Salfi Fares Worst In Poll Bar Association Director Defends Judge's Performance

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer
Circuit Judge Dominick J. Salfi received the brunt of low marks in a recent judge performance poll set to be released Thursday by the Seminole County Bar Association.

Salfi said today that he will study the results and make changes if called for, but he questioned how the poll — which he said he helped design for the state bar in the 1970s — was taken, and whether the results are being used as the designers intended. Salfi, whose term expires in 1990, also said he has not drafted a resignation letter over the poll — the results of which he did not know — but did not rule out leaving the bench.

"I have not made up my mind whether I'm going to stay on the bench. I have said that since my 1984 election. I don't intend to make the bench my career," he said. And while one member of the bar association's board of directors said Salfi scored worst among the judges, another director said, "I don't understand how he could come out the worst."

Seventy lawyers of the Seminole Bar evaluated the circuit judges, four county judges and a domestic relations commissioner. The results were to be presented to the judges today by Seminole Bar president Robert Fisher and to the Bar Thursday at an 11:30 a.m. luncheon meeting at the Holiday Inn on the Sanford Marina.

Child Abuse Prevention Panel Against Paddling

By Sarah Fischer
Herald Staff Writer
The paddle has existed in the schools for as long as students have been giving apples to teachers. But in a statement just released, the Florida Committee for Prevention of Child Abuse has taken a strong stand against corporal punishment in schools. And sparing the rod does not necessarily mean spoiling the child, said Seminole County school officials, as more and more they turn to alternative disciplinary methods. The positive effects of alternatives to corporal punishment are included in the committee's statement, said Committee President Allen Harmon. The committee, a chapter of the National Committee for Prevention of Child Abuse, said: "It is the position of the Florida Committee for Prevention of Child Abuse that the use of corporal punishment in schools is not consistent with the current knowledge of the physical and emotional needs of children, the available range of appropriate and effective discipline alternatives and the negative effects of corporal punishment on a child's positive development. Therefore, it is resolved that we will accord children the respect which they deserve as human beings and actively work to eliminate corporal punishment from schools and other institutional settings." Seminole County's code of student conduct lists corporal punishment as one of a number of disciplinary actions

Boy, 15, Drowns

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer
An autopsy was scheduled today for a 15-year-old Fern Park boy who drowned Tuesday in Prairie Lake. An epileptic seizure may have led to the drowning, sheriff's investigators said. Chris Lynn of 501 Lillian Drive, a Lyman High School student, drowned at about 5:40 p.m. Tuesday. According to Seminole County sheriff's deputies Lynn had been swimming in Prairie Lake in Fern Park with his stepbrother David Poulsen, 13, of the same address, and Kate Buitrow, 14, of 2211 Driftwood Drive, Fern Park. Poulsen and Miss Buitrow left Lynn in the water when they went home to get fishing gear. They returned to the lake and couldn't find Lynn, so they went home again and then returned to the lake a second time and found Lynn face down in the water, deputies reported.

Goodyear Store Damaged

A fire Tuesday night at the 555 West First Street Goodyear Shop in Sanford destroyed a pick-up truck and equipment parked in the building's garage bay and caused extensive heat and smoke damage to the entire structure, according to the Sanford fire department. Firefighters spent three hours battling the blaze before bringing it under control. The cause of the blaze is under investigation, firemen said. The city's 12-man unit arrived at 8:37 p.m.

In Lake Mary

Sewage Plant Worries Area

By Paul Schaefer
Herald Staff Writer
Residents worried about the planned placement of a developer's sewage treatment plant near their homes packed Lake Mary's city hall Tuesday night to tell the Planning and Zoning Board they "don't want to look off their back porch" into the facility. Despite repeated reassurances from the developer that an alternate site would be sought, the residents promised to attend every meeting held on the project until they are satisfied. An estimated 50 residents and property owners from the Rantoul Lane vicinity, many of them standing when the hall seats were filled, heard a threats from the owner of the under-construction Timacuan Golf and Country Club, a Development of Regional Impact, Patricia Tooke Stenstrom, the property owner, who want the plant built, and the P&Z board vote 4-1 to delay a decision on the requested change of zoning until their May 13 meeting. The delay was to give the developers time to come up with a new alternate site for the plant, before acting on the change of zoning request. P&Z Chairman Jim Talmadge told the crowd several times that the board was not considering the plant location Tuesday night. He said they were to consider the request of the developer, Hubert Earley, to change the zoning of the 643.8 acre site of a former orange grove from agricultural to planned urban development use. Timacuan is a $105 million project, which will include 1,097 dwelling units, an 18-hole golf course, 187,500 square feet of commercial space, and 71,250 square feet of office space. Construction of the golf course has begun, representatives of the developer said, and the project is to be completed in 1995. The development is located south of Paola Road, west of Country Club Road, east of Rinehart Road, and north of the western edge of Crystal Lake. The project has been in the planning stages for 14 months, city officials said. Lake Mary's city commission has been working with the Timacuan developers on the planned "interim/permanent" wastewater treatment facility, as part of the city's master wastewater plan, which will eventually provide sewer service to some sections of the city. While the city

Zone Plan Up For Final Approval

Seminole County's new middle school attendance zone plan is expected to be adopted by the school board at tonight's 7:30 p.m. meeting. The board will meet at the county school offices, 1211 Mellonville Avenue, Sanford. The United States Justice Department announced last week that it had approved the proposed plan, and that it met the requirements of the 1970 federal court desegregation order, but several interests remain unhappy with the plan. School board member Bill Kroll, who has opposed the adoption of the plan said last week he will ask that the board not adopt the plan until further studies are done, and residents in the area northwest of Lake Mary are expected to again lobby against the adoption of the plan. Kroll has favored additional study of the zoning issue, including a computer analysis of student population data. Developer Jeno Paulucci, who has also expressed dissatisfaction with the plan, has been told on several occasions by Superintendent of Schools Robert Hughes that in order to object to the plan or present an alternate proposal, he or a representative will have to do so at tonight's meeting. A letter hand-delivered to the Evening Herald Tuesday, written on behalf of Paulucci by Paulucci International, Ltd., says "U.S. Civil Rights Commissioner Robert A. Destro has questioned the... zoning plan citing 'legitimate concerns' and urging the board to reconsider the proposal." Destro responded to a request by Paulucci to look into the matter. In making it's decision, which took more than three weeks, the Justice Department said in its letter of approval, that "our failure to object..."

At Sanford Airport

Controversy Dims Hopes For Municipal Pool

By Karen Talley
Herald Staff Writer
Safety hazards will in all likelihood sink the Sanford City Commission's efforts to transform the Sanford Airport pool into a municipal swim center. City commissioners reportedly plan to approach the airport authority with the pool proposal next month, four months after having received it from the city's youth advisory committee. However, the pool's location near airport taxiways and industrial complexes poses too many "dangers" to its potential patrons, according to Airport Aviation Director J.S. "Red" Cleveland, who said he will "strongly" recommend the authority deny the commission's request. Although the city owns the airport property, jurisdiction for its management lies with the authority, which was created as an independent agency through a city commission legislative act in 1988. Sanford City Commissioner John Mercer also serves as a member of the airport authority and has taken a noncommittal posture regarding the pool proposal. The airport pool has been closed since January, when diminished membership forced the Sanford Bath and Tennis Club to discontinue its annual lease arrangement with the authority, Cleveland said. He said, although the authority has yet to determine what it will do with the facility, opening it to the public "is not a good idea." City commissioner Bob Thomas feels differently, however. With summer bearing down on the city, "it's important we proceed with every effort we can to secure the pool for our youngsters," he said. Thomas also feels the commission "dragged its feet" regarding the December youth committee proposal, which was accepted in concept by commissioners and followed up the next month with a petition commissioners received from school students in support of the municipal swim facility.

High court deals blow to 'Deep Throat,' 5A

NATION IN BRIEF

Gramm-Rudman Has Its Final Day In Court

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court's consideration of the Gramm-Rudman balanced-budget act will explore the constitutional area of separation of powers rather than the massive federal deficit the bill was designed to cure.

During two hours of oral arguments today, the nation's red ink takes a back seat to constitutional law as the court struggles to decide if Congress can give away some of its power to a relatively obscure government official — the comptroller general.

The justices will decide if the comptroller's role under Gramm-Rudman violates the separation of powers, a constitutional mandate that gives the three branches of government — the executive, legislative and judicial — specific powers that must remain separate.

Although President Reagan signed the bill into law, the Justice Department also said it was unconstitutional because it gave the comptroller general, instead of the president, the final say on billions of dollars in cuts.

Reagan Urges Oil Tax Repeal

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan is calling for repeal of a windfall profits tax on oil companies, which Republicans say leaves beleaguered oil states in the "stranglehold of foreign producers."

The White House announced the move between meetings Reagan held Tuesday with five oil-state congressmen and Oklahoma Gov. George Nigh and Wyoming Gov. Ed Herschler.

The move to repeal the windfall profits tax, enacted in 1980 as a way for the government to capture some of the added income companies reaped due to the decontrol of oil prices, is consistent with Reagan's position since the 1980 presidential campaign.

108 Arrested At Yale Protest

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI) — Police arrested 108 anti-apartheid demonstrators participating in a silent vigil on a dead-end street in protest of Yale University's refusal to relinquish its South African-related investments.

The protesters, who included two of the city's top school officials and two city aldermen, were arrested Tuesday after they staged the vigil, blocking a dead-end city street on campus, police said.

The arrests bring to 272 the number of people arrested in more than a week of protests aimed at forcing Yale to divest its interests linked to South Africa and mark a shift in the demonstrations toward including more university employees and civic leaders.

House Gives Self Raise

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House, in a move described by critics as "a sneak attack on ethics," has raised by one-third the amount of money the lawmakers can earn in addition to their congressional salaries.

The sudden maneuver Tuesday was by common consent and avoided a recorded vote on the issue, Rep. Robert Walker, R-Pa., who was not present on the floor when the move was made, said he would seek a vote today to overturn the action.

The change entitles House members to earn approximately $30,000 each year in addition to their $75,100 congressional salary.

Hostage Families Set Reunion

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — The son of one of the five remaining Americans being held in Lebanon says the families of the hostages should use their upcoming reunion to plan a more active role in seeking the captives' release.

"We definitely need to be a little more organized amongst our group," Eric Jacobsen, son of hostage David Jacobsen of Huntington Beach said Tuesday. "We need to see what our options are. We need to see what our next step might be."

The execution of three hostages in reprisal for the U.S. bombing raid on Libya has "traumatized" him and other hostage families, who worry future attempts to negotiate with the captors may fail, Jacobsen said.

Court Denies Morphine Request

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Quadriplegic Elizabeth Bouvia's effort to prevent a county hospital from taking her off the pain-killing morphine to which she has become addicted was rejected by the same court that gave her a victory in her battle for the right to die.

The state's 2nd District Court of Appeals denied her request Tuesday for a court order to prevent doctors from weaning her from the morphine on the grounds she had not exhausted her remedies in Superior Court.

Reagan: 'Winds of Freedom' Blowing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan says he is going to the economic summit in Tokyo next month to demonstrate that under American leadership "the winds of freedom are blowing" around the world.

He also renewed his tough talk about terrorism Tuesday, reminding perpetrators that the United States has a "record of littering history with the wreckage of regimes" who underestimated American will.

Reagan is scheduled to address the International Forum of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce today to set the stage for his 13-day journey to the Far East — the longest trip of his presidency — that will take him to a conference of Southeast Asian foreign ministers in Indonesia and the 12th annual economic summit in Tokyo May 4-6.

Although terrorism is expected to dominate the Tokyo summit as he meets with leaders of Britain, France, Japan, Italy, West Germany, Canada and a European Community representative, Reagan's speech today was billed by White House spokesman Larry Speakes as "a major policy statement on how we view the world, both in a political and economic sense."

Reagan leaves Friday for a night in Los Angeles, then travels to Hawaii for a weekend of relaxation before departing for Bali, Indonesia, and the ASEAN conference April 29-May 2.

"The trip, in our opinion, demonstrates that with strong American leadership directed toward building a better and safer world, both economically and politically, that there are winds of freedom blowing," Speakes said.

Oil Prices Rally After OPEC Meeting

By Rex Lister
UPI Business Writer

GENEVA (UPI) — Oil prices rallied after OPEC ended a seven-day emergency meeting with a majority of the 13 oil ministers agreeing to reduce the cartel's production by an average 800,000 barrels a day for the rest of the year in a bid to stabilize the battered world oil market.

OPEC hardliners Iran, Libya and Algeria refused to accept the new production target on the grounds it was too high to restore oil prices to $28 a barrel, a level that was abandoned in December.

"We think we reached a realistic compromise," OPEC President Arturo Hernandez Grisanti said.

On the New York Mercantile Exchange Monday, West Texas intermediate — the key U.S. crude for immediate delivery — jumped 85 cents to $12.57 a barrel.

Analysts said the fragile agreement could push up prices to the mid-teens, but would not achieve the stated $28 per barrel goal.

Iranian Oil Minister Gholamreza Aghazadeh accused the United States and OPEC leader Saudi Arabia, which engineered the oil price collapse, of engaging in a conspiracy to deprive Tehran of oil revenues for its war against cartel member Iraq.

Although Iraq joined the majority, Baghdad's oil minister, Qasim Taki al-Oraibi, said: "OPEC will gradually cut production over the next two months, but not us." He said Iraq is producing over 2 million barrels a day even though its old quota was 1.2 million barrels a day.

In a further sign of the political and economic divisions bedeviling the cartel, OPEC failed to allocate new output quotas to its 13 members under the majority-backed production limits of 16.3 million barrels a day in the third quarter and 17.2 million barrels a day in the final quarter.

The three OPEC holdouts, which have been unable to find buyers for about 850,000 barrels a day of their oil, wanted the cartel to cut average production to 15.5 million barrels a day for the rest of 1986.

Sources said the majority decision was a victory for the Saudis and their Gulf allies, who want to prevent Iran from exporting its Islamic revolution and to keep production relatively high to maintain pressure on non-OPEC producers to relinquish some of their market share.

Analysts said OPEC, which currently pumps about 17.5 million barrels a day, had taken a concrete step toward whittling down the global oil surplus — estimated at 3 million barrels per day — and propping up prices.

"OPEC has a chance of stabilizing the market with the new production ceiling because world oil demand for the past six months has been higher than expected," said William Randol, analyst at First Boston Corp. in New York.

"We are starting to see very meaningful increases in demand in face of falling oil prices and low inventories," he said.

World oil prices have been

Legislature Approves Sunday Horse

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Florida lawmakers passed a bill on Tuesday that would allow horse racing on Sundays.

The bill (SB 32) was passed Tuesday by both the House and the Senate and allows horse racing after 1 p.m. on Sundays. A track can still be open only six days a week.

Rep. Anne MacKenzie, D-Port Lauderdale, said the bill had the approval of Gov. Bob Graham and could be signed into law in time to allow races this Sunday.

Experts say Sunday racing will increase track attendance by more than 425,000 people a year, bringing in an extra $108,000 in state taxes.

MacKenzie said she had spoken with Gov. Graham and he had given her his approval. She said she would introduce the bill in the Senate on Wednesday.

The bill would allow horse racing on Sundays from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. on tracks that are currently open only six days a week.

Critics argued that the bill would allow a family reunion and that the bill would allow a family reunion and that there will no longer be a day set aside for that function in Florida.

Driver Warning:
New 4-Way Stop

The intersection of Dodd Road and Dike Road in southeast Seminole County was changed from a two-way to a four-way stop this morning at 9:30 a.m., according to Seminole County Traffic Operations Engineer David Nicodemus.

According to Nicodemus, a traffic signal is expected to be installed at the intersection in four months.

Weather

NATIONAL REPORT:
Hovering helicopters pushed warmer air down on orchards and roaring bonfires were kept lit as fruit growers held all-night vigils to protect their crops from a blast of record cold Canadian air that gripped the East today.

Temperatures in the 20s and 30s prompted freeze or frost warnings today for more than a dozen states from Michigan and Illinois to Maryland and as far south as Georgia, Mississippi and Alabama. By early today, record lows had been set with readings of 20 degrees in Alpena, Grand Rapids and Muskegon, Mich.; 22 degrees in South Bend, Ind.; 23 in Cincinnati; 27 in Lexington, Ky.; 29 in Asheville, N.C.; and 30 in Augusta, Ga. A 31-degree reading at Nashville, Tenn., broke the record 34 that had stood since 1883. At 2 a.m. EST, it was only 38 degrees in Atlanta, compared with 43 in Fairbanks, Alaska; 45 in Portland, Maine; and 60 in Glasgow, Mont. "Unless the vegetation is protected in some way — especially with all the warm weather we had early on — a freeze will severely damage blossoming fruit plants," said meteorologist Scott Tansy of the National Weather Service. Snow fell today from the Great Lakes to the mid-Atlantic states, with 3 inches reported in northeastern Pennsylvania. On Tuesday, snow was blamed for at least two deaths and about 50 minor traffic accidents in the tumbling since December, when OPEC scrapped its production ceiling of 16 million barrels a day and official prices in an attempt to recapture its "fair share" of the market from outside producers.

OPEC set up a committee of oil ministers from Kuwait, Saudi Arabia, Nigeria, Indonesia and Venezuela to seek production cuts from outside producers.

Five non-OPEC members — Mexico, Angola, Egypt, Oman and Malaysia — attended OPEC's failed March meeting but refused to make any commitments on lowering output until OPEC agreed to curb its own production.

Sources said the committee also would attempt to open talks with Britain, Norway and Canada.

Delegates said OPEC would add any production cutbacks by non-members to its 1985 ceiling, which then would be divided up among the 13 cartel states.

Detroit area. At the Lynd Fruit Farm in the northern Ohio town of Pataskala, four rented helicopters hovered above apple orchards late Tuesday to force warmer air down on blossoming trees and prevent frost from forming. Mitch Lynd, the orchard's owner, advised homeowners to cover their fruit trees with several layers of blankets, or to light charcoal in a metal bucket to provide warmth. Ohio strawberry growers said they were covering their crops with blankets, and grape grower Ken Schuster of Valley Vineyards near Dayton, Ohio, used helicopters and built bonfires to protect what remained of his grapes. "The cold hit us unexpectedly," Schuster said of Tuesday's record low temperature of 28 degrees. "We lost 15 percent of our crop." Curtain Rises On Celebrity Politics

To the surprise of no one, doubtless including the defeated incumbent, actor-director Clint Eastwood has been elected mayor of Carmel in proportions that give new meaning to the word "landslide."

Although there is no reason for anyone — with the possible exception of film critics and Eastwood's many fans — to take this election too seriously, it does suggest certain political and media realities. Oh, the wonder of celebrity politics. Ronald Reagan is in the White House. And famous actors involve themselves in a wide variety of partisan causes.

Though neither Shakespeare nor any of his players were ever summoned to testify about conditions in Denmark, based on the play, Hamlet, Ed Asner, who has played a newspaper editor, has given lectures to journalism students. Jessica Lange and Stacy Speck, who recently played the role of farm wives, testified before a congressional committee on agricultural problems. In theatrical terms, this is Magnum Farcé.

Acting is a difficult and demanding profession, and certainly should not disqualify one for office. Many of Mr. Reagan's critics concede that he is doing a good job. If Mr. Reagan could succeed as well as he did as governor of California without previous political experience there is no reason why Mr. Eastwood can't succeed as mayor of Carmel.

Still one must wonder. Could the homely Abraham Lincoln win elective office under today's strict telegraphic requirements? We doubt it. The demands of campaign managers, fund raising, and the cosmetics of the electronic media put a premium on style over substance.

For now, Mr. Eastwood has made Carmel a political happening of global interest. The tiny resort village has been swamped by more than 400 reporters from as far as Europe and Asia. In typical iconic style, Eastwood asked them "what do you all care about this?" And to his great credit, the tough actor refused to sign autographs.

Meanwhile, we give Dirty Harry credit for boosting the voter turnout at 75 percent beyond what anyone can remember in an off-year election. He proved you can beat City Hall and the world loves it.

For whatever significance there may be, we note that most celebrity politicians in America tend to be conservatives. Still, the liberals will surely not leave the field to the opposition. Will Dom Delucise soon stand for mayor of Palm Springs or Buddy Ebsen return and take on Bill Frederick in Orlando?

Halley's Fuzzball

We were expecting a Stradivarius and got a ukulele. Instead of a three-ring circus, we got a callopo that went flat. We were looking for a Rembrandt and got a pawnshop painting. The anticipated cannon roar of the 1812 Overture misfired.

Halley's comet — that once-in-a-lifetime event, that flashy visitor from space that comes our way every 76 years — fizzled! The space spectacular that created mass hysteria when it streaked by in 1910 — its last visit — created mass disappointment in 1986.

Oh, for astronomers, it was a success. But for those common folk who bought binoculars or telescopes and traveled to special viewing points to see the space traveler, it was like: "Hey, I want my money back."

What happened is that the comet faded and lost most of its tail. The brightness was gone.

Don't feel too bad if you missed it. There was the lady who traveled to the heights of the Inca ruins near Cusco, Peru — considered a prime vantage point. When the moment came, she wailed: "That's it? That's all there is? I came 4,000 miles to see this crummy little fuzzball?"

President Still Stealing Lines From Mayor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan is still stealing actor Clint Eastwood's line — "go ahead, make my day" — when challenging members of Congress.

He recently told a group of business leaders, "I got that line from Clint Eastwood, although now that the voters of Carmel, Calif., elected him mayor, I suppose I should say, Mayor Eastwood."

Then, in extolling economic gains under his administration, Reagan added: "Go ahead, America, make my decade."

The air strikes on Libya have preoccupied the president and some of the language has taken on an Orwellian aspect.

On several occasions when White House aides were asked about casualties inflicted by the U.S. bombing of Tripoli, they have replied that the administration tried to minimize "collateral damage."

One of the more interesting comments regarding casualties came from Secretary of State George Shultz, who briefed members of Congress. "We knew in advance they would use bandages," he said, to feign injuries. He also described some of the Libyan patients as "performers."

The president's daughter, Patti Davis, said her security has been beefed up since the attack on Libya. But the Secret Service does not discuss increases in its protection of members of the first family and other highly placed people.

White House security has been escalating for months in view of the worldwide incidents of terrorism.

There are no plans to cancel any aspects of the President and Mrs. Reagan's forthcoming travels to the Pacific. But it is understood that Japan intends to spend some $35 million to ensure security during the Tokyo Economic Summit early in May when seven heads of government will be on hand.

The White House has maintained a deafening silence on the subject of former budget director David Stockman's new book for which he was paid some $2 million. Stockman had no kind words to say for anyone, including President Reagan, who forgave him for some of his past glitches. White House chief of staff Donald Regan came under fire and so did Treasury Secretary James Baker.

Privately, the aides had a few choice words for Stockman and his "kiss and tell" book.

Stockman will not have the welcome mat out at the White House like former deputy chief of staff Michael Deaver, who retains a White House pass.

But Stockman's book was overshadowed by the bombing of Libya, and the international developments took precedence over the time that he would have been given on the talk shows.

Twice, Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger, in briefing reporters on the Libyan bombing, said it would be "virtually impossible" for the American warplanes to have hit the French Embassy in Tripoli.

But the Embassy was hit, and severely. The administration explanation is that it was probably struck by Libyan missiles falling back to earth. U.S. pilots reported the missiles went straight up, then straight down.

Economic Planning Necessary

With America's share of world production down to 30 per cent or so, it's increasingly clear that the country needs a new agenda for the future — a new economic policy for the nineties.

The outline of that new economic policy is beginning to appear even as the country faces, as reported by conservative economic analyst Kevin P. Phillips, recessionary conditions in 25 states. The principal feature of that policy undoubtedly will be the national interest standard on economic issues. In the nineties, Americans undoubtedly will continue to recognize the important role of the market in allocating resources. But other elements will be factored into the equation.

The market, for all its importance, doesn't take account of strategic or cultural values. Consider the oil price situation. A free fall in oil prices, Secretary of the Treasury James Baker said in early April, has to be accepted because it results from the operation of the global oil market. This conclusion, however, ignores the fact that the United States has need of energy independence. The market can't take account of the fact that the United States must never again become dependent on Middle East oil producers, despite the fact that rock bottom prices for imported oil are a temporary boon. Thoughtful Americans will appreciate the strictly temporary character of the price benefit. They will remember the frightful energy crisis of the early 1970s.

They also will realize that the drop in oil prices isn't the result of some immutable law of the market. Instead, it is the result of a political decision on the part of Saudi Arabia to suppress oil production in the United States, the North Sea, the Canadian Arctic, and certain other areas around the world. The Saudi action is a strategic decision on the part of the rulers of the kingdom. This action can't be met by blind testimonials to market forces, such as Secretary Baker has given, but must be matched by strategic estimates and decisions on the part of the United States. The U.S. government must decide at what point the fall in oil prices ceases to be beneficial to the United States. Vice President George Bush has voiced a timely warning as to the importance of a strong domestic oil industry.

In any case, Americans should realize that it's the European countries which need Persian Gulf oil, not the United States.

View Of Carter Hasn't Changed

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — Animosity between successive occupants of the Oval Office is a fairly common feature of Washington life. The hostility between President Reagan and former President Jimmy Carter may be more acerbic than most because of the deep differences in political philosophy that divide the two men.

Occasionally, the barely submerged antipathy boils to the surface — usually when Reagan charges that Carter had failed to do something during his term and Carter denies the charge. There was great bickering in October 1983, for example, when Reagan blamed the outside bombing of the Marine barracks in Beirut on Carter policies that Reagan claimed had weakened the CIA and other intelligence-gathering agencies.

War: Pentagon Vs IRS

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The Pentagon is fighting a take-no-prisoners battle against a tough enemy — the Internal Revenue Service.

At issue is an IRS attempt to close a tax loophole that brings annual savings of about $290 million to 22 percent of U.S. military personnel.

The 56 percent of personnel who don't live in military-provided quarters receive additional funds each month to pay for housing. This monthly Basic Allowance for Quarters ranges from $137.50 (for those in the lowest ranks) to $690.70 (for the highest-ranking officers). In high-cost areas, military renters or owners also receive a Variable Housing Allowance, which can be as much as $440 a month. This affects about 60 percent of those getting a housing allowance.

The housing allowance is tax-free. But — and this is the loophole — the 22 percent who are homeowners can also deduct their mortgage interest and real-estate taxes, even though they're being compensated for those expenses.

Elimination of this loophole could have a major impact on military homeowners. It's estimated that in a high-cost, high-property-tax area, those in the lowest ranks would lose $600 in tax savings, while those in the highest ranks would lose more than $4,000.

Members of the clergy who are given housing allowances by their churches or their congregations also have this tax advantage. This money is tax free, and they can take the interest as a tax deduction.

The IRS has long considered this unfair. In 1983, the IRS proposed closing the loophole — and the war began.

The outcry by the military and its Capitol Hill supporters was so loud that the bill closed only the clergy's loophole; the military was allowed to keep its deduction. The clergy objected, and the ruling's effective date has been postponed three times. The change is now due to become effective on Jan. 1, 1987.

However, the war is still raging. To eliminate inconsistency between the clergy and the military, it's rumored that the IRS will allow deductions only for interest and taxes that exceed the allowance received. In short, if an officer gets $10,000 a year in allowances, he will be able to deduct only that portion of his combined interest and property taxes that exceeds $10,000. The plan has been dubbed the "Military Homeowners Tax Plan."

As military and Pentagon brass describe it, the United States will be left nearly defenseless if the IRS tinkers with the deduction.

Gen. George Vespy Jr., chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, testified that if the deduction is ended, the military will suddenly find itself "with the loss of tens of thousands of trained career officers and enlisted personnel."

The Pentagon says that if the deduction is eliminated, it will have only two options: raise military compensation to make up the difference, or vastly increase the amount of government housing available, since personnel will abandon private housing. Either option, it says, will cost billions of dollars.

SCIENCE WORLD

Next Launch Critical

By William Harwood
UPI Science Writer

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — Under enormous pressure, NASA is preparing to launch a hurricane-hunting satellite atop a Delta rocket May 1 on a flight that takes on critical importance since two of the nation's last three space shots ended in failure.

It marks NASA's first post-Challenger flight and the stakes are high because the United States is facing a space launch emergency of unprecedented proportions with the Jan. 28 Challenger disaster and the April 19 explosion of an unmanned Air Force Titan 34D rocket.

While an unmanned Air Force Atlas rocket was successfully launched from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., Feb. 9, both the shuttle and Titan programs are now grounded and along with them America's ability to launch heavy military payloads into space.

Even though Delta rockets are extremely reliable — the last 43 in a row have been successful — and military operation, the space agency's battered prestige is on the line and engineers desperately want a successful launching May 1.

"Personally, I have a great degree of confidence that we will launch successfully," said Charles Gay, director of NASA's expendable rocket program at the Kennedy Space Center.

The failure of the Air Force Titan 34D April 19 happened just seconds after blastoff when only its two strap-on solid fuel boosters were firing. The Titan boosters have joints similar in design to those used in the shuttle solid rocket motors, although the Titan boosters were built by United Technologies Inc. rockets that triggered the explosion of the first-stage fuel tank. The accident later was blamed on problems with the propellant inside the booster.

The rockets are built by Morton Thiokol Inc., the same company that builds shuttle's rocket boosters.

The shuttle Challenger was destroyed when solid fuel boosters were firing. The Titan boosters have joints similar in design to those used in the shuttle solid rocket motors, although the Titan boosters were built by United Technologies Inc.

While a failure analysis is not complete, officials said they did not expect a problem for the Delta launch.

obviously knowing that it is not true."

In fact, Reagan criticized Carter's defense decisions as recently as February in a television speech — and again drew a protest from Carter.

With this background in mind, we asked the president recently if he had softened any of his opinions on his predecessor. The short answer is that he has not.

Reagan's normally pleasant face hardened noticeably when we asked — remembering his harsh criticism of Carter in the 1980 campaign: "Has there been an evolution in your thinking about him as you've faced ... some of the same problems?"

Reagan professed his reply by explaining why he had not criticized Carter on some national security issues and other sensitive areas: "I have said that there are some things that you have to realize only the president knows. He's the only one that has all the information on something. Therefore, you can't criticize him on those things unless and until you know what that information is."

One reason he said he wasn't surprised by the burdens of the presidency — and thus more sympathetic to Carter — was that there isn't such a vast difference between his job as governor of California and as president.

"Over the years we've forgotten that once upon a time the ranks of the governors were where you found presidents," Reagan went on. "Because the governors, the 50 governors, have the jobs that are closest to approximating this job of any position in the country. Certainly much more so than anyone from a legislative branch."

Bringing him back to his views toward Carter since 1980, we asked: "Do there have to necessarily have an evolution in your thinking?"

"No," the president replied.

Court: No First Amendment Protection For Video Porn

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court refused Tuesday to give any special First Amendment protections to carryout pornography, ruling that a description of sexual acts in a movie is enough to justify its seizure from a video store.

The justices, on a 6-3 vote, reversed the New York State Court of Appeals, which had ruled that a judge improperly allowed the seizure of cassettes of "Debbie Does Dallas," "Deep Throat" and other films from a New York video rental business.

The justices said the New York court improperly created a higher standard of probable cause for issuing warrants for books and movies than for such things as guns or drugs.

Writing for the majority, Justice William Rehnquist said, "We have long recognized that the seizure of films or books on the basis of their content implicates First Amendment concerns not raised by other kinds of seizures. ... But we have never held or said that such a 'higher' standard is required by the First Amendment."

In dissent, Justice Thurgood Marshall said he would have deferred to the judgment of the Court of Appeals that the affidavit describing the sex acts did not meet the criteria for probable cause to seize the material. Also dissenting were Justices William Brennan and John Paul Stevens.

The case was of major concern to the video rental industry, which claims, between 15,000 and 20,000 retailers nationwide. A recent survey by the American Video Association showed 74 percent of its members deal in so-called adult films.

The retailers cater to the expanding home video market — nearly one in every three American households has a videocassette recorder.

The growth of the video rental business has been met with confusion among courts over what standard judges must use to determine if movies are obscene. At least one court has said a judge must actually see the film before issuing a warrant.

In other action today, the court:

—Ruled 8-1 in a case from Washington state that the Internal Revenue Service has the right to withhold income tax credits from parents who are delinquent in paying child support. The case will help the government collect support money from an estimated 525,000 people.

—Unanimously ruled that a tax-exempt medical association must pay taxes on the income it earns from selling advertising in its monthly journal. The court refused to extend its decision to all advertising in tax-exempt journals, saying a specific analysis of the circumstances would be needed in each case.

Prescriptions Forgery Charges Lodged Against Sanford Woman

A 37-year-old Sanford woman has been charged in connection with the obtaining and possession of controlled drugs after allegedly having presented fake prescriptions at a Sanford pharmacy.

Dr. Charles Hardwick of Sanford notified the Walmart pharmacy department that two prescriptions that had been filled there which appeared to have been written by him were not, a Sanford police report said.

Police were alerted to the fraud and Freida Gay Leep, of 114 Groveswood Ave., Sanford, was arrested at 6:10 p.m. Monday at the pharmacy when she allegedly came to pick up prescription drugs, police reported. She has been charged with three counts of possession of a controlled substance and seven counts of obtaining a controlled substance by fraud and forgery. Ms. Leep has been released on $2,000 bond to appear in court May 12.

BURGLARIES & THEFTS

A bumper and a side mirror of undetermined value were stolen from a 1983 Ford van parked at La Petite Academy, 110 Lake Emma Road, Lake Mary, between April 18 and Monday. The vehicle belongs to Kathy C. LaCourse, 30, of 4662 Tiffany Woods Circle, Oviedo, a sheriff's report said.

Jewelry, $200 cash and a $700 camera were stolen from the home of Cheryl L. Brown, 26, of 245 Ruth Blvd., Longwood, between April 19 and Monday.

Sheriff's deputies have the name of a possible suspect.

William G. Williams, 32, of 2411 E. 20th St., Sanford, reported to sheriff's deputies that the engine was stolen from his father's boat at their home Sunday or Monday. A sheriff's report said the engine is valued at $700.

Electrical wiring, 300 feet valued at $150, was stolen from a home being built at 5690 S. Lake Burkett Lane. The property belongs to Southeastern Homes of Winter Park and the construction supervisor told sheriff's deputies that the wiring had already been installed in the home. The wire was ripped out between April 18 and Monday.

Terry L. Chisholm, 42, of 3382 Bouganvillea Drive, Winter Park, reported to sheriff's deputies a $250 weed trimmer was stolen from his carport Sunday or Monday.

Two rings with a combined value of $850 were stolen from the home of Judith M. Vaughan, 39, of 184 Tollgate Trail, Longwood, between April 19 and Monday.

19, a sheriff's report said.

WINDOW SHOOTING

Vandals fired a shot through the front door window of a S. Orlando Drive business between 8 p.m. Thursday and 8:50 a.m. Friday, according to Sanford police, who said the incident is unrelated to the BB gun shootings last weekend that destroyed at least 10 auto windshields and windows at local residences and businesses.

Remnants of the projectile recovered Friday at the 2940 S. Orlando Drive Radio Shack differ in calibre from those police found at the scenes of last weekend's shootings, according to Sanford Police Chief Steve Harriott, who said the incidents remain under investigation.

Police are also looking for the vandals who punctured tires on two cars parked on Ridgewood Avenue Sunday night, the chief said.

Cut were the two rear tires of a 1984 Ford owned by Bryan Burke, 2730 Ridgewood Ave., and the rear tire of a 1981 Toyota owned by Michael Varga, 2726 Ridgewood Ave., police said.

BURGLARIES & THEFTS

A color television, a purse and a telephone, with a combined value of $520, were taken from the 1212 Lincoln Court home of Celia Davis on Sunday, between 12:30 and 5 a.m., a Sanford police report said. Thieves gained entry by pulling back a screen and unhooking a lock on the home's door, police said.

A briefcase containing $1,959 worth of cash and checks was taken from the 1985 Ford that Palm Bay resident Dale Lapham left unoccupied for 15 minutes at the 2904 Orlando Drive McDonalds restaurant on Sunday, according to Sanford police.

Reportedly, between 5:45 and 6 p.m., thieves forced a pipe through the car's window and made off with the briefcase.

FIRE CALLS

The Sanford Fire Department has responded to the following calls:

MONDAY

—1 p.m., 4290 Orlando Drive, rescue. A 30-year-old Sanford man suffered possible neck and back injuries in a fall. He was transported to the hospital.

—1:16 p.m., 420 West 13th Street, fire. Firemen reported the call to be a false alarm. The Rich Food Plan alarm system was apparently inadvertently set off by workers, firemen said.

—1:53 p.m., 3505 Orlando Drive, rescue. A 51-year-old Sanford man suffering from chest pain was transported to the hospital.

—8:08 p.m., 2842 Gale Place, rescue. A 12-year-old boy suffered a possible arm fracture from a fall. He was transported to the hospital.

—10:20 p.m., 2018 Mellonville Ave., rescue. A 22-year-old, apparently intoxicated, man was found on the side of the road by Brown. He declined treatment and was left in the care of Sanford Police officers, the fire report said.

TUESDAY

—6:02 a.m., 1108 Cornell Drive, rescue. An 80-year-old man experiencing difficulty breathing was transported to the hospital.

—7:15 a.m., 2006 Sanford Ave., rescue. A 78-year-old woman suffered a possible hip fracture from a fall. She was transported to the hospital.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Libya Orders Western Journalists To Leave

TRIPOLI, Libya (UPI) — The Libyan government today ordered more than 100 American and West European journalists to leave the country by nightfall, explaining only that "your mission is over."

The order from the Information Ministry did not include journalists from Canada, Japan or Eastern bloc countries — another estimated 100.

A ministry spokesman refused to link the action to Britain's expulsion of 21 Libyans Tuesday or to sanctions imposed against Libya by the European Economic Community.

"Your mission is over. You must go," the spokesman said. "If you don't make your own arrangements, we will make them for you." He did not elaborate.

Khaddafy: Some Power Lost?

TRIPOLI, Libya (UPI) — Demonstrations — an everyday event in Tripoli — have been lacking since U.S. warplanes bombed the Libyan capital, and diplomats said that could be a sign of public dissatisfaction with Moammar Khaddafy.

In London, The Times reported today that a five-man military junta may have dived Khaddafy of exclusive control of the nation in the aftermath of the U.S. raid.

Western and East-bloc diplomats said Tuesday unexplained small-arms fire, explosions and nightly anti-aircraft fire that punctuated the days after the raid were evidence of internal tension.

$2 Billion Iran Arms Deal Felled

NEW YORK (UPI) — Federal authorities say they have felled a plot to sell $2 billion worth of U.S.-made weapons to Iran, a clandestine arms deal that would have strengthened "the bloody hand of international terrorism."

Criminal complaints filed Tuesday in U.S. District Court in Manhattan charged 17 people, including a retired Israeli general, with conspiring to sell Iran the weapons, including jet fighters, bombers tanks and missiles.

"The Iranians would have used these weapons to make war against their neighbors or to spread international terrorism against the free West," said U.S. Customs Service chief William von Raab.

"Without a doubt the bloody hand of international terrorism would have been on the trigger of the TOW (anti-tank) missiles, really, an ideal weapon for this dirty business," he said.

Waldheim: No War Crimes Proof

VIENNA (UPI) — President Rudolf Kirchschlaeger said U.N. war crimes documents and papers provided by the World Jewish Congress contained nothing to indicate former U.N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim was involved in Nazi war crimes.

Waldheim is a candidate in the May 4 presidential election and holds a narrow lead over Socialist Party candidate Kurt Steyer in opinion polls. But his campaign has been marred by allegations related to his service in the German Army during World War II.

Kirchschlaeger, the outgoing president, said in a nationally televised speech Tuesday night he found no grounds on which to accuse Waldheim of Nazi war crimes. He said the two-term U.N. secretary general must have been of that creature against Yugoslav partisans.

Scientists In Antarctic Going About It All Wrong

How To Keep Warm—Eskimo Style

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI) — The reason researchers in the Antarctic have trouble keeping warm is because they eat too many vegetables, wear military snow boots and use fancy new nylon parkas, Alaskan Eskimos say.

If the scientists at the bottom of the world would take lessons in keeping warm from Eskimos at the top of the world, they would be a lot better off, said George Ahmaogak of Barrow, America's northernmost community some 375 miles north of the Arctic Circle.

"The National Science Foundation took the right approach in asking some of the people from our area," Ahmaogak said. "We live in this (cold) all the same, and we're willing and ready to help them out."

Ahmaogak, 36, is mayor of the 66,000-square mile North Slope Borough, a Kansas-sized chunk of northern Alaska that includes eight Eskimo villages of about 5,000 people. Ahmaogak and another Barrow resident, Luther Lovitt, recently spent two weeks in Antarctica at the invitation of the foundation.

"I went through their whole program," Ahmaogak said Monday in an interview during a visit to Anchorage. "It could be improved a heck of a lot."

Ahmaogak, who said he will stick with his mukluks, fur parka and seal diet to keep warm, is writing a report for the foundation. His conclusions could be tough for the South Pole scientists to digest.

"If they change their diet, I'm sure they could survive the cold a lot longer like we do. Like myself for example, I use seal oil quite often along with my food, fermented seal oil."

Antarctic workers, Ahmaogak said, eat "a lot of vegetarian food and that sort of thing doesn't take the cold at all."

Fatty foods would keep workers in Antarctica warmer, but they also need to ditch their nylon duds and don what Eskimos use to keep warm, he said, laughing heartily.

"Parkas that I saw down there are nylon, and I had my traditional cold gear with me," Ahmaogak said, laughing. "They rather throw their jackets away and put all my warm clothes on."

Ahmaogak complained that the scientists' nylon winter snow pants were not much good and that the military snow boots, so-called bunny boots, cause problems because feet sweat in them out in the cold, while the Eskimo clothing "doesn't build up any moisture at all."

Banks Committing 'Credit Card Ripoff'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Banks, despite falling interest rates overall, continue to charge credit card customers big interest rates, and last year made a $3.6 billion profit from them, a lawmaker says.

Rep. Charles Schumer, D-N.Y., released a study Monday showing that banks were making a huge profit on credit cards — five times higher than bank profits for total lending.

He said the nation's leading banks were ignoring the general decline in interest rates to reap the tremendous profits, and said many charged more than 19 percent interest on credit cards.

"We can no longer ignore the great credit card rip off," Schumer said.

"Do consumers have to leave home without their credit cards to make sure they are not ripped off?" he asked in a parody of an advertisement by a major credit card company.

Last Friday, the Federal Reserve Board dropped the rate it charges lending institutions to 6.5 percent, and on Monday, two of the nation's largest banks lowered their prime lending rates from 9 percent to 8 1/2 percent.

Schumer released data by the Nilson Report, a credit card newsletter, and the Fed, showing that banks made a $3.6 billion profit from their credit card business in 1974.

"These figures prove once and for all that the credit card issuers are taking advantage of the American consumer," Schumer said.

The rate of profit on credit cards was more than five times higher than bank profits on their total lending, and banks are charging consumers interest rates that are twice what banks pay for the money they lend, the data said.

"We're not saying that credit card rates should be the same as mortgages or cars, but they ought to reflect the same kind of drop," Schumer said.

Schumer distributed a list compiled by his office of more than 50 banks around the country that are charging less than 18 percent interest on their credit cards, and displayed his own Visa card from an Arkansas bank charging 12.5 percent interest.

But he said it is hard for consumers to find banks with low-interest cards since banks are not required to state clearly their interest rates.

Schumer has introduced legislation to require credit card companies to include an easy-to-read table disclosing their rates and fees.

He also is backing legislation that would impose a cap on credit card charges. But Schumer said there is little support for a cap, and he would prefer to see credit card rates drop as a result of competition in the marketplace.

Expressway Authority Hires Full-Time Executive Director

By Sarah Fischer
Herald Staff Writer
A Columbus, Ohio man has been hired as executive director of the Seminole County Expressway Authority.
Gerald Brinton will begin the $45,000 a year job June 2, according to County Administrator Ken Hooper.
Brinton was chosen from 30 candidates for the position, following "numerous" interviews over the last year when as many as 70 people applied for the post, Hooper said.
Brinton has served as assistant director of transportation for the Mid-Ohio Regional Planning Commission since 1979.

From 1973-79 he was project engineer for the North Carolina Department of Transportation.
Brinton earned a B.S. degree in civil engineering from North Carolina State University, with special concentrations in the areas of transportation and traffic engineering.
He is a registered professional engineer in North Carolina and Ohio and a member of the Institute of Transportation Engineers.

Hooper said Brinton's duties will be to administer the alignment study consultant contract and cost feasibility analysis in conjunction with the east-west expressway extension from the Seminole/Orange County line to Interstate 4.
He will also report directly to the expressway authority in the areas of toll revenue and bond feasibility for financing the extension project and will work with the Orlando-Orange County Expressway Authority, Hooper said.
The county began its search for a full-time expressway director last year when it accepted a corridor study for the expressway project.
County Public Works Director Larry Sellers has served as interim expressway authority director.
Members of the expressway authority include the five county commissioners, Sanford City Commissioner David Farr and Altamonte Springs City Commissioner Lee Constantine.

Nuclear Weapon Detonated Despite Protesters Threats

PAHUTE MESA, Nev. (UPI) — U.S. scientists detonated a large underground nuclear weapon Tuesday at the Nevada Test Site despite the reported presence of four protesting infiltrators on the classified government compound.
An anti-nuclear group said four Colorado protesters snaked onto the test site Monday night in trying to force a delay in the year's third announced U.S. underground test, code-named "Jefferson." 104 miles northwest of Las Vegas.
The blast was set off without incident at 6:30 a.m. PST, but high-rise gambling resorts in Las Vegas swayed seconds after the detonation, Department of Energy spokesman Jim Boyer said.
Another Department of Energy official, Chris West, said there was no sign of the reported trespassers from the Rocky Mountain Peace Center in Colorado near "ground zero" at the time of the explosion. But he said three demonstrators were arrested on trespassing charges when they walked past a cattle guard at the entrance of the test site.
A spokeswoman for the American Peace Test said the infiltrators were equipped to remain on the test site for several days.
Before the last underground nuclear test on April 10, more than 100 protesters were arrested on trespassing charges after being caught infiltrating the test site or for crossing a barrier set up at huge site's property line.

Protesters, including dozens from the Great American Peace March for Nuclear Disarmament, said they were responsible for the two-day delay of the test. Department of Energy officials denied it, saying the test was postponed by bad weather.
After that detonation the Soviet Union announced it was ending an eight-month unilateral nuclear test moratorium and would resume its own testing program.
Cocks said there would be a demonstration outside the test site on Wednesday that would include Senji Yamaguchi, 55, a survivor of the 23-kiloton atomic bomb dropped on Nagasaki on Aug. 9, 1945.
Jefferson, a Lawrence Livermore National Laboratory weapons-related experiment, was buried in a vertical shaft 2,000 feet below the desert surface and was designed to have an explosive force of from 20 to 150 kilotons, equal to a maximum punch of 150,000 tons of TNT.
The United States invited Soviet officials to visit the test site this month to see a demonstration of Correx, a device to accurately monitor the size of an underground nuclear test without revealing classified information about its nature.
U.S. officials said the suitcase-sized device could be used by both sides to monitor the other's nuclear tests. The Soviets did not accept the invitation.

Postal Service Seeks Land Bids

The U.S. Postal Service is accepting bids for the purchase of property in Lake Mary for the purpose of constructing a new post office, according to city postmaster Naomi Wallace.
Mrs. Wallace said the new 325,000 square foot office requires land 500 feet by 650 feet.
She said bids for the sale of property can be sent to: Donald Fennelly, Field Real Estate and Buildings Office, U.S. Postal Service, P.O. Box 22725, Tampa, Fla., 33622-2725. Bids must be mailed or hand delivered to Fennelly by June 10, she said.
She expects the post office to move from its Wilbur Avenue location to a new site in 1987.

TREES, KIDS AND POWER LINES CAN BE A DEADLY MIX.

Ordinarily, power lines are quite harmless. But when a tree grows up close to a power line, climbing the tree could be dangerous. Especially if your child tries to reach up and touch a power line with a stick, a pole or anything.
And under certain conditions, such as wet weather, if a branch makes contact with a power line, your child could get a shock just from touching the tree trunk.
Always look up. Whether you're flying kites, picking fruit or pruning trees, installing antennas or doing any activity that puts you in possible contact with overhead lines. Don't be a victim of your own carelessness.

Patriots Net State Title Hortian Wins Singles, Joins Mance For Doubles

By Chris Pieter
Herald Sports Writer

Lake Brantley's Patriots accomplished something no other Central Florida tennis team had done before Tuesday when they won the 4A State Championship at the University of Florida in Gainesville.

The Patriots finished with 14 points compared to 12 for second place Gainesville Buchholz. North Miami and Sarasota High each had seven for a third-place tie.

Cocher Frank Gooch said Brantley's impressive showing not only instantly put Central Florida on the map in prep tennis but broke the South Florida region's dominance.

"The guy running the tournament said, as far as he knows, it's the first time anyone from outside of South Florida ever won it," Gooch said. "This is without a doubt the best team ever to come out of Central Florida and I even had a couple people tell me this is the best team they've ever seen — period."

The state title capped off a year in which the Patriots were 15-0 in dual matches, and won every dual by a

Tennis

7-0 score. Brantley went on to handily win the Seminole Athletic Conference and district titles en route to the state championship.

Lake Brantley won just one singles division and one doubles division in the finals, but the Patriots had built up enough of a lead after a tremendous first-round performance and used the two victories in the finals to edge out Buchholz.

At division one singles, Sarasota's Tom Finnegan upended Brantley's Mark Mance, 6-4, 6-1, handing Mance his second loss of the season.

Brantley picked up a key victory at division two singles where Dirk Hortian completed two days of excellent play with a 6-0, 6-1 victory over Sarasota's Gary Finnegan. Hortian's victory gave the Patriots 14 points which was eventually good enough for the title but it did go down to the doubles.

Hortian's victory was made even sweeter by the fact that he was not seeded going into the state championships and knocked off both the number one and two seeds. In his quarterfinal match, Hortian was down 0-4 in the first set and went on to win 12 straight games for the victory.

At division three singles, North Miami's Steve Vasquez fought past Brantley's Mark Palus, 6-4, 7-6 (7-4 in the tiebreaker). Buchholz picked up two points on the Patriots by winning the division four and five singles. At four, Steve Tjia downed Brantley's Pete Palus, 6-3, 6-3, and David Blair then upended Brantley's Craig Bourne, 6-4, 6-0.

Lake Brantley sealed the victory at division one doubles where Mance and Hortian teamed to defeat North Miami's Dave Guaky and Vasquez, 6-2, 6-1.

"Putting five guys in the finals is very hard to do at state," Gooch said. "I was surprised we put all five in. But it did come down to today and Dirk's (Hortian's) win helped us out a great deal. And it made it a lot easier on us when North Miami knocked off Buchholz in the semis of number one doubles."

OLIVER DROPS TIGHT ONE

In the girls 4A State Championships Tuesday, Lake Howell sophomore Bonnie Oliver played an inspired match in the division four (finals against Pensacola Washington's Jennifer Abrams but Abrams came back from a one-set deficit to claim a 4-6, 6-3, 7-6 (7-4 tiebreaker) victory.

Oliver was the only player for Lake Howell to advance to the finals as the Lady Hawks' number two doubles team of Edie Dulce and Mindy Gardberg lost a two set match to Pensacola Washington in Tuesday's semifinals.

Lake Howell ended up with three points which was good for a sixth-place tie in the state. The Lady Hawks finished second in the state a year ago.

"We had a much more inexperienced team this season," Lake Howell coach Mike Hargis said. "Pensacola Washington and Miami Palmetto were the much stronger teams."

Gollohor's Bloop Lifts Howell, 2-1

By Chris Pieter
Herald Sports Writer

DELAND — For Craig Wagner to shut out Lake Mary's on one hit again might be asking a little too much, but it's not pitching that Lake Howell coach Birto Benjamin is concerned about.

Benjamin said the Silver Hawks' sticks are going to have to come alive and the defense has to play solid if Lake Howell is going to stay in contention in the 4A-9 District Tournament.

In Tuesday afternoon's opener, Jim Read tossed a four-hitter but the Hawks, who managed to escape hits themselves, led to go to the bottom of the sixth where it took a crucial, 0-3, opposite-field hit by Marty Gollohor to pull out a 2-1 win over Spruce Creek's Hawks at Conrad Park.

Lake Howell goes up against Lake Mary in Thursday's semifinals at Conrad Park. Wagner, who snapped Lake Mary's unbeaten string with a one-hitter earlier in the season, will be on the mound for the Hawks. Lake Mary is expected to go with either Neal Harris and Steve Shakar.

"I'm not worried about our pitching because it has been consistent all season," Benjamin said. "But we need to support our pitchers by hitting the ball like we're capable and playing good defense."

In Tuesday's game, the Silver Hawks were held hitless over the first three innings by Spruce Creek senior Tom Abdo.

Meanwhile, the Creek picked up a run in the top of the first and held a 1-0 lead most of the game. Jeff Wheatley led off the first with a single off Read. Rick Bowroen followed with a walk and Abdo singled to left to score Wheatley.

The first-inning uprising was all Spruce Creek got off Read, though. The slim righthander went on to allow just two hits the rest of the way, a bunt single in the fifth and a two-out single in the seventh. Read struck out five and walked four.

"Jim (Read) has been steady for us all year," Benjamin said. "And his record (now 7-2) might even be better if the offense had supported him better."

After Read set the Creek down in order in the top of the sixth, Lake Howell went on to get two runs out of its only real offensive threat of the game.

Damon Mariette drilled a shot that just nicked the glove of diving first baseman Kirk Wiley and went into right field for a base hit. After Kevin Lenard popped up a bunt for the first out, Eddie Taubensee drew a walk and Ernest Martinez reached on an error to load the bases.

Eric Martinez then came up and drilled a hard grounder toward shortstop Mark Bovier's right. Bovier made the play and got the force at second, but Eric Martinez beat the throw to first and Mariette scored the tying run. Abdo then got two quick strikes on designated hitter Gollohor but the Lake Howell left-hander waited on the 0-3 curveball and sliced it down the left field line for an RBI double that gave Lake Howell a 2-1 lead.

DELAND — Lyman's Byron Overstreet, whose been a run-starved pitcher every time he's toed the rubber against Seminole this spring, took one look at the scoreboard after the first inning Tuesday and did a double take.

Lyman 2, Seminole 0
"That was real important," Overstreet said about Lyman's two-run beginning. "Because we didn't score after that."

But neither did the Seminoles. Overstreet made sure of that. The senior righthander limited the Tribe to three hits and pitched out trouble in the first and fourth innings as Lyman blanked Seminole, 2-0, in the first round of the Class 4A-9 District Baseball Tournament at Conrad Park.

Lyman, 16-14, moves to Thursday's semifinal round against host DeLand at 7:30 p.m. DeLand, 19-10, dropped Lake Brantley, 3-0, behind a seven-hit effort from Tommy Hixon. Sophomore Ross Urshan will pitch for Lyman Thursday against DeLand junior Joey Mohr. Mohr formerly lived in Longwood.

In other action Tuesday, Lake Mary, 27-3, blew away Daytona Beach Mainland, 10-0, in five innings behind Mike Schmit's two-hitter. Lake Howell, 16-13, used a two-run, sixth-inning double by Marty Gollohor to nip Fort Orange Spruce Creek, 2-1. Lake Mary will send junior Rob Shakar against Howell's Craig Thursday's survivors play for the championship Friday night at 7:30.

Lyman, which lost three times to Seminole this year, pushed across the game's only runs with some timely hit-and-run strategy against loser Brian Sheffield in the first inning.

Darren Boyesen boomed a double over the right fielder's head to open the bottom of the first. On a 2-2 pitch, Lyman coach Bob McCullough flashed the hit-and-run. Seminole third baseman Gary Derr broke to cover third base and Overstreet slashed a liner to his vacated area for a single as Boyesen easily raced home for a 1-0 lead.

"We've been working on hitting the curveball all week," Boyesen, who fought off several Sheffield breakers before doubling, said. "He kept throwing me curveballs, but I finally got a fastball right where I wanted it."

Chris Radcliff followed with a looping fly ball to left center but Seminole's Alonzo Gainey made a spectacular sliding catch for the first out. With the count 0-1 on catcher John Burton, Overstreet took off for second

Predictable Rams Destroy Mainland

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

DELAND — Predictable but not complacent.

That's how Mike Schmit described the Lake Mary Rams Tuesday. "We've been knocked out of tournaments the past two years," Schmit said. "We don't want that to happen again. We're playing this tournament one game at a time."

Daytona Beach Mainland's time was up Tuesday.

Schmit tossed a two-hit shutout and the Rams battered two Mainland pitchers for nine hits en route to an easy 10-0, five-inning victory over the Bucs at Conrad Park Tuesday in the first round of the Class 4A-9 District Baseball Tournament.

Baseball

Lake Mary, 27-3, will take on Lake Howell Thursday at 5 p.m. in the semifinal round. Schmit, who said he could toe "a couple innings Thursday" if needed, gave up a bloop single in the first to Victor Wallace and a legitimate double in the fifth to Eric Phillips. The senior righthander (12-0) struck out 10 and walked just one.

Catcher Ryan Lisle put Mainland out of its misery with a line single to left in the bottom of the fifth to evoke the 10-run, slaughter rule.

The Rams took a 1-0 lead in the first when Shane Letterio walked, moved to third on Kelly Hyatt's bloop single and scored when Mike Finches drilled a single.

In the second, Neal Harris singled but Doug Sandy hit into a 1-6-3 double play. T.J. Sutton, who turned in a nice running catch in left field in the third frame, reentered the outfield with a walk against loser Brian Morris. When center fielder Terry Anthony dropped Letterio's fly ball for a two-base error, Sutton scored. Hyatt followed with his second hit to chase home Letterio for a 2-0 lead.

Celtics, Bucks, Rockets Wrap Up 3-0 Openers

United Press International
The Boston Celtics, Milwaukee Bucks and Houston Rockets all brushed aside obstacles Tuesday night to complete sweeps of their best-of-five opening-round series.

Michael Jordan stood between Boston and the Eastern Conference semifinals, and the Celtics found a way to end his phenomenal scoring spree. Milwaukee overcame a trend of losses to the New Jersey Nets at the Meadowlands; and Houston dispelled the myth of a lucky night for the Sacramento Kings and their fans.

In other games, Philadelphia defeated Washington 91-89 to take a 2-0 lead in their series. Detroit topped Atlanta 108-97 to avert a sweep, and Denver took a 2-1 series advantage with a 115-104 victory over Portland. The Celtics handcuffed Jordan, who had 49 points in Game 1 and a playoff-record 63 points Sunday at Boston, and defeated the Bulls 123-104 at Chicago. Jordan was held to 13 points by an all-out effort to contain him.

Kevin McHale paced Boston with 31 points. The Bucks rallied from a 19-point deficit to defeat New Jersey 118-115 and gain their second victory at East Rutherford, N.J., in two years.

New Jersey led by 19 points in the first half, shooting 66 percent. Milwaukee slipped up the defensive pressure and cut the lead to 22-21 after three periods. Houston snuffed its home-court domination from Ralph Sampson and Lewis Lloyd to eliminate the Sacramento Kings with a 113-88 triumph.

At Landover, Md., Julius Erving scored 23 points, and Spudis Threatt added 9 during a 26-7 second-half run, powering the 76ers over the Bullets. The best-of-five series resumes Thursday night at Capital Centre. The 76ers overcame a 14-point third-quarter deficit and held Washington to 1 field goal over an 11-minute stretch to lead 65-74 with 6:30 left in the game.

At Pontiac, Mich., Mitch Thomas, playing with an abscessed bladder, made a basket and a pair of free throws early in the fourth quarter to help lead a 100-90 comeback. Kelly Tripucka led Detroit with 26 points and rebounded with 14. Dennis Rodman held Sacramento's Willie G. Scott to 11 points after the Atlanta star hit for 29 in Game 2.

Shane Letterio leads game early in top of Kelly Tripucka's.

Hickox Handcuffs Lake Brantley, 3-0

By Scott Sander
Special To The Herald
DELAND — Lake Brantley's awesome offensive reputation didn't seem to bother DeLand Bulldog pitcher Tommy Hickox. Not one bit. DeLand's junior righthander turned in a dream performance as he shut down the potent Brantley bats while hurling a 3-0 victory in the first round of the Class 4A-8 District Baseball Tournament at Conrad Park. Hickox surrendered seven hits and struck out four. The Bulldogs, 19-10, battle Lyman at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the semi-final round. Lake Mary plays Lake Howell in the 5 p.m. game. Lyman used a three-hit shutout by ace Byron Overstreet to turn back Seminole, 2-0, in Thursday's second game. In Tuesday's first game, Lake Howell trimmed Spruce Creek, 2-1, on Marty Golloher's sixth-inning single for two ribbies. Lake Mary battered Daytona Beach Mainland, 10-0, in a game shortened to five innings by the 10-run rule. "They just flat out beat us," said disappointed Brantley coach Mike Smith about his 14-15-1 club. "They made the big plays when they needed to. Their pitcher (Hickox) pitched one heck of a game. Not too many people have been able to shut us down like he did." After starting out the year with a 5-6 mark the 'Dogs have won 14 of their last 18. "I am really happy with our record," DeLand coach Jim Joiner said. "We lost a lot of good players last year (the entire infield) but the guys are doing a great job." The Bulldogs played errorless ball. The Bulldogs scored the only run that they would need in the bottom of the first inning. Junior Chuck Woide led off with the first off his three hits, a double into the left field corner. After Dan Finley whiffed, senior right fielder Jimmy Peters socked the first off his three hits — a two-bagger to deep left center that plated Woide for a 1-0 lead against loser Tim Smith.

The Patriots had their only legitimate scoring opportunity in the top of the second inning. Junior shortstop Andy Dunn led off with an infield single. After third baseman Pat Luak was called out for batter interference on an attempted steal Dunn swiped his 17th base of the year out of 18 tries. Senior third baseman Rick Koch followed with a line drive to Bulldog right fielder Peters. It appeared that Peters dropped the ball and Dunn advanced to third. Peters then threw the ball to second base. At that point, Joyner called time and hustled on to the field. The home plate umpire then ruled that Peters had caught the ball and dropped it while taking it from his glove. His throw to second base doubled up Dunn for the twin killing.

Smith argued the controversial call, but it was to no avail. After this point in the game no Patriot would advance past second base.

The Bulldogs added a run in the bottom of the third inning. After Woide singled and was caught stealing, Peters drew one of two walks given by Smith. Junior center fielder David Hogue followed with a single to center moving Peters to second base. Senior catcher Troy McBride followed with a grounder to first baseman Mark Coffey. Coffey had to move to right to snare the ball and threw behind Smith who was covering first base. The error allowed Peters to score and give the 'Dogs a 2-0 cushion after three innings.

Dunn, who returns with his .354 batting average, said the loss was a downer. "It was a shame to lose like this. We worked really hard and I thought we could beat them," he said. "They played a really good game, though. Maybe we'll do better next year."

Sunniland Takes Over First Place

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer
Sunniland used a combination of good pitching by Don Hunt and clutch hitting by Quinn Byrd and David Dunn to take over first place in the Sanford Little National League. Hunt pitched a two-hitter and Byrd and Dunn combined for five hits and six RBIs as Sunniland downed D.A.V. (Disabled American Veterans), 14-2, in Little National League action Tuesday at Westside Field. The win lifted Sunniland to 2-0 for the season and they have a one half game lead over First Federal and Poppa Jay's, both at 2-1. D.A.V. fell to 0-3. Hunt had a no-hitter going until the bottom of the fourth when Donte Bell and DeAndre Ware hit back to back singles for D.A.V.'s only two hits. Hunt struck out five and walked six. Offensively for Sunniland, Byrd was 3 for 3 with three singles, drove in two runs and scored three. Dunn belted a two-run double in the first and added a two-run single in the second. Ned June added a two-run double in the second and Tyrone Chibberton had a run-scoring double in the third. The game was stopped after four innings due to the 10-run rule.

Baseball

Jay's got in the game. The Railroaders, though, managed only four hits off Poppa Jay's pitchers Andre Rawlings and Demetry Beamon. Jimmy Caraway had two of the hits including a ground rule double in the first and a triple in the sixth. Beamon, who pitched three innings of relief, was the winner for Poppa Jay's while starter Lorne Jones took the loss for the Railroaders. Caraway pitched no-hit ball the last three innings. RINKER BOYS FEDERAL Rinker Materials banged out 12 hits and it was enough to hand First Federal its first loss of the season, 12-10, in Little National League action Tuesday at Bay Avenue Field. It was also the first win for Rinker.

Corey Bennett and Ronnie McNeil had the hot bats for Rinker as both went 4 for 5. Bennett drove in three runs with a triple, double and two singles while McNeil slugged a two-run double, a two-run triple and added a pair of singles. Nine of Rinker's runs were scored by the bottom part of the order as Charica Williams, Cupie Williams and McNeil scored three each. First Federal, 2-1, had 11 hits in the game including two by Mike Dillion. Larry Bradley belted a triple while Tony Davis, Corey Anderson and Kent Pritchard each doubled. Bennett was the winning pitcher for Rinker as he went the distance while reliever Andrew Sipa took the loss for First Federal.

 and Burton grounded a single into right field to chase him to third base. Two pitches later, Burton broke for second base. Seminole catcher Roy Jensen gunned him down for the second out, but on the play Overstreet sailed home for a 2-0 lead. "I didn't think there was going to be a lot of scoring," McCullough said. "It was important to get those two runs. They made a big difference." Lyman's offensive outburst was its first runs off Sheffield after 16 1/2 innings. Sheffield had outduccled Overstreet twice before, blanking Lyman with a no-hitter and a five-hitter. After the first inning, Sheffield allowed just two hits, struck out four and retired the final eight batters in order. The Tribe, however, couldn't get the bats going against Overstreet. "I didn't have much heat," Overstreet said. "I had to rely more on my curveball. Those runs were a big lift. We had to prove we could score against him (Sheffield)." Seminole, 13-17, had its best scoring opportunities in the first and fourth frames. Overstreet threw eight consecutive balls to start the game, walking Gansy and Derr in the process. The veteran righthander, though, retired Sheffield on a fly ball to right field for the first out. Gansy and Derr pulled a double steal to move up but Greg Pond's fly ball to left was too short to score a run. Jensen grounded back to the mound for the final out. In the fourth, Sheffield broke up Overstreet's no-hitter with a smash up the middle. Pond followed with a shot back to the mound which Overstreet grabbed in self-defense and threw Sheffield at second. In turned out to be a crucial play as Jensen reached on a slow roller when shortstop John Bane's throw was wide. Sophomore Jeff Blake followed with a scorcher to left field. Overstreet, nevertheless, was up to the challenge. He jumped ahead of Ron Blake with two curveballs on the inside corner and then struck him out. He fanned Joey Corral on a 3-2 pitch to ease out of danger. "Byron pitched a good game and they executed in the first inning," Seminole coach Mike Ferrell said. Overstreet struck out five walked two and hit one.

Cook Of The Week

Sanford Teacher Shares Her Sweets And Caring With Others

By Dorothy Greene
Herald Correspondent
"They say I take my interest in cooking from my Dad's side of the family," says Brenda Hicks, our Cook of the Week. "They're from Kentucky and were always cooking things from the garden." Mrs. Hicks continues, "My mother worked, so we were always allowed to try anything in the kitchen. She'd buy us anything we needed to make it, as long as it was cleaned up by 5:00 o'clock. My brother, Darrell, and I were very experimental. You name it, we made it," she laughs. "One summer we made homemade onion rings every day!"

Mrs. Hicks confesses to being very dessert-oriented. "I had a little baking set, and used to make Dad little cakes, just big enough for one person. My brother was older, so he'd teach me how to fix something, then I'd have to fix it from then on," she says. Even when Mrs. Hicks was in college, she remembers, "I would do the cooking, and whoever my roommate was at the time would do the cleaning up."

A Sanfordite since the age of 4 months, Mrs. Hicks, who is also child-oriented, has chosen teaching as her profession, and has thoroughly enjoyed her classes at Midway Elementary School for eight years. For the past 3 years, Mrs. Hicks has taught a primary alternative class which is comprised of children who need disciplinary guidance or who are behind in their studies. "We do a lot of individualization and a lot of counseling," she says, "and it has been very challenging. It's worked out real well."

After attending schools in Sanford, she earned her B.S. Degree in Elementary Education at Lee College in Cleveland, Tennessee, and her Master's Degree at Stetson University in

Brenda Hicks confesses she's dessert-oriented

DeLand. "Since about the sixth grade, I've always wanted to be a teacher," says Mrs. Hicks. Relating an important experience, she recalls, "When a boy in my class was unable to do the work because an illness left him with double vision, the teacher, because I could keep up with my own work, let me do two days of my work, then work with him the second day. That's where I began, peer teaching a fellow student." Participation in the Future Teachers of America and the French Club while in school, and as a member of the National Honor Society has helped Mrs. Hicks to establish a career which she finds very rewarding indeed.

After finishing at Lee College in just 3 1/2 years, Mrs. Hicks taught at Lawton Elementary in Oviedo for three years. During this time, she met her husband, Ken, when he became the music director at her church in Sanford. Married in March, 1975, this musically talented couple are very much in tune with each other. "I like to play the piano," says Mrs. Hicks. "That's my hobby, I guess." She has been a church pianist and enjoys listening to and playing religious and classical compositions.

Both Brenda and Ken are very much devoted to raising their precocious little girl, Stephanie. A bright and delightful child, she is the apple of her daddy's eye. "We like to go to the park and sometimes have picnics on the lakefront where Daddy can meet us for lunch," Mrs. Hicks smiles. "Stephanie enjoys feeding the ducks." Mr. Hicks' job as owner and operator of the Bram Towers beauty salon allows him to join his family at these special times for a pleasant lunch on the lakefront. At one time, Mr. Hicks was "on the road" as personal valet and bodyguard for the late rock 'n roll king, Elvis Presley.

When Mrs. Hicks vacationed with her family as a young girl, "It was usually a trip to Ohio or Kentucky where my grandparents lived, or to the beach," she recalls. But one special vacation that she will always remember took place the summer she graduated from college. "My roommate went to live in Scotland, so I spent the summer with her and got to tour Scotland and England with her. I stayed in an old castle which was like a dormitory for students. It was interesting, and I got a chance to see and do things that you wouldn't get to see on a tour. And I got to know the people better," recalls Mrs. Hicks.

Spare time is at a minimum at the busy Hicks household, but our cook does find time to read for relaxation. "I enjoy all the popular novels," says Mrs. Hicks, "and I read educational things." Currently, the Hicks are dedicated to activities at Trinity Assembly of God Church in Deltona, where Brenda is in charge of "Sunshine Avenue," a children's program which incorporates Bible teaching, music, puppets, and games. "Ken works with the puppeteers and I'm the teacher," says Mrs. Hicks. "We work on that together and it's a really nice program for children on Sunday nights."

"Busy" is a key word for Mrs. Hicks who rises early to prepare breakfast for Stephanie, get herself ready for work, and take Stephanie to the babysitter. "I try to spend time with her in the afternoon when we come home. Then I fix supper, bathe her, and, of course, we go to church on Sundays and Wednesdays," she says. Mrs. Hicks is co-chairman of the discipline committee at school, is on the building committee, and is looking forward to being on one of the writing teams on alternative education for the county this summer. So, between church, school, and family, our cook of the week is very much involved with young people.

Mrs. Hicks' cooking skills haven't suffered at all through her busy schedule, and, she says, "My family background is country cooking, but I guess desserts are what I like the most. Around the holidays, I usually bake for 2 to 3 days straight, then make up boxes that I like to take to elderly people. I've done this ever since I was a teenager for some of them and they look forward to it." Bake sales are sometimes a sellout before they happen, Mrs. Hicks admits. "They'd call me and say, 'Well, what did you make? Don't bother taking it to the cake sale — we'll just give you the money!'" Whenever there are children's parties, it is no effort for Mrs. Hicks to prepare 80 or 90 cupcakes for the occasion. "My mother always says that when I get to heaven there'll be a golden cupcake for me, for all the cupcakes I've made," she laughs, "as bus director at church and for my children at school. I just enjoy cooking."

Her family of nieces all agree that Aunt Brenda's baking is special and are often treated to their own choices. "I really like my recipes to be very simple and easy to do," says Mrs. Hicks, "but make everyone think that it

Greeting Card Magnates Pounce Into Booming Alternative Market

By Toni Cardarella
United Press International
KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Alternative or non-occasion cards, which psychiatrists are hailing as the sign of the times and the future, have become the fastest growing market in the $3.5 billion greeting card industry.

The country's two largest greeting card companies demonstrated the importance of the market this month by introducing new lines in an attempt to grab more of those consumers who buy non-traditional messages.

"It is not merely the wave of the future. It is the future," said Dr. David Viscott, a Los Angeles psychiatrist who has written 13 books and penned greetings for several firms.

Officials at both Hallmark

Cards Inc. and American Greetings Corp. say their new cards mark the largest lines to be introduced in their firms' histories. They are convinced consumers want more expressive, direct cards.

"Today, Americans want cards that talk the way they talk — openly, honestly and with a good sense of humor," said Patty Moore, product information manager at the Kansas City-based Hallmark Cards.

Hallmark this month introduced Shoobox Greetings, which with more than 800 cards marks the largest product line introduced by the firm in its 76 years.

"They offer individuals an opportunity to extend best wishes in ways that are offbeat, open and often irreverent," said Moore.

For instance, she said, "You're looking for the perfect birthday card for your sister, but one with pretty verses describing her virtues isn't it."

She points to an alternative from Hallmark's new line that reads: "Happy Birthday to my younger sister. I suppose this year Mom and Dad will be giving you the usual ... And inside, 'Ten times as many presents as I got when I was your age.'"

These cards represent "the push and pull people feel in relationships," said Dr. Kathryn Zerbe of the Menninger Foundation in Topeka, Kan.

That Hallmark birthday card "both attacks the positive side of the attachment as well as the negative side," she said.

"It's saying: You're important enough to me that I'm sending you a card, but don't get any fancy ideas," said Zerbe, a psychiatrist with a research interest in creativity.

Most alternative cards offer greetings that deal with themes, such as friendship and relationships, rather than occasions, and many use humor.

California Dreamers Inc., a Chicago firm that focuses on the alternative market, offers this card: "Did you ever have one of those days when you say... Inside: 'I shaved my legs for this?'"

"In past years, one card was probably used by a lot of different people. Now, you want a card that specifically represents what you do and what others do," said Bert Hobrath, public relations manager at the Cleveland-based American Greetings.

"If you're a young working woman, you want cards that make reference to that. You'll send those cards to your friends at the office."

American Greetings' new line is called "In Touch," 144 non-occasion cards that "express everyday feelings and emotions," according to Hobrath.

"In Touch" cards address problems in relationships. That's new in greeting cards," says Hobrath.

Many alternative cards from the major firms communicate the concerns of everyday life — from dieting and dating to congratulating a co-worker on a promotion.

From "In Touch" comes: "No excuses... I was wrong." Another says: "Don't worry .. you'll do great." And another: "We have to face it, we have a problem."

Viscott, who wrote American Greetings' latest line, says "In Touch" is designed to let people say what they really mean.

"If you have an argument with someone you love, and you get in a car and drive away from home, you hear in your head the most eloquent, brilliant rebuttals of what you could have said. It's never flowery, always simple ... always the voice of the heart. That's the language that most people feel in," said Viscott.

Most of the smaller lines of alternative cards have been available for several years. Research by Hallmark indicates the market for such cards is "enormous," said Moore.

"The size and scope of Shoobox attests to that," she said.

Strawberries A Special Treat Any Time

Strawberries are a favorite to be enjoyed from late December through April and the first of the summer berries grown in Central Florida. Blueberries and blackberries follow along soon. Make the most of the abundant supply and reasonable prices now. Freeze some berries for later and use your microwave oven for some new preparation techniques. Most of these recipes are equally good prepared with other berries or fruits. Frozen berries can also be used.

This make ahead dessert can be made with blueberries or peaches too.

STRAWBERRY SOUR CREAM PIE

9-inch baked pastry shell
3 eggs
1 cup sour cream
¾ cups sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 pint (2 cups) fresh strawberries, sliced

Combine eggs and sour cream in a quart batter bowl. Blend and mix in sugar. Microwave on 50% power 8-9 minutes or until thickened, stirring every 2 minutes. Stir in vanilla. Cool. Arrange berries in baked pastry shell. Pour sour cream mixture over strawberries. Cool and refrigerate several hours before serving. Top with whipped cream and garnish with strawberries.

This layered dessert can be made ahead and other berries can be substituted for the strawberries.

¼ cup butter or margarine
1 cup all-purpose flour
¼ cup (packed) brown sugar
¼ cup chopped walnuts
1½ cup water
1 package (3 oz.) strawberry gelatin

1 pint strawberries
1 4 oz. carton of frozen whipped topping, thawed

Microwave on 100% power butter in 8-inch square baking dish 1-1½ minutes. Mix in flour, brown sugar, and walnuts until blended. Microwave on 100% power 5-6 minutes or until mixture has a dry appearance and is slightly toasted, stirring several times. Set aside ¼ cup crumbs. Press remaining crumbs with fork into bottom of dish.

Microwave (100%) water in a 4 cup class measurer 4-4½ minutes or until boiling. Stir in gelatin until dissolved. Refrigerate until slightly thickened. Set aside ¼ cup gelatin. Stir strawberries into remaining gelatin. Pour mixture into crust. Fold the remaining ¼ cup gelatin into the whipped topping. Spoon onto strawberries. Sprinkle with reserved crumbs. Refrigerate 3 hours or until served. Cut into squares.

If you haven't made a freezer jam you will find it really easy. The jam is a beautiful color because the berries are not cooked. These two spring favorites team for a great taste treat.

FRESH STRAWBERRY-RHUBARB JAM

1½ pints (3 cups) fresh strawberries
2 cups sliced rhubarb
¼ cup water
1 package (1¼ oz.) powdered fruit pectin
5 cups sugar

Hull and wash strawberries; process in food processor until pureed. Measure out 1½ cups; set aside. Combine rhubarb, water, and pectin in 2 quart batter bowl. Mix well. Microwave on 100% 5-8 minutes or until rhubarb is tender and pectin is dissolved, stirring twice. Stir in sugar. (Mix will become quite thick). Microwave on 100% power 3-4 minute or until mixture boils, stirring once. Stir in crushed strawberries until well mixed. Spoon into jars or freezer containers. Cover. Let stand at room temperature about 24 hours. Label and store in freezer. Makes 6 cups.

The next time you want to serve something elegant try these scrumptious chocolate-dipped strawberries. They are especially nice on a dessert tray.

8 ozs. dark sweet chocolate coating

¼ teaspoon Grand Marnier flavoring

1 pint fresh unhulled strawberries

Cut chocolate into 6 or 8 pieces and place in 2 cup glass measures.

Microwave on 50% power 2-3 minutes or until melted; stirring twice. Stir until smooth. Stir in flavoring. Dip berries in chocolate to cover ¾ of fruit, leaving top portion and cap uncovered. Place cap side down on wax paper covered tray and refrigerate 5-10 minutes or until set. Refrigerate until served.

*Milk chocolate can be used instead of the dark chocolate. Less time is needed for it to be melted.

Convenience is the key to this strawberry cake. A small box cake comes in handy.

STRAWBERRY CAKE

½ cup sugar
3 teaspoons flour
½ cup milk
1 package (9 oz.) white cake

mix

2 eggs
½ cup water
¼ cup cooking oil
2 tablespoons flour

¾ cups chopped fresh strawberries

½ cup butter or margarine
½ teaspoon vanilla

Whole strawberries to garnish

Start frosting by combining sugar and 3 tablespoons flour in 1 quart glass batter bowl. Blend in milk. Microwave on 100% power 2-2½ minutes or until mixture boils and thickens, stirring once. Refrigerate while preparing cake.

Prepare cake by combining cake mix, eggs, water, oil, 2 tablespoons flour, the gelatin and chopped berries in mixing bowl. Blend until combined, beat at medium speed 3 minutes. Pour into 8-inch square glass baking dish, lightly grease bottom only. Microwave on 100% power 3-4 minutes or until no longer doughy. Cool.

Finish frosting by placing butter in glass mixing bowl. Microwave on 100% power 10-15 seconds or until just softened (don't melt). Beat with electric mixer until creamy. Gradually beat in cooled milk mixture; beat until fluffy. Beat in vanilla. Spread on cooled cake. Garnish with whole strawberries. Makes about 9 servings.

If you have a few strawberries that can be sliced try adding them to chicken salad just before you are ready to serve. Do not crush the berries. They add color as well as a special taste.

Grieving Mother's Theft Impulse Adds Guilt To Her Suffering

DEAR ABBY: Two years ago my 2-year-old son died in a tragic way. His death was a great shock to me. I expected to go through the normal grieving process, and I did. However, something unexpected happened. I started to steal. I had no use for anything I took, but I was helpless to stop. Even more disturbing, I stole from people I love and am very close to. This started soon after the death of my son and stopped a few months ago.

The death of my son and the terrible guilt I felt over stealing nearly drove me to suicide twice. I want very much to return the items I took and apologize to the owners, but I am afraid they will probably say they "understand," but they'll never trust me in their homes again.

Please don't tell me to seek professional help because my compulsion to steal seems to have left me as quickly as it came. I need some answers. I've never stolen anything in my life before this. Why did I steal — especially from people I'm close to? The guilt and confusion are weighing me down. Please help me. I want to make everything better, but I don't know how.

CONFUSED AND GUILTY

DEAR CONFUSED: Your compulsion to steal (transitory kleptomania) was triggered by your tragic loss. You unconsciously tried to compensate for your loss by taking from others because something had been taken from you. You stole from those close to you because you unconsciously envied and resented them for not having had to suffer the way you did.

You need more help than I can give you in a letter. You seem to be a fine and decent person who was temporarily destabilized by a terrible loss. You stole to "equalize" things. It was sick behavior, and sickness is no crime. Forgive yourself, my friend. Please see a therapist and a clergyman — if you have one. You need absolution and counseling. Write again soon and let me know how you are doing. I care.

The McFarlane Singers combine good singing with good acting.

SCCA To Present Concert: Sigmund Romberg's Music

The Seminole Community Concert Association will present the McFarlane Singers performing Romberg Remembered. The concert will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday, May 8, in the Lake Mary High School auditorium, with a reception honoring the patrons following the concert.

Sigmund Romberg's music has brought joy to millions of people, and its beauty is as enduring as it is fresh. The newest of the melodies selected for this program is over thirty-five years old. Certainly no other composer in America brought the Viennese school of Musical theater to such popular success, and few others have approached Romberg's musical output: in one three-year period before he reached his peak, he composed music for no less than seventeen different productions.

"Romberg Remembered" portrays the man that composed these sympathetic and emotionally appealing songs with a script of his life and times, tastefully staged, with McFarlane taking the role of the great man himself.

Ashby Jones, a local artist, will provide concert goers with an added treat. He will be displaying a number of his paintings in the lobby before the show and during intermission.

Jones donated a painting to the Seminole Community Concert Association to be used for a raffle prize. The donated painting will also be on display, and tickets for the raffle will be available for $2 each or 3 for $5. The drawing for the painting will be held following the concert.

At the Feb. 26 meeting of the Seminole Community Concert Association, the new officers and board members were elected.

with the following continuing from last year:

Officers: Annette Wing, president; James Thomas, vice pres. in charge of stage arrangements; Rev. Leo King, vice pres. in charge of membership; Maria Fudge, vice pres. in charge of publicity; Pat Foster recording secretary; Marian Rethwill, treasurer; Nellie Coleman, parliamentarian.

DAR Learns About Citizen's Army

The April meeting of Sallie Harrison Chapter National Society Daughters of the American Revolution was held at Howell Place, Sanford, with hostesses Mrs. R.E. True, Mrs. R.G. Fox and Mrs. W.E. Baker serving refreshments during the social hour preceding the meeting.

National Defense chairman Mrs. Paul Mikler introduced the guest speaker, Lt. Col. Ronald O. Harrison who spoke on the country's defenders. Harrison has maintained a career in the Army National Guard and currently commands a 700-man Infantry Battalion with headquarters in Orlando. He is a native Floridian and product of Florida public schools and a graduate of Florida State University. He is active in business in Orlando, enjoys sports and is an Elder of First Presbyterian Church in Orlando. Harrison opened his talk by remarking that it was appropriate to speak to a DAR group representing descendants of the first citizen's army of our country as the National Guard is known as the citizen's army. His slide presentation and accompanying comments gave a quick look into the activities of the Guard.

He emphasized that they must be ready at all times in many different fields. The 39 training days per year keep them in tip top condition. 3,350 National Guard Units in 2600 communities of the U.S. are always ready for any emergency in the state or nation. He noted that the national strategy of U.S. forces is to deter war by having a fighting force strong enough that no one wants to engage us in combat. Col. Harrison closed his talk with praise for the young men and women in the guard, there is a feeling of commitment and dedication to this country that is stronger today than in many previous years. He added that these bright young people are a pleasure to train in the service of our country.

The business meeting followed with Regent Mrs. Paul Kelly welcoming guests and members. The opening ritual was observed and committee reports heard. The President General's April message was read and certificates were presented donors to Statue of Liberty Love Day Drive. Chaplain Mrs. W.B. Little closed the meeting with prayer.

Ballet Theatre Closes Season With Diversity

Southern Ballet Theatre closes its 1985-86 season on May 16 at Bob Carr Performing Arts Centre, Orlando, with a diverse program of ballets that include four Florida premieres and the return of its 1980 smash hit ballet "Elements."

"Con Amore" is a humorous ballet patterned after the opera buffa made popular by Rossini. It was choreographed by the founder of The San Francisco Ballet, Lew Christensen and premiered in California in 1953. "Con Amore" has been staged for the New York City Ballet, Ballet West, the Chicago Opera Ballet, and the Joffrey Ballet.

Southern Ballet Theatre has been awarded its second Balanchine ballet, "Allegro Brillante," by the Estate of the Late George Balanchine. The ballet was premiered by the New York City Ballet in 1956 and has remained one of Balanchine's most famous ballets. The music is Peter Tchaikovsky's Opus 75, third piano concerto and will feature 10 of SBT's dancers.

The world premiere of Russell Sultzbach's "Le Masque" will be featured on the program. As always Mr. Sultzbach's ballet will be an exciting addition to the company's repertory. The music is Samuel Barber's Overture to The School for Scandal, Opus 5. The ballet will feature Henry Stevens, Denyse Bruzese and Lloyd Riggins.

Artistic Director Barbara Riggins will present her new ballet "In the summer wind," a romantic ballet with music by Anton Von Webern. The ballet will be presented at the Bob Carr for the first time.

The ballet "Elements" which was set on the company in 1982 by Lynda Martha will be re-staged for the May performance. Of all the ballets in SBT's rich repertory this one has been a favorite. It is set to original music and is danced in the American Style with a strong earthy accent. The company finishes its 12th season as Central Florida's professional dance company and has represented the area with performances in cities from Tallahassee to Key West. Next year the company will present its 13th season at the Bob Carr and will tour the nine southeastern states under the Southern Arts Federation touring program.

Please join the company in its last performance on May 16, 1986, 8 p.m. at the Bob Carr Performing Arts Centre. For more information, photos or other material, please call (305) 628-0133.

Cough Medicine May Be Key To Pregnancy

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT — I am 30, married and have a 5-year-old son. We've been trying for three years to have another child. After many tests, my doctor put me on Clomid and progesterone for four months. I still can't get pregnant. Now he's suggesting that I take Robitussin cough syrup to get pregnant. Have you ever heard of this?

DEAR READER — It sounds peculiar, but Robitussin can help some women become pregnant. The cough mixture contains guaifenesin, a substance that thins mucus. If your cervical canal secretes mucus that is so thick that it prevents penetration by sperm, Robitussin can reduce mucous viscosity and permit fertilization to take place. Please don't become alarmed and think, as one of my patients did, that you could get pregnant just by drinking cough syrup; there's more to it than that.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I am a 12-year-old girl. I was born with a shallow hip socket. Could I pass it on to my family? Could I pop it out of place if I did splits?

DEAR READER — Some hip conditions are congenital or inherited. In many patients, stress — like doing a split — could cause a dislocation. I suggest that you discuss your hip problem with your doctor. He or she can give you the best advice for your particular condition.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Is a vanilla purchased in Central America or Mexico safe to use?

DEAR READER — The U.S. government requires careful control of foods that are manufactured, processed or packaged in this country — or that are imported. Other countries are not so picky. If, when abroad, you purchase vanilla extract that has been made in the United States, you are safe, providing the container has not been opened. On the other hand, vanilla packaged and sold in a foreign country may contain contaminants. Although the chances of becoming sick from such a product are unlikely, I'd advise caution in using foreign edibles that are packaged and sold in foreign countries. DEAR DR. GOTT — When I was a baby, a doctor told my mother that I would have to take thyroid pills my whole life. Now, many years later, I'm told I don't need them. However, I have a couple of lumps on my throat, near my jaws. Is this anything to get concerned about?

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

When South bid three hearts, he was simply looking for the best game contract. When North cue-bid the club ace, it was easy for South to show the diamond ace. North then moved closer to slam by jumping to five spades. South now accepted the invitation with his bid of six.

Six spades was not that great a contract. For starters, a bad split in either spades or hearts would be tough to handle. Undaunted, the declarer won the diamond ace and ruffed a diamond, came to the ace of hearts and ruffed another diamond, and then pulled trumps. Next came a finesse of the heart jack. When that lost, the defenders cashed the diamond king to set the hand.

The declarer made the right play if the contract were seven spades, but in six he can afford to sacrifice a heart trick early, before trumps are pulled. It's certainly right to ruff a diamond at trick two. Then, when declarer plays a heart, he should play low from both hands. If the heart suit divides 3-2, there is now no need for the heart finesse. Whatever the defenders return, South will come to his hand with the heart ace, trump one more diamond and then draw the opposing trumps. The remaining good hearts will then take care of the losing diamond and club left in his hand. Our early lessons taught us about taking finesses. Now that we are expert, we've learned how to avoid them.

Daytime Emmy Mixup With NBC

By Mark Schwed
UPI TV Editor
NEW YORK (UPI) — Is it canceled or is it on? The answer is in for the folks behind the Daytime Emmy Awards but not before an embarrassing incident involving the Academy of Television Arts and Sciences and NBC.

The embarrassment began March 19 when a press release arrived from the Academy, the same folks who handle the Emmy Awards for prime-time TV. Presumably, it was sent to dozens of TV writers across the country.

The headline read: "ATAS 'disappointed and baffled' by NBC-TV's refusal to telecast this year's Daytime Emmy Awards." "The membership of the Academy of Television Arts & Sciences is baffled by the steadfast refusal of the NBC Television Network to adhere to earlier agreements to broadcast this year's 13th Annual Daytime Emmy Awards presentation, which ATAS presently administers," said the press release. "It was agreed last year that CBS-TV would carry last year's show, that 1986 would be aired by NBC-TV and that ABC-TV would carry the program next year."

"...Despite its involvement in a three-network, three-year agreement with ATAS and joint presenter, the National Academy of Television Arts & Sciences (NATAS) has resisted all attempts over the last five months by ATAS officers and its Negotiating Committee to broadcast this year's awards." The press release went on to note that CBS's broadcast the year before resulted in a 10.0 rating and a 32 share and outranked every prime-time broadcast that day.

Then ATAS President Richard Frank said, "It's somewhat embarrassing to the many fine members of our Academy who work so diligently in daytime to be disenfranchised from network exposure this way, this year. We hope NBC reconsiders — the door is obviously always open for that."

"The only problem with all that is that NBC never did say it was not going to air the Daytime Emmy Awards. Negotiations were still going on. The folks at NBC were the ones who were baffled."

"What does that press release say?" an NBC executive asked in astonishment. "Wait a minute, I keep getting the same answer. They're still talking. The entire network team is involved. As far as we're concerned there has been no decision not to televise it this year."

A quick call to the author of the press release, Murray Weisman, the press contact for the academy, resulted in more bafflement.

"If you tell me that they say negotiations are still going on then that is an attitude that will please both academies," said Weisman. "They have refused to agree to their agreement."

"They have refused to go forth with their agreement," Weisman said. "We don't know what the problem is. That's the bafflement part."

Well, guess what? On April 4, NBC issued the following press release: "The 13th Annual Daytime Emmy Awards, honoring TV performers and craftsmen for their work in the 1985-86 television season, will be broadcast on NBC-TV as a 90-minute special in mid-July. It was announced today by Brian Frons, vice president, daytime programs, NBC Entertainment."

Also quoted in the press release was Frank, the "embarrassed" president from the "baffled" academy, who said: "The support the academy has received from the networks is always appreciated and we are particularly pleased with the special effort NBC is making this year."

Now that the dueling press releases have stopped coming, NBC and the Academy have agreed to agree that the event will be telecast live from New York. All they have to agree to agree on now is a date and time.

Oh, yes. There's just one small matter left upon which everyone must agree. The winners.

"Alex: The Life of a Child," the movie from Sports Illustrated writer Frank Deford's book about the brief but remarkable life of his daughter, airs Wednesday April 23 (9-11 p.m. EST) on ABC.

It is a heart-tugging tale about a precious child, a family, and love — but more than anything else it is about life. Instead of just tears, one is left with a smile.

Alexandra Miller Deford died of cystic fibrosis three months after her 8th birthday, but she left a lot of fans.

"She made a full life out of those eight years," said Craig Nelson, who plays Deford in the movie. "Our life span is short anyway. Why shouldn't we spend it the way she did?"

Carrie Wanamaker was one of Alex's classmates. "This is what I remember of Alex. Alex always smiled. Even if she was in pain. She always was nice to you."

Alex also had an impact on Carol Evan McKeand, one of the writers for the movie. "In a time when we live with horror stories of how children are abused and mistreated, this is a story about how precious a child is," McKeand said. "It says something important about surviving: about helping each other to survive and about the child who helped this family survive. That's miraculous, and I hope we say that."

Alex Deford was born on Saturday, Oct. 30, 1971. She died on Saturday, Jan. 19, 1980.

Pampering The Petunias

Kenneth Echols, curator of the School Board of Seminole County Student Museum and Center for the Social Studies, watches while Mary Lou McDonald, left, and Patty Speer, representing Camellia Circle of the Garden

Club of Sanford Inc., check the petunias they planted, along with Lou Woodruff. Mrs. Woodruff planned and designed the museum landscaping to add to the beautification of Sanford.

The Young And The Old Compete For Resources

Special To The Herald
Current "hard times" in social spending has opened an unpleasant question — are the old getting too much at the expense of the young? Yes, according to Paul Hewitt, president of Americans for Generational Equity, an organization formed to advocate for the baby-boom generation whose economic interests are being jeopardized, Hewitt says. In part by the disproportionate share of social spending going to the aged.

Ronald F. Pollack, an advocate for the aged and executive director of the Villers Foundation in Washington, D.C., disagreed sharply during a recent debate on "Generational Equity" at the 32nd Annual Meeting of the American Society on Aging held in San Francisco.

There is a new mythology being created, Pollack said, about the wealth and economic security of the aged. "I have wholehearted agreement that poverty levels among children are disgraceful," he said, "but Americans for Generational Equity is using this problem to seek severe cutbacks in Social Security and Medicare. They would have the public believe that the aged are an affluent group who leave their Florida condominiums in excellent health and sally forth each day to the country club with nothing to worry about other than their golf scores."

Pollack rejected the stereotype of the affluent elderly but warned against adopting the opposite stereotype that the old are poor, dependent, delinquent and needy. "The aged are a heterogeneous group," he said, and among them there is still a great deal of poverty and need. Citing Census Bureau statistics, Pollack said that one in eight older people live below the poverty line (about $5,000 per year), while almost one out of every two older Americans live on less than $10,000 a year. Though the aged have become more economically secure over the past two decades, Pollack argued, they are still poorer than any other age group.

Hewitt countered that many older people don't need the income subsidy that Social Security provides. He argued that something must be done now to secure the future interests of the baby boomers and their children. "This generation will be more heavily burdened with the support of their parents than any other generation in the nation's history," he warned, and "will be paying double the Social Security tax rates in order to finance their parents' retirement benefits. Financing their own retirement will be a major problem, made worse by our unbalanced commitment to the elderly but not to children."

With both sides in heated opposition, Fernando Torres Gil, staff director of the House Select Committee on Aging, warned that the battle over the federal budget deficit must not deteriorate into a generational war pitting the young against the old. Torres Gil, whose House Select Committee on Aging will hold hearings next month on this issue, agreed with Pollack that the issue should not be one of generational equity. "What we're talking about is economic equity," Pollack said. The budget deficit has been created by enormous increases in military spending and by tax loopholes for the largest corporations and the wealthiest individuals.

"How is it fair to start talking about cutting Social Security cost-of-living allowances, which would bring half a million elders below the poverty line, when ITT made $815 million between 1981 and 1984, paid no taxes, and indeed received a share of $178 million? When we talk about economic equity, the old and the young can stick together."

While Americans for Generational Equity argue for increasing the retirement age and creating a needs-based cost-of-living allowance, the Villers Foundation is actively lobbying for cuts in defense spending and the imposition of a minimum corporate tax. Meanwhile the debate begun in San Francisco last week goes on. In addition to Congressional hearings next month, Americans for Generational Equity will sponsor a second round of debate at its April conference to be held in Washington.

1 cup pecans, chopped
Cream margarine and sugar. Add eggs and beat well. Crush wafers and add to mixture, beating well. Add milk, coconut and pecans. Bake in ungreased tube pan for 2 hours at 300°. Cool before removing from pan. This cake is delicious with or without frosting.

Step 3: Drain one No. 2 can of crushed pineapple and spoon over fluffy layer.

Step 4: Slice 3 bananas and place on top of pineapple

Step 5: Cover bananas with Cool Whip. Add a few cherries and chopped nuts on top for garnish. Refrigerate, preferably overnight.

¾ cup sugar
1 cup boiling water
2 eggs
1 cup lukewarm water
2 yeast cakes
1 teaspoon salt
6 cups sifted flour
Mix shortening and sugar. Pour boiling water over mixture; let cool.

Soften yeast in lukewarm water. Stir into first mixture. Add beaten eggs. Stir into flour and salt. Mix well. Brush top with oil. Cover with damp cloth. Refrigerate overnight.

-WAR-

"And you will hear of wars and rumors of wars; for nation will rise against nation and kingdom against kingdom." (Matthew 24:6-7)

There is no need to fear Gaddafi or anyone else who may bring a threat against your life.

"And do not fear those who kill the body but cannot kill the soul. But rather fear Him who is able to destroy both soul and body in hell."

There is only one antidote for fear, and that is love; and in Christ Jesus, His perfect love casts out fear.

Won't you accept His love today? Make Jesus Christ the Lord of your life - and have everlasting life.

Famed California Restaurateur Expands His Friendly Fiefdom

By John DeMers
UPI Food Editor

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — When the corporate meal turns serious, it's almost invariably a hotel's management that gobbles up its restaurant — and not the other way around.

However, in 10 years since starting his namesake French eatery in the legendary Biltmore, Bernard Jacoupy has done considerably more than serve what is arguably the finest hotel food in California.

He has also managed to assume control of the Beaux Arts palace's loving restoration and construction of a connecting 24-story office tower. That's some dining experience, with the bill running to $200 million by the time it's finally presented.

"Generally, there are two types of restaurants," observed Jacoupy, pondering his success with the place called Bernard's. "There are those special people, who usually end up bankrupt, and there are those doing a formula restaurant that makes money.

"Here, because of our location, we've been able to find a happy middle. We've made it viable financially without having to leave behind our principles."

When Jacoupy first set eyes on the Biltmore in 1976, it was just beginning to rise from the dust left over after years of neglect — a story not uncommon in downtowns across the United States.

Ground was broken in 1922 and work began on what became the most elaborate lodging west of Chicago. The architectural scheme, coupled with a lavish interior ceiling and wall paintings by famed Italian artist Giovanni Smeraldi, reflected the grand style of the 1920s.

In addition to the current ambitious renovation, the Biltmore has undergone a $4 million expansion in 1928 and a mauply stepped aboard.

Since opening Bernard's, Jacoupy has labored to mix formality with friendliness in a manner he learned from his hotelier family back in France and from years of work in hotels and restaurants on two continents.

Assuming the top spot at the Biltmore last December, he immediately embarked on applying the same philosophy he had used to turn out 210 memorable meals a day to the 728 refurbished guest rooms.

"There's so many hotels these days, and so many restaurants," said Jacoupy. "People don't want to be dealing with printed forms and anonymous people. It's the feeling by the customer that there's some human person behind it all who really cares."

Here are recipes for two of Jacoupy's favorite dishes from Bernard's, which he oversees with the hands-on help of chef Roland Gibert. Whitefish turns up imaginatively set off by mild garlic and bacon, while mango puree is paired with brandied cherries.

WHITEFISH SAUTEED WITH MILD GARLIC AND BACON

2 pounds whitefish fillet
1/2 pound salted pork belly
1 head garlic
Flour to coat fish
2 Tbsp virgin olive oil
2 Tbsp red wine vinegar
4 slices toasted country bread

Separate the cloves of garlic and blanch them without peeling them — plunging into a pot of cold water and bringing to a boil. Repeat this procedure 7 times. Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Peel the garlic cloves and roast them for 20 minutes in a small saucepan into which you have poured the olive oil.

Meanwhile, cut the salted pork into small cubes, wash them well in order to take off the salt, then dry. Put the bacon in a pan over very low heat to free it of fat. Put aside in a small plate.

Coat the whitefish filets with flour on each side acon fat until they take on a blond color. At this point, they should be cooked.

Take the garlic cloves, crush them and add to the pan with the fish and the bacon. Deglaze the pan with vinegar. Set fish with sauce in a dish with toasted slices of country bread on top.

PATE DE MANGUE ET CERISES AU KIRSCH

1 cup mango puree
Juice of 1 lime
4 1/2 ounces sugar
8 egg yolks
12 ounces soft butter
1/4 cup chopped brandied cherries

Italian Meringue:
2 egg whites
3 1/2 ounces sugar
1 ounce water

Whip the egg yolks and half the sugar until light in color. In a heavy sauce pot, bring the puree, lime juice and remaining sugar to a boil. Pour into the egg

Yolk mixture, then return new mixture to sauce pot. Bring to a boil, whipping constantly. Pour into the bowl of an electric mixer and whip on medium speed until cool. Add the softened butter bit by bit until completely incorporated and smooth.

Add the chopped cherries and fold in Italian meringue (see below). Pour mixture into small loaf pan (about 2 by 4 by 2 inches) that has been lined with wax paper and refrigerate until firm.

To make the Italian meringue: In an electric mixer, begin to whip the egg whites and 1/4 ounce of sugar at medium speed. Bring the remaining sugar and water to a vigorous boil. Increase the speed of the mixer to high. When the sugar syrup reaches the soft crack stage, pour slowly into the egg whites. Allow to whip for 30 seconds at high speed and then reduce to medium speed until cool.

Celebrate Springtime With Good Friends At A Weekend Brunch

On any Sunday in spring, what could be more pleasant than a leisurely brunch? Whiling away the early afternoon with good friends and great food is one of the nicest ways there is to spend a lazy weekend day.

Brunch should be a meal with a sunny disposition, celebrated at an unhurried pace. The menu need not be extravagant, but in keeping with the mood of the occasion it should be casually elegant. Food should be informal, as light as it is satisfying, and easy to prepare and serve without last-minute fuss.

One brunch classic that has become so popular over time that it would be missed if it weren't on the menu is quiche. Simple to prepare and sure to please any brunch bunch, the adaptable cheese and egg "pie" can host an almost infinite variety of ingredients and seasonings.

For this spring's Sunday brunches, the Kraft Kitchens have created a special recipe that changes its personality with the easy substitution of a few ingredients. "Philly" Spinach Pie boasts a flavorful filling made with spinach and bacon. Replace these ingredients with a package of frozen crabmeat and shrimp mixture and "Philly" Seafood Pie is the tasty result. Both variations of the all-time favorite entree boast a new creaminess as well as the one-of-a-kind rich flavor of cream cheese. Blending easily with other recipe ingredients, cream cheese takes the custardy quiche filling to new heights of taste and creamy texture appeal.

Team your pie with fresh fruit and a simple salad, and bring out another brunch classic — Cheese-Filled Dessert Crepes — for a spectacular mealtime finale. Make the crepes the night before and store them tightly wrapped in the refrigerator. Next day, before the first knock at the door, fill them quickly and easily with a lightly sweetened, vanilla-scented cream cheese mixture. Serve with your choice of toppings — strawberry-banana, crunchy oat or ambrosia — or offer all three and let guests help themselves.

"PHILLY" SPINACH PIE

Pastry for 1-crust 9-inch pie
1 8-oz. pkg. cream cheese, cubed
1/2 cup milk

Gradually add cream cheese mixture to eggs, mixing until well blended. Add remaining ingredients; mix well. Pour into pastry shell. Bake at 350°. 40 minutes or until set. 8 servings.

Variation: Substitute one 6-oz. pkg. frozen crabmeat and shrimp mixture, thawed, drained, for spinach and bacon. Increase onion to 1 tablespoon; add several drops of hot pepper sauce.

Combine cream cheese, sugar and vanilla, mixing until well blended. Spread two round measuring tablespoonful of cream cheese mixture onto center of each crepe. Fold in thirds. Place in 13 x 9-inch baking dish. Bake at 350°, 10 to 15 minutes or until thoroughly heated. Serve with Ambrosia, Strawberry-Banana or Crunchy Oat Topping. 8 servings.

Make Ahead: Prepare crepes as directed except for baking. Cover; refrigerate overnight. When ready to serve, bake uncovered as directed.

CRUNCHY OAT TOPPING

1/2 cup old fashioned or quick oats, uncooked
1/2 cup flour

Plan brunch menu around spinach quiche and cheese-filled crepes.

1/2 cup packed brown sugar
3 tablespoons margarine, melted
Combine dry ingredients. Stir in margarine;

mix well. Spoon into 15 x 10 x 1-inch jelly roll pan. Bake at 375°, 10 to 12 minutes or until golden brown, stirring occasionally. 1 1/4 cups.

Groom's Cake Revives Tradition, But With A Contemporary Twist

By Alison Claire
NEA Food Editor

Engagement parties, bridal showers and more formal weddings are sweeping the country. While some may still exchange vows during an ensemble sky-diving free-fall, most couples are saying "I do" surrounded by family and friends with their feet on the ground.

This means a revival of traditional customs, but with a contemporary twist.

An example is the use of the Groom's Cake, an English-style wedding fruitcake presented to guests to take home. The cake is cut into small rectangles and placed into small parchment-lined white boxes tied with ribbon.

GROOM'S CAKE

1 package (15 ounces) dark raisins
1 package (15 ounces) golden raisins
1 1/2 cups (8 ounces) pitted dates, snipped into 1/4-inch pieces

1 1/4 cups (8 ounces) dried apricots, snipped into 1/4-inch pieces

1 1/4 cups (8 ounces) dried apples, snipped into 1/4-inch pieces

4 1/4 cups unbleached all-purpose flour, divided

1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon

1/2 teaspoon ground nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon ground cloves
1/2 teaspoon ground allspice

1/2 cup (1 stick) butter or margarine
1/2 cup packed dark brown sugar

2/3 cup honey
4 eggs
1 jar (14 ounces) cranberry-orange sauce

1 tablespoon vanilla extract
6 tablespoons bourbon, divided

Preheat oven to 300 degrees. Grease a 10-inch-by-4-inch tube pan. Line bottom with brown paper.

In large bowl, combine dark and golden raisins, dates, apricots and apples. Add 1/4 cup of the flour, stirring until fruits are well coated; set aside.

In medium bowl, combine remaining 4 cups flour, salt, baking soda, cinnamon, nutmeg, cloves and allspice; set aside.

In a large bowl, beat butter to soften. Gradually add dark brown sugar, beating as you add. Add honey and beat until blended. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Add cranberry-orange sauce, vanilla extract and 3 tablespoons bourbon to butter and egg-sugar mixture, beat at medium speed until blended.

At low speed, gradually beat in flour mixture, then beat at medium speed until blended. Pour batter over fruit mixture and mix by hand with large wooden spoon. Turn batter into prepared pan. Bake in oven for 3 hours or until a cake tester inserted in center and near inner tube comes out clean. Cool completely.

Remove cake from pan, peel off brown paper. Sprinkle top with remaining three tablespoons bourbon, wrap cake securely in plastic wrap and then foil. Store in tightly covered container in cool place for at least two weeks. Or freeze. Sprinkle with additional bourbon, brandy or rum during storage time.

This kitchen-tested recipe makes one 8 1/2-pound cake, 25 (2 1/2-inch by 3 1/2-inch by 1 1/2-inch) slices or 50 (3-inch by 1 1/2-inch by 1 1/2-inch) slices.

Note: If you wish to present cake whole, glaze surface: In small saucepan heat 1/4 cup light corn syrup to boiling, brush all over cake. Decorate top of cake with candied fruit.

Note: It is a tradition to cut the bridegroom's cake into small rectangles and place into small parchment-lined white boxes, cover and tie with very narrow satin ribbon. Each guest takes home a box to place under his pillow to dream on. The bride and bridegroom put away some groom's cake to eat on their first anniversary.

Traditionally, English-style fruitcake — Groom's Cake — is cut in small rectangles and put in white boxes as a centerpiece. Guests' names may be placed on the boxes and can be taken home as souvenirs.
