SCC, Daytona create high-tech center

By Bill Kerna
Staff Writer

SANFORD — Seminole and Daytona Beach community colleges are creating a high-tech training center to address the shortage of skilled computer workers.

The community colleges will share a $3 million grant from the National Science Foundation to train teachers and students in computer technology.

The grant will create the Southeast Center for Networking and Information Technology Education, one of 12 similar centers supported by the National Science Foundation nationwide.

Seminole Community College President Ann McGee said the three-year grant will allow the community colleges to respond to the need for workers with computer skills. The two community colleges have been working on the grant for more than a year.

"It's exciting," McGee said. "This will fund an expansion of programs we already offer, as well as new programs. Being one of only 12 in the nation shows a recognition of the kind of training that is needed in this area."

The Seminole Community College part of the program will train workers for jobs in the computer industry. The school plans to train 475 workers over the next three years at the Industry Training Center located on the Sanford campus.

Meanwhile, programs at the Daytona Beach campus will train high school and college instructors to incorporate new technology into their lesson plans. The school plans to train

Fluoride spill in Sanford

Firefighters from the Sanford Fire Department prepare to assess the damage from a 500-gallon spill of fluoride. The clean-up process took about eight hours. No injuries were reported.

Traffic slowed along 46A

SANFORD — A fluoride spill at the Sanford Water Treatment Facility caused one lane of Country Club Road to be shut down during afternoon rush hour traffic on Thursday.

An estimated 300 to 500 gallons of a solution containing 23 percent fluoride spilled at about 2:25 p.m. as a driver for LCI trucking from Mulberry attempted to fill a bulk tank located underground at the facility.

The spill was caused by operator error, said Inspector Tim Robles, spokesman for the Sanford Fire Department. The trucking company will be held accountable for the costs of cleanup.

The fluoride solution is used to add nutrients to the city's water supply. It cannot burn skin. However, too much fluoride can cause long term bone damage, Robles said. Seminole County Hazardous Materials crews were called in to clean up the spill.

The south lane of Country Club Road was closed between SR 46A and Lake Avenue from 2:30 p.m. to about 8 p.m. as crews cleaned up the spill and disposed of the chemicals.

In addition, a western portion of the Mayfair Golf Course was also temporarily closed. The water treatment facility was not evacuated. There were no injuries.

The spill will not affect the supply or content of the city's drinking water, Robles said.

"This is the same fluoride that you would use to brush your teeth," Robles said. "We use it to help clean our water, but mainly to add nutrients. Some fluoride is good for your bones. But, too much fluoride would harm bones over a long period of time."

Snipper eager for a scrap in county clerk's race

By Russ White
Staff Writer

Following the county's Charter Review Commission's decisions to reject proposals to limit the Clerk of the Court's financial responsibilities, a financial business owner from Longwood has declared himself a candidate for the clerk's job.

Steve Snipper, 50, said Thursday that he will run in the 2000 Election against Maryanne Morse, who has been Clerk of the Court for 12 years.

Among those convinced Snipper is cut out for the job is Charles Champion, a Charter Review Board member and now Snipper's press secretary. Champion had urged the board to change the charter as a way of solving financial responsibilities. One proposal was to have added county comptroller to the slate of constitutional officers.

County Chairman Carlton Henley said that he was opposed to a comptroller's office but he suggested that the charter review commission allow the county manager's office to have control of county financial responsibilities and audit functions.

Two years ago, Morse withheld pay from two of Commissioner Dick Van Der Weide's pay checks because he failed to produce receipts from a political junket to Europe. Van Der Weide sued her. The case remains open.

Snipper is the first announced candidate to challenge Morse. "My experience in the financial industry gives me a solid foundation to be Clerk of the Court since some of the most important duties of the Clerk involve Seminole County's finances," Snipper said.

Expect more of the same in June — drought

By Tom Harbo
Staff Writer

SANFORD — Forecasters say drought conditions in Central Florida may continue through June.

Because the air mass over Central Florida remains dry and stable, forecasters say the drought may continue into June. Normal weather patterns in Florida for June would call for heat throughout the day, with afternoon showers.

"We're hoping to see afternoon showers in June," said

Timmy Cristofani, senior forecaster with the National Weather Service in Melbourne. "But, once a pattern has been established, we need something to break that pattern. We need the air mass to become more moist and unstable."

Forecasters are not predicting rainfall over the weekend in Seminole County. However, in the early part of next week there is a slight chance of showers.

"We really don't see anything drought busting over the next

Lake Mary imposes water restrictions

By Michelle Joris
Managing Editor

LAKE MARY — With no relief in sight for a drought that's plagued Central Florida for weeks, City Commission once again approved water restrictions for residents living within the city.

The restrictions are the same as last year's restrictions. Lake Mary City Manager John Litton said during Thursday's Commission meeting. Each citizen or business owner will be notified of the restrictions through the mail.

"We do not see any relief in sight," Litton said. "It will be imperative that our citizens follow these rules."

The water conservation measures include:

- The sprinkling, watering or irrigating of landscape and lawns are scheduled in two increments. Buildings or houses with even numbered addresses may irrigate on Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 8 p.m. to 6 a.m. People located at odd numbered addresses may irrigate on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday from 8 p.m. to 6 a.m.

Emergency workers were able to quickly put out a small brushfire just outside of Sanford Thursday. The 20 foot by 20 foot blaze started at about 1:35 p.m. at the corner of 2nd Street and 3rd Drive, and was extinguished at about 1:52 p.m. No structures were endangered, and there were no injuries, said Paula Ritchie, spokeswoman for the Seminole County Fire Department. The cause of the fire has not been determined. The Sanford Fire Department assisted Seminole County in putting out the small blaze.

Guv, you better come see these midges

Someone needs to drive the Guv across the Lake Jesup bridge. Let his limo get all messed with midges. That way he'd see Sanford's need for midge control. We can't find the airport through the midges — we're afraid to fly or just drive by.

You don't know how terrible these midges are, Guv. The other day a family of midges swallowed a gator on Lake Monroe. You know what they say about midges — they don't bite. But wait until you see what they can swallow.

Mayor Dale was counting on state money to buy the city some attraction lights and midge-predatory fish. We've got plenty of mullet but mullet ain't tough enough to snare midges. We need something more like great white shark or hammerhead.

Some of us think that the midges may be making people mean-spirited. Even before the recent outbreak, city leaders were angry about Habitat for Humanity opening a thrift store on French Avenue. Our soup kitchen unkindness remains on back burner.

The midges aren't too fond of Sanford, either. Mac the Midge was on TV the other night, expressed concern for his family members. They were denied Homestead exemptions and cannot vote for the commission seat opening. That bugs them big time.

Guv, consider this. Midges are a lot like Peter Warrick, the FSU player who got into trouble in Tallahassee last year. They're fast — especially on fly patterns. They're impossible to cover. You wouldn't want them at a shopping mall. That's for sure.

We were thinking of having a Midge Night Summer's Dream production at the Helen Stairs Theater but without the midges. The theater is beautiful — some are calling it Carnegie Hall Dixie. Melba

Moore was Act I. Now, all we have is Melba Moore Midges.

We're concerned about Fort Mellon Park, one of the great wonders in Seminole County. While we ponder what will happen to the park, the midges have infested the place. One member of the Society for the Preservation of Fort Mellon Park said the situation is hopeless but better the midges be there than a hotel/conference center.

We believe you made the right call on assuring state funds for our airport — and you were probably right on holding funds for the Sanford baseball park. But, Guv, you should have let the midge money fly.

Pastor John A. Dalles' call for summer: Focus on family

By Russ White
Staff Writer

In the June issue of The Good News letter to his congregation at Wekiva Presbyterian Church, the Rev. John A. Dalles has suggested a focus and commitment this summer to family.

"How does a person make his family the focus of his life?" Pastor Dalles asked. "It goes back to those three 'a' words: attraction, attention and activity."

Beyond normal expectations and demands of a man's job, family comes first. "Family," Dalles said, "is the main attraction." It's important to block large portions of time with each family member. One on one days with the children. Getaways and "date nights" with the wife.

Undivided family attention is important even if it means knocking around, running errands, washing the car, evening walks in the neighborhood. "So is sharing evening meals at the table," Dalles said.

"You'd be amazed at the conversations that happen in the car, clearing the table, skimming the pool," he said. "These are quality conversations."

Describing activity, Dalles drew from the words of the Bible — Deuteronomy 29:29: "There are secret things that belong to the Lord our God, but the revealed things belong to us and our descendants forever."

"This summer, in a spirit of joy," Dalles asks his congregation to focus on family. Make the summer meaningful. Dalles said that a friend of his said that no matter what else he may accomplish, no matter how spectacular, it is practically worthless if compared to family.

Focus, Dalles said, is the point where the various rays of light come together — where you get a clear and sharply defined picture of your life.

Pastor Dalles also said that within the next month or so, workmen will build the "link building" and campanile and renovate the church reception hall. This culminated seven years of planning and was approved by the Central Florida Presbytery. Groundbreaking is Sunday, June 18 after both services.

Vacation Bible School begins June 12-16 at Wekiva Presbyterian for children who have been pre-registered.

Wekiva Presbyterian Church is located at 211 Wekiva Springs Lane in Longwood. The telephone number is (407) 869-1608.

Please watch your guldarn language

We all know Americans swear too much. It hasn't exactly been what you would call front-page news.

Until now. For what may be the first time in history, a large metropolitan daily newspaper — the 243,000-circulation Columbus (Ohio) Dispatch — has decided that our speech has reached such a low point that it is a page-one national issue.

"Public discourse is being littered with obscenities," says the alarming headline.

How things have changed. When you hit your thumb with a hammer, "Guldarnit!" just doesn't do the job anymore. When I was growing up, "Pshaw" was the strongest word I ever heard my mother utter. Today, some ministers' wives can cuss with the best of the longshoremen.

My father's favorite expletive was "Peanuts!" That would seem a mild enough expression, but it probably wouldn't have made it past the censors when the Hays office was blue-penciling Hollywood movies.

The script in a James Cagney movie in the 1930s called for the tough-talking Cagney to say "Nuts!" The censors crossed it out.

Some literary types are more creative in their swearing — so creative in some cases that you wouldn't recognize it as swearing.

In his autobiography, "And Gladly Teach,"

Harvard professor Bliss Perry tells of the annual Perry household ritual in which his father, who had little manual dexterity, put up the kitchen stovepipe.

"Though he never actually swore," writes Perry, "he could load the most ordinary language with profane insinuations. 'Fush to Bungtown' was a favorite imprecation, and if those stovepipes had had a sensitive ear they would have blushed."

Some churchgoers might say that if people would go to church more often they might clean up their language.

But today, even the minister swears.

There is the story of the minister's wife who said to her husband after he had gotten off the phone, "You were talking to Harley, weren't you?" Harley was the clergyman down the block.

"How did you know?" asked her husband.

She replied, "Because you always swear more when you talk to Harley."

The church picnic is one place you ought to be able to take your children without having to worry that their ears will be blistered with profanity, so you will be as astonished as I was when I read the flyer for an upcoming church picnic. Along with giving information about the time and place of the outing, the flyer said, "No swearing please."

Apparently, some parishioners were upset by swearing they had heard at other church social functions and the picnic committee decided that some reprimand was called for.

We may think it's our own business how we act and what language we use — the First Amendment and all that. But a disdain for the feelings of others — those who may be offended by what we say or do — is the mark of an uncouth person.

In his book "Blue Highways," William Least Heat Moon tells of meeting a farmer on his travels along the back roads of America. During their conversation, the farmer asked Moon, "Mind if I swear?"

That was a considerate question — like asking, "Mind if I smoke?" before lighting up a cigarette. Both swearing and smoking are forms of pollution.

We have no right to subject others to assaults on their lungs or their sensibilities without their permission.

Maybe we should post "Thank you for not swearing" signs.

Even at the church picnic.

Don't assume your doctor will dismiss your pain

More than half of Americans over 65 experience pain daily, according to a recent survey conducted jointly for the Arthritis Foundation, the American Society of Aging, and several other partner organizations. But older people who suffer pain aren't as likely as younger adults to say anything about it, perhaps because they believe that aches and pains are just part of the aging process and that little can be done to relieve them.

Barbara Hughes

That's a shame, because getting older doesn't have to mean being in pain. There's a host of treatments available — not just medications but also relaxation therapy, massage, and even exercise. And discussing your pain with a doctor is being as specific as possible to describe what you're feeling is can help him or her focus on what's wrong, diagnose the problem, and prescribe the right treatment. With that in mind, the Arthritis Foundation and partners came up with a list of tips on how to talk to your doctor about pain so that you can get relief. Following, some of their advice:

Speak up. Pain can't be identified by medical tests, so your doctor isn't going to "discover" your discomfort without your input. To give the most accurate picture of how pain is affecting you, be sure to mention any pleasurable pastimes, such as walking or bicycle riding, that you may have curtailed due to pain.

Tell the doctor where you're feeling pain. It could provide clues you're not aware of. For instance, pain on the inner side of the knee can be a signal of arthritis in the hip — the nerves are simply "referring" the pain signal to a different area. Shoulder pain could mean you're having a gallbladder attack.

Be ready to say how often your pain occurs, and what makes it feel better or worse. Keep a diary if it helps you remember. Is the pain daily or weekly? Unrelenting or off-and-on? At any particular time of the day? Does moving about relieve the pain or make it worse?

The pattern you describe can help your doctor arrive at a diagnosis. For instance, people with rheumatoid arthritis tend to feel much worse early in the morning when they first get out of bed and for a few hours afterwards. People with osteoarthritis, however, might feel fine in the morning — but develop pain later on after they've moved about during their daily activities.

Describe how strong the pain is, and think of words to describe it. Is it throbbing, aching, or stabbing? Sharp or dull? A nerve abnormality may reveal itself as a burning sensation, deep ache, or even a heightened sensitivity to touch. Pain originating from the intestine may be diffuse and difficult to pinpoint.

I'm sure you've heard the expression "to get help you must first help yourself." Be as aware as you can of your body and your doctor will be better able to help you out.

Woman's interest in teen spells trouble to his mom

DEAR ABBY: What do you get when you mix a 23-year-old woman with a 16-year-old boy? Trouble, as far as I'm concerned! For the past couple of months, my 16-year-old son, Eric, has been involved with a 23-year-old woman I'll call

"Lois." Eric is only a sophomore in high school, and he should be dating girls his own age. He is a sweet, outgoing young man and is very popular with the girls.

I'm not surprised that he is flattered by the attention of an older woman, and I'm sure he acts very mature when he is around her, but my son is very much an adolescent at heart.

Lois comes to our house late at night when she thinks we are asleep, or she stops by when he gets home from school and his father and I are still at work. I don't think it has turned into a sexual relationship yet, but I know it is not purely platonic in nature.

I'm trying very hard to discourage this relationship, but Eric tells me they share the same hopes for the future, and he really likes being with her. Gag me! Lois has been a friend of the family for a long time, but she is no longer welcome in our home. However, that hasn't kept her away.

Dear Abby

Abby, why would a 23-year-old woman be interested in a 16-year-old boy? Please advise me.

FURIOUS IN CALIFORNIA

DEAR FURIOUS:

Lois could be socially or emotionally immature, which might explain her attraction to your son. But she has had time to gain far more worldly experience than he has, so regardless of how much he thinks they have in common, this could hardly be described as a relationship of equals.

Your next move should be a telephone call to your attorney about the advisability of a restraining order. Perhaps Lois' ardor could be cooled by explaining to her that, depending upon the circumstances, she could be subject to civil and criminal penalties if she continues to pursue your son.

To receive a collection of Abby's most memorable — and most frequently requested — poems and essays, send a business-size, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $3.95 ($4.50 in Canada) to: Dear Abby's "Keepers," P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, IL 61054-0447. (Postage is included.)

Planning refreshments for the party season

It's the time of year when celebrations are endemic: bridal showers, weddings, graduations and other rights of passage. It can be a lot of fun, but it can be exhausting, too, especially if you are the host of any of these events.

Below are some dishes that would be perfect for a party of 16 to 20 people. The food is casual but festive, appealing to all ages, and most of the preparation can be done well in advance.

The key to planning a party is, of course, planning. Figure out a menu. Think of every stage of the party. Where will guests enter? Where will they put jackets or presents? Where will people sit when eating? Is your coffee maker big enough? Walk yourself through the party: What courses need spoons? Have you provided for any vegetarians among your guests?

Make a list. Including everything you can think of, from ice, napkins and garbage bags, to coffee, cream and sugar — even extra toilet paper and soap for the bathroom. Guests tend to lose track of glasses, napkins and cutlery, so have a lot on hand. Remember that people often consume far more liquids than you think they will, especially on a warm summer evening, or when they are served a spicy main course such as Barbecued Chicken.

An extra case of soda or frozen lemonade concentrate can help out in a pinch.

If you plan far enough in advance, you can make the necessary arrangements — buying, borrowing or renting — to supply yourself for the big event. Your local school or community center may be willing to lend you tables, chairs, coffee makers and the like in return for a small donation. Consider hiring a teenager to help out before (for setting up), during (stocking the coolers with sodas, emptying the trash as needed, or baby-sitting really young guests), and after (to help clean up).

There are a lot of great takeout items available — from fresh sales to bakery cakes — and you shouldn't be too proud to use them as short cuts. By the same token, something homemade, be it the main course or the dessert, shows how much you care, and usually tastes better than anything you can buy.

This is not a complete menu. I would round out this meal of punch, barbecued chicken and slaw with chips and fresh salsa, cornbread, some baked beans or potato salad, and a sheet cake for dessert.

CARMEN MIRANDA FRUIT PUNCH

6 tea bags
6 cups boiling water
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup lemon juice
1/2 cup grenadine
2 quarts 7-Up, chilled
1 quart club soda, chilled ice

Some of the following: sliced strawberries, citrus fruits, kiwi, guava, star fruit and/or pineapple

Paul G. Beavert for the New England Culinary Institute
Ready to rumble! Carmen Miranda Punch, a chilled blend of tea, 7-Up, grenadine, lemon juice, soda water and sliced fruit.

Tie the tea bags together, and put them in a pot. Pour the boiling water over them and let them steep for 5 minutes. Remove the tea bags. Add the sugar and stir to dissolve. Cool to room temperature and add the lemon juice and grenadine. Strain. Cover and refrigerate until chilled. (Can be made up to this point 2 days ahead.)

When ready to serve, pour the chilled tea mixture into a large glass pitcher or punch bowl. Add ice and pour in the 7-Up and the club soda. Float fruit in the punch and serve. Yield: about 5 quarts, or 40 4-ounce servings.

BARBECUED CHICKEN

6 tablespoons butter
1-1/2 cups minced onion
6 tablespoons minced garlic
1-1/2 cups brewed coffee (strong)
1-1/2 cups Worcestershire sauce
3-3/4 cups ketchup
3/4 cup vinegar
3/4 cup packed light brown sugar
7 teaspoons chili powder
4-1/2 teaspoons chili paste (available in Asian markets, often as garlic chili paste)
salt and pepper to taste
10 to 12 pounds cut-up chicken parts, rinsed and patted dry

To make the sauce (this can be done several days ahead): Melt the butter in a heavy-bottomed saucepan or skillet. Add the onions and simmer 3 to 4 minutes. Add garlic and saute a few more minutes. Add the coffee, Worcestershire sauce, ketchup, vinegar and brown sugar. Simmer for 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add the chili powder and chili paste. Season with salt and pepper. Cool. Store, covered, in refrigerator.

Place the chicken in a bowl. Add enough sauce to coat well, tossing the chicken around so that each piece has a thick coating. Cover and refrigerate at least 2 hours or overnight. Reserve the remaining sauce for brushing on the chicken and for serving.

Preheat the oven to 400 degrees. If finishing the chicken on a grill, prepare a medium fire. Otherwise, finish it under the broiler.

Line a baking pan with heavy-duty aluminum foil and place the chicken in it. Bake 30 minutes.

To finish the chicken, grill about 4 inches from the heat source (on the grill or under the broiler) until juices run clear when meat is pierced with a fork, 15 to 20 minutes. Turn the chicken while it cooks, and brush it with some of the reserved sauce toward the end of the grilling time. If it browns too quickly, move the cooking rack farther from the heat source. Serve immediately with extra sauce, heated, on the side. Yield: 16 to 20 servings.

— Barbecue Sauce recipe from Chef Benjamin Czevely, formerly of the New England Culinary Institute, now at the Boston Museum of Fine Arts.

CALICO COLESLAW

For the dressing:
1-1/2 cups mayonnaise
1/2 cup sour cream
2 tablespoons red wine vinegar
1/4 cup grated onion
2 tablespoons sugar
1-1/2 tablespoons Dijon mustard
2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon freshly ground pepper

For the slaw:
2-1/2 pounds green cabbage
1/2 pound red cabbage
4 large carrots, grated
2 green onions, diced
2 red onions, diced
1 large red onion, peeled and chopped

Mix together the dressing ingredients. (You can do this up to one day ahead. Cover and refrigerate.)

Toss the vegetables with the dressing. Cover and refrigerate at least 2 hours or up to 12 hours. Yield: 16 cups, or 16 to 24 servings.

Irrigation for new lawns and landscaping shall be exempt from restriction for the first 30 days.

• Washing any type of vehicle or mobile home, except for businesses where vehicle washing or pressure washing is done, will be prohibited.

• Washing sidewalks, walkways, driveway, porches, exterior of homes, apartments, office building or other outdoor hard-surfaced areas, except for businesses who perform these services, will be prohibited.

• Irrigation which uses well water shall comply with the SJRWMD (St. Johns River Water Management District) and will follow year-round restrictions of not watering between the hours of 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Any violations to the ordinance shall be considered a Class 1 civil infraction and individuals may be issued a citation.

During a public hearing held during the meeting, resident

Darrell Leidigh questioned several of the restrictions.

"The car washing I really resent," Leidigh said. "It seems more appropriate to tell people how to wash their cars."

According to Leidigh, less water is used washing cars than watering lawns or taking a shower.

Leidigh also said restrictions may not be the solution.

"Maybe we should start looking at population control," Leidigh said. "Maybe we should look at how many people we let into this area."

However, Lake Mary Mayor David Meador said the city did not receive any complaints about the restrictions during previous years.

City Commission voted 4-1 in favor of the emergency water restriction ordinance.

Commissioner Gary Brender said he voted against the ordinance in order to bring it back to the Commission with several revisions.

Drought

five days," said Randy Lascodi, a forecaster with the National Weather Service in Melbourne.

"We can hope for some isolated showers by Sunday, but we're not putting that in our forecast."

If there is a positive aspect to the lack of predicted rainfall, forecasters say, it is that lightning is also not expected. Dry grass and leaves from the recent drought make lightning a dangerous threat to cause wildfires.

"We are getting into the time of year when we could have an isolated storm," Lascodi said. "Any one of those is capable of producing lightning. I would be real surprised if we're able to escape this year without lightning starting any fires."

In addition to posing a fire hazard, dry underbrush also means that less moisture is evaporating into the atmosphere. The lack of evaporation contributes to the on-going drought, Lascodi said.

Meanwhile, lake levels in Seminole County have dropped to at least three feet below normal, officials said.

So far this year, an estimated 117,000 acres have burned in wildfires, according to a spokesman for the state Division of Forestry.

According to the Keetch-Byram Drought Index, used to measure the level of moisture in the ground, Seminole and other counties throughout Central Florida are dangerously dry.

Seminole County has a drought index level of 678.

Any level above 500 is considered dry. The scale ranges from 0 for monsoon conditions to 800 for desert conditions.

Levels above 600 are considered hazardous, and levels above 700 are considered extremely hazardous as wildfire threats.

Orange, Osceola, Lake and Brevard counties all have drought index levels above 670. The Orange County drought index level is 691. Fourteen counties statewide have drought index levels above 700.

Governor Jeb Bush visited Central Florida Thursday. Orange County chairman Mel Martinez said he hopes Bush will declare the region a disaster area, which would qualify businesses and residents for state funding in replacing lost property.

Because of drought conditions and the threat of wildfires, the state has banned all outdoor burning, except in backyard barbecue grills.

The ban makes it a misdemeanor to light outdoor fires, including burning trash, building campfires or doing controlled burns to clear out vegetation. Violators face a fine of $1,000 or more.

This is the first statewide ban on every kind of outdoor burning since the devastating late spring and early summer wildfires of 1998, which burned 500,000 acres statewide, destroyed or damaged 300 homes and forced the evacuation of 50,000 residents.

440 teachers at the Faculty Development Center on the Daytona Beach campus over the next three years.

The program is intended to fill a gap the area has for high-tech workers. A state task force estimates there is a shortfall of 18,000 information technology workers in the Interstate-4 corridor between Daytona Beach and Tampa.

To qualify for the grant, the community colleges were required to show they had partnerships with high tech businesses. Seminole Community College provides training programs for workers in cooperation with businesses such as Siemens, AT&T, Dell Corporation, Cirtent Semiconductors and Lucent Technologies.

"The key to the grant is in the partnerships we have with businesses and with Daytona Beach Community College," McGee said.

McGee said the program will also lead to increased partnerships with the University of Central Florida and with Valencia Community College.

Meanwhile, SCC will apply for increased state funding next year for programs vetoed Tuesday by Governor Jeb Bush. This year's funding requests were for planning the programs, while next year's request will also include funds for the construction of new facilities.

Bush vetoed funds for a high-tech training program between SCC, UCF and DCC at a cost of $4 million. Bush also vetoed $750,000 in funding for a high tech facility to be operated by SCC and UCF.

The schools are seeking alternative sources of funding, including federal grants, McGee said.

LAKE MARY - Fairway Jeep continued its high-scoring ways and moved into sole leadership of the City of Lake Mary Department of Parks and Recreation Men's Spring Friday Night Slow Pitch Softball League when Blue Haven Pools was upset by J.F.F. two weeks ago at the Lake Mary Sports Complex.

Fairway Jeep won a pair of games the last two weeks, taking a 9-4 lead in the second inning and outscoring Mace Aluminum, 19-13, on May 19th, then taking an 8-0 lead last week before pulling away late for a 23-12 triumph over Hill's Gang.

Blue Haven Pools looked good as it took a 7-2 lead on the 19th, but J.F.F. scored seven runs in the fifth inning to erase an 8-5 deficit and held off a seventh inning rally to pull off the upset, 13-12.

Blue Haven Pools bounced back last week, scoring five runs in the third inning to wipe out a 3-2 deficit and holding off a Mace Aluminum rally, 12-9.

Nice & Easy moved into third place, using a nine-run third inning to blitz Polo's, 10-3, on May 19th and then taking last week off.

J.F.F. won its third straight game to even its record at 3-3, scoring 10 runs in the second inning and thumping Polo's, 16-5.

Fairway Jeep is now 5-0 and leads Blue Haven Pools (4-1), Nice & Easy (3-2), J.F.F. (3-3), Mace Aluminum (2-3), Hill's Gang (1-4) and Polo's (0-5).

The league will play a triple-header again this evening at the Lake Mary Sports Complex on Rantoul Lane across from the Mayfair Country Club starting at 6:30 p.m.

Budmen clinch tie for title in Industrial League

By Dean Smith
SPORTS EDITOR

SANFORD - The Wayne Densch/Budmen can wrap up the City of Sanford Recreation and Parks Department Spring Industrial Slow Pitch Softball League tonight after clinching a tie for the crown last Friday at Pinehurst Park.

A home run by Anthony Kenney and an RBI double by Matt Malloy highlighted a four-run third inning as the Wayne Densch-Budmen took a 6-0 lead and held on for an 8-4 victory over TI Group last Friday.

That victory came on the heels of a misleading 16-6 triumph over BHM/Briar Corporation on May 19th as the Wayne Densch/Budmen trailed 5-3 after two innings and scored two runs on a Kenney two-run home run in the bottom of the fourth inning to break a 6-6 tie and then put snowman, eight runs, on the board in the bottom of the fifth inning to close out the run rule win.

Second place Featherlite had kept its title hopes alive by scoring a 6-5 victory over TI Group on May 19th, scoring two runs in the bottom of the seventh inning after seeing TI Group rally from a 4-0 deficit to score five runs in the top of the seventh inning.

Kenny Sauer led off the bottom of the seventh inning with a double and Chris Scalfani singled ahead of an RBI double by Russ Greaver and a walk-off, game-winning single by Howard King.

But Featherlite saw its opportunity to stay just a game behind the league leaders when it was thrashed by Metalade, 22-5 in five innings, last Friday.

Featherlite led 2-0 after the top of the first inning, but Metalade came back with seven runs in the bottom of the first inning and never looked back, hitting four runs in the victory.

The victory allowed Metalade to move into a tie for second place as it came on the heels of a 13-6 triumph over Invacare on the 19th.

The game was tied at 4-4 after one inning and stayed that way until Metalade came up with back-to-back three-run innings in the third and fourth innings to pull away.

Invacare kept its hopes of a second place finish alive, and didn't even have to take the field to do it last Friday as BHM/Briar Corporation could not field a team.

The Wayne Densch/Budmen are now 7-1 with two weeks left in the season. Trailing the leaders are Featherlite and Metalade (both 5-3). Invacare (4-4). TI Group (3-5) and BHM/Briar Corporation (0-8).

Tonight at Pinehurst Park, Featherlite takes on BHM/Briar Corporation at 6:30 p.m.; the Wayne Densch/Budmen look for the pennant-clincher against Invacare at 7:30 p.m.; and TI Group battles Metalade at 8:30 p.m.

Gregory Hardy led off the top of the first inning of the first game of the evening for the Play It Again Sports-Expos with a single and came around to score on a pair of passed balls and a stolen base and the winner's never looked back.

After an out, Guy and Nick Martin walked before Guy scored on a double by Justin Britton. Martin and Britton would later score on wild pitches giving the Play It Again Sports-Expos a 4-0 lead.

After a scoreless second inning, the Play It Again Sports-Expos took all of the wind out of the Railroaders-Cubs sails by crossing the plate with seven runs.

The big blows in the inning were a three-run home run by Guy and a two-run double by Rodney Grant. Hardy also had a double in the inning.

The Railroaders-Cubs got a run back in the bottom of the third inning on a walk to Matt Underwood and a two-out triple by Mark Layton, the Cubs' first hit of the game.

The Play It Again Sports-Expos then put the game away in the top of the fourth inning, scoring six more runs. Guy again had the big hit, a two-run double, while Marcus Kendrick also doubled and Martin drove in a run with a ground out.

Powering the Play It Again Sports-Expos offense were Gregory Hardy (3-for-3, including a double, three runs scored), Lamar Guy (2-for-2, one home run and one double, three runs scored, five RBI). Marcus Kendrick (one double, one single, two runs scored). Rodney Grant (one double, two runs scored, two RBI). Justin Britton (one double, three runs scored, one RBI). Nick Martin (one single, two runs scored, one RBI) and Gregory Belmont (two runs scored).

Mark Layton tripled and drove in the Railroaders-Cubs' run, while Tim Barkley singled and Matt Underwood scored the run.

The Sanford Free & Accepted Masons Lodge #62-Yankees' pitching was outstanding, striking out 11 Kid-U-Not, Inc.-Devil Rays batters, allowing one pop up, to the pitcher, and only one base runner. Travaria McGill reached on a two-out error in the top of the fourth inning.

Offensively, the Sanford Free & Accepted Masons Lodge #62-Yankees were consistent, scoring three runs in each of the first two innings and four runs in the bottom of the third inning, their last turn at bats before the game was ended by the run rule.

Jeff Downing had the big game, going 3-for-3 and scoring three runs.

Also contributing were Tom Quinn (two singles, two runs scored, one RBI). Josiah Kimmig (one double). Sergio Bryant (one single, three runs scored). Joey Guerra (one single) and Marcus Bullock and Dan Cohen (one run scored each).
