Gutzon Borglum Plans Monument in Dakota Hills

The shrine would be a monument of Washington and Lincoln, standing side-by-side, their figures carved from a huge needle-like piece of granite which towers 200 feet above its immediate base.

Borglum has long held this vision. He expects soon to visit South Dakota to discuss details for raising the $1,000,000 necessary to its completion.

In the Black Hills there is a group of rocks that rise perpendicularly as high as a 15 or more story office building. The rocks are known as The Needles. One of these has withstood the elements more than its neighbors and there remains a wide base from which ascends a shaft tapering almost to a point. This shaft rises to a height greater than any elevation east of the Rockies except Mount Harney, itself in the Black Hills.

Situated among virtual mountains of red, purple and gold, their slopes dotted with towering pines, the proposed memorial rock may be seen for miles before the long, slowly ascending trail finally brings the visitor within its shadow.

Here Borglum found a setting for a national memorial. With the advice of several South Dakota residents, Borglum chose as the characters for this memorial Washington and Lincoln, two outstanding figures in American history, whom he knew would appeal to the patriotism of every corner of the United States.

Information reaching supporters of the memorial in this state indicates that the financial problem will be met. Several wealthy persons have listened sympathetically to the plan and it is understood one New York multi-millionaire virtually has agreed to finance the project single handed.

Five Children Die When Their Homes Destroyed By Fire

EVERETT, Mass., Aug. 31.—(AP)—Five children, all under 13, were burned to death and their mother, Mrs. Irene Scenna, was taken to a hospital with a broken back as the result of a fire here tonight started by the upsetting of a kerosene lamp in their home.

Women Burned
BALTIMORE, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Three unidentified women were severely burned late Sunday afternoon when fire swept through the playground at Sandy Beach on the shore of Chesapeake Bay near here and demolished a large bath house, dining sheds and two unoccupied cottages. The damage was estimated at $90,000.

The injured women were changing their clothes in the bath house, a structure containing ten thousand lockers, when the dry pine building suddenly burst into flames.

The women's clothes caught fire as they stumbled in running from the structure. The victims were badly burned before bystanders beat out the flames.

Scores of bathers were obliged to return to their homes in Baltimore in their bathing suits when the flames destroyed their clothing, left in the bath house. A volunteer bucket brigade fought the blaze as the bath has no fire apparatus. The fire is believed to have been caused by a carelessly discarded cigarette.

Stuart — $250,000 apartment house to be constructed here, according to announcement.

Sunday Drinking Problem Worries Irish Free State

DUBLIN, Aug. 31.—(AP)—The question of Sunday drinking in the Free State has become a subject for active discussion. It has been wholly abolished in Northern Ireland, but in the Free State the provision enabling a bona fide traveler who has gone three miles from his home to get drink, has nullified the general law, and public houses in the neighborhood of Dublin and other large towns do a large trade with the Sunday bona fide traveler.

Along the Ulster border a similar trade has sprung up, and large numbers of excursionists from Northern Ireland cross into the Free State every Sunday as bona fide travelers in search of a drink. This is particularly noted between South Down and the village of Omagh in County Louth. Opinion in the Free State is divided. A large number of people favor complete Sunday closing and the abolition of the bona fide traveler privilege. An official opinion before the Liquor Commission indicated his view that Sunday opening for everybody between limited hours would be a better course.

A meeting of the priests of the diocese of Clonfert, Most Rev. Dr. Dignan, Bishop of the diocese presiding, strongly condemned the suggested general opening of drink shops on Sundays. In view of the excessive facilities in Ireland at present for getting intoxicating drink the priests thought universal Sunday opening would be a national disaster.

NAVY SEAPLANES LEAVE TODAY ON HAWAIIAN FLIGHT

Lieut. Ralph E. Davidson as navigation officer and second pilot. Commander Rodgers himself will command plane No. 1, with Lieut. B. J. Connell as navigation officer for the entire expedition and second pilot of the commanding officer's craft.

Connell, Expert. Lieut. Connell, one of the navy's finest masters of navigation, is an expert with the earth-conductor compass, an instrument which utilizes the earth's magnetism to keep it on its course. A galvanometer mounted in the navigating cockpit takes readings of the variation created by a constantly excited electro magnet coming into conflict with the normal lines of magnetic force about the earth as the plane nears from port to starboard.

Of the three planes, the Boeing PB-1, powered with two 800-horsepower twelve-cylinder Packard motors, and one of the PN-9 powered with two 600-horsepower Packard motors, are expected to reach Hawaii with a small reserve of flying distance remaining. The third plane, also a PN-9, powered as its sister craft, possesses a radius some 150 miles less owing to structural variations, it being a plane reconstructed from a P-7 also developed in the navy's own shops.

The Quality of Growth

AT CORAL GABLES there is constant insistence upon the quality of expansion. Quality in fact is the dominant characteristic in every feature of this master suburb of Miami, Florida. Careful supervision and intelligently directed restrictions make for sound construction and architectural beauty of homes, hotels, churches, schools, business buildings.

George E. Merrick, founder and builder of Coral Gables, and of Denman Fink, supervising artist-architect, admit of nothing less.

Quality of growth supported by institutional investment—$30,000,000 already spent in development and $100,000,000 additional, scheduled over a period of ten years—guarantee the present at Coral Gables and ensure the future. With values constantly enhanced, early investors have made splendid profits on resales. Even greater opportunities, however, now await the investor who buys in the Riviera section at pre-development prices. For full information—and also to learn how you may visit Miami and Coral Gables free of all transportation cost—call at our local office or clip the coupon below.

And quality is everywhere apparent in the characterful landscaping which preserves and intensifies the tropical beauty of the South Atlantic Florida countryside instead of shoving it aside before the devastating hand of progress. Everlasting vigilance is exercised to improve the physical beauty of Coral Gables despite unprecedented growth. To raise the intangible but vital atmosphere. The high idealism of

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

GOD'S WONDERFUL LOVE:—For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life. John 3:16.

MY FAIR ONE, COME AWAY

Song of Solomon 2:10. Rise up, My love, My fair one, come away. The night is dark, Oh, do not longer stay!

"I long have sought thee in the desert wild, I died for thee—Oh, tarry not, My child."

Rise up, My love, and quickly come away. 'Tis dark; but for thee there's glorious day.

Away, yes, far away from sin and strife Into a useful, pure and happy life; Come, thou shalt shelter now beneath My wings.

"No evil shall befall while I am near; Rise up, My love, Oh, come and do not fear; Come lavish now thy love upon thy Lord And thou shalt have My best—a rich reward."

"Rise up, My love, Oh, daughter of a King, All pure within thou shalt glad anthers sing. I come, the night has gone, the light now shines; I clasp Thy pierced feet for Thou art mine."

"Oh, precious loving Christ, how sweet Thou art; I'm sheltered now from every fiery dart. I'm waiting now from heaven to hear Thee say, My love, My fair one, come away."

Speaking of free love, our office boy says there's no such thing.

"I am shocked over this," said the man as lightning struck his house.

"Our office boy says the good old days were when the school children used to carry a jar of syrup to eat with their biscuit at recess."

The little girl down the street says maybe the rosin they call some fellows poor fish in that they are always ready to swallow any girl's lie.

All House plead guilty to charges of robbery and the fight he was supposed to put up, failed to materialize, thus showing that it was not such a rough house affair after all.

A Colorado paper says, "after the collection was taken, the choir sang, 'It Is Enough' by Mendelssohn. They ought to have followed that with 'Showers of Blessings.'"

In China it is declared that the silk worm has turned out less than half the silk that it usually does. That's all right, the girls are wearing less than half of what they used to.

Senator Cole L. Blaise, of South Carolina will start the evolution talk in Congress in December, he says. Well, he's a big enough monkey for the tank, which is one thing in his favor.

New York plans to hold a candy convention and Johnny Spencer says it will be a nice place for a fellow to take his Sugar, but we insist that it will be a nice place for him to get his Sugar.

Jakeland is meeting its house shortage with seventeen residential permits taken out in two days. While Sanford isn't doing quite as good, the August permits will show that the month almost averaged one home permit a day.

Backing Big Talk With Big Money

From the Tulsa Tribune, published at Tulsa, Oklahoma, comes another good batch of free advertising for Sanford. Inspired by the great publicity fund which has been provided by the people of this city in the recent Chamber of Commerce campaign, the Tulsa paper points out as an example, the way Sanford people back their town.

Like many other out-of-state publications that are not familiar with Florida and that do not know existing facts, the paper appears to be somewhat skeptical of what it calls the "Florida Boom." Under the head of "big talk and big money" it says:

We Tulsans are proud of our city and confident of its future greatness. We rightfully claim the title of being mighty enthusiastic boosters. We are inclined to be a bit skeptical about the stability of this Florida real estate boom now underway, knowing that except for purely pleasurable climate, Oklahoma has Florida beaten on natural resources in a hundred ways.

All sorts of Florida literature floods onto newspaper editorial desks and finds the waste basket promptly. But one letter which illustrates the point we have just made is too good to toss aside. It comes from the town of Sanford, a little place claiming some 10,000 population and probably lucky to have 5,000 real inhabitants. But Sanford folks are big letters on Sanford's future. They have just raised $87,000 in a popular campaign to advertise the city, and then the city government voted an extra $20,000 and the county $15,000 more. It is said that no taxpayers are protesting the use of the funds.

So now Sanford is spending about $125,000 to tell the world that it's a town with a future where capital from outside has real opportunities. The boosters there are claiming a world's record for per capita investment in community advertising. Moreover, they certainly have the figures to support the claim.

The Tulsa paper is right when it says Floridians back their big talk with big money. All over this state for some reason the people seem to have a habit of doing that. Perhaps it is because they are enthusiastic over the possibilities of their state and perhaps it is because of the faith they have in it. At any rate, they usually demonstrate their faith by opening their pocketbooks for worth-while movements. When the people of Sanford laid out the table more than one hundred thousand dollars and said "Here, tell the world about our town," the people of this city showed they had plenty of faith in their city and were anxious to spread the good word around.

Florida people are setting a pace and establishing precedents for the rest of the world to follow. They are backing what might seem to be big talk, with big money as well.

A Special Session of the Legislature

Governor Martin has addressed a letter to legislators in which he announces that he will call an extra session of the state legislature to convene the early part of November. The special session is being called at the urgent request of the people of Monroe county, who need additional legislation so that the city of Key West may have adequate water facilities. In addition, the state's chief executive states, there have come requests from representatives of various counties for local legislation.

In his letter, published in The Herald Monday, the Governor warns that if local bills are to be considered at the November gathering, they must be advertised for sixty days before the session.

This is September first and if any special bills are to be introduced from Seminole county, some quick work will have to be done on the part of those sponsoring the bills. Only a short time is left in which measures may be drafted and the necessary advertising begun.

MY FAVORITE STORIES

By IRVIN S. COBB

The caller was undeniably large. When he walked he rippled and one had the feeling that should he sit down suddenly he'd splash.

Dressed in the simple overalls of a husbandman, he wallowed into the office of a lawyer in the foothills of the Tennessee mountains.

Having given his name and his post office address, he stated that he desired to bring suit against a neighbor for ten thousand dollars' damages on account of libel.

"How did he libel you?" asked the lawyer.

"Well, suh," stated the aggrieved party, "he up and called me a hippopotamus—that's what he done, cussin' his picture!"

"When did he call you this name?"

"It's a goin' on two years ago," "When did you first hear about it?"

"That very next day." "Indeed," said the lawyer; "then why did you wait nearly two years to begin taking steps to bring suit against him?"

"Well, suh," stated the prospective plaintiff, "ontil that three Ringling Brothers' circus showed jistiddy in Knoxville an I went down far to see it I'd thought all the time that he wuz sayin' me a compliment."

THE GIRL, THE CAR AND THE DOUGH

PROVIDENCE NEWS

The popularity of our movies in Britain has lately been giving the grave and reverend sages of that country, as the French say, furiously to think. One day the products of Hollywood are attacked as unwholly baneful of the morals of American civilization; another they are applauded with vitriolic adjectives because they hold up an exceeding dirty mirror to nature.

The latest attack on the them comes from no less a quarter than the columns of the London Times. Therein Robert Nichols—we presume he is the able poet of that name—publishes an account of what he says and studied at Hollywood. His judgment is that the whole world, including ourselves in the cities, are forced by the "hicks"—he has the word—to take in pictures only what they like. In other words, he finds that backward rural Arizona, the American town brought about the Dayton trial, sets the pace for the film industry. Hence, according to Mr. Nichols, "most American films paint heroines entirely white and villains entirely black, admitting no subtlety of any sort."

Therefore, he continues, in American films "all women are either moral or immoral; the term used to sexual matters. All great cities are sinks of depravity. All mounted men spend their leisure in cabarets. Most foreigners are corrupt. All French women save those who are marquises are har-lots, and all Englishmen save those who are monarched mildards are bullying drunkards."

This is measurably true. The "happy ending" also comes in for Mr. Nichols' condemnation. It is, he says, the only ending that, therefore the only ending that producers will contrive. He quotes the words of the latter as saying: "This direction for his charges: 'You gotta leave 'em happy. The boy has got to get the girl and the dough. Leave 'em all dolled up and drivin' off in a big car.'"

No one who knows anything about the movies will doubt that this, or something like this, is said in Hollywood every day. Nor will any serious minded person quarrel with Mr. Nichols' reflection on that condition. "Until," he says, "scenario writers and producers have the courage to reveal to the fans philosophic happiness as opposed to happiness in terms of dough, girl and car, the fans will continue so to envisage it."

We might, of course, make the retort to Mr. Nichols that what he charges against American films is not a peculiarly American condition. If he examines the character of the popular "literature" in his own country, he will understand what a prosperous British film industry would do in the way of story-building for the screen. But such a retort would not do away with the fact that our film industry is largely in the hands of men who are not merely pillars of vulgarity but lacking, apparently, in any appreciation of spiritual values.

As Brisbane Sees It

Yes, the Soul Exalts. It Lives Like a Strike. One Billion Years Old. Money Goes to Money.

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE (Copyright, 1925)

CHARLES HENRI, distinguished French mathematician, declares that he can prove, scientifically, the existence of a soul, or something much like it. He finds in the human being some utterly "elusive and ideal fluid" defying all the scales and microscopes in the world.

MANY CHRISTIANS for many years have put it in simpler language. "I know that my Redeemer liveth." There is something inside of that "elusive and ideal fluid" which says to every human being, "Life is not all. You live elsewhere."

LATE YESTERDAY afternoon a coal strike appeared inevitable. The advantage will be with owners of the mines, against the workmen.

The mine owners have plenty of coal on hand. Soft coal can be used in place of hard, oil to a large extent, in place of either. And oil at this moment is cheap and plentiful. If a coal strike does come, it may help owners of oil stocks more than it will help the striking coal men.

PROFESSOR HORACE Lamb tells one thousand members of the British Scientific Association what a very old world this one is.

Science can't be sure about the exact age, but it knows that it is at least 1,000,000,000 years. And the crust of the earth as it stands now may be as much as ten billion years old.

Think of ten thousand millions of years compared with the 12,000 years that have passed since the end of the late Stone Age.

Then remember that science guarantees to this earth several hundred million years more of existence with plenty of warmth and sunlight. There is plenty of time ahead to settle problems, including the various "perils," brown, black, yellow, etc.

"MONEY GOES TO MONEY," as the old French peddler said when he left his little fortune to the richest of the Rothschilds—whom he had never seen.

Money also goes to New York. The National Bureau of Economic Research says New York State receives 15 per cent "of the total current income of the country." It gets a great deal more than that, as the real figures would show.

MRS. THAW, mother of Mr. Harry Thaw, who has long supplied copy to reporters, gave $500,000 to one of her grandsons, and is trying to get it back, alleging coercion. The grandson, Lawrence V. Thaw, in his reply points out that he is "the only member of my family engaged in business."

That, coupled with the career of Harry Thaw, should interest the millions of Americans busy accumulating money to be left to their children—to ruin those children.

WE GROW rapidly, by using new inventions as they come along. Twenty-five years ago there were 2,510 telephones in the City of Brooklyn, 849 in all of Queens County. Now Brooklyn and the surrounding Long Island territory have 600,000 telephones. How much do you suppose 500,000 telephones add to the working lives and efficiency of human beings?

THE ARABS fighting against the French in Syria travel in small groups, and scattered swiftly when they see a French airplane coming. Nevertheless, they have already learned what air fighting means.

One bomb killed forty Bedouins. Caravans of camels are now traveling slowly over the sand, carrying dead and wounded Arabs. What chances would the old-fashioned masses of infantry have with flying machines bombarding them?

VIGILANCE COMMITTEES, shooting to kill, are discouraging bank robbers and other bandits in the West. The National Surety Company warns Eastern cities that the "holdup" army is on its way East and the East should get ready for it.

In the West they offer a reward for every dead bandit, $1,000 per corpse. This makes bandit shooting profitable, and it has the additional advantage of being legal.

THE JAPANESE need all their courage for the misfortune that fall upon them. Sad news from Tokio tells of many drowned, 80,000 homeless, floods sweeping over vast regions. The rushing waters, following a typhoon, rained towns, washing away mountain sides and wrecking trains.

AFTER WAR broke out, the Czar put Russia on a cold water basis, stopping the sale of vodka absolutely.

This column then suggested that absence of whiskey would mean more cold thinking by Russians and that one result of such thinking would be the absence of the Czar. That prophecy was fulfilled.

NOW BOLSHEVISM restores vodka to its old alcoholic power, about forty percent. The vodka had been sold much weaker and peasants were not satisfied.

When they get back the old strong drink, they and the Bolshivist government both will probably be pleased.

Men to whom thinking is new, dislikes the unpleasant sensation and effort.

And government that want to rule men find their work easier when the crowd is well supplied with whiskey.

WORRIED

Labor And The Labor Recruiter

TRI-CITY NEWS

The expected is beginning to happen. The labor recruiter is abundant in the land. Conditions unfavorable to the wage earner in a great many Florida towns is making it next to impossible for employers of labor to retain their help, even at the highest wage scale. This is especially true among the larger towns of the East Coast. Workers are flocking in by the thousands because the wages offered are most attractive; but when they stay a week and see their earnings melt away for the nearest makeshift of living accommodations, they flock out again. Hence the labor recruiter is sent out to keep the stream of workers to fill the places of those who are leaving.

Labor seems especially hard to keep in Miami and West Palm Beach. It is reported that one of the Miami newspapers has been forced to purchase several apartment houses in order to provide living accommodations for its employees. Other concerns requiring a large number of wage earners are doing the same thing.

Parties here from West Palm Beach inform the writer that they would to that city to accept employment at a very fancy wage, but found after the first week, that the wages earned and the amount paid out for board and lodging, amounted to exactly the same figures.

Perhaps it is this sort of condition that compels these East Coast cities to send out labor recruiters to other parts of the state to cripple the progress of private building projects and construction work of a public nature let under time limit contracts. It might prove profitable to labor recruiters of this kind to investigate the statutes of this state which strictly prohibits such practice.

The News has been hammering on the subject of providing more accommodation for people in the tri-cities, in almost every issue for the past six months. Buildings have been going up on every hand, but very few of these are of a class that a wage earner would feel justified in renting.

We have pointed to conditions in other cities in order to bring this subject more forcible to home news people. How long will it be before the same problem that other cities are wrestling with will come before us for solution? If laboring people find it difficult now to secure a shelter in the tri-cities, how will our builders and other employers of labor be able to carry on this winter? We have rolled this question ahead of us all summer, but the time is coming when it will roll no further and we will be jammed up against it, unless we take time by the forelock and provide living accommodations for the help necessary to carry on the winter building program.

We have several millions of dollars worth of building projects now under way in and around the tri-cities. We have contracts let for around two million dollars worth of public improvements. We have a million-dollar concrete bridge under construction by the state, but dependent largely upon local labor. We also have many other building projects under contemplation. We would like to see the work on all these enterprises going in high gear.

In the aggregate it will require a small army of wage earners to carry on a tremendous building program, not to mention the help required in all the regular commercial and industrial lines. Where will we house this army? Where are the barracks? Where are even enough available "supplements"? The army is arriving already, but it will not live in trenches with the rats, it will drift on the places that have made preparations to receive it, leaving the tri-cities to face the same condition that now confronts Miami and the Palm Beaches.

The laboring man will go where he can do the best for himself; it is foolish if he does not. It is nothing more than good economic policy to provide for his comforts and conveniences. If he does not find these at a reasonable cost, he will pass the extortionate rent and board bill on to his employer in a demand for higher wages.

Up to the present time the wage earner in the tri-cities has fared exceptionally well. The surplus in the dinner-bucket brigades has been able to save over and above living expenses has been greater perhaps than he would have found in any other city in South Florida—and that surplus is what counts in the measuring of wages.

The matter of maintaining this desirable state of affairs, and providing for a great increase in the dinner-bucket brigades as the winter season advances, should, it seems to us, engage the earnest thought and consideration of every employer of labor and every civic organization of the tri-cities.

MR. LAWSON'S GREAT MISTAKE

MACON TELEGRAPH

With all his acumen, Victor F. Lawson made one great mistake. He wrote a will which placed the newspaper which he had bought into public esteem and respect—the newspaper which had made his fortune—into the hands of a trust company to be managed.

A newspaper is an institution that must survive or die on its own feet. There never was and never will be a successful newspaper that is dominated by any other business or any other interest except that of giving the public the news and commenting upon it fearlessly and fairly. Other newspapers may make money, but they do not hold respect. That has been demonstrated too often by aspirants for political office who have purchased what were powerful newspapers, only to watch them die on their hands.

A newspaper must be an entity within itself, without strings of any sort, without ties that bind too closely. It must be independent of any other business. To put it under the control of any other business, or of men who are not newspaper men, is to crush its life out. Mr. Lawson might have reasoned with himself very successfully from his own career, had he chosen. He was a man who realized, in conducting his newspaper, that an outstanding personality must manifest itself through the columns of his publication. He clung zealously to attention to the least detail of the office; too jealously, the men who dealt with him sometimes said. He made the Chicago Daily News a woman's paper; he knew that it is the woman who buys the paper. He made it the newspaper of the working man. It carried more "Help Wanted" ads than any other newspaper in the country. Men stood out in the rain writing for the Daily News and its "Help Wanted" columns to appear. It was Mr. Lawson manifesting himself through his newspaper.

Yet, in death, he left the management of the paper not to a personal office, but to an institution and to a bank, at that. The public will say that its editorial policy is tempered by the moneyed interests. If he had left it to the Y. M. C. A., the public would have said that it was a religious duty; if he had left it to a labor union, the public would have said it was tempered by unionism. When a man who has no one to leave a newspaper to prepares his will, he should enjoy its sale to other newspaper men upon his executor's.

It is reported that the unfortunate comet was permitted to use the dynamite taxes, amounting to $1,000,000 yen, for the purpose of making dynamite. The war boom the Loochoosers waxed prosperous because they were able to buy rice. Their rice is sweet potatoes, part of which they import from the mainland. The sugar price this year, however, was such that the Loochoosers could make no profit and were unable to import their usual sweet potato ration. In addition the bonito fish is also very poor. Consequently the Japanese commission recommended that steps be taken by the government to ameliorate the condition of the islanders.

1925 Football Rules Vary Very Little From Those In Effect During Last Season

(By The Associated Press)

Football players and spectators at games this season will have little cause for worry as they consider the new football rules. If they were familiar with the rules last year, they can pick up where they left off, with a few exceptions. The wording has been changed in some instances but not many real changes have been made. When the rules committee met in March there were rumors that many striking changes were to be made, especially in regard to the forward pass, but there was no tinkering with the aerial game.

Acting on a suggestion from the Association of Coaches, the committee made a change in the rule involving blocked kicks. This alteration provided that if the ball does not cross the line of scrimmage it shall belong to the side recovering the ball. If, however, the kicking side recovers the ball it shall count a down. Last year if a blocked kick was recovered by the kicker's side it went as a kick which crosses the line of scrimmage. All partially blocked punts will be treated as if the ball had not been touched.

Another rule covering appearance of physicians and trainers on the field during play, provides that such aides shall report to the referee, just as an incoming player would be required to report. Without seeking preliminary permission to enter the field, hereafter a doctor had to attract the attention of an official to get per-

Batteries: Meadows and Smith; Knight, Betts and Woodall and Wilson.

BRIVES DOWN CUBS
 BOSTON, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Boston evened up the series with Chicago at two-all by taking Monday's game 5 to 3. The Braves bunched hits off Kaufmann. Wilson, recently recalled by the Braves from Worcester, had a perfect day at bat.

Score by innings:
 Chicago 100 000 011—3-11-2
 Boston 110 020 10x—5-12-0

Batteries: Kaufmann and Gonzalez; Barnes and O'Neil.

National Amateur Golf Tournament Opens At Oakmont

OAKMONT, Pa., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Oakmont long and treacherous, inviting and at the same time discouraging, repelled the advances of many a budding champion and several veterans of golf in the first 18 holes round of the National amateur championship Monday. Only one did par for the mighty course fall the youthful Roland R. MacKenzie of the Columbia Country Club in Washington, D. C., conquering the 172 sand holes in 71 one under par figures.

Bobby Jones, amateur king, former open champion, and the man who fought the professional and present open title holder, Willie MacFarlane, through 108 holes at Worcester, Mass., early in the summer to lose by a single stroke, was his powerful self, although several strokes above the record 67 that he drew from his clubs over the same territory on Saturday. Jones reported a 73, one over par.

A large gallery on opening day was treated to a leasant surprise when the "seize gun" of the easy Jesse Guilford of Boston, a champion of bygone years, routed impending oblivion and battered his way to a creditable 74 to take third place in the standing, with 18 holes to be played before the championship 18 is cozen.

Southern Conference Grid Teams Numbering 22, Begin Training Grind September 7

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 1.—(AP)—With high hopes of success in every camp, 22 Southern Conference football squads will begin training Monday, Sept. 7.

All teams but Alabama have a chance to improve their standing of last season and the champion Crimson faces strong competition in holding its own.

Four teams can do no worse than last year, for a quartet failed with a game in the big Southern ring.

The 1925 season will see concentration of games at home by several teams, with "all Southern" dates for others who have been famed in the past for globe trotting habits. A disposition to reduce traveling to a minimum is evident in some schedules.

Only six conference teams will play inter-sectional games. Georgia Tech meets Penn State in New York, and Notre Dame in Atlanta. Tulane tries conclusions with Missouri in New Orleans and with Northwestern in Chicago. Washington and Lee goes to the East to play Pittsburgh at Pittsburgh, Princeton, and West Virginia at Charleston.

With one inter-sectional game include Georgia, Yale at New Haven; Kentucky, Chicago at Chicago; Maryland, Yale at New Haven.

Alabama and Virginia Polytechnic Institute lead the organizations in the number of games scheduled inside the conference. Each has seven. V. P. I. and Auburn lead in conference games, played last season with seven, three V. P. I. games resulting in drawn battles. Georgia, Georgia Tech, Auburn, Kentucky, Washington and Lee, Virginia, Vanderbilt and V. M. I. will play six.

Florida University Champions To Open Crucial Series With Philadelphia Today

GAINESVILLE, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Being president of a University does not interfere with the trend toward the great outdoors, or at least it does not in the case of Dr. A. A. Murphree, of the University of Florida. He still finds time to devote to one of his favorite past times—golf—and is not a rookie with his clubs.

Shooting perhaps the most brilliant golf of his long experience on the links, Dr. Murphree, mentioned by William Jennings Bryan as a possible Democratic contender for the 1924 presidential candidacy, turned in a score of 76 for 18 holes play, a mark just four strokes above par.

On the first nine, Dr. Murphree shot a par 36, and came in with a 40, for a total score of 76, said to be the first time he has ever broken 80 in 18 holes of play. His mark was regarded by local golfers as exceptional on the Gainesville country club links.

Three times on the first round, Dr. Murphree lay dead on the pin with his approach shots, striking the flag shaft each time. His most beautiful drive of the round was an number eight hole, when his ball halted a bare six inches from the cup.

Dr. Murphree shot bogies on the difficult third and fifth holes, but came back with birdies on Nos. 7 to 8 to record his perfect score on the out round.

California is Florida's strongest competitor in the shipment of lettuce. Texas comes next in competing with Florida in the shipment of this crop, sending out from its borders about 1,000 cars per season, the busiest time being from January through March.

CHICAGO, Sept. 1.—(AP)—With the complete change of scenery of the 1925 season taking place overnight, Washington and Philadelphia, competitors for the American League pennant, are grooming their name too robust forces for the important two game series opening in the Nation's capital today.

Washington goes into the series with a three and one half game lead donated largely by the complete collapse of the Athletics in the West. Although the pitching staffs of both clubs were badly riddled under the cannonading of the Western clubs, the Harris machine, granted a three day respite through the indifferent playing of the Chicago White Sox, takes into the melee a job corps about to recover from a campaign that was almost its undoing.

The standing last night was:
 Washington 79 45 437
 Philadelphia 74 47 412

Pittsburgh, regarded by many League hunting, stretched its lead over the New York Giants to seven and one-half games Monday by subjecting Philadelphia to its fourth straight defeat, 10 to 3, while the McGraw club was idle.

The standing:
 Pittsburgh 77 46 426
 New York 73 57 456

The average yield per acre is about 254 hampers. However at Bradenton and Sanford it is claimed that some producers get 600 to 700 hampers per acre with some having been known to go as high as 900 hampers from one acre.

Duval High School Faces Hard Grid Schedule This Year

JACKSONVILLE, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Duval High, of this city, usually a chief figure in the fight for High school football honors in this state each season, will open its gridiron schedule on October 3 on home grounds when it engages the St. Augustine squad.

Hillsborough, one of Duval's greatest obstacles in its quests for football laurels every season, is scheduled to clash with the Tigers here on October 21.

Its schedule follows:
 Oct. 3, St. Augustine High, at Jacksonville; Oct. 10, Columbia High, at Lake City; Oct. 17, Leon High in Tallahassee; Oct. 24, Hillsborough High, at Jacksonville; Oct. 31, Miami High, at Jacksonville; Nov. 11, Lanier High, at Jacksonville; Nov. 20, St. Petersburg High, at St. Petersburg; Nov. 26, Boys' High (Atlanta) at Jacksonville.

Many Sanford Folks Are Showing How to Avoid Needless Suffering.

There's nothing more annoying than kidney weakness or inability to properly control the kidney secretions. Night and day alike, the sufferer is tormented and what with the burning and scalding, the attendant backache, headache and dizziness, life is indeed a burden. Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys—have brought peace and comfort to many Sanford people. Profit by this Sanford resident's experience:

"D. G. McLaulin, 311 W. 3rd St. says: 'When I took cold it usually settled on my kidneys and caused attacks of kidney complaint. I had a dull ache in the small of my back and I had to get up often at night to pass the kidney secretions. I also suffered from pains in the back of my head. I used Doan's Pills bought at Mobley's Drug Store and they quickly rid me of the trouble.'

WATERMELONS
HON. ED. WALTHALL, Care Seminole Hudson-Exsex Co., Sanford, Fla.
Dear Ed:
I take no stock in the controversy as to whether the watermelon is a bean or a berry. Sufficient unto me is that it is a watermelon.

But there are some questions which come up every watermelon season which should be given proper attention. One of the questions is how to properly cut a watermelon.

People who really enjoy a watermelon the most claim that the only way to properly cut a watermelon is to stick your head in and eat your way through it. They say that it ruins a watermelon to dig it out with a fork or a knife.

I brought one of these books on etiquette the other day, hoping that I would find the answer to this question. The author was painfully silent on this very important question. Perhaps, she had never eaten a watermelon and, consequently, has a great deal to live for.

Then there is always the question as to what is the proper costume for a watermelon party. This I have settled in a common sense way to my entire satisfaction and comfort. I always wear a bathing suit to a watermelon party. I am prepared then for any eventuality. The bathing suit is made to get wet in and it has a certain elasticity which makes it admirably adapted for use on such important occasions.

I was talking to a fellow the other day and he said he was always glad when the watermelon season came because he was sure, then, that his ears were clean. As he talked he reached up and flicked a watermelon seed out of his left ear.

I am not very fond of watermelon myself. I have never been able to eat more than one or two at a sitting. But I have a friend who can eat three sitting and then stand up and eat three more.

If there is anything better than an ice cold watermelon on a red hot day, I have yet to be introduced to it. There is a certain little spot which a watermelon reaches under such circumstances which is unobtainable to anything else.

One of the pleasantest things I know is to take an ice cold watermelon on a sultry afternoon and drive out in the old Essex to some shady spot on the side of the road and enjoy yourself. The anticipations on the ride out are joyous and the circumstances on the ride back are joyful.

Let's give the watermelon a place along with the Essex automobile as real boon to humanity.

Yours, HILL.
