

Nine Filipinos Are Killed In Flaring Election Violence

MANILA, Nov. 13—(AP)—Nine Filipinos were killed in flaring election violence today.

A total of 104 have been killed since mid-September when campaigning started for the election of nine senators, all provincial governors and municipal officials.

More than 66,000 army regulars and reserves joined police in guarding against attempts by Communist-led Huk rebels to keep voters from the polls. Clashes between troops and Huk broke out in widely scattered spots on Luzon, main island of the Philippines.

Rivalry between candidates and political factions contributed to the gunplay.

Heavy balloting was reported in Manila, which is electing its mayor for the first time. Heretofore Manila's mayor has been appointed.

Few reports were received from other islands. Only scattered returns were expected before midnight (11 A. M. EST).

Dr. Jose P. Laurel, puppet president during the Japanese occupation, was generally conceded election to the senate. Laurel is leader of the anti-administration Nacionalista party. He charged the administration of President Elpidio Quirino, who defeated him in the 1949 presidential election, is wasteful and corrupt.

Huk raids delayed balloting by the 4,500,000 registered voters at spots. The Huk had warned voters to stay away from the polls or face death.

In Laguna province raiding Huk burned three bridges near Calamba. At one point temporary bridges had to be built before poll inspectors and clerks could reach their posts. Voting there started at noon.

An army patrol caught a Huk hand attempting to block a highway at another point in the province. The army said two Huk were killed.

Earlier, Huk attempted to raid Altaga in Nueva Ecija province. One was killed and three wounded. Another Huk raiding party lost one man at Quizon town in a fight with troops.

Troops in armored cars patrolled the Manila suburbs of Caloocan, Makati and Malabon to guard against interference with voters.

Quirino said "every precaution" was taken to insure orderly voting and warned:

"We must not be influenced by the violent political rabble that usually infects our body politic."

Clashes between politicians and their supporters were blamed for about half the deaths. The rest came in fights between Huk and troops.

and may get the City in a law suit.

"If the City determines to go ahead with the terminal project," he added, "I favor a referendum first because the results of the recent City election indicated that this is what the citizens want."

Mr. Carraway pointed out that Commissioner elect John Kader was also present at the meeting and expressed himself as being in favor of the resolution.

Mr. Stemper today declared, "I introduced the resolution because I felt that by the recent election the people indicated that they were opposed to this method of financing, and also if it is decided to go ahead with the port terminal, the people have indicated that they want a voice in it."

"I also feel," he added, "that this resolution will place the City in the best position to negotiate with the bonding firms."

Mr. Chase could not be reached for comment on the resolution this morning, but at the meeting last night, and during the long discussion preceding the vote, he indicated that he was strongly in favor of the action. When Mr. Chase was seated as a commissioner again, he was cordially welcomed by the other commissioners, by City Manager Clifford McKelvin, City Clerk H. N. Sawyer and A. Edwin Shihobler, City attorney.

The resolution in full is as follows:

"A resolution of the City Commission of the City of Sanford, Florida, providing that the Port Terminal and Parking Meter Revenue Bonds of the City of Sanford, Florida, be approved by the qualified electors of the City of Sanford, Florida, on the 29th day of January, 1951, provision was made for the financing and construction of a Port Terminal by the City of Sanford, Florida, and for the issuance of Port Terminal and Parking Meter Revenue Bonds by the City in the sum of $250,000 for the payment of which the net revenues of said project and the City were pledged, and:

"Whereas, Paragraph 16 of Article IV of said resolution 700 purported to confirm the sale of the aforesaid bonds to L. H. Ghorntley and Co., Fisher Hawes and Co., of Knoxville, Tenn., at the price of $826,655, plus accrued interest, and

"Whereas, in the recent election for three City Commissioners by the qualified electors of the City the method of financing the construction of said Port Terminal was made an issue and the president of American President Lines, Inc., were adjudged in contempt by the U.S. Court of Appeals here last spring.

The ruling grew out of their refusal to give up government control of more than 2,000,000 shares of APL stock.

The court also ruled that drugs illegally seized from a hotel room could not be used as evidence against their owner, even though he admitted the narcotics belonged to him.

Justice Clark delivered the 6-3 decision involving the seizure of 19 bottles of cocaine and one bottle of codeine by police. They searched the room of two Negro women in the Dunbar hotel here without a warrant. Chief Justice Vinson and Justice Reed dissented. Justice Minton took no part.

Police Continue Frantic Hunt For Three Small Boys

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 13—(AP)—A frantic hunt for three small boys, missing since Saturday, today overshadowed the workday pursuits of the more than half a million Minneapolis residents.

Kenneth Klein Jr., 8, and his two brothers, David, 6, and Daniel, 4, simply dropped from sight, leaving only wraithlike traces.

The boys left their northside home Saturday afternoon to play in a park four blocks away. The Mississippi River is only a short distance beyond.

Klein's father, called police when they didn't come home Saturday night. A routine notice was radioed to squad cars. No results.

Police chief Tom Jones Sunday called out 100 civil defense auxiliary police to aid his reserves in one of the city's greatest manhunts. The volunteers combed the area for miles around the Klein home. They searched alleys, rang doorbells, found nothing.

One resident reported seeing three small boys resembling Kenneth, David and Daniel sitting on a curbstone late Saturday. A tracking dog was taken to the spot. The dog followed a trail to the river bank. There the scent stopped.

Police cars carrying loud speakers patrolled the fringes of swampland to scare the boys' names. No answer.

Squads plodded through warehouses of the river industrial district. Hollow echoes answered the flashlight beams. Truck parts were also scanned to no avail.

Yesterday, three civil air patrol planes wheeled over the Mississippi but again no clues to Kenneth, David and Daniel. A police launch towing dragnets turned up only waterlogged wood.

"It just doesn't seem reasonable that those youngsters could disappear in the midst of thousands of people," said Chief Jones. "It isn't in the books, either, that all three of them would tumble into the river together. But that's what it look like now."

The current at the spot reached by the dogs is very swift, he pointed out. "It would carry 'em away awful quick."

Capt. Kenneth Morre of the northside police, said he wasn't getting up-yeet. He has ordered a box car by box car search of nearby railroad yards. And he planned an alert to rail men for the controversial Civil Rights issue and the plank calling for National Health Insurance—described by Byrnes as "Socialized Medicine."

Byrnes—who was once President Truman's Secretary of State—said he did not believe there would be a "Solid South" in next year's general election. "We have a doubtful South," he said.

Byrnes doesn't believe that Southern Democrats should support whoever is nominated merely because failure to do so might mean the loss of key committee positions in Congress.

Rayburn had argued a Southern revolt would lead to a Republican victory and the loss of committee chairmanships now held by many Southerners.

He insisted that Southerners—by acting together—never will have to go to anybody with "hat in hand." Instead, he said, "a lot of people will have to go to them" because Congress can't be organized without the South.

Rayburn came to the conference with a look at cars pulled from the yards for butting trains.

The motorboat and the draglines were ordered back onto the river today.

Gov. McElwain Issues Statement

Gov. McElwain later issued a statement saying he had been amazed "at the sneering of former President Hoover, an outstanding citizen of the United States."

He said his amusement turned to "anger and disgust when Mr. Rayburn brought the discussion down to a ward politician's plan of who is going to lose what job if the Truman party is defeated."

Rayburn had argued that a Dixie revolt would lead to the defeat of the Democratic presidential candidate—and would be a blow to the South's prestige in Congress.

The House Speaker said the South would lose important committee chairmanships now held by Southerners.

Until Rayburn's speech, the conference officially had been a discussion of state problems on education, highways and public welfare. Politics was present but in the background.

Gov. Herman Talmadge of Georgia, another foe of the President, had told reporters the anti-Truman forces could organize a revolt within 48 hours. But, he added, no such drives would be launched at this conference.

On the other hand, pro-Truman forces made it clear they would challenge any move by States' Rights Democrats to split the South in next year's election.

New Customers Keep Iceman Just As Busy As He Was 30 Years Ago

NEW YORK (Nov. 12—AP)—The iceman is still delivering just as much ice—35 million tons annually—as he did 30 years ago. And this, in the face of the sale of four million mechanical refrigerators annually in recent years.

Members of the National Association of Ice Industries, meeting this week in Houston, Texas, say they have found new customer in industry to replace the ones they lost in the homes.

They add they have been able to keep some of the old customers by new methods, new equipment and new services. The association says there are more than 10 million ice boxes still in use in the homes. And more than 6,000 ice companies serve the nation.

The ice men's meeting in Texas follows by one week the Chicago meeting of their rivals—the all-Industry refrigeration and air conditioning exposition with the latest in mechanical freezing and cooling.

But the ice man is not down hearted. His association reports it's going after still another big market through "hydro-cooling" of produce, developed by research it sponsored. Thousands of tons of ice are needed, the association predicts.

Hydro-cooling means plunging sweet corn, cherries, celery, lettuce, peaches, beans and other produce into an ice water bath immediately after harvesting, to remove the field heat and arrest maturity. This improves the condition of the fruit and vegetables, says the association. It is also trying to induce more food stores to display produce on ice beds, to keep them at their freshest.

About a third of the ice produced each year goes into railroad refrigerator cars and many refrigerated trucks. The seafood industry uses some six million tons a year for this highly perishable food.

Ice also plays a part in the manufacture of many articles. The association lists chocolate, cigars, ice cream, liquors, drugs, varnishes, paints, explosives, sausage, film and glue.

The iceman got quite a jolt thirty years ago, when the mechanical refrigerator began to sell in volume. Some ice companies were rocked back on their heels. But others set out to save their imperiled business.

Manufacturers changed the old ice box into a streamline, air-conditioned ice refrigerator, better insulated to use less ice, and draining directly into the plumbing to get rid of the greatest nuisance of all—the drip pan that father always forgot to empty in time.

Then the ice companies studied their customers' desires and came up with new methods. Trucks were spruced up and ice rontenmen put into uniform. Companies began to supply packages of ice cubes, crushed ice, or "iced" ice, as well as cake ice. In many cities automatic ice vending machines were set up.

The all-time peak of ice sales came in 1930 with 56 million tons, followed by a dip during the de-

Hints to Housewives

Thanksgiving comes next Thursday, nearly all of the essentials for a tip-top delicious Thanksgiving feast are produced right here in the Sunshine State.

The ice man says he's determined not to go the way of the buggy whip maker.

Golden orange juice cocktail. Tender roast turkey, hen, or duck. Giblet gravy. Cranberry relish, served in orange or satsuma cups. Flattopome baked or glazed sweet potatoes. Green beans or broccoli. Golden brown hot corn sticks. Stippled pineapple slices. Celery, crunchy carrot sticks, celery, and radishes. Citrus salad with snappy French dressing. Sweet potato or pumpkin pie. Coffee or milk.

All of these good things, except coffee, and cranberries, are produced in Florida. Such a menu not only is as tempting as can be, but it's also well balanced and highly nutritious. Florida farmers may well be proud of the fine foods they produce, and Florida homemakers will do well to use them for their Thanksgiving dinners and at other times.

to rule on the case now explained in a brief order that it did so because there has been no final judgment. The order noted that Justices Black and Douglas favored hearing the case now.

The Supreme Court in recent decisions has said states must admit Negroes to their white universities if they have not provided substantially equal facilities at Negro schools. It also has declared that Negroes in state universities may not be segregated from white students.

The Negroes who sought admission to the University of Florida, and the courses they desire are: Gil Hawkins and William T. Lewis, law; Rose Boyd, pharmacy; Oliver Mazyx, chemical engineering; Benjamin Finley, agriculture.

In other actions today the Supreme Court agreed to rule on the contempt of court finding against Secretary of Commerce Sawyer and eight other persons in a multi-million dollar steamship case.

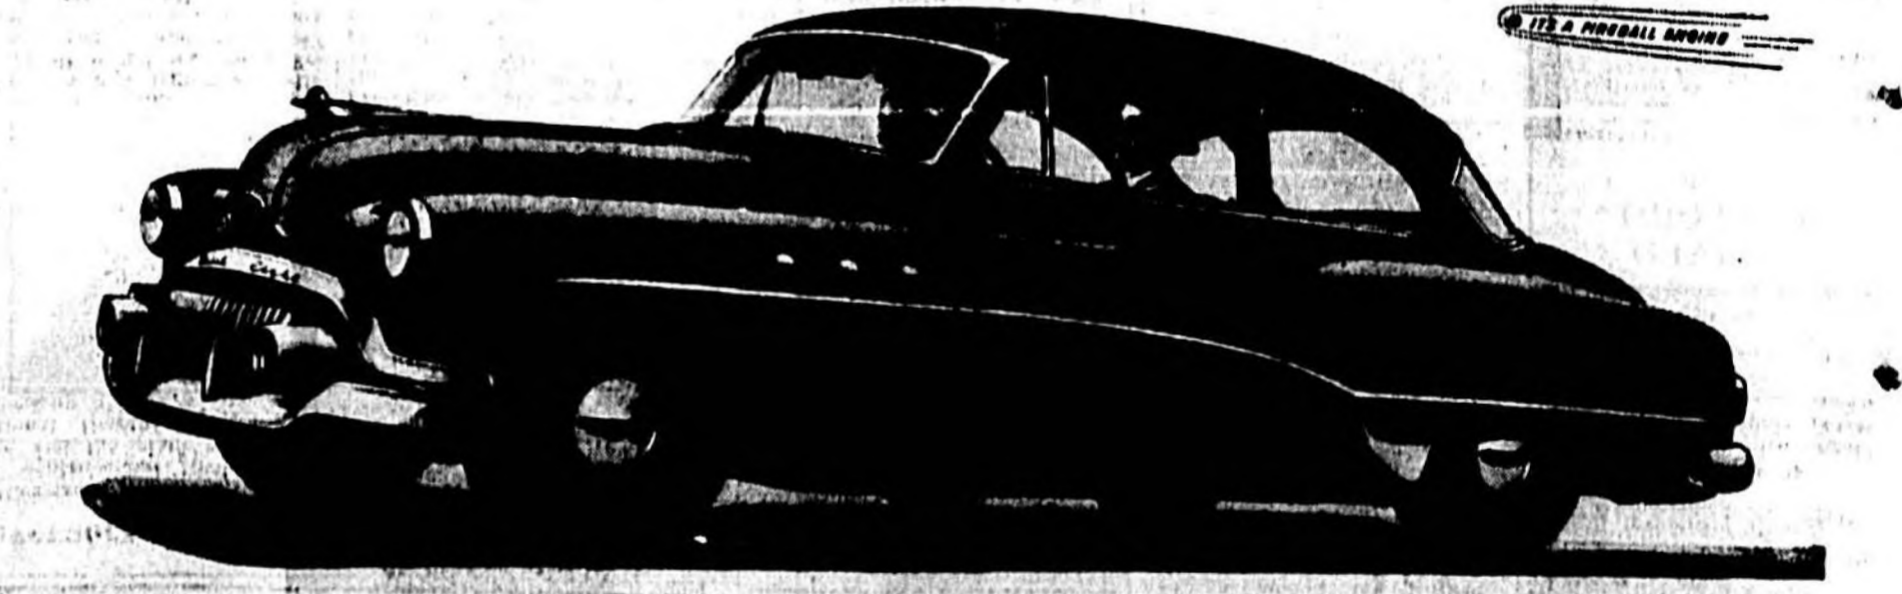

Sawyer, seven other government officials and George L. Killion,

WEDNESDAY, Nov. 14, 1951

Did you see that picture of Harry Truman in the paper last night. Boy! Is he a sport?

Talking back doesn't usually help a person to get ahead, and neither does submissive silence.

We don't suppose it would do any good, but we hope if Churchill goes through with his plan to see Joe Stalin, he will tell him what he thinks of him.

Chronic sleeplessness involves a great waste of brain energy, says an educator. He should know that at least as much brain power is lost by the opposite malady of sleeping at the wrong time.

The average annual soap consumption in the United States is estimated at more than twenty-six pounds for each person.

When fretting over the prospect of winter's cold, give a thought to the people in England, who are facing it with a troublesome coal shortage.

Hunger is driving the world toward revolution and war, says Norris Dodd of the United Nations FAO (Food and Agriculture Organization).

There are so many generals in Washington these days that Rep. Lyndon Johnson of Texas says we are in danger of becoming a nation of "all chiefs and no Indians."

About half of 322 students among the 10,000 enrolled at Cornell University admit cheating on examinations. The same situation probably prevails at most institutions of higher learning.

Rep. Sam Rayburn of Texas calls for "party loyalty" in an effort to influence Southern Democrats to remain true to Harry Truman and the Democratic platform.

Rep. Sam Rayburn of Texas calls for "party loyalty" in an effort to influence Southern Democrats to remain true to Harry Truman and the Democratic platform.

Middle East Defense

The announcement of a Middle East Defense Command presumably has a double purpose. It is doubtless intended to bolster Turkey against the pressure of Russia, recently renewed, for a share in the control of the Dardanelles, gateway to the Black Sea.

The matter of the Dardanelles is important. Russia has always coveted the passageway, as it is the outlet for the river shipping of much of European Russia and for the Danube Basin as well.

Middle Eastern co-operation in our defense plans is becoming equally important. The trouble at Suez has threatened the shipping routes to India. The trouble in Iran has cut off an important source of oil and created the peril of a new war.

The statement of Abdul Rahman Azzam Pasha, secretary-general of the Arab League, deserves close attention. He says that Arabs will co-operate in the defense of the area only if their national aspirations are safeguarded and if the voice of the Arab League is heard with respect.

Seeing Things

A series of psychology studies leads Dr. Theron Alexander of Florida State University to conclude that no two persons see things in their environment the same way.

If Dr. Alexander's theory is correct, it could explain a lot of things. It is not often that two persons look at a piece of cloth with the result that one finds it to be white and the other black.

It would be too much to expect that the psychologists might ever work out a plan for making people see things alike. The world would be much less interesting if they did.

New Trends In Trade

Not many years ago no one would have thought of importing steel from Europe for use in a steel-producing region of America. Now it is different.

The United States is not the only nation which finds it necessary, these days, to revise some of the old ideas about imports and exports.

The needs for vast quantities of materials to build defenses, and in Europe to repair the damage of the last war, are changing some of the paths of trade which have endured for so long that they have been regarded as permanent.

Korean War

Communists' negotiators challenged the Allies today to agree to a cease-fire line in Korea north or south of the 38th parallel.

He said the challenge was made by Gillies Maj. Gen. Heeh Pang, member of the Red's two-man subcommittee.

Heeh's challenge came during a wrangle over whether a military demarcation line and buffer zone shall be established now, as the Reds insist, or whether the question shall be postponed until after armistice negotiations are settled.

Heeh called this "fantastic talk." "It is in the course you choose to follow," he said, "that you win or lose."

Sanford Forum

Editor of the Herald: Mrs. Gretchen Lewis Crowell wishes to express her thanks to The Sanford Herald, Station WTRR and the Women's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church, and also to the Sanford artists in helping to make the Silver Tea and Art Exhibit a success, which was held at McKinley Hall on Nov. 8 and 9th.

The exhibit is held annually in November, celebrating National Art Month to create interest in art among Sanford people and throughout Central Florida.

Photographers who entered photographs were: R. Fred Kiskner and Willy Conolly.

Very truly yours, Gretchen Lewis Crowell

Letter to the Editor: Dear Sir,

With the tragedy before us of the killing of the Lake county Negro of a few days ago, and the world wide publicity it received, makes decent people fear to express their own feelings.

But the fact remains that the laws of a number of the states make the punishment for the killing of a Negro, death.

When a man commits a crime, knowing it is against nature and the laws of the land, he takes his life in his own hands.

Adams Announces

are civilians or officers of the law.

Respectfully, Rev. B. W. Miller Sanford, Fla.

(Continued From Page One) he said. "Until such time as you receive a listing of contributors, you will know all expenses continue to be borne by Alto Adams, personally."

Adams' announcement was no surprise. His candidacy has been taken for granted in political circles since he resigned from the Supreme Court last month.

He is the sixth announced candidate. The others are Bill Henderson of Tallahassee, Dan McCarthy of Fort Pierce, J. Braley Odham of Sanford, Dald E. Spencer of Kissimmee and Bruce Stevens of Tampa.

Adams, 52 years old, is a native of Walton county in West Florida. He moved to Fort Pierce after graduation from the University of Florida Law School and built a substantial real estate and farming enterprise while practicing law.

He continued to operate his agricultural enterprises after 13 years as a judge—two on the circuit court and 11 on the Supreme Court.

The expenses listed by Adams in his letter to the Secretary of State were for printing $267.90, travel $706.40, office supplies $194.00, the higher $199.30, postage $82.78, clipping service $28.30, drayage $6.18, and "miscellaneous expenses (groceries, etc.) $35."

"Perhaps such a report is not required under the law, however, as a matter of principle, I feel it too should be a part of the public record," he told the Secretary of State.

NEWSMEN'S TRIAL: LAKE CHARLES, La., Nov. 14 (AP)—Five Lake Charles newsmen filed motions today to quash indictments accusing them of defaming 16 public officials and three admitted gamblers during an anti-gambling crusade.

Defense Attorney Clement Moss filed motions to quash all the indictments and demurrers in two of the cases.

Judge J. Bernard Cooke said he would hear arguments on the motions next Monday.

Eleven Orphans

The court's decision came down after about an hour and a half's consultation in which the participants included the two eldest children, Gerard, 15, and Beverly Ann, 13.

Elsewhere in the county building a tense group of others waited, among them Mr. and Mrs. John Donald Babbs, the Pittsburgh couple who want to adopt all the children.

The well-to-do Babbs spent last night with the children at their home in Leonard, a small town 25 miles from here.

It was a private meeting. None others had known of it. The Babbs wanted it that way.

They were adaptable. We got along fine, said motherly Mrs. Babbs.

The Babbs had driven here hastily to make their adoption proposal in person. But their success was uncertain at best.

Bill today Beverly Ann and Gerard were instant on staying at home. Presumably they told their feelings to Judge Moore.

They felt that way even after the Babbs, themselves parents of three children, had faithfully proposed Beverly Ann and Gerard "mother and father would like."

The orphans lost their own parents, Murray Moore, 36, and Mary Jean, 33, in a collision of the family car early Saturday with an auto carrying a group of beer-drinking teenagers. Four of the five teenagers also were killed.

Judge Moore, no relative of the orphans, began his session some time before noon.

Consulting with him, in addition to the two children, were the maternal grandparent, Charles Moore, 72, of Royal Oak, and his wife, Stella Mae, 47, and the paternal grandfather, William J. Moore, about 65, also of Royal Oak.

As the Babbs waited to talk further with the children, an uncle, Richard Moss of Royal Oak, indicated he might oppose the Pittsburghers' adoption proposal.

"We want the children to stay with us," Moss said. "We're their only relatives."

Babbs, a prosperous broker, and his wife disclosed their visit with the children at the county building today.

Dead Woman Comes Alive In Morgue

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14 (AP)—Flabbergasted physicians today predicted the complete recovery of Theresa Butler, 60-year-old widow pronounced dead and sent to the morgue six days ago.

Mrs. Butler abruptly came out of a five-day coma yesterday, talked coherently and recognized her daughter, and Dr. J. C. Geiger, city-county public health director.

"From all medical information now possible, Mrs. Butler will probably fully recover," Geiger said after consulting with attending physicians and the daughter, Betty Butler.

Last Thursday, a doctor pronounced Mrs. Butler dead, presumably from an overdose of sleeping pills. But at the morgue a startled attendant heard a gasp and saw her jaw twitch. She was rushed to a hospital.

COP Candidate

Later, he said he will sketch his opinions on what the Republican platform should stand for when he addresses the state GOP central committee in San Diego Friday.

Pakistan's Foreign Minister Sir Mohammed Zafullah Khan delivered a slashing attack on what he called "the assumed superiority of those who choose to describe themselves as the white races, over those whom they regard as the non-white races."

This assumed superiority, he said, found its most familiar expression in colonialism, which Sir Zafullah called "the biggest political problem of the day."

SEMINOLE HI BY BEVERLY GRAY

Homecoming!!! This weekend is going to be one of the biggest and best in S.H.S. history! And naturally that's because it's going to be Homecoming. Homecoming will really begin the night before the sixteenth when there will be a huge bonfire and pep rally. By the way, the Freshmen are providing the wood for this. The Pep Squad will have charge of the whole thing. The cheerleaders have something brand new that they will wear for the first time that night. Of course by now everyone has heard about their new short skirts. This is really a dream come true for them, because they've wanted these for ages and ages, and now they've got them. The skirts are orange and black with black balls around the hem and they'll also wear the balls around the ankles. There'll be feathers on their heads, too, and sweaters and moccasins will complete the idea. Sure sounds swell, huh? Beginning the big day with a bang is the Chapel program. Debutantes will be crowned and we hope to have an alumni speak and other alumni provide a skit. The sponsors and football boys will be on the stage, too. Following this is a pep meeting. The Homecoming parade will begin at 4:00 o'clock. We hope there will be a lot of floats in it, at least 25. The route has not been officially charted yet. There will be five judges for the contest and they are not for sure right now. There's really going to be a big prize though. The first place and another for second. However, there's supposed to be a secret. Looks like everything is a secret, huh? But the main thing on the Homecoming weekend is the game. The Celery Feels will meet the Seaboard Sand Crabs at 8:00 P.M. This is one game that we're not hoping we'll win, 'cause we know we will! Come on out and watch 'em play. The best game of the year, you won't want to miss. Our team really looks good. You're bound to watch them play a grand game. Let's hope it'll be as good as last Friday's which incidentally, was one of the best ever! The Celery Feels won 28 to 7. Can you beat that? And they'll do the same, if not better, Friday night. Be there to cheer for them! During the half there will be another surprise for you! The Band and Pep Club will present a 12 minute show, that really is something! It's going to be real cute. But what is going to knock your eye out, is the Homecoming Dance! Wow! You may think that the school sym isn't a very good place for the dance, but when you see this all decorated cabaret style, with bands of bamboo to just cover every inch of the walls, and you hear that gorgeous music by Howard Lyster's orchestra (from Sanford), see those rows of tables like something from the Stock Club, you'll really see what we mean. There is just loads of work being put into this and the price is only going to be 75 cents, stay or drag! You're not even going to be able to tell it is the gym! But come on out and see for yourself! Don't miss it! You won't believe that the food show has another surprise feature! And it's going to be good. Also on the show will be Jerrill Covington and Gretchen Kirchoff, doing a song and dance entitled "Ball in the Jack" and Edwin Tison is going to sing for us. No one can miss not hearing

C Of C Meeting

(Continued from Page One) meeting of the C of C held at the State Hotel Department for the purpose of constructing a toll highway, and recommending that efforts be made to secure the support of the chambers of commerce and county commissions in neighboring counties in furthering this project. Speaking for the industrial committee Henry Simpson pointed out the difficulty encountered in trying to find suitable locations, especially buildings, for new industries and stressing the importance of developing water facilities at Sanford, and asked the Chamber of Commerce plans to do toward effectuating this project. President Hall explained that on account of production costs, the steel shortage and other reasons little could be done about it at the present time. President Hall pointed out the growth that is taking place in the community of Delray on the north of Sanford and at Casselberry on the south and said that the people of these towns are disposed to trade in Sanford. He recommended that the City should do everything it can to welcome them here and provide them with entertainment features. Kaylie Housholder reported for the Naval Affairs Committee and revealed that plans have been completed for the new tourist building costing about $7,000 with arrangements made for additions later, and said it is expected to be completed in February. City Manager McKibbin reported on the Florida Wildlife Association meeting in Daytona Beach which was attended by about 25 representatives of various groups. He said that most of the discussion revolved around the proposed St. Johns Indian Game Land and said that it was conceived as a controlled project rather than as a game preserve. The discussion seemed to favor the plan and that many engineers reported that no funds were available and no definite plans had yet been made. President Hall pointed out that it would be impossible to get an appropriation for such a project at the present time. Treasurer James L. Ingley presented the annual audit of the Chamber of Commerce revealing that receipts for the year ending Sept. 30, 1951 were $25,223.36 and the disbursements were $25,193.08 leaving a net balance of $243.89. He also revealed that actual expenditures had been within $100 of the budgetary estimates. Manager Breckenridge and Mr. Simpson were authorized to attend a meeting of the State Chamber of Commerce in West Palm Beach on Nov. 18, 19, 20 as representatives of the Seminole County group and seeing all these surprises! So join in Homecoming! Title Ideas The annual S.H.S. recognize themselves by the pictures that will decorate the walls of the gym 7:27? Be seen! yu!

Louisiana Works To Get Offense Clicking For Mississippi State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ball handling and blocking were emphasized during Louisiana state's drills yesterday as the Tigers worked to get their offense clicking for Saturday's tilt with Mississippi State.

Coach Gaynell Tinsley kept the boys busy against the "B" squad for two hours. He said he thinks popping up the Tigers' blocking will take some of the kinks out of their offense.

Mississippi State, meanwhile, was undergoing a backfield shuffle because of injuries. Pete Polovina, a reserve right half, was shifted to the other side of the backfield and likely will start against LSU. Regular Fullback Bill Stewart is slated for double duty, relieving Wally Beach, at right half part of the time. Tom Bushing probably will alternate as fullback and left half.

Coach Henry Friska was having injury trouble at Tulane, too. He figures to replace regulars Art Kleinewich, Mike McLean and Tom Brown with Charlie Channing, Bill Spollen, Charlie Cones, Alfred Robelet and Ray Thompson.

The Greenies' opponent, Vanderbilt, divided time between offense and defense with its tact work. Guard John Chandle is lost for the Tulane affair and Freshman John Hall, a standout at guard, is a doubtful starter.

Auburn backs Herman Howard and Robert Duke were the stars in a rough scrimmage propping for Georgia. Each scored on a long run and Coach Ralph Jordan said they would see plenty of action against the Bulldogs in Columbus.

Jordan also had a good word for offensive backs Bobby Freeman and Jackie Creel, Guard Ed Duran and Tackle Joe Tibural. Georgia is counting on the running of Fullback Dick Haber to take some of the offensive load from Zeke Bratkowski and his passing. Haber is the Bulldog's top ground gainer with an average of 3 1/2 yards for 78 rushes.

Also making a good showing in workouts in Vernon Griffiths, offensive guard who coaches says is one of Georgia's most improved linemen.

Alabama went behind, locked gates to continue to sharpen up for Georgia Tech. Bilbo Melton did a good job on offense wearing plastic mask over the jaw he broke in the Tennessee game three weeks ago.

A standout performer for the Tide was Freshman End Jerry Lambert, a defensive specialist who made numerous tackles and broke up several passes.

Tech steered clear of rough work, boning up on plays they expect Alabama to use Saturday. Quarterback Darrell Crawford led the team in contact work this week because of the terrific pounding he took from Virginia Wilbur last Saturday. Tech's only doubtful for the "Bama game is Larry Huffin, who sprained an ankle against VMI.

Florida's Haywood Sullivan spent more than an hour in passing practice, getting the Gators aerial game in shape for Miami, which is near the top in the country in pass defense.

The first string defensive squad was very effective in stopping Miami plays executed by the "B" team. The Gators hope to be able to contain the passing efforts of Miami's Rack Hackett and Frank Smith.

Tennessee went all out against Gators To Work On Offense For Tilt With Miami

GAINESVILLE, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Instead of planning a defense to stop one of the nation's top passers, Florida's Gators this week are working on their own aerial offense for use against one of the nation's top pass-defensive teams, Miami.

The Gators met the Hurricanes in Miami's homecoming game Saturday night. A sellout crowd of 60,000 fans is expected to see the 18th game of the season that began in 1928.

During this season Florida has not been able to cope with five of the nation's top 20 aerialists. They have lost ten games to teams coached by Darrell Crawford, Kenyon Cox, Babe Parilli, and George Beckwith.

Many Colleges Ready To Follow Yale's Example

Big Colleges Cagey About Plans For Spring Football

By WILL GRIMSLEY
NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Many of the nation's major colleges were ready today to follow Yale's example of dropping spring football, but they were playing it easy—they wanted assurances it be done on a national scale.

An attitude of watchful waiting generally followed the report that university presidents, alarmed over the future of the sport, were contemplating reforms likely to affect spring practice, bowl games and the two-planet system.

Yale University, one of the ivy-covered institutions that helped give birth to American football, announced yesterday that the Eli would drop spring practice, beginning in 1935.

Smaller colleges such as Williams, Wesleyan and Amherst already had taken such action. Yale was the first of the big ones.

Others had talked about it, such as the 17-member Southern Conference and the nine-member Pacific Coast. They recommended to enter the ring at the Olympic Auditorium tonight to battle for the world lightweight title.

Carter, the 27-year-old Negro who blasted Ike Williams out of the title by a 14-round knockout in New York last May 25, is a slight betting favorite in his first defense of the crown.

Aragon, 24-year-old Mexican who reveals in the nickname of "Golden Boy," was given a split decision over Carter in a 10-round non-title match here Aug. 28.

Bama's touchdowns on passes in the triumph over Georgia. And he talked twice against Mississippi-Southern last week, once on a 58-yard run.

Bilbo Melton, the 162-pound specialist whose jaw was broken on the opening play against Tennessee four weeks ago, will be available for spot duty. He tried out a special plastic mask against Southern briefly last week. And he showed himself ready for duty in practice this week.

The Tide has one big reason for wanting to win this one. Alabama has never lost more than four games in a season since the school started playing football in 1903. And "Bama already has bowed to Louisiana State, Vanderbilt, Villanova and Tennessee. Its victories have been over Georgia, Mississippi State, Mississippi Southern and Delta State.

Writers And Coaches To Pick Four Top Offensive Backs From SEC

By STERLING SHAPPEY
ATLANTA, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Within two weeks Southeastern Conference coaches, their assistants who scout opposing teams and newsmen who cover football will make five colleges mad.

Writers and coaches will pick the top four offensive backs for the first string All-Southeastern team from a group of ten top flight players. Home colleges of the players not selected are sure to complain they were zipped in the voting.

The Southeastern this fall has a larger, and probably a better, group of backs than in any season since World War II. The best the deep south has to offer in the way of backs are:

Hank Laucella of Tennessee; Vito Parilli of Kentucky; Bobby Marlow of Alabama; Bill Wade of Vanderbilt; Ronnie Kent of Tulane; Darrell Crawford of Georgia Tech; Zeke Bratkowski of Georgia; Jim Barton of Louisiana State; and Jimmy Lear and Len Paslay of Mississippi.

Those nine have amassed the highest number of votes on Associated Press weekly all-SEC checklists.

Three defensive backs outrank all others. Marlow, the SEC's best defensive back and doubtless the top combination man in the Southeastern. Other defensive stars are Joe Fortunato of Mississippi State and Freshman Larry Morris of Tech.

Paslay also is a freshman. Names of the all-SEC checklist will be placed on the AP all-conference ballot to go to writers, announcers and athletic officials. For the first time both an offensive and defensive team will be selected. These selections are the only ones to become a part of official conference records.

Only 41 players won checklists votes from AP staffers covering last Saturday's games. The group was the smallest of the season.
