Actor Fights for "Damaged Goods"
"Damaged Goods," the remarkable drama which has now been put into motion pictures only saw the light of day after a desperate fight for its production.

Richard Bennett, the actor who started in and put on the stage production and who now appears in the motion pictures played a role of heroism in behalf of humanity when he set out to get the play produced. If he had not won the pictures could not be seen today.

Mr. Bennett chanced to overhear a conversation in a Broadway cafe one day three years ago. Two diners were discussing a strange play by Eugene Brieux, a French dramatist of note. What Bennett heard led him to get and read the book. He became inspired with the moral mission and the power of the story. He determined to put it on the stage.

It was a long heartbreaking fight that followed. He met of no one at every step. The theatres were pointed to him and threatened when the nature of the story they were to produce. He had to fight for every line of the play and for every scene. He had to get a theatre.

The world knows what happened. The country was swept with a sensation. Men and women fought to get into the playhouse to see the daring production of the stage.

The roll of success about the great dramatic struggle of the three years ago and the play was not opened publicly three months ago.

Bennett not only won his fight for the worthy purpose but he won a big material success as well. At last reports Mr. Bennett had derived no less than $100,000 in profits from his production and he is still collecting royalties.

"Damaged Goods" in a seven reel Mutual special feature photoplay featuring Mr. Bennett and his original Broadway cast of the speaking stage production will be shown here at the Star Theatre, Wednesday, Feb. 9th.

Accident Adds Touch of Realism in "Turn of the Road"

A peculiar accident occurred in the filming of one of the scenes of the Vitagraph Blue Ribbon Feature, "The Turn of the Road," that while adding a touch of realism to the picture was fortunately free from any fatality, except in the shaking of the players concerned in its enactment. In the big scene where Joseph Kilgour as John King, and Virginia Pearson as Maria Wilbur, are sleeping in King's machine, a slip of the camera operator would have resulted in a serious accident. As they are forced over an embankment, the machine is overturned.

overturned machine, being staged later. "The Turn of the Road," is one of the Vitagraph's most ambitious dramatic offerings and is being released as a quality picture in five parts. It is replete with all features necessary to an interest holding story, not the least of these features being an all star cast, including Miss Pearson and Mr. Kilgour, Naomi Childers, Bobby Connelly, Robert Gaillard and Edwin Robbins and was pronounced under the direction of Telf Johnson.

Paul Gilmore and Marguerite Snow

Marguerite Snow, the vivacious and talented actress will be seen here at the Star Theatre on Tuesday, Feb. 8th, in "Rosemary," a big five part feature picture produced by the Quality Pictures Corporation for release on the Metro Program. This brilliant star will be supported by a superb cast headed by Paul Gilmore, the distinguished romantic stage star. Frank Bacon, America's foremost character actor, William Clifford, Virginia Craft, Maurice Clynne, George F. Hernandez, and other notable actors.

"Rosemary" is a dramatization of the famous stage play by the same name in which James Drake was starred on Broadway.

In addition to the above a one reel educational subject will be shown entitled "Climbing Mt. Blanc."

Impressive Scenes in "The Turn of the Road"

"The Turn of the Road," at the Star Theatre Thursday, Feb. 10, produced by the Vitagraph Company under the direction of Telf Johnson, from an original masterpiece by Isabel M. Johnston, considerably of the interest centers in the story of the four year son of John and Helen King. To heighten the realism and add the softening touch characteristic of childhood to the story a cursey scene was built that for completeness of detail is worthy of more than passing mention. The wagoning is made up of a series of pictures representing scenes and characters popular with children. Above these is a series of scenes of which the alphabet is prominent while entwined in and among the letters are more of the scenes that appeal to the childish mind. Scattered about the room are picture books, toy trains, fire engine books that tell of the adventures of "Little Red Riding Hood," "Mother Goose," "The Three Little Pigs," etc.

A moving scene with the father looking his mother for the beautiful temptress that seduced his wife friend. The strong dramatic situation that led up to the two great power plays in the story.

They have, as is depicted by the plot of the home, the son of a rich man, the responsibility of a child hood. The author of the play worked out her story so that one series of scenes would heighten the effect of the other and Director Johnson succeeded in registering on the screen, just that deft hand that caught the spirit of the author's conception. Admission 5 and 15c.

"Damaged Goods" Tells of Youths' "Sin Secrets"

The plot of "Damaged Goods," the remarkable film play just released for showing here carries a story that unhappily is repeated in the secret history of many a young man of the day.

Despite its dark passages it is clearly portrayed on the screen and interest is maintained evenly through the seven reels.

The picture is to be seen here at the Star theatre on Wednesday, Feb. 9th.

It is a mutual special feature made by the American Film Company.

The story of the play centers about the role of George Dupont, which is taken by Richard Bennett, the famous actor who produced the play on the speaking stage with such sensational success.

George Dupont, a man of excellent home training and of honest ambitions has a jolly evening with the boys. He is engaged to be married and this is a final fling and a farewell to the days of bachelorhood. He drinks too much and with a boon companion he visits two women of the kind whom G. B. S. would call "operon on the stage." Mrs. Wilbur's profession. It is not long before he discovers that the "operation" has brought a horrible punishment upon him.

Driven to despair by the thought that his very flesh is corrupted and his very blood is tainted he seeks a cure. His situation is rendered all the more pitiable by the fact that he is engaged to be married to a decent young woman.

A long delay in the wedding is bound to set tongues wagging, and like the rest of us the poor fellow is a mortal afraid of what "people" will say about him. He buries his secret from all, but he cannot hide it from himself. He is on the point of doing away with himself when he is rescued by the girl who had contaminated him. The girl tells of her own salvation from mental and bodily ruin, through the ministrations of a noble, filled and noble hearted physician. She urges her victim to consult this same doctor.

The doctor examines the young man and tells him that it will take at least two years to regain his health. He adds the significant warning: "If you marry before that time you will be a criminal." In the meantime his mother, his bride and all his relatives and friends ply him with questions as to the delay of the marriage. He evades as well as he can and follows the advice of his physician. He goes to the doctor's office and is told that he has a "sin" on his conscience. He visits the quack who suave manner assures him, and despite his better knowledge and the puntings of his conscience he marries. The rest can indeed be told much better in picture than in words.

BIG FAIR AT ORLANDO NEXT WEEK

CARS WILL BE PLACED HERE TOMORROW FOR SEMINOLE EXHIBITS

The committee appointed by the board of county commissioners to take charge of the Seminole county exhibit at Orlando are busy getting everything in shape for the big event and Seminoles will be there with bells on when the gates swing open next Tuesday.

C. M. Berry and A. V. French are hard at work arranging for the various exhibits and want everyone who expects to compete to let them know at once and they will collect the same. All those who expect to bring the exhibits to Sanford to be loaded on the cars should remember that the car will be placed on the track on Saturday and will be open all day for those who have exhibits.

Arrangements are made with the railroads whereby exhibits going to the Fair will be sent from full rail rates will have to be paid on exhibits returning.

All exhibits which are sent by freight must be plainly marked "SUB TROPICAL MID-WINTER FAIR, ORLANDO, FLA." and in addition must have the appropriate address to insure their return. Immediately upon shipping an exhibit notify the Secretary and him the bill of lading or freight or express receipt so that he may be able to make proper record of same at once with transportation companies (return freight at full rates). The express company heretofore granted a dead head rate both ways, on all shipments of 500 pounds or under and has believed the same will be made in 1916. Shipping tags will be supplied on application to the Secretary. Under no circumstances will the freight or express be paid by the Fair Association.

Bring your exhibits to Sanford on Saturday morning if possible and get them loaded on the cars and ready for shipment Saturday night.

Seminole county will have one of the finest displays this year that has ever been made and each one should help to make the exhibit great.

FLORIDA IS HERE

Government Dredge Boat Is Making Better Channel in Lake Monroe

Capt. Sharp of the dreadnaught, Florida is in port and busily engaged in dredging out a channel for the steamers to land at the Clyde dock. It seems that after the new Clyde dock was completed that the sand gathered around the spot where the old dock stood, making the channel difficult for landing and several times the Clyde steamers were aground before landing at the dock.

As the channel is supposed to be open at all times Capt. Sharp answered the S. O. S. signal of distress and came to the rescue, with the result that the Florida is here now and pouring a twelve inch stream of good mud and sand into the bulkhead near the Clyde Lane dock.

The many friends of Capt. Sharp are glad to have him here for a few days and hope that he can stay longer. He has been engaged in dredging several bends of the river near Blue Springs lately and after his work here is completed he will be up at Jacksonville, probably for the present appropriation for the St. Johns river has been expended.

Death of Mrs. Ella Morris

The many friends of Mrs. Ella Morris are shocked to learn of her death which occurred at 10:30 a. m. after a long illness. Her remains will be laid to rest in the cemetery at 2 o'clock.

BARBECUE AT OPENING OF BRIDGE

WILL CELEBRATE THE COMPLETION MONDAY AT MONROE

The new draw bridge across the St. Johns river at Monroe has been finished or will be finished in the next few days and in order to commemorate the event in suitable style Michael Sholtz, the moving spirit in this great enterprise will officially open the bridge to travel next Monday.

There will be a grand barbecue from ten to twelve on that day and the public is cordially invited to attend. There will be no toll charged on Monday, the bridge being free for the day and it is expected that a large crowd will avail themselves of the opportunity of going out to inspect the bridge.

The bridge that has been erected by Michael Sholtz and associates is about 1500 feet long and twenty feet wide and has a steel draw that gives the boats 100 feet in the clearing, making the bridge one of the best on the St. Johns river. The completion of this bridge is one of the greatest developments in making the connecting link between Jacksonville and Tampa, the great through route between those two cities and through one of the finest sections of Florida.

While the present ferry system was one of the best in the state it was among the relics of the past and the announcement that the new bridge would be built was hailed with delight by the travelers in the state.

In a telegram from Mr. Sholtz to The Herald yesterday he stated that all the city and county officials were invited to be present at the opening Monday and everyone is cordially invited to attend.

It has long been rumored that Mr. Sholtz expects at a later date to build a traction line from Daytona to Kissimmee and that the bridge across the St. Johns river is the opening wedge.

Editor Stovall of the Tampa Tribune has been placed on the staff of Governor Stanley of Kentucky with the rank of Colonel. He has already served with great distinction upon the staff of a Governor of Florida and his great bravery upon each and every occasion has called attention to Col. Stovall from Governors of other states especially at this time when preparedness is upon every tongue.

"Leesburg in the Lake Girt Hills" is the euphonious name of a beautiful booklet recently issued by the Leesburg Board of Trade and a small card enclosed gives notice that the booklet was printed on the press of the Leesburg Commercial. The booklet is filled with cuts of the scenery in that part of Lake county and also with good reading matter descriptive of Leesburg and we opine that Gilbert Leuch had something to do with the writing of the booklet. Such a work should invite further investigation from those seeking a place to locate their homes and the brochure will return to the Leesburg Board of Trade in many different ways in the years to come.

The grass plot in front of The Herald office has been embellished with two fine grapefruit trees the gift of Mr. Nehring, the well known nurseryman. We hope the trees will bloom and bear fruit for the delation of the tourists who are anxious to see citrus fruits as soon as they get off the boat here. It would be a good plan for the citizens of Sanford to plant a few orange or grapefruit trees in front of their property just for ornaments even if the small boys would get the fruit occasionally. The trees are a great pleasure to the tourists and they look for them in Florida and can't imagine a Florida town without oranges or grapefruit trees.

WORKING THE NEWSPAPERS
Senator Bryan candidate for reelection to a ten thousand a year job approves the action of the state committee for his personal benefit, and with three columns ($18.00 worth) of matter, which he submits to the newspapers for pure advertising.

Governor Trammell candidate for Bryan's job, with the salary and perquisites of $10,000, just incidentally, of course disapproves of the action of the state committee and writes four columns ($24.00 worth) which he submits to the state press.

W. A. Krott, candidate for governor, about $500 per year straddles the proportion and submits three and a half columns of the state press ($21.50 worth) for free advertising. $2.50. Will candidate for governor or senator or something of this kind, ignores the state committee and submits twelve columns and his picture to the state press $72.00 worth.

The politicians, headed by Nathan Bryan, who is said to have fathered the primary law which practically forbids the politicians paying for advertising space in the newspapers, all try to work the press.

If it were a proposition for the benefit of the public at large, the newspaper men would not object but it is not. It is only a proposition for the pecuniary benefit of Bryan and Trammell, and Knott, and Wall and all the rest of the bunch. The people of Florida would be better off if they had none of the politicians to "represent" them.

When the people want anything, they have to chip in and send a man like Collins Gillette to Washington to get it for them, anyway. DeLand News.

FLORIDA'S CATTLE INDUSTRY
Every indication points to the awakening of the farmers of Florida to the importance of cattle raising as a reliable source of profit, and a valuable asset to the state. We are much mistaken if the late conference of cattle men at Tampa is not long remembered as an event to date back in the history of Florida as a cattle state. It seems almost incredible that an American state whose history runs back with more than 400 years, with a good soil and a climate beyond compare, where farming may be practiced all the year round, with an area of 85,111,040 acres, mostly arable, should today have less than a million inhabitants. We doubt whether anything else will serve to advertise Florida as a land of, not only sunshine and almost perpetual summer, but also of opportunity as the discussions at Tampa last Monday and Tuesday.

One speaker described Florida as a state possessed of thirty millions of acres suitable for grazing, yet having only a million head of cattle. Yet, as another speaker claimed, two steers to the acre can be grazed in this state whereas, as was mentioned by way of contrast, in Kentucky two acres are allotted to the steer, according to the information. Another said this would be the greatest cattle state in the Union, and he vice president of the St. Louis National Stock Yards. In fact, the keynote of each address by the experts from other states was that Florida is not yet aroused to the great opportunities before her.

That was an ill-fated paper on pasturage in this state—its possibilities that we published in Tuesday's issue. The soil and climate of Florida is so hospitable to foreign grasses that they grow here in luxuriance as great as at least as in their native countries. Mr. Whitner's address was confined to grasses grown in this state for pasturage. Equally as inspiring would might be written concerning the forage plants of Florida.

One of the best things about the proceedings of the conference was the series of resolutions adopted. They look mainly to the ridding of the state of the paralyzing curse of tick infestation. On that subject they spoke with no uncertain voice. Yet a few years ago the great majority of our farmers had no patience with the agitation of the subject. They had grown up with the ticks, with ticky cattle regarded ticks almost as pets, something distinct, southern to be cherished on that account rather than exterminated. Now under the pressure of the live stock association born at that conference the cattle raiser will regard it as a matter of course to dip for the tick until the blood of the parasite shall finally be only a disagreeable memory and Florida will come into her own as the greatest cattle raising state in the Union. Times Union.

Tribute to Mother Love

We know of nothing else in all the range of human experience so sacred as mother love, nothing so well deserving the name divine. Mother love alone could have enabled the delicate life of thought to unfold and to endure upon the rim of this wretched little planet. Only through that supreme selflessness could the noblest emotions ever have found strength to blossom in the brain of man, only by help of mother love could the higher forms of art in the human ever have been achieved. The mother's smile will survive our sun, the thrill of her kiss will last beyond the thrilling of stars, the sweetness of her lullaby will endure in the cradle song of worlds yet uninvolved, the tenderness of her touch will soothe the brow of prayer, to be made to the dust at another heaven, to the glory of a sun second time. And the mother of her breast can never fail that snowy stream will still flow on, to nourish the life of some humanity more perfect than our own, when the Milky Way that spans our night shall have vanished forever out of space. Lefredo Hoarn in the Phoenix.

Paper from Palmetto

The Burdett Loomis Corporation is the name of a company that is to be established at St. Mary's, near the Florida line, which among other things proposes to manufacture paper from saw palmetto and tannin acid from the same plant, thereby killing two birds with one stone.

Mr. Loomis, the president of the corporation, in an interview printed in the Savannah News, predicted for the south the greatest prosperity in the world. He said that its possibilities seemed unlimited. He ended by saying: "The producing qualities of this particular climate would make it one of the most prosperous sections of the world."

Progress in Southeast

Columbus, Ga., Feb. 9. The Industrial Index says in its issue for this week:

"It is probably true that never before at any one time was so much money invested in manufacturing establishments in the southeast as right now. This includes the re-equipping of existing plants as well as the building of new ones. A large number of smaller factories of various kinds are being established, and some of them will use raw products of this section never before utilized commercially to any extent. Many existing manufacturing establishments are being enlarged, this being true of cotton mills, particularly in some sections, several of which are expanding large sums in providing additions.

"The volume of construction continues to grow with the approach of the spring season, though building has been halted but little by winter. Pinellas county, Florida, has voted bonds of $160,000 for constructing a courthouse and jail.

"Savannah, Ga., is making final arrangements for the construction of about thirty five miles of sewers. McIntosh county, Ga., has voted bonds for construction of roads and school buildings.

"A hotel property in Jacksonville, Fla., has been purchased for $600,000 and $250,000 will be expended in improving it.

"A contract has been awarded for the construction at Augusta, Ga., of buildings for a cotton gin, mill, that will cost $200,000.

"A total of seventeen new corporations have been formed with minimum capital stocks aggregating $603,000.

"Among the items of construction work to be done as reported this week are:

"Apartment houses, Atlanta, and Milledgeville, Ga., bank building, Dade City, Fla., church buildings, Nashville, Ga., Seneca, S. C., Shelby, Miss., and Stuart and Wauchula, Fla., fair buildings, Spartanburg, S. C., hotel buildings, Avon Park, Fla., and Greenwood, Miss., school building, Greenville, S. C., garages, Columbus, Ga., and West Palm Beach, Fla., warehouse, Biloxi, Miss., water works systems, Fairhope, Ala., and Pass Christian, Miss.

Construction contracts have been awarded as follows:

"Apartment houses, Atlanta, Ga., church building, Adel, Ga., bank building, Attalla, Ala., factory buildings, Augusta, Ga., and Pensacola, Fla., meat packing plant building, Tampa, Fla. library building, Daytona Beach, Fla. school buildings, Baconton, Ga., and Millville, Fla. warehouses, Augusta, Ga. and Pensacola, Fla.

Industrial plants will be established as follows:

"Boiling plant, Clifton, Ala., cannery, Biloxi, Miss., ice cold storage and meat packing plant, Pensacola, Fla., cannery and peanut oil mill, Marianna, Fla., hosiery mill, Burlington, N. C., knitting mill, Spartanburg, S. C., lumber mill, Milltown, Ga., and Bromley, Ala. telephone system extension, Kissimmee, Fla."

BLEASE IN SANFORD

South Carolinian Visits City and Sees Many Old Friends
The following from the Newberry S. C. Herald will be interesting to Sanford readers.

Mr. Eugene S. Blease returned to Newberry this week from a visit of two weeks to Florida, to which state he went on professional business, and incidentally sightseeing. Mr. Blease says that he enjoyed his trip very much and that Florida has a great future before it for there is so much room and opportunity for development and the people of the state have the progressive spirit. Two things especially do the Floridians love, I love it, good schools and good roads. Mr. Blease took an automobile ride from Jacksonville to St. Augustine a distance of 40 miles and did not have miles of the trip was over a road paved with brick. And strange to say that one can travel over that road in several instances for seven and eight miles without seeing a dwelling house. Around Sanford and Ocala the roads are just splendid, many of them being brick paved and others a sand and clay mixture. Sanford a town just about the size of Newberry has at least three-fourths of its streets paved with brick and is a beautiful little city on Lake Monroe. The city is now having a seawall built on the lake front at a cost of over $60,000.

"Taxes seem to be a little higher in Sanford and other Florida towns than in Newberry," said Mr. Blease, "but the people down there don't seem to mind paying taxes so long as they get good roads and good schools, and they say that money spent for these purposes is a mighty good investment. The auto drivers and owners say that they get their money back pretty soon in the cost of keeping up their cars. The farmers bring in their produce for shipment in automobiles, oftentimes carrying in a load and getting back home for breakfast."

Mr. Blease ran across several old Carolinians while in Florida. He was told that a very large percentage of the people in Marion county of which Ocala is the county seat are originally South Carolinians. This county is one of the best sections of Florida and the people there seem to be especially prosperous.

At Sanford Mr. Blease found many Newberry folks. Mr. Forrest Lake is, and for some years has been one of the leading citizens of Sanford. Mr. Lake is now president of a prosperous bank at Sanford. For many years he was mayor of the city and is now one of the leading members of the state legislature. While a member of the legislature, Mr. Lake secured the passage of a bill making a new county, Seminole county, with Sanford the county seat, and in recognition of his services the people of Sanford presented him with a beautiful silver service and re-elected him to the legislature without opposition. Mr. Lake keeps up very well with Newberry people and is always glad to see them. He has a beautiful horse, a charming wife and two pretty little girls and he is fond of entertaining his old Newberry friends. Mr. Lake loves to tell people of Sanford and the opportunities there and is a real live booster for his state, county and city. Around Jacksonville and other places, as well as in Sanford, Mr. Blease heard Mr. Lake spoken of as one of the big men of Florida and his name has often been mentioned in connection with the office of governor and congressman.

Mr. Blease also saw Mrs. G. D. Bishop, formerly Miss Bessie Schumpert of Newberry and her husband and Mrs. Bishop's sister, Mrs. Chas. E. Bell of Atlanta, who was on a visit to Mrs. Bishop. These charming ladies are popular in the society life of Sanford. Mr. Bishop is one of the leading business men of Sanford, being the manager of a large paper concern, and he is recognized by all who know him as a young gentleman of great business ability and sterling worth.

One of the leading farmers of the Sanford section is Mr. Henry H. Chappell, an old Fairfield boy, and related to the Wickers and Chappells of this county. Mr. Chappell doesn't farm as much land as some of the farmers of Newberry county, but in a way he farms on a much larger scale than 90 per cent of the farmers of this county. Mr. Chappell is one of the pioneers in celery growing. He has made enough clear money on one acre of celery to buy seventy-five bales of cotton at the then current price for that staple. Mr. Chappell's celery farming was a matter of so much comment that the Saturday Evening Post sent a special correspondent to visit Mr. Chappell's place and write up his farm as one of the wonders of celery. Mr. Chappell likes South Carolina and likes to talk of Newberry and Fairfield counties. He once was telegraph messenger at Prosperity and recalls many incidents of the days of '76 about Prosperity when Frank Aldridge was the Republican trial justice at that place.

Mr. Sig. Dumas was another old Newberrian whom Mr. Blease saw for just a few minutes at Sanford. Mr. Dumas was connected thirty years ago with the old Laurens railroad and ran from Newberry to Laurens. He is now a progressive citizen of Sanford, but loves the memories of the days when he used to be in Newberry.

Citizen's Duty.

Kant's categorical imperative may be expanded into these homely terms of duty. No one may do that which, if done by all, would destroy society. In other words, the individual must see that when the gaining of his own poor little happiness involves an injury to a great human ideal it is better to cut the happiness off and cast it from him than to do his part to bring the body politic to hell fire.

Brown Spots on Old China.

The beauty of old china is often destroyed by brown spots which appear on the surface, says the Toledo Blade. An effective way to remove these is to bury the dish in the earth covering it completely. The darker spots require more time to remove than the lighter ones. This method will not harm the most delicate china.

Kiel and Suez Canals.

The Kiel canal, which is just over 31 miles in length, is the second longest ship canal in the world. The longest is the Suez.

THE steady growth of this Bank is an indication of its constantly increasing service. To afford every customer the promptest attention and the most courteous and efficient service is the aim of our management. OUR CITIZENS ARE ASLEEP
SANFORD AND SEMINOLE COUNTY NEED GOOD ADVERTISING

Sanford and Seminole county should be advertised. The Herald has contended for advertising these many years. The idea that because this city was well advertised five years ago and that we would never need any more has resulted in the tourists and home-seekers passing us by for the live wire cities that are advertising.

It is hardly necessary to tell this same story for it is an old story and quite familiar to all of us. Other city councils and other boards of county commissioners are taking extra copies of the local papers and sending them all over the United States and to foreign countries and state that it is the best money that was ever spent. Other city councils and other county commissioners are printing booklets and other descriptive matter and sending them all over the world and the cities and counties are getting results. The best that our people can do is to sit idly by and yell about high taxes and they will yell a long time before the taxes are reduced unless more people can be induced to come here and help reduce the taxes. The vacant lots and the wild lands that are not paying any taxes at present should all be taken up and placed on the books at a real figure, something that will not be done as long as the city and the county remains in the apathetic state. Other people realize this and the following letter is only one of many that are received every day. In fact it is getting to be an old story with The Herald and we shall wake up some of the dead ones and rattle the bones ere long.

do not grow as it should. The tourists are not filling your hotels, you would like to see. I repeat, something is the matter. I believe what is true of Clearwater is true of Sanford. It is the lack of advertising. Hundreds of people go from Miami to Florida every winter. Do they go to Sanford? No, and why not? They know of no such place on the map. You do not advertise. Why what are your business men thinking about? Why not put out some money and build up inducements for the people to come here? Why not have a yacht club? Why not have a beautiful lake and river? Why not have a beautiful hotel on the lake front as pictured in the issue of Nov. 25, 1910? Why not ready have the sea wall? Why not have that new hotel that you have talked of so long? Why not take this and then advertise? You are making the opportunity. It is your making and a city proposition. I have an interest in Sanford. I want to see her go to the front. I want only for unavoidable reasons that I am not one of San's citizens today. I expect to go there in the near future and enter into business and become one of your citizens. That is why I am interested. What is your Commercial Club doing? Why don't they get on a business and do things. You have all the natural advantages to make a first class inland tourist city. Why not make it one? Get busy. Yours respectfully, J. F. Spivey.

Laura Jean Libbey's TALKS ON HEART TOPICS

HOW SHOULD A MAN PROPOSE MARRIAGE?

If, after all, you still will doubt and fear me,
And think this heart to other loves will stray,
If I must swear, then, lovely doubt'er,
Hear me,
By every dream I have, when thought's away,
By every throb I feel when thou art
near me,
I love but thee—I love but thee

A man wants to know and in all earnestness if there is a knack in proposing marriage to a woman.

It looks to me like a scientific game where the knave comes out with flying colors and the bashful honest young man gets turned down ignominiously by the average girl," he avers. He admits that he has asked four different women to become his wife and in each instance was unhesitatingly declined and without thanks.

He furthermore states that as far as he can judge he is not better looking nor is he homelier than the general run of men, is comfortably situated and believes as a good, true loyal husband he would be a success. He asks me to solve the problem as to why he has been consulted thus far.

There is no problem about it. This man has proposed to the wrong women. He could not have loved all four. Few hearts are so elastic. At all events he struck a discordant key in each instance in offering his heart and hand. It is not so much what a man says as the way he says it that appeals to the feminine heart.

Carpet knights, singing on bonded knees to pour forth their love story, might do very well in an ancient novel, but the twentieth century maiden would not listen a minute to the protestations of such a swain. The spectacle would be too mirth provoking and rout any tender sentiment that might be creeping into her breast.

Nor does a woman relish the manner in which a too businesslike wooer asks for her heart and hand in much the same way as a lawyer makes his plea before the court of appeals or a merchant mechanically speaks of the merits of his merchandise.

It takes earnestness and a straight forward appeal to carry conviction to a woman's heart that a man means all he is saying.

The choice of language has much to do with making a favorable impression. The wooer of good sense will not beat about the bush figuratively. Good common sense always prevails. He who is a novice and in doubt should choose a moment when he and the young woman of his choice are quite by themselves. If she is in a pleasant mood, it would not be amply to take her hand as a first intimation of the heart of his thoughts. If permitted to retain it what would be more natural than for a man who had made up his mind that the moment had arrived to know his fate to say earnestly: "Mary, you must have noticed how often I have been coming to see you of late. Each visit has endeared you to me. At last the truth occurred to me, my heart had gone out to you. I love you and when a man loves a woman with all the ardor his nature is capable of he craves her love in return. He wants her for his wife. I have been bold enough to believe you are not indifferent to me—indeed that you return my affection. If this be the case I offer you my heart and hand, is your answer yes or no, dear?"

Indeed there are just as many ways of pepping the question as there are men in the world, but the average bashful masculine reader of the above has learned quite enough to put him through the ordeal.

HEARTS OF HOMELESS WOMEN.

Where we love is home? Home that our feet may leave but not our hearts? Who has not felt how sadly sweet the dream of home? When far o'er sea, or land we roam?

The women who have been sheltered, provided for, seldom, if ever, know what it is to be homeless. A cozy home, next to love's sweet day-dreams, is a part of most every woman's life. Apart from these four walls, she is not content, scarce feeling as if she had any right, place or use in the busy, selfish world. Many so-called friends who were wont to dine often at her generous well-filled table accepting her well-meant favors, going with her to matinees, riding out together, turn their backs to her, if they find she is coming their way, lest she might long for them to entertain her in return.

If she is homeless, sking out existence in a plain little hall room, into which she has crowded her few effects, she dreads the idea of one or two faithful friends finding out where she has gone and climbing the three flights of stairs through the dark hall for a short chat with her.

Lone and isolated as she is, she shivers tearfully when a gossiping caller informs her of how well this woman whom they used to know is getting along of splendid marriages others have made what grand homes they are living happily in, their travels in automobiles, and so on. Heart sick is no name for her injured feelings when the creaking door has closed on the woman she pitifully envies and hopes will not cross her meager threshold very soon again.

How dimly the summer rains beat upon her narrow window panes! Snow is hurled high upon the easement winters until she finds it impossible to keep out the piercing, icy blasts. It can easily be realized why such lone women look upon the home picture as though it were heaven on earth. God knows they are not unwise often in marrying for the sake of a dearly prized home offered them, together with a loving companion, well appreciated.

The heart of a homeless woman goes out to that dear place more earnestly than it ever did in the days gone by, of plenty, ere she knew what it was to be parted, from her own abode and to go out facing the cold world in bitterness. The privations of these women cause them to look upon other women who have homes of their own and household duties (they should perform with envy, wondering why they could think of complaining or ever fret over dull moments and not having gay times oftener.

The lives of the two women are in such contrast that if the dissatisfied ones were obliged to change places with their less fortunate sisters even for a brief while, they would never want to stand the ordeal again. But it is a long road that has no turn. By some unexpected happening, many a lone woman has found the joy of her home once more. Dark clouds must give way to sunshine and happiness to fill the hearts of those who do not give up hope.

DO WOMEN KNOW WHEN THEY'RE REALLY IN LOVE?

Some women's hearts are light. With a smile and a quick look they say, "I'm in love," and their hearts are caught. It is not so much what a man says as the way he says it that appeals to the feminine heart. Carpet knights, singing on bonded knees to pour forth their love story, might do very well in an ancient novel, but the twentieth century maiden would not listen a minute to the protestations of such a swain. The spectacle would be too mirth provoking and rout any tender sentiment that might be creeping into her breast.

It is a question not everyone can solve whether love and marriage possibilities enter into the heart of every young woman's life or not. There are romantic girls who frame their pictures of their ideals while endeavoring to make a hero from anything that catches their fancy. They are constantly reading books which after a while fall from their pedestals one by one.

If this work-a-day world was unromantic, thousands of the unwedded would face empty lives. The style of men appealing to young women and girls change as circumstances bring about those who seem to fill a vacant place when the heart is full of longings chilled by the memories of those who are gone or of suitors whose existence has been dropped as unimportant. There are plenty of young women and girls who are not happy unless they have a number of admirers arrayed to fight for them. They expect proposals from one or more of them.

Love, before these hopes are realized, they commence to tell their admirers how deeply and truly they are in love with a particular hero who has kindled their imagination as some other man. This dream is true, as long as it lasts. Many a girl who is vainly looking after this swain which her romantic fancy has settled, as he belongs to her—some where. Nothing can shake her hopes for her faith that she will recognize this masculine being the first time they meet by some subtle instinct within her heart. She does not know exactly how, but it will be somehow. The real one will come along.

Half of life's mischiefs and perils have resulted from the overindulgence of just such vagaries which thoughtless girls are wont to give themselves up to. She is mostly the one who goes from girlhood to womanhood unwedded, until she wakes up and suffers less anxiety for the time to come when the right one will put in an appearance. More than one of the fair sex has lost in the winning of a good husband by being too romantic, too positive that they were really in love before the wooing had capped the climax. Many have proven that one too many bursts of sentiment have become disenchanting, expectations have vanished and the one-time admirer's existence has passed away.

But, after all is said and done, there are good, honest men who prove ideal lovers, though at first they may have been passed by as not most desirable to plan the hopes of the future on. Such an one may not wear fine clothes, his hands may be tanned by wind and heavy lifting, his eyes may be blue, bright and restless, instead of the dark, dreamy ones you have loved to imagine. At five and twenty she may become conscious that he has some little imperfections she turns from him. At thirty she will overlook these slight blemishes. At thirty-five she will waive many of her dislikes and count only his virtues and appealing ways. All her imaginary crosses that barred love's way she knows were trifles. She smiles as she tells her bosom friends that at last she finds love's reality opposite from all that she had expected.

Running Water in the Home Means Health and Comfort

Few persons now question the fact that there is risk always and danger much of the time in the use of water from surface wells.

Running water in the home from a pure source is as much a matter of health protection as it is of greater comfort and convenience.

It is just as important for people who live in the country to have running water as for residents of cities—and it is no longer impracticable.

AMONG THE THEATRES

Chit-Chat of the Play Houses in Sanford

E. H. Calvert Hurlled from Horse in Filming Scene

E. H. Calvert, who plays the leading role in Esanay's six act photoplay, "The Crimson Wing," taken from the novel by Hobart C. Chatfield-Taylor, was hurled headlong from his horse while taking a scene near the Chatfield Taylor estate. The horse stepped into a small hole while going at a lively gallop, and Mr. Calvert, taken by surprise was pitched down a ravine. His wrist was sprained and his knee badly wrenched, but despite the pain he continued work on the play. Mr. Calvert will be seen in "The Crimson Wing" at the Star Theatre on Thursday, Feb. 17th.

Mark Twain's Pudd'nhead Wilson

The two pistols used in the dueling scene of the photodramatic version of Mark Twain's famous story, "Pudd'nhead Wilson," which will be at the Star Theatre Friday, Feb. 11th, with Theodore Roberts in the title role are part of the collection of Mr. Wilfred Buckland, Art Director of the Lasky Company.

Mr. Buckland is known as the greatest collector and authority on ancient firearms in the country and his collection is said to be one of the most complete in the world, not barring that of the British Museum.

By careful attention Mr. Buckland has kept his collection in a wonderful state of preservation and the pistols, when tested, were as accurate and hard shooting as when they left the French gunsmith. The pistols are kept in a black ebony case and with the necessary powder flasks, ram rods, wadding cases, etc., comprise quite an equipment.

Black Fear

Grace Elliston, the gifted stage star who has appeared in many Broadway successes, and whose work in the "Lion and the Mouse," will long be remembered by theatre-goers, will be seen on the screen here at the Star Theatre on Tuesday, Feb. 15th in "Black Fear," a five act photodrama produced by the Rolfe Photoplays Inc., for release on the Metro program. In addition to Miss Elliston, there is an all star cast including Edward Brennan, Grace Valentine, John Tassie, Paul Everton, and other prominent artists of the stage and screen.

"Black Fear" will mark Miss Elliston's debut in motion pictures. It is also Miss Valentine's second picture only, and both are provided with excellent roles, well suited for their marvelous talents.

Picturesque Hanoi, a natural color scenic will also be given. Admission 5 and 15c.

Excuse Me

A Pullman car pleasantries of berths and mirths featuring George F. Marion, in five acts.

"Excuse Me," the first of Henry W. Savage's plays to be released by Pathe, is, if anything, funnier on the screen than on the stage. For this special credit must be given to George F. Marion, who gives a deliciously droll pantomime of the Pullman porter.

The fun starts when Henry Malory, U. S. A., receives orders to join his regiment which is about to embark for the Philippines. The Overland Limited is the only train that will enable him to reach the coast in time to prevent court martial. Having a little time to spare he persuades Marjorie to elope with him and he reserves two berths. They reach the train in time, but as it is time to get married.

Little Jimmy Wellington, who stands six feet two and weighs 150 in his stockinged feet, guzzles too much in his wife's case the Overland to Reno and tells him to go to Paris for a year. He gets sore and gives the same train for the same place and for the same purpose.

The Rev. Doctor Temple tries of Ypsilanti elopes and takes the same train.

There's another of the board of former sweetheart of Marion. With this large cast of players and the picture that start and the fun starts.

The train is about to arrive at the station and the fun starts. Get on board, the fun is in the air. Pathe News will also be doing.

The Pretty Fannie Ward

The famous comedienne, who has appeared in many Broadway successes, and whose in the Jesse L. Lasky production "Tennessee's Pardner" which will be the Paramount Picture at the Star Theatre on Monday, Feb. 14th.

This wonderful building, with its many rooms and outbuildings was built by the Jesuit priests, with the assistance of the Indians in the early days of the 19th century. The plan of this famous Order was to erect these missions one day's journey apart from Mexico to Monterey, and in the early days, thousands of travelers were welcomed under these hospitable roofs.

The mission of San Fernando has been abandoned by the Church as a permanent house of worship, although, occasionally, services are held between its thick adobe walls and under its high tiled roof.

It was in one of these missions that the little girl, "Tennessee," was brought up by her partner, under the guidance of an old priest, before being taken to the little mining town of Sandy Bar.

The cast supporting Miss Ward is one of unusual excellence and consists of such well known artists as Jack Dean, Charles Clary, Jessie Arnold, Raymond Hatton, James Neill and other members of the Lasky all star stock company. Admission 5 and 15c.

Economy in Gas

When I have a couple of hours' ironing to do, or I have meat or vegetables to cook which require two or more hours' time, I put a teakettleful of water on the unlighted burner next to the one I am using, so that when my ironing or cooking is done I have a teakettleful of almost boiling water without burning any gas for that purpose.—Exchange

DAINTY EDNA PARKS AT ALLEN'S THEATRE

Week Beginning Monday February 14th—Sam and Edna Parks in a Repertoire of the latest New York successes. Admission 10, 20 and 30c. Usual picture program will be run from 7 to 8:15. One price of admission admits to both the pictures and dramatic performance. Matinee Wednesday and Saturday at 3 p. m.

Stockholders Meeting

A formal meeting of the Sanford stockholders of the Sanford Independent Mining Company of Colorado was held at the Sanford House on Wednesday evening with Col. H. W. Hays, president of the company, presiding. The Sanford contingent are well pleased with the report submitted by Col. Hays and the prospect of the company's future. The meeting was characterized by the meeting.

Sam and Edna Here

The old Sanford favorites, Sam and Edna Parks will be here all next week at Allen's Theatre. They will be remembered as being with the Chase Parks Co. that showed here upon several occasions under a contract which gave them a clear good show. Sam and Edna were the stars of the Parks shows and now that they are in business for themselves are said to be giving the people the best show on the road. Everyone will be delighted to learn that these favorites will be in Sanford again in repertoires and royalty features.

Foodstuffs Contaminated

A piece of cake was exposed for sale in Philadelphia without adequate protection, then analyzed. It contained sand and coal dust, disintegrated bran fragments, fragments of wood, fragments of metal, and other cotton fibers, white, black, blue, red and green straw partly disintegrated, cowhairs, pig and horse hair, and other bits of animal matter.

Health Note

Health is capital for us all, and especially for the woman who works. However much talent and initiative you have, you will be handicapped in your work unless you have your share of good health. If you have not health it is your business to expect every minute of your surplus time acquiring it.

Hint for Housewife

When you are washing dishes and other articles, use a little of the "E. H. Peters" brand of soap. It is the most effective and economical.

To Remove Putty

To remove old putty from a window after the glass has been taken out, pass a hot soldering iron or poker over it. This softens it and it is easily removed.

Sanford, a rapidly growing city of 5,500 people, located on the St. Johns river halfway between Jacksonville and Tampa, is in the heart of the greatest trucking country in the world. As shown by U. S. Agricultural Year Book for 1911, page 316, lands of the famous "Sanford Celery Delta" yield as much as $2,000 per acre, for a single crop of celery. As other valuable crops are grown during the season, the net annual income on these lands often runs into figures that are phenomenal. Plenty of land in the "Delta," available for improvement, can yet be had at low prices.

Artesian (flowing) wells furnish at very slight cost an unlimited supply of water for irrigation purposes. The lands are tiled for sub-irrigation and sub-drainage; and crop failures are unknown.

Nowhere on earth can there be found such an ideal combination of soil, water, and climate for the growth of celery, lettuce, strawberries and other valuable farm and garden crops, and all coming into market in the dead of winter when prices are the highest. Unexcelled citrus fruit and stock raising region.

Facilities for shipping are the very best, and freight rates are lower at Sanford than at any other interior Florida point, because Sanford is not only on Lake Monroe, at the head of navigation on the St. Johns river, with daily steamboat connection with Jacksonville and the sea, but it is also an important railroad center; and competitive freight rates are maintained. A splendid location for manufacturing and wholesaling enterprises.

Over 2,000 feet of lake front are being reclaimed and added to the city's most valuable area, and the work is about finished. A 100-foot lake driveway will extend next to, and along, the entire distance of the lake wall, and will rival the much-famed "Malecon" of Havana, "Riverside Drive" of Jacksonville, and the "Bay-Shore Boulevard" of Tampa. Thus, Sanford will have one of the handsomest water fronts of the country, and will be eligible for membership in the "Cities Beautiful."

Resort of the highest excellence. Climate delightful, and all the world's pleasure craft might, at the same time, cruise on the lovely waters of Lake Monroe, Lake Jessup, and the other lakes in the vicinity of Sanford, and on the noble St. Johns; and the fishing and hunting of the Sanford region are unexcelled. Sanford has miles of paved streets, and the county (Seminole) now has about thirty miles of brick roads, and will, within a few months, have twice this much. An ideal winter spot.

Destined to become the metropolis of interior Florida.

Schools Have Holiday

At a recent meeting of the school board for Seminole county the question of giving a day to the schools for the purpose of the teachers and pupils to attend the Great Five County Fair at Orlando came up.

This is in keeping with the progressive spirit of the school board, and fully shows that they have an unlimited interest in the education and welfare of the children of this county.

It is understood that Seminole schools will be represented in the fair with quite an elaborate exhibit, and it is predicted by the Herald that "Our" schools will bring home some of the first ribbons, if not all.

DEFENSE PLAN OF WILSON THIS WEEK

Washington, Feb. 15. President Wilson's return to Washington today from his week-end cruise on the Mayflower will mark the beginning of a busy week of conferences with leaders of congress and the appointment of a new secretary of war.

Among those with whom the President has appointments tomorrow are several congressional delegates with candidates for the vacancy in his cabinet and others who want to suggest a bill for the assistant secretaryship.

The secretary announced special meetings for the week-end. The night also are on the week-end program and there will be conferences with the latter part of the week with house leaders on the rural credit bill and with house and senate leaders on national preparedness.

Sunday saw no new candidates mentioned for secretary of war. The impression seemed to be growing among the President's advisers that the new secretary would not be chosen from the army.

Secretary Garrison's resignation has had far reaching results upon congress, in the opinion of administration leaders. It was apparent the unexpected development had clarified the legislative atmosphere with regard to two important issues, national defense and Philippine independence, and had served to bring congress and the president closer together.

The secretary's resignation finally settled the fate of the continental army plan, which chairman of both house and senate military committees declared never would have been accepted by congress.

A NEW BRIDGE ACROSS RIVER AT MONROE

ST. JOHNS HAS CONNECTING LINK BETWEEN TAMPA AND JAX

The connecting link between Tampa and Jacksonville on the real route between the two cities has been made. This is the drawbridge between Volusia and Seminole counties and this bridge was finished yesterday and opened for travel.

This is the drawbridge between Volusia and Seminole counties and this bridge was finished yesterday and opened for travel. The opening was an occasion for a celebration in the nature of a big barbecue and despite the cold winds that swept over the St. Johns river at this point there was a large crowd present at the opening.

Promptly at noon the first car driven by Commissioner Roy Harlan and occupied by Michael Sholtz, Commissioners Brumley and Entzinger and Chairman Hagen and R. L. Holtz. The Herald passed over on the new structure cheered by hundreds of onlookers and the many cars waiting on different sides of the river followed suit and the new bridge was on. Up to this time the ferry was doing a good business but the old method of transportation will soon be discarded and the new bridge will be formally opened to traffic from this time forward.

The new bridge built by Michael Sholtz and associates is 1500 feet long, 18 feet wide and has a draw that gives the boats 100 feet clearance. The bridge will be a toll bridge and will charge the same as the ferry normally charged, namely 25 cents for each car and 50 cents for each truck.

The bridge was opened to traffic at 12 o'clock and a large class of cars and trucks were seen finishing touches to put on it will be one of the best ever in the great St. Johns river. Mr. Sholtz is to be congratulated for his progressive spirit in looking forward toward the material development of this part of Florida.

Presbyterian C. E.

On Wednesday evening the two Sr. C. E. societies held a joint meeting at the Congregational church which was very helpful and inspiring.

On Thursday evening the Congregational C. E.'s entertained the Presbyterians at a most enjoyable social held in the Presbyterian church parlors.

On Friday evening Co. B. had charge of the meeting and after a Bible reading exercise led by Miss Essie Purdon, Dr. Browne conducted a quiz on two chapters in the "Expert Endeavor." Miss Charles Seay sang a lovely solo.

The society received an invitation from Mrs. Allen and Miss Hoppers to a box party at Allen's Theatre on Tuesday evening. The members are all invited to meet in Mr. and Mrs. Allen's apartments over the Royal Cafe at 7:45 p. m.

Free Garden Seeds

Congressman Sears has sent a sack full of garden seeds to The Herald office to distribute and anyone wanting these seeds can call and get them.

They are carrot, lettuce, musk melon, onion and tomato seeds and if the variety doesn't suit you don't get them.

Mr. Sears did not send celery seed and potato to grow it but he informs us that owing to the war in Europe he could not obtain either the celery seed or the potato.

We hope that next season Mr. Sears can send us just what we want here in the Sanford section and he might add a few pigs, some registered cattle, a few chickens and an automobile for each one of us.

Cold Wave Strikes State

A cold wave struck the state yesterday and last night the thermometer cut some capers, being all around the freezing mark.

As far as can be learned there was no damage done in this vicinity. The sudden drop from summer weather to winter caused every one to feel the change more than if the colder weather had been with us for some time.

However, we have the consolation of knowing that it will make the early growers rich and the wood men happy and it cannot last long after February. Having had such a nice winter we cannot complain if a cold wave strikes us now and then and it certainly is a delightful change.

Fire at Enterprise

A bright blaze at Enterprise, noticeable here in Sanford last night gave rise to the rumor that the hotel was burning, but it proved to be the old railroad dock at the Enterprise wharf. It was supposed to be of incendiary origin and destroyed nothing of value.
