Teamsters end strike

LOS ANGELES — Striking Teamsters and Hollywood producers meeting in Florida have reached a tentative agreement to settle their 3-week-old strike, it was reported today.

Sources close to the negotiations told the Los Angeles Times that the settlement reached Sunday is subject to approval by members of Teamsters Local 399, which represents 2,100 studio drivers.

The local will meet to vote on the pact later this week, but the precise day has not been set, the sources, who requested anonymity, said.

Car bomb kills two

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — A car bomb exploded in the northeastern town of Witbank during the morning rush-hour Monday, killing at least two black men and wounding at least 18 other people, a police spokesman said.

The bomb exploded around 8:14 a.m. outside a shopping center in the conservative town 80 miles northeast of Johannesburg, fatally wounding the two black men, police spokesman Capt. Reuben Bloomberg said in Pretoria.

Bloomberg said at least 18 other people were wounded, one of them seriously.

Lotto winner in Martin Co.

TALLAHASSEE — Somebody bought a lottery ticket in Indiantown worth $30 million, the third-largest jackpot since the Lotto game began in April, Lottery Secretary Rebecca Paul said Sunday.

Lottery computers indicate the ticket purchased in the central Martin County town was the only one to match all six winning numbers in this week's Lotto drawing. The winning numbers were 3, 11, 14, 15, 27 and 40. The winner has 180 days to claim the prize.

Six die in gang violence

LOS ANGELES — Six people died and four others were wounded in separate weekend gang activity, including a knife fight that broke out when a gang crashed a "Sweet 16" birthday party.

The slayings late Friday through Sunday increased the record gang-related death toll for the Los Angeles area.

For the first nine months of the year, 245 people were killed by gang violence in areas patrolled by the Los Angeles police and sheriff's departments, up from 215 slain during the same period in 1987, according to the most recent statistics.

110,000 visit festival

Attendance better than last year

By CAROL J. RUMSEY
Herald staff writer

LAKE MARY — Festival organizers were still counting today, but estimates are 110,000 people trekked out to LAL Acres Ranch over the weekend for The Lake Mary-Heathrow Festival Of The Arts — a 38,000 attendance increase over 1987.

The festival, which showcased both performing and visual arts, is a year-long project for chairman Bonnie D. Manjura. She cited the addition of more artists, entertainment and space as the winning ingredients of the two-year-old show.

"We received many favorable comments from artists and people in attendance about the new site," she said. "Most art festivals are cramped and we really wanted to get away from that." Last year's show was held at the Heathrow Racquet Club.

Manjura said the ranch location and other changes are all part of the immense planning involved in organizing a festival — a festival which in its first year was cited by Manjura as the largest event in the county's history.

"It's like a plant," she said. "You water it and trim it back each year, and it rewards you by growing strong and beautiful."

Seven hundred volunteers, including 20 major committees, involved themselves in the project. Manjura estimates a $200,000 cost for producing such an event, but because of donations and volunteers the actual cost is closer to $60,000, she said.

Money raised via a $3 parking fee is used to cover debts, set aside seed money for the next festival, and provide college scholarships for Seminole County students, Manjura stated.

Eight high school students received scholarship money last year, and Manjura expects to see even more offered as a result of the increased turnout. The scholarships are a project of The Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce and Seminole County School Board.

Next year, festival organizers hope to ease traffic flow problems. "It was much improved this year, but we still have a way to go," Manjura said. "It's just such a hard thing to figure. We opened additional exits and entryways, but we need to do more."

Housing project planned for east Sanford

By BRAD CHURCH
Herald city editor

SANFORD — A 72-acre housing development in east Sanford is being planned to provide housing in the low and moderate price range. However, the initial success of the development may depend on whether the city is willing to cooperate with the developer in offering some financial help.

Amelica Geuka, managing partner of Oasis

Development, which is planning the project, told the city planning and zoning commission about the company's plans during a pre-application conference Thursday.

Geuka resigned his position as chairman of the WINS (Westside Improvement Neighborhood Strategy) steering committee last year and said he planned to become active in trying to get privately developed housing for low and middle income families.

The project is planned for 72 acres at the southwest corner of Celery and Brisson avenues. Oasis will request Planned Unit Development zoning for the site.

Geuka said the first phase of the planned three-year project is 150 apartment units. That will be followed by two buildings containing 75 rental units for elderly occupants, and possibly single family housing. A small commercial area along Celery Avenue is also planned, as well as a centrally located recreation building. The project

Sanford Gymnastics will get new home

By BRAD CHURCH

SANFORD — The Sanford Gymnastics Association, after operating out of temporary quarters since its founding in 1977, is preparing to move into its own building in the 600 block of 25th Place.

The organization is building a 10,800-square-foot building on a 13-acre city-owned site. The site was formerly under lease to the Sunrise Kiwanis Club for development as a park, but when those plans fell through the city took it back.

Jim Jernigan, city parks and recreation director, said part of the site is designated as a location for a city recreation center if the city finds money to build one. The site for the gymnastics association building is being leased to the association for $1 a year.

Jeannette Stifley, president of the association, said the organization hopes the building is complete in time for a Special Olympics gymnastics meet next month. A grand opening is planned for December 17.

The association was formed 11 years ago by Stifley and Eugene Petty, now assistant principal at Milver School, with the help of two other

Prime Minister criticizes Merkle

ORLANDO — Bahamas Prime Minister Lynden Pindling has asked that former U.S. Attorney Robert Merkle be investigated for his handling of two trials in which Pindling was implicated in drug trafficking.

Pindling charged that Merkle committed a crime when he allowed "fabricated" court testimony about Pindling, the Orlando Sentinel reported Sunday.

Merkle called Pindling's charges "balony."

"It's clear to me that he wants to engage in a public relations maneuver ... to prevent any unfavorable action against him by the (Justice) Department," Merkle said.

"Sir Lyndon is full of hot air."

The charges stem from Merkle's prosecution of cocaine kingpin Carlos Lehder Rivas earlier this year. Two witnesses in the Jacksonville federal court trial testified that Pindling received hundreds of thousands of dollars in bribes in return for providing drug smugglers a secure base of operations in the Bahamas.

In a scathing report filed with U.S. officials, Pindling and his lawyer F. Lee Bailey asked that the Justice Department publicly admit Pindling had done nothing wrong. They said the witnesses perjured themselves, and that Bahamian officials could have proved that had they been involved in the investigation.

Dad fights for divorced fathers' rights

JACKSONVILLE — Stuart Johnston's battle for fair treatment of men in divorce cases has apparently touched a nerve with the American public.

Johnston, the editor of a Jacksonville Naval Air Station publication, is the founder of Distant American Dads, or DAD. Since he first gained notoriety in a Florida Times-Union story published two months ago, Johnston says he has been contacted by 21,000 men interested in joining DAD.

Johnston says his telephone has not stopped ringing since he appeared on NBC's Today show on Oct. 4. He was on the show to discuss Florida's new deadbeat dads law and has since been contacted by unhappy divorced men in 26 states.

Johnston made national headlines about a month ago when he criticized Florida's new deadbeat dads law. That law allows authorities to place liens on cars and other property of fathers who are behind in their child support payments.

Mother of scalded child demands report

ST. AUGUSTINE — The mother of a 9-year-old deaf girl who died after a scalding shower at the Florida School for the Deaf and Blind says the school has not yet fully explained the incident.

"Even if it was a one-night mistake, it was a mistake," a sobbing Robin Driggers told school trustees at a public hearing Saturday. "Tell me the truth and let me go home and live my life."

Driggers asked the trustees to close the multihandicapped program in which her daughter was enrolled if they cannot provide proper supervision for the students.

Parents of four other children who died or were abused while at the school also criticized trustees for withholding information, the Florida Times-Union and Jacksonville Journal reported Sunday.

Florida fugitive captured in Alabama

SYLACAUGA, Ala. — A Florida man wanted in the murders of his aunt and cousin in Tennessee was captured Sunday in Alabama, authorities said.

Keith Michael Johnson, 22, of Lakeland, Fla., was caught just south of Sylacauga at about 3:30 p.m. after a citizen spotted someone fitting Johnson's description, said Sylacauga Police Chief Billy Hay.

"He reported someone near (U.S. Highway) 280 near the Coosa County line, someone in the woods, and he called the county and the police," Hay said. "A K-9 tracking team from the prison came in and after several hours he was captured without incident."

Johnson is wanted in Giles County, Tenn., in the Wednesday murders of his aunt, Patricia Johnson, 51, and her daughter, Elizabeth Sharifi, 27, both of Pulaski.

Local girl killed in accident

DEBARY — A 16-year-old Longwood girl was killed when she was thrown from a car Saturday night.

Teya Albertant, 16, 116 Autumn Drive, was thrown from the car she riding in when the driver lost control of the vehicle, which rolled once and struck a tree alongside Fort Florida Road at about 10 p.m., a Florida Highway Patrol spokesman said.

The driver, Joyce E. Ackerbaum, 16, 238 Flame Ave., Maitland, was also thrown from the vehicle and was taken to Central Florida Hospital for treatment, the spokesman said.

Charges are pending in the accident.

Scientists: What goes up must come down

United Press International

TAMPA — About 60 nuclear-powered satellites are orbiting the Earth and scientists say their eventual re-entry into the atmosphere or a collision with other craft could rain atomic waste on a populated area.

Experts generally agree that nuclear power has great advantages over solar power in space, including better reliability, compactness and durability in harsh environments.

But concern over radioactive space debris was heightened three weeks ago when the crippled Soviet spy satellite Cosmos 1900 began falling, a Tampa Tribune report said Sunday. Only days before the craft burned in the atmosphere, its emergency system ejected 110 pounds of uranium into a higher orbit.

Space experts said such an incident is bound to happen again.

About 60 nuclear-powered craft orbit the Earth, according to the U.S. Space Command in Colorado.

Many are in a low orbit that eventually will decay, causing them to burn up as they enter the atmosphere. Their radioactive fuel can break apart during the heat and shock of re-entry.

That happened in 1979, when a Soviet Cosmos satellite disintegrated, spreading radioactive material over 40,000 square miles of northern Canada. The Soviets said their craft apparently had collided with another object and suffered sudden depressurization, causing it to fall.

Congress is considering a proposal to ban nuclear-powered U.S. satellites by the end of the next decade, and some scientists are urging the Soviets to do the same.

Congress is considering a proposal to ban nuclear-powered U.S. satellites by the end of the next decade, and some scientists are urging the Soviets to do the same.

"Basically, it's an environmentally unsound practice," said Steven Aftergood, director of the Committee to Bridge the Gap, a Los Angeles-based group that monitors nuclear space issues. "The real point, and all sensationalism aside, is that accidents can and do happen."

Boosting nuclear fuels into a higher "storage" orbit may be only a temporary solution because there still is a chance of collision once thousands of objects clutter a particular pattern of orbit, Nicholas L.

Johnson, a scientist with Teledyne Brown Engineering, writes in his essay, "Artificial Space Debris."

"What appear to be useless orbits today may be essential to some future space operations," Johnson said.

Although the U.S. space program has had its share of problems since pioneering nuclear-powered spacecraft in the early 1960s, it has developed a dependable technology, said Dr. Dudley McConnell, NASA's deputy director for advanced programs in solar system exploration.

The package for all space-bound nuclear fuel goes through extensive testing and is designed to be recovered if it re-enters the atmosphere, McConnell said.

But Dr. John Beyea, senior staff scientist with the National Audubon Society, said the public needs to seriously question whether it wants "space nukes" over its head.

"You can never design a satellite that never will malfunction," Beyea said.

A year from now, for instance, NASA plans to launch its Galileo probe to the planet Jupiter. The probe, aboard the shuttle Atlantis, will carry 49 pounds of plutonium.

An explosion such as the one that destroyed Challenger in 1986 could spread the plutonium throughout the lower atmosphere, causing a serious, possibly fatal, contamination to areas around Cape Canaveral.

Controversy surrounds Tampa police hiring probe

United Press International

TAMPA — Nearly three-fourths of the black recruits hired by the Tampa Police Department over four years quit, were fired or failed to make the force, according to a study conducted in an effort to improve race relations.

The study, performed by an industrial psychologist for a police-citizen committee on recruiting, hiring and promoting officers, showed the attrition rate for blacks was nearly 30 percent higher than for whites.

Black and Hispanic community leaders said the study confirms that racism plagues the department, but police officials blame the recruits' poor reading and writing skills.

The findings, reported Sunday in the Tampa Tribune, come at a time when the department is working hard to improve black representation in its ranks to quell criticism of institutional racism.

The study found more than half of all 427 recruits enrolled in 24 Tampa Police Academy classes from January 1983 to June 1987 are no longer with the department.

It said the city, which invests at least $20,000 in every recruit it hires and trains, is losing a small fortune on people it can't keep.

Opinions differ as to why so many blacks leave.

Henry Carley, president of the Tampa NAACP, said while police officials "have been very good to work with," there remains a "fraternal group operating in the Police Department" that favors white recruits in training.

Winning Lotto ticket sold in Martin County

United Press International

TALLAHASSEE — Somebody bought a lottery ticket in Indiantown worth $30 million, the third-largest jackpot since the Lotto game began in April. Lottery Secretary Rebecca Paul said Sunday.

Lottery computers indicate the ticket purchased in the central Martin County town was the only one to match all six winning numbers in this week's Lotto drawing. The winning numbers were 3, 11, 14, 15, 27 and 40.

The winner has 180 days to claim the prize.

The largest Florida Lotto jackpot of $55.1 million was claimed by Shelan Rayan of Winter Springs Sept. 7. Dennis Clover of Temple Terrace claimed the second highest jackpot of $35.8 million on Sept. 28, less than three weeks later.

Estimates for next week's jackpot were initially set at $8 million, Paul said.

Other payouts in the this week's game were:

—447 players matched five of the six numbers to win $3,343.

—24,049 players matched four numbers to win $91.

—453,374 players matched three numbers to win $4.50.

In other lottery news, Paul scheduled the drawing for the $1 million instant game grand prize for Friday in Gainesville. The winner will be drawn from among seven finalists, and each is assured to win at least $10,000.

Demand for fin soup threatens sharks

United Press International

MIAMI — Biologists fear an unquenchable demand for shark fin soup, considered an aphrodisiac and all-purpose medicine in the Orient, could help wipe out some shark species in Florida waters.

Demand for the delicacy already is being blamed for the increasingly common practice of "finning," cutting off the shark's fins and throwing the animal back.

Shark fin soup is a broth made by boiling dried shark fins to extract a jellylike substance from the interior membranes. The gel looks like clear noodles.

"It's very popular all over the Orient," said Yiu Luke, a Miami exporter who sends shark fins from Florida and the Caribbean to Oriental markets.

From the Philippines to Sri Lanka, shark fin soup is sought after as an aphrodisiac and a cure for everything from arthritis to cancer, the Miami Herald reported Sunday.

Yiu attributes the growing Chinese demand for shark fins to those eager to try what was hard to get in that country until the recent reopening of commercial ties to the outside world.

Trendy restaurants in Florida, New England and California also are offering more shark meat entrees.

Sharks are more vulnerable to being wiped out than other fish because they take longer to reach reproductive age and bear fewer young. Sharks require 10 to 15 years to reach breeding age.

"You can just about wipe out a species like Spanish mackerel and if you leave them alone for three or four years they usually come right back," said Samuel Miami shark expert.

"But if you knock off a lot of the sharks in an area it will be a long, long time before they come back."

Finning is not illegal in Florida because shark fishing is unregulated, but biologists are concerned because it allows fishermen to decimate many more sharks in a day than if they were harvesting the entire carcass.

Enough mutilated sharks have been caught to make scientists believe finning is practiced by an uncomfortably large minority of commercial shark fishermen who apparently figure the meat isn't worth their time.

Shark meat sells wholesale for $1 to $1.25 a pound in the winter and drops to 50 cents in the summer. The fins bring up to $12 a pound.

Tiger sharks that live close to shore might still swim well enough to survive by eating slow-moving bottom creatures.

But sharks in the open ocean, which feed on other fish, are unable to support themselves in the water and simply spiral to the bottom once their fins are sliced off, said Dennis Bedford, a shark scientist with the California Fish and Game Department.

Sharks faced an increasing threat even before finning took hold. Florida commercial fishermen harvested 1.7 million pounds of shark meat in 1985, according to records at the state marine research lab in St. Petersburg.

In 1987, shark landings had nearly tripled to 4.6 million pounds and this year's total could top 5 million.

During the same period, the number of commercial fishermen landing sharks jumped from 483 to 2,148 and the

Man charged with aggravated assault

SANFORD — Fred Lawrence Keller, 29, 2450 Poinsetta Ave., Sanford, was arrested by Sanford police outside Reggies restaurant, 119 Magnolia Ave. Sunday at about 2:30 a.m. after he kicked Jimmy G. Scfrie in the face several times, according to police. Scfrie was taken to Central Florida Regional Hospital with a severely bleeding face and swollen nose and right eye, the policeman reported. Keller was charged with aggravated battery. Bond was set at $5,000.

Men arrested for drug possession

SANFORD — Todd Richard Harloff, 30, and David Richard Vanderkamp, 28, both of New York, were arrested Sunday at about 3 p.m. on Olive Avenue by a Sanford policeman who reported discovering a beer can pipe between the seats of their truck while they were stopped in the middle of the avenue. The officer also reported finding crack cocaine in the door pocket of the vehicle.

Both men were charged with possession of a controlled substance and drug paraphernalia. Harloff was additionally charged with driving with a suspended license. Bond was set at $4,500 for both men.

Men arrested for selling drugs on porch

SANFORD — Carlos Dante Burke, 20, 54 William Clark Court, and Elijah Wendell McCloud, 21, 1413 W. 13th St., both of Sanford, were arrested by Sanford police Saturday at 9:15 p.m. after a caller reported two men were selling cocaine from the front porch of 42 Castle Brewer Court. Police reported discovering crack cocaine in pockets of both men. Both were charged with possession of cocaine. Bond was set at $2,000.

Men accused of smoking crack

SANFORD — Nathaniel Daily, 40, 1514 Williams Ave., and Raymond Keith Hosack, 26, 2412 S. Stevens St., both of Sanford, were arrested Saturday at about 12:30 p.m. in the South City Cemetery after a Sanford policeman reported seeing them smoking crack cocaine in their car. The officer reported finding a beer can pipe between the car's seats and a matchbox containing crack under the seat. Both men were charged with possession of crack cocaine and drug paraphernalia. Bond was set at $1,000 for each man.

Several arrested on DUI charges

Mark Anthony Kendall, 21, 1149 Highmeadow Road, Apopka, was arrested Sunday for driving under the influence of alcohol at about 11 p.m. by a Seminole County deputy who said he drove recklessly and was speeding on Sand Lake Road. Bond was set at $500.

Mary Lourdes Dwyer, 35, 5474 Peaco Place, Winter Park, was arrested Monday at 1 a.m. on 27th Street in Sanford after a Sanford policeman reported seeing her weaving and hitting the roadside curb several times. After Dwyer was arrested for DUI and failure to maintain a single lane, the officer reported Dwyer struck him in the chest, resulting in an additional battery on a law enforcement officer charge. Bond was set at $1,000.

Charles R. McCaughey, 25, Minneola, was arrested at about 12 a.m. Sunday by a Lake Mary policeman who reported observing him weaving on West Lake Mary Boulevard. The officer also reported seeing McCaughey switching seats with a passenger after they were stopped, although McCaughey denied the action. McCaughey was charged with DUI and resisting arrest without violence. Bond was set at $500.

Michael D. Gaffney, 18, Lakeland, was arrested by an Oviedo policeman on DUI charges Sunday at about 12:30 a.m. The officer reported seeing him driving erratically on State Road 434. Bond was set at $500.

Stray bullet marked for policeman kills woman

United Press International

NEW YORK — A stray bullet fired at an off-duty police officer on a Queens street tore through a house door Sunday and struck and killed a woman standing inside her home, authorities said.

Off-duty Officer William Diaz of the 90th Precinct was driving along Martense Avenue in Corona at 2:25 a.m. when gunmen in a car driving down the street the wrong way began shooting at him, said Sgt. Raymond O'Donnell, a police spokesman. The officer returned the gunfire, he said.

One of the stray bullets from the suspect's rifle passed through the front door of a nearby home and struck a woman standing in the foyer of her house, hitting her in the stomach and exiting through her back, O'Donnell said.

The victim, Caroline Connelly, 61, was pronounced dead at 2:25 a.m. in the City Hospital Center at Elmhurst.

"When I came downstairs, she was lying on the floor," said Carolyn Connelly, 23, the victim's daughter. "I didn't know what was wrong. She said, 'My stomach hurts.'"

Diaz, who was not wounded in the attack, had been visiting friends in the neighborhood when he encountered the two suspects. O'Donnell said police do not yet know what prompted the dispute.

He said police found seven spent shells at the scene, and that the gunfire that killed the woman came from the rifle of one of the two suspects.

The suspects were still at large.

Diaz is a four-year veteran of the force.

The incident was the most recent shooting in a spate of violence directed against law enforcement officers in the city.

Over the past six days, four law enforcement officers have been shot within city limits, most notably the killing of two officers in separate incidents last Tuesday night in Upper Manhattan.

Earlier that day, an off-duty officer was shot and wounded during a scuffle with a man who attacked her in the Bronx. And on Wednesday, a federal Drug Enforcement Administration officer was grazed by a bullet during a buy-and-bust operation on a street in the Bushwick section of Brooklyn.

Cartoonists address issue of homelessness

United Press International

WASHINGTON — The nation's leading comic strip and editorial cartoonists decided to address the problem of homelessness in their work today, hoping "to tug at America's heartstrings through its funny bone."

Artists ranging in styles from Garry Trudeau of "Doonesbury" fame to Johnny Hart of "Wizard of Id" agreed to underscore jointly "the national disgrace of homelessness," according to a project organizer.

"The cartoons you see ... point to a terrible truth in America today. The promise of the American dream has been broken for many of our citizens," said Barry Zigas of the Campaign to End Hunger and Homelessness, a non-partisan coalition of 45 national groups and 3,500 local organizations.

The coalition arranged news conferences nationwide today to coincide with the cartoon work, demanding specific answers to the problem from political leaders such as Vice President George Bush and Massachusetts Gov. Michael Dukakis, the Republican and Democratic presidential candidates.

The coalition noted a recent poll showing the homeless problem second only to the federal deficit on a list of issues voters want to see addressed. There are anywhere from 350,000 to 3 million homeless people in the United States today, 30 percent to 40 percent children, the coalition said.

Area political forums abound

By SANDRA BOUCHAMINE
Herald staff writer

LAKE MARY — Political forums for residents to hear and question candidates for public office in the Nov. 8 general election are scheduled for tonight and tomorrow in Lake Mary and Altamonte Springs.

In Lake Mary tonight from 7 to 9 p.m., the Forest Club Inc., 400 N. Forest Blvd., invites members of its homeowner's association to meet and question local candidates.

They include two candidates for mayor, a two-year term of office: incumbent Richard A. Fess and Randall Morris; Commissioner Seat 1, a one-year term; William "Bill" Greene and Ken King; Commissioner Seat 2, a two-year term; Milt Geffen and David J. Mealar; and Commissioner Seat 4, a two-year term: incumbent Paul D. Tremel and Harry F. Beckham Jr.

The meeting will open at 6 p.m., said John Hauck, chairman. The candidates will state their positions, respond to questions, and engage in an open discussion. Residents may remain after the forum to speak further with the candidates, Hauck said.

Also in Lake Mary, there will be a "Meet the Candidates Night", at 7 p.m. tomorrow in the Community Improvement Association Building on Country Club Road.

About 40 candidates, including those running for school board, county and city races, have been invited. The forum, a six-year tradition in Lake Mary, is sponsored by the Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce. The League of Women Voters of Seminole County, a nonpartisan lobby group, will serve as moderator. This year, DeLores Lash and Bud Raihl are co-chairs of the event.

"This is an opportunity for the public to ask questions that are critical to the county and city. It should be the public that decides what the critical issues are," said Ginger Bowman, legislative action chairman for the league.

Questions from the audience should be written. The league will screen them and direct them to the candidates. Bowman will serve as moderator.

Lash said the event was started as a way to allow all taxpayers and citizens to meet and ask questions of the candidates. Refreshments will be served after the question and answer session and there will be further opportunity to speak with the candidates more informally.

From 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. today, the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce and the Seminole Board of Realtors are sponsoring a candidate screening at the chamber offices, 291 Maitland Ave., in Altamonte Springs.

Candidates who have been invited to attend the forum include Altamonte Springs commissioner seats 1 and 2; Casselberry commissioner seats 1, 2 and 3; Lake Mary commissioner seats 1, 2 and 4; Lake Mary Mayor; Longwood commissioner districts, 3 and 5; Sanford Mayor; and Winter Springs commissioner seats 1, 3 and 5.

Mexican policemen arrested in heroin-selling sting

United Press International

NEW YORK — Undercover federal drug agents arrested two high-ranking Mexican police officials after they took a $15,000 downpayment on a deal to deliver large amounts of heroin to the United States, authorities said.

The Mexicans — police commanders in the Mexican state of Guerrero — were to be arraigned today in state Supreme Court in Manhattan on drug conspiracy charges, said Robert Strang, a spokesman for the federal Drug Enforcement Administration.

The pair braggied to the federal agents that they could bring tons of heroin to New York and boasted that their control over security at a Mexican airport would help facilitate the shipments, Strang said Sunday.

The Mexicans, Pedro Guillen, 39, and Margarita Villagrana, 42, were arrested late Saturday at a "plush midtown hotel" after they took the $15,000 downpayment from the DEA agents in a conspiracy to ship at least 50 kilograms of heroin monthly, Strang said.

"They came here to get a look at the operation in New York" before setting up a trade with people they thought were leading traffickers, he said.

The DEA agents passed themselves off as major traffickers of Hispanic background who could distribute as much heroin as the Mexican police commanders could provide, he said.

The Mexicans told the agents they controlled security in their region and could close an airport so the Americans could fly in to pick up the heroin undetected.

Strang said. The suspects added that they could also deliver the heroin to the United States themselves.

Strang said the Mexican officers had been involved in heroin distribution in the U.S. before, and that information provided to a joint New York City, state and federal anti-drug task force "led (investigators) to the commandantes."

"Based on undercover conversations and intelligence information, it is alleged that they have been responsible for drug shipments to the U.S. in the past," he said.

The Mexicans flew to the United States on Friday and met with an undercover agent Saturday. The DEA then taped a conversation during which the Mexicans took the $15,000 and agreed to deliver the drugs, and the two were arrested minutes later, Strang said.

Law enforcement authorities in the Acapulco region, where the agents worked, were notified shortly after the arrests, Strang said.

New York state special narcotics prosecutor Sterling Johnson will be handling the case against the two suspects.

The arrests were seen as significant because the pair could have provided a major source for heroin coming into the United States, said Strang, adding that the bulk of heroin imported into the country comes from Asia.

Last January, authorities indicted nine people, including three Mexican police officials, in Los Angeles on federal charges in the torture and killing of an American drug agent in Mexico in 1985. Three of the nine were convicted.

Fire erupts at theater showing 'Last Temptation'

United Press International

PARIS — Church and government officials condemned a suspected arson attack on a movie theater complex where the controversial film, "The Last Temptation of Christ," was being shown.

Authorities said 10 people were injured early Sunday by a fire of suspicious origin that raced through the theater shortly after the film ended. Part of the theater complex, in the heart of the Latin Quarter, was gutted by the blaze, which was quickly extinguished by about 100 firefighters.

The theater manager said he had received a threatening letter about the film.

Four spectators and six police officers who helped evacuate the theater were hospitalized for treatment of smoke inhalation, police said. One of the spectators suffered serious injuries, they said.

The controversial Martin Scorsese film, which includes erotic scenes of Jesus and Mary Magdalene, has sparked sometimes violent protests since its release in France last month over objections by groups that call it blasphemous. Three weeks ago, an explosion and fire destroyed part of a theater showing the film in Beaune, in central-eastern France.

Culture Minister Jack Lang visited the burned-out Paris theater and condemned the incident as a violation of free expression.

Cardinal Jean-Marie Lustiger, the archbishop of Paris who has objected to the film, appealed to those behind such attacks to stop, saying, "You think you are defending Christ, but you are doing just the opposite. Any time you use violence, those who are hurt are Christ himself."

A preliminary investigation indicated that moments after spectators who watched "The Last Temptation of Christ" began leaving, the fire started under a seat in a second showing room nearby. Investigators said there were only about 18 people in the theater complex, which includes two showing rooms, at the time.

"It spread quickly and the flames got as high as 2 meters (8 1/2 feet)," said Pascal Gerard, the theater manager. Gerard said the blaze destroyed the movie screen and most of the seats in the room where it started, but caused only minor damage in the room showing the movie.

Heaps of charred wood and broken glass could be seen through the burned-out theater entrance after police cordoned off the building facade.

Whale rescue effort growing

United Press International

BARROW, Alaska — An international rescue mission tried to move giant icebreaking machines into the battle to save two trapped California gray whales, while Eskimos had more success with a simpler method, chopping a path of air holes the animals were using to inch toward freedom.

Ron Morris, rescue coordinator with the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, said the two surviving whales could reach open water by Wednesday if the weather holds. No storms were in the forecast.

A third whale stopped coming up for air last week and is presumed drowned. Whale experts said Sunday the survivors were in good shape.

A growing international effort, including a pair of Soviet icebreakers steaming toward Barrow, was under way as scores of military, scientific and civilian volunteers battled subzero temperatures to free the stranded whales.

The world's biggest plane, the state's largest helicopter, the two Soviet icebreakers, a giant ice-eating tractor, a huge ice-crushing barge and a 5-ton concrete "bullet" were all being used or brought to the scene of an ever more bizarre and costly effort.

But the most successful strategy so far was being used by the Eskimos, who hacked away at the ice with donated logging chain saws and their own whale hunting tools to create a path of more than 60 air holes toward the open sea about 3 miles from the original hole where the whales were trapped Oct. 7 before they could begin their migration to Mexico.

"It's hard work. If we had more tools we could go faster," said Lawrence Ahmaogak, who led a recent successful hunt for bowhead whales. "It makes us feel good inside to save those whales."

At one time the whales were 7 miles from the nearest open channel, but the air holes and winds shifting the ice has put the giant mammals just 3 miles from open water.

Eskimos connected several of the holes Sunday to create a 250-foot trench in the ice, long enough for the whales to surface and breathe more normally.

As reporters from around the world kept pouring into Barrow, an Eskimo village of 3,100 and the northernmost town in the United States, to chronicle the effort to free the whales, military planes delivered a Navy admiral, an ice expert and more Eskimo ice cutters from a nearby village.

An ice-breaking barge got bogged down in ice and traveled only 8 miles from Prudhoe Bay in a week, and a National Guard Sky Crane helicopter bouncing a 5-ton cement-and-steel bullet off the ice was not having much success because the holes froze over as fast as they were punched.

The heavy "bullet" was being used to try to smash through a 30-foot deep ridge of ice that lurks between the path of holes and the open sea — considered the last major barrier to the whales' escape.

The latest high-tech approach — the Archimedian Screw Tractor supplied by Prudhoe Bay oil companies — was delivered by a giant C-5A Air Force cargo plane and was expected to join the effort today.

The $650,000, 23,000-pound tractor, the only one in the world, can break ice 2 feet thick, churning through it and riding on pontoons when it breaks through. The C-5A, the world's biggest plane, was the only aircraft big enough to carry up the tractor.

"Everybody loves whales. Did you ever meet anybody who didn't like whales?" said Lloyd R. Breslau, an executive of Arctic Offshore in Columbia, Md., who flew to Alaska to make sure the thing worked.

Speaker violates national security

Should the CIA provide covert assistance to democratic opponents of Marxist regimes such as the Sandinistas in Nicaragua?

House Speaker Jim Wright apparently believes not. So he blew the whistle on the CIA's secret support for various Nicaraguan labor unions and political organizations that are challenging the Sandinistas' monopoly on power.

In blowing the CIA's cover, Speaker Wright dealt a blow to Nicaraguan opposition groups by exposing their contacts with "Yankee imperialists" — the term used for Americans by the Sandinista press. At the same time, the House Democratic leader handed a propaganda victory to President Daniel Ortega, who has sought all along to portray his political opposition as mere stooges of the CIA. Indeed, Mr. Wright's indiscretion was trumpeted in banner headlines across the top of the Sandinistas' official newspaper, Harcada, as evidence that opponents of the regime are purely fabrications of the CIA.

Moreover, the speaker, by accusing the CIA of fomenting riots, has lent support to Sandinista attempts to discredit the democratic opposition as rabble-rousers intent on disrupting public order. For example, when opposition parties held a peaceful protest rally in the town of Nandaime last July, Sandinista thugs attacked the demonstrators, injuring several and arresting 39 others who are still being held as political prisoners. Does Speaker Wright swallow the regime's assertion that the violence in Nandaime was provoked by the CIA?

By publicly denouncing the CIA's clandestine activities, Mr. Wright has done more than perform a disservice to the democratic forces in Nicaragua. He has also harmed the fragile relationship between the Congress and the CIA by disclosing classified information to the intelligence committees of the House and Senate.

The CIA is required by law to disclose its covert operations to the intelligence committees and certain other high-ranking members of Congress, including the speaker of the House and the majority leader of the Senate. Speaker Wright, who has special access to classified CIA briefings, has demonstrated once again that America's intelligence professionals have ample reason to be wary of reporting their top-secret activities to Congress. Rarely has the CIA been burned by such a brazen leak of classified material.

Mr. Wright asserts that his disclosure was not based on classified information, even though he cited "clear testimony" by administration officials as the source of his knowledge. Inasmuch as the administration has never publicly acknowledged its secret support for opposition political groups in Nicaragua, it is difficult to imagine that Mr. Wright's disclosure was based on anything other than classified sources.

Republican members of the House and Senate have rightly called for an official investigation to determine whether the speaker's loose lips were a violation of congressional ethics rules, which bar the release of classified intelligence. Until this question is resolved, legitimate concerns will continue about cracks in the secrecy required of American intelligence operations abroad.

Answer man remembers, doesn't predict

WASHINGTON — The Campaign Answer Man, who has been lying doggo this fall to protest the low level of the presidential contest, has consented to a brief interview to give us his opinions about the state of the campaign.

Question: Welcome back, sir. How do you view the 1988 campaign?

Answer Man: Dimly, sonny, dimly. But first, let me say something — this is the last interview I'm giving on this subject. The people have had it up to here with interviews about the campaign. Read my lips: No more interviews!

Question: Well, in that case, perhaps we should get right to the nub of the matter. Who is going to win Nov. 8?

Answer Man: Let me tell you a story, sonny. There was this election some years back that was supposed to be won by the Republican candidate. The pollsters said he had it in the bag. The politicians said he had it in the bag. The newspapers, well, one of them wrote, "The election must be held if for no other reason than to find out which national pollster comes the closest."

Well, after the election, which was won by the Democrat, another paper ran a cartoon showing the fat rear end of a guy labeled "All us political experts," with the title, "Kick me."

So I tell you what, I think I know who is going to win come November, but I'm sure as heck not going to go running around making predictions in October.

Question: As you wish, sir, but the experts and the polls do seem to agree that Mr. Bush is leading. Do you doubt that?

Answer Man: Of course not. Those pollsters say he's ahead, and he sure is ... in their polls. And I'm certainly not going to knock experts; where would I be if you folks didn't come around asking us what is going to happen.

But let me tell you how this business of experting is done. Somebody asks me who is going to win this game or that election. Usually I have a hunch, but sometimes I call up one of my buddy experts and check out his hunch. Sometimes I even go to watch the team play a game or watch the candidate campaign. But you know, after all that my hunch usually turns out to be my expert opinion.

people have had it up to here with interviews about the campaign.

Now, I'm wrong sometimes. So are most of us experts. But if just one other expert is right, he gets a lot of praise and attention and usually nobody asks me how I could have been so dumb. The only time that happens is when all of us experts are wrong. And when we're all right, nobody seems to think it was a big deal.

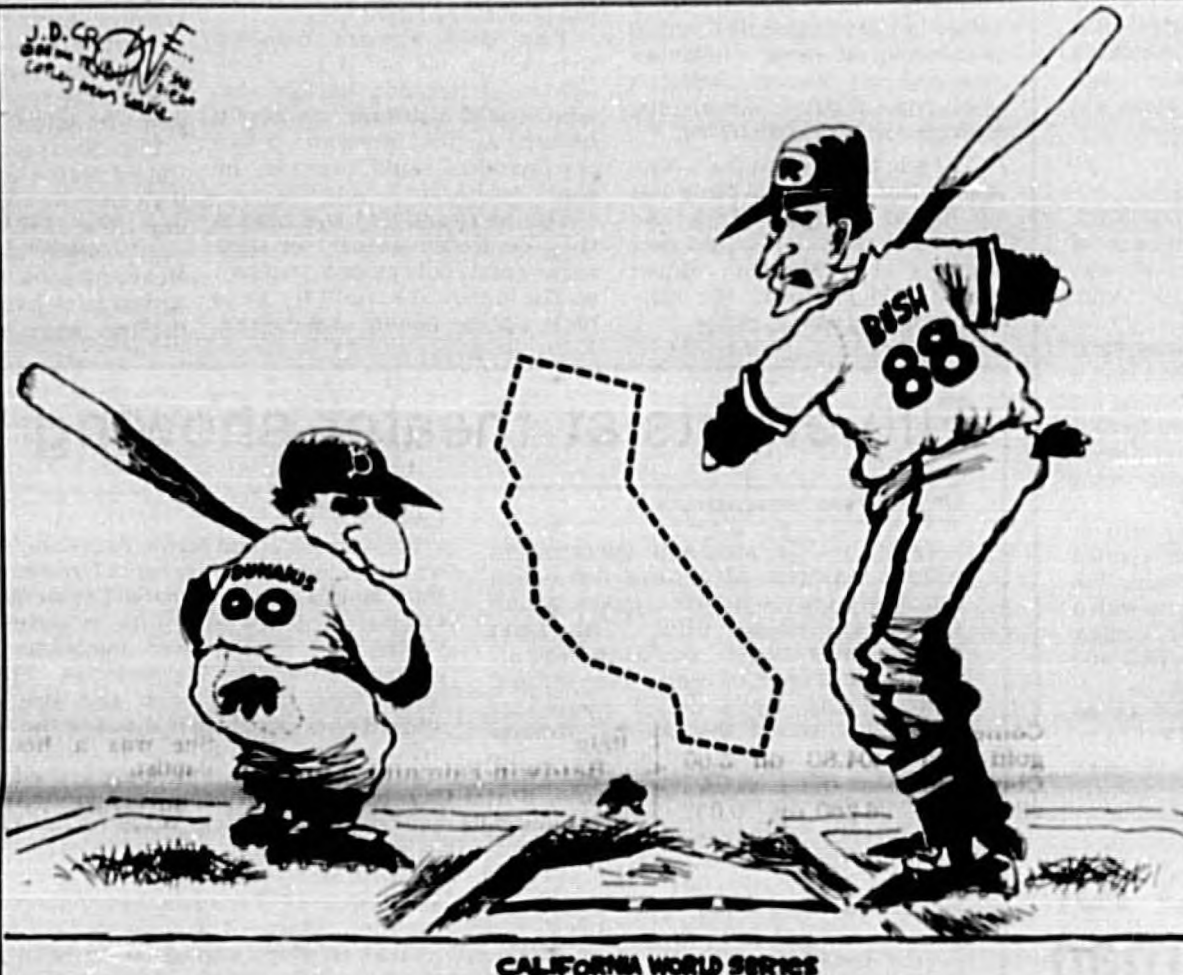

Question: So what does all that mean this year?

Answer Man: It means, sonny, that all those pollsters and all us experts may be right and we may be wrong. But nobody is going to find out until after the votes are counted and then it makes no difference what we said.

Question: But what is your advice to us common folk who want to know what is going to happen?

Answer Man: Go vote and make what you want happen. Oh yes, and remember 1948.

Skeletons fill Dukakis' closet

WASHINGTON — Murderer Willie Horton is not the only skeleton in Gov. Michael Dukakis' closet. Horton raped a woman and stabbed a man while out on a Massachusetts prison furlough program. He has become the instrument for George Bush to label Dukakis as soft on crime.

Add Thomas Childs to the list of criminals that Dukakis trusted too far. Dukakis pardoned Childs in 1975. He had served time for armed robbery, but was such a model prisoner that the governor decided to clear Childs' record. In 1983, Childs confessed to killing a father of three. The pardon allowed him to legally carry the gun he used and was directly responsible in 1986 for overturning a conviction of that killing.

Childs is being re-tried for murder in Boston this week. His case is another example, Dukakis critics charge, of a pardon and furlough policy that reflects poor judgement by the governor.

The latest test of Massachusetts justice began when Thomas Childs was an out-of-control teenager. Between 1959 and 1962, he was convicted of being "idle and disorderly," using a false name, larceny, breaking and entering and using a vehicle without authorization. In 1963, Childs hit the big time. He escaped from prison and committed armed robbery.

He went back to prison and, according to his attorney, became a model prisoner. He was paroled in 1970 and began doing social work around Boston, rehabilitating other prisoners.

State officials liked what they saw and recommended in 1975 that Dukakis clear Childs' slate with a pardon. The governor agreed.

Then, in the early morning hours of Aug. 20, 1983, Childs was hanging out in front of a coffee shop with three companions. In a car parked nearby were three men, including Kostas Efstathiou, asleep in the front seat. There was some kind of altercation. In a taped confession to police, and in his subsequent trial, Childs admitted drawing his gun and cocking it. But he claimed the gun went off accidentally. Efstathiou was shot through the mouth and the bullet penetrated his skull.

The jury didn't believe it was an accident and convicted Childs of second degree murder. But the defense appealed and got the conviction overturned on the grounds that Childs' prior criminal record was raised during the trial. The gubernatorial pardon had cleared that record and, legally, it could not be used against Childs. Childs is being tried again on the same charge.

Efstathiou's widow wrote Dukakis a letter saying she prayed "that God will give you the wisdom to exercise more discretion when you have other petitions put before you." She said Dukakis had "wiped a criminal record clean with the stroke of a pen," but could do nothing to return Efstathiou to his wife and children.

Dukakis wrote back saying that he knew nothing he could tell her would "ease the pain." And, he added, "I deeply regret that the man who took your husband's life received a gubernatorial pardon."

Footnote: We have been writing a series of investigative reports on Dukakis recently and would have liked to report the governor's personal response. But Dukakis' salespeople have chosen to closet their product from one-on-one questions. We were promised an interview in July and that fell through, but his aides have continued to string us along with more promises.

Victim's rights come first

BOSTON—First, a stark dose of reality: Rapists don't use condoms. They don't follow the Surgeon General's guidelines for safer sex.

So today the brutality of sexual assault has a whole new dimension of anguish for the victim. Did the rapist have AIDS? Do I have it now? Did I survive the attack to die of the disease he left behind?

Questions such as these have become routine to rape-crisis counselors and victim-assistance programs. And with them have come a new series of conflicts. Can we force every rape suspect to be tested for AIDS? Must we protect the privacy of a man who may have deposited a deadly calling card?

This intensely emotional issue was placed before a Connecticut court this month. Under state law, a victim could have a suspect tested for syphilis or gonorrhea. But the Bridgeport judge ruled she wasn't entitled to have the suspect tested for AIDS. In a torturous bit of semantics, the judge declared that AIDS was not a venereal disease.

No other court will likely have the luxury to sidestep this matter in such a peculiar way. The legal, ethical and medical issues still lit out there, waiting to be resolved.

In our legal system, we presume that a man is innocent until proven guilty. The pressure to test rape suspects comes smack up against that presumption. There are enormous risks to civil liberties when any man accused of rape, rightly or wrongly, could be forcibly tested.

But what of men who are already convicted of rape? Should we be allowed to test them at all?

Those who say "no" do so often on technical grounds. They remind us that there is no absolute certainty in test results. There is a lag between the time of infection and the time antibodies develop. If an assailant comes up negative, he may yet harbor the virus. If he is found to carry the virus, the victim still won't know whether he transmitted it to her.

"The sad fact is, you can't know by testing the perpetrator," says Beth Weinstein of the AIDS office in the Connecticut health department. The woman still must test herself. Nevertheless Weinstein describes herself as "torn" on the question of testing rapists.

Her ambivalence is echoed by many for a simple reason: On the other side of this conflict is the victim. Even if the knowledge to be gained by testing isn't perfect, it is better than nothing and she may want it. Isn't she entitled to whatever margin of comfort or caution it would provide for her and her family?

Ronald Bayer, a bioethicist at the Columbia University School of Public Health, says carefully: "In the situation of rape, if the woman believes that her sense of well-being would be enhanced by information, however ambiguous, then her claims ought to take priority over those of the rapist."

That, it seems to me, is the humane minimum. At bottom, the victim's rights to know is greater than a convicted rapist's right to privacy.

There are some who disagree, who want to build a Maginot line against any form of mandatory testing. But these absolutists lose their moral footing. There is a difference between massive testing such as the pre-marital screening going on in Illinois—a model of absurdity—and a careful program for rape victims.

At the same time, there are limits when you only test convicted rapists rather than suspects. Many believe that a rapist with AIDS commits an even greater crime. How do you make that charge before you know whether he carries the virus?

There is also the cruelty of the waiting period. It takes a year for the average rape case to come to trial—a long year of anxiety. Indeed, the AIDS epidemic lends special weight to the long-time demand of victims' groups for a speedy trial.

These are the murkiest of waters. We are just now wading into them. Even victims' rights groups like the National Organization for Victim Assistance offer a two-sided argument on this issue in a newsletter with the neutral headline: "A Deadly Problem in Search of a Policy."

But there is a place to begin. Yes, a convicted rapist can be required to take an AIDS test and give the results to his victim. This is, after all, the very least he owes her.

the judge declared that AIDS was not a venereal disease.

Dukakis has no one to blame but himself.

Prices open slightly down

United Press International

NEW YORK — Prices opened slightly lower today in light trading of New York Stock Exchange issues.

The Dow Jones Industrial average, which rose 2.31 Friday, was off 3.20 to 2180.30 shortly after the market opened.

Declines led advances 343-178 among the 826 issues crossing the New York Stock Exchange tape. Early turnover amounted to about 5,430,000 shares.

Takeover news continued to affect Wall Street this morning with Kraft announcing Sunday it has rejected an $11.8 billion cash takeover bid by Philip Morris Cos. and instead is offering a dividend package for shareholders.

Kraft valued the new package at more than $110 a share, well above Philip Morris's $90-per-share offer, meaning the tobacco giant would have to substantially boost its offer if it hopes to acquire Kraft.

Stock prices closed slightly higher Friday in active trading after a last-minute spurt of buying pushed the Dow to its highest level since last October's collapse for the third time this week.

Kraft rejects takeover bid

United Press International

GLENVIEW, Ill. — Kraft Inc. has rejected an $11.8 billion cash takeover bid by Philip Morris Cos., calling the offer "inadequate" and announcing instead a dividend package for shareholders that would mark the largest restructuring in corporate history.

Kraft valued the new package, announced Sunday, at more than $110 a share, well above Philip Morris's $90-per-share offer, meaning the tobacco giant would have to substantially boost its offer if it hopes to acquire Kraft.

"Your board believes that we should take action to maximize shareholder value rather than accept an inadequate offer," John M. Richman, Kraft chairman and chief executive officer, wrote in a letter to stockholders.

Kraft, the nation's No. 1 food company, saw its stock soar more than $30 a share after Philip Morris made its offer last Monday. Kraft stock closed at $92 a share on the New York Stock Exchange Friday.

A takeover would have been the second largest merger in U.S. history.

"First, our investment banker, Goldman, Sachs & Co., has advised us that the bid is inadequate, and second, our stock has been trading above the $90 offer, a clear signal that investors see the bid as low," Richman said.

Analyst: Gas price Dip may be last

United Press International

LOS ANGELES — Although a recent decline in gasoline pump prices may be coming to an end, fuel remains relatively cheap and consumers have little to complain about, an oil industry analyst said Sunday.

During the two-week period that ended Oct. 21, the average price of a gallon of gasoline dropped 0.79 cents nationwide, said Trilby Lundberg, who regularly surveys prices at 13,000 gasoline stations across the country.

It was the fourth drop of nearly a cent since August and might be the last for a while, Lundberg said.

"It'll take more than a few days, but if the trend continues, this could be the last drop of this size for the immediate time," she said.

But, she said, the average price of 100.04 cents is still 1.17 cents lower than a gallon of gasoline cost at the same time last year.

"I think there is a perception on the part of motorists that the price is low," she said. "Food costs may be rising, but fuel prices look good in the basket of consumer items."

Lundberg said the last several days has seen a turnaround in the wholesale market with prices beginning to rise slightly. The result could be cuts in retailers' profit margins.

will provide about 400 housing units.

Geuka said Oais, which is made up of local investors, hopes to obtain a loan from the Florida Housing Finance Agency to help finance the initial apartment buildings. However, being approved for the loan requires participation of local government in the project.

The last session of the Florida Legislature appropriated $14.4 million for the State Apartment Incentive Program (SAIL), which offers low interest loans to developers to pay up to 25 percent of the cost of low and moderate priced housing.

Susan Leigh, administrator of the SAIL program, said the application period for the loans began on Oct. 7 and will close Dec. 7. The loans will be granted on a competitive basis, with points being assigned each application according to, among other things, the amount of local government participation, she said.

"We're looking for projects that will create the most housing for low and moderate income people for the least amount of state money," she said.

Points will also be awarded on the basis of the percentage of low and moderate income renters the projects will serve. Leigh said a minimum of 20 percent of the units must be rented to people in those income categories and additional points will be awarded as the percentage rises, to a maximum of 40 percent.

Geuka said the program is intended to foster a cooperative effort between private development and government to provide lower cost housing.

"The tremendous growth this area is experiencing has put a lot of pressure on the housing industry," he noted. "Most of the jobs in this area are in the service sector, paying between minimum wage and $7 per hour, but most of houses being built are out of range for people in this income category," he said.

Geuka said he has not yet begun talking to city officials about what type of government involvement the city may be willing to provide in order for the company to be eligible for the state loan.

"It can range from a letter of support to using Community Development Block Grant funds or possibly federal Urban Development Action Grant funds, or money from the state Pre-development Trust Fund to pay the developer's impact fees," he said.

Geuka said impact fees for the development could amount to as much as $1.2 million. "This is a big bite for a developer and could mean the difference between whether we can market the units as housing for low and moderate income residents."

He said the community must be committed to providing housing for low and moderate income residents if the project is to be built. "The state has expressed its commitment to lower cost housing through this appropriation and now local government is being asked to express its commitment," he said.

Geuka also hopes to use a similar state loan program to develop single family housing on the site, but said that part of the development is on the "back burner" until possible appropriation by the state Legislature.

Leigh said the Legislature created a loan program to keep down payments on housing to 5 percent of the sale price for low and moderate income buyers. However, only $200,000 was appropriated for the program last year. She said the agency will push for increased appropriation next session to make the down payment assistance program available statewide.

New Doctors Discovery
Weight Loss Pill Approved for U.S. Gov't. Patent

'Lazy Way' to Lose Weight Already Sweeping U.S.

BEVERLY HILLS, CA (Special)—An amazing new weight loss pill called "fat-magnet" has recently been developed and perfected by two prominent doctors at a world famous hospital in Los Angeles that reportedly "guarantees" you steady fat loss and calorie reduction by simply taking their tested and proven new pill.

The U.S. government has just approved the doctors' claims for a hard-to-get patent that confirms "there has never been anything like their fat-bonding pill process before." It is a totally new major scientific breakthrough and is revolutionizing the weight loss industry.

You Can "Eat Normally"
Best of all, "you can continue to eat your favorite foods and you don't have to change your normal eating habits. You can start losing fat and reduce calories from the very first day, until you achieve the ideal weight you desire without exercising."

Flushes Fat Out of Body
The new pill is appropriately called the "fat-magnet" pill because it breaks into thousands of particles, each acting like a tiny magnet, "attracting" and trapping many times its size in undigested fat particles. Then, all the trapped fat and calories are naturally "flushed" right out of your body because they cannot be absorbed.

Within 2 days you should notice a change in the color of your stool, caused by the fat particles being eliminated.

"Automatically" Lose Fat
According to one of the inventors, Dr. William Shell, heart specialist and associate professor of medicine at UCLA medical school, "the new fat-bonding process is a "lazy way" to lose weight because the pills alone "automatically" reduce calories by eliminating dietary fat. It is 100% safe and not a drug."

The fat-magnet pills are already sweeping the country with glowing reports of weight loss from formerly overweight people in all walks of life who are now slimmer, trimmer and more attractive again.

Now Available to the Public
If you are trying to lose 20, 50, 100 pounds or more, you can order your supply of these "no-risk" highly successful fat-magnet pills directly from the doctors' exclusive manufacturer only (includes optional calorie-reduction plan for even better results). Send $20 for a 90 pill supply (+$3 handling), or $35 for a 180 pill supply (+$3 handling), to: Fat-Magnet, 9016 Wilshire Blvd., Dept. W246, Beverly Hills, CA 90211. (Unconditional money-back guarantee if not 100% satisfied.) Visa, MasterCard and American Express OK. (Send card number, expire date, and signature.) For fastest service for credit card orders ONLY call anytime 24 hours, toll free (1-800) 527-9700, ext. W246.

Seminole school principals, Dawn Reynolds and Norma Ragdale. Over the years it has been located in Lakeview and Crooms schools, at the airport, and most recently at Seminole High School.

The organization trains mostly girls in competitive gymnastics, and usually has about 100 girls taking classes, and 40 attending competitive meets. Stiffey said most of the girls are of elementary and junior high age, with some starting as young as four years of age.

Most of the girls begin in class five, and work up to class four, although a few advance to class three and two, Stiffey said. "By the time they reach high school, most are into cheerleading or girls' athletics and don't continue with gymnastics lessons," she said. She notes that the school district is trying to establish gymnastics programs in all high schools in the county.

A program for boys also is being organized, with Rob Le Gault, physical education teacher at Hamilton Elementary, coaching. Stiffey says the club needs to purchase even parallel bars and a high bar to train boys for competition.

Competitive meets in class four are held September through December with a sectional meet held in November and the state meet in December. Classes three and two complete from January to April.

The organization is a member of the U.S. Gymnastics Federation and several coaches are USGF-qualified judges.

Money for the building project was partially raised through a fundraiser at Sea World organized by Curt Thomas, gymnast at the attraction. About $50,000 was raised, but Stiffey says another $25,000 is needed to pay for the building.

Contractors on the project and other businesses have donated labor and materials for the project, and the organization will stage several fundraisers during the coming months to raise the remainder of the money needed.

People who wish to contribute to the organization's building fund may contact Wayne Keeling at the Sun Bank on Orlando Drive, or Stiffey at 401 Beth Drive. The association is available to give gymnastics programs and demonstrations for any group, Stiffey says.

Bush accused of racism

United Press International

George Bush's presidential campaign denies troubling allegations that it has smeared opponent Michael Dukakis with direct deceptions and indirect racism.

The latest campaign bitterness boiled over as Dukakis's Democratic allies, including running mate Lloyd Bentsen and former rival Jesse Jackson, spoke publicly about the clear and subtle messages they see in the GOP strategy.

"There have been a number of rather ugly race-conscious signals sent from that campaign," Jackson told a brief Sunday news conference in Boston, where he joined Dukakis at a breakfast with national black leaders.

Setting out to slump for the Massachusetts governor in nearby New York, the black Chicago preacher and civil rights leader accused the Bush campaign of trying to spread "horrible" fears — and in a union rally at Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., he denounced the vice president for contriving star-spangled themes in repeated attempts to question Dukakis's patriotism.

"We love the flag. We pledge allegiance. We love our country. That's not the issue," Jackson said. "More and more American flags are made in Taiwan and South Korea. We get the jobs, they get the jobs. That's the substance of it."

Bentsen, the senior senator from Texas, spoke sternly on the issue of racism in a Sunday morning television interview, suggesting a subtle fear tactic in Bush campaign advertisements that focus on a black murderer's escape from the Massachusetts prison system while on furlough under Dukakis's administration.

"When you add it up," Bentsen said, "I think there is (racist appeal) and that's unfortunate. I think that's one of the reasons the American people will turn against them, with that kind of campaign."

"We've presented assertions and facts that are all documented and they're all true," Bush adviser Charles Black,

Teamsters trial begins in federal court

CLEVELAND — Two Teamsters officials indicted with the late union President Jackie Pesser were allowed to fight embezzlement charges in their trial with statements by two FBI agents that the defendants were taking part in a federal investigation.

Local 507 officials Anthony Hughes and Harold Friedman are accused of embezzling $700,000 from the union in a payroll-padding scheme. Pesser died in July without ever going on trial as the fourth president of the international union to be indicted.

The previous three — Dave Beck, Jimmy Hoffa and Roy Williams — were all convicted and sent to prison.

Opening statements in the trial were to begin today, nearly two weeks after jury selection opened and nearly two years after the indictment was handed up.

Kraft rejects takeover bid, offers plan

GLENVIEW, Ill. — Kraft Inc. has rejected an $11.8 billion cash takeover bid by Phillip Morris Cos., calling the offer "inadequate" and announcing instead a dividend package for shareholders that would mark the largest restructuring in corporate history.

Kraft valued the new package, announced Sunday, at more than $110 a share, well above Phillip Morris's $90-per-share offer, meaning the tobacco giant would have to substantially boost its offer if it hopes to acquire Kraft.

Kraft, the nation's No. 1 food company, saw its stock soar more than $30 a share after Phillip Morris made its offer last Monday. Kraft stock closed at $92 a share on the New York Stock Exchange Friday.

A takeover would have been the second largest merger in U.S. history.

Byrd's muktluks draw big bucks

LYNNFIELD, Mass. — More than 60 years after his historic plane flight over the North Pole, belongings of explorer Adm. Robert Byrd, including fur coats, muktluks and even underwear he wore on his expeditions, have been sold at auction, netting more than $200,000 for his heirs.

A naval officer's dress saber, given to Byrd in 1930 by the state of Virginia in honor of his expeditions, fetched the highest price — $9,500 — at the Sunday auction, according to Carl Stinson, the Boston auctioneer who conducted the event.

About 500 bidders from as far away as California, Canada and England paid from $50 to $9,500 each for more than 500 of the items that Byrd gathered during a lifetime of historic exploits.

The auction had been opposed by Byrd's son, the late Richard Byrd Jr. of Boston, whose body was found Oct. 3 in a Baltimore warehouse after a three-week disappearance. He died of apparent natural causes after disappearing while on his way to an event honoring his father.

Byrd made the first airplane flight over the North Pole in 1926 and the first over the South Pole on Nov. 29, 1929. His first expedition to southern polar regions arrived at Antarctica in December 1928 and his expeditions continued through 1955.

L.A. gangs kill six, wound four

Six die as record pace of gang slayings continues

United Press International

LOS ANGELES — Six people died and four others were wounded in separate weekend gang activities, including a knife fight that broke out when a gang crashed a "Sweet 16" birthday party.

The slayings late Friday through Sunday increased the record gang-related death toll for the Los Angeles area.

For the first nine months of the year, 245 people were killed by gang violence in areas patrolled by the Los Angeles police and sheriff's departments, up from 215 slain during the same period in 1987, according to the most recent statistics.

In the latest incident of gang violence, a man was shot and wounded in the leg about 9:50 p.m. Sunday when gang members drove up to a crowd of about 20 rival gang members outside a pizza restaurant. Lt. Roger Fox said.

Fox said friends took the wounded man to Los Angeles County-USC Medical Center. His condition was not immediately known.

Migel Cruz, 21, was fatally stabbed about 10:35 p.m. Saturday in a fight that broke out when several local gang members crashed the birthday party for two girls in Valinda, about 20 miles east of downtown Los Angeles. Deputy Gabe Ramirez said.

Two other partygoers were wounded in the brawl outside the party. Azael Martinez, 18, and his 10-year-old brother, Obed, were treated for stab wounds at a local hospital and released. Cruz died at Terrace Plaza Medical Center.

About 10 p.m. Saturday in East Los Angeles, Alfred Raya, 20, was shot and killed while standing on a sidewalk by gunfire from a passing car carrying suspected gang members, detective Leroy Orozco said. He died a short time later at County-USC Medical Center.

At 11:10 p.m. Saturday in Koreatown, Herman Lazo, 22, was shot and fatally wounded while standing with gang members outside an apartment. Detective Jim McCann said. He died at California Medical Center.

Members of a rival gang drove by, yelled out the name of their gang and opened fire, McCann said. An 18-year-old who was shot in the leg in the attack was treated at a local hospital and released.

About midnight Saturday, Timothy Simos, a 19-year-old gang member, was shot and killed while standing with friends in Lincoln Park in East Los Angeles. Lt. Sergio Robledo said. He was taken to County-USC Medical Center where he died about 10:30 a.m.

In another attack late Saturday, Jeffrey Simmons, 21, was shot and killed by gang members who pulled alongside his pickup truck and opened fire in South Los Angeles. Deputy Roger Homas said.

Late Friday, Susan Bradley, 29, was caught in the crossfire and fatally wounded in the neck when gang members began shooting after a Fairfax High School football game. Sgt. John Zrosky said.

Law enforcement authorities estimate there are about 600 gangs with 70,000 members in Los Angeles County. In 1987, countywide there were a record 387 gang slayings.

Extremists urge more suicide bombings

United Press International

BEIRUT, Lebanon — Rallying to the words of a young suicide bomber who urged his father to "detonate yourself and kill them all," pro-Iranian extremists vowed at a Beirut ceremony to carry out more attacks like the one that killed 241 U.S. servicemen in 1983.

About 5,000 supporters of the Shiite Hezbollah, or Party of God, packed a downtown mosque Sunday to commemorate the fifth anniversary of the bombing. Pro-Iranian clergyman Sheikh Maher Hammoud urged them to "stay on the path of suicide" and said future attacks would be aimed against Israel.

"We all remember the martyrdom bombing of the American and French headquarters five years ago. Two faithful strugglers exploded themselves, forcing Western countries to change their policy," Hammoud said as the crowd interrupted him with shouts of "God is Great!"

Hammoud called for more suicide attacks "to force Israel to surrender."

One extremist even spoke from beyond the grave. A suicide bomber who died in last Tuesday's bloody car-bomb attack on an Israeli military convoy in southern Lebanon appeared in a videotape distributed to reporters, urging others to follow his example.

Abdullah Atwi, in his early 20s, repeatedly smiled in the 35-minute film and begged his mother to forgive him. "I do not want you to be sad. As soon as you hear the news about my martyrdom, I want you to rejoice and wear the most colorful cloths you have."

The Shiite youth, who appeared relaxed, also asked his father, who lives in the village of Markaba about 2 miles from Israel's border, not to deal with the Israelis. "I want you to detonate yourself and kill them all," he said.

Security sources, meanwhile, said South Lebanon Army troops were combing the region, questioning villagers about Tuesday's attack.

The Christian Voice of Free Lebanon radio said four Palestinian guerrillas were shot and killed as they attacked Israeli-supported troops near the Lebanese village of Hasbaya, 37 miles south of the capital.

The headquarters of the U.S. Marines near the Beirut airport south of the capital was bombed Oct. 23, 1983, by a youth who slammed an explosives-laden truck into the barracks, killing 241 U.S. servicemen.

Simultaneously, another suicide driver attacked a nearby position of French paratroopers, killing more than 50 soldiers. The U.S. and French troops were part of a multinational force deployed to restore peace.

Five years later, Marines killed in Beirut remembered

United Press International

ARLINGTON, Va. — In the five years since a suicide terrorist destroyed the Marine barracks in Beirut and killed 241 U.S. servicemen, thoughts of the "devastation and agonies" have diminished, but the father of one of the dead pleaded that they not be forgotten.

About 50 friends and relatives of those killed gathered Sunday, the fifth anniversary of the bombing, for a wreath-laying ceremony in Arlington National Cemetery.

The chalk-white grave-stones stood out among the brilliant fall foliage and unblemished blue sky as flags of the Marine color guard flapped in the wind during the memorial for the servicemen, most of them Marines, who were sent to Beirut by President Reagan on a peace-keeping mission.

The men were killed on Oct. 23, 1983, as they lay sleeping early on a Sunday morning by a driver on a suicide mission who crashed into their barracks with a flatbed truck laden with explosives.

Arab leaders may be ready to talk peace

United Press International

CAIRO, Egypt — Leaders of Egypt, Jordan and the PLO, after closing gaps in their ranks at a weekend Arab mini-summit, have signaled readiness in open peace talks with Jerusalem in an apparent effort to influence next week's Israeli elections.

An Egyptian government spokesman said the three parties forged a unified position at a meeting Saturday at the Jordanian port of Aqaba. The summit was attended by Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak, Jordan's King Hussein and Palestine Liberation Organization leader Yasser Arafat.

"The meeting in itself and the Arab support it realized should prove to all regional and international parties that there is an Arab front ready for negotiation," said Mamdouh El-Beltagi, chief of the State Information Service.

"The Arab negotiator is available and is ready to begin the negotiating process," El-Beltagi said.

The improvement in relations also was hailed by Arafat in Baghdad and King Hussein in Amman. "Nobody can place obstacles in the way of an international conference by claiming the Arab position is not united," Arafat told a Baghdad news conference. "Now, there is a united Arab position."

Hussein, in a statement broadcast by Amman Radio, described his talks with Mubarak and Arafat as a "positive contribution to a joint Arab action in support of the heroic struggle of the Palestinian people to achieve their legitimate national rights."

"Like Arafat, Hussein said the "only way to achieve a just, durable and comprehensive peace is through the convening of an international conference."

The mini-summit's greatest accomplishment toward enhancing Arab unity was to patch up relations between Jordan and the PLO, which had deteriorated since Hussein announced July 31 he was breaking off administrative and economic links with the occupied West Bank.

Hussein said he agreed with Arafat "to continue their contacts with the objective of coordinating their positions in their effort to serve the Palestinian cause and achieve a comprehensive, just and durable peace."

Arafat said the Aqaba mini-summit "laid down the foundations of a new relationship between Jordan and the PLO, following the Jordanian disengagement from the West Bank."

Analysts said the Arabs, by signaling readiness to negotiate under an international umbrella, appeared to be urging Israeli voters to elect a government that would be prepared to negotiate on the same terms.

The obvious choice would be Shimon Peres's Labor Party, which has endorsed the idea of an international peace conference. The idea is opposed by Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir's Likud bloc.

But Mubarak rejected this type of speculation. "We are not working on anybody's behalf. We are working for a just peace," Mubarak said.

"We support any force in Israel that works for peace," Mubarak said. "The Israeli people's choice of their representatives is their own concern."

Israelis capture seven guerrillas

BEIRUT, Lebanon — Israeli troops Monday captured seven Palestinian guerrillas on missions to carry out "terrorist" attacks in northern Israel, a spokesman for the Israeli-backed South Lebanon Army said.

In a statement broadcast on the SLA-run radio station "Voice of the Hope," the spokesman said seven guerrillas from Yasser Arafat's Fatah movement were seized in the village of Kfar Kila, 2 miles north of the Israeli border.

The spokesman said the guerrillas — six men and a woman — were attempting to "infiltrate into northern Israel on a hostage-taking terrorist mission" when they stormed a house in Kfar Kila and held the occupants hostage.

One of the captives managed to escape and informed the SLA officials. A joint Israeli-SLA force then surrounded the house and captured the guerrillas following a brief clash, the spokesman said.

He added that the guerrillas were later blindfolded and taken to Israel.

Jaruzelski threatens crackdown

WARSAW, Poland — Gen. Wojciech Jaruzelski warned the outlawed Solidarity trade union that he will not hesitate to use force to crush the opposition if it tries to overthrow Poland's communist system.

Jaruzelski's threat was carried Sunday by the official news agency PAP and coincided with a growing controversy over who is responsible for a delay in the start of round-table talks between the government, Solidarity and other groups that were to have begun on Oct. 17.

The talks are to include discussion on economic reforms and the possible re-legalization of Solidarity.

Polish debt in the West stands at almost $40 billion, inflation is running at 80 percent and there is a shortage of basic consumer goods.

Soviet shuttle prepared for test flight

MOSCOW — The Buran, the Soviet Union's belated answer to America's space shuttle program, is undergoing a final series of checks and could be launched within a few days, diplomats and official news reports say.

Soviet television Sunday showed the Soviet's new giant Energiya booster rocket with the attached reusable orbiter, Buran, meaning "snowstorm," at Baikonur cosmodrome in central Asia. It looked like a near-carbon copy of the U.S. shuttle.

"The preparation for a test launch of a universal rocket space transport system, Energiya ... and a reusable spacecraft, Buran, is being finalized at Baikonur," the Tass agency said Sunday.

"The on-board systems and equipment of the booster rocket and the orbiter are being checked now in accordance with the preparation schedule," it said.

The two-paragraph dispatch did not say when the two-stage, liquid-fueled Energiya will lift the shuttle aloft, but past Soviet pre-flight announcements have been followed by a launch within days.

A Western diplomat said he would not be surprised by a launch "within days or by the end of the week."

Rangers win fourth in row

The New York Rangers' line of Jan Erixon, Lucien DeBlois and Don Maloney — which draws the assignment of checking the top line of opponents — opened up a scoring explosion of its own against the Quebec Nordiques.

The line set up two of New York's four first-period goals as the Rangers took their fourth straight victory Sunday with an 8-2 rout over the Nordiques.

Erixon opened the scoring at 2:08 when he tipped a shot by DeBlois past goaltender Bob Mason. Following a goal by Tomas Sandstrom, Erixon gave New York a 3-0 lead at 15:41 with his second goal of the game.

Guy Lafleur scored the third goal of his comeback season, picking up the puck off a Quebec defenseman and guiding it into the net at 17:37 to end the first-period onslaught.

In other games, Winnipeg edged Washington 3-2, Vancouver beat Edmonton 6-5, Calgary snuck by Philadelphia 5-4 in overtime, and New Jersey and Detroit skated to a 3-3 tie.

Vikings rout Bucs

United Press International

TAMPA — Two weeks ago, when victorious Minnesota players labeled Tampa Bay a "mediocre" team after a 14-13 triumph, the Buccaneers felt insulted.

Today, they'd be thrilled with the description. Wade Wilson passed for 335 yards and three touchdowns while counterpart Vinny Testaverde elicited boos with six interceptions and a fumble Sunday, helping the Vikings emerge from their recent lethargy with a 49-20 rout of the bumbling Buccaneers.

In beating Tampa Bay for the eighth time in the last nine meetings between the NFC Central Division rivals, Minnesota, 5-3, scored its most points since a 51-10 triumph against Houston in 1974. The Vikings.

MIAMI — Dan Marino's 521 yards passing Sunday earned him another place in the NFL record book. His five interceptions cost Miami victory.

Marino rallied the Dolphins from a 30-10 halftime deficit by throwing for 342 yards and two touchdowns in the second half, but he was intercepted three times in the final 5:07 as the Jets defeated Miami 44-30. Marino's 521 yards is the second-highest total in NFL history, topped only by Norm van Brocklin's 554 yards in 1951 while he was with the Los Angeles Rams.

Marino completed 35 of a career-high 60 passes with three touchdowns. The triumph gave the Jets a 4-3-1 record; the Dolphins fell to 4-4.

"You can throw for a lot of yards — that's nice, but you want to win," said Marino, who has an NFL

Pacers edge Heat, 103-94

PENSACOLA — Wayman Tisdale scored 25 points Sunday night and Reggie Williams added 20 to lead the Indiana Pacers to a 103-94 exhibition game victory over the Miami Heat.

Tisdale, who did not play in Indiana's 86-80 loss to the Heat Saturday night in Tampa, hit nine of 14 shots from the field and all seven of his foul shots. Vern Fleming added 17 points for the Pacers, 3-2 in the exhibition season.

Sylvester Gray led Miami with 17 points and Kevin Edwards added 16 points for the Heat, now 1-3 with one exhibition game remaining.

TRIATHLON

Molina wins '88 Ironman

KAILUA-KONA, Hawaii — Scott Molina took the lead during the bicycle leg Saturday and went on to win the 1988 Ironman Triathlon on the Kona coast of the island of Hawaii.

Molina, of Boulder, Colo., finished the 2.4-mile swim, 112-mile bicycle ride, and 26.2-mile marathon in 8 hours, 31 minutes.

Mike Pigg, of Arcata, Calif., finished second in 8:33:11, while Ken Glah, of West Chester, Penn., was third in 8:38:37.

Paula Newby-Fraser of Zimbabwe upset favorite Erin Baker of New Zealand to win the women's division in 9:01:01. Baker finished second in 9:12:14.

Newby-Fraser, who has been living and training in Encinitas, Calif., also won the 1986 event and finished third last year. Kirsten Hansson, of Denver, was the third with a time of 9:37:25.

More than 1,200 athletes started the race, which was held under cloudless skies, light winds, and highs in the middle 80s.

TENNIS

Becker takes Japan Indoor

TOKYO — Boris Becker of West Germany won the $617,500 Japan Indoor Men's Championships for the second time in three years Sunday when he defeated surprise finalist John Fitzgerald of Australia, 7-6, 6-4.

Fitzgerald broke serve in the first game of the match and it looked as though Becker was in for a tough time, especially when four of the first six games were service breaks.

"He had a very good start, better than me," said Becker, "but when I broke serve for 3-3 in the first set, I thought I had control of the match."

"He has beaten a lot of good players, so he is with confidence and I thought I better put the pressure on him. It was a better match in the second set and I took chances."

Andres Gomez of Ecuador teamed with Yugoslavia's Brkocdan Zivjovic to beat the West German pair of Becker and Eric Jelen, 7-5, 5-7, 6-3, to win the doubles title for the first time in this tournament. The winning pair shared the $30,000 top prize.

Disney Classic a special event

1988 tourney runs Wednesday through Saturday

By JIM RICKENBACKER
 Herald correspondent

LAKE BUENA VISTA — Just when it seemed Larry Nelson's affinity for the Walt Disney World/Oldsmobile Golf Classic had reached its zenith, along came Disney head pro Eric Fredrickson with an idea that endeared Nelson even more to this event.

As Nelson was walking up Magnolia's 18th fairway last year en route to a nine-under-par 63 and his second Disney title in four seasons, Fredrickson had a thought.

"Why not bring Larry's family into the award's ceremony by way of a telephone hookup," recalled Fredrickson recently, in concert with what turned out to be a magic moment. "Thank goodness, Larry finished 45 minutes ahead of the third-round leaders. That gave us time to co-ordinate the phone hookup next to the public address system that was already in place for the award's ceremony."

"As it turned out Larry's home phone (in Greater Atlanta) was busy for quite a while. So I finally had the operator interrupt the line. The first thing I told his wife Gayle was that there wasn't an emergency, but that Larry had a good chance to win the tournament. Gayle and his sons Drew and Josh had gone home before the final round because the boys had school and the family also was preparing for an overseas trip.

Goofy, Larry Nelson and Mickey Mouse surround the Disney Classic winner's trophy.

"When it came time for the award's ceremony, Larry talked to his family and it turned out to be something really special. Some people in the gallery even cried."

Yes, the Walt Disney World/Oldsmobile Classic, scheduled for Wednesday through Saturday at the Palm, Magnolia and Lake Buena Vista courses, is in its 18th year and still is considered special from a golf and family viewpoint.

For starters there's a record $700,000 purse, with the winner taking home $126,000, the distinctive new bronze sculptured trophy and a 1989 Oldsmobile car. Coming to town are the PGA Tour's top two money leaders Joey Sindelar ($706,638) and Chip Beck ($694,658). They head a field that features nine of the top 13 on the money list and 38 of the top 50.

Lady Pats, Howell boys win at Boone

By JIM RICKENBACKER
 Herald correspondent

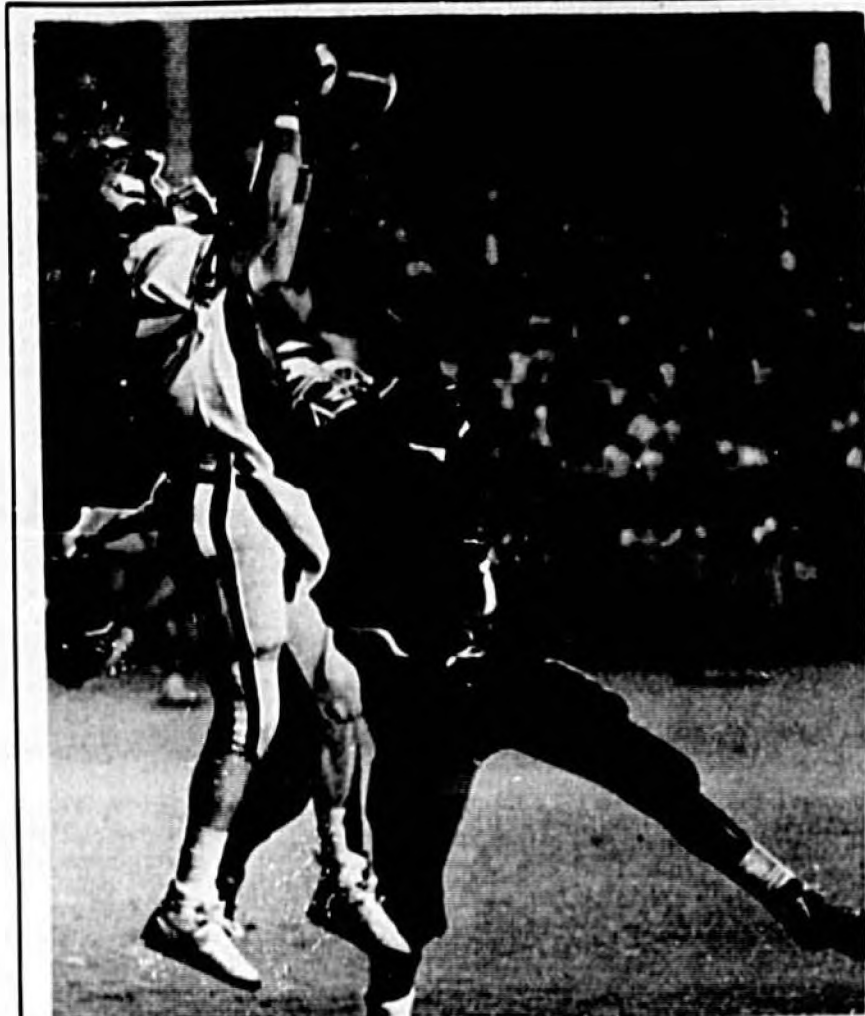

ORLANDO — On a day of ACT tests, absentee teams and crisp fall-like weather, Lake Brantley's girls and Lake Howell's boys rose to the challenge in Saturday's Class 4A portion of the Boone Invitational Cross Country Meet at Orlando Boone.

Lake Brantley senior Heather Camino and sophomore Joyce Tullis crossed the finish line one-two, and sophomore Amy Ginette grabbed eighth place. Junior Beth Schaefer 15th and senior Chelsey Trotter 16th to ensure the Patriots a 42-44 victory over Lake Howell's Silver Hawks.

Not long after Brantley's feat, Lake Howell's boys ran past Lake Brantley, 57-59, despite the absence of senior Brandon Lowenthal. Senior Kavan Howell paced the Silver Hawks, finishing 13 seconds behind winner Rob Cirelli of Spruce Creek and six seconds ahead of Lake Brantley's Darin Tugunan. Junior Jason Springhart and senior Dave Burson sprinted to fifth and sixth-place finishes. Teammates Rob Morris (21st) and Ralph Caban (23rd) rounded out the top five Silver Hawk finishers.

Lake Brantley junior Matt Jewell wound up ninth, with senior Andy Olgive (12th), senior Ron Gordon (17th) and sophomore John Feola

Wallace triumphs at AC-Delco 500

United Press International

ROCKINGHAM, N.C. — Rusty Wallace overcame adversity for the third straight week Sunday to win the AC-Delco 500 at North Carolina Motor Speedway.

Wallace's fifth win this season and third straight allowed him to gain 10 points in his battle with Hill Elliott for NASCAR's Winston Cup championship. With two races remaining, Elliott has 4,198 points and Wallace 4,119. If Elliott finishes eighth or better in the season's final two races, he will win his first driving title no matter where Wallace places.

Dale Earnhardt basically saw his hopes for a third consecutive title end as he lost 10 points to Elliott. He now trails the Dawsonville, Ga., driver by 198 points.

Although Wallace's Pontiac finished about half a lap ahead of runnerup Ricky Rudd, it was not an easy victory for the Charlotte-based team. Wallace came from three laps down in the 492-lap race to claim his first victory on the 1.017-mile track.

Wallace lost one lap on lap 60 when he had to make an unscheduled pit stop for tires. He dropped two more laps to the leaders on lap 127 when he again had to pit for right-side tires.

'Black Saturday': UCF shocked by Valdosta

By DAVID CONCORAN
Herald correspondent

VALDOSTA, Ga. — Nobody ever thought it would be this bad.

In the 10 years that the University of Central Florida played football (since 1979), the Knights went through the good and bad times.

In 1982, the Knights went through a winless (0-10) season.

And that was bad.

In 1983, UCF hired former NFL coach Lou Saban. And the Knights had big dreams of a big time program.

But in October, 1984 Saban resigned (it's been his track record), and the only thing that they got from "Sweet Lou" was $1.1 million in the red for the athletic department.

And that was bad.

In 1985, the Knights hired Gene McDowell as head football coach and athletic director.

And through McDowell's efforts, the Knights have had three straight winning seasons, their first ever NCAA Division II playoff bid (lost in the semifinals), and best of all, the $1.1 million "mortgage" as McDowell calls it is just about gone. And the Knights will move to Division I-AA next season.

That's the good.

But on Saturday, October 21, 1988, on a day that will go down in UCF sports history as "Black Saturday", the UCF Knights traveled to Valdosta to play their final regular season Division II football game in its history against the unranked Valdosta State Blazers.

And the Blazers routed the Knights, 48-19. And it wasn't even close.

After the game, the reaction from the UCF side was one of shock and bewilderment.

McDowell: "We lost."

Linebacker coach Randy Romero: "I never thought that they (Valdosta St.) or any other team could score almost 50 points (48 Saturday) against the Knights' defense."

Quarterback Shane Willis: "Flabbergasted."

Backup quarterback Rudy Jones: "Shocked, and devastated."

Defensive linemen Steve Mackey: "Just shock that a team could score 48 points against us."

Offensive Coordinator Mike Kruczek: "It (the Knights spread offense) didn't work today. A bad day at the office."

Linebacker Wyatt Bogan, the leader of the "Nightmares" defense: "We stunk up the joint today. It's time for the team to get their act together and kick some butt big time."

Running Back Gilbert Barnes: "A total nightmare."

McDowell said afterwards that, "I've seen teams in the NFL play in close games one week, and get blown out the next. It all came down to the speed of their wide receivers against our defensive backs, and they killed us today."

The mark of a good football team is when they loose in a blowout one week, and come back and play a outstanding game the next.

This Saturday night at the Florida Citrus Bowl, the UCF Knights play another team from Georgia, the Georgia Southern Eagles (5-2), one of the best Division I-AA teams in the country.

And if the the Knights play like they did Saturday, it will a "Real Nightmare."

Everett lifts Rams over Seattle, 31-10

United Press International

ANAHEIM, Calif. — When Jim Everett arrived in Los Angeles three years ago, he was expected to make an immediate impact. He did not.

In his first season, Everett completed less than half his passes. In his second, the Rams failed to qualify for the playoffs for the first time since 1982.

Now, it appears the 6-foot-5 quarterback has blossomed into a star. Against the Seattle Seahawks Sunday, he threw three touchdown passes for the third straight week, completing 20 of 27 attempts for 311 yards and no interceptions in a 31-10 victory.

"The first two years here I didn't do very well," Everett said. "I was looking right where I was going to throw. Now I look pass and hand off on the run, and I don't look at my receivers until I'm ready to throw to them."

The former Purdue star had TD strikes of 37 yards to Robert Delpino, 1 to Damone Johnson and 32 to Aaron Cox. At the season's halfway point, Everett leads the conference with 19 TD passes — one more than he had in 1987 — while throwing just 5 interceptions.

"Jim Everett, in my mind, keeps getting better and better each week," said Henry Ellard, who led the Rams with 7 catches for 101 yards. "I think his stats will speak for themselves."

Greg Bell scored from a yard out and Mike Lansford contributed a 39-yard field goal as the Rams, 6-2, remained one game behind first-place New Orleans in the NFC West.

The Seahawks, meanwhile, fumbled the ball away on their first play and got worse after that. They committed three of their five turnovers in the first half and trailed 24-3 at intermission.

Browns 29, Cardinals 21

At Tempe, Ariz., Bernie Kosar, sidelined since the season opener with a sprained elbow, passed for three touchdowns to lift the Browns to a 29-21 victory over the Cardinals.

The Browns, who have started four quarterbacks because of injuries this season, still have managed to construct a 5-3 record, which, if the season ended today, would be good enough for a wild card spot. With Kosar back, the Browns can even make a run at AFC Central-leading Cincinnati, 7-1, who they meet next Sunday.

Steelers 39, Broncos 21

At Pittsburgh, Gary Anderson kicked a club-record six field goals and Rodney Carter rushed for 105 yards to help the Steelers, 2-6, break a six-game losing streak. The Broncos, 4-4, played without Elway, out with knee and ankle injuries. Backup Gary Kubiak threw three interceptions, all of which Pittsburgh turned into points.

Colts 16, Chargers 0

At San Diego, Dean Biasucci kicked three field goals and the Colts, 3-5, produced their first shutout in a non-strike game in 12 years. Gary Hogeboom, after taking over for the injured Chandler, produced the game's only touchdown with a fourth-quarter pass to Matt Bouza. The Chargers fell to 2-6.

Bengals 44, Oilers 21

At Cincinnati, Leo Barker

John L. Williams hits times for 27 yards for Seattle in Sunday's game vs. the Los Angeles Rams. The Rams prevailed, 31-10.

finished Cincinnati's 28-point first quarter with a 34-yard fumble return touchdown and James Brooks ran for three scores to help the Bengals match their best start ever. The Oilers, 5-3, fell into a tie with Cleveland for second place in the AFC Central.

Saints 20, Raiders 6

At New Orleans, Craig Heyward rumbled 73 yards for a go-ahead touchdown to carry the Saints, 7-1, over the Raiders, 3-5.

Bills 23, Patriots 20

At Orchard Park, N.Y., Scott Norwood converted a 33-yard field goal with 13 seconds to play to send Buffalo, 7-1, to its best start since 1974. Rookie Teddy Garcia failed on all three of his field-goal tries and an extra point for New England, 2-5.

Cunningham leads miracle comeback

United Press International

PHILADELPHIA — Like Harry Houdini escaping from a locked trunk, the Philadelphia Eagles climbed out of the hole they created for themselves with a mere four seconds to spare.

Trailing 20-0 after Dallas scored on its first four possessions, the Eagles stormed back to defeat the Cowboys 24-23 Sunday as Randall Cunningham, the mastermind of the comeback, hit Anthony Toney for a 2-yard touchdown pass with 4 seconds to play.

Cunningham, who completed 26 of 53 passes for 298 yards and two touchdowns, moved the Eagles 85 yards in 16 plays after Philadelphia got the ball at its own 15 with 2:11 to play as Dallas lost its fourth straight game.

"I was really upset when we were down by 20 points," said Cunningham, who called his own plays on the winning drive. "But I have confidence in our defense and I knew if they let me call my own plays, we'd score a touchdown. Our guys don't give up."

Cunningham converted two fourth-down plays on the drive, including a 13-yard completion to Gregg Garrity at the 2. Cunningham then rolled to his right and found Toney in the end zone for the touchdown that tied the score at 23-23 and Luis Zendejas kicked the decisive extra point as the Eagles beat the Cowboys for the first time in 21 years.

Philadelphia, 4-4, which has been outscored 63-0 in the first quarter of its last six games, also scored on an 11-yard pass from Cunningham to Keith Byars, a 7-yard run by Toney and a 39-yard field goal by Zendejas.

"I can't understand why (we start so slowly)," Philadelphia Coach Buddy Ryan said. "I guess we just have to play a little while to see what's happening."

Dallas, 2-6 and off to its worst start since 1965, scored on an 18-yard pass from Steve Pelluer to Ray Alexander, a 1-yard run by Jimmy Newsum and got field goals of 26, 34 and 30 yards from Roger Ruzek.

"That's a very tough game for us to lose," Dallas Coach Tom Landry said. "We played very hard. We were in a position to win and we didn't."

Pelluer, who was knocked out of last week's 17-7 loss to Chicago with a concussion, completed 32 of 46 passes for a career-high 342 yards but took no solace in his performance. "It feels rotten," he said. "Really rotten."

Redskins 20, Packers 17

Doug Williams completed 25 of 43 passes for 225 yards with one interception to lead the Redskins. His touchdown throws were 21 yards to Art Monk and 13 to Kelvin Bryant.

"I felt rusty early, but then I felt better," Williams said.

Giants 29, Falcons 16

At Atlanta, linebacker Carl Banks caused an interception that positioned the tying touchdown and, 83 seconds later, returned an interception 15 yards for the winning score with 84 seconds to play, rallying the Giants, 5-3, over Atlanta, 1-7.

Lions 7, Chiefs 6

At Kansas City, Mo., Rusty Hilger threw a 14-yard touchdown pass to Jeff Chadwick to lead Detroit, 2-6, over the Chiefs, 1-6-1, in a game between the NFL's two lowest-scoring teams.

Bradshaw to check into hospital

United Press International

DALLAS — Terry Bradshaw missed his second network television assignment of the NFL season Sunday and a friend of Bradshaw's said the former Pittsburgh Steelers quarterback would check into a Dallas area hospital Monday for tests to determine the cause of chest pains.

"They don't know what is wrong," said the friend, who asked not to be identified. "They are going to try to find out."

A Pittsburgh television station reported Sunday that doctors had discovered a tumor near Bradshaw's heart. But Bradshaw's friend said there had been no precise diagnosis.

"The last doctor Terry saw on Friday told him he didn't think that (a tumor) was the problem," Bradshaw's friend said.

Bradshaw lives in the Dallas area and works as a pro football analyst for CBS-TV. He was scheduled to work with broadcasting partner Verne Lundquist Sunday in Philadelphia at the Eagles-Dallas Cowboys game.

"Terry is a little under the weather," Lundquist said as the telecast began, "and we expect him to be back next week."

Bradshaw, who quarterbacked the Steelers to four Super Bowl victories, made headlines last week when he suggested in a television commentary that the Steelers might be better off if coach Chuck Noll stepped down. Pittsburgh had lost six straight games going into Sunday's meeting with the Denver Broncos.

Bradshaw is one of two players to be named Most Valuable Player in a Super Bowl two straight years. He was the MVP when the Steelers beat Dallas in Super Bowl XIII and when they downed the Los Angeles Rams in Super Bowl XIV.

He also quarterbacked Pittsburgh to victories in Super Bowl IX over Minnesota and Super Bowl X over Dallas.

Bradshaw played for the Steelers from 1970 through 1983, completing 27,989 yards worth of passes for 212 touchdowns.

Wild week for area prep gridgers

By MARK BLYTHE
Herald sports writer

It was a wild week for area football teams as one game was decided in overtime and two other games determined in the fourth period. The big shucker was a major upheaval in District 5A-4 where the co-leaders, Lake Brantley and Spruce Creek, both lost, making the district a five team race.

Lake Howell used a strong comeback, led by quarterback Dan Vereck and running back Marquette Smith to down Lake Mary and put themselves back into the district race. Vereck tossed for two TDs and Smith rushed for three to lead the Silver Hawks to a 2-1 district mark, one half game behind Lake Brantley.

Lake Howell will now take on Spruce Creek in a key district matchup at Municipal Stadium in Daytona Beach in a Saturday night game. Lake Mary will return to action against DeLand in an always tough matchup to be held at DeLand's Spec Martin Stadium.

Lake Howell spotted the Rams a 21-0 lead in the opening quarter and appeared to be in for a long night. The Silver Hawks, though, beared down in the second half and used a gritty defensive effort to get back into the game and eventually win it, 35-28, in the second overtime.

Lyman also climbed back into the race with an impressive win over Spruce Creek. The Greyhounds used their potent offensive scheme to outscore the Hawks, 21-6, in the second half of play to pull out a 35-16 win.

Cedric Bouey was held under 100 yards for the first time this season with 90 but was aided greatly by the rushing of quarterback Steve Jerry who rushed for 86 yards and passed for 84 and Mike Davis who bullied his way for 42 yards on 11 carries.

The Greyhounds are now also back in the district hunt and will face Mainland at home this week. Lyman is hoping to pull even with Lake Brantley this week as the Patriots will play Dr. Phillips in a non-district matchup this week at Lake Brantley.

Lake Brantley dropped a heartbreaking loss to DeLand as the Bulldogs used the powerful leg of Paul Thurmond who booted field goals of 45 and 34 yards in the second half.

DeLand used a 20 point explosion and overcame a powerful Brantley running attack that compiled 306 yards along with 49 yards passing. It was the passing game that failed the Patriots, though, as the Bulldogs were able to keep them contained in the air late in the game when Brantley posed a threat.

Brantley will look to get back on the winning track against a tough Dr. Phillips team while the Bulldogs host Lake Mary.

In District 5A-5 action the three way battle between Apopka, Winter Park and Evans remained heated as all three teams posted victories. Apopka downed Colonial, 39-14, led by quarterback Joey Hunt who scored a touchdown and passed for another. Mike Tully added a pair of field goals as the Blue Darters were never tested by the Grenadiers.

Winter Park, the fifth ranked class 5A football team in Florida, fought off a sluggish performance to get by Boone, 27-13, in a game held at Boone High School. Scott Wilson hurt the Braves all night as he gained 158 yards. Keith Woods added 58 yards on the ground and two touchdowns with Keith Gill adding 14 more yards and a TD run.

Evans cruised to a 28-0 victory over West Orange to tie all three teams up at 4-0 in district action.

who set a club single-game interception record when Testaverde was picked off by Wymon Henderson in the final seconds, entered Tampa Stadium with two losses in their previous three games, scoring just 35 points in that span.

Many Buccaneers felt the Vikings didn't give them enough respect two weeks ago in the Metrodome, when Tampa Bay fell seconds short of springing a huge upset. Newspaper clippings were taped to the locker room door this week at club headquarters as Tampa Bay players sought added incentive in the rematch.

"If a team is hurting that bad that they gotta use stupid quotes to motivate them, well ..." said Minnesota defensive tackle Keith Millard. "We proved we are the better team. With their record and our record, we should have won the first time. That's all I meant."

Wilson, who completed 22 of 30 passes, hit Steve Jordan for a pair of 4-yard scores and found Anthony Carter from 26 yards out for another touchdown. Rick Fenney added a 1-yard scoring run as the Vikings jumped to a 28-10 halftime lead. Rookie Brad Edwards returned an interception 37 yards for a third quarter TD. Allen Rice scored from four yards out and D.J. Dozier added a 2-yard TD run.

Dolphins

record eight games with more than 400 yards passing.

"If you throw for 900 yards and you throw an interception when you have a chance to win, that (the yardage) doesn't make any difference."

The victory was a key one for the Jets, who were coming off an embarrassing 37-14 loss to Buffalo. The Jets also played without defensive end Mark Gastineau, who announced his retirement earlier this week.

"Any time we get together it is a shoot out," said New York Coach Joe Walton of the Dolphins-Jets rivalry. "It's the most satisfying win we have had in a real long time. We had lost confidence in our team and had been kicked around the past two games pretty badly. This game gives us our confidence back."

New York scored 24 second-quarter points to build a 20-point halftime advantage.

Miami cut its deficit to 37-30 with 13:11 left on Troy Stradford's 1-yard dive.

The race for the 1988 Heisman Trophy has passed the halfway mark and several worthy candidates are still waiting for the front runner to stumble.

On a Saturday that saw five Top 20 teams beaten, most of college football's juggernauts rolled impressively in Tucson, Ariz., top-ranked UCLA rode another superb performance by Heisman favorite Troy Aikman in a 24-3 triumph against Arizona.

Second-ranked Notre Dame beat Air Force 41-13. No. 4 Miami trounced Cincinnati 57-3. Fifth-ranked West Virginia remained unbeaten with a 59-19 rout of Boston College.

Rounding out the Top 20, 11th-ranked Arkansas defeated Houston 26-21. No. 12 Wyoming overwhelmed Utah 61-18. Kentucky upset 13th-ranked Georgia 16-10.

Aikman passed for 283 yards and three touchdowns as the Bruins opened a season 7-0 for the first time since 1966.

Saturday and Sunday, 91 boys and girls, ages 5-17, from around the state compete in the Ryder Pitch, Pult and Drive Championships.

To cap off the week, there's the Bass 'n' Golf Pro Team Invitational Sunday with 16 pro bass fishermen teaming with 16 PGA Tour pros.

Coming off a record-breaking performance in last week's bitter loss at Notre Dame, Walsh tied Bernie Kosar's school record for most scoring passes in a game.

"He came through with another great job," said Miami Coach Jimmy Johnson of Walsh, who has thrown 13 TD passes in the last three games.

At Stillwater, Okla., Sanders ran for 154 yards and two scores as the nation's leading rusher sparked the Cowboys.

Labeled by Oklahoma Coach Barry Switzer as "the premier player in the nation," Sanders scored twice in less than two minutes early in the third period.

Teammate Hart Lee Dykes caught two TD passes and surpassed former Heisman Trophy winner Johnny Rodgers as the Big Eight's career receiving yardage leader.

Ricky Walters caught scoring passes of 50 and 28 yards at South Bend, Ind., and the Notre Dame defense shut down Air Force's powerful ground attack.

The Falcons entered Notre Dame Stadium averaging 432 yards rushing per game but were limited to 170 as quarterback Dee Dows and the wishbone proved ineffective.

Sophomore Major Harris passed for a career-high 297 yards and three TDs and ran for two other scores at Morgantown, W.Va., to help the 7-0 Mountaineers to their best start since 1955.

At Manhattan, Kan., Tyreece Knox ran for 108 yards and four TDs as Nebraska set an NCAA record by clinching a 27th consecutive winning season.

"I thought if we got out and stayed relaxed that we'd be hard to catch and that's what happened," said Lake Brantley Coach Charlie Harris.

Could this drug cause a stroke?

DEAR DR. GOTT: My mother was 90 when she had cancer surgery. She was given Haldol nightly for 18 days. Could this have had anything to do with her grand mal seizure and stroke?

DEAR READER: Probably not. Haldol is a tranquilizer used for the management of psychotic disorders: behavioral problems characterized by confusion, belligerency, over-activity and poor reality-testing. Stroke has not been reported with use of the drug. Seizures are an extremely unusual side effect.

Elderly post-operative patients often exhibit temporary mental deterioration that can be helped by Haldol. Also, older patients are statistically more prone to strokes. While the Haldol could conceivably have contributed to your mother's problem, I believe that the condition is unlikely.

For more information, I am sending you my Health Report "Epilepsy: The Falling Sickness." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Your recent column about jock itch brought back memories. My husband switched from nylon to cotton briefs, "huggies" to "swinging-frees," one soap to another and still no relief. Then we started running all his underwear through the rinse cycle twice, and that solved the problem.

DEAR READER: Good thought. I conclude that his dermatitis was probably due to soap or detergent residues in the garments. Thanks for writing.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I am in my late 20s and taking Lasix for fluid retention/circulation problems. Sometimes I will gain 6 pounds in fluid overnight. It's most noticeable in the morning and after exercise. This has been going on for seven years. What is the problem?

DEAR READER: Fluid retention has many causes: heart and kidney diseases, hormone imbalance, excessive salt intake, certain medicines (such as birth-control pills) and chronic obesity, to name a few.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

Fred Hamilton is that rare expert who knows when an unusual play is needed. Sitting East and defending three diamonds doubled, he made a highly dramatic but effective play when he eventually got on lead.

The auction was normal. North sensed that the opponents were about to stop at a heart partial, so he stuck in a two-no-trump bid to ask his partner to bid a minor suit at the three-level. This works fine if partner has four cards in one of the minors and a few high cards. Otherwise it may be lights out for North-South. When South settled in three diamonds, Hamilton, sitting East, was happy to double.

West led the spade king and received a discouraging seven from East. So West led a low club, covered by the jack and queen. Declarer won his ace and played back a spade. West took the ace and now led a heart. Declarer won dummy's ace, ruffed a club and shed dummy's small heart on the jack of spades. Fred Hamilton ruffed and found the one card in his hand that could set the contract. He played the king of diamonds right into the A-Q in dummy. Declarer ruffed another club and ruffed a heart in dummy. But now Fred threw away his last heart as South ruffed still another club. Fred was left with 9-8-6 of trumps and dummy with Q-7, but declarer could not score a trick with the diamond seven. Had Fred played a low diamond back rather than the king, South would have won in hand and would have been able to ruff hearts in dummy before East could discard a heart, eventually making the doubled contract.

HOROSCOPE

What the day will bring...

By Bernice Bede Osol
YOUR BIRTHDAY
October 25, 1988

Your chart indicates that you may make some major adjustments in the year ahead that will favorably affect your material circumstances. These alterations will not be done in haste.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Do not take it personally today if others are not in complete harmony with your ideas. They could have valid reasons for their objections. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) The needs of someone you like may tug at your heartstrings today. Sacrifice if necessary, but don't extend yourself beyond your means or ability.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan.

19) If you look for the flaws in friends today, you'll find them, but you must also be aware that they will start putting you under closer scrutiny.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) In competitive developments today where your career is concerned, don't get in a situation where you are overmatched. Before attacking, be certain you have adequate back-up.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Making a point today is not as important as jeopardizing a valued relationship. Don't compromise your standards, just be sure they are valid.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) If you're shopping today, consider quality above price. The beauty and aesthetics of your selection should take precedence over its cost.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Do not expect too much from your relationships with others today. If you desire behavior they are not capable of showing, you'll be sadly disappointed.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You could be involved with someone today who has displeased you in the past. A failure to let bygones be bygones won't help matters and might reopen an old wound.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) In order to appease your mate today, you might have to socialize with a person you'd rather ignore. For the sake of harmony, bite the bullet and strive to be friendly.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) It's best not to broadcast your career goals at this time, because someone who is jealous of you might try to hamper your progress.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your preconceived notions as to how things will work today could be a trifle too negative. Think positive and don't let your imagination work against you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Keep your material desires in check today. Instead of focusing on personal interests, look for ways to generate good will and respect from your associates.

Celebrate Sobriety Weekend II comes to Orlando

ORLANDO—Cars bearing the legend "Joyous and Free," "One Day At A Time," "Easy Does It" and other one-liners indicating a drug-free driver, will pack the parking lot at Sheraton Orlando North the weekend of Oct. 28, as hundreds of recovering alcoholics gather in the second Celebrate Sobriety Weekend gathering.

The session offers round-the-clock meetings with special speakers from throughout the United States and Canada featured during the event. Sessions begin at 8 p.m. Friday and end at 10 a.m. on Sunday.

Celebrate Sobriety II will feature meetings for both the recovering alcoholic and family members. A celebration dance will follow the Saturday night meeting, with activities planned throughout the day for registrants.

An entirely volunteer project, the first meeting, held at the Peabody Hotel last year, was planned simply as a time for recovering alcoholics to meet and share their experience, strength and hope. This year's gathering continues with the emphasis on fellowship, and is open to all recovering alcoholics. Interested parties may call (407) 647-3333 for further information.

Being called diminutives angers some readers, pleases others

DEAR ABBY: I am almost 80, and am just as upset at being called "Honey" as that woman who signed herself "Nobody's Honey in Elkhart, Ind." When salespeople call me "Dear," I consider it a slam!

I am a "miller" in the Senior Olympics and walk three and four miles most days, so I neither act nor look decrepit, and I resent people who look down on me with their "Dears" and "Honies." It's so patronizing.

I know this is worded badly, but this is a sore spot with me and I am so mad right now I can't see straight. I read you daily in the Kansas City Star, and you may use my name.

MRS. WALTER HARVE, LEES SUMMIT, MO.

DEAR ABBY: I just read the letter from "Irritated," complaining because you called a teen-ager "Honey."

I am 15 years old, and not only do I not mind being called

ADVICE

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"Honey," I welcome it. If someone cared enough about me to call me "Honey" and advise me to listen to my mother, I would take it as a compliment, not a putdown.

"Irritated" is the one who belittles teen-agers. If she feels that teenagers are too immature, she must not have a very high opinion of teen-agers.

So, Abby, the next time you're writing to a teen-ager, please don't refrain from using words like "Honey" or "Dear." It is warm and friendly, and it just may be the way to reach her heart.

KEANINE MORRISON, KINGSBURG, CALIF.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 16-year-old girl and I'd like to respond to the letter from "Irritated in For Collins, Colo." who resented the way you called a 14-year-old girl who wanted to wear a strapless dress "Honey." Whether or not a 14-year-old girl should get a strapless dress is, I'm sure, not as serious as some of the problems you hear from adults, but it was obviously very important to her. If she wrote to you.

In addition, teen-agers are trying to grow up, and when an adult — especially one who many teen-agers look up to — calls a teen-ager a pet name, like "Honey" or "Sweetie," it really seems to reduce the teenager's age. Abby, in the future, please don't talk down to teen-agers by calling them "Honey." Treat them like adults.

If you use this, you may use my name, town and state.

LAURA EBHLEMAN, SPRINGS LAKE, MICH.

DEAR ABBY: About the letter concerning the greed of some women who put on white elephant (or rummage) sales to raise money for charities:

I had a similar experience some years ago, when my late husband and I were living in one of the most affluent communities in the United States — Rancho Santa Fe, Calif.

As we were preparing to move to smaller quarters in another area, we gave the local garden club a lot of our household goods, and a box of very expensive and beautiful Christmas ornaments to be auctioned off for the club's annual sale to benefit the charities of San Diego County.

The day before the sale was to be open to the public, I went to where the auction was to take place to drop off a few more nice items. Much to my surprise, I discovered that all my beautiful Christmas ornaments were gone! They had been snapped up by the committee members — made up of the rich ladies of Rancho Santa Fe.

I treat my case.

GOOD MEMORY

DEAR GOOD MEMORY: Your case is well-remembered, and shame on those greedy do-gooders — wherever they are.

DEAR ABBY: On Feb. 15, 1988, my 8-year-old son, Jimmy, was tragically killed by an electric garage-door opener. I was the last person on earth to believe that these marvelous modern conveniences could be lethal weapons.

This letter is a warning to all parents to test their garage door openers on a monthly basis. The procedure for testing is simple and requires only a moment of your time.

Raise your garage door to the open position and place a piece of wood (a piece of 2-by-4 stud would work) or other sturdy object under the path of the door. Lower the garage door to the closed position. On contact of the door with the object in its path, the safety mechanism on the garage door opener should automatically reverse the door to the open position.

If your door does not reverse, your safety mechanism is faulty, and needs to be checked by a qualified repair technician.

Another safety precaution is to have all operating switches or buttons out of the children's reach. Locating these switches at an adult's eye level is best, according to professional installers.

One last word of caution: Talk to your children. Warn them that a garage-door opener is not a toy and can be dangerous.

If this letter encourages every parent to regularly test the garage door openers, we would be making this world a little safer for your and your neighbors' children.

LINDA ROBIN WORCESTER, MASS.

DEAR LINDA: My condolences on the loss of your beloved child. And thank you for writing to warn others so they can be spared the heartache that you and your family experienced.

(Problems? Write to Dear Abby. For a personal, unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dear Abby, P.O. Box 69440, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. All correspondence is confidential.)
