 the multiplicity of post-war problems in the country. The U. S. favors strong Asian representation on that commission.
 The informants said the actual peace terms with the North Koreans are regarded as a "military decision." This leaves it up to General MacArthur's command to determine how and where it will accept the capitulation of the Communists.
 The informants gave this detailed outline of the American position:
 1. Korea must be a free, independent and united country. This obviously means wiping out the old division of the country along the 38th Parallel.

2. Methods for Korea's unification can be best devised by having a strong United Nations commission in the area. In the present circumstances it would be unwise to develop detailed blueprints here. The commission should have authority to deal with the problems on the scene in consultation with MacArthur's command and the people of Korea.

3. The Korean people to be consulted should be chosen in free elections by secret ballot on the basis of universal suffrage. It would be up to the commission to determine what elections were needed. There would have to be a general election in North Korea but since the South Korean elections of last May are recognized as valid by-elections might be the only thing needed there to fill war-caused gaps in the Assembly's ranks.

4. Strong emphasis should be placed on the whole problem of reconstruction. The United States Korea designated as a "pilot project" in which all the resources of the U. N. would be brought to bear on the problem.

5. No single nation should be dominant in the settlement of the Korean problem.

6. Korea must be set up in a way as to pose no threat to her neighbors. The nation should be admitted to the U. N. and assume the Charter's obligations.

The final Korean constitution, including American and British ideas will be ready for introduction in the Assembly's political committee at Lake Success tomorrow, one source said. The resolution may have eight or nine sponsors, and it was reported India may be one of these.

The British were said to feel that while troops could cross the parallel in tactical operations, the General Assembly should make a specific recommendation if a long-range occupation of North Korea is anticipated. The British feel the present Security Council resolutions do not contain sufficient authority for full occupation of North Korea, the sources said.

The British are holding almost continuous conferences with other delegations to work out details of their plan. They are understood to be making good progress although the language of their resolution has not been finally decided upon.

Asian countries in particular were being sounded out by the British. These countries would be called on, under the British proposal, to make up the greater part of the U. N. commission.

The American sources shed little light on just how the capitulation of the North Koreans would be accomplished. They said they assume it would be up to MacArthur's command to decide such questions as a cease-fire, armistice and surrender.

The informants said the North Koreans could make peace, an approach either through the Security Council, MacArthur's command or the U. N. Commission.

 Culbreath also reported holding three persons as material witnesses in the case. He listed them as Frank Castrillon, whom he described as Mrs. Tipp's boy friend;

Mae Everest of Lake Wales and Mrs. Alice Thomas, a next door neighbor.

The officer declined to say what connection they had with the case. A formal charge was placed against Mrs. Tipp after hours of questioning by investigators, Culbreath said.

Mrs. Tipp told officers she discovered her son's body in the refrigerator yesterday.

The ancients, from Moses down taught us to be good, but we must do better than our fathers did. There is no such thing as equilibrium in life...

These Miami telephone girls who hid $10,000 in their brassieres are said to be feeling a lot better now. They got a big load off their chest all right.

America's new ambassador to Great Britain is Walter S. Gifford, former president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. He should be able to establish pretty good connections anyway.

When you read about crooks and thieves and killers and bums, just remember that the average person is a pretty decent sort of bloke. Out in Long Beach, Calif. the other day a bus driver dropped a roll of 100 tokens...

The Herald has frequently pointed out numerous instances which have come to our attention of the unjustified payment of jobless benefits to people who are unwilling to work. According to the Tampa Tribune, the State has now set up a fraud detection unit...

"I have been trying for two years to get that fellow to speak to me", said a friend of ours as we were walking down the street the other day and passed a rather introspective individual who finally managed a nod. At first we wondered why our friend would try for two years to get anyone to speak to him who apparently didn't want to, and then the thought occurred to us what a wonderful world this would be if everyone would try that hard to be friendly with other people and try to make others friendly with them...

Drifting Continents

Take a map of the world and cut the land areas up into a jigsaw puzzle. Any solver would naturally fit Africa and South America together, the bulge in one corresponding to the depression in the other. They look, in fact, as if they had once been joined and had drifted apart.

That is just what the late Prof. Alfred Wegener, a German scientist, thought has happened. He published his theory in 1920 in a book entitled "The Origin of Continents and Oceans". His views have recently been the subject of a debate, ending in a tie vote, before the British Association for the Advancement of Science.

His supporters advanced plausible arguments. One pointed to the so-called Scotia Arc, a chain of islands curving from the end of South America to Antarctica. This, it was suggested, was a sort of hinge on which the Antarctic continent had swung from its original site in the Indian Ocean to its present place. If the arc were stretched and Antarctica replaced, Australia and New Zealand would fit in the new landmass.

Less theoretical were the arguments of the zoologists. They find similar beetles, rodents and primitive reptiles in Africa and South America. The 4,000 miles of water between the two continents preclude migration of such creatures. Therefore it is reasoned that the two must once have been joined.

On the other hand the students of the ocean floor found no evidence of any such movement. One posed this question: "What could have made all this happen? No mechanism is conceivable which could start such tremendous movements."

Some day the truth may be known. Meanwhile many will think that the jigsaw similarity in the shapes of Africa and South America must be more than coincidence.

Worlds In Collision

When Joshua commanded the sun to stand still, did it do so, as the Bible records? Immanuel Velikovsky says that it did in his "Worlds In Collision", perhaps the most talked-of non-fiction book of 1950. This is an extraordinary mixture of science, history and mythology by an Israeli scholar, born in Russia and educated in many countries, including our own.

In 1500 B.C., says Velikovsky, a comet which had broken off from the planet Jupiter collided with the earth. He believes another such collision took place fifty years later. He theorizes that the effects and after-effects of these collisions caused the earth to cease rotating temporarily, and explained such Biblical phenomena as rains of blood and the fall of manna. The comet ended by becoming the planet Venus, he concludes.

What is his evidence? He cites statements in books from the Bible to Babylonian and Persian records, and even Polynesian traditions. All is proof that come to Velikovsky's mind, and he has produced a book replete with quotations from widely distributed and obscure sources.

What do the scientists say? They dispute Velikovsky. One point they make is that Venus is reckoned at least a million times as old as the age given by Velikovsky. Scientists are so convinced that the book is learned nonsense that some of them persuaded the original publisher to turn it over to another, under the fear of losing the textbook business. This second publisher is now under fire.

Another interesting question is whether the earth could have withstood the shock of collision with a body the size of Venus. It seems unlikely that it can be proved that it did, and few would want to be proved that it did not.

Truth Campaign

Gen. Lucius D. Clay, former commander in the American zone of Germany, says that the job of counteracting Communist propaganda with a campaign of truth should not be left to government agencies, but should be undertaken by private groups and individuals.

This is a project in which everyone should help, and in which the individual need not ask "What can I do?" He can counter the lie with the truth whenever and wherever the lie is heard. The voice of an individual, at such times, may be much more effective than that of the government.

Korean War

The 24th was marred by reports of two wounded U.S. soldiers who said more than 40 of their fellow American prisoners were tied up and shot by the fleeing Reds at West Taejon police station in the last three days.

The two wounded soldiers had been left for dead. Another report of Red atrocities was given out by a First Cavalry Division spokesman. He said Americans killed and burned and 787 South Korean soldiers and civilians massacred at Chongju.

Red prisoners of war said 147 of the South Korean prisoners were blown to bits by dynamite thrown into the prison stockade by the Communists; 600 others were shot there, the Reds reported.

A happier report came from AP correspondent Stan Swinton who said the U.S. 24th Division liberated 40 American prisoners after entering Namwon, 70 road miles northwest of Chingju, and 11 miles southwest of Chingju. Ten at Hadong were bitter cases.

The 24th's twin-pronged advance in deep southern Korea was virtually unopposed. Swinton said South Korean civilians cheered and waved Korean flags as the armored columns passed. The columns linked up at Namwon, 65 air miles south of Taejon and then swung west.

Allied fighter-bombers raked Red columns retreating from Seoul between the South Korean capital and Uijongbu to the north east, the only escape route remaining. B-29s hammered ahead of the fleeing Reds.

MacArthur's spokesman said 1,700 Reds were killed, 750 captured and 11 tanks hit in that area.

South of the capital, between Suwon and Ouan, fighter planes bombed and strafed about 2,000 trapped Communists. AP Correspondent Jack McRabb said the Reds were between the Seventh and First Cavalry divisions.

THE NATION TODAY

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27—(AP)—There is probably as much confusion in the public mind over the new anti-Communist law as over any law of recent years.

Here are the answers to a few questions: Q. The law says the government can round up Communists and throw them into detention camps. Does that mean the FBI will start such a roundup right away, or when? A. The law doesn't give the government power to make such a roundup now. It says such a roundup can be made only if (1) the U. S. is invaded, (2) Congress declares war, or (3) there's an uprising here to help some foreign power.

Q. It has been estimated that there are about 700,000 full-fledged Communist Party members in this country. Would they all be rounded up if one of those three things happened? A. Probably not, although the government could suit itself about that. But the law says the government should round up "each person as to whom there is reasonable ground to believe that such person probably will engage in or probably will conspire with others to engage in, acts of espionage or of sabotage."

That language seems to leave it wide open to the government to decide who among the Communists is a potential spy or saboteur. Recently FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover said there are about 12,000 dangerous Communists in this country. That might seem to indicate the FBI would roundup perhaps only 12,000 Communists. But another part of the law says Communists are agents of Moscow, seeking the overthrow of this government, and all engaged in it over the world.

When you remember that plus the fact that the law lets the FBI in such an emergency as explained in Nos. 1, 2, and 3 above be held indefinitely? A. Yes, but... The "but" means they will be given a chance to show they are not dangerous and will be released if they can prove that satisfactorily to the government. This is how:

1. When arrested Communists have been given a full hearing in a court, they can't be put in jail or penitentiaries. So the government will have to set up some kind of camps for them or clear out a penitentiary for them.

2. Some time after his arrest, the laws vague on how soon after the Communist is brought before a government official who'll have the title of "preliminary hearing officer."

If there is an emergency requiring wholesale arrest of Communists, these "hearing officers" will have to be appointed, perhaps several hundred of them. And it may be necessary to check them to be sure they're neither Communists nor sympathizers. That would take time.

The Communist can have his own lawyer retained at his own expense, and a cross-examine will be set against him. But... The government doesn't have to produce witnesses if it thinks doing so might not be good for the country.

This means the FBI can make charges against the man without having to get its information against him. This is a pretty tough section of the law.

3. After this examination, the hearing officer can order the Communist released, or he can decide the Communist should be kept in custody.

4. The President will set up a board of nine men, called the Detention Review Board. Any Communist arrested after Sept. 15 by the review officer can appeal to this board for a hearing. But, again, at this hearing the FBI won't have to give away any of its secrets in explaining why it wants the Communist held.

5. But at the board hearing the Communist can have a lawyer and has the right to cross-examine any witnesses against him. Actually, the board can make its hearing secret, since the law says the board can consider evidence offered by the government, even though the evidence can't be made public.

6. After such a hearing, the board can order the Communist released or kept in custody. (In all these steps—arrest, examination by a hearing officer, appeal to the board—both the Communist and the government can appeal to the Supreme Court.) All these steps would take a lot of time.

COME AND GET IT!

THE WORLD TODAY

By DEWITT MCKENZIE AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The toughest question which the United Nations faces is whether military forces of occupation shall be sent across the 38th Parallel from Korea to maintain order during Korean rehabilitation.

This is a political problem and is distinct from the decision which General MacArthur may have to make: whether to send troops across the frontier if it is necessary to complete the defeat of the enemy. The U. N. commander in chief already has authority to use his discretion in this matter.

This column returns to the subject because I'm getting inquiries from folks who hope, but don't really expect, to find encouragement for peace.

That's a very natural reaction and one which can't be disregarded. It's existence means that the misadventure on the basis that it undoubtedly is propaganda for Red peace talk shouldn't be discovered real designs.

This is a wide-open opportunity for the Western nations to reiterate their well-known desire for peace, and to restate their conditions relating to peace. Such statements couldn't be mistaken for propaganda, because the Soviet Union already has broached the subject.

I believe the public of the Western nations would welcome such handling of the situation. It would remind them that nothing had been left undone to encourage restoration of peace.

British Foreign Secretary Bevin did give a thumbs-up summary of his country's position in addressing the U. N. Assembly Monday. He declared in his blunt manner that Britain wants peace but "we are equally determined, if necessary to fight to the bitter end for the liberty for which we have struggled so hard and which we are resolved to defend."

That's wrapping it up in rather a tight package, but it gives the two cardinal points: the democracies want peace, and they are ready to fight to defend their liberty.

As regards the Russian position, Eddie Gilmore, AP chief of bureau in Moscow, reports that the signs of an impression war is not imminent and that chances for peace are better than they were, say two or three months ago. He says the colossal program of public building gives the Russian public the idea that the government expects long years of peace, and then he adds:

"However, the U. S. S. R. is certainly not going to weaken its defense forces. The country definitely is going ahead to perfect its technique in the production of airplanes, tanks, weapons large and small and in atomic research, and it is most surely going to remain strong militarily."

At the same time a Stockholm newspaper, the Stockholm-Tidningen, publishes a report that Russia is rushing construction of a gigantic "Ballie Wall" of coastal defenses from Porhkala, a Soviet base in Finland, to Suomen Island in the southern Baltic Sea.

Thus both Russia and the democracies are preparing for untoward possibilities, if not probable. The saying goes that there is no present indication of other major war is imminent, or that other side wants war.

However, there is no end to the cold war in sight. That must be held in mind. There is to be some sense between Communism and Democracy. If Russia really wants peace she will stop this world war which the rearments were made.

More Cattle

markets also were the largest of the season. Receipts showed an increase over the previous week, but unlike hogs were considerably smaller than a year ago.

Corn crop developments during the next 100 days may greatly influence slaughter supplies of beef cattle. Early killing frost would catch much corn before it has fully matured.

Farmers would need to feed such grain quickly to keep it from spoiling. They would then want to buy much light and medium weight cattle for feeding purposes. In doing so, they would compete with slaughterers. Such farm buying would cut down on beef supplies during the weeks ahead, but it would increase supplies later on.

But regardless of weather developments, the Agriculture Department still expects meat prices to ease off noticeably from summertime peaks, although perhaps not to levels prevailing last fall and winter.

Consumers have more money to spend for meat, and heavy consumer demand, the department predicts, helps hold prices high.

Hollywood By Bob Thomas

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 23 (AP)—Katy Jurado, Mexican film star and brilliant commentator here for a peek at Hollywood, finds the place "fantastic."
"Fantastic" is the favorite American word of Katy Jurado (pronounced Katty Hoo-gah-doh). She only started to learn the language five months ago, to play a leading role in "Fantasia," a Hollywood film produced by John Wayne in Mexico.
Katy uses "fantastic" in an amusing sense when she discusses her impressions of Hollywood. But when she talks U. S. films about Mexico the same way, she is not being complimentary. I asked her about one of the later ones, "The Treasure of the Sierra Madre."
"It was a fine picture," she says, "but the bandit characters did not show my people in a good light. I think that is wrong. And I think a Mexican actor is wrong to play a role which is half-Mexican."
What about "Captain From Castile"?
"It was very beautiful in the photography," she replied. "But the players were not like Spaniards. Tyrone Power is very handsome, but he does not have the fire to play a Spaniard. He is not hot-blooded enough."
The trouble with most Hollywood films about Mexico is his advice, the actress said.
"When the studios want to know about Mexico, they ask the Mexicans who live in Los Angeles," she said. "But many of the Mexicans here have never been to Mexico and do not know what the country is really like."
The best portrayal of a Mexican by a Hollywood actor was Pedro Muniz in "Juarez," she declared. "He was fantastic," she said.
Katy dropped these remarks over lunch at the Brown Derby, with Budd Boettiger, who directed "Toreno" for producer-actor Wayne. She was munching on enchiladas and admitted that the local Mexican food is a disappointment to her.
"It is not hot enough," she remarked, shaking tobacco sauce over her dish.
Katy has appeared in 26 films in Mexico and also functioned as a out-poken, bright commentator on the radio. She lashed out at the inept foreigners and will accept a pay for the broadcasts. "That is so I can be independent and do what I want," she said.
Her commentaries on the bull fights have a large following, apparently including President Aleman. Once she directed a broadcast to him personally, asking that he do something to improve the quality of bullfighting. He sent her flowers the next day.

Hints To Housewives

SAFE FOR CHILDREN
There's no call to stress fear in making home safe for children but it's only wisdom for adults to remove or correct risks in children's way, says Helen Holbrook, housing specialist for the USDA Bureau of Human Nutrition and Home Economics, in offering helps to parents as the Nation marks National Farm Safety Week, July 22 to 29.
When little ones are in the crawling stage, Miss Holbrook suggests use of gates at the bottom or top of stairways wherever the child might happen to be.
Around a hot stove don't place chairs or stools that would enable youngsters to reach hot handles or pans. Keep pan handles turned away from edge of stove. Also keep irons and pullers or tubs of hot water out of the youngster's way.
It's well to have safety books that don't come loose with a simple flip of the finger on a high chair, crib, play pen, or stroller.
Window screens and doors should fasten securely, and unscreened windows should have bars. Even a tiny child can push a loose screen out and thus remove the only barrier to falling.
When there are small children make bullfighting the national sport in Mexico.
"That is true," agreed Katy. "Americans have the wrong idea about bullfighting because they do not know all the skill that goes into it. It would also help if we could learn more about your football. That is the one American sport Mexicans cannot understand. All those men pounding each other on the football field—it is fantastic."

of any age, keep medicines, poisons, cleaning supplies and matches out of their reach. Use safety matches.
Provide safe toys. Toys with sharp points and paint that peels or licks off should be taboo. Watch fragile toys that leave sharp edges when broken.
Keep sharp knives in enclosed racks, open racks placed high enough not to tempt little hands, or in racks inside drawers.
Provide screens or stove guards for fireplaces or radiant heaters. Tape, glue, or sandpaper any splinters or protruding nails in boards, boxes, and wooden furniture. Put scatter rugs away while children are small.
Replace old fashion open-end electric wall sockets with enclosed modern outlets.
On gas stoves the safety knobs are those with modern safety locks that have to be pushed in on the handle will turn.
Be careful with fluorescent light tubes. Bury burned out ones promptly so children cannot play with them. Not only does the glass shatter easily, but in some types there is danger from beryllium which coats the inside of the tube. If beryllium gets into cuts it prevents sores from healing.
Arrange furniture so you can reach children's bed room in the night without stumbling over obstacles. Tiny hand-held lights that stay on through the night without shining in sleepers' eyes help prevent falling when youngsters require attention.

Deadlock Stymies Korean Decision In General Assembly

UN Unable To Find Answer To Crossing Of 38th Parallel; United Korea Urged

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—(AP)—A majority of the United Nations Security Council decided today that Nationalist China should not veto an invitation to the Chinese Communists in come here for consultations. The Security Council voted this morning to invite Red China to a consultation on a charge of American aggression against Formosa, but Nationalist China claimed it had vetoed the decision. The 11-nation body then became embroiled in a long wrangle over this parliamentary challenge and final action was not taken until after the Council returned from lunch this afternoon.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—(AP)—The halting of South Korean forces below the 38th Parallel for the declared purpose of regrouping is regarded by well-informed officials here as a military and not a political action. In other words, Washington officials say it is entirely reasonable that General Douglas MacArthur should not halt his forces at least briefly for the purpose of regrouping or making other preparations for the next move. The next move in the opinion of the best informed authorities here will be to cross the 38th Parallel into North Korea for the purpose of winding up the destruction of Korean Communist military power.

By TOM OCHILTREE
NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—(AP)—An unexpected election deadlock in the General Assembly today stymied plans for speedy United Nations consideration of the Korean case to keep pace with allied military victories at the front.

Senator Taft Is Pelted With Ripe Tomato In Canton

CANTON, O., Sept. 29.—(AP)—Someone fired a ripe tomato at Senator Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) as he was making a campaign speech in neighboring Waynesburg.

The tomato struck him high on the chest, some 10 feet above his right shoulder and suit, but Taft kept right on talking.

Waynesburg police said today they had not arrested anyone in connection with the incident. It happened Wednesday but was brought to light until last night when someone asked Taft about it.

He said a few "roughnecks" were standing at the rear of the crowd just before the tomato flew.

Ohio's state auditor, Joseph T. Ferguson, a Democrat seeking to unseat Taft, made the Senator's verbal target at Wheeling, O., last night. He slipped into Taft's field when he called his "big name."

Then Governor Frank J. Lausche speaking on the same platform as the Democratic rally, got in a few words.

Lausche did not say whether he meant Ferguson or not but he did not say.

More and more, people think they can say what they please about candidates. All sense of decency and privacy is fast to the wind to attain an end regardless of the means.

City Budget Is Adopted By 3 To 2 Vote Of Board

Funds Provided For Financing Of Stadium And Terminal

City Manager Clifford McKibbin left this morning for Jacksonville with representatives of Knoxville, Tenn., investment concerns in consult with Smith and Gillespie, industrial engineers, concerning the proposed terminal project. With Mr. McKibbin were L. H. Ghormley, L. L. Hales and R. S. Juran, who represent the firms anticipating putting up the money for the terminal.

By a three to two vote, and with Commissioners W. H. Stempers and Randall Chase opposing, the City Commission last night adopted a budget estimated at approximately $635,000 for the coming year.

This represents an increase of $68,200 over the 1949 budget of $130,400 over the 1948 budget of $504,600.

Mr. Stempers specifically opposed the setting aside of $20,000 of utility tax funds for an annual repayment on the proposed loan for building the Municipal Stadium.

"I voted no because I can't honestly go along with bleeding essential services and projects to make way for excessive luxury items," said Mr. Stempers this morning.

Mr. Chase objected to the setting aside of the approximately $100,000 for the stadium and the $20,000 for the terminal project, said Mayor Andrew Caraway this morning.

Mayor Caraway was supported in his only departmental fight by Commissioners John Kridler and Fred Dyson. The meeting "dragged on" until 1:30 o'clock this morning.

The new budget the Commission granted a 5 percent increase in pay for all City employees with salaries of less than $2,999 a year, with the exception of some heads of departments.

One department shows a decrease in proposed expenditures. This is for streets and sewers which last year, due to the addition of cigarette tax funds, $40,000 was spent. This will be reduced to $25,000 during the coming year.

In line with a recent engineering survey that pointed out the need of improvements in the water supply system, $10,000 additional was set aside. This will be used, said Mayor Caraway, for improving the efficiency of the water production unit, including new pumps, electrical controls and additional supply wells.

The appropriation to the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce was increased from $5,000 to $6,000 and that of the Junior Chamber from $2,000 to $3,000.

Jaycees Seeking $2,000 From City For Recreation

Resolution Against More Powers For
Patrol Is Approved

The Jaycees yesterday voted to ask the City Commission to include at least $2,000 in its budget for a supervised program of recreation for white and colored children next summer.

The action followed a recommendation to this effect by the Jaycee board of directors at a recent meeting. After the matter was brought to the attention of the group by President W. H. Stempers, J. E. Tucker pointed out that as chairman of the Recreation Committee for several seasons, he found that City appropriations for this had been on a "hit or miss basis," and suggested that a regular appropriation should be made.

"I suggest," said Gordon Bradley, former city clerk, "that the amount include that at least $2,000 be appropriated for the purpose." This suggestion was included in the motion.

Acting on another recommendation of directors, the Jaycees passed a resolution stating that "The Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce is opposed to the granting of additional police powers to the Florida Highway Patrol, and reaffirms its faith in the intelligence of the electorate to choose competent local law enforcement officials."

In the resolution, however, the Florida Highway Patrol was recommended for its efficient operation. Copies of the resolution were ordered sent to Governor Warren, to Florida House Speaker Designate B. Elliott, to Wallace Sturgis, president designate of the 1951 State Senate, and to Senator L. F. Boyle, Representative M. H. Smith and to Volie Williams Jr., candidate for the House.

Mrs. Raymond Lundquist, retiring hostess and secretary, was Miss Peggy Duncan, who will succeed her, was introduced.

Judge Douglas Stenstrom recommended by her fine work by President W. H. Stempers, and was given a rising vote of thanks.

Final Plans Are Completed For Castle Brewer

Final plans for the Castle Brewer housing project have been completed by Architect E. J. Moughton, and have been sent to the Atlanta field office of the Public Housing Administration for approval. George Williams, executive director of the Sanford Housing Authority said this morning.

It is expected that bids will be called for in mid-October for the 124-unit project which will cost about $1,600,000, he stated. Construction is due to be started about Dec. 1.

About 30 homes will have to be moved from the Goldsboro area where the project is to be located, options have been secured for more than one half of the needed property and the rest will be secured within the next week, Mr. Williams predicted.

He added that due to previous business that will take him to north Florida he has asked the city Commission to grant him a leave of absence as executive director and acting director of the Sanford Housing Authority. This is in accordance with the city charter, he said.

The total cost of the project will include that of the land, administrative expense, paving within the nine block area, and general landscaping. On bounded streets the City will share the expense of paving with the Sanford Housing Authority. This includes Mulberry Avenue on the west, Olive Avenue on the east, Eighth Street on the north and Eleventh Street on the south.

Capl. Wheeler Sets
8 Mile Jump Record

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—(AP)—An Air Force captain who jumped from a height of more than eight miles probably has set a new world's parachute drop record.

The jump, announced today by the Air Force, was made by Capt. Richard V. Wheeler of Westport, Mass. The announcement said he jumped 42,410 feet. This exceeded by about 2,000 feet the Air Force's previous fall-out record.

Officials said so far as they know Capt. Wheeler's jump is a world record on Sept. 25, 1945. The Russian claimed that Maj. Yaselli Romanov set a Russian record by jumping 42,000 feet. A previous American record of 40,200 feet was set by Col. W. R. Lovelock, III, in June, 1943.

HORSE DOPE
COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 29.—(AP)—A former South Park race-track trainer was indicted by the county grand jury yesterday for attempting to bribe a veterinary assistant.

Assistant prosecutor Henry L. Holden said Clem Reusch, of Cincinnati, offered a $55 bribe in an attempt to prevent a dope detection on "Tom Dancer," a horse that paid $12 to win when he finished first in the fourth race at South Park Sept. 12.

Realty Board Is Told Florida To Make Huge Gains

Florida is certain to profit by the current trend of decentralization of industry, and the redistribution of urban population which the possible use of atomic and hydrogen weapons may force upon the world," President Raymond Ball of the Seminole County Board of Realtors told members at the meeting yesterday noon at the Anchor Inn.

Counting a report by Walter J. Motherly, head professor of economics and dean of the College of Business Administration of the University of Florida, on the economic expansion of southern states, he pointed out that the total income for the South in 1947 was 29.7 billion dollars.

"If this sum was equally divided between all inhabitants of the South," said Mr. Ball, "each would have $25. Actually, the per capita share of residents of Florida is substantially higher than this figure," he declared, "and latest available figures indicate that this is swiftly approaching the national average of $470."

In his summary of the Motherly report, President Ball pointed out that the real estate market is maintaining a high level throughout the present period, and he predicted that a progressive program of achievement for the industrialization of the South should have a healthy influence on a continuation of the present trend.

Robert J. Lamer, director of field service for the Florida Association of Realtors, presented a short motion picture entitled, "Winning America." Based on the biography of Benjamin Franklin, it shows bankers and salesmen how to improve their sales efficiency.

In his talk, Mr. Ball reported a five-point program recommended by Dr. Motherly.

1. To encourage location and expansion of new industries in Florida and the south. Agricultural production should be more highly mechanized, thereby lowering production costs. Diversified crops should be encouraged.

2. Equalization of trade differences caused by the differences between an agricultural and a manufacturing economy in the south.

General Walker Says War In Korea Is Over; Reds Cross Parallel

Allied Forces Waiting For Decision On Whether To Go Into North Korea

CHUNJU FRONT, Korea, Sept. 29.—(AP)—American prisoners of war rescued today said they were told by a North Korean medical officer that he had been and treated Maj. General William F. Dean, missing commander of the U. S. 20th Division. The rescued Americans reported that Dean was seen later in a Red prisoner-of-war camp in the north.

YOKYO, Sept. 29.—(AP)—South Korean forces chased broken-down Communist paratrooper units in the Parallel 38 border of Red North Korea tonight and then were called to a halt by the Allied command.

The Allied vanguard was pushing artillery fire on Red positions astride the line between the Red North and democratic south.

A U. S. 8th Army headquarters spokesman said the South Koreans were ordered to stop their advance and wait for what he called regrouping. He declined to say or speculate on what would happen after regrouping took place.

There was still no announced decision on whether the victorious Allied armies in the south would strike into Red Korea to police it against any future invasion of Soviet-occupied portions.

Not was there any indication that bordering might be left alone to the U. N.-named South Koreans or other non-American allies as had been suggested in diplomatic circles elsewhere.

Among the suggestions was that Americans might be kept out of any police force going north of 38 in order not to provoke bordering Red China and nearby Soviet Siberia.

The advancing South Koreans in twin armored prongs stabbed up to the Red border on the east coast.

Other South Koreans were reported to be in the north.

Draft Extension To 30 Months Is Urged by Hershey

Other Changes In Selective Service Being Studied By Army

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—(AP)—The out of every two men appearing before local draft boards was rejected for physical, mental or other reasons, Maj. General Lewis B. Hershey said today.

The national Selective Service director said this 50 per cent rejection rate indicated a need to revision of the physical and mental qualifications standards established by the armed services. Rep. Carl Albert (D-Ala.) said that the World War II rejection rate was around 40 per cent.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—(AP)—Maj. General Lewis B. Hershey, Selective Service director, recommended today that the draft should be extended from 21 months to 30 months.

He advanced the proposal as a means of maintaining an army of 1,500,000.

Hershey made this and three other major recommendations to the House Armed Services Committee which is studying possible revision in the draft.

The other suggested changes: To modify deferment for dependency. He would have deferment for collateral dependents wiped out.

To remove restrictions on induction of returning under 26 years of age.

To switch carefully that the "acceptability" standard does not get out of hand.

In explanation of the third suggestion, Hershey said he believed "no one going to leave to get a new approach to a specific service."

Although he did not specify, it apparently would mean lower standards for changing the present draft age of 19 through 25.

In fact, he said he believed that the Army could be carried on by a group of the oldest men in the country.

Chairman Arthur C. Benson, in setting the work of the House committee to find what is needed to carry on the war, said he would be glad to hear from the committee.

Both denied they knew of any contributions in the campaign from gamblers of the underworld.

KISSED BY A CALF
ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Sept. 29.—(AP)—You would have thought General Gayer gets kissed by a calf every day.

The film star was strolling through the cattle barns at the New Mexico state fair yesterday when she was asked to pose beside a four-year-old calf. As she did so she casually poked the calf on the nose.

The little heifer licked it and kissed right back—dumbly, enthusiastically and smugly on the actress' mouth.

It didn't upset Greer a bit. The owner of the calf, Roy Delshaw, 21, of Bowling, Tex., ended up by naming the calf "Della Swiss Greer Garton."

CUB SCOUTS
Cub Scouts will hold a pack meeting tonight at 8:00 o'clock at McKinley Hall, the First Methodist Church.

The first fall meeting of Scout Troop No. 34 will be held Monday evening at 7:00 o'clock at the hall. All members are urged to attend, and any boy between the age of 11 and 13 who is interested in scouting is invited to attend. Melvin Biskind, scoutmaster, announced this morning.

Left Among Reds: Turning Point Was On September 1st

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—(AP)—President Truman today called congratulations to General Douglas MacArthur "for the victory which has been achieved under your lead in Korea."

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—(AP)—The announced total of U. S. casualties in the Korean war rose to 17,230 today. The Defense Department reported the figure as the total of casualties whose families had been notified through Sept. 22. It is 3,409 higher than the cumulative total announced through Sept. 15. It includes 2,411 dead, 11,050 wounded and 3,759 missing in action.

SEoul, Sept. 29.—(AP)—General Walton H. Walker said today the Red army in Korea has been shattered and added:

"As far as we are concerned the war is over. The enemy's army was disintegrated into ineffective pockets which have no real offensive power."

The commander of the victorious U. S. 8th Army said the United Nations forces have killed 75,000 Communist troops in the past three months.

"This is equal to seven full strength Red divisions," Walker said, "and before we are through mopping up the resistance this total will be even larger."

Walker made these statements in an interview shortly after General MacArthur turned over full control of Seoul to President Syngman Rhee of the Republic of Korea.

The war hero from Bellows Falls, who commanded the Corps in General Patton's Third Army in World War II, admitted here were painful times in this war.

The darkest hours, he said, were in the first days of September when the Reds were making an all-out assault along the 120-mile front held by the United Nations troops in southern Korea.

"There were times," Walker said, "when I did not know myself whether I could hold out for a week, and you know that in a sharp situation you are not always sure of that."

Walker pointed out he had led all the South Korean units in driving up defenses against the Reds when he had few troops to handle in the field.

Perhaps in all American history there is no record of a U. S. Army fighting with as few as 30,000 men.

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—(AP)—The Communist forces in the Korean peninsula were today said to be in a state of confusion and disarray.

The order, effective at 4 P. M., means the replacement of all police units had been a signal to building line operations against the Reds, he said.

Both denied they knew of any contributions in the campaign from gamblers of the underworld.

MCCARTHY HERE
Dan McCarthy of East Passaic, candidate for governor of New Jersey in 1952, was in Sanford today visiting old friends. He was non-committal about his plans for the 1952 campaign, but frankly said he is definitely not averse to making the race again.
