. Yet, the United States, which boasts one of the world's most market-oriented economies, remains hopelessly behind the curve. Considering that the federal government continues to add $200 billion a year or so to the national debt, it's high time America caught up with the rest of the world.

To his credit, President Clinton has laid out a number of privatization proposals in his 1996 budget, which potentially could raise several billion dollars for the federal treasury. The GOP Congress also has a number of privatization ideas in mind. Since both the White House and Congress are in the mood to privatize, here are several ripe candidates that ought to be seriously considered:

-- The Federal Aviation Administration. This should be a slam dunk. Clinton favors it. Newt Gingrich favors it. Even the air-traffic controllers union favors it. And with good reason. The FAA is using antiquated technology (which dates back to the 1940s. In some cases) to manage 1990s air traffic.

By turning over the nation's air-traffic control system -- the FAA's primary function -- to a private corporation, not only would the system be modernized more quickly, it would cut federal spending by $7 billion and reduce the number of folks on the government payroll by 38,000.

-- Amtrak. The quasi-public passenger rail service siphoned off $952 million in 1994 from the federal treasury, though it accounts for only 1 percent of intercity passenger mileage nationwide. Every time a passenger sets foot on an Amtrak train, the taxpayers kick in $35.

Amtrak should be taken completely private like Conrail, which the government created out of six failed freight railroads in 1976 and sold off in 1987. Like their 1995 Amtrak counterparts, Conrail executives bleated that they could not survive without taxpayer subsidies. But Conrail's initial public offering raised $1.65 billion, a record at the time. And in the ensuing eight years, the rail company has returned an amazing 360 percent to its original investors.

-- The Corporation for Public Broadcasting. It's not about ideology, about the leftward tilt of public television (PBS) or public radio (NPR). It's about the marketplace. When the CPB came into being in 1967, the major networks enjoyed oligopolistic control over the nation's airwaves. A case could be made for taxpayer subsidized TV and radio.

But today there are a plethora of TV and radio networks offering a wide variety of fare. Indeed, there is nothing on public television or radio that could not find a niche on an existing commercial network.

If the CPB no longer received nearly $300 billion a year in taxpayer handouts, it hardly would perish. It probably would stake its claim to at least some of the merchandising profits from popular PBS programs like "Barney" and "Sesame Street."

DONNA BRITT

The view from one window

WASHINGTON -- Before I get to the wit and wisdom of Marcia Brady, I must describe the view from my keyboard:

White metal desk. Paper plate decorated with poundcake crumbs. Scattered newspapers. Outside the window, a graceful grid of trees, a leaf-strewn lawn.

Pedestrian stuff.

But the view from my desk -- and from my bedroom and the many windows I've peered through in my life -- helps shape my view of the world. That I sit in a spacious office and work at a secure job has everything to do with my reaction when I read that the District of Columbia is so destitute that it faces massive firings, program cuts and Mayor Marion Barry conceding power to outsiders.

The Republican Congress, in its zeal to meet Contract with America budget promises, has targeted programs that give cereal to poor children and keep destitute elderly people warm.

Your view can affect whether you care. Some folks clearly do not.

Until recently, my own view dismissed perky Marcia Brady, eldest daughter of "The Brady Bunch," a scrubbed TV family whose '70s-era sitcom enjoyed a six-season run.

Because I grew up thinking that Marcia and her Mild Bunch were meaningless, I had no intention of seeing the new movie "The Brady Bunch." But that weekend, my family found itself at the mall, searching the theater marquee for a movie both kids and adults could see. Guess what was the lone offering not rated R.

My disgusted husband snorted at the kids' suggestion that we rush dinner at the food court to get to the theater early.

"Like we have to worry about getting seats?" he asked. "Who wants to see 'The Brady Bunch'?"

Enough people to buy $14 million worth of tickets, that's who. In its first weekend, "Brady" was the No. 1 movie in America.

The seats we barely snagged were next to a bubbly blonde named Jacqueline, 30, who giggled at my astonishment at the crowded theater.

"The Bradys are cool," she explained. "When I was 13, Marcia taught me about dating, clothes, when to kiss a boy -- everything."

Who knew? Who knew that a show about the tepid exploits of -- as its theme song puts it -- "a man named Brady," his three sons and his new wife, "a lovely lady" who'd been raising "three very lovely girls ... (with) hair of gold," could mean anything?

Even when I was a teen back in 1972, the Brady's brand of goop made me choke. But I understood Jacqueline, and I enjoyed the movie.

So did Dana Scherer, 24. Today, Scherer, a government economist who as a child daily watched "Brady" reruns, marvels. "I thought the Bradys were normal and that our family was weird!"

The movie is a time-warp comedy that plants the very '70s Bradys -- with their paisley vests and cheerful, "groovy" outlook -- in the '90s.

Illustrating "how the world, and women, have changed," Scherer says.

"Half the song was about the (female characters') hair. He had a name; she was just 'a lovely lady.' ... And what, exactly, did Mrs. Brady do?"

"It wasn't realistic," Scherer concludes. "But TV was my window on the world."

We all have our windows. Some look out on expanses of green, on clean, safe streets; others on concrete, youthful drug dealers and children without a blade of grass on which to play. Some have 18-inch screens on which fabrication gains total authenticity.

Whether our windows frame fact or fiction, what we see feels real. I was so happy to see Sam Malone -- the former "Cheers" bartender played by Ted Danson -- on a recent "Frasier," you'd have thought I was seeing an old friend. Which, of course, I was.

From my desk in my pleasant office, I can't see the District of Columbia's mess the way, say, a D.C. government secretary -- a single mom of three, perhaps, who could lose her livelihood -- sees it.

The view from some windows makes it easy to ignore the plight of jobless moms and dads, hungry children and freezing 86-year-olds -- people we'd care for if we only knew them.

It makes it easy to concentrate on other compelling images -- of greedy bureaucrats, welfare cheats and roving thugs who some of us feel "deserve" the coming catastrophe. It makes it easy to close off our hearts.

How you see things depends on which images are most real to you.

Maybe it's just my view, but living in a world where TV characters seem more real to us than many breathing, threatened human beings makes me crazy. I want to scream, organize a protest, turn off the TV.

Or just close the window.

Living in a world where TV characters seem more real to us than many breathing, threatened human beings makes me crazy.

Adoption: Who wins, who loses

The movie trailer presents the nightmare. A white middle-class couple are the adoring parents of a beautiful black boy. We see them laughing, kissing, hugging. We see the baby riding on his daddy's shoulders, sunlight streaming through the trees, mommy cooing nearby.

And then the phone call. Terrible news. The birthmother has come back. And she wants her baby.

These scenes from "Losing Isaiah" evoke the feelings so many of us had when we witnessed the Baby Jessica travesty two summers ago. The nation watched in horror as a 2-1/2-year-old Jessica DeBoer was taken from the "only" parents she had ever known, after the Michigan Supreme Court ordered that she be returned to her biological parents. The image of the terrified child remains in the collective memory; it sends a chill to the heart.

The nightmare is not over. Last month a little boy, 4-year-old Baby Richard, was ordered to be returned to his natural father, who had been told that his baby had died at birth. Two other children, Baby Michael and Baby Emily, are currently embroiled in similar custody disputes.

Though the higher courts have consistently ruled for the natural parents, most people have sympathized with the adoptive parents, who are seen as the hapless victims of fickle birthparents and insensitive court systems. Rarely does anyone recognize that the adoptive parents were equally capable of preventing these tragedies.

A new book, "Giving Away Simone" (Times, $22), sheds a different light on this painful subject. With stunning honesty, author Jan L. Waldron describes her unusual legacy, that of five generations of women, including herself, who have given away or abandoned their children.

Waldron hopes that her book will help break this cycle. She also hopes to counter the myths and fairy tales that have surrounded adoption, an act which, though wonderful in many ways, is still fraught with ugly realities -- regret, deception, resentment, denial.

Years after her mother's flight, the author gave birth at the age of 17. At what she thought were the wishes of others, Waldron gave up the baby she named Simone. Birthmother and child were reunited when the girl, now called Rebecca, was 11 years old. What followed was a tumultuous 15-year relationship between a birthmother who could never right her past wrong and the birthdaughter who could never completely forgive her.

There has been much concern about the psychological effects that Baby Jessica (now Anna Schmidt) and Baby Richard will suffer from such involuntary shifts of families. Indeed, it's hard to imagine that these incidents won't damage them greatly. But it should not be forgotten that adoption itself is a traumatic experience, one that should be avoided when possible.

The blame for these fiascos does not lie solely with the birthparents, though they certainly deserve their share. It also lies with adoptive parents who believe that their children's lives begin the day they take them home. Who conveniently forget that anyone else was involved.

The natural parents of both Baby Jessica and Baby Richard asked for their children's return WEEKS -- not years -- after the babies' births.

If the adoptive parents had truly acted in their child's best interest, they would have given them back.

The nightmare is not over.

Merger

McClain, the county's liaison with both authorities, made a presentation on the proposed merger after which members of the authority suggested further study.

"The authority said there should be more information, and possibly a major presentation by proponents of this before they consider it," said Airport Director Steve Cooke. "So I am trying to set up a joint meeting, possibly with the Airport Authority, city and county, hopefully on March 27, during the Sanford City Commission work session."

Cooke said in looking over the proposal as it now stands, there are a number of suggestions which go against what is authorized for the airport in the deed on the land issued by the federal government.

"There are questions about granting certain exclusive rights for development, which we aren't allowed to do," Cooke said. "and there's the matter of diversion of funds which we can't do."

Cooke explained that under the present deed restrictions, if (for example) "the county wanted money to build a new courthouse, they couldn't take it from the airport budget. Our income has to be used in the further development of the airport, and we are designated by the government to provide airport services, not commercial development."

Cooke said he and the Airport Authority plan to have the overall proposals being presented by the county studied by an attorney to determine any problems between present suggestions for the merger and what is allowed in the property.

The Airport Authority's suggestion that more information needed to be made available followed Sanford suggestions made after a joint meeting of the Seminole County Commission and Sanford City Commission in late January.

At that time, Mayor Bettye Smith and several commissioners said the matter was being presented too rapidly, and suggested more studies be made and information supplied before any decisions.

McClain's presentation before the authority was held at the new International Terminal building.

Cooke said, "The Authority listened intently to the presentation, but it certainly did not appear to have any support by any of the board members at this time."

During the joint city/county meeting in January, documents were distributed regarding a proposed calendar of events to move the merger forward.

It called for a bill to be drawn on the merger of the ports by late January. By Feb. 10, reviews and comments were to have been undertaken by the Port Authority, Airport Authority, City Commission and County Commission.

To date, Sanford has not approached the matter directly other than during the joint work session. The Airport Authority's meeting yesterday did not produce any conclusive support, and the Port Authority has scheduled discussion on the matter for next Wednesday.

When County Commission Chairman Randy Morris promoted the merger before the Sanford commission in January, he suggested moving rapidly in drafting the local bill so it could go before the Florida Legislature during this session.

Tuesday, in an interview with the Sanford Herald, Morris did not stress that urgency to have the bill drafted and submitted as soon as possible.

"It is only to explore the possibilities of such a merger at this time," he said.

The Seminole County Port Authority is scheduled to bring the matter up for discussion during next Wednesday's regular meeting.

Pirates lay easy siege to software

By DAVID GERMAIN
AP Business Writer

SANBORN, N.Y. — Slade Sharpsteen knew something was up when a Canadian man walked into his print shop, talked in whispers and insisted on paying cash.

The man wanted Sharpsteen to print packaging for 18,000 copies of "Rebel Assault" and "Myst," two popular CD-ROM computer games.

It didn't sound right, a walk-in customer at an out-of-the-way print shop near Niagara Falls. So Sharpsteen called the FBI, triggering a cloak-and-dagger operation at his work place that ended in two arrests and the biggest domestic seizure yet of pirated CD-ROM games.

It's the newest scourge in copyright infringement, which costs U.S. companies billions of dollars a year.

As home technology becomes more sophisticated and less expensive, computer piracy of copyrighted games — educational CDs, business discs and other software — has become easier and cheaper.

"It used to be you needed a factory to be an effective pirate. Now anybody with equipment that's easily available can do it," said Steve Metallitz, vice president of the International Intellectual Property Alliance, a consortium of trade groups.

The study estimates U.S. computer companies alone lost $5.2 billion worldwide in 1994 because of pirated software.

The biggest offenders are in Asia and Europe. Software counterfeiters in Japan and Germany cost U.S. firms more than $1 billion each, the study said.

China, where copyright infringement cost U.S. industries an estimated $866 million in 1994, averted a U.S. trade war last month by agreeing to crack down on pirated goods.

Arrest

Mathew Robinson, 51, who reportedly referred to himself as founder and bishop of the Living Christ Tabernacle, in Detroit, conducted the ceremony. Whitmire said that the ceremony was done to the same family by Robinson on at least one separate occasion.

The names and address of the family were not immediately revealed.

"When it came to the ceremony for the 17-year old daughter," Whitmire said, "It took place in the bedroom of the apartment, and reportedly went well beyond the laying on of hands."

Whitmire said apparently the same thing had occurred when Robinson met with the family for a previous ceremony.

"We don't know why," Whitmire observed, "but even though this attack took place in Sanford, the family drove to Orlando, to report the matter to the Orlando police department. They in turn notified us."

Police located Robinson at approximately 4:30 this morning, and placed him under arrest on two counts of sexual battery. Whitmire said other, unrelated charges are also being investigated.

total value of $80 were taken from a shed behind a home in the 1400 block of East Eighth Street.

Monday, power tools valued at $600 were reported stolen from a shed in the 400 block of Melonville Avenue.

Whitmire said sheds aren't the only easy targets for burglars. "They also hit carports and utility rooms," he commented.

"The reason is that while people are often cautious (but not always) about locking their homes, they forget about their sheds and utility rooms."

Whitmire suggested people either obtain serial numbers from items, or, if there isn't one, have a Social Security or driver's license number engraved on the items help police, in not only locating the items, but possibly apprehending the persons who burglarize and pawn for a living.

Burglary

The man arrested in connection with the case was identified as John O. Reed, 26, of 2450 Granby, in Midway.

"During our interrogation," Whitmire said, "Reed admitted having done the burglary, and told us he didn't care that he had been caught."

Damage to the window, watch counter, and some furniture in the store was estimated at $500.

Several of the watches were recovered.

Reed has been taken to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility and booked on charges of burglary, grand theft, and criminal mischief.

Parents were told to use some basic common sense when dealing with their youngsters: they should ask a lot of questions and keep asking until they are satisfied with the answers.

NATIONAL BRIEFS

Food stamp program reform

WASHINGTON — A House committee approved legislation early today that would fundamentally change the $27 billion food stamp program by tightening rules and holding down automatic increases in benefits that help one in 10 Americans buy groceries.

With one Democrat — Rep. Scotty Baesler of Kentucky — joining Republicans, the bill passed the House Agriculture Committee 26-18, after more than 15 hours of debate.

Democrats invoked images of hungry children with distended stomachs as they sought to portray the bill as cruel to the poor and fought largely unsuccessfully to reshape the legislation, a central piece of the GOP's plan to overhaul the nation's welfare system.

"There is no intention to punish anyone for anything," said Rep. Bill Emerson, R-Mo. "But to have a tight program that helps real people who need real help and to eliminate fraud, abuse and trafficking."

Girl Scouts and tort reform

WASHINGTON — When advocates of tort reform went looking for sympathetic symbols, they thought they had found a savior: the Girl Scouts of America.

The story spread quickly among tort reform lobbyists and their supporters on Capitol Hill, and it was compelling. Girl Scouts in the nation's capital have to sell 87,000 boxes of cookies each year just to cover the cost of their liability insurance.

The lobbying and public relations machinery went into high gear. The U.S. Chamber of Commerce produced a radio ad using the information, and a business coalition began planning a television spot showing a Girl Scout trudging door-to-door with a basket of Thin Mints and Samois.

Simpson trial update

LOS ANGELES — Quietly and without emotion, Detective Tom Lange has rebutted virtually every murder theory offered by O.J. Simpson's lawyers, from suggestions of a drug hit to the Ben & Jerry's melting ice cream scenario.

Lange even said a mini-bombshell in the defense opening statement — that blood under Nicole Brown Simpson's fingernails matched neither the victims nor Simpson — had been refuted by DNA testing.

Among the only defense theory Lange didn't directly refute Tuesday was the suggestion that Simpson may have been framed by a racist cop. That officer, Detective Mark Fuhrman, is due to testify to address that issue himself, perhaps as early as today.

Americans die in Pakistan

KARACHI, Pakistan — Two gunmen burst out of a taxi and sprayed bullets at a van carrying three U.S. government workers today, killing two and wounding the third. They were the first Americans to die in the violence that has convulsed Karachi over the past year.

The Americans were headed to work at the U.S. consulate when the van stopped at a traffic light on one of the city's busiest roads. As they waited for the light to change, two gunmen got out of a yellow taxi and opened fire with AK-47 assault rifles.

The bullets shattered the front and back windshields, killing Jackson van Landingham, a secretary, and Gary C. Durrell, a communications technician. Mark McCloy, who worked in the consulate's post office, was injured and was in stable condition, U.S. officials said. Then Pakistani driver managed to drive them to the Agba Khan Hospital.

"The identity, affiliations and motives of the gunmen are not known at this time," the U.S. Embassy in Islamabad said in a brief statement.

The American flag flew at half-staff and a large contingent of heavily armed Pakistani police stood guard outside the fortified U.S. compound. Americans at the consulate were advised to stay inside their homes for safety.

International Women's Day

COPENHAGEN, Denmark — Delegates at a world poverty summit put aside their bickering to mark International Women's Day today, taking the opportunity to drive home the message that women are among those most hurt by poverty and inequality.

The United Nations, which is sponsoring the 193-nation meeting, says women constitute up to 70 percent of the world's 1.2 billion poor and two-thirds of the world's illiterate.

First lady Hillary Rodham Clinton told delegates she will mark International Women's Day by announcing a U.S. program to increase female literacy and help more girls in developing countries finish primary school.

"Investing in the health and education of women and girls is essential to improving global prosperity, and I am glad that this summit has endorsed the principle of equal rights and opportunities for women," she said in a speech Tuesday.

Dogs bite man—then owner does, too

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. — A man whose dogs were put to sleep for biting people will serve a six-month jail sentence — for the same offense.

Sanford Gossman was to report to jail today after being convicted last week of biting a security guard's hand. The guard was trying to handcuff Gossman when he refused to leave a New Year's Eve benefit for the Humane Society.

Gossman, a 61-year-old computer repairman and paralegal, has been fighting Humane Society officials ever since the county had his dogs put to sleep in September. His efforts have gotten him little more than a restraining order requested by frightened animal shelter workers.

No longer currency chosen in hard times

By FARRELL KRAMER
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK — The dollar's exalted position as the undisputed currency of choice in troubled times has faded as surely as its value against the German mark and Japanese yen.

"The prestige of the United States is being tested here," said Hillel Waxman, chief foreign exchange dealer at Bank Leumi Trust Co. in New York. "It should be of concern to the administration. It should be of concern to Congress."

Money traders say the dollar's decline Tuesday to all-time lows against the mark and yen reflects a loss of cachet for the U.S. currency.

Travelers to Europe and Japan already have found their dollars buy less than a week ago. Saudi Arabia plans to raise the price of oil exported to the United States, partly because of the dollar's weakness. Prices of German cars, Japanese CD players, Swiss cheese and French wine inevitably will rise to reflect the dollar's reduced purchasing power.

The longer-term consequences of the dollar's decline, while harder to measure, may reflect how the United States is no longer an unchallenged economic superpower.

"The value of a currency is related to the perception of a country," Waxman said. "I believe the market is saying the role of the United States moving into the next 50 years is different than it used to be."

IN BRIEF

AROUND THE STATE

Eckstein has RBI for Gators

GAINESVILLE — Seminole High School alumnus David Eckstein had an RBI single in the University of Florida's 13-0 shutout of Duquesne on Tuesday.

Florida starter Darren McClellan allowed only one hit over four innings as he and five other pitchers combined for a three-hit shutout, the Gators' fifth consecutive victory.

Florida (11-5) scored five runs in the second inning, when Eckstein hit his RBI single.

Owens helps Heat top Lakers

MIAMI — Billy Owens had 24 points and 11 rebounds Tuesday night as the Miami Heat held off the Los Angeles Lakers 110-104.

Bimbo Coles had 23 points and nine assists for the Heat while Glen Rice had 19 of his 23 points in the first half.

Anthony Peeler led the Lakers with 23 points, including 16 in the fourth quarter. Vlade Divac had 23 points but just four in the second half.

LeClair, Flyers edge Lightning

ST. PETERSBURG — John LeClair scored his 11th and 12th goals, and Eric Lindros had a goal and two assists as the Philadelphia Flyers defeated the Tampa Bay Lightning 4-3.

The Flyers improved to 10-9-3 and moved past .500 for the first time after a 3-7-1 start. Tampa Bay dropped to 9-12-2 and is 1-3-1 in its last five games.

Petr Klima, Brant Myhres, and Paul Ysebaert scored for the Lightning.

Expos follow Yan by Marlins

WEST PALM BEACH — Julian Yan, a veteran minor leaguer, hit two doubles and drove in a run as Montreal beat Florida 4-3 Tuesday in an exhibition game.

Yan, 29, has spent nine seasons in the minor leagues, the last two with Toronto's Triple A affiliate in Syracuse.

The Marlins scored three runs in the third inning off Jeff Letourneau, a knuckleball pitcher from Grafton, Mass., who played for Sioux City in the Northern League last season.

Jaguars sign Barker

JACKSONVILLE — Bryan Barker, who led the NFC in punting average last year with the Philadelphia Eagles, has signed as an unrestricted free agent with the Jacksonville Jaguars.

Barker posted a 38.3-yard net average on 86 punts last season to lead the NFC. He had a gross punting average of 40.8 yards with 20 punts downed inside the 20-yard line and just seven touchbacks.

The 6-1, 187-pound Barker was coached in Philadelphia by Larry Pasquale, now the Jaguars' special teams coordinator.

Townsend closes in on women's league crown

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — Townsends got back on the winning track and in the process, moved to within a game of clinching title in Sanford Recreation Department Women's Polar Bear Slowpitch Softball League action Tuesday night.

Playing at Chase Park, Townsends scored almost as many runs (five) in the first inning as it did in losing its first game 8-6 last week and went on to humble Fairwinds Credit Union 20-1 in 4½ innings.

Meanwhile, at Pinehurst Park, Vause Lawn & Landscaping (which handed Townsends its loss last week) swept a doubleheader to move into second place and give Townsends some breathing room.

Vause got a two-out, three-run home run from the No. 10 hitter in the lineup, Shelly Harley, to knock Dream Catchers out of second place with a 20-19 triumph. Vause then won its fourth straight game with a 16-8 victory over Beer:30.

Greyhounds notch ugly win

By TONY DeBORNIER
 Herald Sports Editor

LONGWOOD — It's not often a coach has to have a long heart-to-heart with a team that's 7-0, but Lyman High School baseball coach Bob McCullough found it necessary after the Greyhounds' sloppy 4-3 win over Spruce Creek Tuesday night at the Carlton Henry Athletic Complex.

"Every team's going to go through ups and downs, and you're going to have to try to win some games when you're not ready to play," said McCullough.

"It's hard to get the kids to realize that when they walk through the gates that they have to be excited to play that game that day. You can't bring over what you did last week. Winning or losing depends on what you do that night."

After falling behind 1-0, Lyman struck for a pair of runs in the bottom of the third. Jason Shipley singled in Robby Bruce to tie the score, then scored the go-ahead run on a single by T.J. Dixon.

The Greyhounds struck for two more runs in the bottom of the fourth. With two out, Danny Bogeajis reached on an error and Bruce walked. After Todd Radcliff went in to run for Bogeajis at second, Shipley singled through short, scoring Radcliff.

On the play at the plate, Bruce headed for third and drew a throw that sailed into left field, allowing Bruce to bounce up and score.

That turned out to be a crucial run as the Hawks scored a pair of runs against reliever Kyle Hayde in the top of the sixth on a two-out bases-loaded infield single and a Lyman throwing error.

Bogeajis spelled Hayde and got of the sixth inning, thanks to a fine play on a tough chopper by Shipley at third base. Bogeajis then struck out the side in the seventh to earn his second save of the season, but not before loading the bases on a double, single, and a walk.

"We'll use this as a learning experience," said McCullough. "We have to try to be more consistent."

Lyman will put its perfect record on the line Friday, when the Greyhounds open their Seminole Athletic Conference schedule at home against Lake Brantley.

Jason Shipley drove in two runs with a pair of singles, scored a third run, and minimized Spruce Creek's one rally with a pair of fine defensive plays at third base.

Relay victories win dual meet for Rams

OVIDO — After 14 events, Tuesday night's girls' track and field dual meet between the Lake Mary Rams and Oviedo Lions at Oviedo High School's John Courter Field came down to an winner-take-all showdown in the 4 x 400-meter relay.

The quartet of Christina Cooley, Machala Keenan, Jaclyn Lewin, and Tamara Topelski delivered for the Rams, finishing in front of the Oviedo squad with a time of 4 minutes, 54.9 seconds to give Lake Mary a 67-0 win over the Lions.

"The key for us was winning both relays," said Lake Mary coach Mike Gibson, noting that Marisela Navarro, Monique Perry, Latresha Jones, and Cralana Neal won

Miscues cost SCC M-FC win

From Staff Reports

LAKE CITY — Seminole Community College's baseball team has seen the enemy and it is themselves.

The Raiders continue to be their own worst enemy as once again fielding woes — compounded by bases on balls, passed balls and wild pitches — handed the home-standing Lake City Community College Timberwolves a 5-4, 11-inning Mid-Florida Conference victory Tuesday afternoon.

Tony Von Dolteren and Sanford's Robbie Morgan combined on a seven-hitter with only one of the five Timberwolves runs being earned. The winning run came on a base-loaded, one-out walk that was set up by a pair of singles, a walk and a passed ball.

SCC got off to a great start offensively. Larry Hardy led off the game with a single and scored on a triple by Ron Hollister. Calvin Muller then doubled to score Hollister.

But they would not score again until the ninth inning as Lake City took a 4-2 lead with two runs in the third inning and single runs in the fifth and sixth innings.

SCC exploited the Timberwolves only error of the day to tie the score in the ninth. With one out, Dale Greifenstein singled and Lyman High School alumnus Nakia Roberts walked. Sanford's Scott Ferguson grounded to short, but everyone was safe, with Greifenstein scoring, as the ball was thrown away at second.

Roberts then scored the tying run on a grounder to short by Hardy.

Contributing to an eight-hit Raiders attack were Dale Greifenstein and Roberts (both 2-for-4 with one run scored), Muller (2-for-5, double, RBI), Hollister (triple, run, RBI) and Hardy (single, run, RBI).

Lake City improved to 10-9 overall and 3-2 in the conference, while SCC fell to 9-8-1 overall and 1-2 in the M-FC. The Raiders are scheduled to play a doubleheader at home today against Hibbing Community College from Minnesota at 1 p.m.

AP: Tampa Bay, Phoenix get nod from Major League

By RONALD BLUM
 AP Sports Writer

PALM BEACH — Tampa Bay and Phoenix will get major league baseball if owners approve the expansion committee's recommendation.

The cities received recommendations from the committee Tuesday night, two committee members speaking on the condition they not be identified told The Associated Press. The committee is recommending the two new teams begin play in 1998.

The Tampa Bay Devil Rays will play in the ThunderDome in St. Petersburg. The Arizona Diamondbacks will play in a retractable-roof stadium that will be built at a cost estimated at $275 million.

A vote could come as early as Thursday, and approval is expected whenever the vote takes place. Committee chairman John Harrington planned on briefing owners today.

"I will tell the full ownership group where we are on the sites," Harrington said without disclosing the recommendation.

Harrington wasn't sure the final vote would come this week, but another committee member, speaking on the condition of anonymity, said he expected a vote Thursday.

"We still have some work to do on them," Harrington said of the recommendations.

The teams would become the 29th and 30th in the major leagues. Owners said it was probable the franchises wouldn't be assigned to leagues until later.

One group from Orlando and two from northern Virginia also were seeking franchises. One source said the committee would not at this time recommend a team for the second wave of expansion, which is not expected until 2000 at the earliest. But several sources said that owners may designate northern Virginia for the second wave during a meeting later this year.

The five groups that made presentations to the expansion committee said they weren't discouraged by baseball's constant labor battles.

"I don't want this to sound trite, but it can't get any worse," said Phoenix Suns president Jerry Colangelo, who heads his area's group. "It can only get better. I think it's bottomed out."

Vincent Naimoli heads the Florida group. His bid to buy the San Francisco Giants and move them to St. Petersburg was rejected by the National League owners in November 1992, prompting an antitrust suit that's still pending.

"I'm elated," he said early today after hearing the unofficial reports.

Naimoli wanted to call his team the Stingrays, but the Hawaiian Winter League team in Maui already owns the trademark to that name.

Owners said they must press ahead with a decision because of the deadline faced by Colangelo's group. Maricopa County approved $253 million of funding for the stadium, but authority to levy the tax to pay for the ballpark will expire April 1 unless a franchise is granted.

Citrus salsa makes a tangy difference

Florida citrus oozes with goodness from tantalizing appetizers to luscious desserts. Instead of ordinary salsa, try tangy citrus salsa which makes this steak tortilla recipe burst with goodness.

The following recipe has been developed and kitchen-tested by the Florida Department of Citrus.

MARINATED FLANK STEAK WITH CITRUS SALSA

(Serves 6)
 ¾ cup frozen Florida orange juice or grapefruit juice concentrate, thawed
 1 or 2 jalapeno peppers, seeded and finely chopped
 1 tsp. black pepper
 1 tsp. paprika
 ¼ cup water
 1 (1- to 1½-lb.) beef flank steak
 ¼ cup thinly sliced green onions
 2 Tbsp. snipped parsley
 1 Tbsp. lime juice
 Dash salt
 2 Florida oranges, peeled, seeded, and chopped
 1 Florida grapefruit, peeled, seeded, and chopped
 6 (8- to 7-inch) flour tortillas, warmed
 Jalapeno peppers (optional)
 1 Florida grapefruit, sliced (optional)

For marinade, in a small bowl combine thawed orange or grapefruit juice concentrate, finely chopped jalapeno pepper, black pepper, and paprika. Reserve 2 tablespoons of the mixture for the salsa. Add the water to the remaining mixture.

Score steak by making shallow cuts at 1-inch intervals diagonally across steak in a diamond pattern. Repeat on second side. Place in a plastic bag set in a shallow dish. Pour marinade over steak; close bag. Marinate in the refrigerator for 2 to 24 hours, turning bag occasionally.

For salsa, in a nonmetallic bowl stir together the 2 tablespoons juice concentrate mixture, the onions, parsley, lime juice, and salt. Add chopped fruit; stir Ball Park Style Pretzels can be easily made at home. These pretzels are better and fresher because they are made in your own kitchen with frozen dough. Discover these incredible pretzels and experience the fun and simplicity yourself.

This recipe has been kitchen-tested by Bridgford Foods Corporation.

BALL PARK STYLE PRETZELS

1 (1 lb.) loaf frozen bread dough, white or honey wheat
 1 egg wash (1 egg with 2 Tbsp. water)
 1 Tbsp. coarse salt

Let dough thaw. On a lightly floured surface, roll dough lengthwise into a 15x8-inch long rectangle. Cut dough into 8 equal long strips. Take each 18-inch dough piece and roll into a 20-inch long rope. Shape each rope into a "U" shape and place on lightly greased cookie sheet. Take the right end of the rope and place it over the bottom left hand corner of the "U". Repeat with the left side. Brush with egg wash and sprinkle with coarse salt. Bake in a preheated 375°F. oven for 14-16 minutes or until golden brown. Serve warm. If desired, serve with mustard for dipping.

Optional toppings: Poppy seeds: Prepare as above except substitute 1 Tbsp. poppy seeds for salt or sprinkle in addition to salt.

Cinnamon sugar: Prepare as above except substitute cinnamon mixture (2 tablespoons sugar plus ¼ teaspoon cinnamon) for salt or sprinkle in addition to salt.

Chocolate: Prepare as above and let pretzels cool. Melt ½ cup "melting chocolate" according to package directions or melt ½ cup semi-sweet chocolate morsels plus 1 Tbsp. vegetable shortening over a double boiler, stirring frequently. Place pretzels on wax paper and drizzle with melted chocolate. Refrigerate for 10 minutes or until chocolate has hardened.

Dressing up vegetables brings excitement to mealtime

Vegetables sometimes need a little "dressing up" so that they don't become boring or unappetizing to us. Herbs, citrus juices, vinegar, soy sauce, chopped nuts, garlic, grated cheese are just a few suggestions of possible things you might try to bring some excitement to your vegetable preparation.

Each of the vegetable enhancer recipes that follow are quick and inexpensive. Try them and see if your vegetable dishes aren't being emptied quickly, and earning respect.

LEMON-BROCCOLI CARROTS

1 lb. carrots, cut into strips
 3 Tbsp. water
 3 Tbsp. butter or extra-virgin olive oil
 ¼ tsp. salt or garlic salt
 2 Tbsp. chopped fresh basil or 1 tsp. dried

1 Tbsp. fresh lemon juice
 Combine carrots and water in 1-quart casserole. Cover and microwave on 100 percent power 9-12 minutes. Drain and add butter, salt, basil and lemon juice and microwave on 100 percent power 1 minute. Stir and serve at once.

Carrots are usually a "good buy" year round. This is a sweet glaze that enhances the flavor. Cook carrots as in recipe for Lemon-Basil Carrots. While carrots cook, combine in 2-cup glass measure:

¼ cup unsalted butter, melted
 ¼ cup packed light brown sugar
 ¼ cup frozen orange juice concentrate ¼ tsp. salt
 Remove cooked carrots from

MICROWAVE MAGIC

microwave and cook orange juice mixture on 100 percent power 4-5 minutes. Drain carrots. Pour mixture over carrots and serve.

SAVORY GREEN BEANS

1 lb. green beans
 ¼ cup water
 1 Tbsp. extra-virgin olive oil

1 Tbsp. finely chopped onion
 1 tsp. finely chopped fresh basil

1 clove garlic, minced
 Trim beans, cut into 2- to 3-inch length and place in a 1½-quart casserole with water. Cover tightly with plastic wrap and microwave on 100 percent power 3-4 minutes, or until cooked but still crunchy. Drain cooked beans and return to casserole. Add olive oil, onion, basil and garlic; cover again, and let stand 3 to 4 minutes.

Any summer squash can be prepared in this fashion.

SQUASH AU GRATIN

1 lb. yellow squash, sliced
 1 medium onion, finely chopped
 ¼ stick (¼ cup) butter
 2 large eggs, beaten
 1 cup grated Cheddar cheese
 Salt
 Freshly ground white pepper
 1 cup toasted bread or cracker crumbs
 In 2-quart casserole, microwave squash and onion, covered, on 100 percent power 5-7 minutes. Drain and add butter and eggs stirring to blend. Stir in half the cheese and salt and pepper to taste. Cover with plastic wrap and microwave on 70 percent power 4-7 minutes. Uncover and top with crumbs and remaining cheese. Microwave on 70 percent power 2-3 minutes.

Eldery drivers: Listen to family

DEAR ABBY: This is for "Elderly but Able, Gainesville, Fla." — the 70-year-old gentleman who didn't want to give up driving his car, and thus his independence:

Please reconsider. Why wait until you've hurt yourself, or someone else?

My beautiful 23-year-old sister, Kim, was walking through a parking lot last spring when she was struck by a car traveling backward at high speed. It swerved, throwing her 10 feet farther into a guardrail. The 74-year-old man driving the car was disoriented and confused. He didn't even know he had hit her and continued driving until he ended up in a storefront!

Kim was rushed to a hospital where her head was shaved and a hole drilled into her skull to relieve the pressure from the swelling of her brain.

The doctors told us she could die. It was horrible. Thank God, Kim survived. That was eight months ago. She now suffers from post-traumatic stress syndrome and depression. She also has short-term memory problems, and has lost her sense of smell.

However, not all is grim. She continues to improve and recently became engaged.

So to "Elderly but Able," please, sir, your children love you and know you well; if they tell you it's time you quit driving, believe them. They are probably right.

Abby, if you print this, you may use my name.

DIANA RADFORD, PEPPER PEEK, OHIO

DEAR DIANA: I appreciate

ADVICE

your letter. And thank you for allowing me to use your name.

DEAR ABBY: I have been nesting with the same rooster for 12 years, but he does not want to get married. He won't even talk about it!

He had a very bad marriage the first time around, and he's "commitment-shy." Outside of that, he is kind, loving, and we intend to be together 'til death do us part.

What's more important, Abby — a piece of paper, or a commitment of the heart?

HAPPY IN LOVE
 Commitment is very important, but that "piece of paper" is equally important. Ask a lawyer.

In some states, after "nesting with the same rooster" for a specified number of years, the couple is considered legally married. Ask a local attorney if common-law marriages are recognized in your state.

See a cardiologist about heart disorder

DEAR DR. GOTT: I was diagnosed seven years ago with a right bundle branch block. Would you please explain this and indicate if I should see a cardiologist for the condition?

DEAR READER: Electrical impulses reach the cardiac muscle through two major nerves: the right bundle and the left bundle.

On occasion, the electrocardiogram reveals slowing of the electricity through these nerves, resulting in either right or left bundle branch block.

RBBB is fairly common and does not, like LBBB, denote heart disease. It is usually an incidental finding on the electrocardiogram, causes no symptoms and requires no treatment. RBBB can be the result of certain diseases, such as sarcoidosis (a type of inflammation affecting many organs, including the heart), but this relation is rare.

Although you are probably safe ignoring the RBBB, you should confirm its benign significance with a cardiologist, who will probably order a stress test (if you are over 50) to make certain that your cardiac muscle is healthy.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Understanding Heart Disease." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2433, New York, NY 10163. Be sure to mention the title.

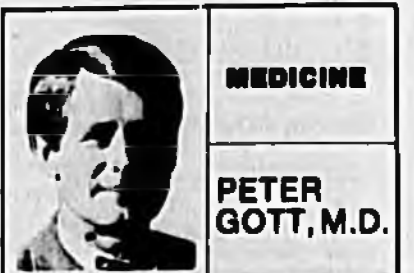

DEAR DR. GOTT: My husband recently read about the hazards of taking chromium. I've taken this supplement for almost three years and have developed a dull ache under my armpit. When I stopped it for a week, the pain disappeared. What are the symptoms of chromium poisoning? I'm beside myself worrying.

DEAR READER: You needn't worry because chromium poisoning from dietary supplements does not ordinarily occur in humans. It has been reported in laboratory animals, though, who were fed the equivalent of 1,000 times the usual human intake of 50 micrograms daily.

Chromium is plentiful in foods, such as meat, cheese, whole grains, eggs, fruit, and brewer's yeast. Toxicity can be produced from chronic industrial exposure (or excessive supplements), causing liver and kidney damage.

You don't need chromium supplements, which have not been proved scientifically to be of any benefit.

MEDICINE

I do not know the cause of your symptom but if it disappeared after you stopped the chromium supplement, I suggest that you simply rely on a balanced diet to meet your nutritional needs.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By Phillip Alder

Some laws leave one nonplused. Take prohibition. How could the politicians have thought this was a good idea? As Ulysses S. Grant said, "I know no method to secure the repeal of bad or obnoxious laws so effective as their stringent execution."

One cannot help feeling that this happened with prohibition; it's just that it took longer to repeal than was healthy.

Today's deal, from a Swiss tournament, was played in six spades by 35 declarers. Not one found the best line, though the approach chosen by 10 proved to be effective.

Everyone won the first trick in hand and drew trumps. The lucky declarers continued with the ace and another club. When East won with the king, South's queen set up for a diamond discard.

Some better declarers played three rounds of diamonds first. If the suit broke 3-3 or an honor dropped singleton or doubleton, dummy's low club would disappear on the diamond 10. They were out of luck.

After winning the opening lead and drawing trumps ending in the dummy, South should cash the heart king, discarding a low club from hand, and ruff dummy's last heart in hand. Then South leads a diamond to dummy's eight.

Here, this wins immediately. But suppose East wins and returns a club. South plays the queen. If it loses to West's king, declarer wins with dummy's ace, plays a spade to hand and finesse his diamond nine. This 90-percent line fails only when East has both diamond honors and West the club king.
