Geography Lesson

It is said that in the Kennedy-Khrushchev talks the Soviet premier drew a rough map showing the immense Soviet land mass and its bordering satellites.

His point, of course, was to show the President how easily conventional Russian armies could fan out to adjacent land areas. Those forces, he noted, would be operating on very short supply lines.

However well Kennedy may have held his own in the talks, he could not use a map so convincingly. For geography is not this country's friend, as it once was believed to be.

In the age of rockets and supersonic planes, the broad oceans no longer protect us. But at the same time their expense still gives us incredible problems in the deployment and supply of the mobile forces which are the only conventional elements we can bring to bear upon remote free areas threatened by tyranny.

Dr. Crane's

Worry Clinic

Terry's neurotic mother needed a padding for losing faith in her son. She and his daddy were more responsible for his failure in school than Terry was. So place a "hole" on the printed page if you wish to insure your child's future success in school. And send for the booklet below.

Case J-417: Terry L., aged 9, failed last term for being poor in arithmetic.

"Oh, Dr. Crane," his neurotic mother began, "do you suppose he is feeble-minded?"

"We adopted him when he was a baby and don't know anything concerning his real parents."

"Our doctor assured us, however, that they were intelligent. But I am afraid Terry might be a moron or something!"

"So won't you please give him an Intelligence Test?"

Well, I first felt like giving Terry's foster mother a basic treatment with a hair brush on her glasses for being so unbecoming! Terry didn't see like a subnormal child, but I gave him the Binet test just to double check.

And he came out with a normal score, showing he was NOT feeble-minded.

"Then how do you explain his low grades in school? And his failure in arithmetic?" his mother demanded.

"You caused his poor grades," I told her.

Then I went on to show that she and her husband had moved three times during the boy's first three years in grade school.

Because Terry's foster father was a salesman, he had accepted new jobs and thus jerked the boy out of school just when his teacher was starting him on the multiplication tables.

Terry had learned 2 x 1, 2 x 2, etc. But before he got to the 4's, he had been shunted into a strange, alien classroom.

This new teacher was already through with the 4's and 5's, so Terry never did get any drill thereon.

Without these basic tools of arithmetic, no child can make passing grades therein.

You parents dare not leave the total school training of your child to the faithful teacher.

For she has 30 pupils to look after, so she can't average more than 2 minutes of time per hour for each child.

And if you parents move around several times during your child's first few grades, then you should be doubly sure to tutor him at home till you bring him up to the average of his class.

Remember, children READ their way to college!

So encourage every boy and girl to look upon the printed page with delight - - not aversion!

Teach him the "library habit," which is basic to his success in high school and especially in college.

Teach him to read more widely in this daily newspaper, which is the most widely used reading material in your whole area.

When he is too young to read by himself, read stories aloud to him so you will thus place a desirable "hole" on printed pages.

Later, get him started on the Classics Illustrated and other splendid books in pictorial format.

Make a 10-point quiz on this newspaper each day and reward him with a penny for each one he can answer correctly. Raise the ante to five cents as you widen your 10-point quiz test to the editorial page, etc.

And by all means send for the booklet "How to Tutor Your Child at Home," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents.

NOW is the time to insure your child's ability to go onward next term with top grades!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper enclosing a long 4 cent stamped envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Ed Koterba's Assignment Washington

WASHINGTON— Several weeks ago, at his press conference, Kennedy told the world that the Pentagon wastes $1 billion a year. That waste, he vowed, would be set up that way.

Biggest hunk of those billion taxpayer bucks goes down the drain through shameful methods of doing out defense contracts.

It almost appears that the Pentagon brass makes mockery of America's great traditional system of free enterprise and open, competitive bidding.

Procurement officers dole out more than 80 percent of the Pentagon's contracts to companies of their own choosing through secret negotiation. This type of procurement—they call it "sole source"—avoids direct, open competition, a method that would save us hundreds of millions.

Congress has been demanding that the Pentagon emphasize open bidding—the awarding of contracts to the qualified firm with the lowest bid. (Experts say most of our military contracts could be set up that way.)

And the Pentagon brass keeps promising that they'll try. Yet, what's been happening? Closed-door testimony just revealed shows this:

In 1959, the Defense Department awarded 24,102 contracts through negotiation, thus barring some qualified firms that could have possibly done the work cheaper.

The following year, instead of dropping, the number of secretly-awarded contracts jumped to 24,897. This involved more than $8 billion, which is more than one-tenth of the entire Federal budget for that year!

The Pentagon spends say that even though they don't al-

Q—Can I include closing costs in my FHA mortgage?—J. H.

A—Dear J. H.: Yes, but only if the FHA appraisal is higher than the purchase price of your home. The amount of the mortgage is based on the FHA appraisal or the acquisition cost, whichever is less. Acquisition cost includes purchase price plus closing costs but excludes such prepaid items as taxes.

Q—My friend claims that after 65 he will not have to pay a federal income tax on money he gets from social security or on earnings up to $1,200 a year. Is this true?—H. H.

A—Dear H. H.: Your friend is correct. However, his $1,200 of earnings would be subject to social security deductions even while he is receiving social security payments. If his earnings exceed $1,200 in any one year, they are taxed.

Q—Is it true that the average wage earner works six days every month to make enough to pay taxes?—J. O.

A—Dear J. O.: It may be a frightening thought, but it is true. The Tax Foundation, Inc., reports that out of a 22-day working month, you work four days for food and tobacco, four days for shelter and furnishings, two days to pay for transportation, one and a half days to meet the family clothing bill, one day to pay for medical care and another for recreation. Add in the six days you work to pay taxes and you'll find you have only two and a half days left to earn the money you want for savings, investments and luxuries.

Peter Edson's Political Notebook

WASHINGTON—(NEA) — Coincidentally with President Kennedy's gloomy appraisal of prospects for the desolate American-British-Russian conference at Geneva on banning nuclear tests, the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission has released a full report on its "Project Chariot" for a nonmilitary nuclear explosion.

This is part of AEC's larger "Plowshare" program, begun in 1967 to investigate the feasibility of using nuclear explosives for peaceful purposes. Project Chariot is a plan to excavate a new harbor near the northwest tip of Alaska, 200 miles above the Bering Strait and the same distance from the U. S. S. R.'s easternmost coast of Siberia.

The site to be developed—at first reported to have rich mineral deposits—is on Cape Thompson, where Ogotruk Creek flows into the Arctic Ocean—just a few miles below Point Hope. It is a bleak and barren coastal area, with 70-mile winds and a 27-below-zero temperature in January.

There are two Eskimo villages in the 1,600-square-mile area. One has 290 inhabitants and the other 124. The AEC report explains that Project Chariot will not be carried out unless there is absolute assurance that the Eskimos, the caribou, polar bear, seal, whale, fish, wild spinach, celery, chives, berries and potatoes on which they live will not be contaminated by fallout.

But the St. Louis, Mo., Citizens Committee on Nuclear Information has issued a warning that the experiment will not be safe. The report is based on findings that ground lichens absorb radioactive fallout, the caribou feed on the lichens and the caribou already have more strontium 90 in their bones—as do the Alaskan people—than those living elsewhere.

Atomic Energy Commission says that over 20 surveys of the project have been made to date and none has shown any biological reason for deferring it. Data indicate that when nuclear explosives are buried, most of the radioactivity is trapped.

The original plan called for detonation of a million-ton TNT-equivalent and two 200,000-ton TNT-equivalent devices. Then it was found that the mineral deposits were not rich enough to warrant development of a commercial harbor.

The experiment was cut down to one 200,000-ton (200 kiloton) and four 20,000-ton (20 kiloton) devices in a row. Over 20 million cubic yards of dirt will be moved at about one-third the cost and in one-half the time needed for similar Panama Canal excavations.

The long range value of the Alaska test would be that if a second canal connecting the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans were needed, it could be built at greatly reduced cost.

It will take a presidential order to the Atomic Energy Commission to put Project Chariot in motion. No such order is contemplated now and the plans are being constantly revised.

There is no agreement by either the United States or Russia, banning nuclear explosion tests for peaceful purposes.

The first one-year moratorium on nuclear weapons tests was invoked by President Eisenhower Oct. 31, 1958. This was extended for two months, through December 31, 1959.

Just before this expiration, President Eisenhower declared August that the United States no longer considered itself bound to test nuclear weapons, but that it would make public announcement to the world before any such tests are made.

Last October John A. McCone, then AEC chairman, said he believed Russia was carrying out underground nuclear tests, in the absence of any proof they were not. He declared it would be useful to have the test question resolved at Geneva, for both military and peaceful use of nuclear devices.

There is much speculation that if the Geneva talks now break down, the United States will resume testing in the near future. There are three test programs under study. They are the renewed weapons tests, the so-called Val tests to measure earth tremors and seismic techniques for detecting clandestine underground explosions, the Plowshare experiment for peaceful uses.

President Kennedy and his new AEC chairman, Glenn T. Seaborg, have made no changes in Eisenhower administration nuclear policies up to the time the commission issued its report on the Project Chariot test in Alaska, indicating it is under serious consideration.

Edward Dudas Visit In Oviedo

It was a double event for Mr. and Mrs. Edward Duda of Belle Glade, who arrived last week with their children to be here for the graduation exercises not only of Mrs. Duda's sister, Bessie Fleming, but also of Ed's sister, Katherine Duda. Katherine was one of the five honor students and Miss Fleming the sweetheart of Oviedo High. Mrs. Duda also came to pour at the tea given by Mrs. R. W. Estes and Mrs. Jack Dodd honoring another sister, Miss Peggy Fleming, who will be married July 8 to Keith Malcolm.

Miss Lois Ruddell Honored With Surprise Party

Miss Lois Ruddell, Oviedo High School teacher, was quite surprised when her eighth grade homeroom students honored her with a surprise party last week.

They decorated the room with colorful streamers and presented her with a lovely large table lamp for her new home.

They also prepared gallons of fresh orange juice, made cake and brownies for the special event. All of the students and the honoree thoroughly enjoyed the party.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Could you give me the name of a school or a home that would accept a boy not yet five? I think he needs to live away from home in order to grow up. I am a divorcee who works. My mother cares for my son. Lately he has gone back to his babyhood. He screams and wets his pants and won't eat unless someone feeds him. My mother can't handle him. When I get home she is exhausted, and he is a nervous wreck. He now wants to sleep in my bed and I have a terrible time getting away from him to go to work in the morning. Can you please help me?

WORKING MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Take a few hours off and visit a doctor who specializes in the behavior of children. Your son is trying to tell you he desperately needs YOUR love and attention.

DEAR ABBY: How do you tell your mother to quit calling you names such as "Baby-doll" and "Honey-boy" when you are 14 years old? Don't misunderstand... I love my mother. In fact, she is the greatest, but does she have to call me names like that?

TOO MUCH TOGETHERNESS

DEAR TOO: She doesn't have to—but she can't help it. And if you could feel what is in her heart, you wouldn't mind at all.

DEAR ABBY: I have a secret ambition. I want to marry a minister. I am 29, love children and teach in the public schools. I am no outstanding beauty, but I have been told that I am attractive and have a lovely smile. I also teach Sunday School, and find it far more enjoyable than teaching public school. I head the church's Teen Club, direct their plays and sing in the choir. I know I would make a good wife for a minister. The minister of our church is nice, but he is married. How can I meet some eligible ministers without being too forward?

WANTS TO MARRY A MINISTER

DEAR WANTS: Since you are active in church affairs, you should have no difficulty becoming friendly with your minister's wife. Let her know that you are interested in meeting (don't say "marrying") a young, eligible minister. You sound like a jewel looking for the proper mounting. Good luck.

CONFIDENTIAL TO LINDA: No rings—no strings!

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to Abby, Box 3865, Beverly Hills, Calif. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

A lovely wedding need not be expensive. For Abby's pamphlet on "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, Box 3865, Beverly Hills, Calif.

We The Women:

By Ruth Millet

Nothing makes a woman feel so extravagantly pleased with herself as—

Proving that this time the bank made the mistake and it's not in her checkbook. (This may not happen more than once in a woman's lifetime.)

Having her husband say, "You know you were right about such and such." (This happens a little more frequently.)

Being able to say, "I made it myself" when she gets a compliment on the dress she is wearing. Having a guest ask, "Where did you get that beautiful old chest?" When she can brag that she found it in a junk shop.

Getting up enough courage to try a daring new hairdo or a new hair color and having her friends enthusiastic about it.

Finishing the dress she has been looking for all season on a half-price rack.

Getting almost anything with saving stamps.

Giving a successful party. Going from size 14 to size 12 or from size 16 to size 14.

Filling the house with flowers that she has grown herself.

Being able to recall a name she thought she had forgotten in time to make a necessary introduction.

Having someone assume she is younger than she is (unless, of course, she is under 20).

Finishing some dull and pesky job (like cleaning out closets or bureau drawers).

Finally telling off a woman who has been sweetly telling her off for years.

Being the first to hear an exciting bit of news that she can spring on her bridge club.

There are thought-provoking suggestions for home harmony in Ruth Millet's booklet, "How To Have A Happy Husband." Send 25 cents to Ruth Millet Reader Service, c/o The Sanford Herald, P. O. Box 480, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York 10, N.Y.

Jacoby On Bridge

By Oswald Jacoby

Table with columns for North, West, East, South and card suits (Spades, Hearts, Diamonds, Clubs).

The only argument against the Jacoby-Smith forcing three no-trump response to show 11 to 15 high card points and 13 to 17 supporting points for partner's suit opening is that if you use this bid you can't use the regular three no-trump response to show the equivalent of an opening no-trump.

In my opinion, this is no loss. I find that this normal three no-trump response is more likely to hurt you than to help you.

Thus, North has a classic three no-trump response to South's opening heart bid. If he makes it South will pass and North will make either four or five odd depending on the opening lead.

If North can't respond three no-trump he will respond two clubs. South will rebid to two diamonds and from then on it will be duck soup to land at six diamonds.

The bidding in the box shows one way. North's two spades is a strong temporizing bid. South's two no-trump is the lowest bid he can make. North's jump to four diamonds causes South to go to five and North closes the bidding at six.

He makes no effort to get to seven because South has shown a minimum opening.

There is no play to the diamond slam. South ruffs out one heart and wraps up 12 tricks.

Terry Living Down 'Past'

United Press International
It's a big order but Ralph Terry is rapidly living down his reputation as the man who cost the New York Yankees the 1960 World Series.

It was Terry who fed Bill Mazeroski the home run ball that made the Pittsburgh Pirates world champions but the 25-year-old right-hander has simply shrugged off that talk about "World Series Jinx" to become a key pitcher in the Yankees' 1961 pennant plans.

Terry demonstrated his ability under fire Thursday night when he went the full 11 innings in a 3-2 victory over the Cleveland Indians that boosted the Yankees into first place in the American League by .005 points. It was his fifth straight victory of the season and enabled the Yankees to take their first "crucial" series of the season, two games to one.

Terry struck out eight and yielded seven hits en route to the clutch triumph, which was achieved when pinch-hitter John Blanchard singled home Bob Cerv with the decisive run. The Indians had tied the score with two out in the ninth when Vic Power doubled and scored on Johnny Romano's single.

The Boston Red Sox beat the Detroit Tigers, 10-1, and dropped them into a second-place tie with the Indians, the Chicago White Sox defeated the Los Angeles Angels, 3-2, the Washington Senators downed the Baltimore Orioles, 5-2, and the Minnesota Twins aheaded the Kansas City Athletics, 4-3, in the other American League games.

In the National League, the Los Angeles Dodgers retained possession of first place with a 6-3, 12-inning victory over the Chicago Cubs, the Cincinnati Reds defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates, 8-1, the San Francisco Giants downed the Milwaukee Braves, 6-3, and the St. Louis Cardinals scored a 6-3 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Mickey Mantle's 19th homer of the season was the big blow for the Yankees until Blanchard delivered his clutch hit. Terry, meanwhile, yielded two hits in the third inning and then didn't allow another blow until the seventh. Reliever Frank Funk was the loser.

Vic Wertz' 10th grand slam homer of his career paced an eight-hit Red Sox attack that also included three hits by Don Buddin and brought Bill Monbouquette his sixth win of the year. Jim Bunning suffered his sixth loss for the Tigers.

Al Pilarcik's two-run single and a throwing error by outfielder Ken Hunt accounted for all their runs in the eighth inning and enabled the White Sox to stretch their winning streak to seven games. Bill Pierce picked up his third win of the season while Ell Grba lost his sixth game.

Danny O'Connell and Dale Long hit homers and rookie Ed Ho-baugh pitched a four-hitter for the Senators to hand the Orioles their 11th loss in 16 games. Mary Throneberry's homer accounted for one Baltimore run.

Jack Kralick won his sixth game of the season when Jose Valdivielso's ninth-inning single delivered Earl Battey with the Twins' winning run. Hank Bauer homered for the Athletics.

Outfielder Tommy Davis hit his 11th homer with two on in the 11th inning to prevent the Dodgers' Dick Farrell his fifth win, while Ron Santo's two-run single had given the Cubs a 3-1 lead in the ninth but the Dodgers sent the game into extra innings when Jim Gilliam singled home two runs in the last of the ninth.

Joey Jay pitched an eight-hitter and Gene Freese and Wally Post each drove in three runs for the Reds. It marked the first time that Jay ever beat the Pirates at Pittsburgh and the former Milwaukee right-hander embellished his performance with seven strikeouts en route to his eighth win.

Willie McCovey's two-run homer and a ninth-inning relief job by rookie Dick LeMay produced the Giant victory despite homers by Frank Bolling and Joe Torre. Mike McCormick received credit for the victory while bonus rookie Tony Cloninger suffered the loss in his major league debut.

Stan Musial had two singles and a double to lead the Cardinals' 11-hit attack that earned Ray Sadecki his fifth win and dealt Philadelphia's Art Mahafey his sixth loss. Tim McCarver, 18-year old St. Louis catcher, drove in two runs with a triple and a double.

Braves, Pirates Swing Deal To Get Back In Race

By United Press International
The Milwaukee Braves and Pittsburgh Pirates, scrambling to get back into the National League race, both swung a pair of deals before the midnight trading deadline Thursday night.

The Braves traded shortstop Johnny Logan to the Pirates for outfielder Gino Cimoli after purchasing catcher Sammy White from the Boston Red Sox.

The Pirates, in addition to their deal with the Braves, acquired veteran outfielder Walt Moryn from the St. Louis Cardinals for cash and a minor league player to be named later and purchased catcher Don Lippert from the Columbus Jets of the International League.

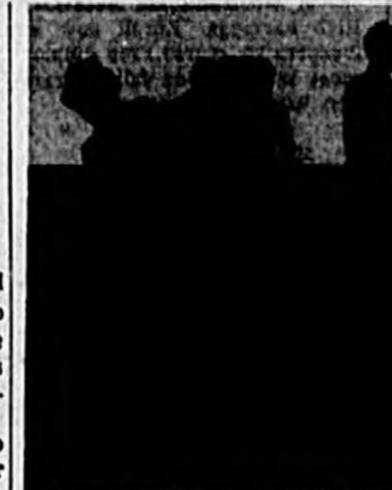

Logan, who helped lead the Braves to NL pennants in 1957 and 1958, wound up playing one and a half seasons with the Pirates. He appeared in only 18 games, collecting two hits in 19 at-bats.

Cimoli, too, was only a part-time performer for the Pirates but was batting .299. The 31-year-old outfielder, who broke into the majors with the Dodgers in 1958, was acquired by the Pirates last year from the Cardinals.

The Braves picked up White to help fill in for Del Crandall, who has been out since April 20 with a bad shoulder. White retired after the 1959 season but suffered a change of heart earlier this season and had been working out with the Red Sox for the last month.

Lippert was the International League's leading batter this season with a .381 average when the Pirates purchased his contract from Columbus. The defending world champions stayed within the 25-player limit by placing utility infielder Gene Baker on the waiver list and selling catcher Bob Oltis to Columbus.

The Kansas City Athletics optioned outfielders Jay Hankins and Stan Johnson to Honolulu of the Pacific Coast League while the Minnesota Twins called up third baseman Dick Rollins from their Charlotte, N. C., club in the Sally League after assigning relief pitcher Ed Palmquist to Syracuse of the International League.

Bobby Brue Sets Pace In Open Tourney Field

BIRMINGHAM, Mich. (UPI)—Bobby Brue, a little guy from Milwaukee who hopes to parlay a magic putter and a financial education into golfing gold, led the nation's best shotmakers into the second round of the U. S. Open championship today.

His margin over his closest pursuers was not a big one—only one stroke—but it was a significant one for among all of the stars and name players in the field the virtual unknown from the north country was the only player in a field of 150 who was able to break par on the narrow, rugged Oakland Hills Country Club course.

His 75-34-69 in the first round Thursday took an even more luster because when the same tournament was played here 10 years ago only two players were able to crack regulation figures in four rounds—one of them Ben Hogan, with a 69, the other the late Clayton Hafner with a 69.

So for 24 hours, at least, the golf world has a new king.

But his crown may be only a temporary one.

For one stroke back of him came former U. S. Open champion Tommy Bolt and Bob Goalby, considered one of the coming stars among the pros.

And only two strokes behind at 71 were Hogan, trying for an unprecedented fifth Open title; British Open champion Kel Nagle; long-hitting Paul Harney, Australian Bruce Crampton, former intercollegiate champion Rex Baxter, veteran Marty Furgol and Al Gelberger, the thin man from Southern California.

Doug Sanders, former PGA champion Bob Rosburg, Dow Finsterwald and Doug Ford; Dave Douglas, Dick Whittle and Larry Mowry were three strokes behind Brue with 72's.

Among the 15 tied at 73 were Sammy Snead, in his 25th anniversary try for the only "big" one which has eluded him in a brilliant career; former U. S. Open champion Jack Fleck; former PGA king Lionel Hebert; Gene Littler, Mike Souchak, Billy Maxwell and amateur Bill Hyndman.

Defending champion Arnold Palmer, the 5-1 betting favorite, was in the 74 bracket along with U. S. amateur champion Deane Beman and former U. S. Open champions Billy Casper, Julius Boros and Cary Middlecoff.

Masters champion Gary Player and Jack Nicklaus, considered the leading amateur threat, were in the 75 group.

There were 49 who shot 74 or better so it appeared that it would take 149 or better to qualify for the final two rounds of play on Saturday when the field will be cut to the low 50 and ties.

Cash Hospitalized With Foot Injury

DETROIT (UPI)—Norm Cash, the triple-threat slugging sensation of the Detroit Tigers, was hospitalized today with a painful foot injury.

It was doubtful if the 28-year-old Texan would be able to make tonight's opener in the Tigers' crucial series against the New York Yankees.

Cash was hospitalized overnight with what was diagnosed as an acute sprain and bruise in his left instep. Dr. C. J. Kariba, X-ray specialist at Detroit Ophthalmic Hospital, said the first baseman's foot was not fractured, but that Cash was in considerable pain.

The Tiger star first complained of a sore foot in the eighth inning of Thursday's game—which the Tigers dropped, 10-1, to the Boston Red Sox.

Bankers Roll In Little Loop

Sanford Atlantic Bank topped George's, 12-10 Thursday and Yewell's romped over Monroe Harbor, 24-7 in Little League play. In the Babe Ruth League, CPO defeated Oriole, 15-2.

Tribe Boss Says Future 'Healthy'

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI)—The future of baseball in Cleveland is healthy despite the present sharp drop in attendance.

This was the prediction made Thursday by Gabe Paul, general manager of the Cleveland Indians, who called a press conference to discuss the problem.

Paul blamed the drop on the chopped schedule, bad weather, the trading away of local heroes and past methods used to lure people back to the ballpark.

Several years ago, Tribe officials threatened to shift the franchise if attendance did not improve.

Paul said the Redskins will form an "active sales department, aimed at bringing fans back to the ballpark."

Despite the fact that attendance is about 100,000 below the year-ago figure, Paul predicted that attendance will pick up.

"If our team plays its current brand of winning ball, people will come to see them," Paul said.
