The entire operation of the firm is expected to be shifted to Sanford, was the report from committee members who had talked with the local manager of the manufacturing plant.

Property for the location of the industry has already been secured but clearing and preparation of the property for building had not been accomplished because of the uncertainty of the project.

Through banking firms, 50 per cent of the financing would be secured with Sanford merchants raising 25 percent and the manufacturing firm furnishing the additional fourth of the money needed for the building.

Banks would handle the loan through a cumbersome manner but because of the public service such a loan would be feasible because of keeping the manufacturing plant in this area.

Two Florida communities and one from Georgia has already approached the Sanford firm relative to moving to their communities and in one instance the financing of the entire move would be handled by the city acquiring the firm.

One of the Florida towns said, "We don't want to take an industry away from Sanford, but if they're moving we want them here."

Sanford businessman Herman Jacobson told the merchants meeting this morning that the plant was originally set up as a school which was later converted into a

Chamber of Commerce Manager Forrest Breckenridge said, "If a solution can't be worked out now, we might as well forget it and let them move to another town." "This is the only way we can get an industry with its huge payroll there's no way we can lose," said Industrial Committee member Herman Jacobson.

More than half of the money necessary to finance the project, on the part of the merchants of Sanford, was committed at the meeting this morning contingent upon the preparing of plans for the construction of the building and the costs that will be involved.

"With our school program training his people, we have shown a cooperative spirit and have expressed the cooperation of the community through the efforts of many businessmen in trying to solve the problems that confront the manufacturing company's operators," was expressed by members of the Merchants Association.

Tournament Scorer H. Elmore Happy With PGA Standing

"I've received more cooperation here than any other place I've been," said PGA Tournament Scorer Harry Elmore as he prints up the pairings last night at the Mayfair Inn for today's Pro-Am Tournament.

Elmore, 74-year-old former professional baseball player, is here to score the Mayfair Inn PGA Open which gets underway tomorrow at the Mayfair Inn's Seminole Country Club.

The pleasant-spoken Elmore says that he has been on the go for 21 days scoring for PGA Tournaments and will be idle, following the Mayfair Inn Open, until Jan. 8 when he goes to Los Angeles.

Elmore stated that he has been with the Notre Dame football team for 22 years until he retired in 1947 and moved to Miami. "I served as President Eisenhower's personal photographer when he was in Florida," said Elmore. "I found the President to be very cooperative when faced with a camera," the 74-year-old PGA official said.

Mrs. Carter, Milk Bank chairman, reported that three families had been furnished milk during the past month, one a Negro baby who required a special type formula. The club decided to send $10 toward the "Share Our Surplus" plan in cooperation with the Church World Service, National Council of the Churches of Christ. Through this plan, funds from U. S. surplus stocks are distributed free to hungry, ill and destitute people overseas.

Mrs. Stevenson, international relations chairman, reported that she had collected 21 used sheets and two shirts which will be sent to the hospital in Africa to be used for bandages.

It was back in the year of 1900 that I played professional baseball in Chicago," commented Elmore. He said that he has traveled all over the world following his various duties.

In fine physical condition and with muscles that are hard and firm, Elmore said that he stays in shape by playing golf. "It's the only form of recreation that I pursue," he said.

Commenting on the Mayfair Inn's Seminole Country Club Golf Course, he said, "It's one of the best I've ever seen. It is in excellent condition, but very tricky.

"You can watch for someone to break the record on this course and come in with a 61 or a 62," he said. "The long ball hitter will be the man to watch during this tournament," said the golf scorer.

Asked to comment on the various golfers in Sanford for the Mayfair Inn's $15,000 PGA Open, Elmore said, "this fellow Ed Furgol is one of the most remarkable players I've ever seen."

Reporters were amazed at the storehouse of knowledge about individual players and their accomplishments during tournaments, from one side of the country to the other, at Elmore's command.

"This is certainly a fine place to be and I am enjoying my stay here even though I stay busy every minute of the time," said Elmore.

Benefit Bridge Planned

Plans were completed at the meeting of the Pilot Club last night for the club's annual benefit bridge party with Mrs. Ruth Scott serving as general chairman.

The party this year will be held in the Mayfair Inn on Monday Jan. 9. Mrs. Scott named her co-chairmen and assigned their duties and tickets were distributed to the members to sell.

Mrs. Harvey Swanson presided over the meeting and announced that the annual Christmas party will be held in the Yacht Club on Monday, Dec. 19. Members were reminded to bring toys, gift-wrapped for the Yacht Community Christmas tree. The toys will in turn be distributed to the children at Christmastime.

Schedule for Pilots to ring the bell for the Salvation Army Kettles Saturday, Dec. 17 was given by Mrs. Swanson as follows: Post Office, 9 to 10 a. m.; Mrs. Nancy Brock; 10 to 11 a. m.; Mrs. O. E. Goff; 11 to 12 noon, Mrs. George A. Sline; at McCarty's Store, 9 to 10 a. m.; Mrs. Esther Rhee; 10 to 11 a. m.; Mrs. Esther Rhee; 11 to 12 noon, Mrs. J. P. Hall.

Post Office, 12 to 1 p. m.; Mrs. Troy Ray; 1 to 2 p. m.; Mrs. M. L. Raborn Sr.; 2 to 3 p. m.; Mrs. B. E. Chapman; 3 to 4 p. m.; Mrs. E. R. Randall Jr.; 4 to 5 p. m.; Mrs. Joel Field; 5 to 6 p. m.; Mrs. Swanson; McCarty's Store 12 to 1 p. m.; Mrs. V. C. Messenger; 1 to 2 p. m.; Mrs. Al Hunt; 2 to 3 p. m.; Mrs. Walter Carter; 3 to 4 p. m.; Mrs. Sue Stevenson; 4 to 5 p. m.; Mrs. D. K. McNab; 5 to 6 p. m.; Mrs. Leon Bryan.

Taxicab Driver Gives Full Robbery Account To Police

MIAMI BEACH (U-A) Taxicab driver gave police a running account of an armed robbery as it happened today and the stickup man was quickly surrounded and captured.

Frank DuBois started his blow-by-blow description of the crime when he saw a man jump into the automobile of Albert J. Gilson, a Chicago attorney, when it stopped for a red light.

The cabbie noticed a bright object in the man's hand and saw Gilson throw up his hands. He called his dispatcher on his radio telephone and the call was switched to police headquarters.

Gilson was forced to drive south along Collins Avenue and DuBois followed, keeping police informed of the car's whereabouts.

Finally, Gilson was ordered to turn into a side street and pull up to the curb. Immediately, police cars which had converged in the area blocked off the narrow street.

As the hoodlum man slipped out of the car, he was quickly surrounded by a dozen officers.

Special Party Held For 'Miss Jessie'

More than a hundred friends of Mrs. Jessie Kleinman wished her luck yesterday as she announced her intentions to retire from the position as Court Reporter for the Ninth Judicial Circuit for 32 years.

A group of Sanford attorneys attended the late afternoon affair which was held in the Brevard County Court House at Titusville.

Mrs. Kleinman, known to all of her associates and friends both in Sanford and Titusville as "Miss Jessie," began her career as Court Reporter on Sept. 6, 1923.

She first lived in Sanford when she served under Judge J. J. Dickinson and Judge Wallace Wright and moved in Titusville in 1932 when Judge M. B. Smith was appointed Circuit Judge. She continued to serve as Court Reporter when Judge Vassar Carlton was appointed.

Mrs. Kleinman's retirement will become effective on the 25th day of December this year.

Judge Vassar Carlton presented Mrs. Kleinman with a portable Singer Sewing Machine and praised her for the faithful work she has performed in her position in the Ninth Judicial Circuit.

Opening her gift "Miss Jessie" said, "I appreciate this from the bottom of my heart. As other gifts were presented she said, "I've seen a lot of bridal showers where they twisted and turned and just about wrecked everything — I'm so nervous."

Judge Smith attended the ceremony and fish fry given in Mrs. Kleinman's honor. Also there were State's Attorney Murray Overstreet and Assistant State's Attorney Volie A. Williams Jr.

Attorneys from Sanford attending the affair were Fred R. Wilson, Senator Douglas Stromstrom, Prosecuting Attorney and Mrs. Karlyle Housholder, Ed Shiholzer, George Andrew Speer, George A. Speer Jr., R. W. Ware and Gordon Frederick.

West Germans Keep Turncoat Otto John Under Close Watch

BERLIN (U-A)—The West German government kept multiple turncoat Otto John under close security wraps today while a high-level investigation continued of his defection to the Communists and return to the West.

Communist East Germany issued a brief comment on the arrival in West Germany of the Bonn Government's former counterintelligence chief after a 16-month stay with the Reds. The 47-word comment, distributed by the East German news agency ADN, tried to give a sort of tacit blessing to John's departure to the West, saying:

"Herr Dr. John, former president of the Bonn Office for the Protection of the Constitution, who was granted asylum in the (East) German Democratic Republic on July 20, 1954, has left the German Democratic Republic. Dr. John had repeatedly stated he intends to conduct the fight against neo-fascism in West Germany."

Monroe Chapter Officers Chosen

The election of officers of the Monroe Chapter No. 15 R. A. M. was held last night.

Named to the official posts in the organization for 1956 were: L. T. Sheppard, High Priest; Fred Stein, King; E. O. Keith, Scribe; R. W. Wright Jr., re-elected as treasurer; and Frank L. Miller, re-elected as secretary.

The officers for appointive posts in the Lodge will be named by the High Priest-elect and installed at a joint ceremony on December 27.

Double Christmas Rush Beginning

Reporting that his "Mail Early for Christmas" campaign is really in high gear, Postmaster Joel E. Field today gave some helpful hints on how you can be sure that your Christmas cards will reach everyone on your list before Dec. 25.

"When you use three cent stamps on your Christmas cards, you get first-class mail service," he said. "First-class friends deserve first-class mail and the use of first-class postage makes it certain that your Christmas cards will be delivered promptly. Also, use of first-class postage insures forwarding service if the addressee has moved or the card will be returned to you if the recipient cannot be located. Then, too, on Christmas cards sent by first-class mail, you can include handwritten messages making your greetings more personal."

It is perfectly correct and, in fact, advisable to include your return name and address on each Christmas card envelope. This helps your friends to know their mailing list up-to-date and insures correction of your list if the card is returned as undeliverable.

Bright Picture Presented

Favorable comment has been made in Sanford on the announcement in Tallahassee of the Road Board Budget for the first half of 1956.

Bralley Odham, chairman of the Long Range Road Planning Committee of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce said that "the budget as tentatively announced by the State Road Department presents the brightest picture for road development in the Sanford area that I have ever seen."

He stated that in talking with William Dial, State Road Board Member of his district that "not only will the contract be let for the Orange County line north to Five Points, on 12-32 but that the part not included in the first letting from Five Points north to Sanford will be completed in the July budget."

Odham said that "State Road 415 from Osteen to New Smyrna Beach has been made the primary project for Volusia County thus benefitting all of Central Florida."

He further said that "State Road 44 from the St. Johns River bridge in Sanford will be let in the first half of next year."

Other county officials are optimistic over the outcome of the budget announced late yesterday and are looking forward to the early letting of the contracts for the Sanford-Orlando Highway.

Details are being completed as rapidly as possible in order that suits may be filed and the contracts let at the earliest possible date, according to officials handling the completion of the necessary papers, plans, and data for the project letting.

Heavy traffic and numerous accidents along the present Sanford-Orlando Highway are spurring efforts to get the project underway as quickly as possible.

Planning, Zoning Board Sets Session

The planning and zoning board of the City of Sanford will meet tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the Commissioners Room of the City Hall.

It will be the last meeting of the year, according to City Hall officials.

Chairman of the nine-man planning and zoning board is Bob Brown.

Howard Paville will attend his first meeting of the board after being appointed in the vacancy created by the resignation of Tom Vaughan.

The important City Board is not a lawmaking body but studies requests for zoning and rezoning, as well as setting up long range plans for the expansion of the City and submits its recommendations to the Board of Sanford City Commissioners for consideration.

Prominent Sports Enthusiast, Horace Stoneham, Welcomed

We are indeed fortunate to have this opportunity to welcome one of the nation's most prominent sports enthusiasts to Sanford.

As a matter of fact, without the gentleman and his party, in Sanford for the special occasion this week of the Mayfair Inn Open, we would not have had the $18,000 PGA Tournament which begins its preliminary events today.

We speak of Horace Stoneham, the congenial head of the vast New York Giants organization, who arrived yesterday to look on and visit during the tournament.

Through the efforts of Horace Stoneham, the Mayfair Inn has been in Sanford under the management of the New York Giants.

Bill Of Rights Day

We quite agree with several patriotic organizations as they complain about the show of American flags on important days of the year.

In times gone by, the American flag could be seen flying gloriously from thousands upon thousands of homes in communities around the nation when historic days and memorable occasions were celebrated.

This year the 164th anniversary of the ratification of our Bill of Rights will be observed.

Among anniversaries, this is one of the most important occasions we celebrate, for the Bill of Rights is one document that grants to the free citizens of our nation their liberties.

Certainly, on this day the American flag should be flown from homes, businesses, industries, and public buildings everywhere.

December 15 is the day that is set aside for the anniversary of our Bill of Rights. It is the day so important that flags should be waving freely wherever we turn, throughout our community and throughout the nation.

If you have an American flag, be sure that it finds its place outside your home or place of business.

Running For Job Is Not As Hard

WASHINGTON (AP)—Even if President Eisenhower's doctor tells him to run for a second term, they may tell him at the same time he can't make the usual campaign for the presidency.

There's a difference between running for the White House and running for a job, says a doctor who has operated four years in it.

As president for another four years, Eisenhower would have to make occasional trips, if only in making big decisions, but by careful planning he might be able to avoid both fatigue and physical strain.

But if he put on the traditional presidential campaign, he could hardly avoid them.

The traditional campaign calls for long trips or plane trips, talking crowds at white-tops or in restaurants. There would be no time for a doctor to see him, if only in trying to make a good heart, in climbing steps, and in shaking nervous hands.

While going through all that, Eisenhower would have this additional problem, one his opponent doesn't share: he'd still be president and have to carry on his share of that job at the same time.

The doctor who has operated for four years in it, says that he would not advise Eisenhower to run for a second term, but he would not advise him to leave either.

and the plush tourist hotel has been a mecca for visitors from every section of the country.

Certainly, it is apropos for everyone in Sanford and its vicinity to welcome Horace Stoneham to our community since his organization has meant so much to the economy here.

Bringing the Mayfair Inn's new manager, Frank Mohane Jr., back to Sanford was in itself a wonderful move on the part of Stoneham and his organization for with the hotel under the guiding hand of a home town product, the Mayfair Inn, its staff, and those who visit here with us, are all drawn closer together to Sanford as a community.

We feel that Sanford has a friend in Horace Stoneham and for that reason we take this opportunity to extend a hearty welcome to him and his entire party who are here for the brief stay and duration of the already famed tournament.

We hope that everyone here, and in Central Florida will help make the New York Giant's top man's stay here a pleasant one in every respect.

Slow Down, Please!

What would you like most for Christmas? Beautiful jewels, a bigger TV, a new car, maybe a new home, or one or a combination of thousands of other useful and lovely items?

We heartily agree with you, those are to be desired—and they'll be beautiful gifts at the foot of a well lighted tree.

But we think too, that there is something else you'd much rather have this Christmas.

You'd much rather have your little boy with you to enjoy the toys and wagons, skates and bicycles, and other things you know Santa will stop by and leave.

You'd much rather have that little girl of yours with you to caress a beautiful doll, roll her around in a carriage, play with her newly acquired tea set, or with the other dainty things that Mrs. Santa prepared especially for her.

Well, SLOW DOWN THEN while you're driving along Sanford streets! Right now these children of yours are so excited they don't know what it is to exercise the extreme care that's necessary in crossing streets after school or during play.

We never know just when a small child will dart out in front of your FAST MOVING CAR and instead of being home for Christmas that beautiful little daughter, or that fine son will be lifeless, or crippled and maimed.

What could we do with those useless toys and gifts then?

Use your imagination and then SLOW DOWN.

Let the children enjoy the best Christmas they've ever had, healthy, and strong, and whole!

Drive slow! Watch Carefully! And enjoy Christmas with the children!

Dandelion Selection Causes Ruckus

NEW YORK (AP)—When I nominated the dandelion as America's national flower about a year ago, there was some ruckus.

The proposal seemed to step on a lot of green thumbs. It was almost as if I'd done something indecent, such as suggesting selling kindergarten children into slavery.

Gardners all over the land wrote in to denounce me as an idiot and the dandelion as a pest. Most of them agreed that I America picked a national flower it ought to be the rose.

Well, that seemed like a copy cat idea I'd ever heard of. One day many countries already have the rose. But I shut up on the subject, since what I don't know about flowers would fill a mighty big vase.

Today, however, I'd like to present a rebuttal to all the thorny rose lovers in the form of a letter written by Win Haynes of Greenville, Pa.

Here is what reader Haynes wrote:

"I have been in the nursery business for a number of years and for the life of me, I can't see why anyone would have anything to do with a rose. If you get near a rosebush it goes at you like a wildcat. If you approach it wearing rawhide gloves, thereby avoiding bloodshed, not to say poisoning, it will do its best to give you rose fever or shake off some of its loving insects on you.

"In spite of all the praise sung for it, it is evident that the rose has no use for man. It even refuses to grow for him except on its own terms.

"You can't just stick it in the ground and forget about it. It has to be planted just so. Let it get 'wet feet' and it curls up and dies. If you want it to bloom, you have to feed it like a horse, and it is flabby about its food.

"It has almost as many diseases and omens as the human race. If you are fortunate enough to start with a rosebush that doesn't already have black spot, you can bet it will rush right out and get some kind of fungus.

"If, through constant dusting and spraying with the whole catalog of fungicides, contact sprays and poison sprays you get your plant to live long enough to produce a bud, let three drops of rain fall and the next day there is a cluster of spidre all over the bud.

"Again, let it survive that hazard and the thrip may prevent the bud from opening. Once a bud opens into a flower, a myriad of rose

Weather Has Different Effects

NEW YORK (AP)—Winter weather is putting a frosty touch on some business activity today even as it stirs up others.

Cold winds are blowing up pressure for price rises of some products. They are adding to the total of the jobless. They threaten production schedules of some industries—but are helping others to work out from under record totals of stocks on hand.

A quarter of a million more persons are out of work, the Commerce and Labor departments report, because the weather has put a crimp in the construction industry activity in the northern tier of states, as well as in building and indoor work on the farms and plants. This is a purely seasonal thing, but it more than offsets the number of persons who found jobs in the nation's stores to help with the Christmas trade.

Winter's first blusters are beginning to affect some prices. Egg output has fallen, for instance, and prices are higher. Soon the weather

icy weather is cutting off the flow of iron ore down the Great Lakes. Steel mills have been building up stocks for the winter pull, but if they should need more before the spring thaw, and can't get enough from their new sources in Venezuela and Labrador, they'll have to resort to the more costly rail transportation.

Steel scrap, which is mixed with iron ore in the steel furnace, is already pushing close to the record high price set early in 1948. In fact, scrap is readily available in the mills—at a price. But a really cold and heavy winter could choke off the flow of scrap to the dealers—and add just that much more pressure to the move to raise steel prices.

Cold snaps already have cut in heavily on the nation's heating oil stocks—the delight of the industry, which had built up record inventories.

The cold winds, meanwhile, are warming the hearts of those in the natural gas, coal and oil industries who prosper as the nation tries to keep comfortable.

The winter season has helped send the use of electric power to an all-time high—an unprecedented total of almost 114 billion kilowatt-hours of power was produced last week.

Merchants welcome the cold too. It has been blowing customers into their stores, seeking overcoats, blankets and galoshes.

SAITOHSHI police have sent out a 14-page alarm in an effort to apprehend Hiroshi O'Shea, 14, missing for several days with his granddaughters, Jo Ann Saitohshi, (above), 10. A warrant charging O'Shea with kidnapping the girl has been issued.

People in the United States will eat four pounds of meat per person in 1948 than they did in 1944.

Hemerocallis Circle Members Hear Miss Laura Chittenden

The Hemerocallis Circle of the Sanford Garden Club met Thursday at 7:30 p. m. in the home of Mrs. M. E. Baker. Miss Laura Chittenden was guest speaker. Mrs. C. E. Moss presided over the session and the circle voted to send an attractive message pertaining to gardening to the hospital.

After discussion of the board report meeting it was announced that the members of the circle received five blue ribbons, six red ribbons, and the circle itself a blue ribbon for the coffee table, in the annual Flower Show.

Following the meeting a "most interesting" talk was given by Miss Chittenden on Christmas Greenery.

Miss Chittenden brought out some of the legends of the popular Christmas decorations and facts about them. One mentioned was the wreath which came into being because of the crown of thorns that Christ wore. As the story goes all the flowers and greenery blossomed for the first time since that time.

She also related that holly was introduced as a decoration by the English settlers. Mistletoe is sometimes called the golden bough and signifies "hope and peace." Many years ago pledges were made with a kiss under the mistletoe and throughout the ages "the pledges have held but the kiss remains."

TUESDAY
The annual Christmas Party of the Daughters of Wesley Sunday School Class will meet in McKinley Hall at 7:30 p. m. Mrs. Claude Herndon's group will be hostesses. There will be an exchange of gifts.

Garden Nook

By SANDIE B. GUT

This close to Christmas most of us are far too busy to give more than maintenance care to our gardens, watering when dry and protecting against cold when frost threatens and so on.

Last week's cold spell showed the necessity of covering small plants and providing a windbreak at least for larger ones. Plants in containers should be moved to sheltered spots preferably under trees and away from cold west and northwest winds. It would be well to hill up hibiscus shrubs well above the graft with soil, sand, peat or moss, or even leaves if weighted down to keep in place. This protection may be left on all during the winter season and removed in spring when the chill winds have left, unless drainage is poor allowing stalks of plants to remain wet.

Leaves should be raked up and used as a mulch on azaleas, camellias, gardenias, roses and other shrubs where needed. Other December chores that could be done now or immediately after the holidays include a light application of acid fertilizer to camellias, but not to azaleas or gardenias at this time, spraying citrus, gardenias and camellias with malathion if needed for white fly or scale. Malathion can be used when weather is too cold or too hot for Volck, but do follow the directions explicitly.

Do not use commercial fertilizers on roses at this time as they need a rest, however bone meal and sheep manure may be used as it acts more slowly and remains in the soil for a long time, and is available as needed.

December and January are ideal planting times for roses, shrubs and trees which develop a good root system and become established and ready to put out new growth in spring.

Hydrangeas should be pruned and prunings used for cuttings. Hardwood cuttings of most shrubs do well in cool weather, but have patience and do not expect top growth until it's warmer.

Fertilize and water your Nana's orchid with liquid or commercial fertilizer as it will be sending up bloom stalks soon.

Strip lower leaves from poinsettias you plan to cut later as the wounds may heal over before cutting. When cut place the cut ends in very hot water immediately and leave until water is cold. If some stems droop try cutting further up and again place in hot water. Some strangers prefer burning cuts with a flame or dipping in hot wax. Take your pick.

Look around your garden to see what Christmas greenery is available. Choice items are Brazilian pepper, pyracantha, samia, podocarpus, ligustrum, holly and pine either silvered or plain.

Do remember that many favorite materials such as bolles are restricted and must not be taken from woods without written permission of the owners. Obtained from nurseries, potted plants of these items would make wonderful gifts.

Fashions Arrive At Big Mayfair Inn Opening With Flurry Of Gay Colors, Shimmering Satins

By SANDRA BERG

A fanfare of trumpets could not have made a more impressive sight than the brilliant-colored crystals of the glass chandeliers which reflected pretty dresses, gay laughter and hum of the eighth annual opening of the Mayfair Inn Saturday night starting at 7 p. m. with a cocktail party in the lobby.

Over 350 members of the social side of Sanford and Central Florida gathered to dance and dine in the hotel. Party dresses "right out of the picture" came into view. The holiday season arrived in a rush of satin as cocktail dresses and floor length formal rustled softly in the large dining rooms.

To capture the mood let's take a look at some of the "light and bright" styles. Among the fashions seen was a willow ice blue formal of nylon net. "Some say flowers bloom by the light of the moon" as did the petal top of the dress made of black velvet.

Another socialite was gowned in a stiff and ruffled taffeta of black accented by gold accessories. Simplicity is the word.

To my left was a gown of aqua polished cotton that was "longer than short" and had a serene flow of the color from the hand bag to the shoes. It featured a high square neck and a flaring hem.

Black and white came into the picture when an adorable sophisticated dress waited by. The top was black velvet and the skirt was composed of yards and yards of filmy tulle soft as a dream. The skirt, ballerina length, was accented by black velvet cutouts applied on the underside.

A jersey blouse goes out with a colorful print-splashed skirt" could be the headline. A black wool jersey blouse was worn with a wide skirt featuring black and white spots sprinkled with gold. A gold belt was worn to "connect the two."

Popular among the ladies was India print brocade of aqua and gold. One dress featured a tiny gold decoration hanging from the waist while the other was a two piece suit with a Peter Pan collar. You would be surprised how smart the suit looked when worn with matching shoes.

During the cocktail hour I noticed a lovely blue lace creation with tiny but striking satin straps. Back bow featuring a cummerbund of satin "made the dress". No jewelry was worn and blue satin pumps gave just the right touch.

Another eye-catching floor length dress was of white brocade printed with splinters of green. Around the almost strapless top was a deeper color green velvet band.

The surroundings can make a party as those at the Mayfair did. In the lobby were two white covered tables holding snacks for the guests to enjoy. In the center of each table was an arrangement of red and green composed of burning tapers and pepper berries. The smell of pine was also in the air. In various corners of the rooms were large tropical plants.

Music for the event was furnished by the Starlighters who definitely a "professional polish to their music."

After the cocktail hour a "dinner to fit a king" was enjoyed. The friendly service and style of serving is always a welcome factor and certainly a note of thanks should be given the workers for the courteous service they rendered.

Dancing was enjoyed in the ballroom until 1 p. m. with a floor show starting off the events. Getting back to the dresses I couldn't keep my eyes off one pale peach colored lace that looked good enough to eat. Along the princess lines, it also flounced a bow in back and a scooped neckline. A gathered skirt of taffeta of the same color made the skirt whirl in the flurry of dancing.

Brought to my attention was a deep green net featuring silvered straps of sequins. The wearer wore rhinestones which twinkled in the lights like a flashing star.

One darling gown was worn by a woman not over five feet in height. Her dress was of the palest pink satin with a square neckline. The skirt was form fitting to the floor and on each side were pleated hip-drapes reaching to the floor. Covered satin buttons trimmed the sides and the back.

Aside from the blacks, pastels dominated the scene from pale oranges to shimmering yellows. Ashes of roses was also popular and, believe it or not, frills, bows and ruffles are coming back into view.

Central Circle Has Christmas Meeting At Southward Home

The Central Circle of the Sanford Garden Club met Thursday morning at 10 a. m. at the home of Mrs. Ira Southward with Mrs. Bob Ruffin as co-hostess. A group of DeBary women entertained for the meeting.

The Garden Collect was used by Mrs. B. C. Moore, chairman, to open the session. After routine business with plans made to visit the Florida State Sanitarium with Christmas plants, the meeting was turned over to Mrs. George McCull who was in charge of the program.

A group of DeBary ladies presented the beautiful Christmas program. Miss Alice B. Cooper gave as a reading "The Little Lad From Bethlehem Town" with soft background music by Miss Adelaide Conte at the piano and Mrs. D. E. Pugh at the violin. Mrs. E. Adell Brudi then sang, "Oh, Holy Night."

Guests were invited into the dining room for coffee. Mrs. W. B. Nicholson spoke. It was announced that the next meeting will be with Mrs. R. W. Turner on Jan. 12 at 8:45 a. m.

It was her strictest pity for him that led her to Albert Kibbee's cottage. There, at least, she would find a mystery that had never been solved, a mystery she had longed for, perhaps, but one on which Roger could have relied.

The door was open and Beate sat crumpled in a chair, her eyes empty as she stared at the wall. Over night, the precious balance between middle age and old age had been altered. Beate's face sagged, the very texture of her skin seemed to have changed. The sturdy body had collapsed on itself. Before Lois could turn away, Beate looked up. Her voice, like her eyes, was dulled, but habit asserted itself. "Come in, Mrs. Fleming."

She got to her feet and shuffled around, straightening an armchair that had already been arranged with military precision. "Am I disturbing you?"

Beate shook her head. "I was just sitting here." She said, as though surprised by her own inactivity. "Let me make you some tea. You could take a cup to Albert."

She lifted her apron to wipe away an imaginary spot of dust. "Don't let me in. Beate's head took a bump when she slipped, looking sideways at Lois, a woman in all those years when she was not busy but with her companion momentarily stripped from her.

"Clyde's gone on," she said. "He's been away all morning. He can't get over frightening Beate. I could shake that girl though I realize she was too sick to know what she was doing. But Clyde can't seem to understand that's all there is to it. He thinks he can talk her out of her Albert. She said she'd be glad to have anyone, Mrs. Fleming. I can tell you, she wouldn't have people and not to talk to her. She's just plain Beate."

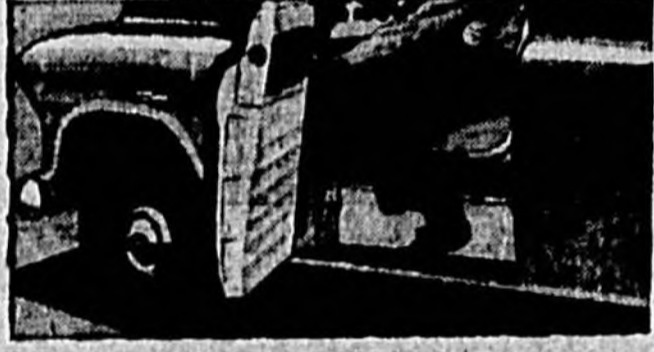

When the tea had been prepared, accompanied by sugar and cream, Lois took the tray Beate had laid with anxious care and slipped to Beate's door, slipped to Beate's door, slipped to Beate's door.

"Lois Fleming?" When he had unlocked the door she set the tea tray on a table beside her bed, filled a cup for him and stood behind a cup for him and stood behind a cup for him. "Oh, Lois."

He opened the tea. "Oh, Lois."

Broadway Prosperity Pleasing

By WILLIAM GLOVER
NEW YORK, (AP) — Broadway, now at the midway mark in a season of record success, is finding prosperity pleasing—and perplexing.
The big delight: box office grosses nearing an all-time mark of a million dollars per week.
The big poser: how to find room for other shows.
Main reason for such a strange dilemma is the exceptional series of remarkable dramatic offerings which have arrived on the Great White Way since September.
Take a comparison with last season alone:
Through mid-December of last year, 24 shows arrived, including a couple for limited engagements only; 10 quickly flopped. Through mid-December this year, 25—including 4 limited engagements—have come to town; only 7 have had to quit. Further, the quality of the winners has been exceptional.

PAINT-FILLED EGGS

DENVER (AP)—Something new has been added to the arsenal of a band of vandals: eggs filled with paint. J. A. Davidek told police yesterday two such eggs were thrown at the front porch of his home. He said the vandals apparently punch a small hole in the shell, drain the egg, and fill the shell with paint.
It's this that has a lot of Broadway's wisest heads wondering. "When the Lunts have to stay out of town for weeks and weeks—and then take only an interim booking, the theater jam is bad indeed," one veteran said.
He referred to the Lindsay-Crouse comedy "The Great Sehastians," which stars Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne. The show comes into the ANTA Jan. 5 amid hopes that some other theater will become available before its 4½-week lease expires. Another show is already booked to move into the ANTA then.

Second Looks at First Nights

The highly successful mood of the season continued with the arrival of Thornton Wilder's "The Matchmaker." A farce which stars veteran Ruth Gordon, it discards Wilder's usual symbolism and emerges as boisterous fun.
Another theatrical surprise has been the first U. S. appearance of HVER Britannie, Majesty's Scots Guards band, highland pipers and dancers. On tour, it was booked for a single New York appearance and has had to play three extra performances in vast Madison Square Garden this week to satisfy capacity throngs cheering the smart precision swirling and prancing.
A slightly less enthusiastic note greeted the arrival of the Rodgers and Hammerstein musical "Pipe Dream" a few evenings earlier. Actually, it is a pleasant, leisurely evening and has a number of pleasing R & B songs.
