NEW MODELS FOR YOUNG FASHIONABLES

White and blue check gingham started out quite indépendent of any assistance when the first of the l'tle frocks pictured above was planned, but on second thought it realized the advantage of a combination with white pique, especially when the pique was scalloped and trimmed with buttonhole embroidery. Sash and pockets, however, remained loyal to the gingham. An ideal contribution to the Summer wardrobe. Medium size requires 21/4 yards 36-inch gingham, with Wyard pique.

Resolved to look very much like an elder fashion, the second dress selected a, skirt with front cut in one with the blouse for panel effect. Then the sides were for panel effect. Then the sides were gathered and a piping of plain color tadded to the slashed sleeves and reversed hem. To be youthfully smart also compelled the omission of a collar for the round neck. Medium size requires 3 yards 32-inch material and 4 yards braid. First model: Pictorial Review Dress No. 9466. Sizes, 6 to 14 years. Price, 30 cents.
Second Model: Dress No. 9484. Sizes, 4 to 10 years. Price, 30 cents.

However, the bank clerks are hard working individuals and we are always glad to see them get a vacation.

They might close for an hour when we die but not while we are alive and we would not have them close any more than is necessary.

The city of Sanford is moving right along and no dark clouds can dispel the bright sunshine of optimsim in this great and growing city on the banks of the St. Johns river.

If Sanford had the money to invest in houses right now there would be hundreds of them built here this winter. There is not a city of similar size in the United States that needs home as badly as Sanford. And certainly no city where your investment would bring greater returns.

RAILROADS ARE PREPARING TO -DO THEIR PART

Whenever the railroad systems of the country are prosperous, it may be taken for granted that prosperity is a general condition. Indications point to an enormous expenditure for extensions and improvements during this new year. It is estimated, according to a summary prepared by the Railway Age, that more than $700,-000,000 will be the outlay before next It is learned this morning that the December 31st, for enlargements and indeage of permanent highways The Herald was for brick streets freight business would show a slamp,

If it may be assumed that an equal amount will be spent by the remaining two thirds of the mileage of the railways of the United States and Canada, the total expenditure will, as stated above, exceed $700,000,000 this present year. The significance of this is indicated by the fact that in only one year, the year 1917, durning the past ten, have the records of the Interstate Commerce Commission shown an increase in investment in road and equipment of this amount, while the average annual investment during this ten-year period has been less than $500,000,000.

It is readily seen that the turning into manufacturing and trande channels of such a stupendous amount of money, must result in greatly increased trade and travel.-Lakeland
