Congress Convenes With Two Parties Dividing 2 Branches

Democrats Take Control in House While Republicans Retain Authority in Senate

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—(A.P.)—With its leaders divided and uncertain the new Congress saw its two constitutional branches part company politically at the first session today, the Democrats taking control of the House as Republicans retained hold on the Senate.

John Garner, blunt and ready Texas plainsman, was chosen as speaker by the House by the margin of a handful of votes, over Bertrand Russell, New York. It was the first time in 18 years that the Democrats captured either branch of Congress. In the Senate, republicans majority, but it didn't happen at today's half-hour session and the Senate adjourned.

The House roll call showed 210 Democrats, 214 Republicans, and one farmer-laborite present. It is the largest attendance record. The only absentees were Will Taylor, Republican of Tennessee, ill at Memphis. There was one vacancy.

President Hoover early yesterday completed his annual message charting for the Federal Legislature a course by which he hopes to quicken the stride of returning.

FEDERAL WRIT PUTS CRIMP IN TAMPA STRIKE

Injunction Prohibits Alleged Red Conspirators From Hindering Cigar Trade

TAMPA, Dec. 7.—(A.P.)—The Federal Government stepped into Tampa's fight against communism yesterday with an injunction against more than 140 alleged communist conspirators, prohibiting them with any activity interfering with the peaceful conduct of the cigar industry here.

Federal Judge Alexander Akerman signed the injunction on petition of Jerome Regenbaur, secretary of E. Regenbaur and Sons, cigar manufacturers whose factories were stormed by Red groups last week.

Those cited, including the publishers of two Spanish language newspapers, are enjoined from printing any political literature, encouraging or overhauling of the government from assembling leading to the furtherance of communist activities, intimidation or threats against any one.

They were specifically enjoined from continuing the organization known as "The Tobacco Workers Industrial Union of Tampa," under its statement of principles which encourages belief in the destruction of organized government.

The injunction also prohibited the encouragement of school children to leave their classes and to parade.

The petition for the injunction set forth that the cigar industry of Tampa was peaceful and prosperous.

BRIDGE PLAYERS IN CRUCIAL GAME WILL HAVE QUIET

No Distracting Elements To Interfere With Concentration

By LORENA A. HICKOK.
NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—(A.P.)—The doorbell will be disconnected when the contract bridge "battle of a century" begins in the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Ely Culbertson Monday evening.

Telephones will be plugged, a guard will be posted outside the curtain doors and nobody will be admitted save the referee and one bridge-wise butler, who knows when to start emptying the ash trays—and when not to.

"For a bridge player to do his best," says Culbertson, who has 35,000 at stake on the approaching battle, "he must have quiet. He must also be comfortable."

Mrs. Culbertson, who will participate with three men for at least half of the approximately six weeks' match between the systems of Culbertson and Sidney S. Jensen to those details.

Culbertson has wagered $100,000 against $100,000 that he and Mrs. Culbertson, or another partner, will have a higher score after 150 rubbers of contract than Lena and his select partner, Oswald Jacoby.

Culbertson must use his own system of bidding and Lena must use his, which is incorporated in the so-called "official" system.

Japan Is Said Ready To Accept Proposal

TOKYO, Dec. 7.—(A.P.)—The Japanese government was said today to be ready to accept the suggestion by the League of Nations Council that Japan make a separate reservation regarding the right to suppress banditry.

MARKELL HOME IS DESTROYED BY BLAZE SATURDAY

Week-End Fires Keep Local Department Answering Alarms

Week-end fires in Sanford and the immediate vicinity resulted in the total loss of one home, a slight amount of damage to another, and caused the Sanford Fire Department considerable concern before another fire was discovered to be less serious than was at first reported.

The most serious damage reported occurred Saturday afternoon when the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Markell at Edge water Farm on the St. Johns River was completely destroyed by fire. Starting in a small room near the kitchen, where a water heater had been lit, the fire quickly assumed such proportions that by the time the fire department was able to reach the scene, the home was almost completely enveloped in flames.

Through the efficiency of the firemen who checked the flames with chemicals, Mrs. Markell escaped.

Associated Press All-American Grid Eleven Is Selected

Notre Dame And North Western Lead But Georgia And Tulane Get Two End Berths

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)
NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—(A.P.)—

For the second successive year Notre Dame and Northwestern, the chief tanner-bearers of Mid-Western college football, grab the lion's share of all-America laurels for the 1931 season, in the seventh annual Associated Press consensus.

Not even the stunning setback at the hands of Southern California deflected the hand of the individual votes for the outstanding individual stars of Notre Dame's line and backfield. As a result the great Marchmont Schwartz, acclaimed the hardest running back in America, gains all-star distinction for the second straight year, along with two teammates, Capt. Tom Yarr at center and Frank (Nurdy) Hoffman at guard.

Northwestern places its ace ball carrier, Ernest (Pug) Rentner, and Dallas Marvill, 233-pound tackle, in the all-America lineup, thereby duplicating the achievement of the Wildcats in taking two positions a year ago with Frank Baker and Red Woodworth.

The Mid-West collects six positions altogether on the first team as Capt. Clarence Munn of Minnesota proved far away the outstanding choice for guard.

Two of the remaining positions go to the South, two to the Far West, and one to the East, the latter accounted for by the almost unanimous selection of Capt. William Barry Wood, Jr. of Harvard for the key position of quarterback.

All told, on the All-America squad of 33 players, including second and third teams, 14 players go to the big Mid-Western area, eight to the East, five to the South, five to the Far West and one to the Southwest.

The South's two crack ends, Capt. Gerald Dalrymple of Tulane and Vernon (Calfish) Smith of Georgia, ran away from all rivals in the nationwide balloting by sports editors and writers.

On the other hand, the Far West's brace of honor men, Ermy Pinkert of Southern California, back, and Paul Schweigler of the University of Washington, tackle, won their positions only after the keenest competition everywhere along the voting sectors.

Pinkert, who duplicated Schwartz's achievement in gaining all-America honors for the second year in a row, won a close contest from Gene McEver, Tennessee's powerhouse, for the fourth backfield position by a margin of only four votes.

Don Zimmerman, Tulane's triple threat, finished only eight votes behind McEver in this hot three-cornered contest.

Schweigler, likewise, barely rallied enough support to win his post as Marvill's running mate. The wealth of conspicuous tackles this year proved one of the outstanding developments of the Associated Press consensus. The contest was as close that less than 20 votes separated Schweigler from such great performers as Joe Kurth of Pittsburgh, Hugh Iben of Nebraska, and Capt. John Price of the Army.

Schwartz ran wild through the brown field of ball to his muck after the manner the famous Notre Dame clinax runner has performed against his opposition on the field. Out of a possible maximum of 270, Schwartz polled 255 votes, in popularity, Dalrymple ran second among the all-Americans with 228. Rentner, Wood and Munn were the only others to pass the 200 mark.

Two captains, Johnny Orel of Oligate and Henry Committee of the Kansas Argies, ran enough to win second team positions on the ends, but they were far behind Dalrymple and Smith, the Dixie terrors. The latter pair combined to carry on a tradition that the South always furnishes a fine collection of wingmen.

Munn and Hoffman were not hard-pressed to capture the guard positions, although Southern California's hero of the Notre Dame game, Johnny Baker, came with a strong rush. Baker and Hickman of Tennessee and Rabbit of Wisconsin for a berth on the second team.

George Fary outdistanced all other candidates for the fullback position, although Southern California's hero of the Notre Dame game, Johnny Baker, came with a strong rush. Baker and Hickman of Tennessee and Rabbit of Wisconsin for a berth on the second team.

"The whole world ought to realize industrial dumping leads to disaster, not only for us but for the whole world. We of the movement I represent have forebode what would happen if the Young plan were adopted. We trust the whole world will soon realize we were right."

Pressed to state concretely how he would approach the reparations problem on coming into power, he said: "First and foremost we would tell the whole world the absolute and undiluted truth about Germany's situation. Those responsible for 1918 (presumably the German revolution) simply cannot give an unvarnished picture because every word would constitute an accusation against themselves."

"We will sign nothing for which we cannot assume full responsibility."

"Nobody abroad at present knows Germany's real condition. The study commissions who came here do not know it for they saw fashionable west side Berlin and that's all."

As to his next step after acquainting the world with Germany's position, he said: "Of course we cannot get along without negotiations. We will have to sit down at the table with foreign powers. But they will know in advance we won't sign any dictate."

should be "treated with every consideration" as long as they "are themselves." He said similar views were held by at least three of his Democratic colleagues—Wheeler of Montana, Coolidge of Colorado, and Black of Alabama.

Aside from its bearing on the demonstration Monday, Borah's statement held demands that will inevitably arise in Congress for federal aid to the unemployed this winter. The administration has insisted that the needs of those out of work be cared for by the states and municipalities.

Hooover set up the relief organization headed by Walter Gifford, of New York, with the hope that its efforts, combined with others, would take care of the situation in the coming months.

There are those in Congress, however, who believe this will not be sufficient, and that the government will have to step in.

Warning the approaching marchers would hurt their cause, Senator Borah said he had no sympathy "with those who hasten to denounce as disturbers all those who protest" against the present situation.

"The man or woman who wants work and who is unable to find it," he said, "must enlist the sympathy and consideration of every one."

"Keep your heads," he told the delegation which will march on Capitol Hill Monday.

Rex Bell And Clara Bow Deny Marriage But Others Say Yes

since early last summer, when Miss Bow temporarily retired from films to recuperate from a nervous breakdown, attributed partly to the trial of her former secretary, Daisy DeBoe, on charges of theft.

The career of the actress has been one of the most sensational in Hollywood. Among her admirers have been Harry Richman, New York night club entertainer; Gary Cooper, film star; Dr. Earl Pearson, Dallas, Tex., physician; Robert Fleming, film director; Robert Savage, once a Yale football player, and Gilbert Rowland, a wealthy Californian.

It remained for Bell, whom she met in pictures, to win her hand for the first time. Likewise it was his first picture.

Bell is a strapping young man with dark hair, which he parts in the middle, and has a ready smile. He is almost the antithesis of his bride, who is at once temperamental and good natured.

Since they met, he has handled her affairs, and when her health failed he insisted she go to his ranch for rest. Hollywood has seen them but little since they went to the wide open spaces of Nevada.

It was as the "It" girl of Hollywood that Miss Bow first came to fame in pictures and with fame came her suitors. Savage journeyed to Hollywood to meet her. One morning they attempted to obtain a license but it was a holiday. The following day Savage was found in his apartment, his wrists slashed by a razor blade. The actress had accepted the failure to obtain a license as a bad omen.

Strange Rites Are Staged By Indians Upon Arizona Mesa

SAN XAVIER DEL BAC, Ariz., Dec. 5.—(A.P.)—A wordless saga of a fast diminishing Indian nation, told by stamping moans and feet on an Arizona mesa, was unfolded by warlike desert Redmen last night a few brief hours after they had knelt humbly in reverence to the God of the civilized world.

Shackles of modern belief were cast to desert winds that wafted the monotonous throbs of tom-toms along the mesquite covered foothills of the Moorish towns of this ancient and historic mission, symbols of civilized creeds.

Shawnee braves from three dying Indian nations, Papago, Apache and Yaqui, which not many years ago were mortal enemies sat side by side in Bishop Daniel J. Gercke's gray-walled abode of peace and thanked the white man's God for a beautiful Fall harvest.

It was the feast day of St. Francis of Xavier, their patron saint. Under the very walls of the cross-topped mission, hundreds of Indian men, women and children, then enacted the weird rites for the god of dying faith, born in the shade of a lone wandering tribe on the mongolian plains. It was the same rite that Geronimo and his Spanish cavaliers saw with mystified wonder as they sought the legendary seven cities of Cibola.

Until the sun lowers behind nearby desert peaks tonight the Winter feasts will continue. A pilgrimage to Hismorik, a barbaric jutting in the Gulf of California, considered the Jerusalem of the Papago world, will take place today. Every tribesman at least once in his life has made the pilgrimage to this desolate shrine.

Velvet, Satin, and Crepe Are Popular Mid-Winter Cloth

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—(A.P.)—The annual visit of Santa Claus and the christening of the infant New Year are two events for which fashionable women are preparing their wardrobes.

Mid-winter showings reveal as leading fabrics velvets, satins, crepes and the heavier silks such as falles, moires, taffetas and Jacquard weaves.

A ribbed silk, similar to rep in sponsored by one Parisian house and another used a new silk jersey. One house adopts a fancy silk resembling a woolen mixture, combining two tones with a diagonal or square weave.

Pique is a gown of black velvet, the full skirt of which is bestowed with small pink bouquets, a dress of mauve net with an old-fashioned knot in watered satin fastened to the underdrap and showing through, and a flowered pink taffeta, the skirt of which is valled in a triple flange of soft pink mousseline is used for a dress with a quiet puff in back.

Metal interweaves make in other new and beautiful fabrics.

The black and white combination in a sporty dress, and a black and white combination in a sporty dress, and a black and white combination in a sporty dress.

GATORS LOOK TO NEXT SEASON FOR BETTER SUCCESS

1931 Sophomore Team Will Be Augmented By Good Rat Outfit

JACKSONVILLE, Dec. 7.—With the 1931 season a matter of history, Florida football followers are deriving more pleasure from glimpses into the future than from reviews of the immediate past. The campaign which ended here Saturday resulted in six defeats, two wins and as many ties, while next fall the Gainesville aggregation will have most of this year's sophomores back, bolstered by a nifty crew of freshmen.

As that the recent lamented season was no worse and perhaps a bit better than had been expected. Most of the material recast 12 months ago, and it was realized that the Gators must have at least one lean season after four which had been blessed with success.

And, except for a span of three weeks, during which Alabama, South Carolina and Georgia Tech were met, Coach Charlie Bachman's boys made fine showings against superior forces.

They started with a bang, knocking North Carolina State loose for a 34 to 0 victory. The following Saturday they held North Carolina U. to a scoreless tie with great defensive play near the goal line, and then went to Syracuse to accept a 30-13 drubbing. But even in this tilt the Florida boys staged a fine last half rally and came out of the affair with colors flying.

Then came the best game of the season, a 13 to 12 victory over Auburn in a thrilling contest at Fairfield Stadium. And a week later the Gators put up a hard battle against Georgia, only to lose by 6-35.

After that came the slump that was inevitable. The Gators submitted to a 41-0 lacing at the hands of Alabama in Birmingham and followed with a listless 6-6 tie with South Carolina in Tampa. They also were drab in losing to Georgia Tech in Atlanta, 0-23.

But then the slump was broken, even if no more victories came along. The team made the longest trip a Florida football squad ever has attempted and went to the West Coast for a game with the University of California at Los Angeles. The Gators played in a second hall, only to lose by 0-13 in the second tilt they had played in five days.

The long ride back home followed, and the Gators had but three practice sessions left in which to prepare for Kentucky. But they wound up the campaign at Fairfield Stadium Saturday by holding the Wildcats, 2-7, and exhibited some more courageous defensive work near their goal.

The line comes out of the season with the greatest honors, and these were gained largely on the defense. After the N. C. State game the running attack bogged down except for occasional flashes, but this can be largely laid to the many experiments injuries forced on the backfield.

Members were reached by the line in the North Carolina U. tilt, and again against Auburn, when the forwards were foped into many tight spots by five fumbles in the last quarter. More good defensive work was flashed against Georgia, despite the large score, which was the result of a few long runs and not consistent drives.

And the boys came back home to give another stellar exhibition of defense against Kentucky here Saturday.

Outweighed by far more than the 10 pounds to the man the program weights show, the Gators looked back a number of charges within their 20-yard line by Silverweck Kelly, Ralph Kercheval and the rest of the Kentucky team, arising but once when Kercheval scored a nifty punt over the goal.

Only eight men who participated in football at the University of Florida this fall will not return in 1932. Of these, one, Homer Seay, a back, was able to take part in his last game. Another, Bo McLellan, left another ball carrier, and a hooker leg in a personal practice game and never returned.

The most serious losses are in the back, which will be left vacant. Ed Parnell and Joe Hall were the only back line regulars who leave in Clarence Phil. They had done very well at taking the Parnell and Joe Turner, regular forwards, also are lost.

The only graduating back who has been used with regularity is Billie, who has shown his ability in the back line. The fullback position will be filled by Jimmie, who has done well in his position. The team could have been a much worse.

Bachman, Jones To Attend Dinner For Football Players

Spurred on by the announcement that Coach Charles Bachman and Athletic Director Edgar Jones, of the University of Florida, will be present at the annual Hi-Y banquet in honor of members of the Seminole High School football eleven, members of the combined Hi-Y's are today busily engaged in preparing what promises to be a most interesting program.

Coach Bachman, who will also be the guest of the Sanford Rotary Club at a luncheon at the Celery Club at 12:15 o'clock, is expected to make the principal address of the evening. Mr. Jones, who is one of Florida's most outstanding football players and termed by many sportswriters as the finest quarterback ever developed at the University, will also make a short talk. The banquet begins at 7:30 o'clock.

During the banquet, members of the eleven will elect a captain for the year, and Coach Leonard McCullis will officially announce the names of the letter-men. The name of the winner of the Peter Schaal trophy, given yearly to the most valuable player on the football eleven, will also be announced. Thirteen football fans who have been sportswriters as the finest quarterback ever developed at the University, will meet tomorrow to decide which player has won the trophy.

The Sanford Rotary Club has extended an invitation to all Sanford football fans urging them to hear Coach Bachman at noon tomorrow. Parsons may make reservations by telephoning Walter M. Hayes or H. M. Watson.

Orlando And Sanford To Clash On Diamond

By E. H. CULLEIM
One of the best diamond ball games of the season is on tap for tonight on the Lake Shore Diamond when the Sanford team crosses bats with the Orlando Independents.

It is understood that the Orlando Independents team is made up of players selected for both their offensive and defensive work and are coming up prepared to wrest the game from the local lads. However, with the following lineup in action it is believed that the Sanford boys can hold their own with any other city can send against them: Rutledge, Hodges, Hunter, W. H. Bach, Cordell, Miles, Lake, Britt, Harrison and Ravenel. The game is scheduled to start at 7:30.

Board Meeting To Be Held By Trade Body

Members of the Board of Governors of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce are reminded that an important monthly board meeting is scheduled for tomorrow night at 7:00 o'clock at the City Hall offices of the trade body.

President H. M. Papworth in announcing the meeting urges a full attendance, hoping to surpass the record of last month when there were 32 members in attendance and every community but one was represented.

TOBACCO SALES TODAY

LEXINGTON, Ky., Dec. 7.—(A.P.)—With approximately 16,000,000 pounds of burley tobacco at Lexington's warehouses, all in the readiness for the opening of the burley sales season today. Other central Kentucky markets will open Tuesday.

Most of them will be hard pressed by the advancing freshmen. The material to start with was none too strong this year, and was further thinned by injuries. Bill Ferris, Star Buck, Ben, McCallan, Johnny Fountain, Ed Parnell, Sam Davis, Doc Giers, Henry Richards and Bobby Tussock, all valued performers, are among those held out of games because of injuries.

The only permanently filled positions in the backfield have been left halfback and fullback. At Negro has played the bulk of every game, and while his running has not been consistently brilliant, he handled the passing and kicking in excellent fashion. Had some of the pressure been cleverer, Florida's aerial attack would have counted for many more touchdowns. Silby and Hughes at fullback have seen many situations for the Gators. Everyone aside from the water boy has been given a chance at the other two backfield jobs.

But all things, good or bad, come to an end, and no more worrying will be done over Florida's 1931 football season. The perennial lure of a good freshman team has again been handed out to the grid fans of the state.

And the final game was much better than anyone expected. The Gators rallied their ailing forwards together and held Kentucky to a 2-7 tie here Saturday, and most sportswriters gave a "black" prediction of their team.

The season could have been a much worse.

TULANE, SO FAR HAS BEST RECORD OF GRID OUTFITS

Is Only Major Eleven Of Country Without Having Defeat, Tie

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—(A.P.)—The virtual end of one of the longest and most exciting seasons in recent football history yesterday found Tulane as the sole major eleven without a defeat or tie.

A rather general inclination to award the mythical national championship to the Southern Conference titleholders is pending on the outcome of the Rose Bowl game at Pasadena New Year's Day when Tulane will clash with Southern California, champions of the Pacific Coast. A Tulane triumph in that annual classic should give Bessie Bierman's outfit the national title without much dispute.

Tulane clinched its bid to the Rose Bowl Saturday by virtue of a smashing 28 to 14 victory over Washington State, Pacific Coast champions a year ago. The Cougars brought a big, fast and alert outfit to New Orleans, but was forced to bow to Tulane's versatile attack, marked by some sharp-shooting passing by Don Zimmerman.

Meanwhile Southern California was winning its first undisputed coast conference title at Los Angeles. The Trojans, beaten in their first game by St. Mary's of Oakland but thereafter invincible, smashed through Washington for a 47-7 win that gave them clear title to the conference flag.

Tulane will play no more football until New Year's Day, but Southern California has an important date with Georgia at Los Angeles this week.

Headed by Tulane and Southern California, favorites generally came through in Saturday's program, many games of which were extra-added attractions for unemployment relief.

The only real upset of the day, perhaps, occurred at Philadelphia where the downtrodden Tars of the Navy flashed surprising defensive form and turned back Pennsylvania, 6-0, and at San Francisco, where Southern Methodist's undefeated record went crumbling before the charge of St. Mary's of the Pacific. Navy's performance against Penn. indicated that Army will have its hands full with the Midshipmen in their charity game in the Yankee Stadium here Saturday.

Tennessee's Volunteers, unbeaten but tied by Kentucky, did the expected and handed New York University a 12-0 defeat before a crowd of 40,000 in the stadium.

Yale, after besting Holy Cross in a preliminary game, 6-0, was adjudged the winner over Brown in the finals of the charity elimination tournament at New Haven. Brown, declared the winner on a point system after the scoreless tie with Dartmouth in a preliminary game, battled Yale to a no score but the Eli won out on a judge's decision.

Carnegie Tech and Duquesne could not pierce the other's defenses and their charity engagement was a 0-0 tie. Maryland won the State championship by a decisive 41-6 victory over Western Maryland.

In the South Alabama trounced Chattanooga, 30-0; Centre upset South Carolina, 2-7; Kentucky beat Florida, 7-6 and the combined North Carolina-Duke squad turned back a team selected from North Carolina State, Wake Forest and Davidson, 14-0.

The Big Six won three of its five charity engagements as Nebraska turned back the Colorado Aggies at Denver, 20-7; Kansas, noted out Washburn, 6-0; Missouri, however, went down before St. Louis, 21-6; and Oklahoma bowed to Oklahoma City's unbeaten outfit, 6-0. Tulsa turned back Haskell, 6-0, in the other Mid-Western encounter of the day.

Utah, champions of the Rocky Mountain Conference, found Oregon State too tough and lost, 12-6. Of the charity games, Carnegie Tech-Duquesne contest drew out the heaviest attendance of the day, 35,000. There were 40,000 persons at the N. Y. U.-Tennessee battle; 30,000 in the Yale Bowl and 20,000 at San Francisco to watch Southern Methodist and St. Mary's.

In addition to the Georgia-Southern California tussle at Los Angeles and the Army-Navy clash at New York, this week's schedule includes an elimination tournament among Penn, Cornell, Columbia and Princeton, at New York Wednesday; a tripleheader at Washington Saturday in which Alabama stars of 1930 and previous years will oppose Georgetown, George Washington and Catholic University in three 20-minute games; a battle between Oklahoma and Tulsa, line of football, at a contest between Miami and Ohio University, and Alabama State Teachers on Friday.

Trial Of Powers Is Commenced Today As Soldiers Guard

pect of a "spectacle," interest was running high throughout the countryside over the strange drama that will begin today at Moore's opera house.

On street corners boys were hawking pamphlets and bound books describing the "love affairs of West Virginia's Bluebeard."

Groups gathered throughout the city to discuss the case of the man who described himself as a "picturesque character" in his matrimonial magazine advertisements, who filled trucks with the replies he received from women all over the country. The man who finally bought a party outfit equipped with a radio to call on his prospective brides.

Six miles out in the foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains, at Quiet Dell, a highway was blocked with cars of those who wanted to see the frame and red tile garage, without windows, where Powers is alleged to have lured Mrs. Dorothy Leno of Northboro, Mass., Mrs. Anna Buis, sister of Park Ridge, Ill., and the latter's three children.

Little was left of the subterranean death chambers, where months ago investigators found trap doors, lethal gas connections and blood stains which led them to the conviction that there all five were executed and dropped through a trap door to the dank sepulchre below.

Southern hunters had taken away the doors, parts of the windows and seen the sod that covered the ditch in which the five bodies were found.

Even if Powers is acquitted on the charge of slaying Mrs. Leno, freedom still will be far off. Officials indicate that, failing to convict him on that count, they will turn him over to Illinois authorities on the charge of kidnapping the Elmer children. Under the Illinois law he would face a possible death penalty.

If acquitted in Illinois, Powers then would be brought back to Clarkburg to face the four indictments already voted against him in the Elcher case.

I don't think there's any question but that they have succeeded with a bang. In a song of this sort the matter of tempo is quite important. If the one singing or playing it wants to get the most out of it, I don't think it must be taken slowly, so that its melody, which keeps climbing up the scale to a climax, will not be muddled and its rhythm spoiled. But any way—fast or slow—it's certainly my "Song of the Week."

Veteran Screen Bad-man Celebrates His Birthday Yesterday

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Dec. 7.—(A.P.)—William S. Hart, "the greatest actor of them all," reached another milestone today. The veteran trouper, retired from the movies five years now, is 61 years old. He was born December 6, 1870, in Newburgh, N. Y.

A more important matter for Hart's contemplation this week-end, is his comeback in the movies. He admitted over the phone today, from his ranch near Newhall, Calif., that there was some truth to the reports being circulated in Hollywood.

"Yes, some fellows called me up on the phone," Bill said, "but I wouldn't say that I was much of an offer."

Myself, he said, that Hart is holding out for a starting role. "Well, yes, I guess I guess that's what you'd call it," he said on the stage and screen for a long time. I began as a star, and I quit as a star and it seems to me I go back, I ought to go back as a star."

How about his voice—is it suited to sound films? Very likely it is. He was on the stage 16 years and a memorable incident stage annals was his rendition of the role of Cash Hawkins in "The Squaw Man." He also played Messala in "Ben-Hur" for two years on Broadway.

In 1918 Hart starred in the first 3-reel picture—at the time the magnificent salary of $75 a week. Until 1926 when he retired to write books and breed horses, Hart was one of the highly paid stars of the films, and the foremost of the two gun heroes.

His lonely life is broken by occasional visits from his 9-year-old son, William S. Jr., who lives with his mother, Winifred Westover. Hart and Miss Westover were divorced several years ago. Hart many times has indicated to friends that he'd like to regain his former position in pictures, but he invariably adds a starting role only would induce him to get on make-up.

JOBLESS ARMY REPULSED BY CAPITAL COPS

Ploped demonstrators yesterday came to Washington to present their demands for help to President Hoover and Congress.

From reports of 20 states they came in two columns of trucks and automobiles, to be met at the District of Columbia line by special police and welcoming committees from their local headquarters.

One group of about 600, came from the west in 24 machines. The other, from the east, in 61 machines, carrying approximately 1,000. Each group rode until a dozen or so blocks distant from their night's stopping place, and there left their vehicles to parade aloft.

For their reception, the capital blossomed forth in the heaviest police guard yet received. The full metropolitan force of 1400 men was ordered on duty until midnight Monday. Reserves also were called to duty.

Extra guards were on duty at the embassies and legations around town. Fleet policemen were assigned to the White House. An officer was stationed each 100 feet around the executive mansion, with groups at the gates. An augmented guard controlled the capitol building.

KNOW YOUR POLITICS

We move in a fast social order. Almost everything we do, have or want is dependent upon others. Our food, our clothing, our shelter, our recreation is supplied, partially or completely, by the handiwork or the brains of other persons.

Know your politics. Only a citizenry fortified with knowledge is needed to make democracy in practice fulfill the noble ideals of its founders.

Politics strikes home to us more often than we realize. The action of a government may hit our pocketbook, may improve our health, may make us happy or may make us miserable.

It is good to be politically minded.
