

FOOD CONSERVATION PLEDGES TO BE MADE IN ALL SANFORD HOMES

Campaign Will Be Made During Pledge Week

Ten Million food conservation pledges! Twenty two million homes visited! A National campaign projected so large in its scope that the work to be accomplished is as great as though a census of the country were to be taken in a week!

Such is the program outlined for the Food Pledge Week Campaign, October 21st to 28th. What is it all about? What are the motives back of such a tremendous drive?

In every state thousands of people are asking these questions while thousands of others are preparing themselves to furnish a complete answer to the query.

The reasons why the Food Pledge Campaign has been projected upon such broad lines are simple enough, plain enough.

So simple and so plain that they have stated in the compass of a card—a card that it is proposed to hang in every home in the land—a card that is the war creed of the kitchen, because so closely are the people in this country linked to the world war, that one of the phases of this struggle must be fought out in the American kitchen.

If soldiers are to fight they must be fed. For the past three years, one by one, our allies across the sea have been taking the men from the farm and from the factory and sending them to the firing line. Each man sent to the firing line meant one less who could be relied upon to help produce the food that "will win the war."

England, France, Italy and Belgium says the war creed of the kitchen, which, after all, completely states the problem and presents the solution, taken together, even in times of peace import forty per cent of their food stuffs, but now with their millions upon the firing line, they must import more heavily than before.

There are stores of wheat in Australia. There is food in South America, but ships are scarce. Time is a vital factor. The voyage to South America and Australia takes too long. If the need of those who fight for us across the sea are to be met, the food that sustains those fighters must come from this country.

If the laborer is worthy of his hire, surely the fighter is worthy of his food. That is a principle universally accepted by the American public. However, warns the United States Food Administration, it is not every product that can be sent across the sea. Corn will not serve the need; our allies have never used it as a food; they have no mills to grind it; turn it into meal in this country and it would spoil before it could reach a European port. There are just four classes of products, the experts say, that we must send to our allies. If our duty to them is to be discharged; they need meat, wheat, sugar and dairy products. But, say the experts who have gathered the figures, unless American consumption of those food stuffs is reduced below the normal consumption our reserve will not be large enough to meet the need. And so the problem becomes a simple one—at least when studied. We can conserve our wheat by increasing our consumption of other grains. We can conserve our meat by making a greater demand upon the resources of the fish market. All of these are expedients known to the American people.

If the United States were an autocratic country, there would be no popular argument for conservation of food. There would be an autocratic food control. The mailed fist would rule in the kitchen. Imperial food decrees would be enforced at the point of the bayonet. But ours is not an autocratic country. Food control is in the hands of the people themselves, and it is to the people themselves, and it is to the people that the Food Administration has appeal in the Food Pledge Card Campaign.

Herbert Hoover has termed this appeal an "unprecedented adventure in democracy"—an adventure that will determine whether or not a Democratic form of government is, after all, fitted to engage in a death grapple with an Autocracy. The appeal in the Food Pledge Week Campaign is that the homes of this country be enrolled as members of the United States Food Administration. Broadly speaking, the United States Food Administration includes every man, woman and child in the United States, because food control is in the hands of the people.

The Food Pledge Week Campaign, therefore, resolves itself into an effort to secure as a result of voluntary agreement pledges insuring the general support for a well defined program of food conservation.

The Food Pledge Week Campaign represents an effort to induce as many of the American homes as possible to unite in a common policy. Our wheat reserves can be conserved if everybody helps. Our meat reserves can be conserved if the whole public cooperates.

The Food Pledge Week Campaign, therefore, turns out to be simple enough in its outlines. The American people are asked to join together in a common conservation policy. An evidence that they are supporting this policy they are asked to hang a card denoting membership in the United States Food Administration in their window. In order that the conservation policy may be understood the reasons for it made plain, and the manner of observing it rendered certain, instruction cards—"The War Creed of the Kitchen"—are to be hung in the home.

And that is what the National Food Pledge Week Campaign is all about.

SANFORD DELEGATION SCORED HIT

Board of Trade Assisted In Recognition of St. Johns Route

The new St. Johns Scenic Route has been made official or will be made official by the State Highway Association and all the counties along that route will receive state aid and in case they do not need state aid for construction they will receive a maintenance fund.

This was made possible by the big delegation that went to Tallahassee last Tuesday to meet with the State Highway Commission and press the claims of the St. Johns River Highway. All the Boards of Trade and commercial bodies of all the cities in Duval, Clay, Putnam, Volusia and Seminole sent delegates to the meeting and there was a great outpouring of good roads enthusiasts from all over the state supplemented by the boards of county commissioners, of the state at Tallahassee to attend the meeting of the commission.

The claims of the St. Johns River Route were ably presented by Dr. Lincoln Hulley, president of Stetson University of DeLand, who is also the chairman of the St. Johns river association and his address was a masterpiece of beautiful thought, a word picture of the beauties of the St. Johns river country and a world of facts about the populous cities and the splendid country through which the road will be laid out. Dr. Hulley stressed the point that the St. Johns river delegation had no fight on any other route as Florida headed good roads everywhere and more of them and all the St. Johns delegation wanted was official recognition and state aid where needed.

The commission gave Dr. Hulley to understand that all his requests would be granted and before the Seminole delegation left the capital they were assured that Seminole county would get official recognition as being on this route and would also have a maintenance fund. Those who represented the Board of Trade at the meeting were Dr. (Continued on page 4)

GOVERNOR'S ASSISTANCE IS GIVEN

Would Have The Schools Of State Assist The Movement

It is for that all the schools of Florida may take an important part in the Enrollment Day for National Food Conservation Governor Catts has issued the following proclamation:

A Proclamation by the Governor: Whereas, it is the duty of every patriotic citizen to cooperate with the Federal Government in the conservation of food supplies, that waste may be prevented in the feeding of our own people and that our allies in the world war may be fed, and Whereas, it is a sacred duty to teach the spirit of patriotism to our children and to inculcate in them practical patriotism and a desire to be helpful as far as they may be able, to conserve the resources of the nation in order that the United States may be successful in the war in which it is engaged, and Whereas, President Wilson has called upon the teachers and school officers of the nation to cooperate with the constituted federal authorities "to bring to the minds of our people a new appreciation of the problems of National life and a deeper understanding of the meaning and aim of democracy," Therefore, I, Sidney J. Catts, Governor of the State of Florida, do hereby set apart

October Nineteenth, nineteen hundred seventeen as "School Enrollment Day for National Food Conservation," and direct all school officers and teachers throughout the state of Florida to conduct such exercises as may seem fit and proper on that day, and to cooperate with Hon. Herbert Hoover, National Food Administrator, and with LeRoy Hodges, Campaign Director of the Food Administration for the state of Florida, by causing the pupils in the schools to sign the individual pledge cards to be furnished the county school officials; I also direct that the teachers of the state secure the "Ten Lessons in Food Conservation," prepared by the United States Bureau of Education, and to faithfully teach the same in connection with the daily lessons in the school; and I also direct that the various teachers see that these cards are signed and forwarded to the Federal Food Administration.

In Witness Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the great seal of the state of Florida to be affixed at Tallahassee, the capital, this 9th day of October, 1917. (seal) Sidney J. Catts, Governor.

H. Clay Crawford, Secretary of State. Educational Department, State of Florida, Tallahassee, October 9, 1917.

In full endorsement of the movement on the part of the General Government to Conserve the Food Supply of the Nation and to teach the children of the state practical lessons in patriotism through a spirit of self sacrifice; and in hearty cooperation with the Governor of the state of Florida in setting apart Oct. 19th as School Enrollment Day for National Food Conservation, I hereby urge upon all county school officials and teachers of the state to faithfully enter into the spirit of the day, as defined by the Governor, and to conduct such exercises as will tend to teach a lofty patriotism; and to gather the individual pledge cards and forward the same to Mr. LeRoy Hodges, Campaign Director of the National Food Conservation for the State of Florida, Jacksonville, Fla.

W. N. Sheats, State Supt. of Pub. Instruc. Good Cotton Advertisement - Everywhere one from Seminole county goes now you can hear about our cotton and many are the questions asked about it. The people in other parts of the state are becoming greatly interested in the possibilities of Seminole as an all round farming county and cotton has added greatly to our possibilities.

GERMANY IS WEAKENING EVERYWHERE

Battle Fronts and Reichstag Show Fatal Signs

London, Oct. 11.—Allied troops have made a strong attack Tuesday south of Doiran, north of Salonika, according to the Bulgarian official statement issued Wednesday. The attacks began after violent artillery fire for 24 hours, were broken up at two points by the Bulgarian artillery. The entente losses are reported to have been heavy, while the Bulgarians suffered slightly. Allied troops who gained a temporary footing in one of the Bulgarian advanced trenches, the statement continues were either killed or captured.

The reported allied attacks south of Doiran probably were not in force. The official statement from Berlin on Wednesday said that southwest of Lake Doiran, "the Bulgarians repulsed several British detachments which attacked after lengthy artillery preparation." There has been no British statement on this fighting.

Paris, Oct. 11.—The French last night defeated a German attempt to recapture ground taken in the French offensive in Belgium this week the war office announces. On the Verdun front the Eermans broke into advanced French positions, but were repulsed after a spirited engagement. Following is the official announcement. "In Belgium during the night we broke up a German attack delivered east of Draebank against our positions against Vicoire farm and Papegoet farm. "On the Aisne front an enemy patrol which was seeking to approach our lines in the region of Cerny was dispersed by the fire.

"On the right bank of the Meuse (Verdun front) in the region of Hill 344, the Germans made an attack which enabled them to gain a footing momentarily in portions of one of our advanced trenches. After a spirited engagement we repulsed the adversary and remained masters of our positions. Boyay yesterday brought down his tenth enemy airplane."

Amsterdam, Oct. 11.—During the debate in the Reichstag yesterday Deputy Conrad Hausmann said that the declaration of Dr. Von Kuehlmann, the foreign secretary—that apart from Alsace Lorraine there is no absolute bar to peace—was tantamount to a definite understanding that Belgium should be given up.

"That should be heralded forth to all the nations," the deputy added. Gustav Stresemann, a national liberal said he would not oppose a reduction of armaments, but he thought that disarmament hardly was practical politics.

Count Von Westarp, a conservative, thought that Germany's answer to the pope ought to have made clear that Germany would not undertake to disarm and hoped that Von Kuehlmann had not tied himself up to yielding up Belgium. George Ledebourg, Social Democrat leader dealt on the damage done to the German cause by the revelations concerning Von Lueburg, the German minister to Argentina. He considered that the populations of occupied territory should be permitted to decide their own fate.

With the French Army in Flanders, Oct. 10.—(By the Associated Press)—The new system of front line defenses inaugurated by the Germans, who, instead of utilizing line trenches, organized nests of shell holes, proved a regular trap in the battle just ended. The German troops who occupied the craters without other shelter when they found during the fighting that their officers were not with them, and not having immediate oversight, deserted as soon as the French approached. The German officers meanwhile were sheltered in concrete pill boxes built up to the rear.

The correspondent spoke today with several prisoners, officers and men, all of whom seemed to be in a terrible condition of fatigue. The officers declared that their com-

BIBLE CLASS MEETING STATE FEDERATION WAS WELL ATTENDED

Sanford Showed The Visitors a Great Week

The city has been honored this week with visitors from all parts of the state. They were in attendance upon the Wesley Bible Class Federation. Every class of Sanford seemed to vie with the others to make the visitors feel at home in our midst. The expressions heard on every hand on the last day of the gathering, as well as every day of the convention revealed that every one who came, goes away singing the praises of Sanford.

From the hour that Col. L. W. Durall the president, called the convention to order till the adjournment there was not a dull moment in the entire session. The addresses and speeches were among the best heard on like occasions. They throbbled with life and great truths and filled the hearers with enthusiasm and zeal for great and holy things.

The advertised speakers were all on hand, viz: Drs. Therrell and Quillian of Georgia and Gross and Lawler of our own state. The address of welcome was delivered by Dr. L. R. Phillips and was well received, and was responded to by Mr. Howard of Orlando. Tampa will entertain the Federation next year. It will be remembered that at the Ocala Federation Sanford won out over Tampa after a strenuous campaign. Sanford was glad to give it to Tampa this year.

The officers elected for another year are Col. J. H. Bunch of Jacksonville, president, Mrs. Jennigan of Lake City, secretary, A. R. Chappell, Sanford, treasurer. A strong executive committee was also elected composed of one member from each district of the conference.

Possibly one of the most pleasant features of the Federation was the entertainment given the visitors in Central Park on Wednesday evening. The committee on entertainment had made all possible arrangements to meet every requirement for pleasure of the guests. The city band rendered a most splendid program of music under the leadership of Mr. Gallagher. A vocal solo was rendered by Mrs. Julius Takach as did Mrs. Robt. Herndon on the cornet. The male quartet, consisting of Messrs. Forster, Woodruff, Murrell and Parker gave a selection that elicited a hearty encore. Light refreshments were served by a committee of ladies representing the Baptist, Congregational, Presbyterian and Methodist churches of the city.

There were about 800 visitors and delegates present. The attendance on Wednesday evening taxed the capacity of the great auditorium of the new Methodist church, gallery and Sunday school rooms.

Miami has been presenting claims for a permanent training camp at that city, but was informed by Secretary Daniels that it was too hot in Florida for a training camp. The daily weather report gave the Washington temperature much higher than at Miami, which Miamians visiting the capital promptly brought to Secretary Daniels' notice.

be accommodated for a few hours after the operation and ample nurse service will be secured. Dr. McMullin will also give a free stereopticon lecture at the High School auditorium next Monday evening, to which every one is invited and he will demonstrate the various stages of this eye disease to the people and the medical profession. The Orange County Medical Society will attend the lecture in a body and many physicians from other counties will be here.

Thus Seminole county will be taken care of in this matter that means so much for the children. Trachoma is a disease of the eye that attacks children in the form of granulated eyelids and is communicable especially in crowded gross schools and if not treated in time is liable to cause blindness. The quick work of the Sanford physicians and the state and national health boards is commendable and we can look for a speedy eradication of Trachoma in the near future.

Teachers Association The Seminole County Teachers' Association will hold the October meeting Saturday afternoon, Oct. 20th, at 2:30 in the Sanford Grammar School building. At the business session the committee on constitution and by-laws will submit its report. The program committee announces the following program: Piano Solo, Mrs. Mary McKim Turner, Grammar recitation conducted by Mrs. G. B. Dickenson. Report of committee on the elementary course of study with discussion by association. Vocal solo, Miss Edith Stewart. How often should grade cards be sent to parents by Supt. T. W. Lawton. Early dismissing on Friday afternoon, Miss Elizabeth Stones, Dr. J. F. McKinnon.

New Residents Mr. and Mrs. Chas. L. Smith of New York city have decided to make Sanford their home for the winter and have rented Miss Lola Evans' home on Magnolia avenue. We welcome these good people to Sanford.

GOVERNMENT HEALTH MAN IN SANFORD

Dr. McMullin Will Treat Trachoma Cases Free

The people of this section, are to be congratulated that our physicians are alert at all times to safeguard the health of the public and that our state board of health can be depended upon to cooperate at all times. The attention of the city health board was called to several cases of Trachoma on Friday, Oct. 6th and Dr. O. J. Miller, city health officer began making a survey of the schools the same day, Saturday, Oct. 6th, Dr. C. T. Young, district health officer of the state board of health was detailed to Sanford to assist the local health department. He concurred on the diagnosis of the local physicians and began to assist Dr. Miller in the medical examination of the school children on Monday.

A joint meeting of the county commissioners and county and city school boards with Dr. Young, Dr. Neal and Dr. Miller and definite steps taken to take care of the situation and Dr. Denton was designated to examine all pupils in the rural schools. Assurances of financial aid in the care and treatment of all indigent cases was given. Meantime Dr. Cox, head of the state board of health requested the services of a government expert on the disease and Dr. John McMullin of the U. S. Public Health Service was detailed to Jacksonville to make a survey of the state as there were cases of Trachoma in many parts of Florida. Upon his arrival in Jacksonville Dr. Cox had him detailed to Sanford and he arrived here Wednesday night and all day Thursday assisted by all the local physicians made an examination of all suspected cases and found some forty cases. Dr. McMullin left last night for Jacksonville but before leaving made arrangements to return on Monday in order to hold a clinic and operate free of charge on all cases referred to him. A temporary hospital will be arranged where the children can be accommodated for a few hours after the operation and ample nurse service will be secured. Dr. McMullin will also give a free stereopticon lecture at the High School auditorium next Monday evening, to which every one is invited and he will demonstrate the various stages of this eye disease to the people and the medical profession. Among The Theatres

Lyric Tonight
Indian Joe Davis, the World's famous Roper, dancer, and Indian singing will be the added attraction at the Lyric tonight.

Indian Joe holds the World's record for fancy roping. He is college graduate and a famous scout. He has been in the show business for years and is a clever entertainer.

This afternoon Indian Joe will give a special talk for the school children, telling them all about the history of the Indians and the way they lived years ago.

Don't miss seeing the wonderful act at the Lyric tonight.

Lyric Friday

Ethel Clayton is the star in the newest World Picture Brady Made, "The Woman Beneath," which will be the attraction at the Lyric Theatre on Friday. This production is a particularly charming, unusual offering. It tells of the way that a young society debutante marries a wealthy western mine owner. She later tells her husband that she does not love him, that she simply made a good match. But still later she demonstrates that she is the possessor of true worth and she does this in a manner that charms and delights everyone. "The Woman Beneath" is a notably delightful offering. Be sure to see it.

The attraction at the Lyric Theatre on Friday will be "The Woman Beneath," the newest World Picture Brady Made in which Ethel Clayton, the popular beauty is the star. This entrancing story of an odd phase of domestic life was penned by Willard Mack, who has written some of the most gripping successes filmed by World Pictures. This newest production of Mr. Mack's pen gives Miss Clayton one of the very best roles she has ever had. She appears as the New York society wife of a wealthy western mine owner who has married him for his money. When she tells her husband this he decides to make her leave him and he determines that the best way to do this is by making it appear that he has lost all his money. But when his scheme is successful, it works a most remarkable change in his wife—a change so very astonishing that the husband cannot believe it. "The Woman Beneath" is an astonishing play and a thoroughly delightful attraction. To see it is to see a real treat.

When "The Woman Beneath" comes to the Lyric Friday the patrons of this theatre will have the pleasure of seeing charming and beautiful Ethel Clayton in one of the most delightful roles she has ever played. The role of Betty Fairchild gives this accomplished actress a splendid opportunity for the display of her winsomeness, her beauty and her fine acting. "The Woman Beneath" is without doubt one of the very best entertainments ever screened.

Marriage Custom of Swiss.

In some parts of Switzerland the maid of honor removes the bridal wreath at the church door and lights it with a taper, the bride in the meanwhile kneeling before the burning emblem of her maidenhood and saying a formal invocation for blessing on her married life, and it is held to be a very fortunate omen if the flowers flare up and burn quickly.

WAR COSTS SWISS AN IMMENSE SUM

Loss of Tourists' Business Means $45,000,000 a Year to Little Nation.

UPHOLDS ITS NEUTRALITY

All Belligerents Contribute to System of Compensation for Maintenance—Country Really Struggling for Existence.

Geneva.—War has killed the tourist business in this country, where the entertainment of foreign visitors was the principal and most profitable national industry. It is estimated that the gross receipts from tourist business in Switzerland amounted in 1915 to over $45,000,000, of which almost $10,000,000 represented the net profit of this industry, in which the capital invested exceeded $200,000,000. The 2,000 hotels specially built for the accommodation of foreign visitors, containing more than 150,000 beds and employing about 80,000 servants, are now mostly closed or empty. It is true that some of them have been used for prisoners of war hospitalized in Switzerland, but the profit thus made is only nominal.

The loss of tourist business is by no means the only one suffered by Switzerland. While other neutral countries prospered owing to the war, Switzerland, surrounded by belligerent nations—Germany on the north, Austria on the east, Italy on the south and France on the west—and compelled to keep her army on a war footing to defend her neutrality and watch her frontiers, paid the penalty of her special geographical position. But besides increased military expenditure which the war rendered indispensable, Switzerland, despite her neutrality, is exclusively dependent on her neighbors for food. Without their help she will starve, and she needs help both from the allies and the central empires.

Help for Switzerland.

Both groups of belligerents admitted that the case of Switzerland was essentially an exceptional one, and after laborious negotiations they consented to the adoption of the so-called system of compensations. This system is far from perfect, as besides benefiting Switzerland it benefits her neighbors as well, but not to the same extent. It follows that the allies and the central empires complain that their goods are being re-exported to the enemy, and both are continually blaming the Swiss government of partiality and threatening to break off commercial relations. Switzerland only exports natural products to the central empires, principally live stock, milk, butter and cheese, and she gets in return coal, iron, artificial manure, sulphate of aluminum, benzol, zinc, straw, chemical dyes and potatoes. Swiss exports to Germany and Austria are supposed to compensate the imports from these two countries, and in order to prevent that goods of ally origin should be exported to enemy countries, the Society of Swiss Surveillance, generally known as S. S. S., has been formed under the auspices of the allies to control Swiss exportation to the central empires.

The allies export wheat to Switzerland, or rather allow it to be exported from neutral countries, and grant special facilities for its being landed and discharged at Certe in France and conveyed to destination. Rice, corn, sugar and other foodstuffs, as well as raw materials, are also exported by the allies to Switzerland, which compensates them by exporting in return machinery and semimanufactured materials which serve for the war.

Allies Gain by Deal.

It is a fact, however, that Switzerland is getting more from Germany and Austria than what she is giving them, while her compensation to the allies is considerably less than what she gets. Besides, while Swiss exports to the allies are not absolutely indispensable, those to the central empires, representing exclusively foodstuffs, are undoubtedly prolonging the military resistance of the enemy and counteracting the effect of the allies' blockade.

It is suspected that Germany and Austria are compensating Switzerland liberally for contraband which, despite the control of the S. S. S., still flourishes and that even allied goods, such for instance as rubber, find their way to Germany and Austria. The Swiss government denies that contraband in favor of the central empires is tolerated. Every effort is done to repress it and generally with success, although it is impossible to stop it altogether. The excess of Austro-German exports is explained by the fact that since the allies cannot supply Switzerland with coal and minerals, which are indispensable for Swiss industries which otherwise would be paralyzed and widespread unemployment and destitution would follow, every effort is made not to diminish Swiss exports to the central empires which benefit the country considerably more than those to allied countries.

If cattle were not exported to Germany for instance cattle raising would not be profitable in Switzerland owing to the high cost of fodder and the rural population would suffer. The same may be said of milk, fresh and condensed, and cheese, which besides are also exported to allied countries.

TEMPERANCE NOTES

(By the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union.)

TO PLACE ALCOHOL WITH OTHER POISONS.

Prohibition legislation simply proposes to place the traffic in intoxicating liquors on precisely the same basis as the traffic in deleterious drugs, poisons, decayed meat, spoiled vegetables, explosives and so forth.

We do not license men to sell decayed meat for eating purposes; why should we license men to peddle poisoned beverages for drinking purposes?

Decayed meat has its commercial uses and so has alcohol. The eating of diseased meat is not prohibited and it is not proposed to forbid the drinking of poisoned beverages. Both eating bad meat and drinking of alcoholic slop is left for the individual to decide.

But wherein is the state duty bound to provide facilities for one to dope himself, any more than to provide facilities for a perversity to eat rancid beef?—American Issue.

A POINT FOR PERSONAL LIBERTY ADVOCATES TO CONSIDER.

A Roman Catholic priest in an Ohio city, taking part with the pastors of the other churches in a Sunday night meeting of protest against the lawlessness of the traffic, said: "I am ashamed of any Catholic in this town who is not able to provide for his own family without blighting the families of other men."

All the Music or Just a Part, Which?

The world's music has been recorded for the phonograph on disc records of two types; some phonographs play one type, called the "Lateral cut," some play the other, the "Hill and Dale cut," thereby limiting the variety and range in selecting records which appeal.

The Starr Phonograph

not only plays STARR Records, but because of its changeable Tone Arm, every other make of either type. The adjustable tone arms make the STARR a medium whereby all the world's music is in your home. There is nothing temporary or makeshift in this accomplishment, only another step in the perfection of the instrument. This is why the STARR is called the "Universal Phonograph."

THE STARR PHONOGRAPH IS THE ONLY ONE PRIMARILY DESIGNED TO PLAY ALL TYPES OF DISC RECORDS.

You are purchasing an instrument for the music it affords,—then why defeat your purpose by getting one designed to play but one type of disc? With either, the STARR tone is uniform. It has the same clearness, purity and sweetness,—always the STARR Phonograph. It is GUARANTEED to give satisfaction. Don't forget our daily informal recitals and demonstrations. You are welcome at any time.

OVER HERE, SMOKES AS USUAL

BUT HOW ABOUT "OVER THERE"

The war doesn't take away your favorite kind of cigar or cigarettes. But—how about the boys who are over on the other side fighting your fight?

Isn't it the right thing to let them have their smokes "as usual," too? The same good familiar kind they liked back home; and not make him put up with French tobacco which, to an American smoker's tongue, tastes more like tabasco?

Of course, you want to do your part toward this Tobacco Fund for the boys. We have fixed it so that you may send in 25c and each quarter will buy a fine, fresh kit of cigarettes, tobacco and papers which go straight to some soldier at the front. The American government is back of the plan. The French government admits these kits duty free. The Red Cross distributes them to the boys. And more than that: Each 25c kit contains twice as much tobacco as you could buy yourself at any store.

Then there's a postal in each package, stamped and addressed to you. That's so the recipient may send his thanks and a little message about things at the front.

Let's get together and give our boys their "smokes as usual."

And still they come from all parts of the county and all parts of the country from Ormond and even from far off Iowa as the following letter indicates:

West Liberty, Ia., Oct. 6, 1917.
R. J. Holly, Sanford Herald, Sanford, Fla.

Dear Sir:—As I would like to get in on the smokes that you are sending the boys that have joined the colors I inclose my check for one ($1) dollar and hope that you will see that it does its bit.

Respectfully yours,
C. A. Nichols.

EX-COV. TERRELL'S BROTHER GIVES TESTIMONY

That's What John Bunyon Johnson, the Well-Known Automobile Salesman, Says of Martin's Liver Medicine

One of the latest to add his unqualified endorsement to Martin's Liver Medicine is John Bunyon Johnson, of Macon, Ga. In a letter dated August 25, 1917, he says: "It affords me pleasure to report that I have taken Martin's Liver Medicine and obtained most desirable results. Martin's Liver Medicine is pleasant to the taste, does not cause any inconvenience to the taker in any way. It acts positively and yet gently upon the liver and it is my opinion that it is superior to any liver medicine sold."

Martin's Liver Medicine is strictly vegetable in ingredients, contains no poisonous calomel, is pleasant to take and is sold with the standing guarantee that if it does not give the effect desired, the empty bottle can be returned to the drug store and the 50c paid for it will be refunded. As a medicine for constipation, sick headache or other liver and stomach troubles, Martin's Liver Medicine is without a peer. Sold by druggists everywhere.

War Library Praised
The two following letters from headquarters will in a measure recompense the good ladies who have worked so hard for the Soldiers War Service Library:

Mrs. A. D. Key, Sanford, Fla.
My Dear Mrs. Key:
Your letter of the 30th received. I want to congratulate you and all your workers, the city of Sanford and all who gave to the Library War Service Fund. It is a pleasure to write thanking you not only for the check you sent, but the fine spirit that comes with it.

As yet I have not the state returns complete by any means. Jacksonville over subscribed its quota of $1000.00 by $210.00 and the cities of Daytona, Bartow and Bradentown each replied with their quotas slightly over subscribed. Tampa raised over $300.00, and my returns are coming in daily from the small cities.

Very truly yours,
Lloyd W. Josselyn,
State Director.

Mrs. A. D. Key, Public Library, Sanford, Florida.
Dear Mrs. Key:
The Library War Council acknowledges with thanks receipt of Sanford's contribution of $58.17 to the Library War Fund.

This sum has been placed to your credit and will be remembered in appreciation of the noble work you are doing for America's soldiers and sailors.

Cordially yours,
D. P. Beardsley,
Asst. Treasurer.

Individual Bookmarks.
A good idea for a simple little gift for a book-lover is to make a personal bookmark. It is made by embrodering either the initial or the name on a strip of linen, which is then finished with an edging of lace. This bookmark is too thin to injure even the most delicate book, it may be laundered and thus kept immaculate, and it clings to the paper and so does not slip out as cards or metal markers are given to doing.

Our Eyeglasses.
The suggestion for the use of lenses for the cure of eye defects was made by Roger Bacon, the great scientist of the thirteenth century. Doctor Langdon Down made this interesting statement, but added that the making of the spectacles was carried out by certain Italians. The scientific physicians of those days, however, advised their patients not to have them because they did not know the true theory upon which they were based.

Sloth and Industry.
"Sloth makes all things difficult, but industry all easy, and he that rises late must trot all day and scarce overtakes his business at night; while laziness travels so slowly that poverty soon overtakes him."—Benjamin Franklin.

Blank Verse.
Evidently some of the blank verse we used to read in school was so called as a slight tribute to the minds that wrote it.

ENGINE BUILT LIKE A WATCH

Fast, Modern Airplane May Readily Cost From $10,000 to $20,000 and Wears Out Quickly.

The engine of your motor car weighs from 500 to 1,200 pounds, or more. It will average from 20 to 30 horsepower at the lowest, says a writer in Collier's. The new airplane engines run less than three pounds per horsepower and the finest of them, two pounds or less. Airplanes have been built with air-cooled engines for short-distance, fast scouting whose engines weigh less than a pound and three-quarters per-horsepower. They must be quite literally, as an old advertisement used to say, "built like a watch."

At present a high-powered airplane engine of the best type—say 120 to 150 horsepower—cannot be purchased for much less than $3,000. And the whole airplane, a big one, may readily cost $10,000 to $20,000. You can readily see why the construction of only 15,000 airplanes, as in England's program, would easily equal, for a total expenditure for men and camps and hangars and repairs and wastage, more than half a billion dollars.

A fast modern airplane has an average life of only about two or three hundred hours of active service—say two months at the outside. This means that to keep 10,000 airplanes on a battle line you have to be able to build 5,000 per month or more. The cost would be almost unthinkable. That is why warfare in the air for any length of time would bankrupt the world. And that, in turn, is why warfare in the air means the end of all warfare.

SHIPS NEED OF AUSTRALIA

Grain of Little Value Without Transportation, as Little of It is Used at Home.

"Australia's food production this year will average normal; it is neither unusually heavy nor light, but there is going to be considerable difficulty in handling the crops, because there are no facilities for transportation," said H. W. Stephens, a merchant of Melbourne, who was visiting the United States. "The greatest need of Australia today is transportation. Until ship tonnage is provided it is almost useless for the farmers to complete their harvesting, as it requires only a small percentage of the crops to supply the domestic needs. Heretofore great quantities of grain have been shipped to England and it is still going overseas, but in not sufficient quantity, for England needs wheat now as never before. But without ships it is impossible for us to send our wheat abroad."

"The wheat crop of Australia was damaged to some extent by mice, and until the farmers learned how to combat this pest it threatened to become a serious menace. The farmers used poison, water, gas and other means, and finally got rid of them."

Pray at Old Shrine.

Fifteen years ago the supreme court of the United States evicted 800 Indians from their old home on Warner's ranch, in California. Some time later the Sequoia league induced President Roosevelt to name a commission to find a new tract for the Indians. This resulted in the government buying the Pala valley, where the Indians found homes much better than those they were evicted from. But Warner's ranch was the old domicile, where Father Ubach of San Diego held services once a year, at which time all marriages, baptisms and funerals were held. The present priest is Father George G. Doyle, and he has rehabilitated the chapel "for memory's sake." On a recent Sunday the old chapel was rededicated, and the Indians from the Pala valley were happy in praying at the old shrine.

Ink for Labeling Bottles.

In a small bottle place an ounce and a quarter of methylated alcohol, add a half-ounce of shellac, and when this last is dissolved immerse the bottle in hot water until the solution is warm. Then add slowly, while stirring rapidly, a solution composed of one hundred and fifty grains of borax dissolved in two ounces of water. Finally add coloring matter to suit, four or five grains of methyl violet being satisfactory and dissolving well upon shaking. This makes a very fine waterproof ink for writing the labels upon bottles and for other purposes about the darkroom.

Dear Old Husband.

The superstition about the word "husband" is not yet slain. Recently a philologist went into a church and heard a young curate discourse on marriage. "Think," he said solemnly, "of the beautiful idea underlying the word 'husband'—houseband, the band or bond of the house." The philologist had difficulty in restraining himself from laughing aloud. The "band" of the word "husband" is merely a corruption of the Scandinavian "bonde," a peasant.—Exchange.

Distorted.

Girl—Yes, but nature seems to be making up an awful face, or else the glass is crooked!—Town Topics.

Jinks—Well, I'm strong for their selecting some of my drafts, for the banks to honor.—Judge.

IN THE COVE

By MARTHA M. WILLIAMS.

Half the cove had criticized Jess for going to the school—the other half had been too stolid even for scorn. Learning was a name, nothing more—fit for preachers perhaps, but for real folk a waste and a weariness. So, indeed, she had found the book part—but doing things had been pure delight.

Dad and Buddy had expected Jess to come home high and full of airs. At first they had been almost sullen. But certain improvements in fare, in general comfort, conjoined to her comradely alertness, had worked on her side. Mam had died suddenly—of course it was right that Jess should care for her menkind. Dad and Buddy could not help but be proud of her.

This, even before they saw her in party array. There had been no thought of mourning—Mam had not believed in it—to the scandal of the neighbors. "Black's for buryin'—let the livin' wear rejoicin' clothes," she had said. Jess wore them, beautifully. Her soft, dull red woolen frock with its creamy lace frills became her marvelously. Even without the help of it, she was the handsomest girl in the room. Buddy said so to himself, his eyes the while ranging the throng, which stared at her as barnyard fowls might stare at a parrot suddenly strayed among them.

One did more than stare—young Boyce from over at Lumberton, stranger to the Cove, even to the mountains. Heretofore he had watched others play on plea of ignorance. Now as Jess was seized and led out in the classic game of snap he thrust himself eagerly forward, hoping also to be snapped in. The game makes man and maid stand facing, holding hands, thus forming "the stump" around which another man and maid chase or flee from each other. Caught, the captive becomes part of the stump, thereby making the game highly wild. It was the victor's privilege, after placing the captive properly, to snap thumb and finger at the next choice, always snapping somebody of the opposite sex.

Jess started to walk, but Boyce snapped her masterfully—and led her a chase, indeed, before she laid hands on him. "I'll never run from you in anything else," he whispered, his lips almost at her ear. Buddy noted it with darkling eyes. He was jealously careful of his sister—Boyce had the name in Lumberton of being free with the girls. That shouldn't happen to Jess. Buddy watched hawlike the progress of the game. Boyce held Maggie's hands tight enough, but had eyes only for Jess; darting and circling about him, eluding nimbly the pursuit of Dan Denny, Maggie's bachelor cousin, who was so slow and bashful he rarely came to a party. Catching Jess at last, he gave her a resounding smack, saying with a grin: "I knowed ye wanted it when ye folched me out here. All the girls does—seem' they can't git kissed no other way."

"You'll take that back, my friend," Boyce said through set teeth. Dan grinned sheepishly. "Meanin' the bus? I don't keer, and she's willin'."

Next minute Dan lay flat on his back, seeing stars evoked by the impact of a scientific fist on the point of his jaw. At the same second Boyce was in the grip of a giant, Buddy roaring out hoarsely: "Understand, I'm the fighter for our family. You come outside, and let's settle things."

As they moved to the door Dan got up heavily, hate distorting his face. With a whoop he was after them brandishing the knife he had whipped out of some hiding place—a murderous blade whose handle already bore two notches. No man moved to check him.

Jess had been sure she hated Boyce, but there was no time for thought. She saw her brother and Boyce locked in a wrestler's hug. Oblivious of all else, they strained and heaved. Dan was lurching toward them, knife high, gurgling rather than speaking: "Buddy, le' go! Le' go! Lemme send that carrion whar hit belongs—ter the buzzards."

The wrestlers did not hear, or, hearing, did not heed. Buddy had twice lifted Boyce clear, intending to throw him flat. Twice he had been balked by a catlike twist as he made to release his adversary. Now Boyce had got a strangle hold and was using it cruelly, blood drumming in his ears shutting out Dan's threats. He was lost unless he heard. Jess darted toward him. Dan thrust out a huge foot, tripping her deftly. But like a flash she was up—had thrown herself protectively in front of Boyce and thus caught in her own white shoulder the thrust Dan aimed for Boyce's throat.

Silence fell like a pall over the babble. Boyce caught Jess as she was falling, laid her down and stanches as best he might the welling blood. After a look at it, Buddy laid hold on Dan to throttle him. Other hands tore his away, their owners saying significantly: "We'll do better'n that. Bud—give him all he deserves." Jess heard and understood. Dan would be lynched. Faintly she tried to rise upon her elbow, crying weakly: "Don't, don't, neighbors! Don't do murder! This is—just an accident."

Then she fainted dead away, but her protest saved Dan. Her hurt, though severe, was not mortal. Long before it was fully healed all the Cove knew and rejoiced that as soon as she was strong enough she would be taken first to Lumberton, then on to a far fine house, where the elder Boyces would be more than happy to welcome her as a daughter.

About Nose.
In Persia, anything but an aquiline nose is "off." Even quite a decent snub-nose is well out of it. But in Uganda a lady is chiefly sought on account of her india-rubber nose. In Japan it must be "tip-tilted," have a heavenly direction, and in Britain any sort of old nose will pass so long as it is not everlasting poking itself into other people's business.—London Tit-Bits.

Famous for Date Palms.
Bagdad is famous for especially favored date palms. There are several famous date forests about the delta of the Tigris and Euphrates. One of the most interesting and useful relics of the Moorish civilization that remains in Spain is the most wonderful palm grove in the world. It might be called a fitting monument to the foresight and careful husbandry of those unfortunate people.—Exchange.

talk about patriotism of the press, the editor, the business manager and the superintendent of the Sanford Herald are all members of the Home Guards.—Kissimmee Gazette.

Now is the time to reopen the Sanford city market again and the farmers should begin bringing in the fresh vegetables and other country produce and sell it at the market place as they did last spring. The Sanford City Market has been receiving some very favorable comment all over the country and it should be reopened bigger and better than ever.

The meeting to discuss the commission form of government, has been of great benefit to the community for it has brought to the attention of the people that they should take a greater interest in city affairs, county affairs and national affairs and when this has been accomplished some good is bound to result. It is when a people or a country forget their government that they fail in their duty and lax government is the result.

Governor Catta is getting better and in a recent speech said this was a good time to get together and help each other. That he had made mistakes and expected to make more of them just as any ordinary mortal would and this thought placed him back among us common people instead of putting him on the pedestal that some of his ardent admirers tried to do early in the game. He is just an ordinary American citizen, no more, no less and when he is placed right he will be understood right. We have placed him and if he stays there we will stand with him but we have never been in the business of worshipping idols of any sort.

A SALARIED CITY MANAGER
 As the time approaches for electing some new city officials we are again most forcefully reminded of the desirability of transforming our antiquated system of civic work into the newer form of efficient management of civic affairs. Instead of the present burdens heaped upon citizens who serve as city councilmen for practically no pay, the modern method is to employ a city manager who is responsible to a city commission for the affairs of the municipality. The commission, like the present city council, makes the rules under which the work shall be performed, but, unlike the council, the commission does not have to go out and perform the manual labor and oversee the ditch digging. Leesburg is a corporation owning something over a million dollars' worth of property. It is a compact little corporation and the stockholders, with their little blocks of stock—their homes and their places of business—live close together and dwell usually in harmony.

The business necessary to be transacted by Leesburg as a corporation is not complex when it is compared to that of a commercial or industrial organization capitalized at a million dollars. It would not require an extremely high salaried man to handle the municipal affairs. On the other hand, no day laborer or one who is satisfied with the wages of a day laborer is competent to manage this million dollar municipality, but a city manager, qualified to manage our municipal affairs is entitled to a good salary—say one of about $3,600 a year, the size of the one Don McMullen decided was too small for him as attorney for the Florida railroad commission.

As a municipality we may as well admit that we are lacking in progress. A large number of our stockholders are individually progressive and have forced our municipality into the limelight by their individual efforts. But, unlike other corporations our stockholders do not vote in proportion to the stock they hold. Each stockholder has his own vote, regardless of how many shares he possesses. Because of that, the progress of our corporation as a whole has been notably backward. Individual effort is carrying our business beyond our callber.

As an instance, take our main streets. For a municipality drawing more trade from outlying districts and from greater distance than any other town our size within a hundred miles, we must admit to ourselves very frankly—and visitors and customers even more frankly remind us—that our main streets are a disgrace. You could tell the minute you crossed the town line on the Dixie Highway, even if there was no sign to inform you. Outside the town the sand clay roads are smooth and easy to ride over. Inside the town we have a graduated series of bump-the-bumps. There are two blocks of smooth surface on Main street—presented to us as an advertisement by the Potmac people and the Crystal River Rock Company. We do not recall that a formal vote of thanks was ever extended these people by our municipality.

We have no sewer system. Nice thing to admit in this enlightened age, isn't it? First thing they install when an army cantonment is planned is a sewer system, even out in the woods. "Health and common decency"—remember the hullabaloo that term raised?—demand it.

If that is knocking, make the most of it! We affirm that the knocker is the man who went to the polls and voted down these things we need, biting the hand that feeds him. Yes, just that! Because it is not by any virtue of our own as a municipality that we have been given such a grand opportunity to make a good living in this spot. We have been forced to it by the fertile acres around us and the people who have made those acres yield of their abundance. We town people are the servants of those producers. We bring them the thing they desire and they pay us for doing it. And right now, today they are paying us enough to entitle them to comfort in our town and we are pocketing their money and denying them what they have paid us for over and over again. Ever think of it that way?

But to return to the city manager ideal. Our present city council is composed of the most earnest workers for the good of the community we have ever seen in a like capacity. To our knowledge they have spent night after night together, planning and carrying out their clerical work. And they have spent day after day in individual work, each on his own mission. Sometimes they have neglected their own interests to attend to matters for the city. At other times their own affairs were too important to leave and the city work has waited. But the first has been the case more often than the second.

We load up work on these men, do not pay them, and find fault with them. Is it any wonder that good, earnest councilmen are hard to find and is it any wonder that when election time comes there is none to offer? A city manager would be paid to "manage." He would have certain things to do and a definite time to do them in. He would be expected to produce certain results and, paying him, we could demand and get these results. But we will have to grow up to the business that has been forced upon us, and use it as a foundation upon which to build greater and even greater business, and treat our customers and ourselves fairly before the city manager, no matter what we pay him, can accomplish much. But a live one, even under present conditions, would be a good investment, because he would be so disgusted at the outset that he would stir us up and get us to do the part we are, so supinely neglecting.—Leesburg Commercial.

Florida's Crop Report

George Hyman, O. L. Taylor and R. J. Holly. The Seminole county commissioners were represented by E. H. Kilbee and with the Board of Trade delegates Mr. Kilbee worked in harmony and Seminole was placed on the map with official recognition.

The St. Johns River Scenic Route will be one of the most popular routes in Florida and with the state aid should be built in time for the tourist travel in the early part of next year, as most of the connecting links are being built now. It starts at Jacksonville with the excellent road to Black Point where thousands of soldier boys are being trained and this road will be made wider and better some $300,000 to be spent here by Duval county. From here Clay county takes it up and has a good road to the Putnam county line. Putnam county is almost finished through the county and all that is lacking in this county will be built at once. Part of the connecting link in Volusia has not been built but the county commissioners give assurance that it will be. Seminole county is built from the Volusia county line at the drawbridge at Monroe through the entire length of the county to the Orange county line and built with brick and it gave the Seminole county delegates a thrill of pride when this was made apparent to the Highway Commission.

Thus it will be seen that the St. Johns River Scenic Route is one of the principal trunk lines of the state and everyone living in the counties of Duval, Clay, Putnam, Volusia, Seminole and adjoining counties should pull for the completion of the great highway that this promises to give the state of Florida.

District I. O. O. F Meeting
 Odd Fellows of Sanford Lodge are making preparations for the entertainment of the district meeting of the lodges of the 12th district which will be held here on October 22nd. In the afternoon from 4 to 6 will be an open meeting to which all are invited. In the evening both the Rebekahs and Odd Fellows will confer degrees, the work being put on by the visitors.

It is hoped that the lodges from the district will be well represented and the members from the Sanford lodge are urgently requested to turn out and help entertain the visitors.

Crop Conditions in Florida
 Jacksonville, Fla., Oct. 10, 1917.
 Temperature.—The temperature averaged from about normal in eastern and northern portions to 5 degrees below the normal in the extreme west. Midday temperatures were generally moderate.
 Precipitation.—There was a general deficiency in precipitation, except in the extreme south, where an excess occurred. In fact, the only rainfall of moment occurred on the lower southeast coast.
 Condition of Crops.—The weather which prevailed over the section was favorable for general harvesting work, and it was pushed with energy. The corn crop is about harvested in all divisions, and the bright sunshiny days were very favorable for haying, much of which was gathered in splendid condition. Cotton picking was well advanced; and the crop has been generally picked. It is known that the boll weevil did great damage in all districts, and damage is still being done wherever a top crop is found. Cane has improved, but more rain is needed some localities; peanuts are generally good as are sweet potatoes, although some reports indicate that the latter crop is somewhat below expectations. Velvet beans, corn, cane and truck were badly damaged by the recent storm in the extreme western counties. Citrus fruits are coloring, and some grapefruit has been shipped. The soil is generally in good condition for fall truck.

In Memoriam
 From the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Williams of this city, the funeral of Mrs. Wiley B. Edwards was held on Saturday afternoon at half past two o'clock, the interment being in Lakeview cemetery.
 The house and grounds were thronged with a large concourse of friends who came to pay the last tribute of love and friendship to the memory of the girl who had grown up among them, the girl whose charm and gracious sweetness had ensnared her in the hearts of old and young alike. Always thoughtful for others, tenderly devoted to mother and father, the idol of their hearts; the sunshine of the home; generous, affectionate and loyal, a warm friend and loving wife, Saidee has been taken in the flower of her beautiful young womanhood to dwell with the angels in heaven. She is not dead, but sleepeth, to await on the other shore the loved ones she leaves behind her here.

 The memory of her sunny disposition and happy smile is indelibly impressed upon the hearts of sorrowing friends and "Saidee" will never be forgotten.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. F. E. Steinmeyer of the Methodist church and Dr. E. D. Brownlee of the Presbyterian. A selected choir consisting of Mrs. Claude Herndon, Mrs. Frank Woodruff, Messrs. Chas. Polk and S. O. Shinholser rendered two beautiful selections, "Abide with me" and "Nearer my God to Thee." The active pall bearers were Messrs. Arthur Yowell, L. P. McCuller, Archie Betts, R. M. Walthour and Judge Housholder. Honorary pall bearers were Messrs. Clarence Mahoney, Ed. Lane, Billy Hill, Braxton Perkins and Brodie Williams. Exquisitely beautiful were the floral offerings. Lovely and of perfect variety were the designs and bouquets that completely covered the grave and surrounded it. The quantity of flowers and the funeral cortege was probably the largest ever seen in Sanford.

CHILDREN NEED HELP
 Home Society of Florida Asks Us To Assist

Editor, The Herald, Sanford, Fla.
 Dear Friend:—With a deficit of $2623.43 facing our society—a Home full of orphans and homeless children from wee babes on up, awaiting good family homes—with an average of three new little ones referred to us for homes and care daily with other orphanage and children's Home in the state filled to overflowing and the necessity of securing immediate financial aid or give up our glorious work (generally conceded to be "Florida's greatest charity") we feel compelled to ask the aid of your newspaper in presenting our needs to the good people of your community, for we sincerely believe that if these good folks really realized that we must have help or give up our work, that the contributions big and small would pour into our treasury.

 Let too much, then to ask of you to insert in your very next issue an urgent appeal in behalf of our work which has already this year provided good homes, aid or care for over 700 helpless, homeless and needy little ones from every portion of the state.
 First of all, we must have money or quit.
 Second, we must have more good family homes for our homeless children and right now we are crowded with wee babies and boys and girls of all ages wanting homes.
 Third, we must have donations of children's clothes, shoes, stockings, ties, underwear, hats and other wearing apparel.
 Fourth, we must have food, meats, staple groceries, canned goods, preserves, jellies, vegetables, fruits, etc. We can use any amount of syrup or honey or jellies. We would love to have one live chicken from every farmer in your county to lay eggs or provide meat for our kiddies.
 We know that we have asked your aid before—we probably will need to ask it again some day, but this is a critical time—a time when we must do or die and won't you do your level best for our wee kiddies who cannot speak for themselves.
 Remember, we have no solicitors of any kind, and no support from any source but our voluntary friends and contributors and our office salaries and office expenses are looked after by our board of directors and Ladies Auxiliary, so that every dollar sent in goes directly to provide aid and care for some needy child.
 Appreciating all past favors and pleading for your immediate cooperation, I am
 Very sincerely yours,
 Marcus C. Fagg,
 State Supt.

The musical part of the Brotherhood entertainment Wednesday night was one of the finest outdoor concerts ever enjoyed here. It is estimated that a thousand people were present to listen to and applaud same. Our city musicians, under direction of Band Master Gallagher, excelled themselves; Mrs. Julius Takach's soprano voice never appeared to better advantage; Mrs. Robert Herndon's cornet was rich and beautiful as ever; and Messrs. E. T. Woodruff, J. D. Parker, K. R. Murrell and F. P. Forster in male quartette thoroughly delighted the big crowd that swarmed Central Park. All were insistenty encored.

Public Stenographer—Room 6, Garner Woodruff Bldy., Phone 271. Mrs. Powell. 3-1t

The entertainment committee of the Wesleyan Brotherhood, Messrs. F. P. Forster, E. A. Douglass, chm., and E. T. Woodruff, secy., dispensed to the delegates, visitors and others at the Wednesday evening entertainment, eleven gallons of ice cream and over two thousand Nabisacos, Afternoon Teas and Tokens. The park was brilliantly lighted, the patriotic decorations were in good taste and effective, and the tables were resplendent in floral, garniture and service-ware beauty, arranged by the artistic fingers of the charming ladies of our city.

No. 666 will cure Malaria or Bilious Fever. It kills the germs. 86-35t

The Wesley Brotherhood entertainment committee wish to express warm appreciation of and thanks to the ladies of the Methodist, the Presbyterian, the Baptist and the Congregational societies for their hearty, energetic assistance in Wednesday night's function at the park; to Manager Rines and Sanford Public Service Co., for lights, free; also to the City Band, soloists and gentlemen of the quartette who so efficiently aided in making the affair delightful for our visitors; and to the boat owners, especially to Mr. C. E. Woods who made it possible for the seventy-five or more delegates so desiring to make the trip to Enterprise and there inspect the Orphanage; not forgetting the kindness of the auto owners and all others who lent a helping hand in the undertaking.

Mrs. L. M. Telford, Mrs. J. F. Hoolahan and children and J. C. Telford motored over to Lisbon Wednesday afternoon to visit Mrs. L. M. Telford's new nephew, E. D. Tyler, Jr.

Mrs. David Speer has returned from a trip to relatives at Americus, Georgia, and Dave is happy again.

W. M. Haynes, business manager of The Herald left today for Plant City to attend the regular session of the South Florida Press Association.

Circle D of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Presbyterian church will hold a bazaar, baked food and novelty sales on December 7th and 8th and everybody is privileged to contribute to the bazaar which will add greatly to the success of the bazaar as well as helping the building fund of the Presbyterian church. All the contributions and gifts can be left with Mrs. Harry Ward at her home on Fifth street.

Card of Thanks—The Brotherhood entertainment committee, for its individual members and on behalf of delegates and visitors, as well as the entire Methodist Society, wish to acknowledge the great kindness of certain contributors who, unsolicited, came to the rescue of above committee and relieved same from the burden of paying from the members' personal pockets the sum total of Wednesday night's park function expenses. These expenses, adding boat cost for the Enterprise trip, footed up nearly $60, of which $10 was paid by Chairman Bronson of the finance committee. Reducing the remaining amount of $50, the below, voluntary contributions are gratefully acknowledged by the entertainment committee: F. F. Dutton, $10, Forrest Lake $10, C. E. Woods free use of boat, Manager Rines of the Public Utilities Co. free wiring and lights, L. R. Phillips and Dr. Bouchelle smaller but likewise highly appreciated amounts, a total of over $20.

Heard the Governor—Dr. Hyman, O. L. Taylor and R. J. Holly, who represented the Sanford Board of Trade and E. H. Kilbee who represented the Seminole county commissioners at the good roads meeting at Tallahassee on Wednesday had the pleasure of hearing Governor Catts in an address before that meeting. The Governor made a stirring appeal to those present to uphold the government in every way during the war times and also gave some good ideas on the value of good roads in times of war as well as in times of peace. The address was well received and brought forth great applause. The Seminole delegation also had the pleasure of speaking with the governor afterward and were honored with an invitation to visit with him at the mansion, but being pressed for time they could not accept the kind invitation.

City licenses became due October 1st, 1917. Kindly call and pay same and avoid any penalty that may be imposed for doing business without license. Jas. C. Roberts, City Tax Collector. 13-4tc DeLand Party Here—Cashier Tuten of the First National Bank of DeLand, Cashier Boyd of the Volusia County Bank, Clayton Codrington of the DeLand News and Mrs. Ernest Rowland, daughter of Chris. Codrington, editor of the DeLand News were in the city today and in company with R. J. Holly drove out to the cotton gin and grist, mill of L. A. Brumley on Celery avenue. Volusia county capital is looking after the cotton and corn proposition and the mill here was thoroughly gone into in company with Mr. Rumley. It pleased the DeLand delegation so well that they made Mr. Brumley promise that he would attend a meeting of the DeLand Commercial Club in the near future and give them a talk on cotton and corn.

Admit One Only.—Peter was left in the house and told not to leave until mother returned from the store. When she came back she found a sheet of paper on the door saying: "I'm playing with Ray. The key is under the rock on the step. No one but mother go in."

Scalds, Galls, Scratches, Sores, Hairs, Screw Worms—To make the best cure for such troubles, buy a pint of linseed oil, if you prefer a healing oil, or a pound of hog lard or vasoline if you want a salve and add a 50c bottle of Farris Healing Remedy. It simply can't be beat by any salve or liniment made. And see what you get—a full pint for not over 60 cents. Farris Healing Remedy is sold by us on the Money Back plan. L. Allen Seed Co.

CARELESSNESS RESULTS IN FAILURE—That is why we say "Feed B. A. Thomas' Hog Powder according to directions." DO NOT FEED IT SLOPPY, but mix it with ground feed and moisten with just enough water to make a creamy mass. Then each hog gets a beneficial dose. See full directions on package. Your money back if you are not satisfied. L. Allen Seed Co. advt.

Dr. Neal is Called—Dr. T. A. Neal has been called into service and will leave today if possible. Dr. Neal has the rank of Captain in the Medical Corps of the National Army and expects to see service in France before he returns to Sanford again. We hate to see him go but we would not have him stay if he thinks he can better serve his country by going for Dr. Neal is one of the most patriotic, true blue Americans in our midst and can be depended upon to do his duty as he sees it wherever he may be called.

Morgan Broke His Arm—W. L. Morgan, the popular representative of the Stowart Groover Drug Co., and citizen of Sanford, had the misfortune to break his arm Wednesday while cranking his Ford at Loughman. He received medical attention at once and is taking an enforced vacation while his arm is in a sling.

At the Presbyterian Church—Sunday school at 9:45. Church services at 11. At the evening services the pastor will begin a series of lectures on "The Second Coming of Christ." All are cordially invited to attend, the evening services beginning at seven o'clock.

Taylor's Sale—Sanford has had many sales during the lifetime of The Herald, but it remained for L. L. Taylor of the 3-1st store to start a sale on Sunday. At least that is the information carried by the page advertisement in Tuesday's Herald.

However, when Mr. Taylor was interviewed by The Herald man regarding this new innovation in sales he was informed that the date should have been Friday the 12th instead of the 14th. At any rate the public will find plenty of bargains at the Taylor sale whether they call Friday, Saturday or Monday. Needless to state the store will not be open Sunday.

Chief Worked It Up—In the case of the negroes being arrested the other night for stealing and carrying off groceries from Spencer's store the real work of making the net ready for the catch was done by Chief Tillis and while his name was not mentioned in the first account it was because he is the head of the police force and the credit is attached to all of them who had a hand in this haul.

Sold Their Pigs—Lyman Bros., or otherwise the Lyman Twins sold a few of their pigs this week, not having quite a car load and shipped them to Williams & Dennis at the stock yards in Jacksonville where they brought the nice sum of 17 1/2 cents a pound. The pigs brought the price because the Lyman know that the proper feed for the proper pigs is either cow peas or corn in order to make good firm and hard meat. Any other kind of hogs will not bring a good price. The Lyman Bros. are making good at their farm near Forest City and now have one of the best herds of registered Duroc Jerseys in the county. The hogs sold the other day were not registered stock but a few half breeds that they raised from inferior stock.

Convicts Bids Rejected—Tallahassee, Oct. 10.—(Special.)—All bids for the lease of the state convicts to private corporations and individuals were rejected today by the Board of State Institutions. The board decided to readvertise and will receive new bids until 10 o'clock Friday morning, Oct. 19. At that time no bids will be considered which are under $300 per capita per year, and all bids must be accompanied by certified check or cash. There were more than thirty bidders. The convicts are now being lease for only $175 per man, but the Board feels that labor is worth more than that now.

New York Wins Last Game—New York, Oct. 11.—Overcast skies, lowering clouds, following rain that began to fall at six o'clock and continued for more than an hour, made the play of the fourth game of the world's series today very uncertain.

Later prospects point to the play in of the fourth game today in this city between the Giants and the White Sox. The skies are overcast, but no more rain has fallen since early morning. A meeting of the National League was held this morning against organized base ball by the old Baltimore Federal League Club. The game opened with New York in the field; Schapp in the box and Rariden behind the bat. Chicago failed to score. The White Sox put in as their battery Faber and Schalk. New York also failed to score.

Both teams succeeded in shutting each other out until the last half of the fourth, when New York scored one run. Keeping Chicago from scoring in the first half of the fifth she succeeded in adding another run to her list in the last half. One more run was made in the last half of the seventh and two in the last of the eighth. Chicago here changed pitchers butting in Danforth, who succeeded in keeping the Giants from scoring during the remainder of the inning. The game was called at the end of the first half of the ninth, when Chicago had failed to score. Chicago made seven hits and no errors; New York 10 hits and 1 error. Series now stands two and two.

Woman's Club Notes—Welfare Dept. It seems appropriate that the Welfare Department should start out its year's work so well equipped with all its machinery in good order, and be privileged to hear at the first meeting, Oct. 13th, 3 o'clock, Mrs. J. A. Hendle, state chairman of civics. The message is an inspiring one, "As Your community, So Your state."

This is an open day to the club and its friends and all who are interested in a City Beautiful. The Clean-Up Campaign follows Wednesday's meeting. It is most desirable that our town and surrounding country get "cleaned up and dressed up" before our tourists and friends greet us and we want to make sure we can greet them with shining vacant lots. Home door yards must soon be covered with flowers.

May we have a little personal democracy and thus with our names in flowers as individuals of Florida and say "I am the state." Mrs. H. S. Moughton, Chaitman.

Music Department—This department begins its year's work next Tuesday, Oct. 16th, at 3 o'clock with a most interesting program of American music. A full attendance is anticipated as not only department members are urged to be there with their friends as well. As before stated the small sum of 10 cents admission will be asked, as has been the custom heretofore.

The chairman, Mrs. Fox, would like to notify those members not at having a copy of the by-laws that they will be able to procure one at this meeting. It is urged upon each member to read these by-laws understandingly as it is proposed to conduct the affairs of the department strictly in accordance therewith.

IS THIS "YOUNG MAN'S AGE?"

Golden Period of Achievement Comes When Man Is Well Past Forty Years of Age, It Is Claimed.

"Our times are frequently called the age of the young men. But when one looks back to the revolutionary era of our country, from 1775 to 1825, and considers the striking youthfulness of the leaders of America the appellation does not appear exactly to fit," said a New York man in a recent interview.

"The youngsters under thirty receive an undue degree of attention from the professions and business. A notion prevails that the latest graduate from college, technical school or university is more desirable than the man who has had post-graduate courses in life's college of experience. Best sellers, reviews and magazine articles about business foster the notion. Consequently, a distressingly large number of men from twenty-five to thirty expect to be the bosses of big businesses or corresponding professions or technical vocations by the time they are thirty-five.

"Many will, if they work hard and prove to possess capacity, occupy positions of responsibility. But scarcely at thirty-five. The golden age of achievement really comes in most cases 15 years later. In fact, the present age is the age of the mature man. In literature the success today is not the man of thirty. Irvin Cobb would almost universally be considered a success in literature, but Cobb is forty-one and has not reached the fullness

Help to Save Nation's Food Supply

In this time of high cost of living, everybody should use all possible means to prevent waste and to help save food. No one means can be more effective than a vigorous campaign to exterminate rats which destroy over two hundred million dollars worth of foodstuffs annually. Keep garbage in rat-proof cans, stop up their holes, and above all exterminate them with Stearns' Paste, which can be bought for a few cents at any time. A two ounce box will usually rid a house or barn of every rat. It destroys mice, cockroaches and waterbugs as well.—Adv.

of his power. George Age is thirty-one, Tarkington forty-eight, Frank Cobb, a chief writer of editorial, forty-eight. The success achieved through development of talent, hard work and sacrifice is reserved for the mature."

SEA MOSS MAKES GOOD FOOD

Made into "Laver Bread," It Is Found on Sale in All Welsh Markets Near the Coast.

The sea moss on the Irish coast, called by some "sloak," is really laver. In Ireland it is called "Sloucaun" (with the "c" hard), and "Slouc" for brevity. In Ireland, as in England, it is prepared by washing, to get rid of sand, etc., and then boiling.

When boiled, a little butter or bacon fat is added and a dash of lemon juice completes the preparation. It is eaten with fish, and by some with mutton instead of jelly.

In Wales a great deal of laver is used, mostly in the form of "laver bread," says the London Chronicle. The boiled laver is mixed with a proportion of oatmeal and shaped into round cakes.

"Laver bread," or "lava bread," as it seems to be pronounced, is on sale in all the Welsh markets anywhere conveniently near the coast.

Good Night

There are two brothers-in Indianapolis whose names are not John and Richard Jones, but might be, Richard owns a grocery store and his telephone listing follows directly under the listing of John's residence. This conversation took place the other day between Mrs. John Jones and a voice on the wire:

"Hello, is this Jones?" "Yes." "Have you got any soap?" "Why, yes, I guess I've got a little. Why?" "Why, I want to buy some. What do you think?" "I've only got one cake. Who is this, anyway?" "Isn't this Jones' grocery?" "No." "Good night!"—Indianapolis News.

New Use for Motorcycles

That new uses for motorcycles are still being discovered is shown by the fact that a Californian with a big lawn to care for drives his mower with the aid of his powered cycle. After several unsuccessful attempts he devised satisfactory means of attaching the grass cutter to the front forks of his machine, and now he asserts that he can trim the lawn in about one-tenth the time formerly required. The only consideration that limits his speed apparently is the fact that the mower must be oiled frequently.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Discontent

A certain discontent with the immediate job is one of the most common of human failings. Ninety-nine out of every hundred of us are conscious of it at intervals, or more or less continuously. There are times, and with some it is practically all the time, when we would like to do something else, be something else or be somewhere else. The grass on the other side of the road looks greener; the other fellow's job looks easier and more desirable.—Providence Journal.

Making Fire With Ice

Take a smooth, clear, curving piece of ice, one not too thick, and hold it in the rays of the sun so that it will bring the light to a sharp focus, just as will a lens in a reading glass. The ice will not last long enough to burn a piece of paper, but if the focus rests on a speck of gun cotton it will cause combustion and a flame will result. Arctic explorers have built fires often with this expedient when matches were absent and flint and rock not handy.

THE SLACKER

By PAUL J. FAY

"Please, Mr. Randolph, just let us have a few more days and we shall pay you the rent. Father is still sick, but mother and I are working as hard as we can. And it is so hard to take care of father and work besides."

The girl, while speaking, covered more and more under the glance of the man. Finally she fell on her knees before him and burst into tears.

"Come!" her tormentor snapped, a sneer distorting his face. "This is no place for dramatics. You've got money to pay your rent, and I know it. If it's not paid by this noon out you go. Get me?"

Chester Randolph was not a hard-hearted man naturally. From his father, who died a few months before, he had inherited a successful real estate business and a square jaw. Chester managed the blocks of tenements which he owned with the same heartless, businesslike manner with which his father before him had managed them.

On the day after his argument with the girl about the rent another girl entered his office. She walked laughingly up to his desk and glanced at him with an imperious, not timorous, light flashing in her eyes. From her card he saw that she was Eleanor Malette, the daughter of a prominent state official. Chester arose and courteously offered her a chair.

"No, thank you. I came on business, not pleasure. I came to ask you how large a subscription you will make to the Liberty loan."

An angry gleam came into the man's eyes. "Another charity seeker," he thought. "I am very sorry," he answered. "But I do not think I will be able to donate anything."

"What?" The girl looked puzzled. "Donate? But this is not a donation. It's an investment, the safest one you can make. You get three and one-half per cent interest and no taxes. You'll be helping Uncle Sam win democracy for the world. The whole world will be your debtor."

"I said I did not want any, and that is all there is to it. Good day." His voice was a little too sharp.

Slowly the red stained Eleanor's face more and more deeply. The color dropped from her face like a curtain. "You—you slacker," she said angrily.

"Leave this office at once," he commanded.

"Oh, yes; because I tell you your duty order me to leave. I'll leave when I get ready." Defiance sprang from every muscle of her rigid body. She pointed an accusing finger at him. "Yes, you're a slacker and a coward. You're tearing your money out of the very souls of the people and then you refuse to give up a cent to your government. I despise you, you slacker."

Eleanor stared at him a moment, then turned and went out. Chester ran to the door and slammed it shut. He paced the floor rapidly until his rage cooled from a white to a red heat.

That night he slept not a wink. The next morning he did not go to his office, but remained at home. There he fought with his biggest enemy—himself. All day long he struggled, while the sweat poured from his brow in streams. Another night passed in wakefulness and restless tossing. At dawn Chester was completely exhausted. The struggle was nearly ended.

After breakfast, as Chester sat in the library, a thought suddenly came to him.

"By George! I'll do it!" he cried, and throwing on his hat, he literally ran down the street.

Two days later Eleanor's maid informed her that a visitor wished to see her, but would not give his name. She hurried down into the reception room. Here she found a man in the uniform of the United States marines. As he turned toward her she gasped.

"Chester—I mean Mr. Randolph, are you a—"

"Yes, I am." He spoke in a low, appealing tone. "I finally plucked up nerve enough to join. I came to ask you to take my subscription of one million dollars to the Liberty loan. And I'd like to have you watch over my people in the tenements, to see that they come to no need while I'm gone. Will you say goodbye to me?" She came closer.

"Yes, Chester. And I'd like to have your voice tell me what your eyes do before you leave me. I could manage your affairs better if—if—" She looked down.

He seized her and drew her to him, almost fiercely.

"I do love you," he breathed. "Will you wait for me, Eleanor? How can you love a— a slacker?"

"I loved you the first time I saw you," she whispered. "I thought the method I used would be the best way to save you to yourself, to your country and—to me."

And the uniform of the United States marines was not desecrated by the happy tears that were shed on its bosom.

Severe Punishment

"You are short $1,700 in your accounts." "Yes, sir." "That's very wrong. You will have to pay it back." "Yes, sir, I'll do that." "All right, and remember that if you steal any more money tomorrow and we find it out we'll make you pay that back, too."

TWO LEADERS IN GERMANY

To the left is Matthias Erzberger, head of the Catholic Center party, who is believed in Europe to have been a factor in causing the pope's peace proposal. To the right is Karl Helfferich, the German secretary of state.

Coffee Market on Our Hands

Prior to the trouble in Europe Hamburg and Havre were the two great coffee markets of the world, both receiving goods from the growers of all the world and storing them in wonderful warehouses to be exported according to trade requirements. Today both these markets are totally eliminated, and it is within our power to dominate the coffee trade of the future.

Conditions for this are ideal. In the first place, no duty is charged on coffee imported into the United States. Secondly, we are well situated, geographically, to become the distributing center for this staple for the western hemisphere and should be the middlemen for this line for the bean grown in South and Central America and the West Indies. Furthermore, our larger ports have many merchants handling this article exclusively.

350 Species of Parrots

There are 350 species of parrots, chiefly confined to the warm parts of America, Asia, Africa and Australia. There are none in Europe and none in Asia west of the Indies; and while numerous in the Malay archipelago, they are wanting in China, Cochin China and the Philippine island. The only species native to the United States is the Carolina parrot.

Something No Girl Wants

The only way to break a young girl of the pickle-eating habit is to tell her confidentially that if she continues it she will have a red nose, which is something that no girl wants.—New Orleans States.

You can cut down that item and have a better roof

There is no use in putting on an expensive roof when you can get a better roof and save real money by using

Certain-teed Roofing

CERTAIN-TEED is the best roof, not only because it costs less to manufacture, but also because it is weather-tight, light weight, clean, sanitary, fire-retardant, and costs practically nothing to maintain.

It is now used as the preferable type of roof for office buildings, factories, hotels, stores, warehouses, garages, farm buildings etc., where durability is demanded. CERTAIN-TEED is guaranteed for 5, 10 or 15 years, according to thickness (1, 2 or 3 ply).

There are many roll roofings on the market, but only one CERTAIN-TEED. It pays to get the best. It costs no more to lay a CERTAIN-TEED roof than it does to lay a poor roof, but there is a vast difference in the wear. You can't tell the quality of a roofing by looks or feel. Your only safety is the label. Be sure that it is CERTAIN-TEED—then you are certain of quality and guaranteed satisfaction.

Certain-teed Slate-Surfaced Asphalt Shingles are supplanting wood and slate shingles for residences. They cost less, are just as good looking, wear better, won't fall off, buckle or split. They are fire-retardant, and do not have to be painted or stained.

Certain-teed Paints and Varnishes are the best quality paint materials, ground and mixed with mechanical accuracy. Made for all uses and in all colors. With paint as with roofing, the name CERTAIN-TEED is a guarantee of quality and satisfaction.

The Sounding Board Horn of the STARR Phonograph is made of Silver Grain Spruce which for years has been accepted peer of all substances for conveying vibrations and discharging them into the air with their true worth. Sound waves are easily discolored, and when they pass through a throat or horn of metallic substance, assume a metallic sound which has marred phonographic tone since the invention of the phonograph. There is nothing metallic about the tone of the STARR.

THE STARR THROAT and HORN

THE STARR SOUND BOX and TONE ARM

Every factor contributing to a better tone has been inaugurated. Each detail of the throat and horn has been perfected and the sound waves, or vibrations, which are amplified in the throat, pass out through the sounding board horn and reach the ear with all that reality, that fidelity, to a perfect tone of evenness, richness and purity.
