THE FLORIDA VEGETABLE CORPORATION HOLD BIG MEETING LAST NIGHT

Affiliation With Manatee County Growers Association Announced by Local Concern.

Although very unfavorable weather prevented a full attendance of the members of The Florida Vegetable Corporation at their first informal membership meeting last night, about one hundred thoroughly interested growers were present. This was the first of a series of similar meetings which it is planned to hold semi-monthly throughout the season.

President Chapman spoke briefly in reference to progress made in erection of the pre-cooling plant at Brisons, and outlined the plans of contractors for pushing work on this plant to completion. Mr. Chapman and Mr. Dutton also advised the membership that satisfactory progress has been made in providing supplies for the members.

One of the most interesting features of the meeting was the outline of the plans presented jointly by the Committees of the Manatee County Growers Association and The Florida Vegetable Corporation for the affiliation of the Sales Departments of these two organizations under one general sales management. Details of the proposed arrangement were announced by Secretary Frazier and Mr. Dutton, who reviewed the work of the Joint Committee, which culminated in a highly satisfactory plan for sales of the commodities of both sections, whereby products of the Manatee County Growers Association will be sold and distributed by the Florida Vegetable Corporation. Mr. Dutton being General Sales Manager for both organizations. Comprehensive plans are being worked out in both communities looking to the upbuilding of the pack, and a determined effort will be waged by every individual member of both Associations to put out a better package than has ever been done in the past.

The Chairman next introduced Mr. H. O. Hamm, of Palatka, who, as President of the Hastings Potato Association, made a very interesting address on the subject of the experience of that organization, and giving an outline of the circumstances which brought the Exchange into existence. He assured our people that they are taking a step in the right direction.

City Will Build Boat Basin and Dock

After advertising three times for bids for the construction of the municipal boat basin and dock and being unable to find a reliable contractor who would undertake the work for the amount of the bonds voted—$67,000—the city commission, at their meeting yesterday, instructed City Manager Williams and City Engineer Williams to at once proceed with the work, and the construction of this big improvement will be started under their supervision and rushed to completion as rapidly as possible.

The first and main difficulty to be overcome is the securing of a suitable dredge, as the lake is too deep at the proposed location and an immense amount of sand will have to be pumped in to make the foundation. However, steps are being taken to secure the dredge and the work will soon be under way.

In the estimation of The Herald this is a move in the right direction and this action of the city commissioners will save the tax payers of the city a large amount of money and, in all probability, give the city much better work than would be possible under any other plan. City Manager Williams has had a great deal of experience in this class of work, having constructed the immense sea wall at St. Petersburg and the big dock and sea wall at Sarasota. He will work in complete harmony with City Engineer Williams, who has also had considerable experience along this line, as he has had charge of all the work of this character done heretofore in this city. Both these gentlemen will call the members of the city commission in consultation on all problems, and get the best results with the smallest possible outlay of money.

Thus another of the "Pipe Dreams" of The Herald is coming true.

COAL MINERS SIGN A NEW WAGE SCALE

Union Miners Vote to Return to Work Tomorrow.

SCRANTON, Pa., Sept. 18.—Antracite miners representing union workers throughout the Pennsylvania hard coal fields yesterday ratified the new two year wage agreement drafted by their officers and operators' representatives in Harrisburg September 8. They voted to return to work Wednesday and plans were made at once for the signing of the new contracts on the same day.

James A. Gorman, secretary of the joint conference which negotiated the agreement, announced last night the operators' and miners' representatives would go to Gov. Pinchot's home in Milford, Pa., for the signing. This is scheduled for 1 p. m. Wednesday. The fact that the contract will not be signed until afternoon, however, will not affect the resumption of operations Wednesday morning.

(By The Associated Press) CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—While the police were searching for the slayers of George Meegan and George Bucher, who were killed last night as they were driving along Michigan Boulevard in an automobile in what the police called a renewal of the war between rival beer running gangs, Mayor Dever and city authorities made plans to close every saloon, soft drink parlor, coffee shop or other dispensary of unlawful beer or whiskey. The killing of Meegan and Bucher, the police said, was the sequel to the slaying of Jerry O'Connor a week ago which precipitated the campaign against beer running.

Grass Fire Causes Property Loss of Millions of Dollars.

UNIVERSITY SAFE

Although at Least Half of the Faculty Lost Their Homes.

(By The Associated Press) BERKLEY, Calif., Sept. 18.—A search for bodies among the charred ruins of the Craigmont section of Berkeley which was laid waste by fire last night failed to bring any result. Although several deaths are reported. The residents of the city are confronted with the gigantic task of reconstruction. More than 2500 persons are homeless. Latest estimates of the monetary loss is placed at between three million and five million and upwards of 40 persons were injured.

BERKLEY, Calif., Sept. 18.—Two persons are dead, hundreds of homes are ruined, millions of dollars worth of property was consumed and the entire city of Berkeley was threatened as the result of a grass fire, which, out of control because of a heavy north wind swooped through the Craigmont district yesterday afternoon and swept into more crowded residential sections.

Two University of California students, unidentified, are known to have fallen through the roof of a burning building.

A third person, also unidentified, is believed to have been lost in the residence district near the hills.

The part of the conflagration that threatened the business section was brought under control at University avenue and Allston Way at 5:30 o'clock last evening.

At 4:30 o'clock vast columns of flames at Allston Way gave forebodings that the entire Berkeley business districts would go. Shattuck avenue merchants moved out their valuables and officials of the University of California, directly opposite the line of flames, prepared for a determined fight. The streets and avenues of Berkeley were thronged with marchers leaving their homes.

Then it all changed. The direction of the wind was one cause. The vicious norther became a westerly zephyr. Batteries of fire engines from Alameda, Oakland and San Francisco arrived and added their lines to the Berkeley lines. Thousands of workmen helped. Their combined efforts saved the situation.

All the street car lines were paralyzed as soon as the fire started and still were out of commission in Berkeley late last night.

Sporadic flames broke out from Hilgard south to University campus. All the houses in upper Leroy street were destroyed, as well as all the houses on La Loma avenue. Half of the faculty of the University of California was rendered homeless.

A quarter mile square extending from Cedar to Shasta streets to the east of Euclid avenue was in flames. In this sector about ninety homes were consumed. Another area of Cedar street and west of Euclid avenue was razed and forty homes destroyed. Homes in another area extending to Spring street were burned. The path of the flames has been generally southeast and southwest from the Berryman reservoir, the seat of the conflagration. From this source it extended to the business section at University avenue.

MARRIAGE OF MISS BEATRICE MURIEL AND MR. EDMUND S. WOOD EVENT OF YESTERDAY.

An interesting event of yesterday, and one in which much cordial interest centers, was the marriage of Miss Beatrice Muriel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald E. Muriel, to Mr. Edmund Snyder Wood, which was solemnized at high noon in the First Christian church.

Rev. Charles W. Ross, pastor of Riverside Avenue Christian church, performed the nuptial ceremony, which was witnessed by relatives and a large number of friends of the couple.

The church was beautifully decorated in green and white, the color motif being carried out with palms, ferns and cut flowers. The pulpit was banked with greenery, forming an effective background for the bridal party.

Mrs. Charles Davies, organist and Mr. J. B. Lucy, violinist, rendered an appropriate program of wedding music while the guests were assembling, and at the appointed hour the bridal party entered to the strains of the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and was attended by her sister, Miss Gerardine Muriel, maid of honor, and Miss Anne Wood, sister of the bridegroom as bridesmaid.

Mr. Wood had as his best man Mr. John Allison, and ushering were Mr. Raymond Gage, Mr. Harry Norton, of Knoxville, Tenn., Mr. Elmer Hazard and Mr. Edgar Cox.

The bride was lovely in her wedding gown of white georgette crepe, fashioned on simple lines, with side panels of lace, which fell below the hem of the skirt.

Her bridal veil of tulle was held in place with a coronet of pearls and sprays of lilies of the valley while her flowers were an arm bouquet of brides roses, showered with valley lilies.

The maid of honor wore a frock of georgette crepe in shades of orchid, trimmed with Panne velvet. She wore a large orchid picture hat, and carried an arm bouquet of pink dahlias.

The bridesmaid was in pink georgette crepe, fashioned with circular skirt, and trimmed with moire ribbon. She wore a pink georgette picture hat, and carried pink dahlias.

The decorations at the residence consisted of quantities of golden rod and Mexican coral vine, valley lilies being showered from the chandeliers.

The dining table was laid with a lace cloth, and centered with a beautifully decorated bride's cake. A program of instrumental music was rendered by Mr. Raymond Gage, pianist and Mr. J. B. Lucy, violinist.

Following the reception Mr. and Mrs. Wood left for New York city and other points in the East, where they will spend their honeymoon, and on their return will be home to their friends at 2069 Post street, Riverside.

The bride is a charming young woman, and has a wide circle of friends, who will wish her every happiness in her married life. She was educated in Peabody Normal Institute and Vanderbilt University in Nashville, Tenn.

Mr. Wood is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Wood, and is a graduate of Castle Heights, Lebanon, Tenn. He is associated with his father in business and has a host of friends, who will extend congratulations.

SAYS PROTESTANTISM AND CATHOLICISM WILL UNITE

He showed that this union would be brought about by an united effort of the leading protestant denomination with Romanism for the better observance of Sunday.

Mr. Dudley, after reading many prophetic predictions from the Bible to prove his position, and submitted for consideration the writings of many of the most prominent religious leaders both Catholic and Protestant dealing with the subject in question.

He mentioned briefly some history of the persecuting power of the Catholic Church during the time when she had control of the civilized world, and he confidently affirmed and read statements to prove that her policy has never changed, and the past is soon to be reproduced before our eyes and the world is asleep to the trap they are walking into.

Mr. Dudley declares that Rome has forever stood for a union of church and state where the church dictates to the state which is strictly opposed to the constitution of the United States and when protestants cater to such a system they will thereby repudiate the principles that have made America the grand and glorious country that she is today.

He appealed to every lover of freedom and religious liberty, to stand by the platform upon which this great country is founded.

American Baseball Pays Tribute To "Pop" Anson

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—American baseball, as an organization, paid its tribute Sunday to "A man who played the game."

One of the most notable gatherings of baseball men in history gathered this morning in Oakwoods cemetery at the grave of the late Capt. Adrian C. ("Pop") Anson, leader of the heroic legion of baseball, the White Stockings of the eighties and nineties, and, after his deeds had been recited and his services to the great American sport eulogized, unveiled a plain marble shaft, erected by the National League in his honor.

Baseball stars, owners, executives and fans from every walk of life were present for the simple services for the former leader of the Chicago National League club and leaders in the baseball world declared that "Pop" Anson had exerted a greater influence in making baseball the greatest American sport than any other man.

Mayor William E. Dever, representing the city, presided at the exercises. Former Judge K. M. Landis, national commissioner of organized baseball, and President John A. Heydler of the National League were among those who spoke.

The memorial, a plain marble shaft was presented to the Anson family on behalf of the National League, by President Heydler.

The only inscription on the face of the shaft besides the name of the veteran player and the dates of his birth and death are the words "He played the game."

GOVERNOR WALTON DECLARES MARTIAL LAW IN OKLAHOMA FAST DISORDERS OCCUR

Law enforcement in Oklahoma county was assumed by the military when the Oklahoma city police department passed under the full control of Capt. Nelson J. Moore and a military supervision over the sheriff's office was established.

Machin guns planted about the city hall, the police station, the court house and the city and county jails, added reality to the occupation.

Outside of Oklahoma county and Tulsa county, the latter having been for more than a month under military rule, there was no semblance of military activity. From all parts of the state the reports were the same—no troops had been mobilized and there was nothing to indicate that martial rule had been invoked.

Meanwhile, as preliminary plans for the state-wide military occupation moved apace, silence was maintained by Gov. Walton and leaders of the Ku Klux Klan, the opposing figures in the unique situation.

All efforts to reach the governor at his residence met with failure—the governor was "not at home and had not indicated his whereabouts."

Likewise state headquarters of the Klan in a downtown business building, were deserted and Klan officials were not at their residences.

In his proclamation of martial law issued Saturday night the governor said plainly that his move was directed at the Klan as an organization and that he would bend every effort to drive it from the state.

Gyrows that braved a steady rain milled about the streets watching the few manifestations late in the day of the military occupation. They were not molested by the guards.

Streets and highways of Oklahoma county in which Oklahoma City is located, must be cleared between midnight and five a. m., according to the orders. Persons whose employment makes it necessary for them to be abroad during the interval between these hours must obtain passes. Carrying of firearms is forbidden unless by virtue of permission by the commanding officer.

Sale of firearms and ammunition is prohibited.

Public assemblies called for the purpose of creating opposition to the enforcement of martial law are banned as is also publication of articles having a tendency to incite to riot or violence or obstruction of the military.

Orders governing the conduct of business, operation of public utilities and agencies that "contribute to the welfare of the people" will be issued from time to time as the situation warrants, according to Lieut. Col. Key. Simultaneous with the issue of the general orders it was announced at military headquarters that a special district court grand jury scheduled to meet today to investigate alleged misuse of state funds by Gov. Walton would not be convened.

The first disorder growing out of the imposition of martial law here occurred last night when Campbell Russell, former chairman of the state corporation commission, and a political opponent of Gov. J. C. Walton, was knocked down in front of a down hotel, by Leo Clark, son of W. J. Clark, former Oklahoma City chief of police under the governor's administration as mayor of the city.

Mrs. Bertha M. Knight has been appointed postmaster at Bartow, which isn't a remarkable occurrence, since there are quite a number of women who are serving as postmasters. But the remarkable thing about this particular instance is the fact that Mrs. Knight proved conclusively that a woman can keep a secret. It wasn't even known that she was an applicant for the place to become vacant by the resignation of the then postmaster. When the appointment was officially announced from Washington it was real "news" in Bartow.

A NEW ASSET.

The appearance of the big navy dirigible balloon in try-out trips has been noted, recently, and it is being demonstrated that the home constructed leviathans of the air, such as the ZR-1, combined with the development of helium, the non-inflammable gas, points to the time when this big type of aircraft will be put to business use. The coming of helium adds the element of safety to this manner of air navigation not heretofore dreamed of. This practically new gas, according to Dr. Richard Moore, recently chief chemist of the United States Bureau of Mines, is one of the greatest of our national assets.

In a recent address Dr. Moore, in outlining government activities in the production of helium, said that before the war there probably was not more than ten or fifteen cubic feet of isolated helium. But 2,300,000 cubic feet had been produced in the government plant at Fort Worth up to December, 1921, when production was suspended. At the present time about 15,000 feet a day are being produced, and it is thought that this amount will be increased to 30,000 or 40,000. He estimates that 500,000,000 cubic feet is annually going to waste in connection with the use of natural gas, a large part of which could be extracted. "The United States," he says, "has the only large source in the world of natural gas containing helium, and at the present time Canada and Italy, besides the United States, are the only localities producing it commercially. On account of its importance in national defense, in its greatest use in the dirigible balloon, he advises against its export, and predicts that as an asset of commerce it will lead to an organization of dirigible lines that "will connect not only the cities of this country, but the United States with Europe, possibly, South America and the Far East."

COAL COMMISSION REPORT.

The United States coal commission has made a lengthy report to the president. The report points out a number of principles generally subscribed to by the country, such as contracts, must be entered into voluntarily, non-interference with a privilege to work when, where, for whom and what wages he chooses; collective bargaining without force or intimidation; duty of corporations to pay wages for an honest day's work sufficient to enable the workman and his family to live in accordance with the American standard of life; the providing by the industry itself of boards of arbitration to settle causes, according to the contract and these principles.

"If industrial peace is to be hoped for," says the report, "then some method must be found to guarantee, as near as fallible human judgment may, equally exact justice to capital, to labor and to the public. There must be one yardstick adopted by which all controverted questions are to be measured. Public interest demands that certain fixed principles shall be recognized by both capital and labor as this yardstick."

Having suggested a general outline of these principles, the commission thinks the participants should take the yardstick and measure their difficulties as they arrive. The finality of the report is: "If neither the patriotism, private confidence, nor business common sense of the industry shall lead all persons engaged in it not only to observe the law, but to help enforce that law; and if state and local authorities shall be impotent in prosecuting and convicting violations thereof, then it is the solemn duty of the United States to assume jurisdiction over these

American rights, bringing the full power of the Union to their preservation by the prosecution and conviction of all persons, whether high or low, who shall dare to violate them. "The legislative, judicial and executive branches of this government must not permit a union of operators, a union of miners, nor a union of both to become greater than the union of the states."

While the report offers nothing new in practical value in settling controversies, its suggestions in a general way, emphasizes the fact that the public must be considered as a party in interest in strikes where the commodity or service affected is of general use. The appeal of the public for relief, the commission thinks, must be to congress.

A GREAT SCHEME.

The disclosure by the Mine Workers of America of the existence of an organization of communists with the avowed purpose of overthrowing the American government and the substitution of the soviet, will bring no surprise to those who have been watching the movements of the little bands of "reds" in this country. It is a pretentious undertaking on their part, but the success in Russia, achieved at a time when the forces of government in the Old World were at a low ebb, and abetted and assisted by the despairing military government of Germany, is a different proposition from success in America. The idea of making the labor organizations of this country its allies as it did the military spirit in Germany at a time when despair was willing to exchange heaven and earth for a peg to hang its coat upon, was and is the chief stock in trade of these dreamers of evil. The fact that the big organization of labor is exposing its designs sets at rest any fear that these minions of Russian soviet will ever treat more than little ruffles here and there in this country. But nothing was or is needed to allay fear as long ago Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, quieted even the easiest, disturbed and most timid. But even this was not needed, for the heart of labor in America is American. Only such fellows as Foster and his ilk are disturbers, and the strangest thing is that there are always a few of the good ready to defend his class when the law steps in to curtail its unlawful activities.

WORKING ALIKE.

The attitude of the League of Nations toward the Greco-Italian trouble appears to be much like that of President Coolidge towards the coal strike in this country. The strike was a serious situation that needed attention, and the duty seemed to devolve upon the President. He did not entertain any desire to gain either notoriety or prestige out of a situation which offered opportunity for both, hence instead of rushing into the breach, as many more ambitious would have done, he chose the one logical way, and passed the hazardous task to the governor of the state where the real trouble was located, feeling assured of course of the competency of the referee. There remained his power and duty as the last resort, if failure came to Governor Pinchot.

The President wanted results and it mattered not to him from whom they came. They came. Would there have been an agreement, if the shadow of the Federal government had not been cast over the scene? Likely not.

The League of Nations took due cognizance of the threat and danger of war, and proceeded in the naturally even way befitting its character, to prepare for the settlement, should this duty come. At the same time it paid due deference to the logical place of settlement, making no rush upon the scene for a demonstration of its power or authority. It wanted results, and it mattered little through whom they came. They came. Would an adjustment have been made, if there had been no League? Likely not.

DIRECTING THE PRESIDENT.

While the country at large is waiting without impatience to learn the temper of its new president, the national republican committee has issued a leaflet which is intended, according to the Rocky Mountain News to guide him, if he is seeking the paths of party peace and party prosperity. The country is disposed to believe at this time that while Mr. Coolidge is not made of stern stuff, he has had ample time to reach his own conclusions on the important questions that have been discussed, and that he will stand by his convictions when the test comes. The document issued by the committee contains the following:

"The recent announcement from the White House that, out of deference to the rights of congress, President Coolidge does not intend to announce a program in advance of the presidential annual message to congress, comes as no surprise to those aware of President Coolidge's high regard for the constitutional rights and prerogatives of the legislative branch of our government, and his strict observance of them.

"That school of political thought enamored with the doctrine of one-man government that flourished and flowered under the Wilson regime will not find the Coolidge regime very congenial. Those internationalists who sing their daily hymn of hate of the United States senate because it insists upon the exercise of its legitimate and proper powers in connection with foreign treaties and agreements will find President Harding adamant as President Coolidge against attempting to usurp or over-ride those powers."

The News in commenting upon this says:

"There is much more to what the Republican national committee has to say on this subject. Its sermon is not meant for the American people, but for President Coolidge. It is intended to warn him that he must not make an attempt to secure from the United States senate a sanction for his predecessor's plan for official representation of the International Court of Justice. President Coolidge, in effect, is told by the national committee of his party that if he has ambition and doesn't want to make trouble for himself he will keep them when the senate is working its will with the Harding-Hughes plan for the beginning of an attempt to settle world troubles.

"The national committee will seek its excuse for its warning to the president in the constitution, which draws a line between the fields of executive and legislative authority. In the case in hand, however, the excuse has little reason in it, for in international matters the executive has certain advisory rights. If President Coolidge shall say nothing and do nothing in support of the Harding court policy, he will lay himself open, and properly, perhaps, to the charge of having broken a promise which pledged him, in effect, to carry out his predecessor's policies."

Substitutes are generally more expensive in the end than genuine articles. Housewives have learned that they know this is true where bakings are concerned.

Self rising flours are classed as substitutes for plain flour and good baking powder. The use of these special mixtures is very liable to result in false economy, failures and waste on bake day.

Remember there is a big difference, in many ways, between biscuits and other bakings made from these so-called self-rising flours and those made from good plain flour and a dependable leavener. Try the experiment—make a baking from each—convince yourself.

You will find the baking made from flour and baking powder far more attractive in appearance. It will raise higher—retain its full food value and taste better. For best results, do not fail to use Calumet, the Economy Baking Powder, and a reliable brand of plain flour.

Just think of it—the sale of Calumet is 2½ times as much as that of any other brand. It contains only such ingredients as have been officially approved by the United States Food Authorities. It is pure and sure. You save when you buy it—you save when you use it.

URGE ERECTION OF A PERMANENT MEETING PLACE

GRAND LODGE I. O. O. F. OPEN ANNUAL CONVENTION IN CINCINNATI.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 18.—Jacksonville was unanimously selected as the meeting place next year of the Odd Fellows and affiliated organizations.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 18.—A permanent meeting place for its sessions and the erection of a magnificent edifice that would prove an inspiration to Odd Fellows, was recommended yesterday at the opening session of the convention of the sovereign grand lodge I. O. O. F., in the annual report of Judge L. J. Eastin, of St. Joseph, Mo., grand sire and commander-in-chief of the sovereign grand lodge.

"This sovereign body, in justice to the high character it possesses and to the confidence of the brotherhood in it, ought to choose a permanent meeting place where its sessions may be devoted to the business before it," the prominent meeting place facilities for our work could be provided, committee rooms arranged, and journals and reports, not only of the sovereign grand lodge but of all our grand jurisdictions made accessible. Our sessions would not be disturbed by the entertainment features now so prominent and when the body was not in session and the members not in attendance upon committees, they would have a better opportunity to become acquainted personally."

The report of J. Ed Kroh, grand secretary, showed that during the year, the order spent $7,708,132 for relief, an increase of nearly $50,000 over the amount spent the year before. The grand total of receipts amounted to $26,706,000.

Featuring last night's program was a banquet given by the Odd Fellows Press Association in honor of the officers of the sovereign grand lodge and a reception to Judge Eastin.

It was estimated that sixty thousand Odd Fellows and Rebekahs representing every state in the Union and every province in Canada were in Cincinnati.

The convention opened with a grand march to a downtown theater. The Odd Fellows and the brilliantly plumed and uniformed patriarchs militant, a branch of the order, marched from one hotel and the Rebekahs from another. Addresses of welcome were delivered by Mayor George Carrel and G. H. Thore, secretary to Governor A. V. Donahy, the latter being unavoidably detained in Columbus.

THROAT CUT AND SHOT FIVE TIMES THROUGH THE BODY.

WAYCROSS, Ga., Sept. 18.—His throat cut across from ear to ear and five bullet wounds in his chest, one of which passed through his heart, Cole Patterson, 30 years of age, was found dead on the streets of Bristol Saturday night, according to word reaching here yesterday. Search for his assailant, in what is said to have been one of the most sensational murders in the community in years, has resulted in no arrest. The shooting is thought to have occurred shortly before 10 o'clock Saturday night, when the body was discovered, as the stains pointed to the crime having been committed a short while before.

FLYER BREAKS ALL RECORDS

TRAVELS 259 MILES AN HOUR IN NAVY WRIGHT FIGHTER.

MINEOLA, N. Y., Sept. 18.—Lieut. L. H. Sanderson, of the marines, one of the trio of navy aviators who smashed the world's speed record three times last week, hung up another unofficial mark yesterday when he traveled at the rate of 259 miles hour in a navy Wright fighter.

Lieut. Sanderson was helped slightly by a northeast wind. If his time was figured accurately he traveled faster than any man ever traveled before.

The official record was first passed last week by Lieut. Sanderson, who traveled over a measured course, clocked by an electric timer, at 238 miles an hour. A few days later Lieut. Harold S. Brow broke that record and yesterday Lieut. Alford J. Williams attained a speed of 255 miles an hour. The navy Wright fighter will be given a final trial today by Lieut. Stephen Calloway who will try to surpass his brother officers in speed. The ship is entered for the Pulitzer race to be held at St. Louis October 3.

PUBLIC FORUM

Editor Sanford Herald, I think it in the interest of the public to criticize the action of some A. C. L. R. E. employees towards persons waiting on stations and flagging passenger trains to stop and take on passengers to Sanford.

I saw from my porch last Saturday a woman with a baby flagging the 1:30 Leesburg train, but it did not stop. She waited at station and flagged the Trilby train at about 2:40 and it did not stop and I saw her take the R. R. track to walk carrying her baby to Sanford. This behaviour on the part of trainmen is surely not furloughing the sympathy of the public towards striking R. R. men in the future. H. Ehrenspeyer, Sanford, Fla., Sept. 17, 1923.

ELITE OF NEW YORK

GREAT NUMBERS IN SCENES OF "EXPERIENCE"
The elite of New York was recruited for the big Paramount picture, "Experience," that comes to the Princess theatre tonight. Wives of the most prominent business men of that city put aside their social duties for a day to appear in the gorgeous cabaret scene, which is an important feature of the picture.

As the habits of cabarets along the Great White Way are, in a general number, society folk, George Fitzmaurice, the director, induced the social lights of the city to come to the Paramount studio on Long Island and appear before the screen as "extras." The response was most generous.

Never before, perhaps, in the history of motion pictures, has there been such a showing of brilliant costumes and glitter of jewels, as was apparent among the distinguished "extras" in this scene in "Experience." At the Princess tonight (Tuesday).

THE EGG LAYING TYPE OF HEN

Hints on Selecting the Productive Hen By Seth W. Shoemaker,

Director, School of Agriculture, International Correspondence Schools, Scranton, Pa.

UNLIKELY LOOKING LAYER GOOD BROWN LEGHORN HEN

For as long as anyone can remember people have been trying to select an egg laying type of hen. Some of these efforts have been more successful than others.

By carefully studying the body formation of the best layers in a flock a fair idea of the egg laying type may be obtained. Pullets that have laid well for a short period only should not be considered. In order to be classed among the best layers a fowl should have produced a heavy yield of eggs in one year or more.

The egg laying type of hen is endowed with vigor and possesses a well developed body in which there is ample room for the conversion of food into eggs. Although a large number of hens of the egg laying type are good layers, too much reliance should not be placed on type alone, for there are many exceptions to the rule. The keeping of careful records both of the breeding and egg laying performance is a great help in getting definite ideas of the type of hens best adapted to continuous egg production.

To keep the identity of each layer in a breeding flock clearly defined, identification marks which cannot be easily lost should be used. Producing egg layers is quite as important a factor as producing heavy milking cows from dairy stock. Hens that have a face comb, and wattle of fine, smooth texture and deep red in color, possess health and usually show an inclination to lay. Excessive development of any kind, is ordinarily detrimental to the production of eggs.

SAFETY FIRST—A NEW ERA IN AUTO CONSTRUCTION

The Buick Motor Car company deserves the congratulations of the country at large for equipping its 1924 models with the four wheel brake. At the invitation of Roy D. Hollingsworth of the Soo Machine and Auto company, I sat behind the wheel of one of the new models, (24-15 five passenger touring, he said it was) for half an hour yesterday and I'll take off my hat to the fellow who sold the General Motors corporation on the new brake idea as part of the standard equipment of the new Buick.

I am just an ordinary driver. I drive a car for general purpose uses. To get to and from there as expeditiously as possible, and with the greatest amount of certainty: I have been impressed, during the years I have been driving, with the prime importance of being able to stop when the stopping is good.

And I am ready to tell the world, or that part of it in an around the Sault, at any rate, that the four wheel brake, as it works on the new Buick, will get you there and back, and do it SAFELY, if you can will.

I drove in town and I drove in the country. I hit 35 miles an hour on the shore road beyond the Country Club and brought her down to eight miles an hour in about forty feet, without the slightest difficulty, without the least suggestion of a wrench, jerk, or jolt, and without the faintest trace of skidding. Also, it may well be added, without full pressure on the foot brake, and of course, without touching the emergency.

To me that is a fact of fundamental importance. With a continuous record of automobile accidents staring us in the face from the newspaper headlines day after day, and in the knowledge that in 95 cases out of a hundred the accidents resulted from not being able to stop quickly enough after the danger became apparent, it seems that the practical application of this remarkable brake is a forward step in automobile construction that marks a new era. It just about makes the new Buick fool-proof, and that is a real social contribution, one that ought to be appreciated as much by the users of other cars, and by the general public, as by those who are destined to drive the new Buicks.—Michigan Farm Journal.

When the road system of Hillsborough, which is now coming along as fast as anyone could hope, is finally finished, this county can boast of some of the finest roads on the North American continent. And there are enough of them so that the joy rider can select a new route each week and keep it up for two or three months.
