JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — A Negro attorney filed court proceedings today to make certain the city could not sell its two unused golf courses below appraised values.

The city received two bids for the golf courses Tuesday afternoon but neither were within $100,000 of the appraised value.

Both courses have been closed for six months to avert integration.

Negro attorney Ernest A. Jackson, who filed the original suit which ultimately led to the closing of the courses, said Tuesday he would seek an injunction to keep the city from selling. Another Negro, Frank Hampton, said proceedings would be filed today either in circuit or U. S. district court.

Meantime, the city has not said if any of the bids met its qualifications.

The city stipulated at first it would accept no bids lower than the par value of the courses. But when no bids were offered, the city put the courses up for sale again at any price with a provision it could decide if the bids were sufficient.

Bids of $205,000 and $208,000 were offered for the Hyde Park course, appraised at $500,000. The Brentwood course, valued at $408,000, drew bids of $193,000 and $280,000.

Browns Favored In Pro Grid Play

United Press International

The Browns, eager for their first year crack at the only team ever to deserve them of a slice of National Football League title game money, are three-point favorites to defeat the New York Giants Sunday at Cleveland.

The San Francisco Forty-Niners and Packers, only NFL teams with perfect records after the first two weeks of play, clash at Green Bay, Coach Vince Lombardi's Packers are four-point favorites to win.

In Sunday's other pairings, the Baltimore Colts are six-point choices to tame the Lions at Detroit; the Bears are favored over the Los Angeles Rams by seven at Chicago; the Eagles are favored over the Pittsburgh Steelers by two at Philadelphia; and the Chicago Cardinals-Wedding game at Washington is rated a tossup.

Need Tame Deer

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — A major Hollywood studio is looking for a big, tame brown bear to wrestle with actor Robert Ryan in the filming of an Alaskan novel. "Unless they find a bear tame enough to satisfy me, they're going to have to get a man in Bob Ryan's skin for this fight," the actor said.

THE GRACEFUL sweep of Buick's sculptured styling is epitomized in the Electra 225 four-door hardtop, the most luxurious model in the Buick line. The exquisite styling of the Electra 225 has been enhanced by a luxurious brushed aluminum panel that extends along the bottom of the car from the front wheel housing to the rear bumper. All Electra series models carry the four ventiports on the front fenders to distinguish them from the other series. New features on all 1960 Buicks include a new transverse muffler which replaces the two mufflers previously used on cars equipped with dual exhaust systems. Also new is an adjustable instrument panel, the first in the automotive industry, which the driver can set to the viewing position most suited to his height.

Pardon Board Turns Down Negro Clemency Pleas In Rape Cases

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Two Negroes under the death sentence for raping white women in Pinellas County have had their clemency pleas turned down by the State Pardon Board.

State Atty. Clair Davis went before the board Tuesday to personally oppose commutation of sentence for John Edward Paul, 24, and Willie George City, who was described as having an "irresistible" yearning for women, regardless of color.

Paul was convicted for raping a 47-year-old Clearwater grandmother. Davis said Paul had a criminal record from the time he was 10 years old and had carried with him since he was 14 "the idea of raping a white woman."

Harold A. Jackson of Tampa, Paul's attorney, said Paul would not have received the death penalty had he not been a Negro.

City's attorney, M. H. Jones, claimed City did not understand what he was admitting when he signed a confession.

However, Davis said City had admitted five other rapes in the same area as the assault for which he was convicted.

Gov. LeRoy Collins will set execution dates for the Negroes at a later date.

Storm Winds, Rain Cross Pensacola

PENSACOLA, Fla. (UPI) — The center of Tropical Storm Irene slammed into Pensacola early today, raking the city with 55 mile an hour winds and heavy rains. Damage appeared to be light. No injuries or deaths were reported.

The Weather Bureau said the remnants of the poorly-defined storm would sweep into northern Alabama and Georgia during the day, dumping up to five inches of rain in some sections. Winds were diminishing to 30 to 35 miles an hour gusts as Irene moved inland.

The center of the storm hit this northwest Florida city shortly after dawn, and weather observers said they could not detect any calm "eye" which is characteristic of a well defined tropical storm.

The highest gusts of 55 miles an hour were clocked five hours before the center hit the mainland. Forecasters said damage apparently was no more than in a good-sized windstorm.

The gusts knocked down a few trees and wires, tore up shrubs, ripped awnings and propelled small debris for short distances. The storm apparently had little effect on everyday life here. Schools were open as usual and all businesses were expected to function with no delay for cleanup. Civilian employees at the nearby Pensacola Naval Air Station were told by radio to report as usual to work.

Irene moved inland on the Northwest Florida peninsula on a 200-mile front, roughly from a little west of Pensacola east to Apalachicola. The highest gusts occurred between Pensacola and Panama City. Tides were generally low along the coast, ranging from about one to three feet above normal, the Weather Bureau said. No flooding was reported, although high waves tossed some sand on some roads just off the beach.

Meanwhile, gale warnings remained displayed from Pensacola to Cedar Key in Florida, and all craft from Pensacola to Punta Gorda, Fla., were advised to remain in port. Irene was moving in a northwesterly direction as it moved inland.

The New Orleans Weather Bureau said tides five feet above normal would occur in the Apalachee bay area east of here. Tides of two to three feet over normal were predicted for the entire sweep of Gulf coast from the Mississippi Sound to the Tampa Bay area down the Florida peninsula.

A three-foot tide would flood the low beaches and islands in many of the summer homes along the Fort Walton Beach - Panama City resort stretch.

Police Guarding New York Judge

NEW YORK (UPI) — Police today maintained a close guard around Kings County Judge Samuel Liebowitz following a series of telephoned and written threats to kill him for blaming Puerto Ricans for most of New York's juvenile delinquency.

A 24-hour personal police bodyguard was assigned to Liebowitz Wednesday by Police Commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy.

Liebowitz, in a telephone conversation with Kennedy, referred to numerous threats against his life since he testified two weeks ago before a Senate subcommittee investigating juvenile delinquency.

Liebowitz has denied that he singled out Puerto Ricans as most responsible for the wave of juvenile delinquency. He has claimed that his statements to the congressional probes were "mangled and distorted" by "certain papers."

However, Liebowitz said he favored a one-year residency law to discourage immigrant "changers" from coming to New York and going immediately on relief.

Collins Concedes Talking Politics

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Gov. LeRoy Collins conceded today that he talked "politics" over the week-end with Sen. Doyle Carlton Jr. of Washington, who is considered one of the leading candidates for governor in 1950.

Collins went fishing with Carlton while the senator was here for Legislative Appreciation Day.

"Most of the time we were fishing, but we did get around to talking a little about politics," Collins said.

The average missed was about 10 in the "upset" weekend just passed. Mr. and Mrs. Young also entered the contest but just didn't have their children's "savvy." (Staff Photo)

Chase Marks 75th Year With Services To 350 Markets In America, Europe

By JACK PHILLIPS

Observing its 75th anniversary this year, Chase and Company of Sanford can boast of service to 350 markets in nearly all the United States in Canada, and parts of Europe.

The company recently published a color brochure recounting its history in the Sanford area and relating details of its growth. Chase and Company is the second oldest firm here, with only Hill Lumber and Supply Yard, now marking its 90th year, preceding it on the local scene.

In 1874 Sydney and Joshua Chase founded the company which packed the first trainload of celery to leave Sanford, and which now employs more than 200 people.

Chase and Company's first activities were selling fire insurance, fertilizers, and growers' supplies. The firm's first office was in the building now occupied by the Florida State Bank.

Chase's total citrus and vegetable production now runs over two million packages yearly. These are drawn from more than 5,000 acres and gross over $1 1/2 million dollars per year.

Sydney Chase's sons, Randall and Sydney are president and vice president of the corporation. Chase and Company has its own fruit and vegetable fields and also buys and processes produce grown by independent growers.

Cabbage, celery, lettuce, escarole and cauliflower are the Chase vegetable staples sold to northern customers. Celery is still the firm's main vegetable commodity, representing about 750,000 packages annually. Vegetables come principally from the Sanford-Oviedo-Zellwood area, with celery also coming from Palmetto.

Citrus growing and packing has been a Chase mainstay except for a brief period after the 1924 freeze. The company citrus department employs 200 people in an operation which runs from growing through picking, packaging and marketing. Chase also markets peaches at Marshville, Ga. Chase and Company fertilizers and agricultural chemical products are now distributed statewide.

The new fertilizer plant was built last year. Wholesale building materials are available through Chase, which now supplies these materials to retail dealers in 11 counties. Cement, paints, brick, fencing, pipe, nails and roofing materials are handled through the Sanford firm.

The freeze of 1894-95 almost knocked out the Florida citrus industry. Surviving a low ebb in agricultural fortunes, Chase received William R. Harney as a partner just before the turn of the century. A Jacksonville office was opened in 1904, and in 1914 the company was incorporated.

The insurance business was sold just before World War I, so that full time could be devoted to Chase's agricultural and growers' supply interests. Most of the company's citrus business was disposed of just before 1930. Chase marketed its remaining citrus through the Florida Citrus Exchange for the next five years, after which it resumed its own marketing. The fertilizer and growers' supply business was developing during this period.

"Believing that honesty begets honesty, and trust begets trust, the personnel have created a way of business that has served well," President Randall Chase said in an anniversary statement.

Nikita Goner?

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — Evangelist Billy Graham says Nikita Khrushchev will go to hell.

Graham, speaking to the second service of his month-long crusade here, spoke to the Russian Premier as though he were present.

"Mr. Khrushchev, despite all you say about not believing in God, some day you and all your kind will call upon Him," Graham said.

"But the tragedy is that some day it will be too late to pray. Our prayers are to be prayed this side of the grave."

Dock Strike Injunction Asked By Government

NEW YORK (UPI) — An assistant U. S. attorney general was enroute here today to file a Taft-Hartley injunction in federal district court to halt the dock strike.

Eighty-five thousands striking longshoremen appeared all but certain to be ordered back to work today.

President Eisenhower late Wednesday night ordered Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers to seek the injunction at once. He acted on the strength of a federal fact-finders report that the Maine to Texas strike was curtailing delivery of food and fuel to 22 million persons.

Reached at his home here, William V. Bradley, president of the International Longshoremen's Association, said "If the president of the United States signs the Taft-Hartley Act, we will comply with it."

It tied with the 1936 ILA strike for the swiftest pre-injunction procedure in the 12-year history of the Taft-Hartley Act.

The three-man fact-finding board had been appointed only Tuesday. It held a 90-minute public hearing Wednesday at which spokesmen for both sides blamed each other for the strike, rushed to complete its report, then flew

Blast Fear Drives 400 Families Out

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Emergency crews, fearing an explosion or a series of blasts, evacuated between 300 and 400 families from a three mile radius of a gas pipeline eruption early today.

Fumes blanketed the entire area of this populous state capital city.

Police, firemen and servicemen from Bergstrom Air Force Base, some of them forced to wear gas masks, rushed through the danger area warning residents to shut off all pilot lights in stoves and water heaters and to leave the area quickly.

Police Capt. O. H. Ludwig said as many as 1,000 families may be forced to leave their homes before the situation is brought under control.

A strong southerly wind was blowing (the fumes) into the downtown area, and Ludwig said the danger of explosion was "rapidly moving toward the downtown area."

Officials said there was a second danger from the gas. Rescue crews were finding many persons still asleep as they made a house to house canvass of the danger area. They explained propane gas acts like a "sleeping gas" and

Three Badly Hurt As Car Hits Group Of Children

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — A speeding car veered out of control in front of a high school today and plowed into a group of students awaiting the morning bell, injuring three of them. The driver, apparently shocked by the grisly scene, died moments later of a heart attack.

Two 13-year-old girls were seriously injured. A 15-year-old boy suffered lacerated injuries.

A dozen other pupils clustered on the sidewalk across the street from the entrance to Wilson Memorial High School averted injury by jumping out of the way of the careening car.

Police theorized the driver, W. Stewart Hunt, 48-year-old business machine salesman, may have suffered a mild heart attack at the wheel of the car and lost control.

They said he apparently had another, more severe seizure after the accident which led to his death.

The seriously injured girls were identified as Katharine Healey and Carol McKay. The injured boy, David Ferguson, 13, was reported in fair condition at a hospital.

Pete Woodward, 13, a patrol boy on duty in front of the school, gave this description of the accident:

"I was standing at my post and I saw this green '50 car coming down the street and I lowered my flag to stop it. But the car shot over the curbing and I saw the driver's head fall back and then he hit the two girls.

"He hit one girl head-on and the other one he knocked into the street. He hit the boy on the leg and it looked like it was broken.

"That's all I remember because I got dizzy and sick."

Schools In Good Financial Shape

The Seminole County School Board's auditor has found the financial condition of the schools good and their financial records well kept, Superintendent L. T. Milwee told the board this morning.

Seminole schools handled $133,193.75 in their general fund during the 1958-59 year, auditor Roger Harris said in his report. Ten years ago they handled $64,937.98.

A school's general fund consists of money gained from athletic contests, trust funds and class activities. Pupils in the county spent $270,003.84 for lunches during the past school year, Harris reported.

A good financial condition means that the schools lived within their budgets, Milwee said.

County school population has made a 21.4 per cent jump over the same period last year, Milwee told the board. There are now 1,867 more pupils in Seminole schools than there were last October. That number of students would fill two schools the size of Pinecrest Elementary, the superintendent pointed out.

Out-of-state residents attached to the military, who send children to Seminole schools now number 1,500, Milwee said. Schools get approximately $75 per child per year tuition under public laws 874 and 815.

School Administrative Assistant Walter Teague has been studying new reports in Orlando on congressional appropriations and provisions under these laws.

Funeral Rites Saturday

Storm's Backlash Sends Red Tide Onto Beaches

ST. PETERSBURG (UPI)—Tropical storm Irma's backlash sent more fish killed by the red tide onto Florida's West Coast beaches today.

The Tampa Weather Bureau said only westerly breezes and higher-than-normal tides could be expected to prevail through the day.

Beached fish carcasses began washing ashore at St. Petersburg Beach and the Keys off Sarasota Wednesday night.

Meanwhile, State Marine Biologist Dr. Robert F. Hutton warned persons not to eat the fish caught in waters contaminated by the tide. He said there was a possibility such fish could cause death to humans.

Hutton explained that a "first season" of the micro-organisms which cause the tide may be present in infected waters. This process, called dinoflagellates, has caused death to persons in Puerto Rico, Tex., and Hutton said.

He added that no fish caught in contaminated waters should be eaten, especially any form of shellfish.

The westerly winds were discouraging in West Coast beach dwellers, since easterly breezes earlier Wednesday showed signs of moving the acres of floating carcasses farther out into the Gulf of Mexico and away from the beaches.

This is the first outbreak of the tide since 1937. It is caused by concentrations of micro-organisms, Gyrodinium aureolum, nicknamed "Jim Brevis," which usually under favorable conditions and kill fish by secreting a neurotoxin that paralyzes their respiratory organs. Their concentrations color the water a rusty red.

Hutton said the dinoflagellates, a cousin of Jim Brevis, may or may not be present in the infected water. But he warned fish-eaters not to take a chance.

Worry Clinic

Erskine Gallant is typical of those efficient business leaders who use newspaper advertising to help benefit both their own companies, as well as the general public. America leads the world largely because we are the greatest advertising people on earth. Our "revolution" of new products contrasts with the "stagnation" typical of non-advertising countries.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE, CASH C-661. Erskine Gallant, aged 58, is a successful merchant who proves the value of newspaper advertising.

"Dr. Crane," said Wilton Hall, the publisher of the newspapers at Anderson, South Carolina, "Mr. Gallant has run a display advertisement in our papers for more than 14,750 consecutive days.

"That's over 40 years. Meanwhile, he has built up a chain of big department stores that now total 38, and which cover several states.

"Mr. Gallant is diligent, shrewd in money matters, but one of the most generous backers of all civic and moral projects.

"He has thus been a main spark plug in building our Memorial Hospital, and is a pillar of the First Presbyterian Church.

"But he attributes his business success in a large degree to regular newspaper advertising."

"Dr. Crane," said Dr. Erskine Gallant, "doesn't advertising just make us pay more for goods?"

"For the cost of those ads in newspapers, or on radio and TV must be paid by us consumers, in the long run."

"At first glance, this argument may sound valid, but advertising actually gives us merchandise at LOWER prices.

"For advertising creates such a large volume of demand, that mass production methods in agriculture or manufacturing then pull down the actual unit price of the goods.

"About 20 years ago, for example, oranges were a luxury, usually sold at Christmas. Their price was very high.

"Then a big advertising campaign was launched to sell us Americans on the value of fruit juices at breakfast.

"Soon we included orange juice as a standard breakfast item, and the tremendous volume of business actually lowered the price of oranges.

"The same thing has been true of clothing and other department store items. In fact, the former custom-built automobiles, toolled by hand, were far higher in price than are modern cars, even though we live in an inflation age.

"The United States is the greatest go-getter, advertising nation on earth:

Congas, gongs and a jazz quartet were present, but no clergyman. The couple legalized vows before a judge in line with California law.

New Reform Bill Expected To Aid Labor Legislation

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy (D-Minn.) said today the passage of the labor reform bill this year may help pre-labor legislation get through Congress next year.

He said some members of Congress who voted for a tougher reform bill than union leaders wanted probably would be anxious to do something to balance the ledger before the 1960 elections.

McCarthy said this "backlash" from the reform bill might give a boost to such labor-backed measures as legislation to fix federal standards for unemployment compensation.

He mentioned this possibility in commenting on the completion of the first phase of a special Senate committee study of unemployment which got underway this week.

The committee, headed by McCarthy, plans to follow up the hearings here with trips to various U. S. areas which have failed to keep pace with the nation's general economic growth.

The committee will move into Pennsylvania next week for hearings Wednesday at Uniontown and Thursday at Wilkes-Barre. These communities have been hurt by the coal industry slump. On Oct. 25, the committee will visit Altoona, Pa., one of the railroad centers hit hard by declining rail traffic.

The group also is expected to conduct hearings in Michigan, Minnesota, West Virginia and possibly other states during the congressional recess. It is supposed to have a report ready by the end of next January.

McCarthy said the on-the-spot hearings possibly will generate pressure behind proposed legislation to provide federal assistance for depressed areas.

He said area redevelopment and increased unemployment compensation likely would be included in the committee's recommendations. He said the group also might make four or five suggestions in the tax field, such as allowing deductions for expenses incurred when a jobless worker moves his family to a new locality to find employment.

LAUNCH PROBE INTO ROCKET FUEL BLAST—Two men died and five were injured when 1,000 pounds of high-powered rocket fuel exploded at the Hercules Powder Company in Kenil, N. J. Two explosions shook the area, sending mushroom-like clouds into the sky and overturning a protective bunker on the two victims. Fires were touched off near the destroyed mixing plant and storage sheds. Company officials will sift this wreckage to determine what made rocket fuel explode.

DCT Program Explained

Seminole High's Diversified Cooperative Training System was explained to Sanford Kiwanians at a Civic Center luncheon yesterday.

DCT coordinator Louis Girard said his intention is to correlate his 21 student class to reality, to show them the business world as it really is. The students attend classes at Seminole High in the morning and work in the afternoon.

Pupils in the DCT program fill out time cards and make daily personal columns as part of their class work, Girard said. They must account for all daily income and expenses and balance these figures against previous estimates at the month's end. A general report on anything of news value is presented by each student once a week.

The daily program for DCT students starts at 7:45 with an hour of general business training.

Two hours of academic classes begin at 8:45. Following that is a specific period for study directed to each pupil's job in the business world. Textbooks used range from shorthand and commercial law to electricity and carpentry, Girard told the Kiwanians. Each morning a student lists his activities during the previous afternoon's job period. DCT pupils put in a full eight-hour day, five days per week and sometimes on Saturdays, Girard said.

Employers may voice criticism of their student employees every six weeks by filling out a grading form. Pupils are graded in school, weekly, on their budgets. Sticking to a schedule, and making up an accurate budget form part of a pupil's weekly class work. Written tests are also given.

Seventy per cent of the Seminole DCT students stay in the profession for which they were trained, the coordinator pointed out. He said that normal wages on which to start one of these teenagers are the beginning wage in an industry of one dollar per hour if a business is engaged in interstate commerce. Girard explained that his job is to bring the idea of diversified cooperative training home to Sanford businessmen. Talks with employees, interviews and placements of students must be made constantly the coordinator explained.

Overeating Hastened Lanza's Death

ROME (UPI)—Friends speculated today that overeating and drastic reducing cures possibly hastened the death of Mario Lanza, the temperamental tenor many admirers ranked second only to the immortal Enrico Caruso.

Lanza died Wednesday at the age of 38 in the Giulia Clinic here. He had been in the hospital about a week.

An announcement from the clinic said the American-born singer "died of arterial hypertension with complications. He had been receiving normal methods of treatment."

Lanza had been suffering from a heart ailment for some time. A close friend said he died of a heart attack complicated by hypertension and phlebitis—blood clots in the legs.

But a number of sources said Lanza entered the clinic to lose weight for his third Italian film since he starred out of Hollywood in the legs.

The Rome newspaper Momento-Sera headlined: "Mario Lanza killed by reducing cure." It said he was undergoing a 14-day treatment to reduce his weight from 225 to 190 pounds.

Lanza long had been fighting a battle against overeating. Between movies, he lived on a grand scale, eating gargantuan meals. He once said he could gain 10 pounds a week "without trying."

His weight, which often ran as high as 300 pounds, worried friends and business associates. Before he could go to work in a picture, he would have to go on a rigid diet. But in more than one of his Hollywood-made films, he would be noticeably heavier in some scenes than in others.

A household spokesman said that no funeral arrangements had yet been made. Mrs. Lanza, the former Betty Hicks, whom he married in 1945, remained secluded in their 15-room mansion. Their four children were sent to friends at a nearby beach resort.

Critic Finds Musical To His Liking

By FRED DANING

NEW YORK (UPI)—What are those words the critics tack on to those uninhibited Broadway musicals? "Loud," "tuneful," "fast moving?"

Let's borrow them to describe "The Wonderful World of Entertainment." Tuesday night's premier in NBC-TV startime series of specials.

This 90-minute show should have pleased any tired businessman in the TV audience, as well as any tired housewife and laboring man. I know it pleased one tired TV reviewer.

Bits and pieces of familiar show business landmarks were taped and telescoped together, giving loud—very loud—happy arrangements, and were received with raucous (pre-recorded?) applause and/or laughter. The show sustained interest for the full 90 minutes.

There was only one break in the happy-go-lucky mood that came when Rosalind Russell, the hostess of the show, joined Arthur O'Connell in a dramatic scene from "Picnic." Earlier, Miss Russell went through some lightening-fast costume changes, narrated nostalgic highlights of silent movies and radio, joined Ernie Kovacs in a slick but rather tame spoof of her own motion picture roles. She was the career girl; Kovacs the cynical reporter. Said Miss Russell: "No man likes a woman whose shoulders are bigger than his."

The memory-jogging tidbits poured forth, mostly in songs by Katie Smith, Polly Bergen and Maurice Chevalier. Eddie Foy Jr. did his superb vaudeville dances and participated in a delightfully abandoned "get happy" number. The highlight of the show was a ballet that satirized cowboy movies. It combined youthful dash, humor, style and beauty.

Since Miss Russell made it clear that the show was "a light-hearted affectionate look" at entertainment, who can quibble. Misison accomplished. Hubbell Robinson, the anxious executive producer of this Tuesday night series, is off to a good start.

The Channel 5 series Meet Mr. Lincoln, the highly-acclaimed NBC-TV half-hour film profile of the martyred President, is set for a repeat showing next Feb. 11. The Sunday, Oct. 11, return of the CBS-TV series, Leonard Bernstein and the New York Philharmonic, will include a brief talk by lawyer-actor Joseph Welch on citizenship and filmed appearances by Russian author Boris Pasternak and composer Dmitri Shostakovich. The musical portion of the program will be a film concert by the orchestra in Moscow.

A three-part series explaining the Mass begins on NBC-TV's Catholic Hour this Sunday. A future CBS-TV Small World show will find England's Field Marshal Montgomery, America's Gen. Mark Clark and Germany's Field Marshal von Senger chatting about World War II battle strategy. NBC-TV's Riverboat stars filming a new episode this week indicating satisfaction with the Sunday adventure series' progress.

Iraqi Capital Placed Under Military Control

BEIRUT (UPI) — The tense Iraqi capital city of Baghdad was reported under tight military control today following an attempt to kill Premier Abdel Karim Kassem.

Kassem, shot three times Wednesday by a gunman identified only as a "wicked hand," left his bed to assure a crowd that he was alive. He issued repeated calls for national calmness.

Baghdad radio said today his condition "is as good as could be expected."

Military Governor General Ahmed Salah Abdi clamped a 9 p.m. to 5 a.m. curfew on the ancient capital city. Throughout Iraq strict bans were placed on street crowds and demonstrations.

Kassem spoke to the crowd from his balcony at the Defense Ministry Wednesday to assure them the gunman had failed.

The shooting was the first known attempt on Kassem's life since he seized power in July 1958. The street ambush occurred 17 days after the execution of leaders of the abortive Mosul uprising last March. There had been several demonstrations against the executions.

It was not known whether the assassination attempt was the work of one or several persons, nor was there any official word as to whether any arrests had been made.

Chief Honored At Air Station

Chief Lawrence E. Leeper of Osteen was piped over the side in a Sanford Naval Air Station retirement ceremony Tuesday.

"I know of no other one man who has contributed more to the advancement of the Heavy Attack Wing One weapon system than Chief Leeper," said Heavy Attack commander, Captain James D. Ramage, during the retirement ceremony.

The Legion of Merit was awarded Chief Leeper this past July for his achievements in the field of radar target intelligence. The chief has served in heavy attack units since August, 1950. His last duty was in the Air Intelligence section of the staff ComBatWing One. Mr. and Mrs. Leeper will remain at their Osteen home.

School Bells Ring At State Prison

ATTICA, N. Y. (UPI) — Attica State Prison had its biggest year — education-wise — in 1959.

Fifty-six inmates received high school equivalency diplomas from Warden Dr. Walter B. Martin at special ceremonies inside the prison walls. That made a total of 379 men who have qualified for such diplomas over an 11-year period.

Joseph P. Buckley, who directs the prison education program, noted there were 256 inmates enrolled in classroom courses this year and 410 others are taking study courses through correspondence.

"That's about 38 per cent of the prison's population," remarked Buckley.

TV Investigators Planning To Call '21' Star

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congressional investigators of alleged TV quiz show fixing indicated today that Charles Van Doren, who gained national fame as a $129,000 winner on NBC's "21" program might be invited to testify.

The House subcommittee scheduled a public hearing today on CBS' "Dotto", another of the now-defunct quiz programs, after questioning the co-producer of "21" and his aide into the early morning hours behind closed doors.

Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark.) said the two witnesses, co-producer Dan Enright and Albert Freedman, were "very cooperative." But he refused to divulge their testimony or say whether they would be asked to appear at an open hearing. Harris said the hearings might end late Friday.

Rep. Peter F. Mark Jr. (D-Ill.) asked if Van Doren would be invited to testify—said: "We want to hear from anyone whose name has been mentioned by other witnesses—if he wishes to testify."

Van Doren sent a telegram to the subcommittee Wednesday saying he would be available to repeat his statements that he never had been supplied with questions or answers in advance and had no knowledge of any assistance given to other contestants.

Edward Kletter, vice president and advertising director of Pharmaceuticals Inc., which sponsored "21", has testified he approved a $3,000 advance to Van Doren when the former Columbia University professor had piled up $21,000 in quiz winnings.

The contestant could have lost his winnings in subsequent competition. But he also had the option of stopping while still ahead.

Van Doren now holds a $50,000-a-year contract with NBC which runs through next August. He was given a talent contract by the network after he won nationwide fame.

Herbert Stempel, $19,500 winner and champion of the "21" show before being defeated by Van Doren, has testified that Enright instructed him to lose.

In another development Wednesday night, the subcommittee was told that the producer of the NBC show Tic Tac Dough was fired because he refused to swear to the network that contestants had not been given advance answers.

NBC Vice President Thomas E. Ervin made the surprise disclosure. The show is still on the air. Ervin identified the ousted producer as Howard Felsher.

Davis who is now president but will become chairman of the board in January. The officers were chosen in August and September, and the directors in September.

A total of 317,000 tourists visited Egypt in 1958.

Sweet Revenge Won By Farmer

SPRINGVILLE, N. Y. (UPI) — Police chief John Barbus tells how one farmer cured a sneak thief of helping himself to motor fuel from a barnyard gas pump.

The farmer poured a cupful of granulated sugar into the nozzle of the pump hose. The next day it was learned that a youth's car "mysteriously" developed engine trouble and needed an expensive overhaul.

Plastic Bag Safety

Business Women Have Their Week

Members of the Business and Professional Women's Club here are joining the national observance of their "week" this week and deserve a salute.

This has been a woman's world for quite awhile and the fact is that the gals do a pretty good job of running it. Women are doing about every kind of job there is to be done and have proved their abilities as executives, politicians, educators, bookkeepers, clerks and in other occupations.

The business woman's organization provided the newspaper with ample material this week to prove that members here in Sanford are upholding the national standard as far as diversity and proficiency are concerned. The woman's page has contained several pictures of them at work—as teachers, bookkeepers, clerks and in other occupations.

They're giving some good lessons in versatility—most of them making homes for growing families in addition to working.

More power to the Business and Professional Women's Club as it continues to point out to us that the hand that rocks the cradle can rock anything else it wants to—and that includes just about everything these days.

Farm Census Scheduled This Month, November

By CECIL A. TUCKER, H. County Agriculture Agent

The big 1959 census, the Agricultural Census, gets started soon. "America's most basic industry" will be weighed and measured and proved to find out how much it has grown, and in what directions.

Let's take a look at what the census will do. Dr. E. W. Case of the Florida Agricultural Extension Service says that, generally speaking, the census of agriculture will count all farms and agricultural operations carried on in the United States during 1958.

It will collect information on the number and size of farms, acreage and harvest of crops, livestock production and inventories, selected farm facilities, selected farm expenditures, farm values, and mortgage debt. This information is to be published for counties, states and the nation.

Major changes are going on in agriculture as farm people adjust to economic growth and progress. The last five years has been a period of rapid adjustment and only by conducting a nationwide farm census can we obtain a true measure of these changes and indicate their nature. This census will be conducted by the Bureau of the Census, U. S. Department of Commerce, in October and November. Farms will be visited again in April, 1960, when the 18th

WASHINGTON—It was one of those Khrushchev incidents some people would rather forget.

The Soviet Premier was due back at Blair House any moment from his cross-country junket. A crowd had gathered.

Two helicopters circled low over the guest house. Keen-eyed security men scanned the horizon and the landscape of buildings below. The agents in one chopper spied a solitary figure on the roof of a hotel across the street. It was a man who sat motionless at the rim of the sun deck.

Suddenly, the late afternoon sun caught the glint of the metallic object in the man's right hand.

The vast retinue of Secret Service men, FBI agents and State Department security officers and local police had done a masterful job up to then in guarding Nikita S. Khrushchev. And now what the low-flying police saw spelled but one thing: Get to that man immediately.

The air-to-ground radio crackled. In moments, three plainclothesmen—a captain and two other officers—were racing to the Lafayette Hotel. They shot to the 11th floor and battered open the double doors, locked from the other side, leading to the rooftop.

Nelson Santman, the hotel's engineer, was there, and greeted the officers. The captain introduced himself, and the other two officers, with guns drawn, slipped back around the penthouse.

"Have you seen a man with a gun?" inquired the captain. Santman replied, "No, what type of gun did he have—a pistol or shotgun?" The captain said he didn't know.

The hotel engineer then joined them in scouring the roof. But there was no man there with a gun.

Two of the officers left, and one detective remained on the roof with Santman to watch the Khrushchev arrival.

Santman sank back into his deck chair to view the proceedings and went on doing what he had been doing before the police came intruding after a day's work with

Washington Calling

By HAROLD CHILES

WASHINGTON—Until the British elections are over and President Eisenhower returns from his root cure there can be no serious consideration of when a summit meeting should be held.

The President is expected to carry on a personal exchange of letters with General Charles DeGaulle, President of France, on the terms and circumstances of a summit meeting. It is regarded as unlikely by top officials here that it can come before the first of the year because of the need of coordinating closely with America's allies.

On the other hand, everyone from Secretary of State Christian Herter on down is keenly aware of the fragile nature of the agreement reached between President Eisenhower and Premier Khrushchev. There is real concern that an incident—a fire-rioting speech out of the Pentagon for example—could disrupt or even destroy what was achieved in the Camp David talks. The pressure consequently is to get on with the job and advance to a second state with specific agreement on Berlin rewritten by all four powers.

Herter and State Department policy-makers are aware, too, of how short a time remains to make use of what they regard as one of the nation's greatest assets. This is President Eisenhower's personal appeal to peoples everywhere and their leaders. Little more than nine months remain before the politics of 1960 dominate the American scene and the President will already stand in the shadow of retirement. In the months he has been Secretary of State, Herter has built heavily on this asset. He was the chief inspirer and planner of the President's European tour, which included personal talks with DeGaulle, Macmillan and Chancellor Adenauer of West Germany.

A close relationship has grown up between Eisenhower and Herter, although they were virtually strangers to each other until six months ago. It was during a night session at the White House when the two men were talking in the President's study after the first session of the Geneva foreign ministers' meeting had ended in deadlock that the decision was taken to invite Khrushchev to visit America.

Herter at that time expressed to Eisenhower the opinion that little was likely to result when the talks were resumed at Geneva. He also was of the opinion that the danger of war, whether by design or accident in the Berlin crisis, was far greater than the public in this country or anywhere in the West understood. Therefore, it was essential to take some move which would keep the negotiations going and a visit to the United States by Khrushchev seemed the surest means.

While there were some sharp differences expressed with complete frankness, the Khrushchev-Eisenhower talks were a conspicuous success. They established an understanding between the two men, and this must be used in the months ahead to establish a firm foundation on which Eisenhower's successor can continue the prolonged negotiations for settlement of the outstanding issues of the cold war.

This is the view Herter has stressed to his associates in all discussion of what comes next. It seemed to him justification of his conviction of the importance of the President having personal and private talks not only with Khrushchev but other world leaders. Herter's predecessor, John Foster Dulles, always held the opposite view and opposed such personal meetings.

The earnest hope is that the appeal of the President's personal appeal will be used in a visit to Pakistan and India and perhaps at the same time to Iran before he leaves office. The difficulty is, of course, that when it is indicated he may visit one capital the pressure to go to a dozen others is immediately great.

In his private talks with both Adenauer and DeGaulle in the late summer the President achieved more in understanding than could have been done in months of ordinary diplomatic exchange. This is Herter's deep conviction, and he is determined now that the forward motion given by the series of visits that began on August 26 in Germany shall be translated into formal agreement.

One of the presents Khrushchev brought Eisenhower was a double-barreled shotgun of Russian make

Wooden Car Tests To Road Signals

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—Two Ohio State University researchers here recently took turns racing a wooden car over a curving indoor road in an effort to find out the safest location for highway billboards and traffic signs.

Their electric-powered car—looking something like a scapox tractor—carried them down a 64-foot winding plywood tunnel at a speed of 2.4 miles an hour—the equivalent of a trip along 1,337 feet of highway at 60 miles an hour.

Two tracing pens—one attached to the auto's steering gear and the other to a mechanism recording the course of the highway—told on paper how well the driver had followed the twisting road while reading a sign placed behind a wall at the far end of the tunnel.

The record also showed how long it took the driver to read the sign and the distance the auto traveled while the driver's mind was concentrated on the sign rather than the road.

Known as the Old Corner Bookstore building, it has stood at Washington and School streets in downtown Boston since 1712. During the 19th century it was the literary center of Boston, being frequented by Longfellow, Whit-tier, Hawthorne and others.

WE TOOK one of the larger

1,000 jobs loaded with 21,000 pounds of gravel in a dump body over a worn out gravel-road complete with "waashboard" ruts and chuck holes. At 65 miles an hour this job rode like a baby carriage in the cab.

While the load was pretty well balanced over the dual drive axles, that of itself would not have been responsible for the "rocking chair" ride and complete lack of vibration and banging normally associated with a truck of this type on such a road.

The independently sprung front wheel, torsion bar springing on front and leaf adjusting springs on the rear look practically all the "correct" out of that cab even when we hit deep chuck holes. I could not feel any vibration either through the steering wheel or on the floor of the cab.

Then we took a last year's job of the same size and with the same sized load, at the same speeds and over the same road. We were thrown from side to side and every bump came right up through our spines despite the well cushioned seats in that cab.

And one would think the vibration experienced in that last year model would split every weld and shear every bolt in the cab.

Pony Solves Boy's Problem, Desires All At Same Time

PERKINS, Okla. (UPI)—Three-and-a-half-year-old Red Buck will be able to say someday that a pony helped put him through college.

Like many small boys, Red expressed a wish for a pony. His parents, Shirley and Marvin Buck, shared a common interest in horses and rodeos, so they couldn't deny their son his wish.

But a high school teacher like Marvin can hardly afford the expense of keeping a horse. So the Bucks came up with this plan. A mare could pay her own way with a foal every year. And if they kept the fillies, added them to the brood mares and sold the colts, the ponies would even show a profit.

They decided this was the way to save for Red's college education.

The first purchase was "Kewpie Doll," a seven-year-old black mare with a gentle disposition. Her first foal was born in June. Red named her "Sugarfoot."

So now Red has two playmates—and a good start on a solid investment for his future.

Appeals to Drivers

IF THESE jobs prove out as well as in service as they did on the preview test, and I see no reason why they won't, I can see that many a fleet operator is going to have trouble with his drivers unless he switches over. Especially those drivers who have to spend all day or all night with the seat of their pants glued to cab cushions.

And the phenolic disks or caps that have been placed between the lower steering ball and cup make even those big jobs steer like a passenger car. This new stuff certainly makes a whole of a difference.

Chevrolet is leaving the grease nipples on these steering parts contrary to the way in which one car company is using them. This not only adds to the "slippyness" of the disks but keeps road dirt and other abrasives from reaching this material—which is said to be highly subject to abrasion from even small quantities of such debris.

FASHION: U.S.A.

by Mary Lewis

SLEEVES STEP INTO THE SPOTLIGHT this season, influenced by the Paris edict for "greater width at the top of the sleeve." Lantern sleeves, balloon sleeves, bubble sleeves, kimono sleeves, flounced sleeves — whatever technique the designer uses, whatever picturesque land provides her inspiration, there's no doubt about the new importance of sleeves. In an era where all fashions fit easily into two categories, either "Frankly Tailored" or "Frankly Feminine" it is safe to predict that houses and dressmakers with definite sleeve interest will find ready acceptance for those occasions, and among those wearers, that demand the pretty, the feminine, the festive.

Sore Elbow Vs. Ailing Back In Sixth World Series Game

CHICAGO (UPI)—Early Wynn, a right-hander with a sore elbow, and Johnny Podres, a lefthander with an ailing back, carried the winning hopes of the Chicago White Sox in the sixth game of the World Series today.

Although he has had only two days rest, Wynn was called upon by Manager Al Lopez of the White Sox to keep their series hopes alive. They faced sudden death, trailing the Dodgers three games to two in this best four out of seven game series.

Manager Walt Alton went along with Podres, the winner of the second game, confident that he would close it out and bring to the West Coast its first world's baseball championship.

"He tells me his back feels okay," Alton said, "so there isn't any reason why he shouldn't beat them again."

Tempers In 'Skin Camp Cool After Fist Fight

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Tempers cooled off today among the Washington Redskins after a one-hour scrimmage marked by a fist fight and another near brawl. Coach Mike Nixon's unusually tough contact work Wednesday erupted into a brief but vicious battle between halfback Jim Podoley and rookie defensive end Art Gob.

Another fight between rookie wingback Ben Scott and veteran offensive end Joe Walton was averted only when other players stepped between the two as they were winding up to throw punches. Nixon, whose Redskins are the only National Football League team holding actual practice scrimmages during the regular season, said he wasn't disturbed over the incidents.

Robson's Holds Bowling Lead

Robson Sporting Goods added to their total to hold the lead in the Sandspur Bowling League this week, as they won two games, making them a total of 12 wins, 6 losses. A tie exists for second slot, with both Pryor's Insurance team and the Pig N' Whistle having a 10-8 record. Foodmart held on to the third spot, as Wilson-Maler and Roumillat's followed in that order. Neither Robsons or their opponents, Pig N' Whistle, rolled any great scores in their games this week, both teams seemed far off their usual good form, and the lucky thing was that they were playing each other while each team was so low. Libbie Whitehead led the sporting goods team, and Dot Teslo was high for The Pig. Wilson-Maler played Pryor's on lanes one and two, and lost the first two games by a small margin each time. The furniture team had a good last game to take that one from the underwriters. Naomi Jackson led the insurance team with a 436 series, and Margie Woods rolled high for Wilson-Maler with a 461 series. Roumillat & Anderson won the first game from Foodmart with a one pin difference in the outcome. After checking the sheet for errors, and none being found, Foodmart came back extra strong to win the last two games, with a 1990 scratch series, just four pins shy of the league high series. Eve Rogers led the grocers in their fight, while Alberta Shaw was high for the drugists. Spits were made all over the lanes as Erna Anderson picked up the 3-10, 4-5, and 5-7, Faye Griffin made the 5-10 and 3-9-10, Marilyn Bailey the 3-10. Dot Teslo 5-9-7, Grace Newton also made this one. Lucille Harris picked off the 4-9 and Marylou Danyluk made the 5-7. Next week will find Foodmart and Robsons on lanes one and two, The Pig N' Whistle vs. Irving Pryor's team on three and four, and Wilson-Maler up against Roumillat on lanes five and six.

SEC Action Heavy This Weekend

ATLANTA (UPI)—The nation's leading exponents of wait-for-the-breaks football—the fifth-ranked Georgia Tech Yellow Jackets and the sixth-ranked Tennessee Volunteers—match wits Saturday at Knoxville, Tenn., in a renewal of one of the southeast's leading classics.

This 10th meeting between Tech and Tennessee since 1946 rates as a tossup. In the other nine games, each team won four, lost four and tied one. In 1956, these teams met in Atlanta with matching 6-0 records and both were ranked even higher than now. Tennessee's All-America Johnny Majors put Tech in a deep hole with a booming quick kick and the Vols won, 6-0.

Navy Bowlers In 2-Way Tie

The Operations and Heavy Attack Wing Three "A" teams are tied for first place in the Sanford Naval Air Station Bowling League. Each team has a 6-2 record. Operations downed the Heavy Attack Wing Seven Alphas in this week's play which made them tied for league leader. Stetler led Operations with a 201-381 for high game and high series for the night. Heavy Three Alphas split four games with GCA Tower, and the Fasron White Hats and Chiefs took two games each in their contest. The Heavy Seven "B" team downed the Combat Heavy Attack Wing group 3-1, with Stan Neri leading the way. Communications beat the Marine team and the Heavy Three "Bravos" won over the Heavy Three "C" squad. Next Monday's play pits the Marines against Hatron Three "A", Hatron Seven "B" against Communications, the Fasron White Hats vs. Operations, the Fasron Chiefs against Hatron Three "C", Com Hat Wing One vs. Hatron Seven "A" and Hatron Three "B" against GCA Tower.

Sanford JV's Romp Over Cudas, 35-0.

By JERRY COVINGTON The Sanford Junior varsity struck pay dirt in every quarter here last night and completely overpowered a smaller New Smyrna ball club by a score of 35-0.

two of the scores and added three on beautiful pass plays. In the opening quarter the Seminoles won the toss and elected to receive. It wasn't long until the hard running of Bubba Davis and Bill Phagan had moved the ball within striking distance. Phagan took the ball 14 yards to the 20 where he was nailed. On the next play quarterback Jim Terwilliger threw a jump pass to Ansel Bennett for the score. Davis, who ran for all the extra points, added the PAT and the baby Seminoles had jumped off to a quick 7-0 lead.

Seminoles Look For Grid Upset

The hard charging Sanford Seminoles pack their suits of armor tomorrow and head for St. Augustine where they will be gunning for an upset victory over the favored Yellow Jackets from the ancient city. The Seminoles will be going against one of the traditionally strongest football machines in the state that continues to win year after year.

The fired up Seminoles defense denied the Barracudas anything at all throughout the evening and it wasn't long until the locals had possession again. PeeWee Knight, Johnny Phillips, Ward Waters, and Don Harvey were the big guns in the forward wall and refused to give an inch. The second Sanford score came in the late part of the second period. On second down and the ball resting on the mid-field stripe, little Tommy Hinson took the ball on a reverse and ripped off tackle for a 50 yard TD. Bubba Davis piled into the line to add the point and the Seminoles had taken a 14-0 lead as the half ended.

Southern Rated Tops

NEW YORK (UPI)—Mississippi Southern, Miami of Ohio, East Texas State and West Chester (Pa.) State—"little giants"—ranked 1-2-3-4 today in United Press International's small college football ratings.

Tech (Tex.), Western Illinois, Louisiana Tech and Butler (Ind.) completed the top 20 in that order. Buffalo (N.Y.) was fifth. Chattanooga, which tackles Alabama of the major college division Saturday, was sixth. Montana State College, Middle Tennessee State, Delaware and Xavier (Ohio) rounded out the top 10 in that order.

FSU Crawford Is Top Lineman

MIAMI (UPI)—A hair-breadth tackle that saved Miami's 7-6 victory over Florida State brought Hurricane linebacker Jim Crawford United Press International's Florida Athlete of the Week award today.

The guard and middle line backer with the fireplug build stopped FSU halfback Fred Pickard at the goal line on a two-point after touchdown try. Another six inches and FSU probably would have won the game 8-7.

Macmillan In British Vote Sweep

LONDON (UPI) A Conservative landslide swept Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's Conservative Party back into power today.

There were indications the Conservatives' campaign theme of peace and prosperity would net them a crushing majority of 100 to 130 seats in Parliament.

Midday returns from Thursday's general elections gave the Conservatives an absolute majority in the House of Commons, with results still pouring in.

The third in a series of defeats for the Labor Party cast the fate of the party and its leadership in doubt and bid fair to change the pattern of British politics.

With 606 of the 630 seats decided, the Conservatives had won 361, a gain of 21; Labor 250, a loss of 22, and the Liberals 5, a gain of 1.

The voters in Macmillan's own suburban constituency of Bromley re-elected him as their member of Parliament by a margin of 15,542 over his young Laborite opponent, John Murray. The margin was 2,000 greater than in the last general elections.

The Conservative victory had an immediate buoyant effect on the stock market, with industries freed from the fear of further nationalization by the Socialist Labor Party. Stock dealers in a sense were on the steps of the London Stock Exchange long before it opened in expectation of the boom.

Teamsters Start Airways Campaign

MIAMI (UPI)—A local Teamsters union leader revealed here today that the union has started an organization drive aimed at 1,600 Pan American World Airways baggage, cargo, freight and clerical workers in five cities.

Lou Small, president of Local 632, said the union will woo Pan American employees here and in New York, San Juan, Cape Canaveral and San Francisco.

The 900 workers sought by the Teamsters here already belong to the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Railway Clerks. AFL-CIO official Don K. Campbell labeled the Teamsters' move a "clear case of raiding."

"We've been in these tangles before," Campbell said, "and we know how to protect ourselves."

Landslide Win Could Mean Early Summit Meeting

LONDON (UPI)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan probably will use his landslide election victory as an argument in favor of an early summit meeting with Russia, it was reported today.

Aides of the Prime minister predicted that one of the first acts of his rejuvenated regime will be to press the United States, France and West Germany for agreement to be held as early as next month.

If Macmillan has his way, a summit meeting this year dedicated largely to the issues of Berlin and disarmament would be only the first of a series of top-level efforts to solve East-West problems.

The United States, although it denied Macmillan's campaign claim that agreement on a summit conference had already been reached, was not believed to be averse to the idea of an early meeting.

In Washington, U. S. officials said an extensive exchange of views with London, Paris and Bonn would begin soon to review the Western position on Berlin and other critical issues to be discussed with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

The British elections largely had held up such consultations but indeed sources in London said Macmillan now would take a firmer voice not only in calling for early summit talks but in the talks themselves.

10 Burn To Death In Fiery Smashup As Tank Truck Rams College Bus

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. (UPI)—Nine coeds and a professor burned to death early today when a tank truck smashed into the rear of a bus bringing Trenton State College girls home from a theater party.

Fumes exploded and the chartered bus was blanketed in flames. Police said at least five of the 41 coeds in the bus were killed along with Prof. Ernest Sixta. Five other girls were hospitalized, one in critical condition.

Police said the bus had stopped for a red light at 12:45 a. m. when the tanker crashed into it. Another college bus had just cleared the intersection.

The truck driver was only slightly injured. All of the dead were from New Jersey.

The truck driven by Roscoe Poe, 34, of Brooklyn, plowed into the rear of the bus state police said. The bus gasoline tank exploded with a tremendous roar, sending flames racing through the vehicle. The truck also burst into flames.

The bus and truck were swiftly charred almost beyond recognition.

The tank truck had been emptied at the time of the collision, but was filled with combustible fumes that added to the fury of the fire, state police said.

The students were returning from New York, where they had seen Archibald McLeish's Broadway play "J. B.," a modern version of the biblical story of Job in which man questions the reason for the horrible tragedies of life.

State police said another bus also carrying 41 students back to Trenton, had just passed the light before it turned red. The second bus had to wait—and was rammed by the truck.

Unable to question the injured bus driver, state police could not say why the truck had crashed into the bus.

Tornadoes, Snow, Freezes Cross Midwest

United Press International

The first touch of winter arrived in the Midwest today behind a mass of violent thunderstorms and damaging tornadoes.

Strong chilling winds out of the Dakotas spread snow and freezing temperatures in Minnesota, Wisconsin and upper Michigan. The mercury dropped to the 80s as far south as northern Arkansas.

Thunderstorms and locally heavy rains continued in front of the mass of frigid Canadian air from the lower Great Lakes and northern Appalachians southward through the central and south Atlantic coast states.

Tornadoes raked a three-county area of southeastern Wisconsin Thursday night, leveling some barns and homes and killing several farm animals.

Another tornado caused hundreds of thousands of dollars damage in the village of McHenry in northeast Illinois. No serious injuries were reported but about 25 homes were damaged.

In the south, tropical storm Irene, bringing heavy rain and gusts of 55 miles an hour, pounded Pensacola Thursday. Trees and wires were felled but there were no serious injuries or deaths.

Parts of the Dakotas dug out from a six-inch blanket of snow and ice that downed telephone lines and shut off service to several families in the Minot, S. D., area.

The Weather Bureau saw a moderating trend in the northern Rockies where the cold front first appeared two days ago. Great Falls, Mont., registered a reading of 46 degrees, 21 degrees higher than the day before.

Scattered snow flurries were forecast in the upper Great Lakes while widespread rain and thunderstorm activity were expected in a narrow warm air zone along the East Coast from New England to Florida.

GOVERNOR STILL GETS ASSESSOR REMOVAL PROTESTS

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Dr. Jonas F. Salk, developer of the Salk polio vaccine, said Thursday any failure by the vaccine to provide protection can be blamed on "insufficient" strength of the first dose.

"The idea that there is 5, 10 or 15 per cent of the population who cannot respond to the vaccine is not so," Salk said.

The University of Pittsburgh scientist explained in a speech here that the first dose is "crucial" because it creates a barrier for subsequent inoculations. He said the strength of the first dose also affects the protection level that will be gained by a "booster shot."

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A television producer fired by the NBC network, testified today he advised 25 or 30 persons to lie to a New York grand jury investigating rigged TV quiz shows.

Howard E. Felsher, discharged a week ago by NBC as producer of the "Pie-Tac-Do" program, made the statement in testimony before a House investigating subcommittee. He had testified previously that at least three out of four contestants on the night-time version of that program had received question and answer information in advance.

The subcommittee counsel Robert W. Lishman asked Felsher about his contacts with contestants prior to the grand jury proceedings.

Felsher said he met with four or five individuals but telephone 22 or 23 of them.

The subcommittee waited, meanwhile, for an answer from Charles Van Doren, big money winner on the old "21" show, invited to appear as a witness.

Felsher said he told "Pie-Tac-Do" contestants that "if I were to testify before the grand jury I would deny that I had given them questions and answers in advance."

He also said, in response to a question, that he suggested that contestants also deny that they had received such assistance.

Asked whether Don Enright of the Barry & Enright Production team advised him to make the suggestion, Felsher said no.

NBC fired Felsher as producer after he was subpoenaed by the subcommittee and refused last week to supply NBC with an affidavit that he had not supplied contestants with answers in advance.

President Confers On Steel Strike

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower conferred with top cabinet advisers today on the deadlocked negotiations in the 87-day-old steel strike. The White House was silent on whether he would invoke the Taft-Hartley Act to send the strikers back to work.

The President heard reports from Secretary of Labor James F. Mitchell on the dim prospects for settlement of the strike by members of the United Steelworkers Union.

Three other cabinet members took part in the unscheduled conference this morning at the White House.

They were Treasury Secretary Robert B. Anderson, Atty. Gen. William F. Rogers and Commerce Secretary Frederick Mueller.

Afterwards, White House News Secretary James C. Hagerly, who also attended the meeting, was asked if a decision was made to seek a back to work injunction to halt the strike for 90 days.

"I have no comment at this time," Hagerly told newsmen.

The President attended the top level discussions with William F. Parsons, assistant to the President, and David Kendall, White House general counsel, and Raymond J. Saulnier, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisors.

Red Tide Study To Continue

ST. PETERSBURG (UPI)—The State Conservation Board planned to resume its aerial reconnaissance of the fish-killing red tide today and had high hopes it would find something good to report.

The current outbreak of the red tide was one week old Thursday it is the first once since 1957.

First Shot Is Key Proposal Includes Inspection

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Soviet Union today proposed creation of an international control organ compelling all the world's countries to supervise Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's total disarmament program in three stages.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov told the United Nations Main Political Committee such a control organ should be given all facilities, including aerial observation and photography, "to carry out strict and effective control."

Kuznetsov said violators of the "general and complete disarmament" agreement should be halted before the UN Security Council and General Assembly for punishment.

However, he maintained the Soviet contention that disarmament "cannot and must not be dependent upon the solution of still outstanding international problems."

Kuznetsov was the first speaker as the 82-nation committee began debate on the proposal put before the General Assembly by Khrushchev on Sept. 18. He added little to Khrushchev's speech but spelled it out in details of three stages in which the Russians want it to be accomplished.

Kuznetsov said the Khrushchev plan had a seven-point overall aim:

1. Renunciation by all countries of any kind of armed force except minimum forces necessary for internal security.

2. Abolition of all land armies, navies, air forces, general staffs, war ministries and military training establishments.

3. Dismantling of all foreign military bases.

4. Destruction of all atomic and hydrogen bombs and prohibition of their further production with fissionable material to be used exclusively for peaceful economic and scientific purposes.

5. Elimination of all military missiles and scrambling of all guns, tanks, shells, torpedoes, warships and military aircraft.

6. Destruction of stockpiles of means of chemical and bacteriological warfare.

7. The Khrushchev program, Kuznetsov said, would be carried out within a four-year period in three stages starting with reduction of Soviet, U. S. and Red Chinese armed forces to 1,700,000 men each and those of Britain and France to 650,000 each. The reductions would be agreed upon at a special session of the UN General Assembly or at a world disarmament conference.
