TRIAL OF LAKE FIFTH CASE HEARS FINISH

Very Expected To Have Banker's Fate In Its Hands Sometime Between Five and Six White Opens For Defense Lawyers
Present Proceedings
Have Been Marked
By Verbal Clashes

The fifth trial of Forrest Lake was drawing to a rapid close this afternoon. Between the hours of 5:30 and 6:00
clock tonight, the six men sitting in judgment over him will have his fate in their hands. They can either find him guilty as charged or acquit him on any one of the grounds of his own record.
The jury returned a verdict at 10:15 P. M. on the instruction of the court.

The trial which got under way last evening after a long delay, was the swiftest justice ever meted out to a man. When the case was placed in the hands of the jury, it will have been only a few days since the charge was made against the defendant.

Strangely enough this shortest of the bank cases required the longest time in selecting a jury.
The venire of 100 tidesmen was reduced and number of 50 was left before six men to try the case could be found.

At 1:00 P. M. today H. S.
Farrar, associate prosecutor, and both presented their arguments to the jury. With court returning at 2:30 three arguments remained to be heard.
The first was by the State's attorney, J. M. Smith and W.
D. Robinson, defense counsel.

Taking of testimony supporting and discounting the charge that Lake appropriated $25,000 of the bank's funds on Jan. 13, 1926, was finished at 10:30 this morning.
The State's case was taken from the witness stand by the closing arguments by closing its case before the jury attorneys concluded their case.

E. W. Deane, yesterday afternoon, proved to be the state's chief witness in the witness box.
He testified to exactly what the state is attempting to prove—that Lake ordered him to take $25,000 from the City of Sanford Corpus Amoris and credit it to his private account. Deane declared that he took the morning of Jan. 13 that his account was overdrawn approximately $50,000 and that the bank examiner was coming in a short time. According to Deane, Lake told him to take the $25,000 from the city account to cover part of the overdraft which was in the form of cash items—checks and charges made against Lake's account but paid from the bank's fund.

Records of Lake's accounts on that day and the amount of the city account fund showed that such a transfer had been made, and that the addition of $25,000 city fund would have been credited to Lake in the day to make the $50,000 deposit necessary to cover the overdraft.

Belgian Banker To Have Big Vacation

NEW YORK, Apr. 26.—(INS)—Albert Lowenstein, Belgian banker and sportsman, who is said to be the third richest man in the world, was here today to spend a $100,000 vacation in this country. His party consisting of over twenty-five persons, occupied eight suites on the De De France costing a total of $20,000 for the passage from Europe. The same accommodations have been reserved for the banker's return on May 19. Lowenstein brought with him two costly European automobiles and while he is in this country he will purchase two American cars and an airplane. The party will stop in New York for several days and then go to Chicago. A few days stay in that city will be followed by a trip through Canada to California. It is estimated that the trip will cost Lowenstein more than $100,000.

GERMAN FLYERS HOP OFF IN FORD SHIP FOR QUEBEC

Leave Trans-Atlantic Plane, Bremen, Behind And Accompanied By Fitzmaurice They Begin Return To Civilization

LAKE ST. AGNES, Apr. 26.—(INS)—Captain Herman Koch, Baron Ernest von Huenefeld and Mayor James E. Fitzmaurice were expected to arrive here from Greenly Island some time today in the Ford relief plane piloted by Bert Dalchen.

The fliers will leave the trans-Atlantic monoplane Bremen behind them on the island. Their efforts to get the plane to rise from the water were unsuccessful yesterday. The Bremen probably will remain at Greenly Island until a ship is able to reach the isolated outpost where the trans-Atlantic airman landed after their epic thirty-six hour flight westward over the Atlantic.

Stis were not brought to the island by the Ford plane because it was thought it would be able to take off with its land gear. However, softening ice has made this impossible. It was also felt that the peculiar underbody of the Bremen would not permit the fitting of skis.

In the last message received from the fliers they indicated that they were deeply moved by the plight of Floyd Bennett, who brought the Ford plane from Detroit. At the time of their message they had not yet learned of Bennett's death. Dalchen had been Bennett's companion in many an air venture and was one of his closest friends.

The Ford plane is piloted by Bert Dalchen, himself a noted trans-Atlantic flier. News of the start south, which has been expected and delayed for three days, was received from the wireless station at Point Amour, near Greenly Island.

The message read: "Ford plane left Greenly Island 7:45 A. M. with Bremen crew. Will stop at Murray Bay."

STEWART CITED
WASHINGTON, April 26.—(INS)—Col. Robert W. Stewart, head of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, was cited by the Federal district attorney by the Senate yesterday for perjury based on his testimony about the Continental Trading Company's $3,000,000 "slush fund."

BANK HELD UP
TORONTO, Ont., Apr. 26.—(INS)—Three gunmen invaded a branch of the Standard Bank here today, herded the staff at the point of pistols, and escaped with $25,000.

FLOODS SWEEP OVER SOUTH IN RUINOUS RUSH

Georgia, Alabama and North-West Florida Are Affected
By Devastating Inundation
Causing Big Property Loss

5,000 Are Homeless
Throughout Areas
Train Services Have Been Disrupted And Many Highways
Still Remain Impassable

ATLANTA, Apr. 26.—(INS)—Flood waters, sweeping South Georgia, South Alabama and Northwest Florida, in a devastating race to the sea, has caused damage to rich farmlands, and railroad and private property estimated at more than $20,000,000.

In addition, 5,000 are homeless, forced to evacuate their homes when the raging rivers, swelled by eight inches of rain last Sunday, swept through the towns in the lowlands. The situation was improving in South Georgia today, and the high waters of the Ocmulgee and other rivers were gradually receding. The Flint River also was falling, and train service into Albany and adjoining cities has been resumed. Highways in South Georgia were still impassable.

South Alabama and Northwest Florida reported the greatest damage to crops and railroad and private property. The residents of the town of Caryville, Fla., fled to higher ground at Bonifay, when 12 feet of water from the Chetachahatchee River inundated the town. The town of Westville, across the river from Caryville, was also flooded. Many houses were swept away in Century and Milligan and adjoining villages on the Northwest Florida coast. Conservative estimates of the damage on the Florida coast are:

Louisville & Nashville Railroad, $500,000; Brown Florida Milling Company, $750,000; Harbison Milling Co. $100,000; roads and bridges on the West Apalachicola River, $1,000,000; Old Spanish truck farms, $3,000,000; residences in Caryville, Westville and Milligan, $500,000; power dam at Elna, $500,000; to save the town, $600,000.

The damage to South Alabama was considered even worse. The country around Dothan and Andalusia was devastated to the extent of $1,000,000. While the loss to farms, livestock and railroads in South Alabama was almost incalculable, the section swept by the flood was some of the best agricultural land in the South.

Eight hundred families in Brewton, Ala., were forced to flee their residences, and about 400 persons have been sleeping in the ruins of their homes, which is on higher ground. Great damage was done to the lumber mills there and manufacturing plants. Brewton was taken as one of the richest per capita towns in the United States, and towns in the United States were heavy, and loss to private property was heavy.

Despite recession of water in South Alabama, and will be closed to traffic for perhaps a week. The Tombigbee River continued to overflow thousands of acres of rich cotton land in Choctawhatchee and Marengo Counties. Hundreds of livestock have been drowned, and many houses torn from their foundations. The Alabama River, however, is being partly checked by dams on the Tallapoosa and Coosa Rivers, which join above Montgomery to form the Alabama.

The death toll has been comparatively light, due to the fact that residents of the bottom lands deserted the warnings of the weather bureau and left their homes. Six negroes were drowned in Alabama, and two persons died in refugee camps near Caryville, Fla.

Senators Reveal Faith In Coolidge - Kellogg Policy In Nicaraguan Situation

WASHINGTON, April 26.—(INS)—The Coolidge-Kellogg policy of using a "big stick" toward unruly elements in the pan-American republics in general and in Nicaragua in particular stood endorsed today by the Senate through an overwhelming vote of confidence.

The Senate voted four-to-one against the immediate withdrawal of troops from Nicaragua and rejected other proposals limiting the President's power to use marines in foreign countries after next February.

The efforts to restrict Presidential powers was made through amendments to the $363,000,000 naval appropriation bill. In the end, the bill was enacted, carrying about $1,000,000 extra for the marine occupation of Nicaragua, and no restrictions were placed on the President's discretion in using the force.

DAYTONA BEACH MOURNS PASSING OF FAMED RACER

Mayor Issues Proclamation Setting Aside Two Days In Which To Offer Tribute To During American Speed Age

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Apr. 26.—(INS)—In memory of Frank Lockhart, youngest and most daring of American speedsters, who met a tragic death before the eyes of his wife here yesterday, all Daytona Beach was in mourning today. Mayor E. H. Armstrong issued a proclamation officially setting aside today and Friday as days of mourning.

Lockhart died death time and time again here in the international speed circuit last February, and made himself a hero with the thousands who watched the trials by his fearless handling of himself into the jaws of death.

He made the attempt to make the world's record—207 miles per hour—against the protest of his friends who feared that his car was so light in front that when it attained a speed of better than 200 miles an hour it would start to yaw.

Whether it was this "yiffing" that caused a rear tire to blow out, or whether the bursting of the tire itself was responsible for Lockhart's death, will never be known. Onlookers declare that the accident which cost Lockhart his life was similar to that in February, when the car he was driving hurled 140 feet through the air and plunged into the ocean.

In the second race yesterday, the Stutz heaped 100 feet in the air while he raced. When he struck the earth his breast had been crushed so badly that his ribs protruded, both legs were broken and other injuries sustained.

FLYER'S BURIAL TO TAKE PLACE AT ARLINGTON

Body Of Floyd Bennett Will Lie In State In New York Before Journey To Capital
For Last Rite At Cemetery

Country's Highest Honors To Be Given
Funeral Party Including Mrs.
Bennett And Richard Byrd
Will Leave Tomorrow At 7

NEW YORK, Apr. 26.—(INS)—The body of Floyd Bennett, who gave up his life to carry aid to the Bremen, will lie in state in New York during the funeral party's brief stop here tomorrow.

Upon arrival of the funeral train here at 7:30 A. M. the body will be taken to the Seventy First Regiment Armory, Park Avenue and Thirty Fourth Street, where it will lie in state until taken to the Pennsylvania Station shortly before 10 o'clock. The funeral party will leave at 10:10 A. M. for Washington, where the hero of the air will be accorded the nation's highest honors to his brave death—burial in Arlington Cemetery.

QUEBEC, Que., Apr. 26.—(INS)—While the cold still reeled his passing, the cold, still body of Floyd Bennett, one of America's greatest aviators, lay in the little chapel of the Jeffrey Hale Hospital here today.

Clad in the same flying suit in which he made his last flight, the brilliant flier's body reposed in a bronze casket in which it will be taken to New York at 1:30 P. M. today. It will be taken to Washington for burial in the Arlington National Cemetery, where is the nation's heroes.

The casket was heaped high with floral tributes from all parts of the world. Hundreds came to the hospital where the conqueror of the North Pole lay in state. His body was taken to the city morgue for a post-mortem examination.

The flier's wife and his companion in many an aerial venture, Commander Richard E. Byrd, remained here overnight and will go to New York with the body. They received the usual messages of condolence and sympathy, among them a sympathetic tribute to the late flier from President Coolidge.

Mrs. Bennett is leaving for her home in New York when it arrives at 7 o'clock tonight. She is now enroute from her home at Lake George, N. Y. Mrs. Bennett is 35 and has a bill for several years.

Aspirant To Job Of Comptroller Raps Incumbent In Talk

PRISON WARDENS MAKE PLEA FOR NARCOTIC FARMS

WASHINGTON, April 26.—(INS)—Stating that one-fifth of the 7,508 inmates of three federal prisons are drug addicts, Albert H. Conner, federal superintendent of prisons, and the warden of Atlanta and Leavenworth prisons, went before the House Judiciary Committee today to urge passage of the Porter bill for establishment of the "dope farms."

Conner painted a depressing picture of conditions in overcrowded federal prisons and the pitiful plight of drug addicts who want to be cured but can't. Conner pointed out that federal prisons are now crowded to twice their capacity, and prisoners are sleeping in corridors in all prisons. Young prisoners serving their first term are sleeping next to "dope fiends" from whom they get the habit.

"Establishment of two narcotic farms as provided in the Porter bill would not only permit scientific care for drug addicts but would relieve the overcrowded conditions of our prisons," he said. John H. Snook, warden of Atlanta prison, told the committee that "dope farms" would be a great forward step in the prison system. "I have men come to prison in bad conditions and send them out weighing 40 to 50 pounds more than when they came and feeling fine," said Snook. "They are met at the gate by a runner or a 'dope peddler' or a physician. A week or ten days later they may meet one of them down town in a hospital, because of drugs. All our work has been wasted."

The death of efforts to smuggle drugs into the prison. The prisoner is large in the eyes in rubber to a false tooth and under rubber bands, he said. Warden Tom B. White of Leavenworth prison revealed that the percentage of drug addicts in federal prisons is steadily rising.

"Our prison population at Leavenworth has increased 5.33 per cent," said White. White dispelled a popular notion that drug dosages are gradually reduced as convicts get used to the prison. They are absolutely cut off from drugs and given a Turkish bath every day for a week. The drug addict suffers but the cure is effective, he said.

Burning Oil Tanker Off Florida Shore Gives Call For Aid

NEW YORK, Apr. 26.—(INS)—The oil tanker Overbrook is a fire off the Florida coast, according to an S. O. S. message received by the Radio Marine Corporation station at Chatham, Mass., today. A second message received by the radio corporation stated that the crew of the tanker had taken to life boats and that the Fred W. Weller, a craft owned by the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, was rushing to the scene.

The S. O. S. was received at 4:15 A. M. this morning. It stated that there had been an explosion aboard and that the tanker was a blaze. Immediate assistance was asked. The message stated that the ship is in distress about 150 miles north of the Jupiter Light-ship, Florida. The tanker gave its position as latitude 28.55 north, longitude 79.50 west.

LONDON, Apr. 26.—(INS)—The harrowing details of native massacres on the island of Papua in which five hundred Papuans were killed and then eaten by their cannibalistic foes were described by passengers arriving at Sidney, Australia, aboard a missionary steamer from the island, in a dispatch received from the Australian city by the Central News.

The massacres occurred at intervals since Christmas during the temporary absence of government officials. All five hundred victims were eaten immediately after the massacres. The wholesale atrocities are believed to have been committed in reprisal for the murder of nine Goros spies by members of another tribe.

As soon as the Goros ascertained that the government officials were absent, all their warriors mustered in war-canoes and preparations were made for the most serious inter-tribe warfare on the island in years.

Government Orders Coast Guards To Stem Detroit's Liquor Traffic

WASHINGTON, Apr. 26. (INS)—Twenty-one coast guard ships today were ordered to Detroit to reinforce the river patrol against a threatened flood of Canadian liquor.

Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Seymour Lowman announced the strengthening of the patrol on arrival here from Detroit where he held a run with counsel with the Customs Commissioner E. W. Camp, Prohibition Commissioner J. M. Moran and coast guard officers.

Violent Quakes Again Rock Balkan States

LONDON, Apr. 26.—(INS)—Earthquakes again rocked the Balkan States today. Several were reported in the vicinity of Athens and Corinth in Greece. Renewed shocks were experienced throughout Bulgaria, the heaviest damage being suffered at Lule Burgas on the Black Sea.

Many houses were demolished and many persons were reported injured in several villages in the vicinity of Lule Burgas. This section had been unaffected by the recent earthquakes until last night. Thousands of panic-stricken and scantily clothed peasants are arriving at Sofia daily.

Illinois Will Have Only Single Senator Until Next Primary

CHICAGO, Apr. 26.—(INS)—In view of the Senate's refusal to accept Frank L. Smith, Illinois will have to struggle along with only one United States Senator until after the November elections. This was the gist of a letter made public today from Gov. Len Small to James D. Cunningham, president of the Illinois Manufacturers' Association.

The association, through its president, had asked Gov. Small to appoint someone to fill the vacancy from Illinois in the United States Senate. The governor's reply, in part, follows: "When Senator Smith resigned to become a candidate in the April primary, I appointed him to fill this vacancy, with the understanding that he would appoint a successor to hold good until a successor had been elected and qualified."

"Therefore, there is no vacancy in the office of United States Senator from Illinois, and I understand that Senator Smith is ready and willing to go to Washington and perform his duties as Senator at any time."

Passengers Relate Harrowing Stories Of Cannibal Tribe

Solons Inject Violent Personalities Into Arguments On Floor Of House

WASHINGTON, Apr. 26.—(INS)—Violent personalities were injected into debate in the House Naval Affairs was called today when Rep. McClintic (D) of Ohio called Rep. Andrew (R) of Mass., a "rattlesnake" and the language was stricken from the record on points of order from the floor.

A little later Rep. Howard (D) of Nebraska declared that Rep. McClintic "a liar," but Woodruff (R) of Michigan, had Woodruff denied it. A half dozen members clamored for the floor during the bitter remarks.

McClintic charged Andrew had secretly given out a newspaper calling him a liar. The squabble was only stopped by demand of farm relief advocates for the floor.

Baseball Today

Hundreds of Sanford citizens prepared this afternoon to leave their stores, offices and homes to see their brand new baseball team play the opening game of the season against Orlando. Almost every store has agreed to close to give its employees a chance to attend the game. Better than 1,000 persons are expected to be assembled at Municipal Athletic Field at 3:30 o'clock.

Much depends on this first game of the national pastime in this city this season. The Sanford team will have to show its prowess and the fans will have to lend their support if the baseball club is to carry on. If the team fails to show it has the material for a real Florida State League club, the thousand fans gathered today will soon desert the grandstands and the club will play to an empty house before the season is well started. If the club lives up to the predictions made by A. B. Wallace, the new president, and the fans fail to attend the games in sufficient numbers to enable the gate receipts to pay off the players, then the sport of professional baseball in Sanford this year is doomed. In short, to have a ball club, you must first have the players good enough to give the local devotees the thrill of seeing them win a good percentage of the time, and second, you must have the fans interested enough in baseball to dig up the money which will keep the club going.

If the team comes through today and tomorrow and then next week and shows it can win a ball game, hit, run and dig the hot rollers out of the grass and the drives out of the air, the team has done its part toward giving Sanford baseball. If the fans come out and root for the team, then they have done their part. If they work together, the team winning games and the enthusiasts sitting in the grandstand, then the City of Sanford doesn't need to worry about its ball club. The club will be in the league race for the pennant from today until the end of the season.

Of course, the fans don't expect to see their club win all the time, but not even a Babe Ruth can draw big crowds to see a team play that sits in the league cellar or even on the steps going down into it. The team may lose half a dozen games before it wins one, but if the players show the backers that they are on their toes and getting better every day, the people will be patient and stick to the club until it starts to win.

Bennett's Death

Lindbergh and Byrd wept when the news that Floyd Bennett had died from a sudden attack of pneumonia was brought to them. Both had rushed to his side, one to be with the old friend and pal of a death-defying adventure and the other to bring a serum which might cure the stricken flyer.

To men who have trusted their lives to the motors of their planes across the north pole and the Atlantic and who understand from their own brave hearts the heart of Floyd Bennett, nothing was sadder than to see such a man brought down to death in a hospital at Quebec. They probably would not have felt half the grief had Bennett crashed while at the controls of his plane. They would not have mourned so much had the dead flyer vanished into the mists of the Atlantic as many others have done.

There was something pathetic to them and to the world in the death of Bennett from the sharp attack of a common disease. He couldn't fight back. The courage and skill which had carried him through many close calls was useless to him. His youthful strength and bravery in the face of peril meant nothing. He couldn't grin and carry on as he might have done aboard a plane winging over the polar regions when one of its engines sputtered and died.

Men who have toyed with death as Byrd and Lindbergh have done do not fear it if it strikes at them in midair. They, perhaps, would rather die in the wreck of a plane than anywhere else if the choice was given them. But they fear being caught as the common man is caught, with a disease which strikes the brave and timid alike. Knowing how they themselves would have felt on that hospital bed, they wept for a man who otherwise might have gone on to do greater things than they themselves have done for the world of aviation.

WHEN MORTALS PRAY

When the monoplane Bremen came down on Greeney Island, after crossing the Atlantic ocean, the first words of the three aviators were: "Thank God!"

The words were said reverently and devoutly. In nearly every message the aviators sent out after their landing, some such expression as "with God's help" followed the announcement that they had completed their perilous trip. It is quite evident that the daring aviators feel a deep sense of gratitude to divine power. That is an aspect of ocean flying you don't often think of. When a pilot makes ready for a long flight over water we ask him if his engine is in good trim, if his instruments are in good order and so on; and then, as he takes off, we cry "Good luck!" Too often we do not think to pray for him.

For we are rather an irreligious people. We make marvelous machines, and sometimes we think that is all there is to it. We adopt Napoleon's cynical maxim, that God fights on the side of the heavier artillery. We look down at our own handiwork, and not up to the skies.

As a general thing, this seems to work well enough. But a time of extreme danger is different. There can come a moment when we have done all that we can, when our machines have given their utmost, and the issue is still in doubt. Then, dawn the realization that we are, after all, helpless; that our fate is not in our own hands; any longer; and then we pray.

We who stay home, safe and snug, may not realize this. But the men who flew the Bremen the Atlantic know it full well. It is not hard to picture them in the little cockpit of their plane, far off their course, buffeted by a howling gale, below, darkness and death on every hand; knowing that their lives hang on a thread, saying to themselves, like the sea captain in the old English chronicle, "If it is God's will we shall be saved."

They were saved. A tiny islet in the northern sea offered them a haven at the very last. The "Thank God!" with which each man stepped out of the plane was more than a hackneyed expression of relief; it was a prayer, as genuine as any ever offered in church or cathedral.

Life is not a proposition in mathematics; it is not a matter that can ever be wholly grasped in the laboratory or on the setting ground. We are efficient and mechanized, but always there is a residue that our machines cannot touch; always there is a mystery that our technicians cannot solve. In the end our lives are in God's hands.

FRENCH INNS PASSING

France reports her roadside restaurants and wayside inns slowly diminishing. The automobile is blamed.

Old-fashioned French folk say that when their modern fellow countrymen must choose between their love of speedy traveling and their love of a good meal they let the good meal go. It doesn't provide as interesting a subject to talk about as does the distance they succeed in driving during the day or the number of miles they get to a gallon.

Health HINTS

Citizens of the United States have no business advising France in this emergency. But with her inns going and hot dog emporiums not coming it looks that she needs advice. It may be that if the French will establish road houses, or whatever their equivalent is in the stead of the inns they will find their fellows driving out to them, instead of passing them by. It has happened so in this country.

MEDICAL IDEALS

Ever since this writer graduated he has held to the ideal that some time he would have a place where he could thoroughly examine and treat cases, knowing as he did, that a case well diagnosed is half cured, and having diagnosed the case, he would have a therapy to fit each case. With this ideal in mind, he has traveled up and down the country, taking post-graduate courses in osteopathy, electricity, chiropractic, official surgery, Abrams' methods, medicine, surgery, Schellberg's, colonic irrigation, and special courses in diet, etc. Like the proverbial drowning man, he has caught at each straw hoping to find the truth. Out of all this study and research, it has gradually dawned upon him that there is no royal road to health.

In order to get well, the patient must do something, as well as the doctor, and that after all, nature does the curing, and we can only help nature over the rough places.

Keeping to this ideal, I have finally worked out a system that I find is yielding absolute results in stomach, bowel and rectal diseases, and I feel that I am at last on solid ground. From a little editorial in The Osteopathic Magazine for this month, entitled "Power," I want to quote a few sentences.

"Keep your ideals. The full power of an ideal has never been realized. Harness it up and you will find it taking you and your work to new heights of beauty and service." "I have fastened more or less in my school days of medicine. If I have moved among my race, and have no glorious morning faces. If beams from happy human eyes find in order to get well, the patient must do something, as well as the doctor, and that after all, nature does the curing, and we can only help nature over the rough places."

This is General Motors Proving Ground

A birdseye view of the 1245-acre Proving Ground maintained by General Motors to assure the quality and value of its cars and trucks.

- 1. Entrance to the Proving Ground. The group of buildings includes complete experimental and service shops, engineering offices and comfortable living quarters for resident and visiting engineers and for the driving crews. The Proving Ground personnel number more than 200 men.
2. The 4-mile high-speed loop. The largest in America, made of concrete; with turns banked to permit continuous high speed operation. In addition, the Proving Ground has two concrete straight-aways 1 1/2 miles long, as level as a billiard table, and miles of brick, tar, gravel and dirt roads which reproduce every driving and weather condition.
3. The hill-test road. Test hill grades at the Proving Ground range from 7.26 per cent to 24 per cent. The grades on public highways seldom exceed 7 per cent.
4. The "bath-tub." A depressed concrete roadway which is filled with water at varying depths to reproduce flooded roadway conditions.

Here each General Motors car must prove its value

On a 1245-acre tract near Milford, Michigan, convenient to all its car and truck divisions, General Motors has the first and largest proving ground for automobiles. Here tests are made and facts determined to a degree impossible when cars and trucks are tested on the public highways. Here each new model of General Motors must prove itself point by point, before it is produced for sale to the public. More than 135 different tests are applied to each car tested at the Proving Ground. They involve every phase of construction and performance: power, speed, endurance, acceleration, braking, steering, handling, riding comfort, fuel economy and so on. In three months a car or truck covers more miles than you would drive it in three years. The Proving Ground is another example of how General Motors is serving the public. It is also your assurance that when you buy a General Motors product you are getting all possible quality and value at its price and the advantages of a policy of continuous improvement.

Look at these values—then clip the coupon

The current models of General Motors cars are briefly described below. Never before in the history of the automobile industry have such performance, such quality, such comfort and such beauty been offered in their respective price classes. They have been proved at the Proving Ground! See which car or cars interest you most, then check and mail the coupon below. You will receive complete, illustrated information, together with two interesting little books telling all about General Motors Proving Ground and just what General Motors policies are.

WOMAN'S CLUB COLUMN

The literature department of the Woman's Club held a very interesting meeting at the club house Wednesday afternoon. In the absence of the Chairman, Mrs. G. P. Patton, the newly elected Chairman, Miss Margaret Young presided.

After a brief business meeting the program for the afternoon was turned over to Mrs. Frank Evans, who read a splendid paper on roadway plays of 1927 and 1928.

Brief reviews of current plays were also given by Mrs. E. D. Ball, Mrs. Rush St. Johns, Mrs. S. O. Stinson and Mrs. Walter L. Cooper, which proved very interesting.

Announcements were made for department meetings as follows: Thursday evening, May 10, three act plays will be given by department members at the Junior High School. The plays are "Temperament," "Overtones" and "Spreading the News," which are very clever and the parts will be played by some of the very talented members of the club. The proceeds from this entertainment will be used for the building fund.

Friday evening, May 11th, the literature department will hold its last meeting of the club year, which will be a dinner at the club house, and the members will be allowed to invite one guest for this pleasant affair.

What interesting news items had been included then, you might have read headlines like these:

"Love Ties of Princess" "Honor of Royalty" "Queen Betrayed by Spy" "Prince Admits Love Secret" "Tragic Supper Details" "Honor to Royal Ring"

But—instead of tabloids, we have a beautiful love story in the most graceful and picturesque English—the romance of an empire a hundred years ago, the love of a man for a beautiful Princess decided him by Fate; the most glorious and entrancing of eastern pictures produced since the cinema revealed its hidden beauties—"Drama of Love", the crowning achievement of D. Go Shopping With Patricia Ann

INTRODUCING MYSELF

Really I am quite abashed and have a feeling of uneasiness in introducing myself to the women shoppers of Sanford. Try as I did, I could get no one on the paper who would condescend to give this feature an introduction to the public.

Patricia Ann is as much of my name as you will learn. I come from a secret place to which many of you have been. You will see me often on the streets but you will not recognize me. I am here to go shopping through the stores for you. . . to acquaint you with fashion's favorites and the nice things I find. . . perhaps my information will help you to shop in a more concise and economical manner and if it does I will have fulfilled my mission.

Although I am just a few days resident of Sanford, I have found many things which interest me greatly. . . and being a woman must tell you. Watch for my feature each week and tell me if you like it. . . I will gladly perform any service for any reader and you have only to write me in care of The Herald.

Faithfully Yours, Patricia Ann.

My visit to the mystic nooks of the Shrine will be a glorious venture enhanced by the security of "from Sadye's" or if you like correct costuming.

Sadye's has on display afternoon lace trimmed frocks of low independence blue that are the most exquisite gowns ever offered in Sanford.

Sadye's Shoppe next to the postoffice, will be found in high favor of those who wish the best at prices in conformity with her policy of quality at moderate cost.

FOR THE SHRINE CONVENTION

Burning sands, Gardens of Allah, desert Oasis. . . not a movie but the Shrine convention in Miami and how assured of her beauty is she who is clad in creations from Sadye's!

Today was my first visit to her lovely First Street salon but I will not be my last.

Youth and elegance are subtly expressed in her offerings for late spring and early summer plus a most charming feature, that of moderate price.

I LOVE TREASURES

Went seeking for treasures today, you know those little trifles that one's friends back home so love, and I did find the loveliest storehouse of unusual novelties that I must tell you of my visit. At Millady's Shoppe on Magnolia Avenue I spent an hour or two over the bric-a-brac and rare objects, little novelties for the vanity, the desk and the table, bridge prizes and what not. . . you really should have been with me, that is, of course, if you love these tricks like I do!

I want to tell you about several things that attracted my particular attention. There were bridge prizes that I thought exceedingly cunning and priced extremely reasonable. Then too, I was much pleased with the Vanity Fair underwear displayed.

I unreservedly recommend this shop to you, dear readers, and I am sure you will be as greatly pleased with its contents as I.

By Laney's to get my last year's evening frock which I had sent there to be cleaned and I must say their work was miraculous.

The frock was of dark satin and soiled rather easily and appeared to be unfit for further wear. It cost a pretty penny and the material was of excellent quality so I decided to let Laney's try their hand at cleaning it.

It appeared like a brand new gown as it was carefully wrapped for me to carry and when I opened it up in my room I was amazed. . . fresh, spotless and with the same sheen of newness as if it had never been worn. Really dear readers, it was a revelation to me and opened my eyes to the wonderful possibilities for savings by having one's garments dry cleaned. Laney's phone number is 466 and they are located at 110 E. Second Street.

IT IS SELDOM WE SEE SOMETHING UNUSUAL

On my several visits to the business section, I have been very much impressed by the lovely, natural looking water so many of Sanford's charming women wear.

At first I thought perhaps these were northern visitors here for the winter but today after an introduction to a charming young matron, I inquired where she obtained her lovely permanent.

"At P. Paul's, in the First National Bank Building," she replied "they are moderate in their charges and their work is that of the expert and artist."

At Paul's expert work in every phase of beauty culture is done. Manicure, shampoo, hair dyeing, tinting and scalp treatments are obtainable at very reasonable rates. Visit Paul's at 605 First National Bank Bldg. or phone for an appointment.

I Learn

That purple is one of fashion's favorites in the realm of color today. Rich, subtle in silk materials for day and evening are also being worn. . . the afternoon dress is fast coming into its own as tailored, simple frocks are no longer sought for all hours of the day. . . new and Paris fashions for women for dress and evening wear.

Athletics Have Risen To Tie For Third Place; Were Bad Last One Week Before

NEW YORK, Apr. 26.—(INS)—Somebody has been feeding peanuts to those white elephants in Philadelphia again. A bad last in the American League race a week ago, the Athletics today are tied with St. Louis and Washington for third place.

Like the little gal in the nursery rhyme, Connie Mack's antics are world beaters when they are good, but when they are bad they are terrible. Just now they are obeying the commands of ringmaster Mack with amazing docility, having lost their last four games after losing that many at the start. They have lost only one more game than the league-leading Yankees.

Grandpa Ty Cobb was the whole works for the A's again yesterday. His double was converted into a run that gave Lefty Grove a 3 to 2 decision over Morris, Red Sox recruit.

With Pipgras on the mound, the Yankees kayped Firpo Marberry, slammed out fifteen hits and plastered Washington 12 to 4. The Yanks now have a clear title to first place, despite Cleveland's 7 to 3 victory over the St. Louis Browns.

While the American League race is gradually resolving itself into another solo dash by New York, six clubs are in the thick of the National League fight, New York and Brooklyn, piling up victories at the expense of veteran Boston and Philadelphia outfits, are forging ahead at present while the four evenly-matched Western clubs are cutting each other's throats.

Pinch hitter Henline's triple in the ninth against the Phillies, his former mates, resulted in a 3 to 2 triumph for Brooklyn. The Robins advanced to within a few points of the league-leading Giants, whose game with Boston was postponed because of wet grounds. The Giants have been rained or frozen out of playing six games.

Red Jucos outlasted three St. Louis pitchers as Cincinnati won from the Cardinals, 5 to 4, in seventeen innings, the longest National League game of the season. Pieinich's double decided the issue.

Burleigh Grimes of the Pirates whitewashed the Cubs, 10 to 0. Charley Root, Chicago's mound ace of last year who has been a total bust this season, was knocked out of the box and Wilson and English made five errors between them. Earl Whitehill's southpaw magic was too much for the White Sox, who lost to Detroit by a 3 to 2 score.

Rickard Will Be Required To Explain Assertion That He Could Appoint Referees

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service
Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Apr. 26.—Either tomorrow or at the next regular meeting on Tuesday, Tex Rickard will be hailed before the indignant state athletic commission and asked to explain the double bluff, or compound fracture, committed by himself and Jack Dempsey in connection with the allegation that referees and judges could be appointed for important fights at the whim of the promoter. Rickard's bone consisted of putting an idea like that on paper; Dempsey's of introducing it as part of the evidence in the Jack Kearns suit.

The nature of Rickard's explanation was forecast by the excuse he offered in an interview today. He declared, in effect, that he took this means of re-assuring the then champion, Perish the thought, said he, and that he would seriously intimate for a moment that the state athletic commission could be pushed around to suit his convenience to say nothing of his desires.

Just whether chairman James A. Farley will care for this explanation was a matter of some doubt today. He declined to comment on the matter in any way but left the inference that any action that seemed necessary to his colleagues, William Muldoon and George F. Brower, would find him lining up behind the decision exactly 101 per cent Fahrenheit. Brower probably will turn up absent, as customary, but the betting is that Muldoon will not like the explanation. It fact, the last man who caught William liking anything swooped in astonishment, and thereafter had to be treated very tenderly and I might add, very often.

The tip is that Farley will leave the disposal of the case strictly in Muldoon's hands, voting as he votes in the event that Mr. Brower makes a vote necessary by stepping out of character long enough to make an appearance at the meeting. Muldoon also is hiding out from interviews in order to avoid committing himself in advance.

However, the word is that Rickard's Madison Square Garden Club may be ruled off the turf for a period of two or three weeks or, to be more practical, two or three shows. The Starkey Delaney match on Monday hardly could be disturbed at the late hour and the May 4 date for Ted Morgan and Cannonball Martin already has been placed back on the calendar, while the night of May 11 has been especially set aside for the commission's own show, arranged for the benefit of a local hospital. These conditions make a proposed penalizing of Rickard rather difficult at this particular time, unless the boys care to go well into the future in order to toss out certain programs. Rickard has arranged. One of these would be the Champ Bill McLean lightweight champion and this fight was too hard to close in the first place to be kicked around recklessly now.

Yes, the boys really want to do something to Rickard. But will they do it?

SCHWARTZ TO FIGHT

NEW YORK, Apr. 26.—(INS)—"Busy Izzy" Schwartz, recognized as flyweight champion in New York state, plans to defend his title four times in six weeks. He meets Wee Willie Woods here on May 14 and hopes to land a match with Frankie Goetz, national boxing association flyweight champion on June 1. Schwartz is under contract to meet another opponent, not yet selected, here on June 11. He will then sail for England to meet Johnny Hill, English flyweight king.

LEWIS TO GRAPPLE

LOS ANGELES, Apr. 26.—(INS) Ed (Strangler) Lewis, World's heavyweight wrestling champion, will defend his title against Nick Lutze, Chicago grappler, here on May 2. The match has been sanctioned by the California Amateur Athletic Commission.

Martin Calls Upon Park Trammell To Clean Own Office

ST. AUGUSTINE, Apr. 26.—Calling on Senator Park Trammell to clean out the petty corruption in his own Washington office before asking reelection in this state, Gov. John W. Martin, candidate for U. S. Senate, spoke here to an audience which overflowed the court house last night.

The governor cited many instances in which Trammell's brother and other attaches of his office who have written the Senator for five hundred dollars from fifty appointments to West Point or Annapolis or for aid in such instances as the recent inheritance tax fight. He read a telegram which one of the recently deposited Republican postmasters had received at the time he was under Senatorial fire in which Lee Trammell, the Senator's brother and under secretary, made the following request: "I have an obligation in which my brother is indirectly concerned which unless paid immediately may cause undesirable publicity. Would you telegraph me care Park a three months loan of one hundred dollars. This is very urgent or would not presume to make request."

"If the Senator does not know of this condition he is indeed out of touch with conditions in his own office. The mayors of two cities in the past week have told me of receiving requests for loans from the same source, one following an application for a West Point appointment and the other after the Senator had been asked to take part in the inheritance tax fight. One man who had requested some seeds and plants for a city park was approached for a loan of fifty dollars. It seems to me that if the Senator would clean out his own house, he would have less time to look for flaws in my administration."

The Governor will speak at a home coming celebration for him in Jacksonville tonight when he will make his first Senatorial campaign speech in the city he served three terms as mayor.

HOPE LEADS

CHICAGO, Apr. 26.—(INS) Willie Hoppe was still out in front today in his 600 point exhibition match with Johnny Layton, of St. Louis, master of the cushion billiard. Hoppe won both blacks yesterday, taking the afternoon affair 50 to 29, in 38 innings, and evening game 50 to 42, in 12 innings. Hoppe is now leading, 300 to 280.

TAMPA—Building permits issued here in March showed increase of more than $300,000 over those of February.

TRIAL OF LAKE IN FIFTH CASE NEARS FINISH

an audit had been made of his account. He told the same story of never having looked at his monthly statement's one of which would have revealed to him the transaction. Tom Palmer and W. B. Dickenson were on their feet constantly during the taking of testimony making objections, most of which were overruled by Judge DeWitt T. Gray. At the conclusion of the state's case, Palmer entered a motion for a directed verdict on the ground the state had not proved the charges made in the indictment. Judge Gray denied the motion.

Attorneys for the state and defense and Judge Gray clashed in verbal tilts several times. This morning during the concluding portion of Tom L. Farris, associate prosecutor's argument, Palmer jumped to his feet and interrupted Farris with a charge that Farris was misquoting the testimony. A ten minute wrangle between state and defense ensued with the court finally ignoring Palmer's objections.

Lake was the only witness placed on the stand by the defense. His testimony disagreed with Deane's on the statement that he (Lake) had ordered the transfer of the $25,000. During his cross-examination by Farris he several times appeared to be angry and several times he stammered slightly in answering questions.

Another tilt with Judge Gray injecting comments between the attorneys arguments occurred last night over whether or not the City of Sanford, Common Account was the property of the bank or the city. The defense finally lost the point. The jury was sent from the court room several times during the taking of evidence yesterday afternoon and last night while the lawyers argued some point before Judge Gray.

The state introduced three witnesses: R. C. Phillips, who identified several of the records later placed in evidence, A. R. Key, former vice president and cashier of the bank, who identified some of the records he had taken from the bank when it closed, and Deane.

Contrary to general expectation, Key, who has been the star witness in the last two cases, was not called upon to furnish any case. Several of the records taken from the bank, however, were discrepancies and illegal transactions in the conduct of the bank. In that letter Amos, he said, showed he knew Lake owned the bank $127,000, a sum in excess of the 10 percent of the capital stock and surplus of $125,000 permitted by law. The letters showed Amos knew other officers had borrowed in excess of the legal limits and that employees then owed the bank $11,000 unsecured by security.

Oppa Law Violation
There was an open and notorious violation of your state banking laws," said Stewart. He said similar letters were written to a president in Palm Beach where the president owned $400,000, and a bank in Homestead. Both Stewart declared, were insolvent at the time as was the Semipole County Bank. All were later forced to close.

These facts, Stewart charges, show that Ernest Amos has not been loyal to his oath of office. He read a statement issued by the Duval County grand jury scolding the controller for failing to close the Homestead bank and expressing regret that Amos apparently was immune to criminal prosecution.

"Busted banks have cast a shadow on the State of Florida that it will require years to outlive," said Stewart. "Tourists have lost confidence in the banks of the state. They are withholding their deposits from local banks and using travelers' checks or foreign money orders. It is time to restore the tourists' confidence in the banks of the state and let the people of Florida benefit from all that money which should be deposited each winter."

"If you think it is time to make a change, I ask you," Stewart concluded, "to get your ballot for me on June 5."
Stewart has been state representative, a county judge for two terms and in 1926 was elected a member of the state senate. His platform is strict enforcement of the state's banking laws.

WEST PALM BEACH—Several hundred thousand dollars will be spent here on civic improvement projects.

Mostly important evidence in this case will be put to help prove it.

RIVER BOAT ARRIVES

The Forrest Queen, St. John's River boat to be put in service here on a passenger schedule next week, arrived in Sanford today on a trial run preceding an inspection by the state navigation department. The vessel is owned by Capt. E. H. Deakney and piloted by Capt. C. C. Howard. It will make daylight trips of 14 or 15 hours between here and Jacksonville stopping at DeLand and Palatka. The boat is 100 feet long and can carry 200 passengers on a daylight run. No night runs will be made because of lack of sleeping quarters.

ANNOUNCES ADDRESS

"The Fruits of Vital Religion" will be the subject of the evangelistic address to be given tonight at the First Methodist Church by Dr. Luther Bridgers, the Rev. W. P. Rahrman, pastor of the church, announced today. The services were started by Dr. Bridgers with a sermon delivered Sunday morning. According to the pastor of the church, the attendance at the meetings is increasing daily.

Overtake the "72"?

... well, hardly!

If CHRYSLER "72" were merely more beautiful—if it were just an average good value—it would deserve no special consideration from the buyer.

they to the "72" today? No closer than they were three years ago. As they have struggled to approach, Chrysler "72" has pulled away and gallops around and past them with more than the ease of the old original Chrysler sensation-car of 1924.

But it clamors for his consideration and demands his attention by reason of a gauge and proof of greater value which cannot be escaped. All cars today seek to approximate Chrysler "72" performance by patterning after Chrysler engineering. But after three years of striving, how close are they to the "72" today? There simply cannot be a valid reason for paying as much or more for any car other than the "72."

Illustrations New Chrysler "72" Prices—Two-passenger Coupe (with rumble seat), $1545; Royal Sedan, $1595; Sport Roadster (with rumble seat), $1595; Four-passenger Coupe, $1795; Town Sedan, $1695; Convertible Coupe (with rumble seat), $1745; Crown Sedan, $1795. All prices f. o. b. Detroit, subject to current Federal excise tax. Chrysler dealers are in a position to extend the convenience of time payments.

New Chrysler "Red-Head" Engine—designed to take full advantage of high-compression gas, standard equipment on all body models of the 112 h. p. Imperial '28, also standard on the roadsters and available at slight extra cost for other body types, of the "62" and "72."
