

Deadly Artillery Duel By Marines, Reds Goes On

SAIGON (AP) — As the deadly artillery duel between U.S. Marines and North Vietnamese forces raged across the demilitarized zone, Gen. William C. Westmoreland declared today that allied victories over the past two years have painted a brightening picture of ultimate success.

"The free world forces in Vietnam, individuals and units, have been successful in the past two years," he said. "The U.S. Marines kept on mortar and artillery barrages which, in one tactical count, have killed 47,000 North Vietnamese forces in the past two years."

As a result, we are now in a position from which the picture of ultimate military success is more clearly defined. His speech marked the second anniversary of South Korea's "strategic commitment" to Vietnam.

Meanwhile, the North Vietnamese kept on mortar and artillery barrages which, in one tactical count, have killed 47,000 North Vietnamese forces in the past two years.

At the same time, U.S. officials believe that the North Vietnamese forces are being pushed back into their original positions. They said that the North Vietnamese forces are being pushed back into their original positions.

Tax Hike Showdown Wednesday

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republicans determined that President Johnson reduce spending if he's to get his tax hike bill through Congress, a plan showdown on the issue Wednesday.

Rep. Frank T. Bow, of Ohio, senior GOP member of the Appropriations Committee, said he will try at a Wednesday committee meeting to tie to an emergency appropriations bill his provision requiring Johnson to reduce the spending levels the President announced in January.

But Democrats control the committee, 36 to 20, and Chairman George H. Mahon, D-Texas, said he will fight Bow's plan.

The committee will meet in the morning. The afternoon, the House will take up the temporary funding bill.

Federal agencies which haven't received their money allocations will be out of funds after midnight Saturday unless Congress enacts the bill extending for a month a temporary appropriations plan. The current budget year began July 1, but many spending bills have not been enacted.

Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler and other administration spokesmen have said the President can't decide on spending cuts until he knows just how much an appropriations Congress will give him.

But Rep. John W. Byrne of Wisconsin, senior Republican on the Ways and Means Committee, said the President must specify what the cuts will amount to.

Byrne told the American Bankers Association meeting in New York: "The tax increase and reduction in spending should be of a size which would assume that the deficit for fiscal 1968 would be cut in half."

Other Ways and Means Committee members have mentioned a $1 billion cut.

(Continued from Page 1) Legislature and governor to hold a special session for education issues was also discussed.

If such a request is made the members present would want to include specific subjects peculiar to Seminole County.

The matter of commutation of school actions to the public was also raised. The meeting last night was a "work" session. It was not a formal affair, no votes were registered. But the question of whether or not the press would be allowed to be present and report the meeting produced no consensus. Those at the work session were Phillips, Mason Wharton, chairman and Allan Keith, Mrs. Jean Brown, Jim Brannenberger and Walter Teague, assistant-administrator. Wharton was of the opinion that the press should not be admitted, that the work sessions should be limited to the board and Phillips and his staff. Others pointed out that information at such meetings gave valuable background for use as later formal decisions were announced.

Phillips gave an account of the visits he had made in search of elementary school sites in the county. The minimum requirement is 11 acres. Discussion touched on population trends, new roads which will create new residential neighborhoods (the spot where an elementary school building is being built) and how to be dropped, west of the Seminole or south of the Seminole.

"I didn't concern myself with any union move of pay raises," the governor said. "I talked about mass teacher resignations that recently affected Howard and Phillips counties."

Kirk Adamant On Education

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Gov. Claude Kirk says he is still opposed to a special legislative session on education—even after judding with officials from two counties directly affected by more teacher resignations.

His statement came at a press conference held Monday after closed-door meetings with the heavily Republican Howard and Phillips County school boards.

Kirk Mounts Hustings In Deep South

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — Gov. Claude Kirk will make his first political foray into the Deep South this weekend to campaign for Republican candidates in four states.

The two-day tour will begin on the heels of Kirk's obvious absence last week from the Southern Governors Association conference, an event he passed up to honeymoon in Germany with his wife Erika.

Kirk will speak at Macon, Ga., Friday at 7 p.m. to boost GOP hopefuls in a city election there, press aide Jim Wolf said.

Wolf said Kirk will hold a joint news conference in Louisville, Ky., Sunday morning with Republican gubernatorial candidate Louis B. Nunn.

Saturday noon Kirk will appear with Arkansas Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller at a meeting of the Southern division of the National Federation of Republican Women in Little Rock, Wolf said.

He said Kirk will be in Lafayette, La., Saturday night to support state and local candidates from the 2nd Congressional District there.

Kirk will talk about the last 100 days "and about the cooperation in the Republican Party" compared with the split among the Democrats," Wolf said.

Mrs. Kirk will probably accompany her husband Friday and Saturday, Wolf said, along with aides Tom Ferguson and Russell Stratton and Development Commission photographer Tim Murphy.

The Republican party will not be the main focus of the tour, Wolf said.

He said Kirk is making his first barnstorming trip into these states "because it's election time."

"And the national party has asked all Republican governors and senators to help campaign for local candidates," said Wolf.

Resignation, however, for former Chief Kenneth Triplet was accepted and the board "approved action of the mayor" on a $2 vote. Casting "no" votes were Councilmen Donald Will and Dr. Eugene Ellis.

Percey said the resignation of Triplet has no force and effect and is invalid at this time, with receipt of withdrawal of resignation from the former chief.

Wilson insisted a whispering campaign had been conducted against the men and that they had "preferred to resign rather than have a stigma to their names."

Resignation of Patrolman Gary Swain was unanimously accepted when it was revealed that Swain is currently employed by the Sanford Police Department.

Surprise of the meeting was the revelation that Lt. Leroy Lee had returned to resign from the department and had been succeeded by the mayor last Saturday. A letter from Lee's attorney, Gordon Fredrick, requested a public hearing on the suspension, reminding that Lee serves in a dual capacity as police lieutenant and road department supervisor and stands "ready willing and able to perform" his duties.

Whether reported the suspension was given "due to charges brought to the mayor by 'rumor-mongers' who caused there, through the lengthy meeting that the four officers who had resigned had been given "several" days to resign, but they "did not fully understand" what they were doing when they signed their resignations.

Woodruff declared, "I would hate to think four patrolmen guarding the city were not aware of what they were signing."

"There were no threats," he submitted.

200 Homes Inundated By Rio Grande Flood

HARLINGEN, TEX. (AP) — Raging Rio Grande flood waters pounded relentlessly through this lower valley city today, with at least 200 homes inundated by the tidal waters. The city is being hit by a major surge of water from the Rio Grande.

Damage estimates mounted as the $1 million estimated by the city and federal officials for the night's flooding. The Rio Grande from Camargo 100 miles downstream to Matamoros, near the river's mouth.

The flooding became serious Sunday night after a diversion dam on the Arroyo Colorado broke, sending tons of water down that side diversion channel. Conditions worsened Monday when another floodway structure broke at Madras further upstream.

An international boundary and water commission spokesman said late Monday night the situation would get no better during the next two days.

Volunteers labored through the night salvaging levees along the Arroyo Colorado, used as a diversion channel in the multimillion-dollar Rio Grande floodway.

National Guard troops stood by ready to move patients from the Texas Tuberculosis Hospital, 300 yards from the Arroyo where the water was rising about one inch per hour.

Evacuations continued into the morning as hundreds of sand-bagged levees held back the water of the river. At one Harlingen street, the level was two feet up the side of a 10-foot side.

The flood, rising steadily, at midnight reached 42.65 feet. At 1 a.m., the reading was 42.40 feet, but boundary commission officials said the rate of climb was slowing.

New Depression Nears Leeward

MIAMI (AP) — A tropical depression formed off Africa last week moved Monday to a point about 600 miles east of the Leeward Islands.

Weather forecasters at Miami were keeping an eye on the depression but reported there was no indication of imminent developments. The depression was drifting west at 15 miles an hour.

Niteclub Owner Murdered In Dade County

MIAMI (AP) — The operator of a topless nightclub who burned and bullet-loaded body was identified Monday as being killed by police to a moneylender who was murdered three weeks ago.

Joseph Springer, 35, was found Sunday in a field in western Dade County by dove hunters.

Homicide Lt. John Eddy said 30 shotgun and pistol shells were found in the naked body which was doused with gasoline and set alight.

Police said they were checking a report that Springer led the Show Club nite in Dania 25 miles from the last time he was seen.

On Labor Day Arthur Salvatore Riccardi, 28, was found in an alley behind a bar in Hallandale near Dania.

Both Riccardi and Springer had police records. Hollywood police said the men were "in partnership" as moneylenders and said both were in debt.

Springer became famous in South Florida in 1965 when he hired barmaids who served drinks and food in his nightclub bare-breasted. Later, after several raids by police and state beverage agents, Springer's girls modified their lack of costume with pasties and transparent baby doll nighties.

Red Artillery Pounds Marines

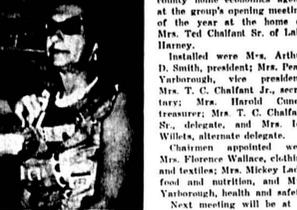

SANIGON (AP) — Embattled U.S. Marines at the northern outpost of Con Thien today took the brunt of the heaviest sustained Communist shelling in Vietnam since the French defeat at Dien Bien Phu. The Marines huddled took 10 shells for each one fired at them.

More than 1,000 shells fell Monday on Con Thien, a scattered fortress 2 1/2 miles south of the demilitarized zone and the key to the Marine defenses against Communist invasion routes to the south. The Marines reported two dead and 202 wounded, and said they believe enemy losses are running high.

Sixty-three Americans have been killed around Con Thien in the three weeks since the French started a battle of attrition whose eventual goal, some officials say, may be control of South Vietnam's important northern river provinces. U.S. sources said there may be as many as 35,000 North Vietnamese massed in and above the DMZ.

U.S. bombers and jets rained 600,000 pounds of explosives on enemy gunbats but the North Vietnamese have before a U.S. commission today on a federal charge of making $127,051 in false entries on the books of the Southwest Ohio Bank where they worked for 19 years.

No Status Quo

We think it's about time the Herald started preaching a revolution — in the arena of city government.

Our ideas might upset the status quo and we're sure there won't be any run-up on our doors to sign on for the campaign.

But we feel these ideas are so provocative and deserving of some serious debate within the community.

Here are some of them:

Not less, but more and more federal aid for Sanford and other municipalities in the county. More than 80 per cent of the county's population is urban. Eight and a half million dollars in federal aid for substandard housing in the cities and downtown areas is so common it should be considered a national problem.

The state government is not only reluctant, but ill-equipped to join in the battle.

A massive shakeup in transportation planning is an absolute necessity. America's roads are choked with cars now, and there will be 80 per cent increase in the next six years. A mass transportation plan to replace private autos has reached the "critical" priority stage.

Lower considerably, or scuttle all together, the property tax.

The Herald feels it is not doing the job it was designed to do, at least in what we regard as the best interests of the community.

We suggest that taxes, as much as possible, be based on income and services.

For instance, people who don't own cars would not be required to pay for road construction and upkeep.

Taxes would be based on cost to the city to serve the property.

Land and buildings that have been allowed to run down or blighted cost the city more in the long run. (Take the case of the United Lumber Co. in Sanford. When the building is finally torn down, as the city manager promised months and months ago, it will cost the city more than if they made the owner tear it down.) This property instead of having a decreased valuation, would get a higher tax bill.

We're not selling all these ideas as practical, or as a panacea for all of Sanford or Ovid's, or Altamonte's needs.

But a status quo doesn't suit our municipalities' needs.

Analysis Of The News

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is asking North Vietnam to change its grammar by using "would" instead of "should" to get peace talks started.

But when the two sides get on the subject of peace talks, and how to start them, it's like dropping a rock into a well. There's a clunk, a splash, more rocks, more clunks. They all sound the same, without end.

Arthur J. Goldberg, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, made a speech there Thursday on what's needed to get negotiations going. It was really the same speech he made there a year ago except that this one had a little more in it.

Just a year ago today he said this country was prepared to stop bombing the North and cut down on all its military activity "the moment we are assured privately or otherwise" that the North would cut down on its war effort, too.

Thursday Goldberg pointed out that in the past Hanoi had said negotiations "could" be started if the U.S. bombing stopped. But "could" is a vague word and Goldberg asked the North to be more positive.

He asked Hanoi to say it "would" talk peace if the United States stopped its bombing. This might seem the United States had backed down a bit, that it had dropped a previous condition. It wanted just the bombing was stopped. That is Hanoi must reach an end to its effort, too.

Just as there could be no doubt of it the day after Goldberg spoke in 1966, the Soviet foreign minister, Andrei A. Gromyko, said the only basis for peace talks was Hanoi's condition that there must be an unconditional end to bombing.

On Oct. 12, 1966, just in case Gromyko and Hanoi might have thought the American position was getting softer, President Johnson said no bombing halt unless North Vietnam cut down on its end of the fighting.

Now it's 1967 and today, just as then, there's no change.

Floridan Dies In Missouri

ROLLA, Mo. (AP) — Barry Davidson Stone, 22, of Winter Haven, Fla., was killed and severely injured Sunday when a car ran off U. S. 46 and slammed into a rock embankment near Rolla.

The driver, Robert L. Glenn, 24, of Orlando, Fla., was hurt and was taken to the hospital in Rolla.

Helen Fuller Says: Gen. Norstad's Strategy

WASHINGTON—Another, very important, party is being heard from about Vietnam.

General Lauris Norstad, retired commander of U.S. forces in Europe and of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, is letting it be known that three months ago he privately offered the Johnson Administration a formula for breaking the Vietnam impasse which the Administration considered and then did nothing about.

Norstad is respected here and abroad as the model of a modern general — knowledgeable about the perils of the nuclear age and the soul of discretion about taking out our course in Southeast Asia and despatch that without publicity, his plan will never receive full attention.

Unlike many of the President's critics on Vietnam policy, Norstad does have an alternative strategy to suggest. Coming from him, it cannot be ignored as idealistic wishful thinking.

It has the added attraction of appealing to both "hawks" and "doves" in the Vietnam debate. Moreover, influential statements of the Norstad approach appear in it in advance.

With the South Vietnamese elections over, President Johnson, too, may find it easier to view Norstad's plan with favor. In essence, it is as simple as General Eisenhower's promise to end an earlier war. "I will go to Korea."

After again assuring the world that this country has no territorial ambitions in Asia, the Commander-in-Chief, following the Norstad strategy, would announce that he would go to Geneva—and stay as long as it took to consult with every interested government and faction to reach a settlement.

And he would actually present Horace Greeley's letter as a recommendation.

Dr. Crane's Worry Clinic

Need the sage advice of President Forrest? For your handwriting, especially your signature? Is often the first "salesman" for your personal? Is it sloppy, uneven and illegible, your "salesman" alienates your prospects, whether for business or romance?

So be sure your signature is a superb "showcase" for your personality!

CASE D-562, President C. M. Forrest is head of a large business school in the South.

Occasionally young college graduates see the poor signatures of some of our VIPs in individuals who head corporations.

So they mistakenly think it is "smart" to scrawl their own names. But that is wrong.

You cause costly errors in business and alienate good buyers by your failure to use care in writing a legible signature.

In one case, however, a poor signature did prove helpful.

Horace Greeley, famous New York editor back in Lincoln's time, was notorious for his totally illegible writing.

He had lived one of his employees and done so in a handwritten letter.

But this aggressive young fellow went across the street and applied for a job with a rival newspaper.

And he actually presented Horace Greeley's letter as a recommendation.

But he knew the writing of Horace Greeley authenticated the letter but nobody could read it!

LETTERS To The Editor

Editor, Herald:

Don't you think it is just a little sickening, the big bit we make about race today? What's the big squabble about? Give me black and white stripes and keep things neutral.

Why don't we so-called Americans grow up a little. We hear about "mod clothing" and the so-called "mod thinking." Why not a little "mod" in the "thing" really is?

As you should have gathered by now, I go to an integrated school and I am a Negro, but it's not so bad as most people think, but we won't go into that.

What are all the riots for anyway? Do we know, or do we headline we want? I personally think it is a useless exertion of effort in the wrong direction. I also think that logic and understanding is the key.

Stop and think for a moment all the "Civil Rights Bug" when all the marches and street fighting is going on, where are they? Sitting in their air-conditioned cars or sitting home looking at a bunch of innocent misnamed people getting shot and thrown in jail. I don't know about you, but I do know that I am not going to be a pigeon for someone's fancy.

Give me something solid and I'll stand for it. And I think that the Negro people shouldn't get "incompetent" and "divorced" from their own people.

When and only when, one knows he is the most qualified, and yet he still turned away for no apparent reason other than the color of his skin, then yell your head off about discrimination.

The Great Plains of west central North America extend nearly 1,400 miles from Texas to Alberta, Canada. Width of this vast expanse varies but averages about 400 miles, says The World Almanac. The vegetation of the plains is usually short grass. Unless planted by man, trees occur only along the banks of rivers and streams or in depressions of the land.

Pharmacist Is An Exacting Scientist

By years of training, your pharmacist is an exacting scientist. And one of the outstanding pharmacists in the area is Richard E. Webb, proprietor of Webb's Pharmacy located on U.S. 17-92 near SR 44 in Longwood.

Webb, a graduate of University of Michigan, has 20 years experience in the pharmacy business in Central Florida. In his modern store, quality at prices you can afford to pay is the watchword.

The very latest in pharmaceuticals and prescription department and free delivery service is available "anywhere, anytime."

Prescription service is available after regular business hours for emergencies simply by calling Webb. "People on limited incomes and using a lot of medicines, should stop by and discuss prices with me," Webb says. "I'll be glad to give special consideration."

As a member of the community health team, Webb is a dedicated professional man. Yet he is a businessman engaged in serving the needs of the public not only as a supplier of medicines but as a merchant whose stocks reflect the daily needs of his customers.

And, too, he's a fellow taxpayer and being a resident of Maitland, a neighbor — one who has a personal concern for the health and welfare of all the families he serves.

"It's wise to trade with an independent pharmacist that you know and trust," Webb states.

Added services have been provided at Webb's with addition of new departments to the store such as the new greeting card section.

Another specialty of Webb's Pharmacy is the immaculate fountain serving of homemade soups and hot chili and a variety of sandwiches are ready for a light lunch daily. Webb's deli department is available at Webb's also from steak dinners to sea food and chicken.

Decorated in aqua and yellow, the fountain area is very pleasing to the eye and at the atmosphere which you enjoy the delicious foods there.

Webb collects art as a hobby and has had an affiliated collection of art objects for sale. He has an extensive collection. Webb is a past president and general chairman of the Winter Park Sidewalk Art Festival.

JENNY'S World Of Beauty Modern Bankers Build New Image

By JOHN CUNIFF AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — In the fall, when the fancies of 5,000 bankers turn to their annual convention, you might expect the subject matter to be laden with ponderous criticism of the world economy by Wall Street men.

True, the subject of interest rates pervades the 93rd annual convention of the American Bankers Association, but the areas it pervades include such light hearted potshots as reception, dinners and cocktail parties.

Even some of the most serious discussions are hardly what they would have been 20 years ago. Marketing, or selling the product, seems to cause more concern today than the balance of payments deficit.

Banks originally were places where money could be safely stored. Storage houses for excess funds, places where businessmen came for financial advice. The client was wealthy. Family clubs, school contacts brought business.

The wealthy are more numerous now. The middle class spreads more each year, and so does its demand for banking services. The customer is to walk in. He seeks him out.

Bank executives have been working hard in the past few decades to destroy the image of themselves as lord and master, and they've been doing it by identification with the needs and interests of the masses.

Health Fraud Racket Exposed At Civil Council

A film on "The Health Fraud Racket" was shown at a meeting of South Seminole Civic Council at South Seminole Bank.

President Carl Seitz read an address on the unethical practice of selling the state's power to seize property in inactive accounts, property in safety deposit drawers or stocks.

The drive will begin Oct. 1 and residents of South Seminole who work in Orange County are being urged to pledge their financial support to the county in which they are living.

LECTURE and displays on Cape Kennedy was presented by Robert Wilson, representative from the Cape's education department, for students at Fort Lake Academy.

Circuit Clerk Duties Told To Men's Club

By MARYANN MILES Operations of the office of clerk of Circuit Court in Seminole County were explained at meeting of the Bear Lake Methodist Men's Club by County Clerk Arthur H. Beckwith Jr.

Four principal areas of work and responsibility in the clerk's office named by Beckwith were maintenance of court records and court accounts, recording of public records, handling of delinquent realty taxes and serving as county auditor.

He stated that the law department filed and processed 11,000 cases for circuit court, and handled all papers on these cases, in the years ending Sept. 30, 1966. In addition, 2,900 county court cases were handled.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Early of Tusculum, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Myron V. Accardi of Delbarton. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white satin and Alencon lace with pearl and sequin bordering the neckline and the front of the skirt. Long sleeves terminated in silk cuffs at the wrists.

Her wedding train was of satin with flowing tulle and lace. Her bouquet consisted of three-quarter-length wall of silk illusion fall from a double tiered Queen's crown of seed pearls and tanzanite crystals. She carried a white lily covered with a spray of white roses.

Her bridesmaids were Miss Diane Accardi, sister of the bride, and Miss Patricia Aldridge of America, Ga.; Miss Lydia Hall of West Palm Beach, and Miss Kathy Thomas of Tusculum. Junior bridesmaid was Vicki Marie Accardi, sister of the bridegroom. All the bridesmaids wore crowned alike in aqua linen and each carried a nosegay of yellow carnations.

Miss Sandra Lee Aucoin, daughter of Mrs. Douglas Smith, of Sanford, and Paul James Placek, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Placek, also of this city, were united in Holy Matrimony, Aug. 26, 1967, at 1 p.m. at Catholic Student Center, Tallahassee.

MRS. PAUL JAMES PLACEK

Rev. Cunningham was the officiating clergyman at the double ring, nuptial mass before the altar accepted with a procession of potted palms and two standard baskets of white and yellow glads and mums.

Bruce Snell presented a program of nuptial selections and accompanied Dolores Rachel, sister of the bridegroom, soloist, who sang "The Lord's Prayer," "Ave Marie" and "Panis Angelicus."

Given in marriage by her brother, Leonard Aucoin Jr., the bride chose for her gown a white Baronesse satin floor length gown fashioned along the slim silhouette with a modified, removable, lace jacket, featuring long tapered sleeves. Lace appliques embellished the hemline and inspired chapel train.

Her tiered veil of imported illusion was secured by a princess crown of iridescents and she carried a formal cascade of white carnations centered with a corsage of white roses and families enjoyed a reception at the Sheraton Hotel, Daytona-Ormond Beach.

Other out-of-town wedding guests, including both families, were Miss Marie Marie Pacific, Chicago; Dolores Rachel, New Orleans, La.; and Mrs. Jean Corbelle, Lake Charles, La.

Something different and delicate with interest in the letter from the real estate salesman who objected to the "looker" who did not want to drive them away, neither do I feel that you should have told that.

Dear Abby: I work in an office which employs mostly men. One of the men here is a great talker, and his favorite subject is SEX. He doesn't ask, "How are you?" He asks, "How's your love life?" He's forever stopping by my desk to tell me an off-color story. No matter what I said, he turns it into something personal and downright embarrassing. If I say, "Good morning," he asks, "And what, pray tell, happened last night to make the morning so good?"

Dear Helen: Tell the man that you find his off-color stories embarrassing and personal references irksome. If he doesn't get the message, tell your superior. If he is your superior, there are other jobs.

Dear Abby: I have a married daughter and a married son. One they tell me I began serious work on a creative project in which I had been interested for years. My daughter and her husband invited me to drop in on them to see their new home. I was invited to drop in on them to see their new home. I was invited to drop in on them to see their new home.

Polly's Pointers

DEAR POLLY: In reference to your letter from Mrs. R.F.C. and to grocery shopping and the Marilyn I wish to say that there are many factors involved in feeding a family. You really cannot just compare the size of the family and the amount spent. A family of four with two teenagers may spend more for food than if the two children were girls. Also, some children are far heavier than others. One of the first things pointed out in a correspondence column called "Let's Eat" is in discussing the size of the family and the amount spent.
