Chicago May Get First Black Mayor

CHICAGO — Supporters of Rep. Harold Washington, the 60-year-old son of a precinct captain in this city's famed Democratic political machine, claimed a razor-thin victory early Wednesday morning in the hotly contested three-way race for his party's mayoral nomination.

Al Raby, Washington's campaign manager, said: "We're absolutely certain of victory." "We have forced Jane Byrne to spend every penny of her $10 million campaign fund and she is now broke and unemployed."

Washington said as the final returns were being counted: "By today's vote, the Democratic Party has been returned to the people."

Mayor Jane M. Byrne told her cheering supporters,

"It's too close to call." But Alfred Ronan, her precinct coordinator, said his figures showed that Washington would win the primary by 12,000 votes, and with it a solid chance to become Chicago's first black mayor.

Since 1931 the Democratic primary nomination has assured victory in the general election later.

Shortly before midnight, the camp of Richard M. Daley, the 40-year-old son of the late Mayor Richard J. Daley, conceded defeat. "It's over," said William Daley, his brother's campaign manager. In his concession statement the candidate vowed to support his party's eventual nominee.

With 2,859 of the city's 2,914 precincts reporting, the totals were:

Washington 410,780
Byrne 380,840
Daley 339,277

While the unofficial vote totals in Tuesday's record turnout of 1.28 million voters showed that the race was still close, the remaining uncounted votes were from predominantly black areas where Washington was receiving at least 75 percent of the vote.

U.S. Attorney Daniel K. Webb said Tuesday night that he would seek to have all Chicago ballots impounded after they are counted to allow his staff to check their integrity, and guards were posted over counted ballots.

Bernard Epton, the Republican candidate for the April 12 general election, was unopposed in his party's voting,

Saudis Move To Avert Oil Price War

United Press International

Saudi Arabia and three other Persian Gulf members of OPEC tried today to halt the global oil price war and to rescue the 13-nation cartel from near collapse amid signs they must lower their $34-a-barrel benchmark price.

There were indications the Gulf producers, meeting in Riyadh, would cut rates in line with OPEC-member Nigeria's $5.50 slash to $30 a barrel, matching reductions by non-OPEC competitors Britain, Norway and the Soviet Union.

In Mexico City, authorities said the non-OPEC nation will announce an oil price reduction Friday. Mexico, the No. 1 oil exporter to the United States, charges $32.50 a barrel for its best crude and $25 for less desirable oil.

In Washington, Energy Secretary Donald Hodel predicted world oil prices would plummet to around $25 a barrel and stay there "through the next year," giving American motorists a big break at the gas pump.

Gold plunged $25 an ounce Thursday in New York because of fears OPEC would be unable to halt the slide in oil prices.

Spot prices for gasoline and home-heating oil sank about 5 cents a gallon on the U.S. market and spot crude fell by more than $1 a barrel in Europe.

Saudi Oil Minister Sheikh Ahmed Zaki Yamani said he was meeting today with OPEC ministers from the United Arab Emirates, Kuwait and Qatar to reach a new agreement on oil prices.

Non-OPEC Bahrain and Oman also attended the Gulf Cooperation Council talks that began Tuesday in the Saudi capital. Formed in 1980, the Council includes Bahrain, Oman, Saudi Arabia, the United Arab Emirates, Kuwait and Qatar.

DUI Test Refusal Can Be Evidence

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court, settling a long-standing controversy over drunken driving laws, ruled 7-2 Tuesday a motorist's refusal to take a blood alcohol test can be used as evidence against him in court.

The justices overturned a South Dakota ruling that found the introduction of such evidence violates a driver's Fifth Amendment protection against self-incrimination.

"A refusal to take a blood alcohol test, after a police officer has lawfully requested it, is not an act coerced by the officer and thus is not protected by the privilege against self-incrimination," Justice Sandra Day O'Connor wrote for the court.

Returning from a four-week recess, the justices also:

—Ruled 7-2 that public broadcasters need not offer captioned television programs for the nation's 13 million deaf people.

—Set off a major trademark controversy by permitting Parker Brothers to be stripped of its monopoly on Monopoly, the famous real estate board game.

—Gave the government a chance of raking in $40 billion more through the oil windfall profits taxes by agreeing to review a ruling striking down the levy.

—Ruled in a Pennsylvania case that a prison inmate could not be transferred to solitary confinement without a hearing.

—Agreed to decide whether the government can ban the use of photographs or illustrations of U.S. currency.

The drunken driving dispute began in 1980, when the South Dakota legislature passed a bill aimed at helping prosecutors in cases of defendants accused of driving while intoxicated.

The bill allowed a prosecutor to introduce in court the fact that an allegedly drunken driver refused to submit to a "breathalyzer" test for determining blood alcohol content. At least 11 states have similar laws.

The case before the court involved Mason H. Neville, who was arrested in Madison, S.D., on charges of driving while intoxicated on July 19, 1980. He refused to take the breath test.

At a pretrial hearing, prosecution witnesses testified about Neville's refusal to take the test and said that he told police, "I'm too drunk. I won't pass the test."

In other actions, the high court:

—Announced the justices will test the constitutionality of a Los Angeles ordinance forbidding posting of signs on public property.

—Said it will consider whether accounting firms may claim working papers used to prepare taxes for corporate clients are confidential.

—Rebuffed a plea by federal judge Alcee Hastings, acquitted of criminal charges earlier this month, to decide whether a sitting federal judge can be prosecuted.

—Agreed to review a ruling that blocks the government from proceeding against Shell Oil Co. on charges of unlawful job discrimination at its Wood River, Ill., refinery.

—Reversed 5-4 a federal judge's decision that had thrown out an Ohio man's murder conviction because his jury considered evidence of a prior guilty plea to an attempted murder charge.

—Ruled 8-1 that a union cannot sue an employers' association under federal antitrust law and accuse it of trying to weaken or destroy the union.

Soviets Urge OPEC Unity

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union has called on the Organization of Petroleum Countries to close ranks to halt plummeting oil prices, warning the cartel faced "the most crucial test" in its history.

The commentary in the Communist Party daily Pravda reflected Moscow's concern over the impact on Soviet oil exports of a possible price war within OPEC following steep price cuts this week by Britain, Norway and Nigeria.

"In the past the members of OPEC managed to overcome their difficulties," Pravda said. "Now this organization is facing the most crucial test of its entire history."

"Either it will preserve unity and consequently strength, or the oil-exporting countries will find themselves separated in the face of the counter-offensive of the West and its imperialist monopolies."

Askew Is Fourth Democrat Running For President

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Gov. Reubin Askew of Florida today became the fourth Democratic contender for the party's 1984 presidential nomination.

Askew made no attempt to build suspense about his intentions. A press release issued last week said Askew "will make a formal announcement of his presidential candidacy at a press conference at the National Press Club at 9:30 a.m. on Feb. 23." He planned to fly to Florida later to make the same announcement in Tallahassee.

The release even gave Askew's nutshell summation of his qualifications: "I seek the presidency because I truly believe I have a combination of experience, insight and skill that qualifies me in a special way to lead this nation during this time of transition."

Askew, 54, is the second Democrat to announce for the nomination this week and the fourth this month. Sens. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., and Gary Hart, D-Colo., were first. In former Vice President Walter Mondale announced Monday. Sens. John Glenn, D-Ohio, and Ernest Hollings, D-S.C., are expected to declare later.

The former Florida governor will be regarded as the most conservative of the Democratic field.

Although he was considered one of the "New South" governors who turned away from racial segregation during his 1971-1979 tenure, he also has distanced himself from many of the liberal policies espoused by the other candidates.

Askew said Tuesday in a television interview that polls which show him to be a long shot have "very little relevance as to who eventually wins." The picture could be changed by "hard work ... and talking and speaking to the issues," he said.

A non-smoking, non-drinking and hard-working executive, Askew was elected governor promising to reform the state tax system and was able to get his proposals adopted.

Human Freedom Must Be Guarded

Little satisfaction can be taken from the latest international surveys of freedom and human rights. Brutal repression is being practiced worldwide by governments of the left and right.

The annual assessments of the State Department and Freedom House demonstrate dramatically how rare and fragile are the political and civil rights enjoyed by citizens of the Western democracies and a few other states.

Although the degree of freedom permitted residents of most countries ebbs and flows with shifts in political tides, little overall change has taken place during the 10 years of Freedom House studies.

Only 36.2 percent of the world's population lives in freedom today, a negligible increase over the 35 percent of a decade ago.

Particularly shocking is the plight of the people of Vietnam, where the communist regime holds more than 60,000 political prisoners, who never have been brought to trial.

Almost as dismaying is the deterioration of legal rights in South Africa, where increasing opposition to repugnant apartheid has led to rule by administrative fiat.

Even nations, such as Israel, governed by thoroughly democratic institutions, succumb to temptations to violate basic rights in the name of security. It is a tragic paradox that Israel, created as a homeland for a people who suffered savage Nazi persecution, should trample on the rights of Arabs in the occupied territories.

Ironically, publication of the latest surveys coincides with resumption in Madrid of the international conference on the Helsinki accords. That treaty, signed in 1975, pledges signatories to respect human rights, territorial integrity, and self-determination.

But there is no evidence whatsoever the communist parties to the pact ever adhered to the human rights provisions.

Indeed, the once-promising advances of freedom in Poland have been cruelly reversed. The Soviet Union continues the degrading punishment of dissidents with painful and powerful drugs. The Soviets douse tribesmen of Afghanistan and Southeast Asia with lethal "yellow rain." And they build the natural gas pipeline to Western Europe with slave labor.

If there is any consolation in the surveys, it is the inching forward of freedom in Latin America.

Although repressions continue in Cuba and human rights retreat in Nicaragua, there is movement toward democracy in Argentina, Uruguay, and Brazil, which already has held general elections.

Moreover, findings of encouraging progress in El Salvador and Guatemala are a welcome sign the Reagan Administration's human rights policy is working.

It is, we think, worth noting that the administration's attempt to promote human rights in friendly nations through quiet diplomacy is proving much more effective than the loud and largely futile moral indignation repeatedly expressed by the Carter administration.

The precious rights and freedoms too often taken for granted by those privileged to enjoy them are the envy of millions who are denied such blessings. The melancholy contents of the State Department and Freedom House surveys warn anew how vigilant we must be to preserve human liberty.

BERRY'S WORLD

© 1983 by Jim Berry

"Sometimes, I wish I hadn't made Harold take me to see 'Gandhi'!"

Joyriding in stolen autos is the main reason for vehicles being taken, but a new and serious twist has been added to what has become one of the most difficult crimes to solve. Instead of just driving the vehicle and dumping it when it runs out of gas or is crashed, auto thieves are deliberately setting fire to expensive vehicles.

During last year 50,000 automobiles worth $180 million were stolen in Florida and most of these were recovered with little or no damage, say law enforcement officers.

But in the last few months law enforcement agencies have been alerted to the new trend after nine cars stolen in the Orlando area have been found totally destroyed by fire.

One vehicle, a reconditioned 1963 Mercedes 220SE worth $30,000 was stolen from downtown Orlando at about midnight on January 7. Nearly an hour later it was found about 10 miles away in an orange grove near the Days Inn on Sand Lake Road in south west Orange county. The blue and silver convertible which had been lovingly restored was a burnt out wreck.

In Seminole County last year 177 vehicles worth $598,279 were stolen and there were only 21 arrests. In 1981 there were 143 vehicles stolen with 43 arrests.

It can be a traumatic experience having your car stolen not only because of the considerable inconvenience and worry over whether it will be crashed or destroyed, but because of the worry over whether it will ever be seen again.

It is said by psychiatrists that cars are mere extensions of our personalities and to have one's "personality" taken for a ride, so to speak, can be an unnerving experience.

Police advise that drivers should always make sure that the ignition key is removed even if the vehicle is left for a very short time. The vehicle should always be locked and, if possible, protected by a reliable burglar alarm.

ANTHONY HARRIGAN It's A Time Of Decision

The most important decision facing America's leaders in the year ahead will involve the strategy to be employed in dealing with domestic and global recession.

Will our leaders in the Executive and Legislative branches concentrate on the domestic recession or will they opt for a global strategy aimed at boosting the economies of all the free world and Third World economies?

The question is not entirely clearcut, of course, because there are important links between the U.S. domestic economy and the international economy. The United States has huge investments abroad. It also has loaned vast sums to foreign countries. Nevertheless, there are different approaches which the U.S. must consider.

Powerful forces will come to bear on the American leadership to attempt a global bailout of countries now in a depressed condition. For example, Denis Healey, deputy leader of Britain's Labor Party, recently declared that "the International Monetary Fund and the World Bank need an immediate increase in their resources so that they can finance continued growth in the Third World, many parts of which now face the risk of mass hunger and revolution."

The United States already has launched a rescue operation for Mexico, which is on the verge of default. A bridge loan also has been provided to Brazil, which has an enormous foreign debt.

The arguments for assisting or bailing out troubled nations often are compelling. On the other hand, when funds are provided to the IMF, the World Bank or debtor nations, it means that American companies will have a more difficult time borrowing money. Without that money, they will be hard put to modernize, expand facilities, and provide new job opportunities. American business, especially small business and business that is oriented towards the U.S. domestic market, should understand that very clearly. Every foreign bailout operation threatens this type of enterprise.

Foreign aid in all its forms is a direct threat to American business because the U.S. government hasn't any money to give away. Funds for foreign aid have to be borrowed, and each government borrowing squeezes the business borrower.

The United States engaged in a mammoth rescue operation with the Marshall Plan after World War II. In this writer's judgment, the United States is not in a position to launch another Marshall Plan or bail out every country that is in trouble. The U.S. may have to focus on a strategic few, such as Mexico and Brazil. Such an operation, however, would take the United States to the limit of its recession-weakened capabilities.

The well-being of the homefront must come first.

USIA Gives Aid To Right Wingers

WASHINGTON — The U.S. Information Agency, which is supposed to seek favorable publicity abroad for the United States, is now helping foreign governments get favorable coverage in this country.

The agency is teaching Latin American and Arab officials how to handle American newspaper and television reporters. This delicate indoctrination is directed by Ian MacKenzie, who used to be a registered agent and publicity man for the late Nicaraguan dictator Anastasio Somoza.

Despite MacKenzie's best efforts, poor Somoza never did overcome his public-relations problems. Now other right-wing regimes will be able to learn the MacKenzie methods.

The public-relations training will cost the American taxpayers $170,000, which has been funded for this purpose to a conservative outfit called the Mid-America Committee for International Business and Government Cooperation.

USIA officials, who said they were unaware of MacKenzie's background, insisted that the purpose of the seminars is to see that the American public is given balanced reporting about

ROBERT WALTERS

The Local Fiscal Crisis

VALLEJO, Calif. (NEA) — Ted MacDonell, the city manager in this northern California community, has been forced to practice what he calls "cutback management" — a constant search for ways to reduce rather than expand municipal services.

In Fairfax, Calif., 20 miles west of here, a municipal government on the brink of bankruptcy is seriously considering the option of dissolving itself into an unincorporated community, thus transferring to the county the burden of providing police, fire and other necessary services.

In Oakland, Calif., 17 miles south of here, identifying municipal programs and services which can be reduced to compensate for the city government's continuing revenue shortfall has become an increasingly difficult task.

"There is nothing non-essential going on here," says Lynn Suter, an Oakland official who notes that the city has closed four fire stations, drastically reduced police services and slashed other programs 50 percent or more in recent years.

Similar crises facing communities all across the nation can be ascribed to a variety of causes. The National Conference of State Legislatures offers this analysis:

"The recession is the most important consideration, since people who are unemployed pay little if any income tax and relatively little sales tax, while companies with low profits pay little if any corporate income tax."

A comprehensive NCLS survey suggests that the projected shortfall of revenues in all 50 states — the difference between the income they initially expected to receive during the current fiscal year and recently revised, far lower estimates — ranges from just under $8.5 billion to more than $10.1 billion.

Only three states — Alaska, Massachusetts and Montana — do not expect any revenue shortfall, but the problem is especially severe in nine other states — Arizona, Colorado, Idaho, Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Nevada, New Mexico and North Dakota.

Those reductions directly affect cities and counties because states desperate for funds invariably seek to slash the transfer payments they make to local governments.

Here in California, for example, the state plans to reduce financial assistance to local governments by $106 million in the current fiscal year, which ends on June 30, and an additional $400 million in the following fiscal year.

Noting that President Reagan is seeking to slash federal assistance to state and local governments by $57 billion during the three years from 1982 to 1984, the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees attributes much of the current fiscal crisis to White House policies:

"Cuts in federal domestic assistance already enacted in the first two years of the Reagan administration have pushed state and local governments — and the people dependent on the services they provide — near the brink of disaster. Further cuts would push them over the edge."

Claiming that "the heaviest cuts have fallen precisely on the areas of the country that need help the most," the AFSCME analysis offers this regional overview:

"New England has suffered the highest per capita losses in low-income energy assistance, while the Midwest has been most affected by the reduction in employment and training programs. Nutrition programs were cut most severely in the South and highway programs were slashed most deeply in the West."

JEFFREY HART Williams, National Resource

The economist Walter Williams stood at the lectern in a banquet room of the glittering new hotel in United Nations Plaza. He is six and a half feet tall, a basketball player's build, and handsome. His eyes laughed through his eyeglasses, and he touched his tiny goatee with one forefinger.

Seated at the luncheon tables before him were some of the major intellectuals of New York and Washington, as well as journalists, people from city and state government and the foundations, and of course fellow economists.

Walter Williams was going to be naughty. As he made his points, you heard a sudden intake of breath from some in the audience.

Illustrated with specifics, often hilarious ones, was his central thesis: that while racial discrimination may be morally regrettable, it is also economically irrelevant.

This is the thesis of his brilliant and revolutionary new book, "The State Against the Blacks" (McGraw-Hill), which reflects the last decade of Williams' ground-breaking work as a scholar and economist.

It is one of those seminal works that force us to see reality in an entirely different way, and for me that is one of the most exciting of all intellectual experiences.

Walter Williams is a master of statistics, and it is central to his case that all immigrant ethnic groups — Irish, Jewish, Italian, and especially Asian — have faced serious discrimination. Yet, he points out with his statistics, all have managed to climb the American opportunity ladder.

Blacks, too, earlier in this century, began to climb the ladder in exactly similar ways. They had a willingness to work, and for lower wages; they had entrepreneurial spirit and the willingness to move into new industries and into regions of the country where opportunity beckoned. Like other immigrants — though they were internal immigrants — they went into the railroads, street-vending, crafts, low-skilled jobs. They learned the work ethic and the skills that went with it.

What happened? Government, at all levels, took a hand.

One level was that of greed. An Italian immigrant in 1925 could write "Taxi" on his car and pick up fares. Today, in New York and other cities, it costs a small fortune to buy a taxi "medallion." Regulation excludes blacks. In 1925, an Irishman could buy a truck and he was in business as a trucker. Today, elaborate Interstate Commerce regulations freeze the black out; he cannot "duplicate" existing routes, even if he is willing to work for less.

Williams believes that the federal government overestimated the effects of discrimination and underestimated the power of the marketplace. Even a prejudiced employer, for example, might well be willing to hire unskilled blacks at $2.00 per hour, rather than their white equivalents at $3.50 per hour. The present minimum wage laws, however, allow the employer to indulge his racism without economic penalty. Without such regulations, Williams argues, the racist might still hire whites at a higher wage.

In the propaganda war. On the other hand, Marxist guerrillas ... are on record as fully understanding the importance of winning — over American opinion through the U.S. media ...

In strictly educational terms, MacKenzie's Latin American seminar was a little one-sided politically. The trainees' only meetings on Capitol Hill were with an aide to Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., and a member of the Republican Policy Committee.

The second seminar will be held here next month. Those invited on the free junket include press officers from such oil-rich countries as Saudi Arabia, Kuwait and Qatar, as well as from Egypt, Jordan, Lebanon, Algeria, Yemen, Oman, Morocco, Tunisia and the United Arab Emirates — all of which the Reagan administration is cultivating. Oodly, Syria is also invited, even though it is on the official State Department list of governments which support terrorism.

Conspicuously absent from the guest list is Israel. Asked for an explanation, a USIA official responded that Israel is "the last country in the world" that needs help in handling the media.

Murphy Is Ineligible Board Turns Down Appeal, Lions Forfeit 3 Wins

BY SAM COOK
Herald Sports Editor

Ronnie Murphy has played his last basketball game for Oviedo High School. Actually, Murphy participated in five more games than he was supposed to.

Murphy, who averaged 26 points and 16 rebounds a game this year, had his special hearing request turned down by the Florida High School Activities Association executive committee Tuesday morning. Oviedo was attempting to restore Murphy's eligibility after he had failed to pass four courses, then made up two incompletes which Oviedo Principal Charlie Webb felt restored his eligibility.

"The panel voted not to waive provisions of (by-law) 17-7.3," said Fred Rozelle, executive secretary of the FHSAA. "The panel would have needed to waive that provision for him (Murphy) to be eligible."

Simply, Murphy received incomplete grades which kept him from passing four classes which a student needs to do to keep his eligibility. Murphy's circumstances (he was suspended for ten days for a disciplinary problem) did not qualify him to make up the work and re-establish his eligibility.

Prep Basketball

Murphy played the first 18 games for Oviedo as the Lions compiled a 12-6 record. The semester grades came out on Jan. 25 and Murphy had three passing grades and two incompletes, thus making him ineligible. He sat out until Feb. 5 when he returned against Bishop Moore. During the span he missed, the Lions won three and lost one.

From Feb. 5 until Feb. 18, after making up his incompletes, Murphy played in five games. The Lions won three of those games—Lyman, Wymore Tech and Kissimmee Osceola. Ironically, Murphy was the deciding factor in each game, scoring at the buzzer to beat Lyman and Wymore Tech and making a free throw after time had expired to beat then unbeaten Osceola.

All three victories will be forfeited, according to Webb. "We feel very badly that it occurred," said Webb Tuesday. "I feel bad for Ronnie and the other schools who we played an ineligible player against. Mr. Rozelle and I didn't communicate very well with each other."

Although aware of the situation involving Murphy, Rozelle did not know Murphy had made up his work and began playing again. While at a Feb. 12 FHSAA board meeting, Lyman Principal Carlton Henley asked the "particulars" of the Murphy situation. Rozelle said he hadn't received any word on it from Webb.

Later that week, Rozelle, as is standard procedure, sent Webb a letter telling Webb the situation should be resolved before the district tournaments.

It was then (when he received the letter) that Webb realized he and Rozelle were interpreting different by-laws.

Apparently, Rozelle and Webb had a misunderstanding about which rule should be used to interpret Murphy's situation. Webb was interpreting by-law 19-8-1 while Rozelle was interpreting 19-7-3. Webb contacted Rozelle about Murphy's situation as soon as it surfaced. Webb understood the rule as saying Murphy could make up the work during the allotted time (10 days) and regain his eligibility.

"It was a misunderstanding," said Rozelle Tuesday afternoon. "The rule Mr. Webb was applying had to do with a previous school year and courses which could not be completed during the school year like agriculture for various reasons."

So, Murphy was ineligible from Jan. 25 on. Webb applied for the special hearing to try and salvage the five games and/or the remainder of the season. The district tournament begins tonight at Bishop Moore in Oviedo. Although the Lions do not play until Thursday against Lake Mary at 6:30 p.m.

Webb was satisfied with the ruling. "I can readily see why the board ruled like it did," said Webb. "If they allowed Ronnie to regain his eligibility, it would open the door for a lot of other circumstances (problems)."

Webb emphasized that this was the first time something like this had happened during his career as a principal and that Ronnie Murphy has not failed a course this year at Oviedo. "We have a nice young man (Murphy) here who is not in academic trouble. We're going to live with the rules of the association."

Murphy has already signed a basketball scholarship to play at Jacksonville University next year.

Rams Fall In Final Seconds

By CHRIS FISTER
Herald Sports Writer

BROOKSVILLE—For the second consecutive game, there were tears streaming from the eyes of Lake Mary's basketball players. But, this time, they weren't tears of joy.

Brooksville Hernando's Dorincia Warren canned a free throw with four seconds remaining here Tuesday night to give the scrappy Lady Leopards a 46-45 victory over the Lady Rams in the 3A-4 Region Championship. Warren's free throw completed a three-point play as Hernando celebrated the thrill of victory only seconds after it was feeling the agony of defeat.

"I can't describe how it feels," Hernando coach Walter Cermak said. "They (Lake Mary) beat us on the boards and had better outside shooting, but I think we were a little quicker and the home crowd definitely pumped the kids up."

Lake Mary's Peggy Glass connected on two free throws to give the Rams a 45-43 lead with 38 seconds remaining. With 16 seconds left, the Rams' Lisa Gregory came up with a steal but was immediately fouled. Gregory missed the front end of the one-and-one situation and Hernando came down and eventually spotted Warren underneath for the tying basket.

Lake Mary, which finished the season with a 21-7 record and the District 3A-8 championship, called two time outs to try and ice Warren, but she swished in the charity toss to provide the margin of victory.

"We didn't play good defense and that's where we got beat," Lake Mary coach Bill Moore said. "We missed a lot of layups too, that's something we didn't do in the districts."

Neither team got off to a very fast start as the lead changed hands five times in the first quarter. Michelle Swartz converted an offensive rebound late in the quarter to give Lake Mary a 9-8 lead.

It seemed that anything the Leopards were throwing up was going in the second quarter. The Lady Leopards, 21-4, came out firing in the second half, too, and made 5 of 7 shots from the field and 6 of 8 free throws to take a 24-18 lead at the half.

Lake Mary, which led 11-8 early in the quarter, made only 4 of 12 shots from the field in the second quarter and was just 1 for 6 from the free throw line. Swartz was the only Lady Ram who was hitting in the first half as she posted 10 of 18 points.

The Lady Rams cut Hernando's lead to three points on two different occasions in the third quarter, but the scrappy Leopards, a team that consists of only seven players, kept answering back. Marcy Lee's jumper gave Hernando a seven-point lead, 34-27, with less than a minute left in the third quarter and the Leopards led by six, 34-28, going into the fourth.

Hernando took its biggest lead of the night of eight points, 38-28, on Sharon Waymire's layup off the tip of the fourth quarter. Lake Mary cut the lead in half with five minutes remaining as Peggy Glass made two free throws. With 3:17 remaining, Lisa Gregory hit a jumper to tie the game at 39-39 and, with 1:47 remaining Kim Averill's bank shot gave Lake Mary its first lead since the second quarter, 43-41.

Hernando's Monica Hysell tied the game at 43-43 as she made 2 of 4 free throws in a 30-second span. Glass then hit her two free throws with 38 seconds left to set up the uncanny turn of events in the last 30 seconds.

After Warren's three-point play, Lake Mary still had a chance to win or at least tie. With two seconds remaining Gregory had apparently stolen a Hernando inbound pass not more than 15 feet away from Lake Mary's basket. A Hernando player reached in and ripped the ball loose, knocking the ball off Gregory and out of bounds as the Rams last breath was exhausted.

The way the brackets are set up for the 4A-9 District Tournament at Seminole High, top-seeded DeLand and second-seeded Seminole have a good chance of going head-to-head in the finals.

The only teams in the district to beat Seminole, 22-9, during the regular season, were DeLand (twice) and Lyman, both of whom are in the upper bracket. On the other hand, the only district team to beat DeLand in the regular season, Daytona Beach Mainland (twice), is in the second bracket with Seminole who beat Mainland twice.

"The way it's set up, we should meet DeLand for the championship," Seminole coach Chris Marlette said. "But anything can happen in districts and you can expect every team to be at its best."

The Tribe will open with Apopka Thursday night at 8:30 p.m. Seminole has also beaten the Blue Darters twice this season, the last time was a 72-55 blowout at Apopka in which Willie Mitchell poured in 25 points and Calvin "Kiki" Bryant added 22.

"They (Apopka) have some good athletes and shooters," Marlette said. "We'll have to be at our best throughout the entire tournament."

Apopka's big gun is guard Spencer Bridges who tossed in 16 points the last time the two teams met.

Both Mitchell and Bryant have been shooting the daylights out of the basket recently for the Tribe while Jimmy Gilchrist and William Wynn have been tough underneath and Vernon Law has been handing out eight assists per game. Seminole also has the deadly outside shooting of Steve Alexander off the bench along with the tough defensive play of Bruce Franklin, the quickness of Stephen Grey and added strength underneath in Tracy Holloman.

"It should be Mainland and us in the semi-finals in our bracket and DeLand-Spruce Creek in the other bracket," Marlette said. "Spruce Creek scares me more than any other team. I'm glad they're not in our bracket." Seminole beat Spruce Creek twice this season but just barely on both counts.

In the opening round Wednesday night, Lake Howell goes up against DeLand followed by Lyman against Spruce Creek. "Lyman-Spruce Creek could be a good game," Marlette said. "But it will be tough for Lyman without Tom Felter."

Preceding the Seminole-Apopka game on Thursday night is Lake Brantley against Mainland. Mainland's mainstay is high scoring Will Anderson while Lake Brantley's leader is 6-4 senior Paul Hoffman who averages 21 points per game.

Lake Howell isn't given much of a chance against DeLand's Bulldogs but other teams have been known to get stung because of looking ahead to its next opponent. DeLand has the talented Chase Brown who was Seminole's nemesis in their two meetings this season while Lake Howell is led by high-scoring Efreem Brooks.

Lyman and Spruce Creek will probably be the best opening round matchup. The Greyhounds run a patent offense and look for the best shot while the Hawks like to run with Rod McCray leading the break. Alexis Cleveland is the leading scorer for the 'Hounds while Rod Hillman runs the offense at point guard. Willie Cooks leads Spruce Creek in scoring and McCray is next in line.

Friday's semi-final action will include games at 7 and 8:30 and Saturday's championship will begin at 8 p.m. with the junior varsity championship at 6:15

Walker Jumps To New Jersey

ATHENS, Ga. (UPI) — The University of Georgia announced today Heisman Trophy winner Herschel Walker has passed up his senior season of college football to sign a multi-million dollar contract with the New Jersey Generals of the U.S. Football League.

Walker insisted last Friday that he had not signed a contract with the Generals, but a university spokesman said "new information" presented Tuesday to Georgia athletic director and football coach Vince Dooley made it "apparent" that Walker "has engaged in actions which would cause him to be ineligible according to NCAA regulations."

Walker, an All-America running back all three of his seasons at Georgia when he rushed for 5,259 yards and scored 52 touchdowns while leading the Bulldogs to three straight Southeastern Conference titles and the 1980 national championship, was scheduled to fly to Orlando, Fla., this afternoon to join the Generals at their training camp.

Earlier reports had the Generals offering Walker $16.5 million, $1.5 million as a bonus and $2.5 million for each of six years.

"According to information made available Tuesday, Walker had agreed last Thursday to enter into agreement with a team from the United States Football League," said the Georgia spokesman. "He later changed his mind in accordance with provisions of the agreement."

"However, since these actions do render Walker technically ineligible we understand he has now decided to sign an official contract with the Generals of the USFL."

The spokesman said the detailed information was brought to the attention of Dooley late Tuesday by Georgia assistant coach Mike Cavan, who had been contacted by officials of the USFL.

Governor Makes Major Goof In Budget Proposal

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Gov. Bob Graham made a $75 million mistake in his $11.3 billion budget plan by proposing an illegal tax on U.S. government bonds and calling for repeal of a non-existent tax break.

Graham budget aides acknowledged the mistakes late Tuesday and will be scurrying around today searching for ways to balance the budget proposal unveiled by the governor on Monday.

Graham recommended $750 million in taxes, including a $143 million increase in the intangibles tax.

Graham proposed boosting the intangibles tax from $1 per $1,000 of value to $1.50 and collecting the tax on all securities including those issued by the U.S. government. Aides now admit Florida can't legally tax federal government securities.

The governor also recommended removal of the exemption for bonds issued by states other than Florida and by cities other than those in Florida. It turns out that no such exemption exists.

Israel Rejects Reagan Offer Of Help In Lebanon

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Israel today rejected President Reagan's offer to guarantee the security of its northern border and said Jews — not U.S. Marines — should fight for the Jewish state.

"We thank President Reagan for his willingness and magnanimity," Foreign Minister Yitzhak Shamir told the World Assembly of Jewish War Veterans in Jerusalem. "But this cannot serve as a substitute for solid security arrangements" with Lebanon. Shamir said before going into a meeting with U.S. envoy Phillip Habib for talks on the withdrawal of foreign forces from Lebanon.

Reagan offered to guarantee Israel's northern borders Tuesday in a bid to speed up the slow-moving U.S.-led talks between Israel and Lebanon on force withdrawals, future relations and security.

The Israeli-Lebanese talks have bogged down over Israel's demands for a 27-mile security zone in south Lebanon, including three to five Israeli-manned outposts to monitor possible guerrilla activity in the area.

Israel has rejected Reagan's Middle East peace plan calling for a Palestinian entity on the occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip and for a freeze on Jewish settlement in those areas.

Hostages In 'Poor Shape'

VALLETTA, Malta (UPI) — Libyan hijackers holding 159 hostages on a Boeing 727 said some 30 children aboard the plane are "in poor shape," a Malta newspaper reported today. Maltese officials prepared emergency health facilities.

Prime Minister Dom Mintoff, 66, heading negotiations with the three armed Libyan hijackers from the airport control tower, suspended talks Tuesday but officials said he would resume the talks today.

The hostages have been held on the plane since Sunday night. No food or water has been put on the plane since it was seized.

Officials in Malta, an island nation in the Mediterranean, said 30 children, including four infants, were among a total of 159 hostages on the craft.

Teens Want Confidential Birth Control Service

A Reagan administration proposal that was to go into effect Friday, endangers confidentiality for girls 17 and under seeking birth control pills or devices from clinics receiving money from Uncle Sam.

The proposed regulation — dubbed the "squeal law" by foes, including medical groups — would require family planning facilities receiving federal funds under the Family Planning law to tell parents within 10 working days when daughters obtained prescriptions for birth control pills, diaphragms or intrauterine devices.

Proponents say parents have a right to know what their children are doing. They argue that the proposed rule is justified by Congress' declaration it wants to encourage "family participation" in birth control decisions.

The regulation's startup date is in doubt, however, as a result of a ruling last week by U.S. District Judge Henry Werker in Brooklyn, N.Y.

The jurist enjoined the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services from enforcing the "squeal law" pending a test of its legality.

He acted in response to a court challenge by the American Civil Liberties Union and New York State. Another challenge, led by Planned Parenthood Federation of America and the National Family Planning and Reproduction Health Association has been heard in Washington, D.C.

Adding to the controversy, the Department of Health and Human Services said it would appeal Judge Werker's ruling that temporarily blocked the "squeal law's" startup.

Nationwide, family planning groups, medical organizations, and others opposed to the proposal, claim it would lead to an increase in teenage pregnancies — now about 1.2 million a year with half going to term.

Many family planning clinics receive federal funds, enabling them to provide birth control prescriptions and devices at little or no charge to those who cannot pay.

Foes of the law gained strength last week from a report by Johns Hopkins University investigators. It showed confidentiality of services to be the single most important consideration teenagers select a particular birth control clinic for the first time — especially girls aged 16 and under.

The report was published in Family Planning Perspectives, journal of the Alan Guttmacher Institute, an affiliate of the Planned Parenthood Federation of America.

In his ruling asking for a legal test of the parental notification regulation, Judge Werker said: "The parental notice requirement is invalid because it contradicts and subverts the intent of Congress. Common sense dictates but one conclusion: the deterrent effect of the regulation will cause increased adolescent pregnancies."

The Johns Hopkins study, by associate professor Laurie Schwab Zabin and Samuel D. Clark, Jr., involved 1,243 teenagers frequenting 31 family planning clinics in eight cities.

The facilities included two school-based clinics, a neighborhood clinic, and clinics in hospitals. The clinics were in Atlanta, Baltimore, Cleveland, Denver, New York, Pittsburgh, St. Paul and Seattle.

The report said the importance of confidentiality "is particularly true for white teenagers aged 16 or younger — 61 percent cited it as a contributing reason for attending a specific clinic and 25 percent said it is the most important reason."

"For teenagers of all ages and races, the next most important reasons for attending a particular family planning clinic are staff that care about teenagers and a location close to their homes."

"The fact that friends attend a particular clinic and that the clinic is the only one the young woman knows about were also ranked very high."

"Other reasons cited by teenagers were that the people who perform the examinations are women, the clinic is the least expensive facility known and the doctors are believed to be competent."

Social Security Bailout Plan Approved

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A key House panel, swiftly approving the bulk of a $165 billion Social Security rescue bill, held off on the touchy issues of raising the retirement age or allowing emergency borrowing from general funds.

The Democratic-dominated House Social Security subcommittee tentatively endorsed a package Tuesday including speedier payroll tax hikes, a benefits tax, a six-month pension freeze and requirement that new federal workers join the retirement system.

The subcommittee, rejecting several conservative amendments, hewed closely to the plan developed by the National Commission on Social Security Reform and endorsed by the White House and congressional leaders.

It made only two major changes, recommending 36 million beneficiaries get a cost-of-living hike for 1983, whether inflation automatically triggers it, and proposing self-employed workers get a $250 million one-time tax credit.

The subcommittee also altered the formula for determining when benefits of better-off pensioners will be taxed, but the change raises the same amount of money.

Asked why his subcommittee worked so quickly, Rep. J.J. Pickle, D-Texas, said, "These are national issues that have been discussed in the press and Congress over and over again. No surprises were offered. Committee members had time to make up their minds."

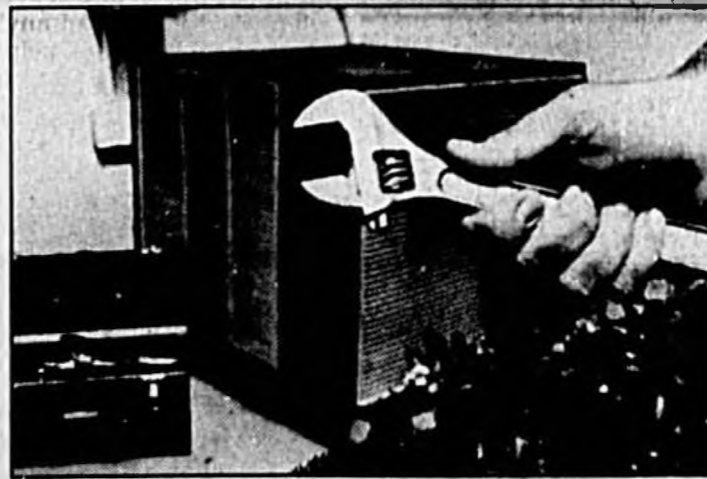

He added, "We also left out the controversial things."

The committee postponed until today the issues of dealing with Social Security's longterm debt — whether by raising the retirement age or other means — and making sure it pays benefits in a crisis, such as by allowing standby general fund borrowing.

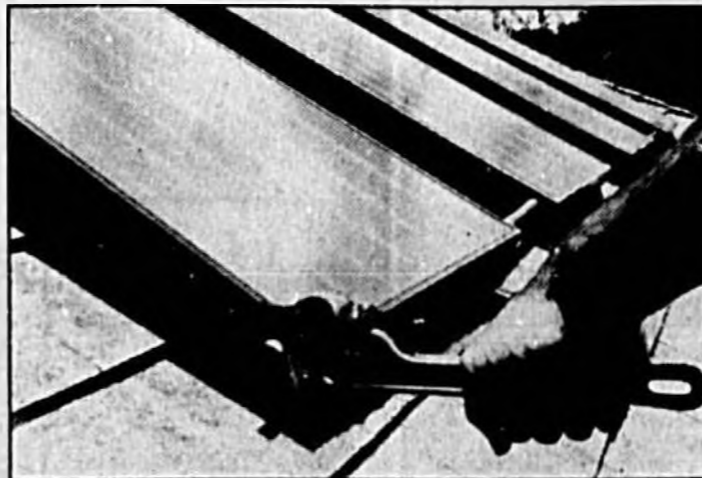

When you have these energy savers added, we'll subtract part of the cost.

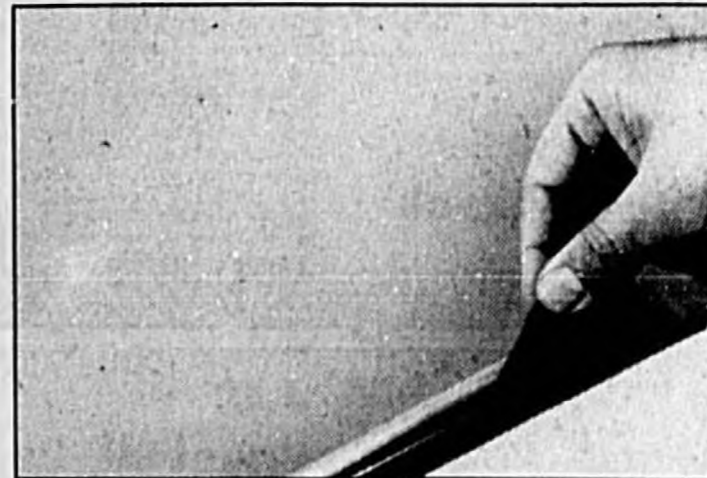

Ceiling Insulation

An Efficient Air Conditioner

An Efficient Water Heater

Solar Film

FPL will actually pay you to conserve electricity four ways:

Our Cooling & Heating Incentive. FPL will pay up to several hundred dollars towards the cost of having an older, inefficient air conditioning system or heat pump replaced with a qualifying high efficiency system.

Our Ceiling Insulation Incentive. FPL will pay up to $300 towards the cost of having ceiling insulation installed.

Our Water Heating Incentive. FPL will pay up to several hundred dollars towards the cost of having an inefficient water heater modified or replaced with a solar water heater, water heating heat pump or heat recovery system.

Our Solar Film Incentive. FPL will pay up to $150 towards the cost of having solar-reflective film installed.

To qualify for the last three incentives, work must first be recommended by an FPL Home Energy Audit.

Will everyone benefit from Watt-Wise incentives?

Yes. These incentives are less costly than the oil necessary to generate the electricity wasted by inefficient homes. Every 600 kilowatt-hours of electricity not used is a barrel of oil no one has to pay for. This also helps us postpone the building of expensive power plants. The less oil we use, and the less new building we have to do, the more we can help hold the line on everyone's electric bill.

For more information on how to qualify or to arrange for a Home Energy Audit, send us the coupon or call the Watt-Wise Line at 1-800-432-6563.

The Watt-Wise Products Program. Another way we're working hard at being the kind of power company you want.

Cooks Of The Week

Oviedo High School Class Goes South Of Border

By LOU CHILDERS
Herald Correspondent

Today's high school home economics student learns a lot more in class than your basic cooking requirements. In fact, second year students at Oviedo High School who have completed Food and Nutrition can elect to take Specialized Cooking and really get into some pretty fancy foods.

Ruth Metcalf's third period class has five cooking groups. They decided for their first project this semester to go South of the Border. Dwayne Johnson, a senior at OHS and spokesman for his group said, "This 'week' Monday we handed out the recipes we selected for our class to do. On Tuesday we reviewed all the recipes in class, and on Wednesday the rest of my group, Laurie Shaffer, Jeff Greene and I went to Meat World to do the shopping for the meal."

Laurie added that Thursday the class did pre-cooking so the entire meal could be enjoyed Friday.

Their menu included tortillas stuffed with Taco Filling and Mexican Sauce, Potato Loaf, Azteca Casserole and for dessert, Mexican Wedding Cookies.

Dwayne Johnson's group was in charge of making the Taco Filling and Mexican Sauce. The Potato Loaf was prepared by Bridgett Hamilton, Ana San Miguel, Sherna Wimberly and Annette Scott. The grand tortillas were whipped up by Paul Pizzatola, Tina Romans, Jody Huggins, and Shara Green. This group all agreed tortillas are "a snap to make."

The Azteca Casserole was proudly taken to the table by cooks Cathy Carter, Colleen James and Cathy Zilno. "We love this casserole because it has everything in it — lots of spice," they all insisted.

The grand finale for this Mexican fare, the Wedding Cookies were prepared by three bachelors, Robert Boone, Daren Jefferson and Curtis Williams.

SHIRT FITS TO A 'T'

"My first hug came from Central Florida Regional Hospital" tells the story. Barbara and Darwin Fedder adjust the t-shirt on their latest baby, Jared, as they prepare to take him home from CFRH. The t-shirt is a gift from the hospital Auxiliary to babies born in CFRH since it opened last June. The total at press time stood at 480.

Reading Opens Wonders Of World

DEAR ABBY: I just read the letter from the librarian in Winter Park, Fla., who asked if you had any words of wisdom to help promote reading in young people.

Thank you for reminding children that our libraries are filled with books that will open new worlds, real and imagined, and they're all there free. Abby, urging children to read is important. But children cannot discover the world of books unless that world has been opened to them first. That is the responsibility of parents and teachers.

Since television came on the scene, it is estimated that two out of three American children do not read because they either cannot read or they hate to read.

May I recommend the "Read-Aloud Handbook" by Jim Trelease (Penguin Books)? This fine book suggests practical and effective ways in which parents and teachers can inspire children to develop the habit of reading.

FLORENCE IN ARLINGTON, VA.
DEAR FLORENCE: On your recommendation I bought a copy of the "Read-Aloud Handbook." For openers this caught my eye:

"You may have tangible wealth untold: 'Caskets of jewels and coffers of gold. 'Richer than I you can never be — 'I had a mother who read to me.' (Strickland Gillilan)

As I read this treasure of a book, I became more and more fascinated with its contents. Listed were hundreds of books appropriate for children of all ages — books containing fairy tales, biographies, history and poetry.

Dear Abby

More important, the author tells how to coax children away from television, and how to improve their language skills, awaken their imagination and create a real thirst for knowledge and entertainment through reading. I regret that this book was not available to me while my children were growing up. I give it my unqualified recommendation.

If you can't find the "Read-Aloud Handbook" locally, write to: Children's Book and Music Center, 2500 Santa Monica Blvd., Santa Monica, Calif. 90404. Send $5.95, plus $1.50 for postage and handling.

California residents please add 39 cents for sales tax. No tax is required for out-of-state shipments.

I realize that money is tight these days, but I urge parents of infants, as well as teachers who are responsible for the education of children 3 years old and older, to get this book. It's the best lifetime gift you can give a child.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 19-year-old housewife with a 13-month-old baby boy. My problem is I always seem to start an argument with my husband over the slightest little thing. For example:

He has started to grow a beard, knowing I don't like beards. I stupidly asked, "Who are you growing that for?"

Of course he got mad and we had a big fight. Now he's threatened to walk out on me, and I really need him for my sake as well as the baby's. Can you give me some advice on how to keep my big mouth shut? STUPID IN ARDMORE, OKLA.

DEAR STUPID: Think twice before you speak. And make sure your brain is engaged before you put your mouth in gear.

If you hate to write letters because you don't know what to say, send for Abby's complete booklet on letter-writing. Send $2 and a long, stamped (37 cents) self-addressed envelope to Abby, Letter Booklet, P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.

Rice Vegetable Dish Is Economical, Satisfying

It isn't always easy to cut corners on the budget and still have appetizing, satisfying meals. One way to save money in the kitchen is to serve rice frequently.

Inexpensive in itself, rice stretches the more expensive foods combined with it into more numerous servings, making a little go a long way. In the case of Rice and Vegetable Dish, it acts as a full-fledged main dish with meaty flavor and satisfaction; and yet, outside of the chicken broth used, there is no meat in it. Less expensive Cheddar cheese supplies the needed protein.

This is a dish to make all in one skillet. The rice, of course, is cooked separately and is best done by the directions on the package say the Rice Council home economists.

It may be cooked just before using or it may be cooked hours or days ahead and refrigerated. The dish is economical of the homemaker's time, too.

Rice and Vegetable Dish is colorfully appropriate for lunch or supper. Accompany it with a hot green vegetable and cool molded fruit salad plus rye crackers or bread. Follow it with something chocolate—pie, cake, cookies or ice cream—and coffee, tea or milk.

RICE AND VEGETABLE DISH

- 1 cup chopped onions
 - 1/2 cup chopped green pepper
 - 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
 - 1 can (12 ounces) whole kernel corn
 - 1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce
 - 1/2 cup chicken broth or water
 - 3 cups cooked rice
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper
 - 3 to 4 drops Tabasco pepper sauce
 - 1/2 pound grated Cheddar cheese (about 2 cups)
- Cook onions and green pepper in butter until tender. Add corn, tomato sauce, chicken broth, rice, and seasonings. Heat thoroughly. Add cheese and stir until cheese is melted. Serve hot. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Vegetables add crunch to rice dish.

Potpourri

CHINESE-STYLE CELERY WITH MANDARIN ORANGES

- 3 tablespoons salad oil
- 4 cups diagonally sliced celery
- 1/2 cup thinly sliced onion rings
- 1/2 cup coarsely chopped walnuts
- 1 can (11 ounce) mandarin orange segments in light syrup
- 3 tablespoons soy sauce
- 2 teaspoons cornstarch
- 1/2 teaspoon ground ginger
- 1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper

In large skillet, heat oil until hot. Add celery; saute for 5 minutes. Add onion and walnuts; cook and stir 5 minutes longer. Strain mandarin oranges, reserving syrup; set oranges aside. In small bowl, combine reserved syrup with soy sauce, cornstarch, ginger and black pepper; pour over celery mixture. Cook and stir until sauce thickens, about 2 minutes. Stir in reserved oranges. Serve with steamed rice, if desired. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 4 portions (4 cups).

Add remaining ingredients except bread and parsley. Cover and simmer about 20 minutes. To serve, toast bread. Place bread slices on each plate. Spoon sauerkraut mixture over each. Microwave Magic

Greens: A Variety Of Flavors

Greens can be called by many other names. Turnip, collard, spinach, kale, mustard and Swiss chard are just to name a few of the most common. They vary in favor from the delicate to more piquant taste.

When selecting any of the greens, choose those that are clear and crisp. Avoid wilted and yellow leaves, seed stems and coarse stems. The color should be bright and typical of the particular greens.

If the greens are not to be used immediately, store in a plastic bag in the refrigerator. Microwaving procedures for all of the greens, except collards, is similar.

Spinach: 1 lb., microwave at 100% power for 5-8 minutes. Cook covered. Stir several times during cooking.

Collards and turnips: 2 lbs., microwave 100% power for 40-45 minutes. Wash and cut leaves into 1 inch strips. Add 2 cups water and 2 slices of diced bacon. Stir frequently.

Frozen greens come in 10 oz. packages. Microwave in 1 quart covered casserole at 100% power for 7-10 minutes or as directed on the package.

All fresh greens are flavorful if microwaved and seasoned simply; however, if you want to try something a little different try this Sweet and Sour

Eggs Make Main Dish Suppers

Eggs make marvelous main dish suppers, eliminating the need for meat. The egg is a perfect, mellow background for a broad range of flavorful ingredients that combine to satisfy. And, it is an outstanding protein source, providing nearly 13 grams of protein for each egg used.

The Vegetable Filled Puffy Omelet has a long and honorable history that began in the French village of Mont St. Michel. Madame Annette Poularde, the innkeeper at the cozy and delightful hotel that bears her name, created the puffy omelet, making it a "must" for gourmets who made the pilgrimage to the Mont.

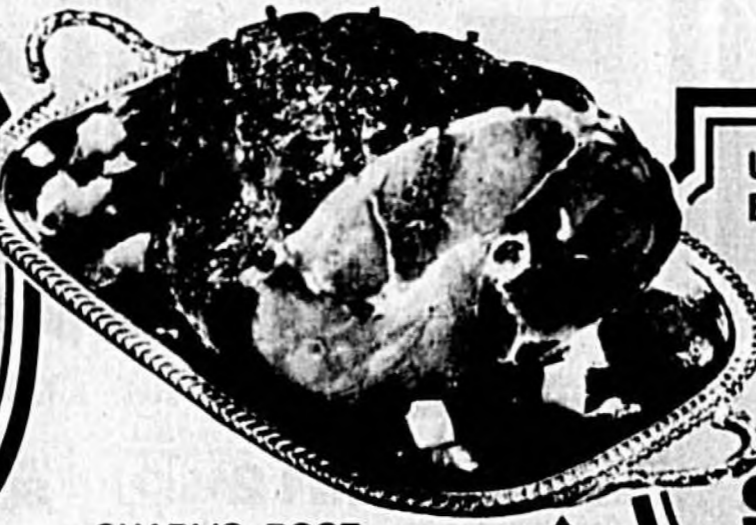

Skill served today in the shadow of the magnificent abbey built on a rock on the coast of Normandy, the omelet is unique in that the eggs are separated to make it fluffy.

In this version of Mme. Poularde's Omelette, the flavor of the egg mixture is gently spiced with Tabasco pepper sauce. This dramatic omelet is filled with a zesty cheese and vegetable saute, resulting in a satisfying dish for a family meal. To complete the dinner, serve sliced tomatoes and a baguette — a long loaf of crusty French bread.

Another tempting entree is Dinner In A Pancake, a savory melange of tuna and broccoli, clothed in a cream sauce flavored with lemon and Tabasco sauce. This dish is modernized and simplified by the use of pancake mix. With a green salad in a tangy vinaigrette dressing, Dinner In A Pancake is perfect for a company lunch, Sunday brunch or family supper.

Both recipes give your family high-quality protein and scrumptious taste with little work and even less cost.

Any Way You Want To Cut, Shape Them, Cookies Are Special

Cookies are special. Whether dusted with sugar, sprinkled with chocolate or raisins, rolled in nuts, frosted, filled, or cut into fancy designs, cookies have always been universal favorites and enticements on every pantry shelf.

The varieties are endless and enable almost any woman to become a creative artist in her own kitchen. She may favor a delicate lace cookie to complement a demitasse or a hearty oatmeal cookie as an after-school snack.

Whatever the preference, this compilation of goodies includes many foreign specialties as well as the more familiar American cookies. Yet even the beginner will find our recipes easy to follow and will soon become as proficient as grandmother in creating the cookies you probably helped her bake.

For convenience, we have classified the cookies in this book according to the method used in preparing them:

Bar Cookies are made from a soft dough. They are usually baked in a baking pan and then cut into bars or squares before they are removed from the pan.

Drop Cookies are also made from a soft dough, but they are dropped onto cookie sheets. They may or may not be decorated after they are removed from the oven.

Refrigerator Cookies are made from a rather stiff dough and are usually shaped by hand, shaped into round or square forms, and then wrapped and placed either in the refrigerator or the freezer until firm. They are sliced very thin for baking.

Rolled Cookies are made from a fairly firm dough that is rolled on a lightly floured surface and cut into shapes either with a knife or with various cookie cutters. Chilling often helps in handling this dough.

Shaped Cookies are made from a fairly firm dough that has been chilled and then molded by hand into individual cookies.

The following parade of recipes from Southern Living Cookie Cookbook will also introduce innumerable new cookies that promise to become just as delicious and just as special.

Try Tart Mold At Next Buffet

Gelatin molds are special favorites of Americans. Usually a combination of refreshing fruits or vegetables, they go with buffet meals and poultry or can be served as refreshing luncheon desserts.

A cherry cheese mold is high in protein and yet not that expensive to serve. For those on a diet, a serving of cherry cheese mold, soup and a muffin make a satisfying lunch.

CHERRY CHEESE MOLD

- 1 1/2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
- 5 tablespoons maraschino cherry syrup
- 1-3 cup boiling water
- 3 cups creamed cottage cheese (1 1/2 pounds)
- 2 navel oranges, peeled and diced
- 1 medium grapefruit, peeled and diced

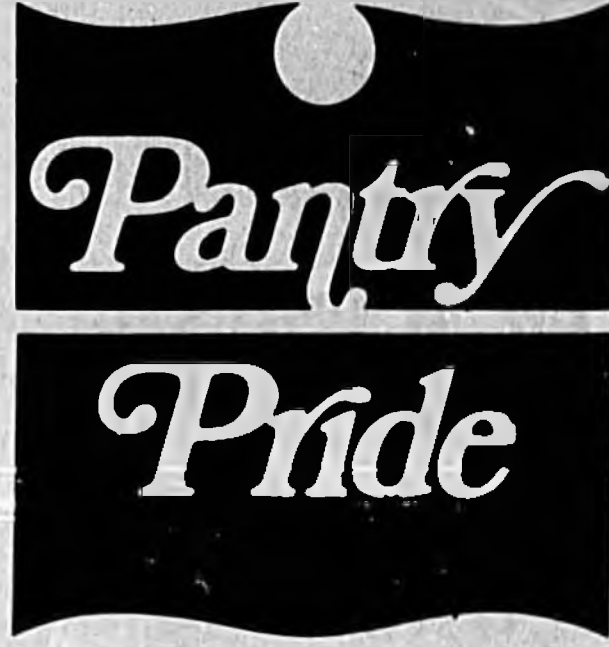

Evening Herald, Sanford, Fl. Wednesday, Feb. 23, 1983—5B

1/2 cup whole red maraschino cherries
Sprinkle gelatin over cherry syrup to soften; stir. Add boiling water; stir until dissolved. Stir into cheese. Fold oranges, grapefruit and cherries into cheese. Pour into 1 1/2 cup ring mold. Chill 3 to 4 hours. Unmold. Fill center with additional fruits as desired. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 8 servings.

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Thursday February 24, 1983

YOUR BIRTHDAY February 24, 1983
You could make an important career change this coming year which will open up new doors to opportunities.
PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
In joint ventures today you are likely to get what you want, but there is a possibility your counterparts won't be satisfied and may even resent your gains.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
Should things in the workaday world not go as you hope today, leave your troubles at your desk.
GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
Be sure you know exactly what you want today before purchasing a large-ticket item.
CANCER (June 21-July 22)
Unless you and your mate are in complete accord today on the ways monies should be spent, it's best that neither of you make an independent transaction.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
You may be involved in something today which you might feel another is not handling properly.
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
Steer clear of acquaintances today who, experience has taught you, are famous for taking and never giving anything in return.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
A business associate usually supportive of you may not be in the position to do so today.
SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
You're pretty good today at sizing up situations for what they are, yet you might act against your better judgment and create avoidable problems for yourself.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
Part of your enchantment is your curiosity and inquisitive nature which friends usually find appealing, but today you won't make points probing their secrets.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
If possible today, try to function independently, especially in career matters.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
Your ideas will make sense to you today, but they might not hold equal appeal for others.

Scales: They Can Deceive

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB — I walk two miles each day and watch my diet religiously, yet I can't lose weight. I am 5-foot-2 and need to lose five to 10 pounds. Please don't tell me to eat raw vegetables. I have a hiatal hernia and can't tolerate them.

DEAR READER — Guessing what you must weigh at your height if you only need to lose five to 10 pounds, it is a good bet that, in walking a mile, you use about 50 calories more than you would if you sat still during that time. In that case your walking program is using about 100 extra calories a day.

Scales measure pounds of "everything," not just fat. What counts is the fat under your skin. Increasing your walking distance would speed up the process a bit. But remember that if you have not been very active and start an exercise program you may develop some healthy muscles while losing unhealthy fat. The bathroom scales can't tell the difference between them so your weight may remain the same.

Follow a sensible balanced diet plan with a modest restriction of calories and keep walking. In a year you'll be a lot better off. I'm sending you The Health Letter 4-7, Weight Losing Diet, to help you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

As you lose body fat you will eliminate fat inside the abdomen. As that goes away it will decrease the pressure on your hiatal hernia and you should have fewer problems with the bathroom scales.

Atari To Pull Out of U. S.

SUNNYVALE, Calif. (UPI) — Atari Inc., the video game giant, will lay off 1,700 workers by closing its U.S. operations and seeking cheaper labor by shifting to its plants in Hong Kong and Taiwan.

Layoff notices were sent to 600 workers Tuesday. The rest will be sent out in a series of layoffs over the next four months, said Bruce Entin, an Atari vice president. Most of the employees are blue-collar workers.

"Manufacturing for home computers and video games will come to a virtual halt here in the United States by July," he said.

Entin said "it's much less expensive laborwise" to manufacture in Taiwan and Hong Kong. He declined to say how much the company expected to save.

Entin said the company "deeply regrets" the layoffs, but "as painful as it is, it will help ensure Atari's profitability."

All the layoffs will take place in the Silicon Valley, where Atari currently employs about 7,000 people. Atari employs about 11,000 worldwide.

"This does not mean that Atari is cutting back," Entin said. "In fact we'll be hiring more people in Hong Kong and Taiwan."

Entin said the move was being made to "reduce escalating manufacturing costs."

Atari began the home electronics boom with its game "Pong" in 1972.

The reduction will affect Atari's Home Computer Division and Consumer Products Group. Manufacturing for the two divisions will be consolidated mainly in Hong Kong and Taiwan, where Atari currently manufactures consumer electronics products.

The company said "special efforts" would be made to help laid-off workers find jobs elsewhere. Severance pay also will be provided.

Atari is a subsidiary of Warner Communications Inc.

Entin said Atari would continue manufacturing coin-operated arcade games, design prototypes of new products and maintain its corporate headquarters in California.

HUMANS WOULD GET ALONG BETTER WITH THEIR CATS IF THEY'D MAKE SOME KIND OF ANNOUNCEMENT WHEN THEY DECIDE TO TURN OVER A NEW LEAF ON NEATNESS, AND START CLOSING ALL THEIR DRAWERS FOR A CHANGE.
