WINGS OVER LITTLE HOYS

There must be special angels watching little boys—cherubim and seraphim who aren't aware of noise.

Who know the thrill of sliding down steep roofs, and climbing trees; the lure of angworms in spring; who don't mind hot feet.

Who bring lads safely through the air, and the grief they somehow get into.

Yes, tall winged guardians must be in God's plan, who would any little boy grow up to be a man?

—ETHEL ROMIG FULLER

The Titusville Star-Advocate seems to have the right idea about what the average citizen can do to help make things better. "One of the easiest, quickest and surest ways to make this world a better place in which to live is to clean up your own yard, paint the house, quit arguing with your neighbors and talking with your wife," the Star-Advocate says.

The present British impasse in Palestine where Jews and Arabs both seem to be in danger of being betrayed may be a case where promises have been up with the British government. At one time or another both the Jews and the Arabs have been promised independent nations in Palestine by the British government. It is very hard to see how that promise could not very well be kept.

When you take that ocean voyage you have been planning for a long time, be careful not to have too much live stock on board with you. Boatsickness was one of the major worries of the passengers and crew of the ship "Dorchester" which arrived from the East India in London the other day. A well-to-do Mr. Bond had a London dog on his lap, attached to the passenger for several days before it was finally killed.

The St. Augustine Record tells of the success of the Palm Beach in presenting the greater portion of the magnificent Royal Palm Hotel which has just now been opened to the public.

A Splendid Record

The safety record established by the Sanford plant of the Florida Power & Light Co. shows what can be done when scientific measures of safety engineers are intelligently applied and carefully carried out by workmen who know the hazards of their employment and how to deal with them and have been thoroughly instructed in the avoidance of unnecessary dangers.

An one of the speakers at the ceremonies Saturday afternoon pointed out the record of this plant, wherein some 472,400 manhours of work were performed without a single loss-time accident, did not just happen. It was the result of intelligent planning, careful supervision, and conscientious observance of the rules of caution.

There is probably no other work in the world which is as hazardous as that which deals with electricity. It is like constantly handling lightning bolts without injury to body or limb. It can be done, but it requires a complete knowledge of methods and a most careful observance of all instructions. A single mistake, a single time, is likely to mean death.

There is something about a live wire which makes it look so harmless. There is something about almost everything dealing with electricity which is deceiving as to its harmful effects. One is often tempted to touch a live wire to see if it really is live, to see if its bite is not in fact little more harmful than its practically inaudible bark. But one is never tempted a second time.

What has been done in the Sanford plant of the Florida Power & Light Co. should lend encouragement to other industries which are battling against occupational hazards. Accidents are expensive to business. They increase the cost of doing business. They result in a loss of earning power for the workman. They increase workman compensation rates. They slow up production.

But worse than that, they bring grief and suffering to the workman himself and to his family. They reduce the earning power of the family's bread-winner. Sometimes they destroy it altogether, leaving the family dependent on charity.

Such accidents can be avoided, as the record of the local power plant has shown.

Time For Action

We are glad to see other newspapers in the State taking up the cry for the passage of a "drivers' license law" by this session of the Legislature. It is difficult to understand how anyone could reasonably oppose a law which means so much to the safety of so many individuals, and yet so great is the opposition in certain quarters that it appears very likely the bill will be sidetracked before it gets very far.

"Selfish interests are opposing in the Legislature the enactment of a law which Florida has needed for a long time—the uniform state drivers' license law," says the Tampa Tribune. "The objection this time comes from a few cities which have their own license laws."

"The slowdown on the reason for this opposition is most interesting. Although citizens of these cities were told they were voting for a life-saving measure, it now appears these cities object to a statewide drivers' license because such a measure would take away local revenues. In other words, these few cities, and many of them are small communities with only one main street, have been hiding behind the cloak of such laws merely to get another tax from the harassed motorist."

"Every thinking citizen and representative of the people should realize that a local drivers' license law can be enforced only in its own community. The habitual drunkard and reckless driver may have his license revoked in his own city, but what is to prevent his death-dealing driving from affecting the innocent lives in other sections of the state?"

"A statewide law, enforced by a highway patrol free from political control, has been proposed by the Florida Safety Council. Such a law has been endorsed by the Florida Junior Chamber of Commerce, the American Legion and numerous civic organizations. The highway patrol would not remove any authority from local law enforcement officials. A nominal fee, even less than the cost of five gallons of gasoline, paid by each driver annually would support the entire measure."

"Similar laws now are in effect in 43 states. Now is the time for Florida to join them in the campaign against the slaughter of innocent persons by removing the reckless, careless and indifferent drivers from our highways."

Maintenance Of St. Johns River Asked By Senate

TALLAHASSEE, May 22.—(AP)—Congress will be asked by the Florida Legislature to make permanent improvements to the St. Johns River in order that water commerce will not be handicapped by bars or shoals.

A memorial to that effect was adopted this morning by the Senate and sent to the House of Representatives.

Sponsored by Senator Henry S. McKenzie of Palatka, the memorial is as follows:

"Whereas, the navigation of the St. Johns River between Jacksonville and Palatka and Sanford, Florida, is at this time seriously impeded by the several bars or shoals that prevent the passage of vessels now plying said river; and

"Whereas, due to insufficient appropriation in the past, the channel of said river has silted up, and bars and shoals have formed to such an extent that vessels making their trips invariably get stuck on said bars and shoals; and

"Whereas, the present maintenance of said river is such as to make it impossible for the vessels now plying said river to make their trips; and

"That it is the policy of the United States to encourage the development of water commerce in this country; and

"That it is the duty of the United States to provide for the maintenance of said river in such a manner as to make it possible for the vessels now plying said river to make their trips; and provision, permanent as well as satisfactory, of the said river; and

"Resolved, that the Secretary of the Senate of the State of Florida be requested to furnish one of the memorial and memorial (if necessary) a certified copy of this memorial."

Quintuplets Pay Courtesies To British Royalty

(Continued From Page One) training for Kingston and Vernon to where they will visit next on their month's tour of Canada and the United States.

Never before had a British king and queen done what King George and his British queen did yesterday in making their adieu a big open air reception for everybody. It was as though they had gone to London's Trafalgar square or New York's Times square to hold court.

Once the crowds seemed in danger of becoming an agitated mob but 12,000 Canadian war veterans—many of them in delegations from the United States—merely shouted for order and quiet was restored.

Englishmen who have followed royal returns for many years stood agape as they watched their king and queen unaccompanied by cross street car tracks and push their way past yards before they climbed into their automobile and returned to Rideau hall, residence of Canada's governor-general.

Canadian cabinet ministers seemed nervous while the royal couple wormed through throngs, and the all-butted ranks of jaunted dignitaries became more and more uncomfortable.

Even the inspector commanding royal bodyguard from Scotland Yard took a hand as the crush became more dense around his charges. With outstretched arms he helped clear a path for them.

Wage Law Provisions For Learners Changed

WASHINGTON, May 22.—(AP)—The Wage-Hour Administration issued yesterday revised regulations for employment of "learners" at wages less than the minimum prescribed in the Fair Labor Standards Act.

They provide that learners may not be employed until issuance of an authorizing certificate and that certificates may not be issued unless there is a showing that it is necessary to prevent curtailment of opportunities for employment.

Three Are Killed In Freight Train Wreck

FIQUA, Ohio, May 22.—(AP)—Three freight trains piled up in a wreck near here yesterday, killing three trainmen and injuring four others.

One freight train had stopped to take on coal. The second crashed into the rear of the first, derailing the second locomotive and scattering wreckage of freight cars over both tracks of the Pennsylvania railroad double track system.

A fast freight train enroute from Chicago to New York had orders to pass both slow trains on the other track at high speed. It piled into the wreckage scattered debris for several hundred feet. The first locomotive of the double-header leaped upon top of the locomotive of the second train and then rolled back down.

Cars were derailed for a half mile as the wreckage piled up at the center of the smash. One trainman tried to crawl away and a wild box car rolled down into the ditch and crushed him as he tried to climb a fence.

U. S. Scientists To Explore Antarctica

WASHINGTON, May 22.—(AP)—Such polar exploration innovations as directional radio and drugged dogs are expected to make a forthcoming United States government expedition to the Antarctic easy for man and beast.

Confident of Congress' approval, government scientists already have worked out the plans for the expedition which will be formal claim on behalf of the United States to a vast segment of the Antarctic continent.

Dr. Ernest H. Gruening, director of territorial affairs, has drafted a request for funds and authorization to plant the United States flag south of 60 degrees latitude. It must go through official channels and be endorsed by President Roosevelt, but there are indications this will be expedited. A White House announcement is expected this week.

Catholic Official Raps World's Fair

ELIZABETH, N. J., May 22.—(AP)—The Right Rev. Monsignor Fulton J. Sheen of Catholic University, Washington, D. C., told a church audience here last night that "the American World's Fair until the American flag is placed above that of communism."

"The highest thing at the fair is the symbol of communism," Father Sheen said in St. Mary's Auditorium, referring to the Soviet Pavilion which includes a lofty tower topped by a heroic figure of a Russian worker.

$9,000,000 Is Proposed For State Expenses

Florida's Legislature, beginning the final two weeks of its regular 60-day session, will consider revision of the State Milk Control Board with its price-fixing powers and drastic increases in State taxes on chain stores.

The Senate-approved bill to make the Milk Control Board a permanent State agency, so that it will not face automatic termination every two years as it now does under its emergency set-up, is scheduled for house debate.

A tie vote in the Senate Saturday on a motion to indefinitely postpone the chain store tax bill left the measure unfinished business for yesterday afternoon. The tie vote pointed to a stiff fight on the merits of the bill which Senator George of Ocala succeeded in keeping alive despite an unfavorable report by the Finance and Taxation Committee.

Present law taxes all retail stores but exempts the levy on chain establishments up to a top of $400 a unit in organizations having 16 or more stores. The bill before the Senate would make this top $1,000 a unit for 100 or more stores operated anywhere in the country but would place the tax only on units in Florida. The tax rate is the lower bracket would be boosted proportionately. Chain Department stores would be taxed still higher, the top being $2,000 a unit.

The House-approved bill to increase the salaries of Supreme Court Justices from $6,000 to $7,500 a year also is unfinished business in the Senate but filibuster tactics by a group of opponents and previous agreement to give special consideration to other matters may prevent a vote on the measure for some days.

The Senate calendar calls for special consideration of the House-approved criminal code revision bill sponsored by the State-Bar Association, and of a group of proposed constitutional amendments.

The bill calling for revision of the general school code and a series of House-approved measures relating to hunting and fishing slip are on the Senate's special order of business calendar.

Germany And Italy Cement Axis With Military Alliance

In Geneva, meanwhile, informed sources said British Foreign Secretary Halifax would ask the British cabinet Wednesday to accept the minimum provisions acceptable to Moscow for an alliance.

A Polish shot and killed a German citizen of Danzig early Sunday, marking the first loss of life in the current tension between Germany and Poland over the free city and the Polish corridor.

The Danzig senate immediately demanded damages and a public apology from the Polish government for the incident which it said "is likely to influence gravely Danzig-Polish relations."

As a result an angry mob surrounded the building in Puckel where Polish inspectors live. The inspectors called Danzig for help. They reported the mob was yelling that "the killing must be paid for in blood."

Puckel lies on the Vistula river in the tip of the triangle where free city Polish and East Prussian territory meet.

The slaying of the Danziger, a 43-year-old butcher named Gustav Grubner, occurred in the village of Kalthof, on the East Prussian frontier across the river Nogat from Marienburg.

The Danzig incident occurred during a Sunday which witnesses these developments in the diplomatic rivalry between the Rome-Berlin and London-Paris fronts: Great Britain was understood to have swung toward Soviet.

Russia demands for a three-power mutual assistance alliance as the only hope of allaying Russia's fears of Hitler and Japan.

Simultaneously, substantial progress was reported in British efforts to remove Polish and Rumanian objections regarded as one of the major barriers against bringing Moscow into agreement with the western powers.

Italian Foreign Minister Ciano arrived in Berlin for today's formal signing of the new German-Italian military alliance and engaged in a long conversation with Chancellor Hitler.

In Washington Secretary Hull appealed for abandonment of arbitrary force as the basis of international conduct, and for restoration of the "practice of genuine friendship" among nations.

Hull, opening an observance of foreign trade week, in a radio address also read a brief message from President Roosevelt who said "peaceful intercourse" was the "dominant purpose of the foreign policy" of the United States.

The secretary himself declared the "desperate disquiet" of a closely knit world had forced the United States to adopt an active policy in behalf of commerce and orderly political principles.

The Danzig-Polish border incident brought quick representations from both Warsaw and the free city senate, and for Poland lodged a protest with the Danzig senate, charging the clash was precipitated when a crowd led by "uniformed members of Nazi units" attacked a Polish customs post.

The Warsaw government said that subsequently the crowd started shooting at the automobile of the Polish vice-consul and that his chauffeur "in order to defend himself, shot and killed one of the assailants after he had fired several warning shots."

Girl Scouts Plan Tea For Mothers

The International Friendship Unit of the Sanford Girl Scouts gave a tea in honor of their mothers Saturday afternoon from 4:00 until 6:00 o'clock at the home of Margaret Dingfelder.

The table on the rear terrace was decorated with a trefoll Girl Scout emblem, and a red, white, and blue flower arrangement centered the table. The walk from the street to the terrace was lined with flags from 49 foreign countries; the flags were loaned by Professor G. E. McKay, Professor H. E. Morris and Professor Earle Kipp.

Guests were greeted by Joyce Steele and Margaret Dingfelder, and directed into the house where exhibits from foreign countries were shown by Betty Moore and Mary Joyce Stevens.

Mabel Chapman invited the members of the National Council of the Girl Scouts to the luncheon table, and Virginia Chapman, Doris Altman, and Marjorie Gossett alternated at the tea.

Cookies from France, Persia, Italy, Scotland, and Germany were baked by the Girl Scouts, and were offered by Scouts in colorful costumes of foreign nations.

Miss Irene Hinton, captain of Girl Scouts, invited Mrs. C. D. Christ of Orlando, newly elected member of the National Council of the Girl Scouts of America. The local unit was honored and proud to have Mrs. Christ here. She told, informally, of a recent trip to Porto Rico where she re-organized Girl Scouting.

F. Engelhart, retired W. M. A. director, whose work took him to practically all around the world, commented on the fine exhibit of foreign native crafts, and manufactured objects. He was accompanied by Mrs. Engelhart. There were about 60 people present at the tea.

The International Friendship Unit is established to learn and study foreign nations, their people, and their customs. It is to promote international friendship as Juliet Lawe, founder of the Girl Scouts, wished. "The Great of Flags" looked like a miniature World Fair, with its theme friendship, hanging from the pine tree, waved.

"Your World Is at My Fingertips"

Your world of friends, relatives, business acquaintances, is likely to be scattered over many points in the United States.

To your long distance telephone operator, all of these folks are waiting in the switchboard and ready to respond in person at your summons.

This is true whether your friends are in a nearby town or far away, for today you can telephone all over the world.

The miracle of yesterday is a commonplace today, because of many coordinated accomplishments—continuous research by the Bell Telephone Laboratories—Large investments in apparatus and telephone lines—Unceasing study to improve the handling of calls—Careful selection and training of operators—Above all, the sincere desire of telephone men to give you the best possible service.

Today, you should tell your fingertips, too, when all you have to do is pick up your telephone and call "Long Distance."

Fair Trade Act Is Before Senate For Final Action

Law Permits Manufacturer-Retailer Contracts To Maintain Fixed Prices

Senate Overrides Governor's Veto Upper House Votes To Hold Night Meets Until Adjournment

TALLAHASSEE, May 23.—(AP)—The Florida Senate today completed legislative action on a bill known as a "fair trade act" which allows manufacturers of trademark products to enter into voluntary agreements with retailers to maintain established advertised prices.

The 1937 Legislature enacted such a law but also Supreme Court found its title defective. The new bill merely reworded the "fair trade" law.

The Senate voted 23 to 11 to override Governor Combs' veto of an act prohibiting the State Comptroller or any tax collector from seeking higher occupational taxes for two years.

The Senate passed bills authorizing counties to condemn lands for airports and authorizing counties to control the level of water in lakes or streams for maintaining water supplies.

The Florida House passed in record-breaking time yesterday a bill creating a State Highway Patrol and levying an automobile driver's license of 50 cents a year to finance it.

Not a word was said in opposition to the bill when supporters rushed it through the House in 20 minutes and most of that time was required to read the bill.

The Motor Vehicle Committee prepared the bill as a substitute for eight such measures introduced by individual members.

Representative McCarty of St. Augustine was the sponsor of the bill.

Revenues From Auto Licenses Increase In '39

TALLAHASSEE, May 23.—From Dec. 1, 1938, the date this year's automobile tags were placed on sale in May 15, more than six million dollars had been collected by the Motor Vehicle Department for license tags and title transfers.

The Motor Vehicle Department for license tags and title transfers, $1,177,429.07, making a total of $4,177,429.07 from those tags and titles.

Finance Problems Face Legislature In Closing Days

Action On Measures To Raise Revenue Expected This Week

TALLAHASSEE, May 23.—With less than two weeks to go and lacking, as yet, a solution of the major problems of finance and taxation, the 1939 Florida Legislature enters its closing days under terrific pressure.

Leaders of the House and Senate, in fact, believe the big revenue-raising bills will be brought out of committee this week and will be placed on special order calendar.

One of the chief causes of worry is the $7,000,000 the Senate has appropriated for old age pension and medical care for dependent children.

Another reason for legislative perturbation is the request for a plan of composition or adjustment of debts of taxing districts.

It is difficult to see any difference between the content of the amendment and the original bill.

Court Rules Justices Must Pay Income Tax

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(AP)—The Supreme Court, in a 7-1 decision yesterday, decided the Federal income tax applied to the salaries of its own members and those of all other Federal judges.

The decision meant that there is no longer any class of public officials who can claim immunity under the Constitution.

Representative McCarty of St. Augustine was the sponsor of the bill.

City Wins 1st Round In Fight With Holdouts

Bondholders' Objections To Proceeding To Make Them Refund Overruled

The City of Sanford won the first round of its attempt to invoke the amendment to the Wilcox Municipal Bankruptcy Act yesterday when Judge Allen E. Walker of Winter Haven upheld the validity of the amendment.

In reply, City Attorney Fred R. Wilson contended that the amendment to the bankruptcy law was passed for the express purpose of overcoming the objections to the proceedings.

Judge Walker, special master in the proceedings, was appointed by Federal Judge Alexander Akerman in investigating the legal questions involved and Judge Walker's decision yesterday followed arguments before him several days ago by Mr. Wilson and attorneys for the defendants.

Quoting from House Calendar of Congress in supporting his decision, Judge Walker held that "it seems evident Congress intended by this amendment to provide for just such a case as is presented by the City of Sanford where approximately 90 percent of the creditors of the City have already exchanged their old bonds."

The language of the amendment itself clearly indicates that its provisions may be retroactive in the event that it applies to any plan of composition or adjustment of debts of taxing districts.

Judge Walker held that the amendment did not violate Section 1 of the Constitution in the event that it applied to any plan of composition or adjustment of debts of taxing districts.

The decision in the case was a landmark one in the history of the City of Sanford.

Roosevelt Will Not Abandon New Deal Objectives

Business Offered No Relief From Taxes In President's Talk

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(AP)—President Roosevelt denounced critics of his economic program last night as radicals eager to gamble with the safety of the nation, and bluntly gave notice he would sanction an abandonment of administration principles and objectives.

Addressing the Ritz-Carlton Hotel in New York, the President asserted that if so-called business "reformers" such as the multi-millionaire profit tax were to be passed, it would mean a return to the old system.

The President said that the new tax system would be a return to the old system.

French Staff Adds Pressure For Pact With Soviet Russia

City Takes Steps Looking Towards Curb On Sign Evil

Mrs. Curlett Enters Plea In Behalf Of Local Garden Club

Active Mayor Walter S. Coleman instructed City Attorney Fred R. Wilson at the City Commission meeting last night to investigate the possibility of what might be done to curb the planting of what Mrs. Ender Curlett, Rose Circle representative of the Garden Club, termed "snipe signs" within the City limits.

The designation, Mrs. Curlett explained, is used for the small tin signs which are tacked along streets and highways in "prominent" locations, much to the disgust of the nature lover, who like what natural beauty remains yet to be seen along our highways, is saddened with varied color.

In presenting her request in behalf of the Garden Club, and specifically the Rose Circle, Mrs. Curlett pointed out the Commission of the various activities of civic groups of the City to attract tourists, and permanent residents, but "steps should be taken to curb the planting of these signs, which will be the sort of place they will want to stay the year round."

"This petition," Mrs. Curlett stated, "is but one step in the campaign of this group to clean up the highways, and road sides, not only Sanford, but of all Seminole County. We intend to appear later before the County Commission with this same request."

The only other official business to come before the Commission, before adjourning, was the introduction of the new City Recreation Director, R. M. Hardaker, to the members of the Commission.

Tampa Cuba Seller Gets Fine Of $750

TAMPA, May 23.—A two-time triple bolita peddler whom Judge Hines called "small fry" was sentenced in criminal court yesterday for the second time with a three-month term to pay a fine of $750 and serve five months in jail.

The peddler, Charles P. Payer, was arrested with a batch of letters yesterday, but a search after he had been convicted in criminal court and ordered to pay a $200 fine on a holdup charge.

Payer first denied the new charge, then pleaded guilty, then went back into court with a different lawyer and tried to change his plea. Judge Hines wouldn't let him.

Clyde W. Fields, his attorney, urged the judge to let Payer off without sentence because he already faces a $750 fine if the supreme court upholds the conviction in the first case.

It is considered to talk about the case of Charles P. Payer, who was sentenced to a three-month term in jail and a fine of $750.

Attempts To Be Made To Overcome British Reluctance In Mutual Aid Treaty

Geneva Is Scene Of Negotiations

France Pleads Powers Have Common Interests If Attacked

The power of the French general staff provided additional pressure today for a mutual assistance treaty to link Britain and France with Soviet Russia.

Negotiations for such a pact, designed to counter-balance the Rome-Berlin axis, occupied representatives of the three powers in Geneva for a meeting of the League of Nations council.

Reliable reports and Assistant British foreign secretary, had decided to try to overcome the British cabinet's reluctance to entering such a pact.

Informed Geneva sources said the French general staff had exerted strong pressure on Premier Daladier and others to back Geneva in its assistance pact.

The French declared the existing Soviet-French treaty and common Soviet-French interests would bring France and Soviet Russia to Russia and therefore France to Russia and therefore France to Russia.

League officials decided to hold Charles J. Frankland, the British League high commissioner to Geneva, back to the Geneva City for a report on the situation created by German plans for rearmament.

Atlantic National Bank Announces Installation Of Night Depository

A night depository has recently been installed by the Sanford Atlantic National Bank as added service for its customers, and depositors who may wish the use of some secure place for the storing of money during hours when the institution is not open.

The newly installed equipment weighs slightly more than 1200 pounds, and is of welded steel construction. It was manufactured by the Hoadley Safe Company, the same firm which produced the other vault equipment now in use in the bank.

The small outside door of the depository has been placed in a window on the west side of the building. Here, the door, which will be furnished numbered keys, will come and unlock the door and deposit small bags, also furnished by the bank, which are equipped with a Yale lock and two keys, both of which are given to the customer.

Once unlocked, an ingenious tray-like shelf, a part of the door, is opened thus furnishing a small shelf for the bag to be deposited, and also effectively closing the chute down which the bag drops when the door is flipped back up in place.

Further down the chute, a set of gratings automatically come into place across the chute when the door is opened, and then slide back to permit the passage of the bag deposited when the door is closed.

Executive President J. L. Ingram today issued an invitation to the public to inspect the new equipment, saying "We of the bank cordially invite the general public to inspect this additional equipment. We are proud of it, and feel that it will be well worth the expenditure involved in the additional service it will give our depositors."
