Memorial To Be Dedicated On Marine Anniversary

WASHINGTON, Pa.—The first official military forces of the United States—two battalions of Marines—were put into uniform by an act of the Continental Congress on a November day in 1775.

Now, in November, 1954, a memorial is to be dedicated to all Marines who died while writing their proud history of valor.

The memorial to fallen leather-necks is the biggest bronze statue ever created, a replica of the famous two Jimia flag raising of World War II. President Eisenhower will dedicate it Nov. 30, the 179th anniversary of the birth of the U. S. Marines.

Patterned after the celebrated photograph made by Joe Rosenthal of Pfc. A. Smedley, the bronze was created by Felix de Weldon, a 47-year-old sculptor and native of Austria.

It towers 75 feet above the banks of the Potomac River, a few hundred feet from Arlington National Cemetery. Across the Potomac stands the stately Lincoln Memorial.

Over all cost of the memorial is $250,000, paid for by individual Marines. Corps officials say the contributions all were voluntary. After one year the memorial and its surrounding tract of land will revert to the Interior Department for upkeep.

Memorial To Be Dedicated On Marine Anniversary

Since Rosenthal took his famous picture the Associated Press has received about $1,500 for reproduction rights. All money has been turned over to the Navy Relief Society.

De Weldon was a Navy artist back in 1915 when Rosenthal's picture was flashed across the world by AP Wirephoto. Instantly struck with the possibilities, he went to work on a sculpture of it.

He made more than a score of models but took some artistic liberties with the photograph. He moved the men closer to each other to make the memorial more compact. Each figure is 32 feet high so he elevated arms, enlarged hands and helmets to prevent distortion from the standpoint of the viewer on the ground.

"I learned about distortion as I went along," he said. "Nothing of this size in action ever has been done before."

The Statue of Liberty, he noted, stands 30 feet high but it is a figure in repose and consequently less complicated to create. It is not a bronze casting.

When the figures of the two Jimia memorial were completed in clay and plaster they were cut into sections and sent off to New York for reassembly and cast in bronze. This was a massive undertaking, involving heating liquid

GOP Is Victorious In Farm Belt States

WASHINGTON, Pa.—Despite a controversy over the flexible price support program, Republicans marked up significant legislative victories Tuesday in politically important farm belt states.

Some successful GOP candidates differed with the administration but the overall results did not represent, in the view of observers here, a repudiation of the new farm policies pushed through Congress by President Eisenhower.

Nearly complete returns indicated that congressional and state-house gains made by Democrats were confined largely to urban areas of the country.

The Midwest results were viewed, too, as a farmer vote of confidence in Secretary of Agriculture Benson, who spearheaded the administration drive for variable farm price guarantees to replace war-born high rigid floors.

Counted out by his critics several times since he started plugging a program aimed at "taking the government out of agriculture," Benson's position appeared to be stronger than ever. Benson's home state, Utah, sent two GOP House members back to Washington despite the late withdrawal of one candidate, Rep. Douglas Stringfellow. Utah had no Senate contest.

Democrats had expected declining farm prices to help swing Midwest farmers their way—just as farmer dissatisfaction with the GOP-controlled 80th Congress helped former President Harry S.

Song Writer Soles Atlantic In Piper

PARIS (AP)—San Francisco song writer Max Conrad completed his first nonstop flight across the Atlantic yesterday, landing his light two-engine Piper Apache safely near Paris 22 hours and 23 minutes after taking off from New York's Idlewild Airport.

It was the 49-year-old flier's fifth solo transatlantic flight. He made the crossing to deliver the plane to a French purchaser and to arouse interest among young people in flying.

Conrad said he wasn't tired by the flight, just needed "to relax a bit." He described his flight as uneventful, with the weather generally good, but added he "ran into a belt of bad weather over the North Atlantic and had to go through some snow and ice."

The flier said he would return to the United States by ship.

CHAPTER TWENTY-ONE

THE RIGHT chance to get information on one she had was the man who had assaulted Russell. I knew he was on the boat. He had to be. Assuming that he was showing his help, he might be a man who was known to the police. And if he was the hijacker, the name would hold true, for both are specialized skills and the eyes rest on such people. If that reasoning was sound, then the man I wanted would have a violent aversion to having his picture taken.

I leaned back for the first time that day, my legs spread in a happy grin. Ellen, she'd help me. I was sure of that. And she would send pictures of the happy passengers to complete the story she was doing for Vacation. It all tried in and maybe, just maybe, she'd find my man for me.

A sour thought hit me then. Two hundred passengers. Ellen couldn't take everybody's picture. But it wasn't necessary, was it? Whoever had swayed in my room was someone whose interest in me began when Captain Jellison announced my name and business. Okay, so that someone had been keeping an eye on me since we had discovered I was climbing Stewart. I hadn't done a thing he didn't know about. He'd been watching. All the time. She I have not told to him. And I hadn't met or talked to a soul—excluding the boat's officers—except for the people who shared the captain's table with me. All of the de luxe restaurant travelers, big-money tourists, were at the captain's table. And among them was the one who snugged Russell.

Did that hold water? I went back over it. The only—the sum— I wanted could be any of the passengers. That was possible. But it didn't make much sense. It just wasn't likely. My man was someone close enough to keep an eye on me. He had to be someone I knew, at least by sight, and probably to talk to I was sure of that. I didn't even debate it with myself any more.

Now I needed Ellen and I was floating with impatience. I wandered up and down the big bedrooms, trying to plan just how to handle it. I had something to do now and I wanted to get started. All the busy sleepiness that had plagued me for days seemed suddenly to have disappeared. I stopped peering around the room and went out.

I found Russell alone in the purser's office sweating over a stack of invoices, waybills and shipping documents. He was glad to speak all for a while. We walked up to the small bridge in front of the pilot house. Only the duty office was up there, sitting soundly away in a big windowed alcove. We went outside. I could watch for Ellen and she told Russell what I'd been planning.

He listened thoughtfully and occasionally touched, with a gentle

Tariffs, Taxes And Power Issues Facing Newly Elected Congress

WASHINGTON — Tariffs, taxes and the field of public vs. private power promise to be among the top issues that will be battled over in the new Congress elected Tuesday.

But there are many others, ranging from postal rates to stabilization for Alaska and Hawaii, in which Republicans and Democrats split in the last Congress and may do so again in the new Congress that will convene Jan. 3.

As pointed up in the election campaign, the approach of both parties in domestic legislation will be geared in large part to the state of the economy as reflected in employment, business activity and farm prices.

Democrats hit hard on the theme that the nation's economy was marred by telltale signs of stagnation, while President Eisenhower led a Republican chorus proclaiming 1951 as the most prosperous peacetime year in history.

In the foreign policy field, the Senate will be called on to ratify treaties intended to weld 15-16 Asian nations into an anti-Communist alliance and a series of other agreements which would virtually restore the sovereignty of West Germany and bring her into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. They have strong bipartisan support.

While there is no party split over these parts, Eisenhower has had stronger support from Democrats than Republicans for his foreign trade policies.

In the last Congress, GOP leaders balked at his efforts to win a three-year extension of the reciprocal trade program and authority to cut tariff rates as much as 15 per cent over that period. Congress approved only a one-year extension of the trade agreements act.

Taxes churned to one of the sharpest legislative controversies of the last session. The big tax overhauling bill passed by Congress was hailed by the Eisenhower administration as one of its major achievements, while Democrats argued it was weighted in favor of the wealthy and of corporations.

The tax issue is bound to come from the incoming Congress because, under present law, corporate income tax rates will drop from 32 to 47 per cent April 1 and excess rates on autos, homes and some other goods will return to the pre-Korean level.

In terms of revenue, this will mean a loss to the government of about three billion dollars a year unless Congress agrees to extend present rates. President Eisenhower has said there may be room for some further tax cuts in the year ahead but has not indicated how much.

The public vs. private power fight manifested itself in various ways in the last Congress, carried into the congressional campaign and will continue into the new Congress.

In part it will be reflected in appropriations for the Rural Electrification Administration, the Tennessee Valley Authority, dams, transmission lines and other projects.

Also involved is the Atomic Energy Act, overhauled by Congress last year in a way that started protests of monopoly from Democrats, and the Dixon-Yates contract for a private power plant to feed power into TVA lines to replace TVA power supplied to the Atomic Energy Commission.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas said during the campaign that Democrats would push for revision of the Atomic Energy Act to assure adequate safeguards to protect the people against monopoly.

He also said Democrats would insist on "a thorough ventilation" of the Dixon-Yates contract.

Revision of the Taft-Hartley Act certainly will be talked about in the new Congress, as it was in the last, but differing views over what changes should be made appear likely to cancel out any chance for major action.

One of Eisenhower's surest victories in the last Congress was adoption of legislation to substitute flexible farm price supports for the rigid high-level support program that had prevailed since the war. Victories by advocates of the administration plan appear to minimize chances for scrapping it, as some Democrats had urged, but the issue undoubtedly will be revived.

HEADQUARTERS TO MOVE
NICOSIA, Cyprus, 10 — British middle east headquarters, headed by Gen. Sir Charles Kightley, are to be switched from the Suez Canal Zone to Nicosia Dec. 1, military sources report. Under the new British-Egyptian treaty, the last of the 83,000-man British garrison is to pull the canal zone in the spring of 1950.

'Undesirable' Yank Leaves Moscow
MOSCOW 10 — Mrs. Karl E. Sommerlatte, declared an "undesirable person" by the Soviet government after a workers' club scuffle, left Moscow Friday for the United States.

Accompanied by her husband, the second secretary of the American Embassy, Mrs. Sommerlatte boarded a Russian plane enroute to New York.

U. S. Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen and other top embassy officials saw them off, as did representatives of many other Western and Asian embassies. Mrs. Sommerlatte showed no visible regret at her departure.

The Russians had accused her of "sabotage," charging she struck a workman in an argument Oct. 25 over where to take pictures of some Russian children. Mrs. Houston Staff, wife of the assistant U. S. naval attaché, said she actually hit the workman in an effort to free Mrs. Sommerlatte.

The Soviet Foreign Ministry asked that Mrs. Sommerlatte leave the country and was adamant to strong representations by Bohlen. The State Department said the Soviet secret police had illegally detained the two embassy wives and subjected them to personal indignities.

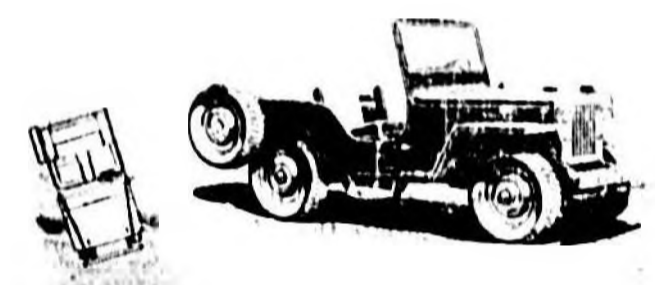

Sommerlatte has been given a new assignment in Washington.

Extra Caution

A good driver takes the seasons into account. When winter approaches he has his car checked to see if anything is needed to make it safe for the strains that bad weather driving can impose. He knows that a car that may stop in time when a road is dry may not when a road is wet and slippery.

Just as he pays attention to the care and preparation of his automobile he revises his own mental attitude about driving. He knows that visibility is usually not so good in the winter as it is in the summer, so he slows down. He is more careful than ever in observing traffic laws.

Driving in bad weather is never fun. Yet the driver who uses common sense, who takes the necessary precautions, can avoid danger and inconvenience. Drive carefully this winter and be around to enjoy the Spring.

Ambitious Girls Wed Corporations

NEW YORK (AP)—An ambitious girl today doesn't merely marry a man. She marries the corporation he works for, too.

It has become a kind of 20th Century blamy.

For it is an open secret that many large corporations now don't make a man an executive solely on the basis of his work in the office.

No. Indeed, that is only half of it. The corporation spot checks his wife also, to be sure that she measures up to its requirements.

Thus comes a strange new industrial concept—the ideal corporate wife.

The idea of being ideally studied by the bifocal gaze of a huge corporation is rather frightening to the average wife.

"I think I know how to please my husband," she says, "but how does a girl go about keeping a corporation happy?"

Suppose her husband sells Buicks. She is unimpressed by the thought that in some mysterious way she may commit a blunder, a blunder that will not only cause her husband to lose out on a promotion to district sales manager but also cause General Motors itself to drop 30 points on the stock market. It's an awful big responsibility to put on the shoulders of one frail but well-meaning woman.

Fortunately, she has some idea to guide her. But they lead only to give her a feeling of inferiority. For surveys of the "ideal corporate wife" shows that washing her hair and keeping her husband well-fed and contented, and raising her kids are hardly enough.

She should dress well but not too well, be "the college type," develop social charm, but her husband's job first at all times, keep abreast of his business but keep her nose out of it, be active in the community, stay within her household budget, never be jealous of her husband's secretary or associates, and so forth and so on.

Put more simply, she should merge the qualities of Florence Nightingale, Mary Margaret Mc Bride, Mother Machree, Catherine the Great of Russia, and a female Dale Carnegie.

Otherwise, if she asks her husband in 1974 why he hasn't had a raise in pay for 20 years, she is likely to be crushed by the reply:

Remember that time we went to the boss's house in 1951, and you ruined my career. The boss decided right then you'd never be the ideal corporate wife, and there was no point in promoting me because you'd only make the corporation look untidy."

This ideal-corporate, wife nonsense could break up a lot of happy homes. It may result in articles in the women's confession magazines entitled, "My Dusted Romance with The American Telephone and Telegraph Co., "Why One Wife Failed with Anacosta Copper," and "The True Story of

How I Let Down Standard Oil."

Some indignant ladies, however, say the mere thought of having their wifely qualifications judged by a corporation brings out the best in them.

A few sample reactions:

"Would it help if I did the dance of the seven veils at the next stockholders' meeting?"

"Suppose I return to sparkle for General Electric, then my husband switches his job and goes to work for U. S. Steel. What do I do to help him — put on more tonnage, or just try to look more durable?"

"Personally, if I have to please all my husband's bosses as well as him, too, well — they'd better start looking for a lady robot. I'll take in washing."

One woman, I thought, had a very sensible solution to the problem of the ideal corporate wife.

"If wives are so important to a corporation," she said, "Why don't they put us on the payroll, too? Then they'd get some real action."

Sounds like a good sound business idea. Any husband would work harder — he'd have to — if his corporation promoted his wife on a family performance basis.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

SPEAKING to a medical convention in San Diego, I discovered that the favorite story there—I think it appeared originally in the New Yorker—is the one about the doughy matron who underwent an operation that was, for a party of her advanced years, exceedingly dangerous, but came through with colors flying, and tongue more caustic than ever. Told that patients are compelled to get out of bed and walk a few steps the very day after the operation, the old girl protested valiantly yet in vain. But by the end of a week she was hotfooting up and down the corridors like a marathon champ and made her home in 140 beds.

The medical staff was gratified, but couldn't quite understand why her recovery should have her family so utterly agast. A grandson finally explained: "We knew Granny would survive the operation, but it's her walking that astounds us. You see, until she got to her hospital, she had refused to take a single step

Aged Man Loses Savings In Try To Protect Them

CLEVELAND (AP)—White-haired James Cranney, 84, decided yesterday it was high time he put his life savings into a safe place.

So he stuffed $1,105 into his wallet, went to a church and asked the pastor to put the money in a safe deposit box for him. But the pastor told him to take it to a bank.

Being unfamiliar with banks, Cranney did not know they were closed on the Sabbath. He went to a bus stop in front of a closed restaurant to wait for a ride downtown.

He tells what happened after that:

"Well, I took out my pipe. And so I could light it, I put me wallet on the window ledge. I lit me pipe, then — swoosh — along comes the bus. I put out me pipe. I grab me cane and I get aboard the bus.

"I sit down, and I look out the window. Then all of a sudden it downs on me — me wallet."

By the time he could get off the bus and get another ride back to the restaurant, his wallet was gone.

President Eisenhower's physician urges him to play golf more often for the good.

Exchange Regulation Is Considered

NEW YORK (AP)—Coffee prices—after a year of fireworks that turned the fingers of America's household budget keepers—are being investigated today by a subcommittee of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee. The Senate Democrats are trying to find out why.

At issue is not only the Federal Trade Commission's charge that the trading on the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange played a villain's role, but also the larger issue of whether this and other commodity exchanges should be regulated by the federal government, much as stock trading has been done under the eye of the Securities and Exchange Commission.

There is fabulous year of coffee: Last October green coffee beans of a commonly used grade could be bought here for 60 cents a pound. Roasted, packed in a vacuum tin and distributed to the grocer, a pound cost around 31 cents.

But traders on the exchange at that time had bid up the price of coffee beans for future delivery here. They cited reports from Brazil of heavy crop damage there from frost, and they reasoned that when the new crop reached here by the end of the year prices would be soaring.

With the beginning of the new year, prices of green coffee here began to rise, reaching a peak of 35 cents April 1 and holding near that level until June. At that time the Brazilian government again raised the price of coffee for export.

But the scheme didn't work. Retail prices of roasted coffee in the United States had climbed as high as $1.35 a pound. How-ever, coffee prices sharply on their buying.

Coffee traders here stopped buying from Brazil. They had two reasons: the price resistance on the part of the American housewife, and word from South America that coffee supplies there were larger than had been predicted.

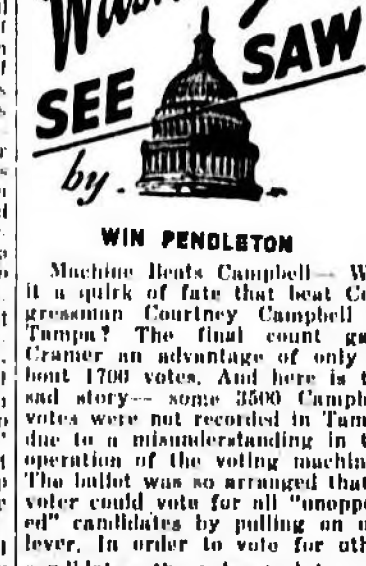

The U. S. Department of Agriculture came out with a report that the supply pinch was about over, that world coffee production would be slightly in excess of consumption.

The Brazilian government, unable to sell its coffee, cut prices in August. Future prices dropped fast on the coffee exchange. Retail prices here came down here. Green beans are down to around 60 cents a pound and prices for future delivery are as low as 32 cents.

Machine beats Campbell—Was it a stroke of fate that beat Congressman Courtney Campbell in Tampa? The final count gave Campbell an advantage of only one vote, 1708 votes. And here is the story—some 3500 Campbell votes were not recorded in Tampa due to a misunderstanding in the operation of the voting machines. The fault was so arranged that a voter could vote for all "unopposed" candidates by pulling on one lever. In order to vote for other candidates, the voter had to vote for them individually. More than 3500 persons voted for the "unopposed" candidates only. Since it is inconceivable that anyone would bother to go to the polls only for a group of people who had no opposition and who were already on the ballot, the machine was changed. It is assumed that those 3500 voters thought they were voting the straight Democratic ticket—and for Courtney Campbell.

Since machines are machines, it is just as likely a voter doesn't know how to use one correctly. The vote is counted the way it is cast—even though a person might not be familiar with how to use the machine—and there is nothing that anybody can do about it.

New Congress—With the Democrats back in the saddle in Washington, it means that again Congressman Bob Hayes will head up the subcommittee of the Appropriations Committee that controls the money for the U. S. Army. He also has been approached to do special extra service on the House Atomic Energy Committee—a terrific assignment if it goes through. Another change expected is a shift on the part of Congressman Syd Harling from the Agriculture Committee to the powerful Ways and Means Committee. And Congressman Billy Matthews' big problem is how to stay on the Veterans' Affairs Committee in the face of offers for a better spot. He insists he wants to stay where he is because he is working on getting a $20 million veterans hos-

Senator McCarthy Keeps Punching

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarthy fights like Henry Armstrong, the perpetual motion man who won three world titles in the 1930s with this stock-in-trade: never stop back, punch, punch, and forget the fancy footwork.

Even the Wisconsin Republican's enemies must concede he is one of the most aggressive politicians of the 20th century. But he has reached a point where he may have to change his style or wind up flat on his political back.

It was his style that got him into trouble. His problem is: Can he change it?

He made his reputation as a Communist hunter. His record as a lawmaker is not particularly distinguished. He was a comparative unknown, outside Wisconsin, for the first four years after his election to the Senate in 1946.

But he hit on the theme of Red-in-government in 1950. He began to slug his way out of oblivion. If he had cooled off after his first few sensational charges he might have slipped back into obscure status.

Instead, he kept his name in the headlines by attack, attack, attack. Armstrong didn't back-pedal when the going got rough. He just belted the other guy. It was how he became king of the featherweights, lightweights and welterweights.

McCarthy became a national figure the same way. Trying to corner him didn't slow him up. He kept moving in, belting away, throwing charges from all directions.

As it turned out, he was a little too rough for his own good. The Senate, four years after he had become a sensational figure, decided it was time to see whether he needed a dressing down.

He himself predicts he will be censured by the Senate, returning today to consider charges that his conduct toward others, including senators, was contemptuous and unfitting a senator.

McCarthy refers to what lies in store for him as "tying the knot," which, all by itself, might be considered contemptuous of the Senate since it implies that body is a mob of vigilantes.

But it's typical McCarthy. Here he is, in the worst jam of his life, betting at a majority of the Senate even though he knows the verdict of that majority may in the end mean the ruin of his political life.

Yet he censured is, in a sense, to be discarded. It is the same as calling a foul on a fighter. It would mean his fellows thought he didn't meet the standards of what a senator should be.

Next to throwing him out altogether, a vote of censure is the worst verdict the Senate could render against him. Throwing him out doesn't seem in the cards.

McCarthy could still vote. If censured, he wouldn't lose his seat, at least before the 1952 elections when his second term ends.

Another man, censured, might be so humiliated he'd turn meek forever. That's hardly in McCarthy's nature. He's a naturally too aggressive to take a setback as permanent.

In fact, he could hardly afford to go back into oblivion again unless he's willing to let his political career end without a further fight. He has no place to go but forward.

But how is he going forward? How is he going to stay in the headlines? By the same tactics that got him into trouble now? The next time the Senate verdict, with the Democrats in control, might be more drastic.

But if his free-swinging style is cramped — if he has to think the consequences for himself every time he wants to act or speak in the Senate — will he be the same McCarthy? It's something he has to think about.

It's possible he may not be able to change that. He's too much himself for that. But he'll fight, he'll continue to keep himself a national figure, even if it costs him. He loses that, he loses everything.

He's probably already lost some of his following, and much public interest. Reports from the political fronts in the last campaign said he wasn't much of an issue.

Way Down South In Sanford, Florida

By C. R. DAWSON, B.S.A., M.S.A. PEE-WAR — The great Pyramid of Giza, Egypt is big wide and big tall. The size of the thing is 697 feet square and 479 feet up. Some question about it.

SMALL CHAINS — It's best to plant small grains with a grain drill on a well prepared seedbed. Plant 4 to 10 pecks of oats per acre; 3 to 5 pecks of rye; or 4 to 6 pecks of wheat. For a good fertilizer program, apply between 400 and 600 pounds of 4-8-8 or 5-10-10. The planting should be 150 pounds of nitrate of soda or its equivalent when the stand is established and again in the spring.

If you want legumes in with the grains use vetch, crimson clover and Kenard red clover. Be sure to apply enough lime to the soil to bring the reaction up to about pH 6.5 and increase the fertilization rate by 25 to 50 per cent. No grazing should be permitted until the plants are 6 inches tall.

LIGHT — It would take up to 2000 fire flies, flashing simultaneously, to produce the same room illumination as a single candle.

HOSPITALS — With some people, it's this way — they are satisfied with a second or third rate small town hospital up to the time they get a king size belly ache and then they want first class facilities built as of yesterday. Our Hospital Board is trying to get ready for you, and me.

GAS TAX — During the month of August 1951, gasoline sales in Florida amounted to 86,717,151 gallons and over 60 per cent of this total was sold in the ten high counties which are Duval, Alachua, Hillsborough, Pinellas, Orange, Polk, Broward, Palm Beach, Escambia, and Volusia.

MALARIA has no more of a military problem than smallpox or typhoid.

ful and exciting), Los Angeles (the smog was awful), Irene insists that vacations are wonderful — but she is glad to be back — and anxious for Congress to get going again.

Irene's Back—The air in Congressman Bill Lantaff's office is filled with talk of travel as Irene Blanning tells about her month's tour of the Westlands. Blanning traveled by double-decker bus to California and back, hitting such high spots as Denver, (beautiful Reno, (terrible place, I read a book and went to bed at 9:00 o'clock), Salt Lake City (I would like to live there, it suits my personality), San Francisco (wonder-plated for Gainesville — and he is afraid that if he gives up his spot on the committee — he might lose any chance of getting the hospital.

Southwest Couple — According to Senator George Smathers' schedule, he and his wife Rosemary should be well on their way to South America where they will spend six weeks — returning to the United States just in time to celebrate Christmas with their children. Their trip will take them to the Virgin Islands, Jamaica, Venezuela, Peru, Colombia, Chile, Brazil, Argentina, Uruguay, and the Canal Zone. How about his wife on the McCarthy question? He has been excused from the Senate for this trip because his main purpose is the investigation of air travel problems for the Senate Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce. His vote, which is to censure McCarthy, already is on the record, and he has been "pardoned" with a Republican Senator who also has been excused. Now, this trip has started the rumor among Floridians here that when his present term is up he will be retained as the attorney for a group of Latin Americans countries.

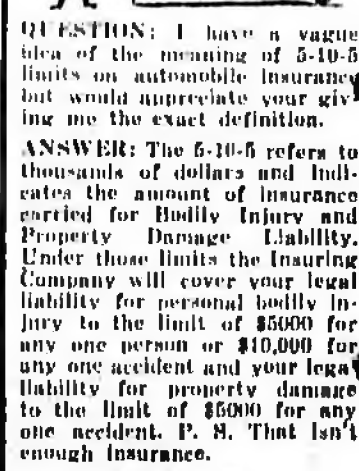

QUESTION: I have a vague idea of the meaning of 5-10-15 limits on automobile insurance. Can you explain, please, the exact definition?

ANSWER: The 5-10-15 refers to thousands of dollars and indicates the amount of insurance carried for Bodily Injury and Property Damage Liability. Under those limits the Insuring Company will cover your legal liability for personal bodily injury to the limit of $5000 for any one person or $10,000 for any one accident and your legal liability for property damage to a limit of $5000 for any one accident. P. H. That isn't enough insurance.

HOLLYWOOD — Loretta Young is back for her second year on television in her popular Sunday night dramatic series, "The Loretta Young Show," via NBC-TV. Renowned for her acting versatility, Miss Young is again appearing in a broad variety of roles, interpreting the Swedish servant or drawing room hostess with equal ease.

Born Gretchen Young in Salt Lake City, Miss Young was "re-christened" Loretta by Colleen Moore because she reminded Miss Moore of a fairy tale heroine who possessed her fragile charm. A favorite of photographers, Miss Young figures she has posed for over 46,000 "snaps" through a period of stardom in some 78 pictures. In real-life she has been married 14 years to Tom Lewis, former agency executive, who produces her show, is the mother of a daughter, Judy, and sons Christopher Paul and Peter Charles. A part-time pianist in the St. Ann's Foundation, which supports a maternity hospital for unmarried mothers and sponsors the St. Ann's Adoption Agency, she has served as president of the Foundation four terms.

CIRCLE THEATRE CHANGES

"Armstrong's Circle Theatre," a consistent favorite, is back for its fifth year, Tuesday nights, on NBC-TV. This season the television show includes fresh approaches in production and general format. A bright, flexible schedule includes musical and comedy talent, as well as dramatic stars. "On the production end," says program supervisor Ralph Nelson, "television is far from being a medium of the stage and screen. We are trying to get new dramatic forms into TV. TV can accomplish things that neither Broadway nor Hollywood can. Typical of the new shows will be 'The Beautiful Wife,' a light-hearted affair starring Janet Blair as a mother suddenly crowned 'Mrs. Glycerin.' It was fresh and exhibiting TV entertainment.

Seminoles Down Barracudas, 21-0, In Second Half

Barracudas Lose Homecoming To Slow Starting Celery Feds

After an initial scoring attempt was choked off in the closing minutes of the first half, the Sanford Seminoles came back in the opening minutes of the third quarter to score the first of three touchdowns that defeated their New Smyrna Beach hosts, 21-0.

Until the end of the first half was in sight, the game was very evenly played. Then Johnny Jones intercepted a Barracuda pass on the New Smyrna 34 yard line and drove to the 13. Time ran out as the Seminoles battered unsuccessfully against a hardened Barracuda forward wall.

Refreshed after a half time rest, the Sanford gridmen rumbled across their first TD in the opening minutes of the third quarter. Jim Hawkins, Ralph Flowers and Johnny Jones raced through tremendous holes in the line opened in the Barracuda defenses to carry the ball 65 yards to the New Smyrna Beach 20. A penalty for unnecessary roughness against the Barracudas moved the ball to the Barracuda five, and then Jones went over for the score.

Seconds later he completed the extra point and the Seminoles went out in front, 7-0.

The Seminoles second touchdown came after Jones raced to the New Smyrna 20. Then the Seminoles advanced the ball to the half yard line when the quarter ran out. Moving to the other end of the field, the Seminoles failed to score and lost the ball on downs.

The Barracudas failed to move the ball and were forced to punt. The kick was bad and Sanford recovered on the Barracuda 20. Three plays later, Jones rumbled over from the six to score his fifth consecutive TD. He scored all three times against Winter Park the week before. A successful conversion set the score at 14-0.

The locals third score was set up when guard Hulet Newton ran covered a New Smyrna fumble on the hosts 20. Sanford advanced the ball to the 10, on the fourth down with a Hawkins to Jones pass. Then Hawkins went over to score the final TD. Jones made the conversion and the final score stood at 21-0.

The lineup for Sanford was: ends Shoemaker, Pate, Swan and Clark; tackle, Smith, Newton, and Alford; guards, Bates, Davis, Jones and (tailback) centers, McKee and Carter; and backs, Hawkins, Jones, Higgins, Flowers, Byrd, Russ and Moffett.

When 20 Hilles and mares ran in Delaware Park's New Castle Handicap this year it was the first that field ever to go to the post in the 17 runnings of the race.

Outfielder Don Mueller of the New York Giants was the first giant to make more than 200 hits in one season since Joe Moore's 264 in 1936.

but Frank Bernardi broke through to block the kick. The ball hit Bernardi's nose in the face, breaking his nose. The game ended in a 13-13 tie. Talking about tough luck, when Walter Forest bowed to Richmond 13-0 it marked the fifth time that Walter Forest Coach Tom Rogers had brought his team into the Richmond Stadium to meet an underdog Virginia foe since he took over the job of coaching the Deacons in 1951. It was the fifth time he had met disaster there.

Central State quarterback Don Carter covered Saturday's game against Kentucky State with a flashing 100-yard kickoff return, goal to goal. Then the referee called him back and said he hadn't scored the game. In the Northern Illinois-Central Michigan game, a ball was punted that went 50 yards, was returned no yards and then a touchdown. Northern's Bill Olson took a pass from center in his own zone and sent the punt straight up into the air. When the ball came down, a Central lineman pounced on it for the touchdown.

Ohio State used 54 players in swamping Pittsburgh 26-0 while little Miami U. of Ohio putted only 30 to upset Indiana. Miami became the first Mid-American Conference representative to defeat a Big Ten team. . . . Indiana fumbled six times and Miami intercepted six passes.

Probably the happiest kid in Ohio State's victory over Pitt was Ken Thompson, sophomore Buckeye halfback from Dayton, Ohio, who went into the game in the last three minutes and ran for a 52-yard touchdown the first time he ever carried the ball in a college game. . . . Not a single player crossed the goal line in the scoreless Alabama-Tulane game. Only a week ago Alabama played an 80-0 tie with Georgia.

Another factor mitigating against his return is the fact that Alie will have to hurry to get to his hometown in a few weeks. His investment in oil wells and such have, from all accounts, made him financially independent. If you know the man who pitched two no-hitters in a single season and who has never had a loss, he will not be back unless he is firmly convinced that he still can win.

Some may feel that our opening estimate of the Chief's importance to the Yankees is a little strong. We will stick by it. Casey Stengel needs the services of his veteran stopper for another year or two while his mound still is in a period of transition, until his young pitchers are ready to take over the entire burden. The white stars such as Bob Grim and Whitely Ford, will not be ready to head Cleveland on their own next season.

Erneston captured the A stock runabout and A stock hydroplane races. Smith topped all racers in the C racing runabout and C racing hydroplane divisions.

Other champions are Jack Wysocki, Miami, B stock runabout; Stu Gray, Miami, B stock hydroplane; and Ross Bennett, Fort Lauderdale, A stock runabout; Sam Brooks, St. Petersburg, B stock hydro; Harry Penner, St. Petersburg, family runabouts; and Robert Jackson, St. Petersburg, B racing hydro.

It is not definite that the Chief is through. Last we saw they were talking about doing a plastic surgery job on the injured right after it had healed, and there appeared to be some hope that the great competitor from Oklahoma would be able to report at St. Petersburg next spring. But from the distance it doesn't look good.

Allie is 37 by the official record, and there is reason to suspect that he might be creeping old. For some reason never entirely clear, baseball players like to judge on their ages. At any rate, the big fast-baller was nearing the end of his career before the accident befell him. It figures that he would have great difficulty overcoming even the slightest impairment of his efficiency.

National League Faces Close Games For Saturday Tilts

By ORLO ROBERTSON
The Associated Press

Commissioner Bert Bell couldn't have done a better job if he had scatted more than to make up next Sunday's National Football League schedule.

The New York Giants and the Philadelphia Eagles are tied for the Eastern Division lead, each with 5-2 records. They meet Sunday at New York's Polo Grounds.

The champion Detroit Lions lead the second place San Francisco 49ers by a game in the west-coast column. They clash Sunday at Detroit with the Lions seeking to square account for the season.

The champions' only setback was a 37-0 beating by the 49ers at Fresno. They have won five. The 49ers are 4-2 with one tie.

The two naturals were set up when the Giants knocked the Pittsburgh Steelers out of a three-way tie for the top spot in the Eastern section 50-6 and the Eagles downed the Chicago Cardinals 30-14.

The Lions' route roughed over the Baltimore Colts 27-9 Saturday night and the 49ers, dropped a 42-21 decision to the Los Angeles Rams.

At the same time the Cleveland Browns, who with the Lions have played one less game than the remainder of the clubs, kept right at it by beating the 49ers in a 42-3 romp over the Washington Redskins. The victory left the Browns, defending Eastern champions, with a 4-2 mark. The Chicago Bears edged the Green Bay Packers 28-23 in the other game.

The ease with which the Giants knocked off the Steelers came as the big surprise of the day although the Rams' win over the 49ers and beating of the Redskins were expected. They had tied 21-21 early in the season. But without a doubt the 49ers missed the injured Hugh McElhenny yesterday as they played the Browns, scoring 17 points in the first period.

The Giants, rebounding from their defeat by Cleveland, picked up two points early in the game on a safety and never let up the pressure. Chuck Connely, exploitively running back, had the most in the fullback, lashed three touchdowns, passes, and Eddie Price, who ripped off yardage by the chunks, went over from the two for the other. Connely completed 13 out of 20 aerials.

Tony DeMarco Wants Welter Bout

BOSTON—Tony DeMarco, working on a string of 15 straight victories and boxing a terrific knockout wallop, is setting his immediate sights on a Dec. 11 television date with hopes of an eventual title with welterweight champion Johnny Saxton.

DeMarco, the Boston Bomber, needed just one minute and six seconds and three knockdowns to score a technical knockout over Syracuse's hard-hitting Pat Manz before a national television audience Saturday night.

Talk had been on a Vince Martinez match for Tony which may or may not be next on the program. DeMarco made such an impressive showing.

Two Are Named To Baseball Posts

CHICAGO, Ill.—The Executive Committee of the American Baseball Congress closed a three-day meeting yesterday by naming Lou Brisio, former American League pitcher, and N. C. Haley of Aberdeen, S. D., to the advisory committee of the ABC.

Brisio once pitched for the Philadelphia A's and the Cleveland Indians. He is presently administrator of the American Legion baseball program. Haley is a leader in amateur baseball.

Southeastern Conference Grid Championship Could Be Decided By Auburn-Georgia Game

By MERCER BAILY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Georgia and Auburn, two teams which wrote this season's football script with a startling series of upset victories, upset ties and upset losses, tangle Saturday in the Southeastern Conference's blue-plate special.

Georgia again — for the third straight week — will be waging its uphill struggle toward the SEC championship. Auburn again — for the second straight week — will be in the role of a possible spoiler.

Mississippi, at present Georgia's only challenger for the conference crown and the bowl bid that likely will go with it, doesn't enter the SEC circle again until Nov. 27, when the Itchy meet Mississippi State.

A Georgia loss to either Auburn or Georgia Tech and an Ole Miss victory over State would give the Hebs the title. If Georgia can win both remaining games, they are home free whether Ole Miss wins or loses.

The Auburn-Georgia game, which is played annually in neutral Columbus, couldn't come at a more dramatic time. Both teams are gashed from confidence-instilling upsets — Georgia over Florida and Auburn over Miami by 14-13 scores. The losses knocked Florida out of title contention and Miami out of the ranks of the unbeaten. Miami also probably will tumble out of the Associated Press' top ten rankings.

Auburn and Georgia each got their one-point victory margins when Bulldog end Roy Williams and Plainsmen quarterback Bobby Freeman blocked conversion attempts.

In other games Saturday, Kentucky subs Delmar Hughes and Don Netoskie parked the Wildcat in a 19-7 victory over winless Vanderbilt; quarterback Wade Mitchell guided Georgia Tech to a 24-7 triumph over Tennessee and Tommie Bobby Tracy guards Bryan Burnhorne and Tony Saribee led a Tulane defense which held heavily favored Alabama to a 9-0 tie. Mississippi State won North Texas State 48-0. Mississippi crushed Memphis State 51-0 and Air Force threw a touchdown pass with three minutes left to give Louisiana State a shaky 20-19 victory over Auburn Chattanooga.

Although from a title viewpoint the Auburn-Georgia tussle is the headline game, several other big games are on the SEC program this weekend. Georgia Tech and Alabama meet in Atlanta in the NCAA's TV game of the day and they always stage a thriller.

Florida and Tennessee, their title dreams end in a clash in Knoxville. Mississippi State is at LSU and Ole Miss at Houston in night games. Vanderbilt and Tulane, each seeking its first victory of the season, meet in Nashville to settle the issue of which will finish in the SEC's year this year. Kentucky is host to Memphis State.

With Georgia and Ole Miss currently leading 12 in the standings, Georgia Tech, Florida, Kentucky and Alabama are tied for third. Georgia was looked to finish 10th last season but the Bulldogs finished in the top with routine victories over Vanderbilt and Tulane, as upset over the Hebs and the upset over Florida. Auburn, which had been rated a strong title contender, fell into the second division with upset losses to Florida and Kentucky and an expected defeat by Tech. Now the Plainsmen appear potent again after their upset of Miami, accomplished largely by the brilliant play of fullback Joe Childress.

Football Roundup Over Nation

By JOE REICHLER
NEW YORK—Monday's Football Week:

It was not a happy day for Army and Navy. Devoe Joseph's last successful victory over Yale and Penn respectively Saturday, Army halfback Pat Uebel suffered head injury in the first period of the 40-7 romp over the Bulldogs and was taken to a hospital for observation. Notre Dame's first string center, Dick Swannick, suffered a ruptured knee in the 13-0 48-7 romp over the Fighting Irish. The game of Penn Football where an emergency operation was performed. Both boys were doing well, it was reported.

Someone it pays to stick your nose in somebody's business. Colorado had just tied Colorado and was a minute and six seconds away from getting that tie. The extra point was blocked by a player in the backfield.

Central State quarterback Don Carter covered Saturday's game against Kentucky State with a flashing 100-yard kickoff return, goal to goal. Then the referee called him back and said he hadn't scored the game. In the Northern Illinois-Central Michigan game, a ball was punted that went 50 yards, was returned no yards and then a touchdown. Northern's Bill Olson took a pass from center in his own zone and sent the punt straight up into the air. When the ball came down, a Central lineman pounced on it for the touchdown.

Ohio State used 54 players in swamping Pittsburgh 26-0 while little Miami U. of Ohio putted only 30 to upset Indiana. Miami became the first Mid-American Conference representative to defeat a Big Ten team. . . . Indiana fumbled six times and Miami intercepted six passes.

Probably the happiest kid in Ohio State's victory over Pitt was Ken Thompson, sophomore Buckeye halfback from Dayton, Ohio, who went into the game in the last three minutes and ran for a 52-yard touchdown the first time he ever carried the ball in a college game. . . . Not a single player crossed the goal line in the scoreless Alabama-Tulane game. Only a week ago Alabama played an 80-0 tie with Georgia.

Drivers who "gun it" the instant the light turns green puzzled Charlie.

That's kid stuff, he thought, like little boys hopping on pogo sticks.

O. P. Herndon, County clerk, had this comment to make today: "The Court House will be closed Armistice Day (Thursday) when we will pause and rejoice with the few remaining free people of the earth."

Banks will be closed Veterans Day (Thursday)

The First Methodist Church announces that the film, "Korean Victory", will be shown on tomorrow at 7:00 p. m. for the regular mid-week prayer services. This picture will show what the work of the church in Korea has done and is doing for the Korean people. It will also depict the devastation of war, and the desperate need of the entire nation. A church-wide offering throughout Methodism will be received on Sunday morning, Nov. 11, in response to the "Bishops' Appeal for Korea."

The Sanford Shrine Club will assemble in the banquet hall of Masonic Temple Friday at 7 p. m. for a turkey dinner. Final plans for the Orlando ceremony will be made and all nobles are asked to be present.

An acute radio listener was wondering why the wild horses are allowed to run through the room while the City commission is in session. It was found that it was the result of the messengers cutting a way at the commissioners, as they drummed their fingers and tapped their pencils on the table tops.

The flags weren't put out today by mistake in anticipation of Veterans Day. In case you were wondering, they were placed on the streets commemorating the U. S. Loyal Day as a part of American Education Week.

Driving home to finish today the Stroller noticed a baby highchair and another strange looking object placed several feet from the curb. Between them was a woman sitting in a lawn chair with an outstretched hand as if to beckon, apparently trying to lead to a parallel park.

2nd Life Sentence Faces Sergeant
TITUSVILLE — Two consecutive life sentences is the punishment meted out to Herbert B. Denny, 26-year-old Air Force sergeant, convicted of robbing two Broadway County women a week apart.

Denny, from Davie, Tex., married and the father of four children, was found guilty yesterday of attacking the 26-year-old wife of a fellow airman at her home on Merritt Island Aug. 11.

The jury of 11 men and 1 woman recommended mercy, saving him from death in the electric chair. Previously he had been convicted of robbing a 10-year-old Titusville telephone worker on Aug. 1. That jury also recommended mercy and he was sentenced to life.

Yesterday, Circuit Judge Vassar B. Carlton sentenced him to life for a second time. The judge ruled that the sentences will run consecutively meaning if he should be paroled or pardoned for either crime, he still would face life for the other.

Denny testified he was on duty at Patrick Air Force Base when the housewife was attacked.

Plans Are Being Made For Christmas Parade

Merchants Association, Jaycees Cooperating In Annual Display

Plans were made for the annual, 20th Christmas parade here here Friday afternoon at a meeting of the board of directors of the Sanford Merchants Association.

Andrew Stone, chairman of the Christmas decorations committee of the merchants group, said that decorations had been secured and that the city would have them put up and opening by Nov. 27.

One of the new ornaments attached to the association is a huge, 30-foot Santa Claus and reindeer which will be placed at First St. and Park Ave. It was said that this decoration will be visible for miles.

Herbert Butler, president of the Jaycees, and Don Baker, member of the merchants group, will be in charge of the parade. Butler is in charge of the parade portion of the parade and Baker is in charge of the float portion.

Commission Orders Survey Of Commercial Sewer Rates; Baseball Action Is Started

Knowles Advises Body Changes Not Feasible

Objectors to the commercial rates set forth in the schedule of charges for sewer service received no relief last night at the City commission meeting.

Instead, the commission instructed the City's fiscal agents and consulting engineer to make a complete survey of the commercial situation and make a report to the governing body as soon as possible.

Receiving the instructions were Wilson Holt of Goodbody and Co., St. Petersburg, fiscal agents, and Robert M. Angus, Jacksonville, consulting engineer.

The pair participated in a discussion in which City Mgr. Watson E. Knowles pointed out to the commission that no changes should be made in charges for commercial water users as he feared the city would have a surplus of less than $100,000 under the present schedule at the end of the first year of the improvement program.

Knowles declared, "Change we're making as close to the way we might not even make our equipments the first year."

He continued that nothing should be done with rates for the first 18 months because of the right to pay for the expense of the program.

Receiving the instructions were Wilson Holt of Goodbody and Co., St. Petersburg, fiscal agents, and Robert M. Angus, Jacksonville, consulting engineer.

The pair participated in a discussion in which City Mgr. Watson E. Knowles pointed out to the commission that no changes should be made in charges for commercial water users as he feared the city would have a surplus of less than $100,000 under the present schedule at the end of the first year of the improvement program.

Knowles declared, "Change we're making as close to the way we might not even make our equipments the first year."

He continued that nothing should be done with rates for the first 18 months because of the right to pay for the expense of the program.

Objectors to the commercial rates set forth in the schedule of charges for sewer service received no relief last night at the City commission meeting.

Instead, the commission instructed the City's fiscal agents and consulting engineer to make a complete survey of the commercial situation and make a report to the governing body as soon as possible.
