Commission nominates three for Woods' spot

A Longwood attorney could become the first black circuit judge in Seminole County history.

James E.C. Perry, 55, who lives in Longwood but primarily practices in Orange County, was among three attorneys nominated on Wednesday by the 18th Judicial Circuit Judicial Nominating Commission to replace retired Circuit Judge Leonard Wood. Perry specializes in contract law.

Also nominated are John Galluzzo, a criminal defense attorney, and Sandra Kia Ambrose, who primarily handles civil matters.

Governor Jeb Bush has 60 days to select one of the three attorneys to replace Judge Wood, who is awaiting trial on a misdemeanor battery charge for an altercation with his wife in July.

Wood's replacement will serve the remainder of his term, which expires in January 2001.

Fifteen attorneys applied for the opening on the bench. The job pays $117,000 per year.

Airport begins work on ILS program

By Bill Kerns
Staff Writer

SANFORD — After a delay of more than one year, construction is expected to begin this week on an Instrument Landing System at the Orlando Sanford Airport.

The $1.6 million project has been delayed by disputes between the Airport Authority and the project's contractors over fees being charged to perform the work.

The Instrument Landing System will

Project will allow landings from the east, decreasing noise to neighbors provide navigational assistance for aircraft landing on the airport's main runway during poor weather.

In addition to easing takeoffs and landings on the runway, the system will allow aircraft to approach from the east. This will decrease aircraft noise in areas to the west of the airport, particularly in Lake Mary.

"I want to get the ILS up and moving so we can get its benefits to our neighbors," said Ken Wright, chairman of the Airport Authority.

The system was originally scheduled to begin operating on March 31 of this year.

Because of delays in beginning construction, the project is not expected to be complete until May 1, 2000. This represents a delay in the project of 13 months.

Construction on the first portion of the project is expected to begin this week, at a cost that will not exceed $57,000.

The airport authority is still negotiating the final cost with contractors, with authority's initial bid coming in at $37,000.

One hurt in Sanford crash

A 1988 Chevrolet Cavalier was rear-ended at the intersection of French Avenue and Park Avenue at 12:14 p.m. on Wednesday. The Sanford Police Department estimates the damage to the car at $8,000. The driver, whose name has not been released, was transported to Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford. Two additional cars were also side-swiped in the accident. Derek Alford, 18, of Sanford, was cited with careless driving, according to the accident report.

Bandits strike twice in same area

By Bill Kerns
Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — Investigators are looking into whether there is a connection between two similar armed robberies that occurred on Tuesday night within forty minutes of each other in the Sabal Point area.

The first incident occurred at about 10:19 p.m. at 6304 Bayhill Lane in the Sabal Point area of Longwood. Maryann Cerasoli, 58, told investigators that after she got out of her vehicle in front of her apartment, she was approached by an unknown black male who attempted to steal her purse.

She was able to thwart the robbery attempt by screaming and holding onto her purse. However, she suffered bruises on the left side of her face when the suspect struck her with a pistol.

Forty minutes later, 19-year old Tammi Fitch and 22-year old Blaine Helmick had just returned home to the nearby Regency Oaks Apartments at 220 Maltese Ct. near State Road 436 in Fern Park, and were walking to their apartment.

A young adult black male then came up behind the couple with a gun. The suspect stole their wallets containing $35 in cash and a cellular phone, according to the incident report.

"There are some similarities based on the descriptions," said Steve Harriett, chief deputy of the Seminole County Sheriff's Office. "But, we have not absolutely tied these two incidents together."

Harriett said investigators do not believe that the two incidents are related to a string of robberies that have been occurring recently along the Interstate-4 corridor from Daytona to Orlando, primarily at restaurants and hotels.

Charter Review crew delays 'corporate welfare' debate

By Russ White
Staff Writer

SANFORD — Seminole County's Charter Review Commission will wait until Jan. 12 to decide whether the county should continue to offer lucrative incentives to large companies wanting to relocate here.

Critics call the practice "corporate welfare." Supporters say it is one of the best programs of its sort in the U.S.

"The I-4 corridor from Heathrow toward Sanford would be the AAA and sage brush if not for the incentives," said Deputy Clerk of the Court Bob Lewis.

Bob Turk and John Jones from the county's Economic Development Managing team are eager to protect the program, which they indicate returns $16 for each dollar invested. They attended Wednesday's commission meeting but realized that the issue wasn't going to be addressed. The commission met 2 1/2 hours and called it quits.

The first order of business — a proposal by commission member Jimmy Ross to adopt the county budget by ordinance — produced a two-hour debate on its own. As of now, the county's budget is adopted by resolution, as required by Florida statute.

Ross argued that a resolution does not require notice to the public be given except for the initial budget hearings — and that it may be amended without notice to the public or a public hearing.

Parade, festival highlight weekend events in Sanford and Lake Mary

By Bill Kerns
Staff Writer

SANFORD — Residents will have two opportunities to celebrate the holidays this weekend.

The Sanford Main Street organization is sponsoring an old-fashioned parade on Saturday, while the Lake Mary Historical Commission will host the St. Lucia Day Festival.

The parade along First Street in downtown Sanford will start at 11 a.m. and last until 12 p.m. Participants will start at San Juan Avenue and progress to Myrtle Avenue.

Santa Claus and several Disney characters will be among the 50 participants riding floats in the parade.

Musical entertainment will be provided by high school and middle school bands, including Seminole, Lake Mary and Lake Howell high school bands will perform during the parade, as will bands from Tuskawilla, Millennium, and Sanford middle schools.

"It will be a lot of fun," said Linda Kuhn, director of Sanford

Main Street. "It's just going to be a good, old fashioned Christmas Parade."

Another event to celebrate the Holidays taking place Dec. 12 is the St. Lucia Day Festival.

One of the most festive days of the Swedish holiday celebration, St. Lucia Day traditionally falls on Dec. 13. However Dec. 13 is a Monday, so Lake Mary is hosting festivities for the St. Lucia Festival this year on Sunday at the Frank Evans Center.

The festivities will be held See Weekend, Page 8A

No risk pick - Fisk for the Hall of Fame

The 2000 Hall of Fame ballot contains 30 names. Pete Rose, as you probably have heard, is not eligible. Of the players who are eligible, Carlton Fisk probably is the No. 1 pick by most of the Baseball Writers of America.

Each writer can pick as many as 10 candidates. We're not required to pick 10, but we can not vote for more than 10.

Fisk played 24 big-league seasons. He hit 20 more home runs eight times. He hit 376 homers, a record 351 as a catcher. His most famous home run was the one he waved fair in the 1985 World Series.

Russ White

Oddly, Fisk won but a single Gold Glove.

It would be unfathomable for Fisk not to choose a Red Sox hat for his Hall of Fame plaque even though he played 13 of his 24 seasons with the Chicago White Sox. He was Rookie of the Year in 1972 with Boston. Pudge is Boston just as Yaz is Boston.

Anyone who saw Gary Carter play ought to appreciate his skills and cast a vote for him on their Hall of Fame ballot. Carter played 19 seasons and hit 20 or more homers nine times. He was the National League's Rookie of the Year for the Expos in 1975. He was on 11 All Star teams and was the All Star MVP twice.

Tony Perez and Jim Rice are going to get consideration on the Year 2000 ballot. Both were extraordinary sluggers. I'm going to vote for them and for Dale Murphy, an especially good man who won a couple of MVP awards and hit 398 home runs. Murphy, who began his career as a catcher, won five Gold Gloves as an outfielder.

Two relievers — Goose Gossage and Rich Sutter — are eligible. Gossage, who saved 315 games, is on the ballot for the first time, Sutter for the seventh. Sutter saved 300 games and hasn't been close to being elected. Gossage will get a lot of New York votes.

A few writers are probably going to vote for Pete Rose even though he's banned from the Hall of Fame. They're wasting their time. These votes won't count. Rose has been picking up support from fans who want him enshrined. But it won't help. We'll reach Mars before Pete gets to Cooperstown.

Integrity, sportsmanship and character are supposed to be as important as a player's averages and accomplishments. No. 14 Pete Rose doesn't bat in the same league with some others when graded on integrity, sportsmanship and character. Another No. 14 does, however. His name is Gil Hodges.

I can not understand why the Veterans Committee for the Hall of Fame voting manages to skip by Hodges each year. He was the best National League first baseman of the Fifties, a great slugger and fielder. I never met a finer man in baseball than Hodges, who managed the Washington Senators and New York Mets.

Hodges once hit four home games for the Brooklyn Dodgers. He drove in 100 or more runs in seven consecutive seasons. His hands were so big he didn't need a glove. His heart was bigger. He's the No. 14 I'd like to see in the Hall of Fame.

Russ White's column appears Tuesday through Sunday in the Seminole Herald.

Oviedo plans new sidewalks

By Bill Kerna
Staff Writer

OVIEDO — The Oviedo City Council on Monday agreed to share the costs of building a new sidewalk near Jackson Heights Middle School with Seminole County.

In an effort to prevent potential traffic accidents, the Oviedo City Council earlier this month agreed to share with the county the costs of a new sidewalk and traffic light near Jackson Heights Middle School.

Oviedo and Seminole County will spend up to $60,000 toward sidewalk construction on the north side of County Road 419 from Evans Street to Academy Avenue.

In addition, Oviedo will spend up to $25,000 for the installation of a traffic signal on CR 419 at Academy Avenue, at the entrance to Jackson Heights Middle School. The School Board already has agreed to share in the funding of the traffic signal.

The Seminole County Commission in November agreed to fund one-third of both school safety projects for Jackson Heights Middle School, and requested one-third funding each from the City of Oviedo and the Seminole County School Board.

However, the School Board declined to assist in funding the project.

In denying funding to the sidewalk project by a 3-2 vote, the majority of Board members said that sidewalk construction is the responsibility of the City of Oviedo.

Residents in the area have repeatedly asked the Oviedo City Council to address the need for a sidewalk and traffic light on the north side of CR 419, complaining that children were walking to school without a sidewalk.

No date has been set for the installation of the sidewalk and traffic light.

"I'd even be willing to forego our council salaries to fund this project," said councilman Bob Dallari.

Since Sept. 30, 11 Central Florida high school children have been injured and one has been killed while walking to or from school.

There was one fatal accident at a bus stop on the Oak Ridge Road and Harcourt Avenue intersection near Dr. Phillips High School in Orlando.

New procedure replaces surgery as fix for cerebral aneurysm

Potentially deadly cerebral aneurysms are being repaired at Mayo Clinic Jacksonville without brain surgery by using tiny platinum coils and catheters the size of thin spaghetti. Patients usually go home within a day of the procedure and are spared the possible side effects, long hospitalization and recuperation associated with operating inside the skull.

The procedure is done at St. Luke's Hospital, where a new, $2 million biplane neuroradiologist suite makes it possible to see two views of the brain simultaneously. This allows a specially trained interventional neuroradiologist to use an angiogram of the patient's brain as a road map while taking live fluoroscopic X-rays to guide thin catheters inside an artery to the aneurysm. At the end of one catheter is a tiny strand of coiled platinum that is deposited in the aneurysm.

"About 95 percent of cerebral aneurysm can be reached with a catheter," says Dr. David Miller, an interventional neuroradiologist at Mayo Clinic Jacksonville and one of only 250 such specialists in the United States. "The coil also offers hope to patients you wouldn't consider operating because of their medical conditions or because their aneurysms are deep in the brain or at the back of the brain."

Miller switched his training from neurosurgery after being intrigued by the potential for using arteries as a conduit to reaching problems in the brain.

A cerebral aneurysm is ballooning or weakening of an artery deep in the brain. When it bursts, it causes a hemorrhagic stroke, which accounts for about 20 percent of all strokes and is fatal about 50 percent of the time. Coils treat a berry aneurysm, so called because its narrow neck and bulbous shape make it look like a blueberry stuck on an artery. Berry aneurysms range from about one-fifth of an inch to one inch in diameter. Ruptured berry aneurysms are the major cause of subarachnoid hemorrhage, a disease of young and middle-aged adults that kills half of those stricken and disables half its survivors.

Berry aneurysms can be treated surgically by placing a tiny, steel clamp across the aneurysm's neck. The operation takes three to five days, compared to about a day with the coils. To place the coils, Miller forts purchases a stiff, guiding catheter up the femoral artery in the leg and places it in the neck artery. This catheter acts as a guide for a second catheter, a long tube with the diameter and flexibility of cooked thin spaghetti. The coil is connected to the tip of the second catheter, which is inserted into the femoral artery and pushed up through the guiding catheter to the aneurysm in the brain. Once the coil is in the aneurysm, Miller sends a 9-volt current through the catheter to break the weld holding the coil. Depending on its size, the aneurysm is packed with just a few or more than a dozen coils.

"The coil also offers hope to patients you wouldn't consider operating on because of their medical conditions or because their aneurysms are deep in the brain or at the back of the brain."

Dr. David Miller
Mayo Clinic Jacksonville

"The coils not only slow the blood coming into the aneurysm but also attract blood, which has a slightly negative charge, causing clots to form and seal off the aneurysm," Miller says.

The coil treatment requires regular follow-up because aneurysms have been known to return in a small number of cases. Doctors also don't know how long the fix lasts, although many have been in place for 10 years or more. One advantage of surgery is that, "We can pretty much clip it and forget it," Miller says.

Cerebral aneurysms rarely produce symptoms until they burst, and then it's a life-or-death situation. But aneurysms are easily seen on modern imaging techniques such as MRI scans, and many are found when patients are undergoing diagnostic testing for other problems.

"MRIs are allowing us to find a lot more aneurysms before they rupture," Miller says. "Then the question is, what do we do about it? We used to think that the chance of rupture was about 1 percent per year, although a recent Mayo study suggests the chance might be less than we thought."

"The coil offers us a relatively noninvasive way to turn those odds in the patient's favor," Miller says.

Index vs. actively managed funds

You don't have to be a business-school graduate to realize that index funds can be great performers. But thinking that they are the only funds worth investing in could cost you.

It's hard to argue with success. Take S&P 500 index funds, for example. Up 12.92 percent through Nov. 11, these large-cap, passively managed mutual funds have provided their shareholders with an average annual total return of over 26 percent for the past five years, according to Lipper Inc. That's not too shabby for any type of fund. Ever.

A couple of reasons for the success of the S&P 500 index funds are their costs — they are cheap to manage and don't really incur transition costs because of their buy-and-hold strategy — and the market. If you take a step back and look at what's been fueling this bull market throughout the years, you'll see that the large-cap stocks come out on top.

So it makes good sense, when the market's on your side, to be a winner in a pool that's designed to reflect only what's in it. What isn't so smart is assuming that you'll always come out on top with every type of index fund.

Researchers at Morningstar, the Chicago-based mutual-fund research company, looked at the five-year performance records of seven different types of index funds and compared them with the performance of actively managed like funds. Here's a look at the different investment styles, the benchmarks and the percentages of the actively managed funds that beat their respective indexes:

- Large Growth: 6 percent of actively managed funds beat the Vanguard Growth Index over the past five years ending in December 1998.

- Large Blend: 4 percent of actively managed funds beat the Vanguard 500 Index.

- Large Value: 17 percent beat the Vanguard Value Index.

- Mid-Cap Blend: 30 percent of actively managed funds beat the Dreyfus MidCap Index.

- Small Growth: 91 percent of actively managed funds beat the Wilshire Target Small Growth Index.

- Small Blend: 54 percent beat the Vanguard Index.

- Small Value: 81 percent of actively managed funds beat the Wilshire Target Small Value Index.

As the numbers imply, index funds tend to be great performers when the type of stocks they represent — small-, medium- or large-caps — are in vogue. When they aren't, it's a stock picker's world.

John Rekenhaller, Morningstar's research director, explains why on www.morningstar.com/fundinvestor.

"Since indexes are pure plays on a particular asset class and funds are not, the bottom line must be that, when indexes are compared to generally similar funds, the indexes are rewarded for their purity during good times and punished during bad times."

So, while index funds can be great investments, don't assume that all of them will be all of the time. That means there is plenty room for actively managed funds in your portfolio. Why? Because the percentages show that, depending on asset class, there have at least been a few portfolio managers who have rewarded their shareholders more handsomely than the passively managed index funds have.

And if it's price that's been your main draw to index funds, be careful not to get too hooked on investing only in inexpensive funds.

Many investors won't even consider buying shares of an equity mutual fund if its expense ratios exceed the average, which, according to Morningstar, is currently at about 1.4 percent per year. But investing in a fund just because it's cheap to run ought not to be the main — or only — criterion for selecting it. It's just as important to take into account where it invests, who's running it, and what its track record has been.

For instance, annual expenses run high (currently about 1.96 percent per year) on David Alger's Spectra Fund.

When asked about this, Alger says that basically, you get what you pay for. And his point holds water: Through Nov. 16, the Spectra Fund's year-to-date performance is up over 44 percent, and for the last five years ending Oct. 30, its average annual total return was 33.71 percent.

How effective are water filtration systems?

DEAR DR. BLONZ: You are always talking about the importance of drinking water, but I am concerned about the safety of the water I drink. What is the difference between personal water filtration systems that latch onto your tap and those that go into the pitchers that stay in the refrigerator? I've been reading about water safety violations and how pesticides can get into water systems. Can those filtration systems filter everything out?

O.O.

DEAR O.O.: There are many factors affecting the safety of home water supplies. For those who live in industrial areas, there may be a risk of contaminants. If you live in an agricultural area, agricultural chemicals may find their way into the ground water. And even if the water coming into your house is pure, lead in your pipes or faucets could be releasing that dangerous heavy metal into the water you use.

Chlorine is a very effective disinfectant, but it represents a potential cause for concern. For more than 90 years, chlorine has been used to disinfect public water. There's a possibility, however, that the chlorine itself may pose a health risk. Not only does it kill bacteria, but chlorine can also react with natural materials or man-made pollutants to form mutagenic and carcinogenic compounds. These byproducts of chlorination can increase the risk of certain cancers, but it is doubtful that we will be seeing a cessation of chlorination anytime soon, as it represents the most economical and effective method of bacterial control at the present time.

Ed Blonz

There is always the option of having your water tested. If you decide to go this route, seek an independent testing laboratory. The EPA's Safe Drinking Water hotline, (800) 426-4791 on weekdays from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. EST, will answer questions about the safety of the water supply, where to test water and what to test for. You may also request the free booklet, "Is Your Drinking Water Safe?" from the EPA Office of Drinking Water, WH-550, 401 M Street S.W., Washington, D.C. 20460.

There are plenty of home water treatment devices on the market, ranging in price from the tens to the thousands of dollars. Inexpensive cartridge filters, for example, can grab most of the chlorine and lead and improve the taste of the water you drink. But it is only after you have found out more about the quality of your water supply that you can decide whether additional purification makes sense, and which system would be best suited to your needs.

A prudent first step is to request the annual report of water quality from the department that supplies the water to your house. The utility should be listed in your local Yellow Pages. In October, a new program by the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) called "Consumer Confidence Reporting" went into effect. This program requires water utilities to supply an annual report on what — besides H₂O — is in your tap water. In addition to telling you where the water comes from, there should be a complete list of potential contaminants, such as pesticides, herbicides, bacteria, metals, industrial chemicals and radioactive substances. These reports are to be mailed to the person who pays the water bill, so if that is not you, you should seek out the appropriate individual and make sure you are in the loop when the report arrives.

DEAR DR. BLONZ: While visiting our daughter in New York, I noticed something called "Milk for Life, Premium Fat-Free Milk." We tried it and found that it looked like regular milk, not skim. Are you familiar with this product, and is it safe? Is it available nationally?

J.C., San Diego.

DEAR J.C.: This product takes a fat-free milk and adds a blend of carrageenan (a thickener), titanium dioxide (for color) and natural flavors to change the appearance and mouth feel of fat-free milk into something that resembles a low-fat product. I haven't tried it, but the added compounds are all considered to be safe. It is manufactured in upstate New York and it is not, to my knowledge, distributed nationally. There may, however, be similar products in your local area.

Chick-fil-A awards $1,000 scholarship to Sanford student

SANFORD — Exemplary leader and student Paula Guillan from Sanford has been selected to receive a $1,000 Chick-fil-A Leadership Scholarship — bringing Florida's Chick-fil-A employee scholarship money total to nearly $1.25 million.

A nationwide total of more than $13.7 million in scholarship money has been awarded to Chick-fil-A restaurant employees since 1973. A total of 843 restaurant employees received the special award in 1998 alone.

Lake Mary Boulevard Chick-fil-A restaurant Operator Dennis Kramer nominated Guillan, who becomes the restaurant's 14th employee to receive the award since the location opened in December 1993. The scholarship money will be used toward education expenses at the University of Central Florida, where Guillan is studying psychology.

"I consider my employees as family and take a special interest in helping them achieve their potential and encourage them to further their education," said Kramer. "Paula is an important member of our team and her leadership skills played a crucial role in helping our restaurant and the Chick-fil-A chain achieve record growth in 1998."

Restaurant employees must complete their high school education; remain active in their school and community; demonstrate a solid work ethic and good teamwork; and possess strong leadership abilities and a desire to succeed in order to be eligible for the Chick-fil-A Leadership Scholarship.

Since the first scholarship was awarded in 1973, more than 13,700 Chick-fil-A employees have benefited from the program that was created by S. Truett Cathy, founder and chairman of Chick-fil-A, Inc.

"Awarding scholarships is one way to express our appreciation to restaurant employees who show us that youths can and do make a difference not only in the workplace, but also in their schools and communities," said Cathy. "Obtaining additional education will help these students continue along their paths of achievement."

Operators who have achieved a Chick-fil-A scholarship themselves, amounting to 30 percent of all Operators, are perfect examples of the success and impact the scholarship program can have on a restaurant employee's future. Chick-fil-A scholarship recipients have attended approximately 1,500 institutions of higher learning across North America.

"Paula is an important member of our team and her leadership skills played a crucial role in helping our restaurant and the Chick-fil-A chain achieve record growth in 1998."

Palmetto Avenue hosts Christmas cantata

Palmetto Avenue Baptist Church will be presenting a Christmas Cantata entitled "I'll Be Home For Christmas," which takes us back to the Christmas of 1941. The Cantata will be presented Saturday, December 18th and Sunday, December 19th at 6:00 p.m. For more information, please call (407)323-1583.

Christmas Cantata scheduled for Dec. 11, 12

Holy Cross Lutheran Church, 760 Sun Drive, Lake Mary, will be the site of a Christmas Cantata, 5:30 p.m. on Saturday, Dec. 11, and at 9:30 a.m. and 11 a.m. on Sunday, Dec. 12.

"Good News of Great Joy," a modern Christmas story, written by Carole Reindl and Deana

Schott includes original music and features music from Handel's Messiah. When a self-reliant young woman, who has always viewed Christmas as a gift exchange, finds herself in trouble during the Holidays, she finally turns to the church for comfort. There, she meets the archangel Gabriel who shows her the events leading up to and including the birth of Jesus. She meets many angels along the way and is brought to her own personal truth.

This musical tells the timeless Christmas story with power and grace, blending traditional and contemporary music and themes. Everyone in the community is invited.

For more information, call Holy Cross Lutheran Church at (407) 333-0797 ext. 6.

HOROSCOPES

Your Birthday
Friday, Dec. 10, 1999
 In the year ahead, you might spend more time than usual conceptualizing or planning endeavors relating to your career. Careful programming could help you rise to new heights.

AQUARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 23)
 Be careful not to lose patience with those who cannot grasp things as quickly as you do. Losing your cool will only drive them further in the dark and nothing will be gained. Astro-Graph year ahead predictions make great Xmas stocking stuffers for all signs of the Zodiac. Mail $2 for each to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 1758, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10158. Be sure to state the Zodiac signs you desire.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
 A smooth talking pitch-man might single you out today to partake in a something-for-nothing scheme. She or he will get the something, but you're likely to get the nothing. Be careful.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)
 A big browbeater, who in reality is ill equipped to do much of anything, could aggressively attempt to usurp your authority today. Do what it takes to maintain control of matters.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
 Having a vivid imagination is wonderful when it is used for positive visions. Unfortunately, today you could cause problems for yourself through the negative use of this splendid quality.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
 Be extremely careful you do not give any reason for friends to think you are trying to use them in some manner today. A loss of friendship could result if you become suspect.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
 Getting too coy in your business dealings today could encourage others to attempt to outsmart you in return. No one will benefit in the process.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
 Don't allow exaggerated feelings of apprehension regarding your abilities to cope with matters today overcome you. Even if something isn't a snap, you can manage it.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
 It's best not to antagonize friends today by an in-your-face support of an unpopular issue. You won't win any converts, but you could lose a bunch of pals.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 23)
 Your judgment might not be up to par today, so don't allow yourself to be placed under pressure to make any important decisions, especially those affecting your reputation or status.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 23)
 Getting angry with others for not taking care of things that you should be taking care of yourself is an exercise in futility. They'll not be intimidated into doing your work.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
 Yes, you love the good things in life, but that's no reason to be either overindulgent or unduly extravagant in your behavior pattern today. Be disciplined in all you do.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 23)
 Something you could pledge today for expeditious purposes will be taken seriously by your mate or partner. If you make a promise you don't intend to keep, it'll hurt the relationship.

Win at Bridge

More of the same

Three years ago, Marty Bergen published "Points, Schmöints!" It was so popular that he has now put out a sequel, "More Points Schmöints!" If you read the first book, you will know exactly what to expect — lots of sound advice on improving every aspect of your game. Mixed in with the recommendations are tales from tournaments and anecdotes. Here is a deal that many players would get wrong. You are in three no-trump. West leads a fourth-highest spade seven. How would you proceed?

Three diamonds is a transfer bid, showing at least five hearts. When North follows up with three no-trump, he offers a choice of games. South, with only two hearts, passes. You have six top tricks: two spades, two diamonds and two clubs. Three more tricks are available from the heart suit, but good defenders will duck the first round of hearts. Then you will need two dummy entries, one to set up the hearts and another to cash the established winners.

Bridge
 Phillip Alder

Next, apply the Rule of Eleven. Subtracting the value of the lead (seven) from 11 gives four. There are four spades higher than the seven in the North, East and South hands combined. And you, the declarer, can see all four. So, East has no high spade. This gives the answer: Win trick one with the spade ace. Then, lead the heart queen. If you win the trick, continue with the heart nine, overtaking with dummy's 10. You win East's minor-suit switch, play a spade to dummy's jack, and continue hearts to end with an overtrick. The hardcover book is available for $19.95 postpaid. Call (800) 386-7432 to order.

Allergy to paint fumes is dangerous

DEAR DR. GOTT: Whenever I am exposed to paint fumes, my tongue and throat swell. What harmful effects could result from over-exposure to these fumes?

DEAR READER: The swelling of your tongue and throat indicate an unusual degree of sensitivity to paint fumes. If you continue to be exposed to these vapors, you run the risk of experiencing a more profound reaction: swelling of the throat to the point when you cannot breathe. I urge you to avoid paint fumes to which you are allergic. To give you related information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Allergies." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2017, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I began menstruating at 13. Now, three years later, my periods are still unpredictable and irregular. What is happening to my body?

DEAR READER: When girls begin menstruating, they often experience striking irregularity and marked variations in flow. Moreover, after menarche (first menstruation), many young women may not bleed again for a year or more. Your body is probably still adjusting to the new and profound effects of increasing hormone levels. However, because you are concerned and took the time to write me, I advise you to double-check with a gynecologist. Occasionally, young women may experience correctable hormone imbalances. A specialist should be able to put your mind at ease or, if necessary, suggest a temporary treatment.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Why do heating pads often come with a warning not to use them if a person has poor circulation?

Doctor Gott

DEAR READER: When heat is applied to part of the normal body, it causes vasodilation, an opening-up of the blood vessels that carry heat away and prevent tissue damage. If a person has vascular disease, this vasodilation may not occur (because the blood vessels are too rigid). Consequently, heat from the pad will be focused on a specific area, causing potential burns and tissue damage. In addition, patients with circulatory disturbances may have lost the ability to sense heat in a particular portion of the skin. The result is that they may fail to recognize that the heating pad is too hot. While the use of heating pads on low settings rarely produces damage under these circumstances, the potential is there. Therefore, heating pads must be used with caution (or not at all) by people with vascular disease.

Widow's charming escort appears to be a cheat

DEAR ABBY: I'm a widow in my 60s, and I'm beginning to think I'm the biggest fool in the world.

After my dear husband died two years ago, I convinced myself I would never get involved with another man. I needed peace after nursing my mate through five traumatic years of cancer and a painful death.

A year ago, I met a charming man my age at church with whom I had many interests in common. He asked me out right after we met, and we have been a happy twosome ever since. He owns his own home a short distance from mine, and we've had a marvelous relationship in all ways. He told me he was divorced and that his ex-wife lived 3,000 miles away in another state.

However, after he told me that he had four unmarried, grown children but didn't feel comfortable telling them about me, I became suspicious. When he visits them in another state, he asks me not to write or call him because they "wouldn't understand." My children and grandchildren like him very much, as do all my friends.

Finally, I asked him outright if he were, indeed, divorced. After a long pause he replied, "Not yet." (After an eight-year separation!)

Noticing our friendship, church members began to approach me and advise me to back off and not get hurt. I was told he had been involved with another woman at the church for a long time before he met me, and that they had broken up for unknown reasons. The reason for this occurred to me — that she didn't want to be caught in a dead-end relationship, either.

Abby, this man won't tell me straight, but I have this strong feeling that he cheated on his wife during their marriage, and she simply moved far away. He keeps my calendar full of dates and commitments extending far into the future, and I've always had a wonderful time with him. This is apparently the kind of life he wants, but it's not for me.

I am embarrassed and hurt. Do I just say to him, "I want marriage or nothing"? I am so emotionally entangled that an abrupt severing seems beyond my ability. Fragile as it is, I feel that we have something of great value together, but I only visualize an empty future together. Your thoughts, please.

IN LIMBO IN WASHINGTON

DEAR IN LIMBO: Politely put, your charming escort is a cad and a liar, and I'm sorry your heart is hurting because of his dishonesty. You deserve better.

Ask him to come clean and tell you if he and his wife are really washed up or not. You seem like a lovely woman with terrific instincts, and you already know what you have to do.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: Here's another solution for the woman whose neighbor uses her hose and water to water his own lawn and shrubs. Most faucet handles have a screw in the middle. Even without the screw, you can use the faucet. And when you're done, the handle can be removed and taken into the house. It worked for us.

SHARON L. PUYALLUP, WASH.

DEAR SHARON: Thank you for a helpful suggestion. I hope it will help the woman who wrote to stop the drip next door!

Lean OR Mean?

George Foreman's electric grill put to the test of claims, challengers

Former heavyweight boxing champion George Foreman has single-handedly elevated the portable electric grill to star status.

Besides Salton — which makes the cookers bearing the ex-champ's name — other manufacturers have jumped on the bandwagon by updating these once ugly ducklings with beefier grates, hidden heating elements and nonstick cooking surfaces.

Largely gone are the grills of yesteryear — those that cooked with radiant heat from an exposed heating element under a thin wire rack. Today, most grills cook by conduction, which tends to heat more evenly. In a conduction grill, food is typically placed on a heated, heavy-gauge slotted grate. The grease drips into a removable pan. Some double-sided conduction grills look like a waffle iron, with their heating elements under two solid, ribbed cooking surfaces. A separate container on the counter collects the grease.

In outdoor grills, that grease would drip onto hot coals or rocks and vaporize, creating smoke that imbues food with a distinctive flavor. While the browning and flavor may be less intense with indoor cookers than with outdoor grills, you still get the nice grill marks. To evaluate the new crop of electric grills, we cooked burgers, chicken, vegetables and fish steaks on eight models. Because they maintain modest temperatures (around 400 F compared with 800 F or more on an outdoor grill), all our test grills made fine shish kabobs, and most did at least a good job grilling chicken and mahi-mahi. We saw clear performance differences, however, when we cooked hamburgers, which need a high temperature to sear their surface.

The best — and rated "excellent" overall — were the Hamilton Beach Health Smart 31610 ($60) and the West Bend Heart Smart 6100 ($50), which grilled the meat perfectly with deep sear marks. Rival's Crock Grill 5730, a retro-style radiant model, turned out hamburger patties (and many other foods in our other tests) that were unevenly cooked. And burgers made in Salton's carousel-shaped George Foreman's Party Grill GR70 ($70) appeared more steamed than grilled. (The manufacturer told us the glass lid should be on when cooking.) Both the Rival and Salton's Party Grill were rated "good" overall.

Rated "very good" was Salton's $60 George Foreman's Lean Mean Fat Reducing Grilling Machine GR20. The manufacturer claims the Grilling Machine reduces 4 percent more fat from a 6-ounce hamburger than pan-frying. Our tests, however, revealed otherwise. We cooked identical burgers from 80 percent lean ground beef on all the grills and in a plain frying pan. We let the grease drip for a few seconds after taking the burgers out with tongs, then analyzed their fat content. We found no significant difference in fat among any of the burgers.

Yet George Foreman's GR20 Grilling Machine is noteworthy in at least one respect: Unlike its namesake, whose capacity for food is legend, the grill can accommodate just four quarter-pound burgers at a time. (A larger version, the $100 GR30, can handle six.) By comparison, Hamilton Beach's Health Smart holds nine.

All the grills did a good job of containing cooking juices — there was little splattering no matter what we grilled. The process does generate goop on the grills, but for the most part they're fairly easy to clean.

Other grills and their ratings:
• T-Fal Multi-Grill Excello Barbeque 78806 ($100). Rated "very good," it cooks well, but its dial settings are poorly marked.
• Krups Canyon Deluxe 341 Smokeless Indoor Grill ($100). Rated "very good," but harder to clean than most.
• DeLonghi Alfredo 3-in-1 CG-236 ($100). Rated "good" overall. It has two-sided cooking with the lid closed; double the cooking area with the lid open.

Engineering magnet program planned at Lyman High School

By Bill Korns
Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — A new engineering magnet program will begin at Lyman High School next in August of next year.

The Institute of Engineering Technology magnet program will be established for students interested in science, math and computer applications. The program will have two tiers, one for students who intend to study engineering in college and the other for students who do not wish to be engineers, but was careers in high-tech fields.

Lyman and Lake Howell are the two smallest high schools in the Seminole County school district, with student populations of 2,100. The program is intended to ease concerns the school's enrollment.

The target enrollment for next year is 100 students in the program, said Lyman High School Principal Sam Momary.

"We've already started getting calls just by word of mouth," Momary said.

Areas of specialization available in the program will include architectural engineering, electrical engineering, network engineering, civil engineering, and graphic design.

Other available programs include architectural design, interior design, electronics, computer repair, computer programming, network construction and management, construction management and technology, landscape agriscience, television production, and computer animation and graphics.

The program will be open only to ninth graders during the first year. It will open to additional students during the second and third years.

"One of the programs that is new to the district is the network management program," Momary said. "You can graduate from the program and receive certification to manage the hardware and software of a network. A salary in the thirty's and forty's isn't bad for an 18-year old kid fresh out of high school."

Incoming ninth graders interested in the program will be required to have at least a 2.5 grade point average. Applications will be accepted during the spring registration period for the 2000-2001 school year. The program is open to students throughout the Seminole County school district.

In addition to meeting standard graduation requirements, students in the program will be required to take a minimum of four credits each of math and science, as well as complete a senior internship and project. Students must maintain at least a 2.75 grade point average without "D" or "F" grades and take a seven credit schedule to remain in the program. A course sequence will be designed for each student's area of specialization.

Transportation will be provided for students living more than two miles from the school.

Students will take core academic courses linked to engineering and computer technologies. Dual enrollment opportunities will be available at Seminole Community College and the University of Central Florida.

Participants will take an Introduction to Engineering course their freshman year to orient them to the different types of engineering programs available.

New classrooms will be built this summer for the program as part of a $22.5 million expansion project at the school.

The expansion project will be performed in four phases over the next five years.

The first phase of Lyman High School renovations will include developing new parking and traffic patterns, building a new kitchen, renovating the current kitchen building into six classrooms, and refurbishing a classroom building. It will cost an estimated $3.9 million. Student parking will be expanded by 137 spaces to a total of 484 spaces.

A covered outdoor dining area will be developed during the kitchen renovations. In addition, the old carpeting in Classroom Building 3 will be removed, and the building will receive new paint.

Phase two, expected to start in the third year with an estimated cost of $8.6 million, will include a new auditorium with band and chorus areas. An additional 21 classrooms will be built.

Starting in the fifth year, at an estimated cost of $7 million, phase three will include the renovation of three classroom buildings, plus the gym lockers and lobbies. Building three, known as the Round Building, will be demolished. In addition, a central Courtyard would be developed.

Phase four, at an estimated cost of $740,000, calls for renovating the vocational buildings and replacing the concession building.

The Seminole County School Board is also looking to upgrading Lyman High School's deteriorating swimming pool. Among the possibilities, the board is looking to negotiating with Seminole County and Longwood to replace the pool. The board would like to build a community swimming pool similar to the one under construction at Seminole High School.

from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. at the Lake Mary Museum in the Frank Evans Center. There will be a wide variety of Swedish food, and a Christmas Tree decorated with Swedish ornaments that travel from city to city depending on where in Seminole County the festival is held. The St. Lucia Festival is being sponsored by the Lake Mary Historical Commission.

Since 1989, the festival has been held in different Seminole County cities on a rotating basis. Sanford hosted the counties first Festival on the shores of Lake Monroe in 1989.

The Swedish have a rich tradition in Seminole County. Many families of nearly 100 Swedes who were transported by city founder General Henry Sanford in the 1880's in exchange for labor in his citrus groves remain in the county.

St. Lucia Day is known as the Festival of Light in Sweden, where early in the darkened morning of the holiday young girls rise to serenade their parents and teachers with songs about Christmas and the saint. Their costume is completed by a crown of lingonberry leaves or silvery tinsel, and sometimes the crowns are lit with candles or small lights.

St. Lucia is an early Christian martyr who is traditionally depicted by a halo of light because, according to legend, she could not be harmed by fire.

A young girl from the province of Varmland, legend says that St. Lucia sailed in a large ship bringing food to the starving during a terrible famine. Lucia's name means light.

She has become a symbol of light in Scandinavian countries since St. Lucia Day falls near the winter solstice, the longest night of the year.

According to the calendar used in the middle ages, the holiday was actually the longest night of the year. Peasants tried to eat three breakfasts before dawn. The extra food was supposed to help against the dark. Lucia is first noted historically at the end of the 18th century.

A Stockholm, Sweden, daily newspaper started the first Lucia festival in 1927. Since then, St. Lucia has been considered a traditional holiday.

This has been a busy Holiday season in Sanford and throughout Seminole County.

Light Up Sanford was held this past Saturday in Magnolia Square in downtown Sanford, ushering in the holiday lighting of the downtown historic area.

incident at Bayhill Lane in Longwood, Cerasoli started screaming and refused to let go of her purse. The suspect hit her with a chrome handgun on the left side of her face, according to the incident report.

She continued to hold onto her purse and scream until the suspect ran away, the incident report said.

Emergency officials treated Cerasoli at her apartment for two large bumps on her face and several small cuts, the report said.

Seminole County Sheriff's Office deputies contacted several neighbors who witnessed the incident. The suspect is described as a black male, 5'8" to 5'10" tall, with short black hair and shaved sides.

In the second incident at the Regency Oaks Apartments in Fern Park, the suspect ordered Fitch and Helmick to turn over their belongings, including their wallets and a cellular phone.

As he was walking away, the suspect admonished the couple not to look at him, the report said.

He is described as a dark-skinned black male with a smooth, clear complexion, well-spoken, approximately 6'01" with close-cropped hair, wearing dark pants and a loose light-brown shirt. The gun was described as a silvery flat handgun, which appeared to be a semi-automatic pistol, according to the report.

Units from the Seminole County Sheriff's Office and the Casselberry Police Department tracked the scene with a K-9 until losing the scent.

The victims' wallets held their identifications, credit cards, and a total of about $35 between them, the report said. They contacted the customer service numbers for each credit card. The card numbers were found to have not been used since the robbery, and each one was canceled.

BRIEFS

SOFTBALL MEETING
SANFORD - The City of Sanford Recreation and Parks Department will hold an organizational meeting for its Polar Bear Slow Pitch Softball Leagues on Monday, December 13th at 6:30 p.m.

The meeting will take place in the Downtown Youth Center on the first floor of Sanford City Hall on the corner of Park Avenue, Seminole Boulevard and Commercial Street.

Leagues will be offered for Men, Co-Ed, Church, Women and Industrial teams.

Contact Jim Schaefer at 407-330-5687 for more information.

BASS CLUB FORMING
LAKE MARY - Lake Mary Bassmasters, a newly formed Federation Bass Club, is seeking new members.

We are looking for boaters as well as non-boaters. All who are interested in more information are invited to Bob Evans in Lake Mary, on the 2nd Tuesday of the month, starting in January, for our 1st meeting at 7 p.m.

Please come early to meet others and eat prior to the meeting. Our 1st tournament will be on January 16th, 2000.

For more information please call Jim Lorman 407-328-9821 or Mike Kirkpatrick 407-321-3555.

JOHANNING SIGNS
SANFORD - Seminole Community College sophomore first baseman/designated hitter Ben Johannning has signed a letter-of-intent with the University of North Florida in Jacksonville.

The 6-foot-4, 220-pound righthander from Osceola High School in Kissimmee was drafted out of high school in 1998 and hit .420 with 14 home runs and 59 RBI as a freshman for coach Jack Pantelias' Raiders.

50-OVER BASEBALL LEAGUE AT UCF
ORLANDO - Want to play hardball, perhaps one more time?

A league at the University of Central Florida for Players at least 50 years old in 2000 (born 1/1/51 or before) is looking for good...or at least willing...players.

"We will play a six game plus tournament season, January 10 to February 28, with games on Monday nights," said Loren Knutson of UCF's Recreation Services. "Teams from last year remain intact, and can recruit up to three players for their rosters."

New players will be drafted onto teams as available.

Practices are set for Dec. 13 and 16, and Jan. 3 and 6 from 7 p.m.-to-9 p.m. at UCF's Intramural Field #1.

The cost per player is $25, with an additional $12 for uniforms. Entry deadline is Jan. 6.

"We play a short fence and a close backstop, limit the pitchers to two innings and the games to two hours," said Knutson.

So break out the lint and give it a try. Call (407) 823-2408 for information.

OVIEDO LITTLE LEAGUE SIGN-UPS

OVIEDO - The Oviedo Little League will be holding registration for its 2000 season over the next two months.

Registration fees are the same as last year - $70 for first child and $60 for each additional family member. You must bring an original birth certificate.

Silver Hawks still soaring

Hoffar, Prado lead Lake Howell to rout of Seminole; Winter Springs, Lyman also pick up big hoops wins

By Dean Smith
SPORTS EDITOR

SANFORD - A year ago they were the best team in Central Florida and despite only returning one starter, the Lake Howell Silver Hawks don't seem to have missed a beat.

Wednesday evening at Bill Fleming Memorial Gymnasium, the Silver Hawks handed host Seminole its second big loss in as many meetings already this season, 55-32. The two teams had also met in the Rotary Tournament at Winter Park last Friday.

The only returning starter for Lake Howell (3-2), senior Brad Hoffar, led the Silver Hawks with 12 points, while M. Prado came off the bench to add 11 points. Winston James, who transferred from Winter Springs this year, chipped in with nine points.

Arrow Force VII (0-5) got a game-high 15 points from sophomore Marcus Robinson, while fellow sophomore Robby Dupre had eight.

Seminole will be at Lyman for a 7:30 p.m. game on Friday.

OVIEDO - The championship may be out of reach, but the PDS-Hackers are still trying.

Monday at the Oviedo Sports Complex the Hackers played their best game of the season, crushing AT&T Wireless, 22-0, in the City of Oviedo Women's Class C Fall Monday Night Slow Pitch Softball League.

Former Lake Mary High School and Valencia Community College star Theresa Walburger tossed a three-hitter, the defense only committed one error as compared to the 8-or-9 during a three-game losing streak, and the PDS offense counted 10 extra base hits among the 23 safeties it collected as the Hackers improved to 5-4 on the season.

Former Oviedo High School basketball star Carrie McAuliffe carried the big stick in this game, blasting a home run and two doubles to finish the night 3-for-4, scoring four runs and

BEARS GROW AGAIN

WINTER SPRINGS - Donovan Daniels continued his hot scoring as the Winter Springs boys basketball team claimed its second straight district victory this week, 69-42, over Lake Brantley Wednesday night.

Daniels, who scored all nine of his points in the fourth quarter of an upset of DeLand on Monday, toiled in a game-high 15 points and helped the Bears race to a 42-28 halftime lead.

Martin and Brown also scored in double figures for the winner's, pouring in 13 and 10 points, respectively.

Junior Brandon Grubbs led the Patriots (0-3) with 10 points.

Winter Springs (2-1) has one more big game on its plate this week, traveling to Lake Mary for a 7:30 p.m. game on Friday, while Lake Brantley also has a major task, hosting DeLand at 7:30 p.m. on Friday.

LONGWOOD - Lyman boys basketball coach Norm Ready must have given his charges a good talking too at halftime as the Greyhounds broke away from a tight 18-14 lead by out-scoring visiting Flagler-Palm Coast from Bunnell, 43-11, in the second half to rout the Bulldogs, 61-27.

James Simpson led all scorers with 17 points as Lyman outpointed Flagler-Palm Coast 29-9 and 14-3 over the final two quarters to improve to 2-1 on the season.

Dominick Cleveland was also in double figures, scoring 11 points and Chris Daasau and Terry Cross added nine points each for the winner's.

The Greyhound junior varsity remained undefeated after two games, running past the Bulldogs, 75-61.

Lyman will stay at home for its next game, hosting Seminole in a district contest on Friday at 7:30 p.m.

Industrial League up for grabs

By Dean Smith
SPORTS EDITOR

SANFORD - A week ago it looked like the City of Sanford Recreation and Parks Department Fall Industrial Slow Pitch Softball League was over.

But after previously undefeated Metalade dropped a doubleheader at Pinehurst Park on Friday, things are wide open.

Ruben Garcia opened the night's first game with a double and later hit a two-run home run, also in the top of the first inning, and before the frame had ended Eric Church had also hit a two-run home run and Howey Stout singled in two runs as Briar/BBM Corporation plated 11 runs.

Briar/BBM Corporation would only get five more runs, but it was more than enough to clobber Invacare, 16-3, in five innings.

Second place Kemco used a six-run third inning to erase a 3-2 deficit and held on for a 9-6 victory over Metalade.

Third place Briar/BBM Corporation then pulled off the trick, scoring six runs in the first inning and four runs in the third inning to roll to a 13-3 run-rule victory over Metalade.

The other game never came off as the Wayne Densch B-53's got a 7-0 forfeit from Invacare.

Metalade fell to 7-2 and now leads Kemco (6-3) by just a game. The Wayne Densch B-53's (5-4), Briar/BBM Corporation (4-5) and Invacare (0-8) completes the standings.

The league plays a triple-header every Friday night at Pinehurst Park starting at 6:30 p.m.

Providing the offense were: Kemco: three hits - T. Griffin (home run, run, four RBI), R. Bacak (two runs); two hits - D. Christy and B. Parsons (one run and one RBI each), T. Kracht (two RBI), D. Rivera (run), S. Kracht; one hit - G. Martin (run, RBI), K. Butler (run); one run scored - M. Hennessey.

Metalade: three hits - Eric Mayhew (two doubles, RBI); two hits - Chip Smith (double, run, RBI), Robert LaFontaine and Jamie Ray (one run each); one

Serious business for Indy Racing League teams at Disney open test

Special to the Herald

LAKE BUENA VISTA - Fifty-five days have flown by since Greg Ray celebrated his Indy Racing League championship at the start-finish line and Mark Dismore wept tears of joy in victory circle as the race winner at Texas Motor Speedway.

That's history now. It's time to start all over again.

It's time to work toward becoming the first major race winner in the new millennium.

Twelve teams and at least 14 drivers will launch the 2000 season with the annual Indy Racing League Open Test at Walt Disney World Speedway Dec. 10-11. What the teams learn in this test and a follow-up test Jan. 5-6 on the 1-mile tri-oval at Disney will go a long way in determining who will challenge for victory in the season-opening Delphi Indy 200 on Jan. 29 at the facility.

The teams will check out newly designed chassis from Dallara, G Force, and Riley & Scott, the Oldsmobile Aurora and Nissan Infiniti 3.5-liter engines - reduced from the 4.0-liter displacement of the past three seasons - and for some teams, Firestone tires for the first time. Firestone is sole tire provider for the coming season after Goodyear withdrew from the Indy Racing League and CART after the 1999 season.

Most noteworthy will be the sweeter sound of the new 3.5-liter engines. New crankshafts that change the engine firing order alter the pitch and tone of the new engine significantly.

Eddie Cheever Jr., 1998 Indianapolis 500 champion, is the defending race champion. A resident of nearby Orlando, Cheever and his brother Ross already completed a shakedown run at the track.

Everything is new for the veteran who spent the first 12 years of his career driving in Formula One. Last season he won at Walt Disney World Speedway driving a Dallara/Aurora but returns this year at the wheel of a Riley & Scott/Infiniti.

"We just finished a short shake down test with the new Infiniti," Cheever Jr. said. "I was pleased with the power of the engine."

"With the newness of both tires and engine package, we'll be focused most on figuring out the handling with the Firestone tires while continuing the endurance development of the engine program."

Eddie Cheever has, as usual, lofty goals for the 2000 season: Providing Infiniti with its first Indy Racing Victory, becoming a two-time winner at Indy and capturing his first season championship.

"Our team sees it as a matter of course," said Ray, whose three victories last season helped propel him to the league title, returns in the Team Menard machine. Next month Ray will make his third try at winning at Walt Disney World Speedway, having only a 25th and 21st place finish to show for his first two attempts.

Kelley Racing is back with its steady pair of drivers, Mark Dismore and Scott Sharp. Each won a race last season. Scott Goodyear won twice and begins his third season with Pennzoil Panther Racing.

Buddy Lazier won the 1996 Indy 500 with Hemelgam Racing and continues as the team's driver. Buzz Calkins won the inaugural Indy Racing League event in 1996 at Walt Disney World Speedway. Last year he was running at the finish of every race and completed the most laps while driving in the races between classes at Northwestern University, where he is working on his master's degree in business administration.

Sam Schmidt was cleared this week by Dr. Kevin Scheid but will wait until the second Open Test in January to pilot his Treadway Racing machine along with new teammate Robby McGehee. Schmidt suffered severe foot injuries in the season-ending race at Texas. McGehee will shake down Schmidt's car at this test, too.

Two other veterans taking part in the test are Tyce Carlson and John Hollansworth Jr. Hollansworth made his first Indy Racing appearance at this test last year. The entire team is back, along with Hollansworth's new driving teammate, rookie Alton Dare.

Jeret Schroeder drove to 15th place as a rookie at Indy last season and then spent the rest of the racing year running in other series.

That persistence paid off as Schroeder was hired by Tri Star Motorsports, jointly owned by Larry Curry, Tony Stewart (1999 NASCAR Winston Cup rookie of the year), Andy Card and Rick Ehrgott.

"Our goal is to run for the Sprint PCS Rookie of the Year Award," Schroeder said.

"Larry Curry (former Team Menard team manager) certainly has a fine reputation as a team manager, and we all know Tony Stewart's talents. Making the 1999 Indy 500 was a dream come true, and we almost came home with a top-10 finish. We'll all be working hard to do even better in 2000."

Tri Star owners chose Schroeder because they wanted a mature but yet still young driver who has shown a talent for the sport," Curry said.

Schroeder turned 30 on Nov. 13.

Two-time Indianapolis 500 winner Al Unser Jr., who recently signed with Galles Racing, will make his Indy Racing League debut at the second Open Test at Walt Disney World Speedway, Jan. 5-6.

HORNISH PASSES INDY RACING LEAGUE ROOKIE TEST AT ORLANDO LAKE BUENA VISTA

Rising open-wheel talent Sam Hornish Jr. passed his Indy Racing League rookie test Dec. 6 at Walt Disney World Speedway in a car prepared by PDM Racing.

Hornish, 20, turned 115 laps on the tricky, 1-mile tri-oval at Walt Disney World Speedway, passing all four phases of the rookie test in a G Force/Aurora car fielded by PDM owners Paul Diatlovich and Chuck Buckman.

"It was very good," Hornish said. "I had a lot of fun. It's not everyday you get a chance to drive an IRL car. PDM Racing made it easy for me. The car was underneath me the whole time. I didn't have to worry about the car. It is definitely easier with a solid car.

"Hopefully I can keep going in this direction." Indy Racing League Director of Racing Operations Brian Barnhart and Indy Racing driver Tyce Carlson were the veteran observers at the test.

"Sam has impressed everyone here," Carlson said. "He ran consistent and smooth laps. I know Chuck, Paul and PDM Racing can put a good car under him. It looks like he's going to be competitive from day one."

Said Barnhart: "He did a nice job. Orlando is not the easiest racetrack to get acquainted with one of these cars. He picked right up on it."

Hornish, from Defiance, Ohio, finished seventh overall in 1999 in his first season in the KOOL/Toyota Atlantic Championship. He was the top-placing rookie in the series and won the event at Chicago Motor Speedway.

He finished seventh in the U.S. F2000 point standings in 1998 against a field that included 1999 Indianapolis 500 Bank One Rookie of the Year Robby McGehee. He also has competed at SCCA Club Racing ovals and is a former national champion in World Karting Association-sanctioned racing.

Hornish now is eligible to compete in the season-opening Delphi Indy 200 at Walt Disney World Speedway on Jan. 29.

"Sam did a great job out there," PDM co-owner Dlatlovich said. "We are very pleased with his level of talent. He will make an excellent addition to the IRL."

ORLANDO SPEEDWORLD

BITHLO - The Thrifty Nickle sponsored Mini-Stock 50-Lap End of the Year Championship plus regular division racing in the Late Model, Limited Late Model, Modified, Sportsman, Mini-Stock and Bomber classes will be held this Friday night at Orlando Speedworld.

Speedworld is also collecting toys for the Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Orange and Volusia counties. Bring a new unwrapped toy to the front gate this Friday (12/10) and receive $2 off the regular adult admission (not valid with any other discount).

Also Gator Golf/Your Season Tickets Sports Pub, Orlando Speedworld and New Smyrna

Speedway will match "toy for toy" and all toys will go to the Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Orange and Volusia counties!

Gates open at 6 p.m. and racing begins at 8 p.m. every Friday night at the track located 17 miles east of Orlando between Orlando and Titusville on Highway 50 at the 520 Cocoa Cutoff.

Tickets are $10 for adults at the front gate and kids 11-and-under free. Also, trackside parking is offered along turns 1 and 2. The first 25 cars or vans (no motor homes, please) will receive free admission for their cars (drivers and passengers pay regular price). Tailgate parties welcomed and encouraged.

Ritz Theatre
SEAT PROJECT
Imagine... a comfortable theatre seat with your name on it... forever.
Seat sponsorship is a great way to touch a lot of people. Whatever your reason - business promotion, pride, memorial of a loved one, or just because it feels good - sponsor a new seat and help complete the Ritz Community Theatre Restoration Project.
Sponsorship of a $500. seat in the Ritz Theatre entitles you to have your name or business, or the name of a loved one, engraved on a plaque and permanently affixed to a seat.
