Girl attacked walking to grocery store

The Seminole County Sheriff's Office is seeking a suspect in the apparent attack and kidnapping of a 10-year-old girl Saturday night. The attack occurred at about 6 p.m. when the juvenile female was alone and on her way to the Winn-Dixie located at 1750 Sunshadow Drive in Casselberry.

According to authorities, she was forcibly dragged into a wooded area northeast of the shopping plaza. During the attack, the juvenile was choked by her attacker and possibly lost consciousness. She told police that the next thing she remembers is lying on the ground in the woods with her clothing in disarray and her eyeglasses missing.

She immediately ran home and her parents notified police. Law enforcement officers searched the wooded area and located the alleged scene of the attack and the girl's missing property. The girl was able to describe her attacker only as a Hispanic male with a mustache and wearing a dark colored T-shirt. The victim was taken to South Seminole Hospital where she was examined, treated and released.

Although it does not appear that she was sexually battered, other alleged sexual improprieties by her attacker, including sexual assault, have not been ruled out. According to the sheriff's office, the girl also suffered injuries consistent with somebody putting their hands around her neck and choking her.

The investigation is continuing with authorities looking at nearby business security camera recordings and canvassing nearby neighborhoods for clues. Anyone with information pertaining to the attack is asked to contact Investigator Steve McEllyea at 407-665-6600, or call Crime Line at 1-800-423-TIPS.

Airport memorial committee snags the remaining PV-1 Ventura in United States

SANFORD — The PV-1 Ventura, a versatile World War II aircraft, will soon return to Sanford and be a part of the memorial park at Orlando Sanford International Airport.

Jack Dow, president of the Sanford Airport Memorial Committee, said the committee recently learned that officials from the National Museum of Naval Aviation in Pensacola had decided to offer the plane to the committee for long-term loan.

"The plane is currently in California," Dow said. "The museum subbed out the plane to a contractor to restore eight years ago. He evidently tried his best but was unable to finish the job. They've offered us the chance to restore it and display it here in Sanford."

The Naval aviation museum's decision to select Sanford as the final destination point for the PV-1 Ventura is significant for two reasons. First, the aircraft was the first to be stationed at Naval Air Station (NAS) Sanford.

"The neat part is we will have the first and last planes ever stationed in Sanford," Dow said referring to the Ventura and the RA-5C Vigilante that was dedicated on Memorial Day.

Second, Sanford is receiving the lone PV-1 Ventura remaining in the SANFORD — When an All Souls Catholic School class started a letter writing campaign two years ago to a U.S. Air Force captain little did they know that their long distance friendship would continue today. As second graders, Danielle Berrong's fourth grade class started writing letters to Capt. Paul Schulze, a 1989 Lake Brantley graduate and F-16 pilot stationed in Arizona. They would ask him all kinds of questions. When he visited the class last week, not much had changed as the inquisitive group raised their hands again and again with all sorts of inquiries, such as "have you ever dropped a bomb," "when you were a kid did you ever dream of becoming a pilot," and "what kind of dogs do you have."

It was Schulze's second visit to the school since he became an established All Souls school pen pal, but much had changed from his visit seven months ago. Recently stationed in a handful of Middle Eastern coun-

Iraqi Diary: Gains are small

17 Oct. 2003 You asked about the progress being made here. It varies from place to place. I can only relate to what I see in the Baghdad area, or what I hear from the outside areas.

The power still goes out on a daily basis, but the police stations have backup generators. As stated in my previous letters, we rebuilt and brought on-line several police stations in east Baghdad, however you know by now that several of those have been targets of car bombs and attacks. In these cases, progress actually went in reverse.

East Baghdad is still the world's garbage dump. The streets are literally covered with garbage and human feces. It smells of burning, decomposing animals, usually horses and donkeys that were neglected and died in the heat. The water system works, but is contaminated. There is no proper sewer system, and nothing has been done to fix it.

The traffic is bad in many places. Iraqi drivers do not like to yield right-of-way and often two large trucks will meet

Friends, family rally to support Corso

By Dan Ping

SANFORD — When Kathy Laurer lost her son in an automobile accident, her friend Katharine Hoffman Corso was there to help her through the tragedy.

That's what friends do, but what makes Corso's gesture remarkable is that at the time she was undergoing radiation treatments for breast cancer.

"The first person at my door was Kathy Corso with her bald head," Laurer said.

That's typical for the single mother of four, say friends and family. Kathy is always there for those closest to her, lives life to the fullest, is always upbeat and very strong-willed.

Her sister, Susan Richards,

"She would use her lunch hour for her chemo treatments, come home from work and prepare a hot meal, and then help her kids with homework or attend one of their activities," Susan said.

"The woman is amazing," said Susan's husband Steve.

Amazing, yes, but also fighting for her life. Kathy was first diagnosed with breast cancer in December 1997. It wasn't a total surprise. Kathy's mother had a mastectomy in the mid-1960s, and Kathy knew there was a chance she too could have breast cancer.

Along with Holt, the city of Longwood will have two new faces on the city commission as Brian Sackett won the District 5 seat without any opposition. Both will serve three-year terms.

Longwood citizens also voted at the polls to abolish the public safety director position with about an 85 percent tally in favor of the charter amendment. According to city officials, elimination of the position will save Longwood about $100,000, but will not effect public safety as the fire and police chiefs will report directly to the city administrator.

Sanford woman killed at church

From Staff Reports

A Sanford woman's desire to end an abusive relationship turned for the worse Sunday when ex-boyfriend Willie Edward Crowder, 59, of Altamonte Springs, shot her several times in the head as she left church.

According to authorities, Ann Horne Savage, 44, of Sanford, was leaving Peaceful Zion Baptist Church, located at 1164 Pine St. near Altamonte Springs, at about 2 p.m.

when Crowder and he began arguing. Crowder also was attending church service Sunday.

Despite the attempts of family members and church parishioners to stop the violence, Crowder reportedly shot her in the head once in the church parking lot and LONGWOOD — City of Longwood voters determined Tuesday that Deputy Mayor Steve Miller will not be returning to office as the District 3 commissioner.

With more than 1,500 residents going to the polls, Miller lost the bid for a fourth term by almost 400 votes. However, the two challengers, Mike Holt and George McKenzie, captured more than 85 percent of the vote with Holt winning by less than 50 votes.

It was the second close defeat for McKenzie who lost in 2000 by less than 75 votes to Miller.

Along with Holt, the city of Longwood will have two new faces on the city commission as Brian Sackett won the District 5 seat without any opposition. Both will serve three-year terms.

Longwood citizens also voted at the polls to abolish the public safety director position with about an 85 percent tally in favor of the charter amendment. The PV-1 Ventura (left) was the first plane to be stationed at Sanford Naval Air Station. Along with RA-5C Vigilante, the memorial park at Orlando Sanford International Airport will feature the first and last planes to be stationed in Sanford.

United States. Patty Mahany, the committee's secretary, said several Venturas remain in South Africa and Europe, but there is only one in the America.

"Certainly this is not the last remaining Ventura," Mahany said. "I wouldn't want anyone to be misled. This was a very versatile aircraft and the Navy sold many of these planes to our allies. The museum in South Africa has seven of them, but Sanford will be the only place in this country where you can see one."

Both Dow and Mahany said they believe Sanford was chosen because of the plane's historic significance to the community and because of the memorial committee's restoration of the Vigilante.

"The Naval aviation museum was very pleased with the way our guys restored the Vigilante, and we're now on their A-list," Mahany said.

It will take three trucks to move the plane from California to Sanford, and Dow said it should arrive by mid-December.

"We're not going to have as much pomp and circumstance as we did for the Vigilante," Dow said. "We kind of got ourselves in a bind with that one and set a timetable (to restore the plane) that was very aggressive. We're going to evaluate this one when it gets here, set a plan and then go from there. We're not going to be as aggressive with this one."

Dow said he has been told that the plane is about 40 percent restored. Until local volunteers do a thorough evaluation when the Ventura arrives, Dow said it is difficult to determine how much work must be done.

then several times again as she fled to the church annex. The violent act reportedly took place in front of almost two dozen that had attended church services.

Before Seminole County Sheriff's Office deputies could arrive, Crowder fled the scene. Orlando police captured him later that day at about 11:45 p.m. at the Orange Center Apartments, just off Orange Center Boulevard. According to police, a citizen telephoned in a tip that led to Crowder's arrest.

Crowder was transferred to the Seminole County Jail Tuesday and is currently being held without bond for premeditated murder.

Seminole County Sheriff's Office spokesman Steve Olson said Savage had an active injunction against Crowder since March 28, 2002.

Since then, Olson stated in a release, the two had apparently lived on and off together with the two just recently breaking up for good.

According to police reports, Crowder has had been charged with additional violent crimes in his past, including felony battery.

Her mom was a 28-year cancer survivor. Kathy hoped to duplicate her mother's successful battle with cancer. She was cancer-free for 14 months, but the tumors have returned. Just when doctors think they have removed the cancer from one spot, it moves to another part of the body, Susan said, and she has been in and out of the hospital for several months.

"It's just gone all over her body, her leg, her liver," Susan said.

Those closest to Kathy describe her as enduring, courageous, loving, beautiful and loyal. They also acknowledge Kathy is determined to live her life on her terms.

"I wouldn't be surprised if she put her clothes on and walked out of the hospital," her brother-in-law Steve said.

"She wants to go on with everyday life," Susan said.

To help her with that goal, Kathy's friends have created the Kathy Hoffman Corso Foundation to help defray her medical expenses. Many of Kathy's colleagues from the state attorney's office in Sanford, even those who have been away from the agency for years, are rallying to help her.

"As much as it hurts that Kathy is so sick," said Katherine Breehl, a close friend, "it's so nice to see how the community has come together to help her."

In fact, current state attorney's office employees are donating their vacation hours to Kathy so she can continue to receive a paycheck. The employees are also foregoing the traditional exchange of Christmas gifts and instead will provide gifts for Kathy's four children: Kimberly, 20; Billy, 18; Paige, 14; and Michael, 13.

"Kathy's kids mean everything to her," Susan said. "They try to carry on and act like nothing is wrong, but they're really scared for their mom. They are such sweet supportive kids."

The foundation has planned a spaghetti dinner and silent auction for Saturday, Nov. 15 at All Souls Catholic Church. The auction begins at 5:30 p.m. and continues until 8 p.m. The dinner is from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m.

Tickets are available at All Souls Catholic Church, All Souls Catholic School and The Seminole Herald. For more information, tickets or contributions, call Patti Smith at 407-314-8703 or Katherine Breehl at 407-321-4946.

Though she's struggling with her own health issues now, friends say Kathy is already looking to the future. She wants to keep the foundation created for her open to help other single mothers who encounter medical crises.

"She's always been a very determined person," Susan said. "Her faith and her family are very important to her, and she wants something good to come out of all this."

SEMINOLE SUMMARY

A GLANCE AROUND OUR COUNTY

IN BRIEF

Sheriff's office searching for Longwood-area bank robbery suspect

The Seminole County Sheriff's Office is looking for the suspect who robbed a bank during weekend business hours on Saturday, Nov. 1.

The crime occurred at around 10 a.m., at the Bank of America, at 2601 W. State Road 434, near Longwood. The suspect displayed, what appeared to be, a handgun and demanded money from a teller. He was given an undisclosed amount of money and then fled the bank in an unknown direction. Reports that he left the bank on a bike, cannot be confirmed. Nobody was hurt in the incident.

The suspect is described as a white male, 5-feet 10-inches tall, in his mid 30's, with brown or sandy blonde hair. Witnesses say it appears the suspect, at some point in his life, had plastic or reconstructive surgery done on his nose and face.

Anybody with information about this case is asked to call the Seminole County Sheriff's Office at 407-665-6600 and ask for investigator Teresa Malorana. One may also call Crime Line at 1-800-423-TIPS, where one can remain anonymous, and may receive a cash reward for vital information related to this case.

Grand jury indicts suspected Placid Lake Drive murderer

The Seminole County Grand Jury issued a first-degree murder indictment Monday against Randolph Mora, 25, in connection with the Oct. 11 murder of Scott Quinn, 314 Placid Lake Drive, Sanford.

The defendant is in custody at the Seminole County Jail where he has been held without bond since his arrest by Sanford police on Oct. 23.

On Oct. 12 at 4:15 a.m., the 37-year-old Quinn was found in a pool of blood with a large knife protruding from his neck by a girlfriend at his Sanford residence. As police investigated the scene, they discovered hundreds of guns and military ordinance in the home owned by Quinn, a former Seminole County bail bondsman and licensed gun dealer.

The guns, the bondsman's job and other clues provide police with multiple leads, but investigators announced Oct. 24 that Quinn's affair with Randolph Mora's girlfriend, Lina DiMauro, was the key piece of information in unlocking the case. Police allege that an enraged Mora, 25, drove from Orlando to Sanford the night of Oct. 11, not to sell Quinn cocaine as he had in the past, but to kill him because he was sleeping with DiMauro.

According to police, Mora said when he confronted Quinn about the affair at his Sanford home an argument erupted with both men drawing guns. Mora said he shot Quinn three times. Mora added that he attempted to shoot Quinn again because he was still alive, but after a gun malfunction he went into the kitchen to retrieve a butcher knife from the drawer to stab Quinn in the neck.

The grand jury heard from three witnesses, including a Florida Department of Law Enforcement agent, a Sanford Police Department investigator, and a Sanford Police Department crime scene technician.

tries — Saudi Arabia, Turkey, Qatar and Bahrain — Schulze has had three recent deployments to support missions in Iraq.

The first deployments for Schulze to the Middle East were to enforce no fly zones in Iraq after the Gulf War, but his latest missions were to help lead a devastating and successful air campaign in Operation Iraqi Freedom.

At the beginning of the war, Schulze patrolled the unfriendly skies of Iraq in search of the enemy's surface-to-air missiles. Once he made contact, his job was to neutralize the targets. Later in the war, he helped support ground operations. For his service, he earned several medals, he said.

"There's no doubt what we did over there was the right thing," he said.

A 1993 graduate of Troy State University in Troy, Ala., Schulze told his pen pals that he didn't dream of becoming a pilot "it just happened."

"Initially, when I went in (the Air Force) I thought I would be a four-year thing, but here I am 10 years later," he said.

"It's a pretty demanding job and pretty intense," he added, telling the students that if they study hard they too can be a pilot.

Schulze, who expects to be promoted in rank to major in December, said he was like any other kid growing up and wanted to be like his father who was a television repairman. After college, he said he was frustrated with potential "draft talk" during the Gulf War so he enlisted as many other of his family members had been in the military, although he is the first Air Force aviator.

Schulze said he wants to be a career military man, and according to All Souls school teacher Berrong he may one day have a few All Souls students to train.

"They were very excited about him coming today," she said, adding his correspondence helps the students understand better what is going on in Iraq and gives them a good geography lesson.

"I think a lot of them will be interested in being in the Air Force one day," she said.

Murphy named Employee of the Month

Sanford City Manager Al Grieshaber, right, presents the October Employee of the Month award to firefighter/EMT Michael Murphy, left. Faircloth nominated Murphy for the honor and cited his professionalism, job knowledge and courteous manner as reasons for the nomination. Faircloth also cited an incident that occurred in July. "... (We) had a structure fire during the night. Murphy was assigned the task of searching the residence because we didn't know if anyone was inside. Though he and his other team members found no human victims, they did pull two large pit bull dogs from the burning building. Once outside the structure, they determined that the dogs were not breathing because of smoke inhalation. ... In front of several neighborhood residents, (Murphy) worked on the dogs for about 30 minutes providing rescue breathing and chest massages. While others gave up and said the dogs were dead, Murphy continued to work. Though one of the dogs did die, he was able to get the other dog breathing again and today that dog is doing well. I know that whoever reads this may say it's just a dog, but to that Sanford resident who just lost part of his house, belongings and a beloved pet to the fire, Murphy's efforts meant a lot! This is just one example to illustrate the kind of employee he is."

USDA projecting record citrus crop

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) released its first crop forecast for the 2003-2004 season, which is the highest estimate since the 1997-1998 season and could be the highest actual production in history.

The USDA expects the state's orange crop to produce 252 million boxes, a 24 percent increase over last season's total of 203 million boxes.

"The excellent bloom and fruit set, along with abundant and well-timed rains throughout the season have significantly impacted this season's crop size," said Andy LaVigne, executive vice president/CEO of Florida Citrus Mutual. "Unfortunately, this estimate does not bode well for prices to Florida citrus growers, who must brace for this record-size crop in the face of weakening demand."

In reaction to news of the projected record crop, LaVigne said Florida Citrus Mutual's board of directors decided unanimously to reduce the association's assessment on citrus fruit in order to lessen the financial burden growers. The board agreed to reduce the assessment, which was set at 1.5 cents per box to 1.3 cents per box.

"After hearing the crop estimate and realizing the financial difficulties Florida citrus growers will face, we will tighten our budget and cut expenses by 14 percent," LaVigne said. "We must now continue to find creative ways to supplement our budget and utilize reserves in order to continue working on behalf of Florida citrus growers."

LaVigne added that Brazil, the only other major producer of orange juice in the world besides Florida, has a substantially lower crop this year, which will hopefully ease some competitive pressure in the marketplace and lend some support to prices for Florida citrus growers.

The forecast for early and midseason varieties, which includes 5 million boxes of Navels, increased to 137 million boxes from 112 million boxes. Valencia's are expected to increase from 91 million boxes last season to 115 million boxes this season.

"Despite production levels, lower fruit prices have not readily translated into lower consumer prices in the last six years," LaVigne said.

The yield for FCOJ (Frozen Concentrate Orange Juice) is expected to be 1.55 gallons per 90-pound box of oranges, compared to 1.54 gallons last season. Florida orange juice production of 1.52 billion ready-to-serve gallons is expected to increase an additional 320 million gallons from last season.

Grapefruit estimates also increased this year. The USDA predicts 42 million boxes will be produced in the coming season, an 8.5 percent increase from the 38.7 million boxes produced last season.

For specialty fruit, the USDA predicts 1.4 million Temples; 1.3 million tangelos; and 6.6 million tangerines, including 4.4 million early varieties and 2.2 million Honeys.

USDA estimates and actual production for Florida's orange crop for the past six seasons are as follows:

- 2003-2004 season: USDA estimate, 252 million boxes; actual production, not known yet.

- 2002-2003 season: USDA estimate, 197 million boxes; actual production, 203 million boxes.

- 2001-2002 season: USDA estimate, 231 million boxes; actual production, 230 million boxes.

- 2000-2001 season: USDA estimate, 240 million boxes; actual production, 223.3 million boxes.

- 1999-2000 season: USDA estimate, 211 million boxes; actual production, 233 million boxes.

- 1998-1999 season: USDA estimate, 190 million boxes; actual production, 186 million boxes.

- 1997-1998 season: USDA estimate, 254 million boxes; actual production, 244 million boxes.

The Florida citrus industry has a $9.1 billion economic impact to the state and employs nearly 90,000 people. Florida Citrus Mutual, founded in 1948, is the state's largest citrus grower's organization with more than 11,000 grower members.

SBA changes delivery of commercial loans

Florida small business owners will have improved access to U.S. Small Business Administration commercial loans due to a change in SBA rules announced recently.

According to Florida First Capital, a statewide economic development and financing company, the rule change will eliminate territorial monopolies in the SBA's largest program for commercial real estate and equipment loans.

SBA's 504 loan program offers below-market, fixed rate financing for the acquisition of commercial real estate and equipment. Currently, 504 program loans are offered by Certified Development Companies (CDCs), like Florida First Capital, which can only operate in a local area - typically several counties. In some instances, CDCs have monopolized certain counties and restricted competition for commercial loans. When the rule change takes effect in 30 days, the restrictions will end, as each CDC will be able to work with small businesses anywhere in Florida.

"We have been waiting for this change for many years," said Todd Kocourek, FFC president and CEO. "We have consistently supported competition in the 504 program, both by expanding our market territory and supporting expansion of other CDCs into our own. The new rules will let the marketplace decide if there's enough need for several CDCs in any given county."

For information on SBA or State of Florida loans, call 888-320-5504, or visit ffcfc.com.

Phoenix Home Services reports record week

Phoenix, which is one of the largest providers of pool heating, automation and purification systems for residential swimming pools, reported it sold 85 installations in September.

Skip West, founder and president of Phoenix, said the sales for September represent a dollar volume of more than $300,000.

West said the week of September 22 was the best week ever in the firm's brief history. From Sept. 22 through Sept. 27, the company installed 24 systems for revenues of more than $87,000, West said.

Belsa posts $7.7 million in home sales first six months

New Homes Sales Consultant and Casselberry resident Gordana Belsa was Engineered Homes' top sales producer for the year's first six months with just under $8 million in sales volume for the Winter Park-based company.

Belsa finished the year's halfway point with 39 home sales for $7.7 million - an average of $197,435 - and outdistanced her closest challenger by nearly $2 million, says Engineered Homes Marketing Director Marilyn Anderson.

Belsa, who has consistently been one of the company's leading producers since joining Engineered Homes in October 2000, is the on-site sales representative at Mission Park near Clermont in south Lake County. Belsa moved to Mission Park in June after playing a key role in the successful closeout of the company's Lake Griffin Estates in Casselberry.

New Homes consultant David Bonsmann also had an impressive opening six months for Engineered Homes at Mission Park and Buckingham Estates. He finished with $5.8 million in overall volume on 26 sales - an average of $218,868 a sale.

Bonsmann, instrumental in the March sellout of the company's Egret's Landing community in Lake Mary and now is at Buckingham Estates near Heathrow, had an equally impressive first six months. He averaged $218,868 on 26 sales at the two communities.

Belsa, the company's top producer last year, benefited from a record March when she tallied 15 sales for $3 million at Lake Griffin Estates, a planned 141-home infill community off U.S. 17-92 in Casselberry. She was the only Engineered Homes consultant to post double-digit sales in a single month.

Engineered Homes posted a record $72.8 million on 319 sales last year.

hood-to-hood and neither driver wants to back-up. This ties up an entire intersection. The Iraqi police stand around scratching their heads, or one will be in the intersection while five are sitting on the curb watching the one in the traffic trying to untangle the mess. It is true that we have fielded thousands of new police. The numbers are correct, however quantity does not equate to quality. This means that U.S. military police still have to watch what is going on.

In some areas, because of a lack of police cars, the Iraqi police have taken a taxi to a crime scene. In some of our cases, they have taken taxis from the crime scene when shots were fired, leaving us to fend for ourselves.

We also issued thousands of new police uniforms, but new uniforms, like numbers, do not equates to law enforcement quality. The new uniforms included a beret like the old regime uniform, which the IPF did not like because it was too much like the old regime. Some official planner did not do his homework on the uniforms. No component of the uniform should remind the general public of the old regime. Now they refuse to wear the berets, which is wasted U.S. dollars, as they could have had different headgear.

There is some road repair, and curbing being painted, and a few buildings being restored. Over-all this is minor when compared to the length of time we have been in Baghdad and all the contracts that have been scheduled.

The crime rate is a little lower, however I'm speaking of actual civilian crimes. The other side of this story, terrorism against us, has increased several times over.

There is far more problems with terrorism than when we first got here. The Shiite neighborhood, which in my previous letters I reported as having good relations with us, has now turned sour. They not only hate us, they attack us. This is an example of a reversal of progress that I would guess anybody can read about in the newspaper and not just my opinion. The Mosques still have weapons caches in them, which is the opposite from what I heard reported in a U.S. news report. I don't think the public was given the truth on that matter.

They have issued new money here that has been considered a sign of progress. However new money is no good if the Iraqis have no employment. I think this was done more to remove any symbols of Saddam Hussein since the new money does not have his picture on it. In my opinion, removing Saddam's picture from an Iraqi dinar is not big time progress and is more like tearing down one of his statues. It does little to restore the infrastructure or take care of the needs of the Iraqi people, which has been a contributing factor to us losing our good relationship with the Shiite community.

As for soldiers' morale, it is extremely low, mostly due to increased risks and the uncertainty of redeployment home. Most of the troops I'm in contact with, say they will never re-enlist and will seek the quickest exit when the opportunity presents itself. I can add myself to this, as I plan to end our family's 54-plus years of accumulated military service. The USA can keep my 14 years, my retirement, and my multi-war service. No longer will I be a "sucker" for agendas that certainly do not seem to be what we've been led to believe. As for my two sons, I plan to do exactly like most politicians: my kids will not serve in uniform if I can help it, not after this mess. Maybe I could be elected to congress if my kids don't serve in uniform, that seems to be the trend among our great leaders. Yep, the way home was not through Baghdad. I think what they really meant was "the way home is in a bag."

I will say that we have more regular meals now. That is welcomed, but come-on, this has taken a half year! And as you know, we have internet service as long as we pay $4 an hour to an Iraqi businessman and the power doesn't go out. Our mail is moving slow again, but this is because of another change in our APO addresses.

As for the 15-day leave, forget that. At first I thought I'd get leave in November, then it was December. Now it is sometime next year. But, as previously suggested by me, anyone with a simple calculator can figure that only a small percentage will ever get 15-day leaves; about 36,000 out of the total 140,000-plus troops over here.

In our unit we have leave slots for about one every four days, or about 5 per month. If my math is any good, that is about 60 per twelve month period. There are nearly 180 in the unit. My number is 69, so in order to get leave at this rate, I would need to be here another 12 months. Like I said before, the 15-day leave program is great for those who are lucky to get it, but it is even greater eyewash for the public and pacifier for military families.

I would say that for the overall progress, things are, at best, 10 percent better than when we arrived. The good parts are counter-balanced by increasing negative situations and increasing U.S. casualties, which are cleverly divided between pre-May 1st and the occupation period, then further divided into non-hostile and hostile categories. This allows the lower number to be released to the press, which I think causes a distortion of the over-all picture. Now the lower number is about to hit triple digits. I do want to point out that these are not just numbers. We must not forget that they were human lives.

I also suspect that visiting dignitaries are often shown "selected progress." I know for a fact they've never talked with us but most likely have talked with troops in relatively safer situations with better living conditions. I can imagine that soldiers lucky enough to live in one of Saddam's old palace compounds would have higher morale than those of us faced with high risks each day and living in the ruins of an old factory

THE GOLDEN HERALD

Your only source for information for the 2003 Golden Age Games

Don't be flippant

By Nick Pfeiffaut
Staff Writer

The traditional Golden Age Games event — the Pancake Race, was officially canceled for this year's events, but is now back on.

Participants, arranged according to age groups, would run across a marked course, flipping pancakes from skillets as they ran, seeking to be the first across the finish line without losing their pancakes.

According to Kim Eltonhead, Golden Age Games chairperson, "There was apparently not enough interest in participation this year. As of Tuesday morning, only three people had signed up to participate."

But the longtime tradition of the Pancake Race was placed back on the slate Tuesday afternoon.

Normally held in the grass tennis court next to the Shuffleboard Court area in Fort Mellon Park, the event was moved indoors to the Civic Center last year, because of inclement weather. It is scheduled to be in the Civic Center again this year.

"Last year it was really a big event," Eltonhead said. "We had a lot of people entered in it and everyone seemed to have a great deal of fun, even though it was indoors rather than outside."

Event participants 'spare' no expertise

By Nick Pfeiffaut
Staff Writer

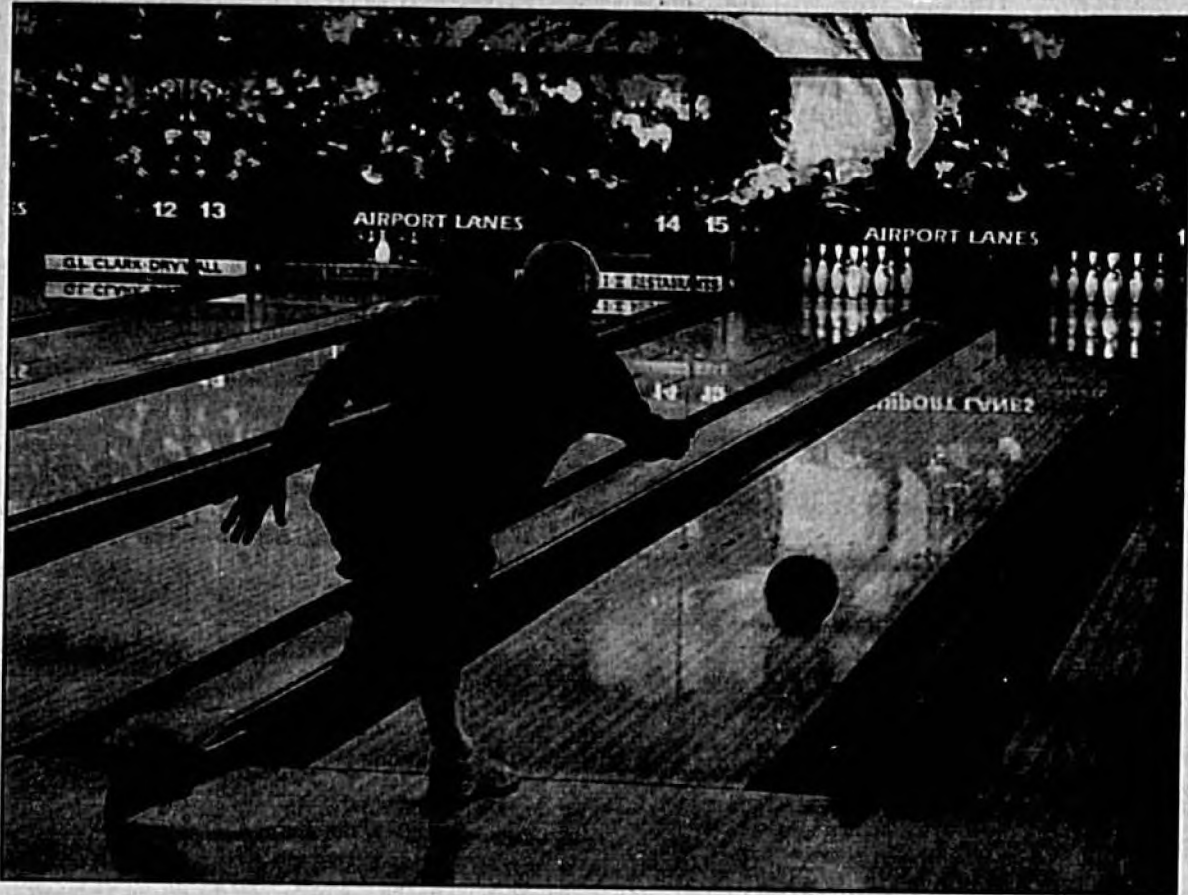

The first of several bowling events got underway Monday morning exactly as scheduled, 9:30 a.m., at Airport Lanes. Both of Monday's bowling competitions, (the second at 12:30 p.m.) were singles matches. Each bowler played three frames, with the three to be averaged for the overall score.

Both men and women were lined up for the start of the events Monday morning, and were already showing their expertise during practice time.

Josephine Le Roy, from Deltona, made several strikes and spares during practice. When asked how many of the bowling events she had entered during the past years, she said she couldn't remember. "I think I've been doing this from the start," she commented.

The next question was, "Have you won any medals in the past?" Her response, "I have a bushel of them at home." Le Roy said the best game she has ever bowled was 200. Officials said she was definitely a woman to be reckoned with in the competition, although strikes were plentiful in the woman's half of the lanes.

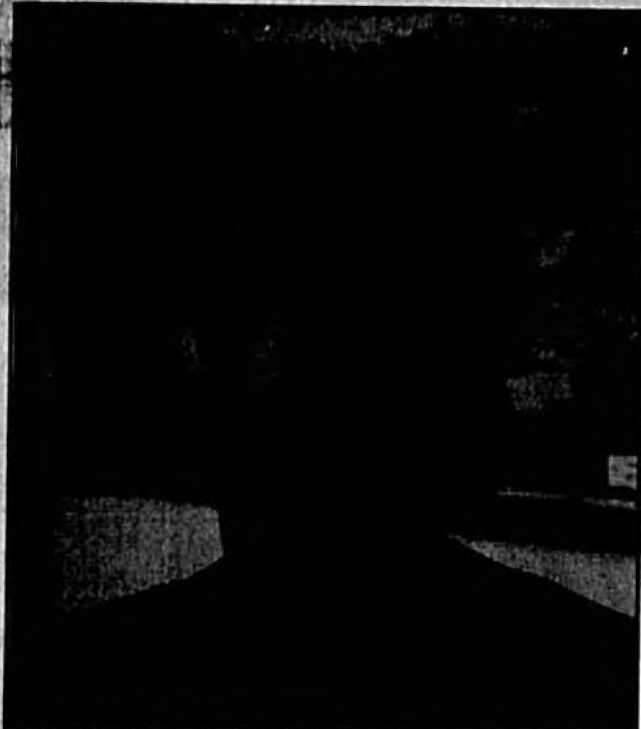

The teams were set in groups of four, handling two adjacent lanes

BREAKFAST (MAKER) OF CHAMPIONS

Sanford Over 50 Club serves athletes right

By Christopher Patton
Managing Editor

For all but one of the 29 years that the Golden Age Games have been played in Sanford, Ethel Fried has been serving the athletes breakfast.

Participating athletes at each year's games are treated to a free breakfast from 7 to 9 a.m., at the Sanford Civic Center, Monday through Saturday, sponsored by the Over 50 Club.

Fried wasn't spooning out cold cereal at the first year of the games, but she's been there ever since, and after a few years of helping, she is now the lead Over 50 Club member to prepare the morning meal.

"I used to help somebody before, but now I'm in charge," she said behind the breakfast counter of bagels, cakes, juices, bananas, cereals and coffee.

"We enjoy doing it," Fried added. "We have to get up a 5 o'clock in the morning, but we enjoy it."

Athletes appreciate Fried and other club members' hard work, such as snowbird Brian McGrath who is a Canadian that winters in St. Petersburg. For more than 70 years, McGrath has been bicycle racing. The Golden Age Games bicycling events in Sanford are the most important day of the year, next to his birthday, he said.

"I think it's excellent," he said about the free breakfast.

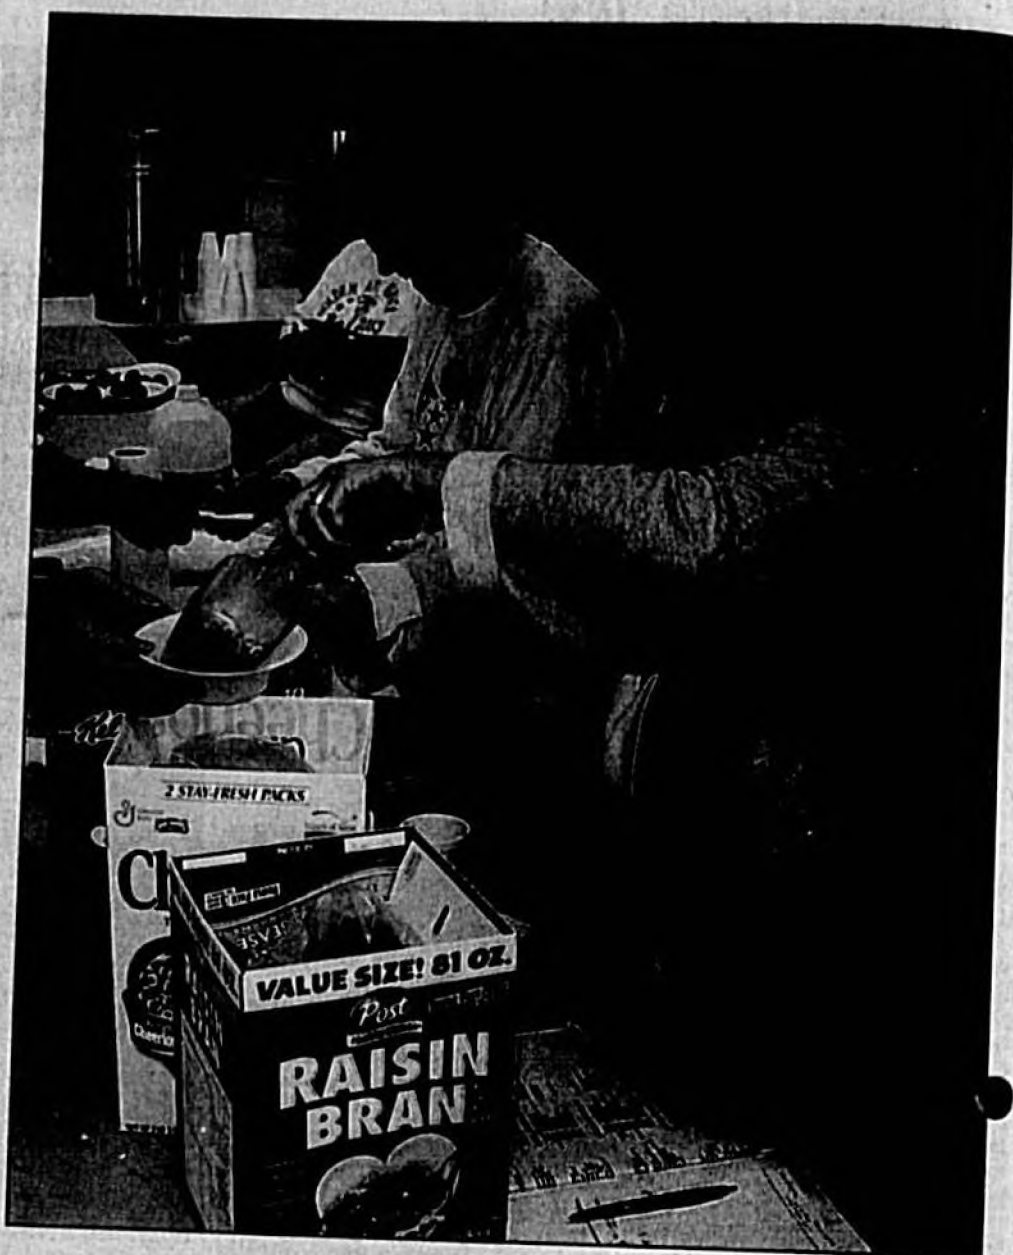

"It is a good start to the day." In fact, without the support of the Over 50 Club it is doubtful the Golden Age Games could function, said Marge Gunster, club president.

With about 90 total members from Volusia and Seminole counties, the Over 50 Club staff much of the games' events. The club also sponsors the Golden Age Games Mid-Week Banquet Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. at the Sanford Civic Center. More than 150 athletes and guests are expected to attend.

The club meets the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month at 10:30 a.m. Club members perform a variety of charitable actions in the community, including bell ringing for the Salvation Army during the holidays and monthly donation drives to the Safehouse of Seminole.

"We are a very active, friendly group working for the good of the area," Gunster said.

The club is not all business as they sponsor a host of other activities. They arrange a dance every Wednesday during the winter months at the civic center, trips for members, such as upcoming vacations to New Orleans and East Tennessee, and a Christmas party Dec. 9 at the civic center.

Ethel Fried (above) has been spooning out cereal to Golden Age Games athletes for 28 of the 29 years. Helping her this year are (left) Elaine Kurz, Jackie Taylor and Marcella LeVeque.

Bowling

and alternating between them.

Frank Balsis, of Lake Mary, originally from Michigan, was in one of the groups, but one man apparently failed to show up, and he bowled with two other men.

"This is only my second year competing in bowling," he said. "But I did win a medal last year."

He said he had an average of 180. After the official start, he immediately accumulated several spares and several strikes, heading for a good first game. However, the two men bowling with him were also scoring strikes and spares, so the competition was indeed serious.

It should be noted however, that good sportsmanship was exhibited by one and all. Regardless of who was competing against who, a strike or a spare resulted in hand shakes and/or high-fives from the others in the area.

Tuesday morning at 9:30 saw doubles bowling competition, two men or women alternating, with their scores totaled as if it were one. Tuesday afternoon at 12:30 p.m., it was mixed doubles, men and women competing, as one.

The opportunity to win first, second or third place winners is improved by the fact that in bowling, winners are judged in age groups. As an example, there will be three winners in each competitive event, for people age 50 to 54, three more for age 55 to 59, and so forth, as high as age groups are entered.

Judging by the number of participants, bowling is a sport of great interest to seniors. The parking lot was filled with cars bearing Volusia, Orange, Lake, and surrounding counties, in addition to Seminole County. Additionally, there was one vehicle from a participant with a New Hampshire license.

Liberty volleyball clinches first place

By Shelle Knowles
Special to the Herald

The Liberty Christian School girls volleyball team defeated Temple Christian School of Palatka, 13-25, 25-14, 17-25, 25-19 and 15-9, Thursday (Oct. 30) in a three-hour marathon.

With the victory, Liberty clinched first place in the Mid-Florida Christian Athletic League.

Temple dominated game one and took an early lead in the second. Trailing 11-8, Liberty scored eight consecutive points to move ahead 16-11. After Temple scored two points, Liberty pulled off another eight-point streak to take a commanding 24-13 lead.

Liberty picked up where it left off in the third game taking a quick 3-0 lead, but Temple scored seven of the next eight points, and Liberty was never able to catch up.

The fourth game was a seesaw battle until Liberty scored five straight points to take a 10-6 lead. Temple pulled to within two points, trailing 14-12, but Liberty scored four points in a row to take an 18-12 lead. Liberty scored the final three points of the game to tie the match and send it into a decisive fifth game.

Temple scored the first two points of the fifth game, but Liberty responded, scoring five consecutive points and nine of the next ten points. Liberty scored the final three points to win the game and the match.

Leading Liberty's offense was freshman Brittany Unsworth and senior co-captain Shelle Knowles. Unsworth scored 23 points, nine of which came off service aces, and made six kills, while Knowles scored 14 points, including one ace, and had five kills. Also doing a great job on offense was senior captain Susan Clark with nine points, four on service aces.

Kim Slate, Shawna Kealoha and Amanda Waters each scored five points.

Temple gave the Liberty players a run for their money, making them fight for every point because they were a great defensive team, said Liberty Coach Jane Unsworth. But the hard-fought victory also helped prepare her team for the upcoming state playoff, Unsworth said.

"This game was an eye opener as to how the team will have to play in the playoffs," said Unsworth. "The girls really had to fight like a team and even came from behind to pull this one out."

This win gave Liberty its first-ever girls volleyball conference title and assured the team of a trip to the state playoffs later this month.

The undefeated Lady Patriots will be looking for their seventh victory when they travel to Deltona Christian School Friday for the final match of the regular season. The game begins at 1 p.m.

Liberty Christian School's football team also travels to Deltona Friday for a 3 p.m. game, looking to finish the season undefeated for the third straight year. The team has already clinched a trip to the state playoffs where it will attempt to win its third straight Florida Christian Athletic League title.

The Lake Brantley girls gave Seminole County its first State Championship of the 2003-04 school year when it coasted past Ft. Lauderdale-St. Thomas Aquinas, 238-to-206.5, at the FHSAA Class 3A State Swimming Championships at the North County Aquatic Center in Sebastian Friday.

St. Thomas Aquinas did claim the boys state title, but Lyman was third, Oviedo fifth and Lake Mary sixth.

Kimberly Larson won a pair of individual titles and a contributed to a team gold to lead the Patriots girls. Larson won the 200-yard freestyle in 1:49.51 and the 500-yard freestyle in 4:51.92 and anchored the 400-yard freestyle relay winning team that came home in 3:33.27.

Kathryn Kelly also won an individual gold for Lake Brantley by taking the diving title.

Lake Mary's Diane Gu also won a pair of individual titles in the 50-yard freestyle (23.38 seconds) and the 100-yard freestyle (51.25).

On the boys' side, Lyman's Alex Forbes won twice, the 50-yard freestyle (20.98) and the 100 butterfly (49.87), and fellow Greyhound Terry Horner was first in diving.

Oviedo also won an individual title in the 200-yard freestyle relay.

The cross country teams held their regionals this past weekend and the golf teams were holding their regionals on Monday and Tuesday.

The state Cross Country meet is this Saturday in Tampa and State Golf is early next week.

Also taking place this week is the Girls Volleyball regionals with the Quarterfinals on Tuesday and the Semifinals and Finals being contested this Saturday.

A recap will be in Sunday.

District play ends

Two get in, Lake Brantley hopeful

Two questions were answered Friday night, but one still lingers as the local football teams get ready to call it a regular season this Friday.

Lake Mary and Winter Springs both locked up runner-up district finishes and spots in next week's playoffs in impressive fashion, but the fate of Lake Brantley will not be known until after this Friday's action.

Prior to the season the FHSAA said that their would be no At Large bids available for Class 6A-District 2 squads. But now, and rightfully so, 6A-District 1, which has only two teams, will not See Football, Page 15

Kyle Harris (No. 7 with ball above) threw three touchdown passes and J.J. Bass (No. 3 with ball, left) scored twice and rushed for 128 yards leading Lyman to a 27-0 victory over Lake Howell in a Class 6A-District 5 game at the Carlton D. Henley Sports Complex last Friday. The Greyhounds, who had already clinched the district championship, are now 7-2 overall and finish a perfect 5-0 in district play.

Sand holes and mud bottoms = winter fish

Special to the Herald

Sand holes here, sand holes there, sand holes everywhere.

When the winter air cools off the water, fish become lethargic. Think about the things we do when it gets cold. We bundle up, move slower, eat less and stay under the covers.

Fish react similar so to speak. Fish will look for warmer areas to hide or rest. They will relate to cover, such as grass. Grass will hold the heat and radiate to warm the surrounding water.

You can find sand holes surrounded by grass and the sand holes are usually deeper. These areas will hold the heat and warm up faster. Trout and redfish will hang around these areas once they move in from their night time hangout in deeper water. As the sun rises and warms these areas the fish will move to the grass and sand holes. They will hang out there and wait for some food to swim by or root in the grass to ambush bait.

Mud bottoms also are areas of interest to fish because they will also hold heat and warm the areas. I have seen trout buried in the mud using it as a blanket on really cold days. The winter time bite is usually later in the day so on those real cold days you don't have to hit the water as early.

Now that you know some areas to look for on the flats, here are some tactics that will help you catch more fish. Find areas which bait is active and plentiful. Once you have found the bait, try to "match the hatch". Slow See Fishing, Page 16

SCC women rally to win opener

SANFORD — Scores can definitely be misleading.

For almost three quarters of Sunday's game, the Seminole Community College women's basketball team looked like it was doomed to drop its season-opener.

But as quickly as you could say Danielle Jenkins the Raiders took the lead for good and rolled to an 81-70 victory over Miami-Dade Community College at the SCC Health and Physical Education Center.

Jenkins, a freshman guard from Savannah, Georgia, came off the bench to score 16 second half points and ignite an SCC press that took the Sharks right out of the game.

The Raiders, under second-year head coach Lisa Nuxol, showed first game jitters as they fell behind 10-0 at the outset to M-DCC, which had opened its season the night before at Daytona Beach Community College.

SCC finally calmed down and closed to within 38-32 at halftime behind a balanced attack that saw six players score between three and eight points, led by freshman Abena Bostia.

The Raiders continued to cut into the lead in the second half behind the steady play of Stetson transfer and Winter Springs graduate Missy Guadagnino and Lake Mary's Bryn Mosler, who was playing her first game since taking a year off, finally taking a lead with 15:15 left to play.

But each time SCC would take the lead, the Sharks would have the answer and quickly regain the advantage.

In fact, the Raiders never had the lead and the ball until their was less than 10 minutes to go.

But with Jenkins' intensity and quickness leading the charge, the hosts finally gained the upper hand and slowly See Women, Page 15

Raiders run past Panthers

SANFORD — Seminole Community College men's basketball coach Stan Cromartie unleashed the thoroughbreds Saturday.

With only one sophomore on his 15-man roster, Cromartie unveiled a high-octane pressing and running attack that got out of the gate fast and never let up as the Raiders rolled over visiting Palm Beach Community College, 91-71, in the season opener at the SCC Health and Physical Education Center.

"I think we're going to be all right," said an elated Cromartie after the game. "And when we get some of the others (five players were out with injuries and paperwork problems) back, we could really be good."

The only returning player from last year's 22-10 squad, Rushawn Johnson, knocked down a three-pointer for the first points of the season and SCC built a 9-0 lead before the Panthers from Lake Worth could get on the board.

The visitors made several runs at the Raiders, but could never get closer than six points the rest of the game.

SCC had three players, Johnson (12), Travis "TJ" Jones (10) and Vince Mosley (10), in double figures at halftime and another, Thomas Williams, with nine as the hosts See Men, Page 15
