

Kennedy Out Of Race

LAST ROSE OF SUMMER
Fondly enjoying the last of her summer roses is Mrs. Gerald (Claudette) Behren, who today welcomes the first official day of autumn with a warm smile and the last of summer's floral glory in the garden of her Lake Mary home.

BOSTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy said today he would not be a candidate for president or vice president in 1976. "I will not accept the nomination. I will not accept a draft," he said, adding: "My primary responsibilities are at home."

The Massachusetts Democrat said his decision was final and unconditional.

He said, "I would be unable to make a full commitment to a campaign for the presidency."

Kennedy, 42, brother of the late President John F. Kennedy and the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, both of whom were assassinated, said he made the decision after discussing it with his wife.

He made the announcement at a Boston news conference. His wife Joan, who has been in rest homes twice in recent months, was at his side.

Kennedy said he expected that he would have been able to win the Democratic nomination if he had decided to seek it.

Kennedy said his announcement "will permit others who have been interested in gaining the nomination the chance for exposure during this campaign."

He said, "The real question before the people is who's going to come up with some solutions to our economic problems?"

Asked to expect the Chappaquiddick incident of 1969 had on his decision, Kennedy said: "This decision ... would have been made irrespective of the tragedy that happened in 1969."

Were I to run, it would have been a factor that would have been raised."

Mary Jo Koepchne, a former secretary for Robert Kennedy, was killed when a car driven by Kennedy went off a bridge at Chappaquiddick Island off the Massachusetts coast.

Kennedy said "I can live with my testimony" about the Chappaquiddick incident and why there was a delay in reporting the accident and added: "Although I regret the incident I would have been able to focus the campaign on other issues."

The senator was reminded that he had earlier said he would not make a decision until the middle of next year and was asked why he had made his announcement earlier. "I had set the middle part of next year as the outside time for a decision," he said, "but I always felt in my own mind that when I made a firm decision I would announce it. During the course of the summer I made a firm decision ..."

Saying that he would be unable to give a full commitment to the campaign, he stated: "I simply cannot do that to my wife, children and other members of my family."

He said he made the announcement now "in order to ease the apprehensions of my family." He called his decision "firm, final and unconditional. There is absolutely no circumstance or event that would alter this decision."

Kennedy said he would be a candidate for re-election as senator in 1976.

Kennedy is the sole surviving son of the late Joseph P. Kennedy and is the guardian of his slain brothers' children.

Last November, Kennedy's son, Edward Jr., lost part of a leg because of bone cancer.

Kennedy had been considered by many observers a favorite to win the Democratic presi-denal nomination if he sought it, although he has become embroiled in a controversy with some colleagues regarding proposed campaign reform legislation.

He encountered hecklers on a campaign trip to Indiana last week and drew mixed political notices on a visit to California to campaign for congressional candidates. He also got a stormy reception here recently at a meeting involving school bus-

Kennedy's major handicap, however, was considered the Chappaquiddick incident and he had said that if he decided to run, he would reveal the details of the accident.

Asked today if his decision not to run meant he would not answer questions about Chappaquiddick, Kennedy said no.

Ford Warns Oil Barons

DETROIT (AP) — Raising the specter of possible global war if oil price and supply problems are not solved, President Ford said today, "Sovereign nations cannot allow their policies to be dictated or their fates decided" by artificially rigged and distorted oil markets.

Ford raised this warning flag to Arab oil producers at a 68-nation World Energy Conference here that drew participation by Arab representatives.

Ford said: "It is difficult to discuss the energy problem without lapsing into doomsday language. The danger is clear. It is severe. I am nevertheless optimistic. The advantages of cooperation are as visible as the dangers of confrontation. And that gives me hope as well as optimism."

Ford underscored the strongest language yet used by an American president in discussing the consequences of massive price hikes by oil-producing nations with a reminder that "throughout history, nations have gone to war over natural advantages such as mines, or food, or convenient passages on land or sea."

But he said that in the nuclear age war presents unacceptable risks for all mankind because "any local conflict may escalate to global catastrophe."

Outlining five principles that he said could guide international cooperation in meeting energy problems, Ford listed this as his final point:

"A global strategy must seek to achieve fuel prices which provide a strong incentive to producers but which do not seriously disrupt the economies of the consumers. We recognize the desires of the producers to earn a fair price for their oil as a means of helping to develop their own economies. But exorbitant prices can only distort the world economy, run the risk of worldwide depression, and threaten the breakdown of world order and safety."

The President welcomed Friday's Brussels agreement by 12 major consuming nations to deal with such emergencies as embargoes by sharing available oil, cutting consumption and using reserves equitably.

In effect, Ford's address expanded on a theme he struck in a speech he gave before the United Nations General Assembly last Wednesday when he linked problems of food, energy and inflation.

Altamonte's Error Revenue Windfall

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS— which will result in its receiving $186,947 more than expected. Mayor Norman Floyd said the additional money will be placed in a contingency fund and allocated by department around the first of the new year.

He added that it is unlikely that the council will move to reduce property taxes.

Goebel said the city figured its tax revenue on increased city properties values without including new construction values. The value used was $90 million rather than $127 million.

Property tax included in the budget was $451,318 instead of the correct $638,265.

Council last week completed its 1975 fiscal year budget after slashing more than $500,000 from departmental requests to hold the line on the five mill tax and stopped a move to levy a garbage collection fee for the first time in city history.

Altamonte's rate of property taxation has been five mills (5 per thousand dollars valuation) for the past 12 years.

Garbage collection has been provided without additional charge since the mid 1950's.

The council is now expected to reinstate certain cut items in the budget rather than reduce property taxes. City councilmen had said that if revenues came into the city coffers at a higher rate than expected, higher salary hikes would be among the items restored.

Floyd pointed in particular to the hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of equipment which was cut from the budget including a tanker truck for the fire department and a street sweeper for the street department.

In the budget, he formally approved last week, pay raises were kept to a flat five-per-cent across-the-board for employees. Department heads were given no salary increase.

Rockefeller Airs Financial Empire

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nelson A. Rockefeller told the Senate Rules and Administration Committee today he earned almost $47 million and paid more than $21 million in taxes over the past decade.

The former New York governor opened his vice presidential confirmation hearings with a 72-page statement, packed with financial data about the Rockefeller's worldwide investments plus tidbits of family and personal history.

Accompanied by his wife, Happy, Rockefeller arrived precisely on time for the 10 a.m. hearing in the vast Senate Caucus Room—scene of last year's nationally televised Senate Watergate hearings and many other historic investigations over the years.

In contrast to the Watergate hearings, only a short line of spectators was on hand. Some of the 200 seats set aside for the public remained unfiled, while others were occupied by congressional staff members.

Rockefeller disclosed that, in addition to $62.5 million in personal assets and $14.4 million in two trusts from which he receives income, his wife receives the income from a $3.9 million trust while their children receive the income from a $35.7 million trust.

He assured the Senate panel that "should I become confirmed and should Congress request, I will place immediately all my securities which I own outright" into a blind trust while he holds federal office.

Sen. James B. Allen, D-Ala., said he wants to determine whether Rockefeller's views agree or contrast with those of Ford.

YOUTH RANCH DEDICATED

Sky King Youth Ranch (formerly Seminole All Youth Shelter) held formal dedication and open house Sunday afternoon for first cottage completed on 21 acre site off SR 419 near Winter Springs. Kirby Grant (above), television's "Sky King," told plans for promoting the ranch. The building was dedicated in honor of Rev. UF Drive Starts Tuesday

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County's 1975 United Fund Drive — with a $125,000 goal this year — will kickoff at 8 a.m. Tuesday, at the Sanford Holiday Inn.

The goal for the 30-day annual fund raising activity, benefitting 13 member agencies, is up 25 per cent over last year "just to maintain the same level of service," said Tom Hunt, of Southern Bell, campaign chairman.

Member agencies include Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, YMCA, Red Cross, Salvation Army, Catholic Social Services, Good Samaritan Home, USO, Central Florida Sheltered Workshop, Children's Home Society, Mid Florida Center for Alcoholics and the Seminole Mental Health Association.

A major breakthrough this year, Hunt said, is the agreement from the school board and School Supt. W.P. Layer that the payroll deduction plan for contributions will be made available to school employees.

Hunt said the campaign is organized and community leaders have accepted the responsibility for carrying each of the divisions in the United Fund.

Theme of the effort is "Thanks to you, it's working." The campaign symbol is "people helping people."

Through the United Fund, operating expenses are provided to the member agencies eliminating the need for 12 separate drives, thus keeping those agencies providing services rather than spending time raising money, Hunt said.

Overhead cost of the United Fund campaign is less than four cents on each dollar, he said, with optimism even though "times are tight now."

"The irony is that those who need the services — the young, the aged, the sick, the poor — need them more than ever when times are hard," Hunt said.

Hunt noted that the people running the campaign are civic leaders, neighbors, people from all walks of life, who not only give their money but volunteer their services as well. The campaign leaders set the goals, organize the campaign, solicit gifts, budget funds and provide community planning.

The four campaign vice chairmen are Len Unitas, last year's chairman; George Touhy, community leader; Joe Hartwig of Stromberg-Carlson and Sam Kinlaw of the Sun Bank of Seminole.

Division chairmen are: John Mercer of U.S. Bank of Seminole, financial; Wayne Simpson of Prudential Life, professional; Sheila Brown of Haakey Realty, residential; Granville Brown, former mayor of Winter Springs, public employees; Jim Rasa of Montgomery Ward in Seminole Plaza, commercial; Jack Horner, United Fund president and executive secretary of the Sanford Chamber of Commerce, pilot firms.

Committees include labor relations advisory with Russ Kitzer of CWA at Southern Bell; Manley Rusbo and Ed Maisak of IBEW at Florida Power and Light. The public relations committee includes Gene Eiselein of Spectrum public relations; Bill Heck of WTRR radio and Charles Reese of the Sentinel-Star.

Nine hundred persons have volunteered their services in this year's United Fund drive. The goal will be met, Hunt said. Interested persons are invited to attend the Tuesday morning kick-off meeting.

offered his services to the Union Navy. He was given command of a squadron of ships in the Gulf of Mexico and captured New Orleans. He performed other heroic feats during the Civil War and congress made him Admiral in 1866. He retired to his home in New York. Farragut was elected to the American Hall of Fame in 1900.

NATION IN BRIEF

Americans Aid Honduras

American aid is responding to the devastation in Honduras from Hurricane Fifi with money, medicines and other emergency supplies.

A Spanish-language radio station in Miami collected more than $20,000 within hours after issuing an appeal. New Orleans' large community of Honduran-born residents made donations at a half dozen relief centers, and two Mississippi Air National Guard planes left for Honduras early today with emergency supplies.

A Honduran Embassy spokesman in Washington said the greatest need was for medicine for survivors of the hurricane, which left 5,000 confirmed dead and an estimated 150,000 homeless.

In Miami, Honduran Consul General Anthonio Valladares said there is a need for almost everything along the country's devastated coast.

Nixon Jewelry Probed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A cousin of Pat Nixon personally supervised the appraisal and insuring of an estimated $500,000 worth of jewelry at the White House from 1970 to 1974, the Washington Post reports today.

The value assigned by appraisers intrigued Watergate prosecutors because the total assets of the Nixon family totaled only $15,806 in late 1968, the newspaper said. The exact ownership of the jewelry was unclear, the story added.

It identified Edward O. Sullivan, a 49-year-old Bronxville, N.Y., insurance broker who has handled all of the Nixon family's insurance, as supervisor of the appraisal and insurance of the jewelry.

Sullivan was not available for comment.

99th Birthday For Inmate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Weakened by 48 years in jail and nearly blind, the nation's oldest convict will celebrate his 99th birthday on Tuesday from a bed in the Ohio Penitentiary here.

But John Weber, or "Dad" as the nurses call him, is still chipper even though his birthday may be his last.

"The years haven't been all that bad," says Weber, who was born in Hungary.

"There was a time when I wanted to be free again, but to me. I'm too old and too tired. And there's no place to go."

Weber was sentenced to prison for life in 1926 for the shooting death of his 18-month-old daughter. Testimony during an argument with his wife.

S.M. Patterson, superintendent of the correctional medical center, said Weber has not had an outside visitor nor received mail in years.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Honduras Nightmare Lingers

SAN PEDRO SULA, Honduras (AP) — Rescue workers are burning the dead left by Hurricane Fifi in northeast Honduras to prevent outbreaks of disease adding to the toll of one of the worst catastrophes in Central American history.

As refugees began straggling back to their devastated towns and villages and relief supplies started to arrive from abroad, officials said at least 5,000 bodies had been found. They estimated this toll would double with all reports were in.

They said the storm, which hit the region with winds of 110 to 130 miles an hour and torrential rains on Thursday night, drove 150,000 persons from their homes, wiped out most of the banana crop and virtually destroyed the cities of Choloma, Omoa and Trujillo.

Another Vote Not Answer

LONDON (AP) — The prediction making the rounds here is that whoever wins next month's election will fail to solve Britain's problems. The Laborites and Conservatives have tried for a decade without success to arrest Britain's long postwar economic decline. Once again the same men are offering much the same policies. Politicians in all parties agree that in the Oct. 10 election the British democratic system could be on trial.

Whites Flee Mozambique

LOURENÇO MARQUES, Mozambique (AP) — Government officials say some 20,000 whites have fled from Lourenço Marques in the past two weeks, but the new African premier says they are welcome to return.

About a third of the white population left the capital of Mozambique after racial violence that followed the collapse of a white settlers' rebellion. The rebels opposed the Portuguese government's agreement to give control of the colonial government to Frelimo, the black guerrilla movement that has fought the Portuguese army to a standstill in northern Mozambique.

The Portuguese also promised Mozambique independence next June 25.

Kissinger Explains Approach

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger brings his personal diplomacy back to the United Nations today with a speech fleshing out the Ford administration's program for a global approach to the world's food and energy needs.

Arab delegates who detected a veiled ultimatum in President Ford's blunt address to the General Assembly last week looked to Kissinger for clearer evidence of U.S. intentions.

Ford cautioned the oil-producing nations that manipulation of energy prices could lead to counteraction using food as a political and economic weapon.

Kissinger's speech will focus particularly on Third World countries, against initiatives of the fourfold increase in petroleum prices.

Some Exiles Accept Amnesty

CAMP ATTORNEY James T. Harrison says a flight brings 73 military deserters to this one-line Army basic training camp today to begin processing under President Ford's conditional amnesty plan.

Attorney is to be the central processing point for military deserters seeking amnesty. Officials said another 18 are at Ft. Benjamin Harrison, about 30 miles north in Indianapolis, where the first 27 men to turn themselves in already have been processed.

There was no indication where the charter flight was originating, or where the deserters had been collected. But a Ft. Harrison spokesman said 73 deserters would arrive today at Indianapolis's Weir Cook Airport and be brought here by bus.

The camp, quarters during World War II and the Korean conflict for 50,000 recruits and a mustering-out facility for about 500,000 after the 1945-46 war, has a daily capacity of about 5,000 men.

Although the deserters will not be incarcerated, some 40 military policemen have been sent here from Fort Knox, Ky. Officials said the men will be free to come and go as their schedules permit.

The deserters will be hustled through about four days of processing. Records will be checked to make sure they're eligible for the program. Then they will receive physical examinations and legal counseling. Financial records also will be checked to determine whether they are due back pay. Before leaving here, participants must sign a loyalty oath and will be issued undesirable discharges. After two years of alternative service, the deserters may be changed to clean discharges.

After military processing, the Joint Alternative Service Board will decide if the men can return to active duty, but must enter at the lowest rank and agree to serve for two years. To be eligible, one must have served in Southeast Asia and have received a decoration.

In other alternative developments, black leaders Roy Wilkins and the Rev. Jesse Jackson proposed on Sunday that other veterans with less than honorable discharges be included in the amnesty program.

Speaking on ABC's "Issues and Answers," Jackson labeled the program "a middle-class white program."

FEA Favors More Offshore Oil Drilling

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The Federal Energy Administration planned to open five days of hearings today on whether the nation should go ahead with deepwater ports and offshore drilling and where it should locate new refineries.

The hearings are the eighth in a series of 16 being held around the nation by the FEA which must submit a long-range energy plan to President Ford by Nov. 1.

Kenneth L. Dupuy, Southeastern regional administrator for the energy agency, says the purpose of the hearings is "to hear all the facts so we can make proper judgments."

But, he conceded, "it's very hard when you're accumulating facts, not to begin to make judgments."

In fact, FEA officials appear convinced that there are strong economic arguments in favor of allowing offshore drilling, building deepwater ports to handle giant oil tankers, and more refineries.

An FEA brochure entitled "A Fact Sheet on Deepwater Ports," says that while the United States is seeking to expand its domestic energy production, it will be necessary to continue importing foreign oil "for the foreseeable future."

Most American ports, says the pamphlet, are too shallow to handle the giant super-tankers which are carrying an increasing portion of the world's petroleum.

Transporting the oil in smaller, more expensive, and can lead to more oil spills because of harbor overcrowding and an increased number of pipe connections.

"The government will as of today free its political activities connected with the Geneva conference," a government spokesman said in Amman. He stressed Jordan was thus "freeing" its earlier agreement to participate in any Geneva peace talks.

The spokesman indicated, however, that the decision was subject to change if the other Arabs changed their stand at a summit conference.

Jordan Threatens Boycott Of Talks; Israel Dismayed

dan would cease to have an interest in the Palestinian question and the Palestine Liberation Organization would have to negotiate by themselves.

Jordan's decision was announced on Sunday, the day after Egypt, Syria and the Palestine Liberation Organization announced they agreed that an "independent national authority" would be established on the Palestinian lands freed from Israeli occupation.

Their goal is the West Bank of the Jordan River and East Jerusalem, both held by Jordan from the 1948 Palestine War until the 1967 Arab-Israeli War, and the Gaza Strip, which was administered by Egypt until the 1967 war.

Jordan insisted it must first retrieve its former territory and then would allow the Palestinian population to determine its future in a plebiscite. Many West Bank Palestinians are known to support Jordan's King Hussein and might vote for an autonomous state federated with the rest of Jordan.

"The government will as of today free its political activities connected with the Geneva conference," a government spokesman said in Amman. He stressed Jordan was thus "freeing" its earlier agreement to participate in any Geneva peace talks.

The spokesman indicated, however, that the decision was subject to change if the other Arabs changed their stand at a summit conference.

By The Associated Press
Israel Foreign Minister Yigal Allon today urged Jordan not to carry out its threat to boycott the Arab-Israeli peace talks in Geneva because of an agreement by Egypt and Syria to work for an independent Palestinian state on former Jordanian territory.

Allon, who is also deputy premier, said the neighboring Arab role is "an important partner in solving the Middle East problem."

Before leaving for New York to head Israel's delegation to the United Nations General Assembly, Allon criticized the Arab proposal as being "against the constructive interests of the Palestinians."

If it is adopted, he said, Jordan would cease to have an interest in the Palestinian question and the Palestine Liberation Organization would have to negotiate by themselves.

Record Defense Budget Aired

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is expected to approve a record $82.5-billion defense bill this week, act on foreign aid and take up a health manpower bill that Senate Republicans claim "establishes a domestic draft."

The defense bill, up for House action today, is the biggest single appropriation bill ever put before Congress, even after a $4-billion cut from administration requests.

When House-Senate conferees agreed to the $82.5-billion compromise last week, Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., said the cut should mean an actual $72.6-billion spending cut, and "should have an important impact on reducing inflation."

The cuts include a $900 million slice of requested military aid for South Vietnam, cut to $700 million from $1.6 billion. But the Pentagon gets full funding for the new B1 advanced bomber and Trident long-range missile-firing submarine.

A controversial $5-billion, five-year bill denounced by critics as a domestic draft is expected to get a Senate vote by mid-week.

It provides federal aid for programs to produce more doctors, nurses and other professionals, including scholarships.

Martha Mitchell LONDON (AP) — Martha Mitchell caused commotion at a London airport when she refused to submit to a routine security check, an official of British Airways said.

The official said Mrs. Mitchell "was shouting and refused to be touched by one of the security girls. In the end, when we told her she would not be able to fly if she was not searched, she calmed down, and we used an electronic device to search her."

Justice Burger WASHINGTON (AP) — Chief Justice Warren E. Burger is expected to remain in a Washington hospital for a few days for tests after suffering a broken rib and cuts in a bicycle accident.

Burger, who turned 67 last week, was trying out a new three-speed bike when he lost control, hit a curb and toppled to the pavement.

Witnesses said it appeared that the nation's highest judge was trying to avoid a car and may have been brushed by the vehicle's fender on Friday.

Rural Land Profits May Drop - Conner

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The days are ending when just about any reasonable investment in Florida land would make money, Agriculture Commissioner Deyne Conner says.

"An expanding economy may not guarantee profits as normally has been the case in recent years," said Conner, adding that he was speaking about rural acreage which is most familiar with.

"The small investor had better have a lot of stamina to stick out the peaks and valleys that we will have instead of the straight upward line on land values of recent years," he said.

Conner said there was no reason for anyone to push a panic button but that any investor should look carefully before making any long-term commitment in hopes of "making the windfall of his life for his family."

'Unenforceable' Laws On Increase

When he recently was itemizing some of the causes of the increasing crime rate in America, Atty. Gen. William Saxbe mentioned "permissiveness." We all know what he meant: a decline in the vitality of the moral standards and personal codes of conduct that underlie respect for the law.

Psychologists may tell us this problem originates in the family, and will have to be solved there, but the public cannot escape some responsibility for the malaise that Mr. Saxbe noted. As communities and as a nation we should have reached a high-water mark in the number of laws we regard as "unenforceable" on one reason or another, often because so many people refuse to obey them and because no one wants to see that they do.

These laws run the gamut from local ordinances to state and federal statutes. We have laws against letting dogs run unleashed in public, but there are more dog-owners willing to violate it than dog-catchers prepared to enforce it. We have anti-noise ordinances, but the din from hot rods, motorcycles and airplanes landing and taking off goes on. We have laws against speeding, but there is no highway patrolman in sight. We have passed anti-pollution laws to clean up our air and water, but are shirking the cost and inconvenience of complying with them.

Laws often are tucked out of sight when there is a public consensus that enforcing them is not worthwhile. We find it hard to believe that all of today's unenforced laws fit in that category. Most people do want to be protected from unleashed dogs. Most of us are impatient with the racket that noise ordinances are supposed to muffle. We want to stop the deterioration of the environment. We want to protect our children from drugs and alcohol. Our legislators have passed laws to accomplish all these things — but as citizens we have exhibited a discouraging failure of nerve when it comes to seeing that their intent is fulfilled.

Parents eventually learn that they are in trouble if they lay down rules for their children and then flinch at the unpleasantness of punishing them when the rules are broken.

Loosen, Cut Tightly And Then Pray

WASHINGTON — (NEA) Listening in at a recent White House economic summit meeting, I remembered the story of the pioneer with a sore that wouldn't heal. In despair, he asked an Indian medicine man if he could cure the ailment. Yes, the Indian replied, then tied the pioneer to a post, made an iron rod and drove it into the sore.

When the man recovered consciousness he wanted to know why he had been so treated. "Simple," said the Indian. "You had a sore that was a mystery to me. Now you have a burn and I know how to cure burns."

Some of the nations most prestigious economists have proposed this same solution to President Ford. They see the cure for inflation, especially a stagflation in which both prices and unemployment rise. They mean therefore to tighten up sternly and bring the economy close to a standstill. Don't worry about drifting over the edge into a depression, they said. "We know how to revive that, just start spending."

A few economists put the matter another way. The important thing to note is not the solution, which no president in his right mind would adopt but the agreement to ignore it.

Economists, once supposedly confident of their powers now reluctantly realize that what they've been preaching as "there doesn't fit the real world."

These men had little faith in the proposals they offered Mr. Ford. They talked about budget cutting — as a gesture. Some favored a $3 billion program of public service employment and reduced taxes for those earning less than $15,000; they wouldn't solve inflation.

Other economists proposed wage and price controls and government action to channel loans into industries or projects considered desirable. Again, these are palliatives, not solutions.

Some men present said they knew how to cure inflation if only they didn't have to consider what their solutions would do to millions of people.

Everyone present bowed to the desirability of increasing productivity. They could not agree on how that could be accomplished. There was seemingly strong agreement that productivity would not grow appreciably in the next year, no regard to what they propose or the government does.

They talked in mammoth overall solutions like loosening of loosening the supply of money. But they confessed this "loose" approach doesn't seem to work. Tight reins tightens money for those you don't want to hit as well as speculators, wasters, overly ambitious expenders and the producers of nonsensicals. A blanket stringency which induces consumers to tighten purchases also forces production cutbacks which lead to unemployment and are countered by government payouts. This leads to further budget deficits which spur more inflation — and so on around the circle.

"It is in the personal context that I am most concerned about Nixon's stability under stress," wrote Chasen with disconcerting foresight. "The threat of war poses less of a vexation for Nixon than the outcome of Watergate..."

Indeed, Nixon's physician Dr. Walter "Track" might well have been quoting from Chasen's uncanny forecast when he said a few days ago that Nixon was "tragedy" and broken in spirit. But Chasen's Air Force bosses apparently are not interested in the accuracy of the young psychiatrist's star-gazing about Nixon.

So serious is the alleged mistreatment, we have learned, that 13 plucky doctors at the Nellis Base hospital have written Congress and the Air Force asking for a "full investigation" of Chasen's charges.

Chasen wrote his book while he was on inactive reserve. It was based on Nixon's speeches, biographies, televised appearances and writings. From this gigantic heap of material, Chasen shrewdly drew the conclusion that Nixon never would be able to handle the most critical policy crises, but might disintegrate from personal problems.

The Air Force major finished his book almost two years ago when the world still believed in the unshakable Nixon of the 1973 election period. But Chasen accurately predicted that Nixon might become the present-day reincarnate of San Clemente, a lonely, tortured, insecure man.

Shevin: Utility Fuel Rate Hikes Legal

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Electric company rate increases for higher fuel costs are legitimate although the Public Service Commission failed to hold public hearings before adopting them 14 years ago, Atty. Gen. Robert Shevin said today.

In an opinion for Public Service Commission Paula Hawkins, Shevin said the PSC, now Florida Power & Light Co. and Florida Power Corp., in 1960, would have had to hold public hearings before adopting them 14 years ago, Atty. Gen. Robert Shevin said today.

The passage of 14 years without challenge to the fuel adjustment clauses in electric rate schedules to become final accounts for the fuel charge hikes, he added.

The first fuel adjustment clause was scheduled by Public Service Commission in 1960. Shevin said the commission considered these amendments to their rate schedules issued Aug. 22, 1967, but that they actually should have been considered new orders and public hearings held.

There is no provision in state law for ordering refunds of any excessive charges or requiring the utilities to establish escrow adjustment clause on fuel. The commission has precedent at hearings before the 1957 order, he said.

Fuel adjustment charges have been brought sharply to public attention in recent months as soaring fuel costs have ballooned electric rates.

In another opinion, Shevin said grievance committee hearings to examine complaints from university system employees must be open to the public, in compliance with the state government-in-the-sunshine law.

"It's The Latest Thing In Oil Trucks..."

William Rusher Funny Thing Happened To Hogan

A finer pan of last week's primary election results has yielded two additional candidates that rank somewhere between amusing and significant, and one that may be genuinely important.

The higher item concerns Congressman Lawrence Hogan, a Maryland Republican who gave up his seat to seek his party's nomination for governor. Hogan, a former FBI agent with a fairly conservative voting record, was regarded as the favorite to defeat his primary rival, Republican Louise Serrano, whose chief claim to national fame is the fact that she introduced Spiro Agnew to Richard Nixon — a favor for which neither man is terribly grateful these days.

Hogan is a member of the House Judiciary Committee, and thus got a lot of favorable exposure during that body's consideration of the impeachment issue. Because of his record, many people assumed that he would vote against impeaching Mr. Nixon. But other observers, noting that he had a statewide race ahead of him, were less certain; and sure enough, a funny thing happened to Congressman Hogan on the way to the committee vote. Before any other Republican member did so, he announced that his conscience would compel him to vote for impeachment.

"This has been a great year for consciences — at least, until President Ford's tall tale to impeach Nixon," So Congressman Hogan was instantly popular to liberals as exactly the kind of selfless statesman America needed, and the handicappers further increased his presumed lead for the gubernatorial nomination.

What nobody — above all Mr. Hogan — seemed to have taken sufficiently into account were the views of the Republican voters of Maryland. For, when the smoke blew away last Wednesday morning, they had named Senator Gore who had denounced the Judiciary hearings as a "circus" as their choice for governor. There is a moral here somewhere.

The other and more important story concerns the victory of Hogan's colleague, Congressman Hugh Carey, in the contest for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in New York. Carey had come from behind, since most of the Democratic leaders had endorsed his opponent, and the upset victory had endeared his name to the voters of the Empire State. Carey's campaign has shown impressive strength among Catholics, voters who were previously believed to be in Wilson's pocket. For another reason, Carey must be credited with a very fair chance to win the general election.

And if there just happens to be a skunk or two (deodorized I hope) which makes their appearance while Stuart is speaking...well, don't say that you haven't been forewarned.

The "fun" will start earlier, however, for Rotarian Sturtz. As he makes his approach to Sanford — right about when he's in front of the United State Bank on 17-1/2 — and make him follow his high school "charge" him, Mr. Crane, I don't consider myself prudish, but I do feel it is

Letter To The Editor

Letters to the editor are always welcome. They should be as brief as possible and comment on matters of general interest. The editors should deal with issues and avoid personalities.

The editor reserves the right to edit those letters for reasons of space, but will exercise the greatest care that the thrust of the letter is not lost in the editing.

All letters must be signed with a mailing address and, when possible, a telephone number so the identity of the writer may be checked and established. However, the Evening Herald will respect the wishes of writers who do not want their names to appear in print.

We reserve, of course, the right to reject any letters this newspaper considers to be libelous or slanderous.

Leave it to the Sanford Rotarians to really come across when it deals with their weekly meeting. Or special meetings as the case may be. I'm thinking especially of the Cmdr. Jerry Coffey (POW) luncheon held at the Civic Center which was a tremendous success.

'Rollerball'--Spirited Man Amid Computers

By JAMES BACON The Herald Services MUNCH NANA — Here we are in the city which is the most affluent of the new Germany, a sort of Bavarian Beverly Hills. Naturally the first place I visited was a beer hall in Munich, they don't serve your table with mugs or steins of beer. They put kegs on the table. This has got to be the biggest beer drinking city east of Milwaukee.

And then Norman Jewison put me in his new movie, "Rollerball." It's rather a challenging role because I play a Japanese fan cheering the Tokyo team against Houston in the futuristic game which is the ultimate in violence. Rollerball is a game that has never been played before. Jewison is making up the rules day by day as he shoots. To give you an idea of how violent the game is, at least three of the 11 stuntmen brought over from Hollywood have been in and out of hospitals in the last week. Norman took over the Olympic basketball stadium where the Russians hustled the Americans out of a Gold Medal in the 1972 Olympics. In it he has constructed a

HOROSCOPE

For Tuesday, September 24, 1974

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Whatever is startling, dramatic, talented or surprising is the order of today. So keep ready to take full advantage of whatever changes arise and turn potential difficulties into active opportunities. Romance in p.m.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Make sure you please higher-ups today since they can help you advance more quickly. Be an excellent citizen, and gain benefits. Ideal p.m. for entertaining.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Either you have good ideas or others give them to you, so put them in operation after studying them carefully. Get needed information.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Follow intuitive hunches to handle duties that help you progress; forget those other duties now that get you nowhere. Don't criticize loved one.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Watch closely what your partners are doing, since they hold the key to today's progress. Steer clear of one who opposes you.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Look around for more modern gadgets to improve tasks. Some seemingly radical ideas from a fellow worker might be what you need now.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Either accept an invitation extended you suddenly, or get into the kind of amusements that most please you. Get backing from the right source for some skill.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Do something quickly about some new situation that may arise at home to avoid trouble. Relieve tensions and restore order.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You have some desire to make changes, but do so gradually and naturally. Get new, right gadgets. Have fun tonight.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Listen to a seemingly way-out suggestion, since there could be a real gem of an idea in such. You are inspired about financial affairs.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Make changes in personal matters in a natural way as being forced with any one could bring dire results. Be cheerful and delight comrades.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Get by yourself and listen to intuitional guidance on how to handle important matters correctly. Help one who can assist you later.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Know what is most important to you in a personal way, then take the right steps to gain such. Exchange ideas. Don't monopolize the conversation.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she is apt to be quite different from the average, so equip with the right amount of education to weather the storms and become a real success. There is some coldness in his nature, therefore your youngster requires early training in spiritual and ethical values. Sports are a natural here.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!
