

Solons Fight Over Post

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The battle is a three-way race for assistant Senate Democratic leader, or whip. Senators from the classic divisional areas — New England, the Border country and the Deep South — are pitted against each other in the struggle.

At least 17 of the 20 Democratic senators from states of the old Confederacy are expected to support Sen. Russell B. Long, of Louisiana, in his campaign against Sen. John O. Pastore, of Rhode Island, and A. S. (Mike) Monroney, of Oklahoma.

It is not inconceivable that some of the Northern liberal vote might go to Long. There has been talk, for example, that Sen. Paul H. Douglas, of Illinois, might support the Louisiana legislator. Long, himself, is rather liberal except on civil rights matters, and civil rights is not expected to be a big issue any time soon.

Having most of the Southern votes in the bag, Long is attempting to keep the race away from a regional basis. But there are still regional angles to consider.

For one, the winner will move into an important congressional leadership position which would affect the fortunes of his own state and region.

For another, the winner will become a link in the Democratic leadership chain that confers weekly with the President. These meetings are difficult to beat for prestige purposes.

Southerners already boast two members of the group, Rep. Hale Boggs, of Louisiana, and the House whip, and Sen. George A. Smathers, of Florida, chairman of the Senate Democratic conference.

Long would add a third Southern voice to the small, select group that also includes Speaker John W. McCormack, House Democratic Leader Carl Albert, of Oklahoma; Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, of Montana, and Senate President pro tempore Carl Hayden, of Arizona.

This increased Southern prestige could be a talking point for Dixie Democrats in their re-election campaigns, and might go a long way toward winning back the Southern states which the Democrats lost to the GOP in November.

COUNTY RANGER Al Harris (center front) led a discussion meeting of area firemen to plan mutual aid services and co-ordinate work of the various departments. With him here are Chief Paul Bates (right) and Mayor Owen Amatey, of Casselberry; back, Ed Zimmerman, Laku Mary; Chief Howard Willoughby, Altamonte Springs; Chief William Hahn, North Orlando; Gordon Gibson, Geneva, and Chief Ken Swanson, Forest City. He served as chief of police in Oviedo for two years, 1943-45, under Mayor Joe Leinhardt and again in 1956. One expert expects that cigarette consumption during the last quarter of the year may even rise above 1963 consumption during the same period.

Why this apparent lack of concern by American smokers toward a habit which the surgeon general reported gave them a 70 per cent higher mortality rate than nonsmokers?

The main reason appears to be psychological.

"Smoking has always been viewed as a moral issue rather than a scientific or health issue," says one PHS scientist. "You might say it's an honorable way of dying."

"Let's say you eat too much rich food. You might die in your sleep because you're too fat. But people would still laugh at your obesity. But you're going down fighting if you die of lung cancer at 45. It's kind of like dying with your boots on."

Adds a PHS research specialist:

"Mental health people simply will not treat smoking as a priority psychological problem. If you're exploring tuberculosis, these barriers are easy to break down. But they think venereal disease is a more serious psychological health problem than smoking."

PHS scientists are not worried about their apparent failure to convince many smokers to kick the habit for good. "We're just kidding ourselves if we think we can lower the smoking rate overnight," says one. "What we've got to do is lower the incidence rate among teen-agers."

Reminder Issued On Holiday Mail

By Donna Estes
Longwood Postmaster William K. Bryant today requested patrons of the city post office to pack parcels solidly and reminded them that the use of free local and out-of-town separation bands will help move the mails more rapidly. The bands are available at the post office or from most carriers.

Bryant suggests that out of town packages be mailed by Dec. 5. A tightly packed parcel will have less chance of being damaged in transit, he advises and reminds that packages sent may be shipped on the bottom of a mail sack with heavier packages on top and improper wrapping can result in damage to the contents. To be on the safe side, Bryant suggests that all packages be insured.

He reports that poor packing and addressing, either incorrect or illegible, are responsible for the non-delivery of some half-million parcels each year. If the return address is incorrect or illegible, the package cannot be returned and is usually lost to the sender or intended recipient.

Such parcels wind up in a public auction held in 15 major post offices across the nation after a 90 day period.

All parcels should be addressed on one side only and should also have the address written on the inside of the package in the event the exterior wrapping should come off. Bryant emphasizes that zip coding parcels and letters helps insure against loss due to improper addressing.

Chas. Cockayne Outlines Aims As Town Marshal

Forest City Group To Elect New Officers

By Maryann Miles
Forest City Community Association will elect new officers and approve changes in by-laws at next Monday's 8 p.m. meeting at Bear Lake Elementary School.

Officers, as recommended by the nominating committee at the November meeting, are John Bethea, president; Allen Forward, first vice president; Murray Long, second vice president; Mrs. Esther Johnson, secretary and Adolph Juhl, treasurer. Directors are Leland Jacobs and Brian Rucker for district one and Marlin Roseman and Al Krenner for district two.

Nominations from the floor will be accepted at Monday night's meeting and election will be by ballot.

Nearly Year Since 'Black Saturday' Smoking Status Is Quo

By Tom Nolan
WASHINGTON (NEA) — It was shortly after 9 a.m. when Surgeon General Luther L. Terry breathlessly blurted out those few words which 70 million American smokers—many of them suspecting full well what was coming—desperately hoped they wouldn't hear:

"Cigarette smoking is a health hazard of sufficient importance in the United States to warrant appropriate remedial action."

That was January 11, 1964—a day since referred to by at least one cigarette manufacturer as "Black Saturday"—when the long-awaited much publicized report on smoking and health was released.

The intervening time has been a period of despondency followed by hope for the tobacco industry; of frenzy for research scientists hunting for a "safer" cigarette; of rear guard fighting by tobacco state legislators; of frustration for Public Health Service (PHS) officials charged with educating the American public on the dangers of smoking, and of nerve-racking agony for smokers who have tried to kick the habit.

It has also been a period of very slight change in the status quo.

Cigarette consumption in the United States has dropped by 16 billion since the first of the year. U. S. Agriculture Department's latest statistics show that 369 billion cigarettes were smoked in the first nine months of 1964, compared to 385 billion for the same period in 1963.

But 13 billion of the 16 billion dropped occurred in the first three months alone, with more modest declines of 1.5 billion in each of the next two quarters of the year. Tobacco experts speculate that many people who gave up cigarettes at the first impact of the surgeon general's report are now returning to the habit.

One expert expects that cigarette consumption during the last quarter of the year may even rise above 1963 consumption during the same period.

Why this apparent lack of concern by American smokers toward a habit which the surgeon general reported gave them a 70 per cent higher mortality rate than nonsmokers?

The main reason appears to be psychological.

"Smoking has always been viewed as a moral issue rather than a scientific or health issue," says one PHS scientist. "You might say it's an honorable way of dying."

"Let's say you eat too much rich food. You might die in your sleep because you're too fat. But people would still laugh at your obesity. But you're going down fighting if you die of lung cancer at 45. It's kind of like dying with your boots on."

Adds a PHS research specialist:

"Mental health people simply will not treat smoking as a priority psychological problem. If you're exploring tuberculosis, these barriers are easy to break down. But they think venereal disease is a more serious psychological health problem than smoking."

PHS scientists are not worried about their apparent failure to convince many smokers to kick the habit for good. "We're just kidding ourselves if we think we can lower the smoking rate overnight," says one. "What we've got to do is lower the incidence rate among teen-agers."

DRAG KNIGHT. "The Huffyless, Puffless Drag-on" of the American Cancer Society's educational film, wins an easy victory over Drag Goon (left). In real life the struggle has not been so one-sided.

But PHS efforts to get across to the country's youth the message that smoking can kill them have received major setbacks in the past few months.

First, PHS' request for $1.9 million in supplemental funds for cigarette education and research was turned down flat by the House of Representatives Appropriations Committee.

Calling this action "unbelievable submission to private economic interest," Sen. Maurine Neuberger, (D-Ore.), who pointed out the dangers of smoking in her book "Smoke Screen" before the surgeon general's report was complete, said:

"The tobacco industry itself, at least in its public utterances, has continued piously to call for further research, yet funds for research requested by the Public Health Service apparently have fallen victim to industry pressure."

PHS officials in the meantime tapped an emergency bureau fund of $260,000 to get their programs started, awarded ten grants to support studies relating to cigarette smoking and its effects on health.

PHS scientists were initially heartened when some 27 states set up interagency councils to study methods of smoking education. But many of these turned out to be organizations in name only.

"Some of these groups meet because they have concrete ideas to interchange. Others just meet because their bosses tell them to," says one PHS specialist.

A good many other councils adopted unrealistic goals (such as lowering the smoking rate by 10 per cent in six months), others had trouble co-ordinating the activities of such member agencies as American Medical Assn.,

Originally set for Jan. 1, 1965, the effective date was postponed at the request of Rep. Oren Harris, (D-Ark.), chairman of the House Interstate Commerce Committee.

Harris argued that legislation might be a faster route to effective regulation than an attempt by FTC to impose its planned rule on the tobacco industry. The FTC ruling, he argued, was certain to be challenged in court by the cigarette industry and the resulting litigation might be prolonged.

"It was a very nice, very respectful and very subtle argument," says one observer, "kind of like holding a gun to their heads."

FTC's postponement had the effect of leaving the final legislative decision in the hands of Harris' committee, where tobacco state representatives are numerous.

But PHS officials — openly admitting that their efforts in dealing with Congress this year were "hastily organized and unprofessionally handled" — have high hopes for 1965.

In the meantime, they point to two recent developments: —A report by two scientists of Arthur D. Little, Inc., an independent research organization, that activated charcoal filters may be removing some potentially harmful substances from cigarette smoke.

Shea Platform Wins Support Of Others

By Jane Casselberry

Casselberry candidates Curtis Blow for mayor and Blynn H. (Skip) Reiker and Donald E. Mounts for the board of aldermen today joined Darwin Shea in support of a seven-point platform as basis for their campaigns in Monday's municipal elections.

Shea's statement announcing his candidacy for one of the three posts open on the board, as printed in Monday's Herald, listed as the No. 1 item in the four-man agreement the fight to stop Sunday sales of alcoholic beverages in the town.

Other points are to provide adequate and proper recreation facilities; the licensing and bonding of contractors to protect local residents; improvement of roads; enforcement of safety laws; a monthly financial status report by the town to keep the people informed and appointment of a committee to develop a new town charter.

Blow, 44 years old native of Georgia, has lived in Florida for the past 21 years and in Casselberry for four years. He and wife, Rosa, live on Lake Ellen Drive and are parents of two children, one a student of the Citadel and the other residing in Monticello. He is a past master of Masons, a Shriner, an Elk and past president of the Casselberry Lions Club. He is a Baptist.

Reiker is 34 years old, lives at 145 Northmoore Road with wife, Shirley, and they have two daughters, Bonnie and Becky, who are students at South Seminole Junior High School, and a son, Rusty, a first grader at South Seminole Elementary.

He has lived in Central Florida for 14 years and came to Casselberry three years ago. He is a member of the Methodist Men's Club and of the Official Board of the Casselberry Community Methodist Church which he has served as treasurer.

Mounts has lived in Casselberry for one year, is married and the father of two children and lives on Queen's Mirror Circle.

He is a member of the Casselberry Community Methodist Church and of the Casselberry Lions Club.

Citizens Thank Rally Workers

By Donna Estes

Frank Fox, spokesman for a citizens group which sponsored a political street rally held in Longwood last Friday night, has expressed appreciation to Bill Tanner, the city police and the fire department for their assistance.

Fox particularly praised Tanner, who served as moderator for the rally, for the excellent manner in which he conducted the event. Flood lights and loud speaking equipment belonging to the fire department under their supervision and Police Chief Claude Lays, Patrolman Ken Brabazon and members of the Police Reserve were on hand to aid the group.

Coffee and cupcakes were baked and served the approximate 150 persons attending by Mrs. Fox, Mrs. Orland Fox, Mrs. Bill Dearolph, Mrs. Percy White, Mrs. Charles Sammett, Mrs. John Kennedy, Mrs. Tracy Estes, Mrs. Jerry Riley, Mrs. Clarence Schutt and Mrs. Joe Williamson.

'Bagman' Tells Of Many Favors In Baker Case

BOBBY BAKER

DON REYNOLDS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate rules committee's wide-ranging Bobby Baker investigation turned today to a $1,500 payment received by a former congressional employe from self-styled "bagman" Don B. Reynolds.

The committee planned to summon William N. McLeod, former chief clerk to the House District of Columbia committee, for questioning about the $1,500 he got from Reynolds.

Reynolds, an insurance man from suburban Silver Spring, Md., told the committee he paid the money for the "many favors" McLeod had done for him. These included helping shepherd through Congress in 1960 a bill authorizing construction of the $17 million D. C. Stadium.

Reynolds said he was the "bagman" for Democratic party payoffs in 1960, including $15,000 for the campaign chest of then Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson.

He said he served as the go-between in funneling up to $35,000 in alleged kickbacks from the D. C. Stadium contract to political campaign chest and to individuals, one of whom was Baker.

Funeral Notices

LOCKES, CAPT. EARLE T. — Funeral services for Capt. Earle T. Loucks, U. S. Army Retired, 75, who died today, will be held at 10:30 a. m. Friday at Wilson Funeral Home with Rev. Grover C. Sewell Jr., of First Presbyterian Church, Sanford, officiating. Burial will be in the Loucks family plot in Evergreen Cemetery, Sanford. It is requested that NO FLOWERS be given for this funeral.

SNYDER, PRISCILLA ANN — Funeral services for Priscilla Ann Snyder, 14 month old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Snyder, Lake Jessup, will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday at Stankow Funeral Home with Rev. H. H. Griffin of Elder Springs Baptist Church officiating. Burial will be in Oaklawn Memorial Park, Sanford.

Postmaster Cecile Heard reported today that the Post Office Department is confidently predicting the volume of mail during this year's Christmas rush will hit a record high.

"Actually," she said, "it's an easy prediction because mail volume has been rising at a rate of nearly three per cent a year for the past several years and this is most strongly reflected around the holiday season."

Well over 12 billion pieces of incoming and outgoing mail are expected to move through the system during December—with about 10 per cent of the year's mail moving in less than three weeks. The Sanford postmaster reported that public co-operation is one important reason that post offices around the country are able to handle this huge mountain of mail in such a short period.

"Without the assistance of the public, we'd be in a jam," she continued. "People who shop early and get their cards and parcels into the mails early make it possible for the holiday mail to be delivered on time. Imagine what it would be like if we were to get all the holiday mails the last week before Christmas."

In addition to early mailing, the postmaster had several other suggestions which will help the hard-working postal employes move this avalanche of mail. Use ZIP codes which help handle the mails faster because of a new distribution set-up. ZIP code also helps clerks to identify receiving post offices when addresses are hard to read. During this time of the year, the faster mail is processed the better chance it has to make connections with outgoing trains, planes and trucks.

It was also learned that the local post office has an ample supply of the new Christmas stamps to brighten up envelopes and parcels.

Earle T. Loucks Succumbs At 75

Capt. Earle T. Loucks, U. S. Regular Army Retired, 75, 717 Magnolia Ave., Sanford, died at Seminole Memorial Hospital Dec. 2.

He was born in Dunedin and lived in Sanford since 1929. He was a member of the First Presbyterian Church of Sanford. He was graduated from Yale with the class of 1912. He was formerly a Blue Lodge Mason in Oswego, N. Y., and formerly a Royal Arch Mason in Sanford.

For his service in World War I (in the A.E.F. in France), he received five medals including the Silver Star, The Purple Heart, and the Conspicuous Service Cross of the state of New York. He was retired from regular U. S. army because of disability in 1929, after 13 years of service with regular army. He joined the American Legion in November, 1919, when the Legion's Headquarters was in St. Louis, and while in Post No. 33 Sanford, he was Historian for 16 years, Department Executive Committee member for two years and District Delegate to Legion National conventions in Philadelphia, Los Angeles and Miami.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Margaret G. Loucks, Sanford.

Scout Troop 507 To Give Dinner

Boy Scout Troop 507 will sponsor a Spaghetti Dinner, Dec. 14, at Grace Methodist Church on Onora Road, between the hours of 5 and 7:30 p.m.

Tickets are on sale now by any of the members or leaders, at a nominal charge with special price for children's tickets. It is hoped that those planning to attend will buy early so that those in charge of the dinner can prepare in advance, but tickets also will be sold at the door.

Troop members are having a contest and the one who sells the most tickets will be awarded a badge for his efforts.

Adult leaders in charge are Scoutmaster Russ Kilner, and committee men, Buddy Williams, Lamar Williams, Clay Mamele, and Donald Jackson.

Wayfarers Meet
Delany Wayfarers, meeting in regular session at 2:30 p.m. Monday at the Community Center, will observe 25 Masonic Anniversaries and elect officers for 1965. All members are urged to attend.

"What in Blazes"
To Be Presented
In Enterprise

The P.T.C. of Enterprise School will sponsor a variety show, "What in Blazes" this Friday night at the school cafeteria. On Saturday night, Dec. 8, the same program will be presented at the Fire Hall in DeBary.

Proceeds from the show, which promises to be most entertaining, will be used to purchase library books to replace the ones burned in the school fire last summer.

Garden Circles

MAGNOLIA CIRCLE
The Magnolia Circle of the Garden Club of Sanford held the November meeting at Fellowship Hall of Pinecrest Church with the president, Mrs. S. L. Wiggins, calling the meeting to order. Various reports were given and brief announcements were made.

Highlight of the meeting was a workshop, conducted by Mrs. L. E. Leeper, a lady of many talents. Mrs. Leeper instructed the group in the making of the Christmas angels, recently featured in theazaar. A combination of old notions, glue and glitter was transformed into dainty angels, and a day of fun and fancy was had by all.

A sack luncheon was enjoyed with the hostesses, Mrs. A. H. Harris and Mrs. A. L. Hardesty, serving cookies and coffee to the Meses. Otto Borsdorf, W. L. Grambow Sr., F. J. Harris, R. W. Herron, H. B. Odham, H. H. Sherwood, G. H. Sykes, T. F. Taylor, V. M. Smith, Frank Lieske, Lucille Stone and a guest, Jean Norris.

Mrs. Richard Gleeson Hostess To Reception And Bridal Tea Feting Miss Martha Stemper

Splendor and elegance were depicted in entirety last Friday afternoon between the hours of 4 and 6 at the gracious Mayfair home of Mrs. Richard Gleeson was transformed into a charming reception area where over 100 guests assembled at an elaborate bridal tea honoring Miss Martha Stemper, lovely bride-elect of Richard Springstead.

Upon entering the living room, the guests viewed an eye-catching blue floral arrangement in a cut glass vase, topped with crystals at the base. Centering the mantle was a bouquet of assorted blossoms, and a magnificent arrangement of yellow chrysanthemums and autumn foliage was featured in the sun room.

Helen Gleeson graciously received the guests in a white silk frock accented with turquoise coin dots. The bride-elect received in an exciting afternoon, a cherry heather crepe dress with dyed-to-match lace shoes. Mrs. William Stemper, mother of the honoree, was attired in a stunning white lace sheath and her mother, Mrs. George Wells, Martha's grandmother, received in a navy and white dressy knit suit. Mrs. Frank Springstead, mother of the future bridegroom, from Brooksville, wore a smart white sheer wool sheath.

The hostess presented the honoree with a handsome silver gift and a corsage of ivory toned rose buds. Mrs. Stemper, Mrs. Wells and Mrs. Springstead also received lovely corsages of bronze pom-pom chrysanthemums from the hostess.

Centering the serving table, which was pictureque covered in sheer white linen featuring hand embroidery, was a five branched antique silver candelabra containing four glowing yellow tapered with yellow pom-pom chrysanthemums and fugi mums in the center. Zesty spiced tea was poured from antique silver service.

There are two tides in 24 hours—high and low.

Complementing the tea was a dainty and colorful tea table, crisper, meringues filled with cake, fruit cake, tea sandwiches and toasted pecans attractively arranged on silver trays and in cut glass compotes.

DeBary Personals

Mr. and Mrs. George Gerling of Smyrna Drive celebrated their 34th wedding anniversary Monday, Nov. 23, at an anniversary dinner with a few friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene (Bud) Davis went fishing in their special spot along the St. Johns River on Friday and Bud caught a 12-pound bass. Needless to say they enjoyed a nice fish dinner.

Dr. and Mrs. Paul Clay of 14 Camella Drive celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Nov. 25 with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Sherman, of Endwell, N. Y., and Mr. Sherman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Sherman, of Endicott, N. Y., who are visiting in DeBary.

Mr. and Mrs. James Noble Elliott of Lakewood Drive entertained their son-in-law and daughter, Major and Mrs. Charles Black, formerly of Hawaii, presently stationed at Fort McPherson in Atlanta, Ga., and their children, Elliott, Aileen and David. Joining the family group this week will be another son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Valmar, of St. Petersburg, and their children, Jon and Julie.

Mrs. Marion Roberts and Mrs. Julius Opiola, both of DeBary, have returned from a trip which took them to New Orleans, Natchez, Vicksburg, Memphis, Atlanta, Stone Mountain, Macon and Valdosta.

While in New Orleans they saw the burial of Bishop Rommel at St. Louis Cathedral, which was impressive. Mrs. Roberts celebrated her birthday Nov. 9 at the home of an old friend, Mrs. L.

They took side trips off the regular sightseeing routes and enjoyed their trips.

The Misses Kay and Dorthea Henninger of Valencia Road entertained at their home for Thanksgiving dinner the following guests: Mrs. A. Robello, Mrs. Jo Peck, Mrs. E. Unkles and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Lederhaus, all of DeBary, and Mr. and Mrs. E. Heppner of Daytona Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie MacNaughton of Homestead Avenue entertained old friends, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cottrell, from Andover, Mass., who are moving into their new home in DeBary on Lakeshore Drive.

DeBary Gardeners Will View Yule Film Friday

The DeBary Garden Club will meet at the Community Center Friday, Dec. 4, at 2 p.m. The program will feature a film, "The Spirit of Christmas," through the courtesy of Southern Bell Telephone Company.

A social hour will follow and the date of the Holiday Open House Tour will be announced. There will be a special table of Christmas articles for sale in the auditorium. Mrs. P. McQueen will preside and all members are urged to attend.

North Orlando Garden Club Announces December Plans

By Margaret Cundy
With the exception of the regular Village Council meeting on Tuesday, Dec. 8, at 7:30 p.m., in the Civic Building in the Recreation Area of North Orlando, the North Orlando Garden Club has at least one program scheduled for each week during the Christmas season.

On Tuesday, Dec. 2, the Executive Committee of the Garden Club meets at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 9, is the day the Awards Committee makes its inspection tour of the community to determine the December Garden of the Month.

Regular meeting of the Garden Club is Thursday, Dec. 10, 7:30 p.m., at the home of Mrs. Jessie Wallace, 30 South Edgemoon Avenue. A gala evening is planned with a display of the members' 1964 Christmas creations. Awards will be presented for beauty and originality.

Annual Christmas dinner party for members and their husbands is scheduled for Friday, Dec. 18, at 7:30 p.m. With the approval of the membership, the dinner will be at the Capri Restaurant in Sanford.

A big time for the North Orlando youngsters will be the arrival of Santa Claus on Sunday afternoon, Dec. 20. Through the efforts of the Garden Club, he will be on hand and have gifts for all the young children in the community.

On Tuesday of Christmas week, Dec. 22, the Garden Club will send out its committee to judge the outdoor Christmas displays in the community. Prizes will be awarded.

The yellow color of meringue is added by carotene. Natural sources of carotene include carrots and other deep yellow vegetables and fruits.

Shirley Barrington Crowned 'Miss Youth On Parade'

By Robert B. Thomas Jr. 333-4755

St. W. Willie M. Hatch Jr. recently transferred to the Fleet Reserve from the U. S. Navy. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Hatch, of Newbern, N. C., he is married to the former Ruth Allen of this city.

Hatch has been in the Navy since 1942. He has served at numerous Naval stations, including duty aboard USS Shampain-La. USS Coral Sea, and USS Essex. Since November of 1963, he has been stationed at the U. S. Naval Supply Corps School, Atlanta, Ga.

Now that he has transferred to the Fleet Reserve, he will return to Sanford with his wife and four daughters. Brenda, in her senior year at Tennessee A and I University; Laverna sophomore at Volusia County Community College, and Gail and Linda, attending Crooms High School.

SHIRLEY BARRINGTON
... Miss Youth on Parade

Celestine Roach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anderson Roach, of Dade City, is doing her internship teaching at Goldenrod Elementary School. She is a senior at Bethune Cookman College, Daytona Beach, where she is a member of Bethune's well known chorus and YWCA.

Ulysses Brown is the newest addition to Crooms' faculty. A graduate of Florida A and M University, he teaches Civics.

The eighth grade class of Midway Elementary School and Principal William L. Hamilton visited with Judge C. Vernon Mize and Juvenile Counselor C. E. McCord. "It was most interesting," remarked principal Hamilton.

It is back to the books for Reginald McGill, Linda Merthis, Cynthia Alma Clark, Helen Starke, Edgar Robinson, Edgar Bass and Leroy Kendrick, all of Florida A and M University, who spent the Thanksgiving holidays with their families.

Mrs. Mary M. Burke and children, Alton III, Bonny, Carol and Terri, of Rochester, are here to attend the funeral of Mrs. Sara Burke, which will be held Sunday, Lucius and William Burke, brothers of Alton Burk Sr. also are here. Lucius resides in Rochester while Wilmer is a resident of Belle Glade.

Local Baritone To Be Featured

Gerald Covington, Sanford baritone, will sing the part of the giant in "Jack and the Beanstalk" in the third presentation of the Children's Concert Series by the Florida Symphony Orchestra.

First concert is scheduled for Dec. 28 in Orlando Municipal Auditorium. The ballet "Coppelia" will be performed by the Royal School of Dance.

On Jan. 9 the series will present Basil Rathbone, movie and television star, who will narrate "Peter and the Wolf." "Jack and the Beanstalk" will be heard Jan. 23 at 2:30 p.m.

The Children's Concert Series, now in its third year, is sponsored by the associate board of directors of the Florida Symphony. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mebane, of Sanford, are members of the board and tickets for the Children's Concert Series may be obtained from Mrs. Mebane.

Survey Reveals 'Less Patience'

NEW YORK (UPI)—A political group known as the Affiliated Young Democrats which for some obscure reason conducts annual tests to determine the decibel count on ear horn blowing in the city has completed this year's survey.

Conclusion: "Automobile drivers today have less patience than ever before and blow the horn at the slightest provocation."

It also concluded the reason for the increasing crescendo of claxonphony is nervous tension brought on by traffic jams.

gress of Mt. Zion Northeast Coast Association convened with St. Mark Baptist Church, Mason Hill, last Saturday. Youth on Parade was held at 3 p. m. New Mt. Calvary Missionary Baptist Church youth won the banner for having the greatest number in attendance. Shirley Barrington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Barrington Sr., was crowned "Miss Youth on Parade" for the year 1964-65. Mrs. Julia Davis is director of Junior activities. Rev. N. A. Watson is pastor.

Hats off to the students of Crooms High School. They are to be commended for their efforts in donating items for their Annual Student Council project of giving Thanksgiving baskets to the needy. Mrs. E. J. Eubanks and her section of the 10th grade presented 107 items to the council thus taking the annual award.

There will be a Men's Day program at the Church of God Sunday at 3 p. m. Dr. G. H. Starke will be the speaker for the occasion. The general public is cordially invited. Rev. L. D. Deveaux is pastor.

"Whatever serves rather directly a deep emotional need is apt to make for strong and sound motivation in learning, for in all probability all reasoning processes have emotional moorings."

This was the conclusion reached by a group of experimental psychologists at Sarah Lawrence College.

Dr. George Willard Fraser, president Emeritus of Colorado State college of education and lecturer in education, has this to say about emotions and learning. "If a child works with joy, understanding, interest, and willingness and views his work with satisfaction, real learning is taking place. But if he is driven to an uninteresting task, if he approaches it with fear, dread, disinterestedness, anger and compulsion, the results are likely to be without value. The wise teacher knows about emotions and how to use them."

Highlights TV Time Previews

TV Time's Show of the Night: 7:30-8:30 p. m. CBS. "Five Faces of Tokyo." One of the most fascinating cities in the world comes under the scrutiny of the CBS News camera, which examines its many facets from a variety of viewpoints: an industrialist, a women's rights leader, a maker of floor mats, a middle-class worker and a factory hand. Their attitudes are naturally quite different and coupled with some excellent photography make this a surprisingly revealing study of a complex metropolis.

7:30-9 p. m. NBC. The Virginian "A Gallows for Sam Horn." (Color) This one might be classified as a western Perry Mason, except it isn't as slickly contrived. It's a murder mystery with what appears to be an open-and-shut case against the accused. But working Judge Garth himself and saluting the aid of his staff, there is hope that justice may yet triumph.

8:30-9 p. m. ABC. Shindig. Enjoy this show while you can, while it's still only a half hour. Warning: It will go to an hour shortly which will probably mean more exposure to the likes of Freddie Cannon, The Righteous Brothers, The Blossoms, Donna Loren, The Chambers Brothers, Bobby Vinton and Bobby Sherman, who take up most of tonight's pulsating teen-age aimed musical orgy.

9:30 p. m. CBS. Dick Van Dyke Show "It Wouldn't Hurt Them to Give Us a Raise." Buddy and Sally think they deserve a raise, but when Rob acts as their spokesman, he gets a raise instead. The show is buried in a hilarious welter of financial mumbo-jumbo

Jacoby On Bridge By Oswald Jacoby

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. The United States took the lead back from Italy, on board eight of the World Bridge Olympiad when Arthur Robinson found five hearts and Vic Mitchell found a defense to beat the same contract at the other table.

The queen of diamonds was opened against Arthur. He promptly discarded his king of spades on dummy's second high diamond and led the singleton club.

East won with the queen and led a trump. Arthur rose with the ace and noted the bad trump break with some slight displeasure. Then he ruffed a club in dummy, ruffed a diamond in his own hand to drop West's jack, ruffed his next to last club and led a good diamond. At the same time, he showed his hand with the explanation that if East ruffed, he would concede a club trick while if East didn't ruff he would discard his last club and concede a trump trick. At the other table, South opened with one heart and eventually wound up at the same five-heart contract. Vic opened the ace of spades and after mature deliberation shifted to the five of diamonds. South could have finessed the nine, but he wasn't looking at all the cards so he rose with dummy's ace.

Then he led a club. Sam Stayman went up with the queen and led a trump. Once more, South had a chance to make a play that would have required a good look at the East and West hands, but South rose with the ace of hearts.

From that point on, he had no way to make the hand. If you want to have some fun, see if you can make the hand against any play but a diamond at trick two. You can, but it is very tough.

Beauty after Forty
EDYTH THORNTON MCLEOD

"I am very overweight, so I wrote for your 'Diet and Exercise' booklet and found it really made sense—but I have no will power and maybe no sense. I cannot stick to the diet or do the exercises, although I admit they are simple and I know they have helped several friends of mine. What shall I do?—N. H."

You are wasting time to sit and write letters; you know what my answer will be. If you are to be happy and healthy, you must get rid of excess weight. Either you wait until you need a doctor or do it now by yourself and with the knowledge that you can be helped and can feel younger, and look it, too.

"I have knitted a pink wool sheath for my daughter and now she does not want it. I am fifty, slender and tall. Would a pink suit look foolish on me? I am rather conservative. My coat is black, a nice soft wool, and all my accessories are black—'Momm'.

It is time "Momm" wore something bright and pretty. Wear the pink suit at once. Nothing is smarter with pink than black—so what are you waiting for? You could match your lipstick to the pink shade of the dress—try it! Maybe your daughter will want the dress back, but don't give it to her. Have fun and wear it! "My husband and I are celebrating his retirement by taking a cruise to tropical places in March. He is a big man and hates to "dress up," but will if he sees no alternative. Would it be bad taste if he does not have a tuxedo for the cruise? It is an expensive one and a very well-known ship. I am taking several dinner dresses.—Reader.

You and your husband would feel very much out of things if he failed to "dress" for dinner, especially when there is the "Captain's Dinner." Send him to the local men's shop and have them fit him out with a tuxedo (dinner suit) and also a white jacket. He can wear the trousers to the suit with this. Have them select the proper shirt, etc. He will like himself. I feel sure, and so will you! Be sure to take comfortable shoes for on-shore trips and suitable cotton or "drip dry" dresses.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My problem is a very dear friend whom I've had for many years. She recently let her husband and lives alone with her small dog. When my husband is on the road, I invite her to spend the night with me. We have a one - bedroom apartment with a large double bed. This friend lets her dog sleep with her at home, so naturally when she's here she does the same. I fixed up a "bed" for the dog on the floor, but he wouldn't sleep there. My bed has begun to take on a doggy smell and my husband is complaining. My friend is very sensitive so I have to be careful not to say anything that might hurt her feelings. What can I do? I wouldn't give up my friendship for the world.

TRUE FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: If your friend enjoys sleeping with her dog, that's HER business. And if you don't mind sleeping with her AND her dog, that's your business. But you owe your husband more than you owe your friend, and if you don't know that, you belong in the doghouse. I admire your loyalty, but your husband's complaint is legitimate, so tell your friend she can't have her dog in YOUR bed, or you'll "lose" YOUR husband.

DEAR ABBY: Is there anything wrong with a girl going with a man who is LEGALLY separated from his wife? I am almost 19 and my parents have told me that they do not want me to go out with this perfectly wonderful man (he is 37) because, as far as they are concerned, he is still MARRIED and will be until he is DIVORCED. They say I will hurt my reputation if I am seen with him. Abby, he is working on getting a divorce and he says that he is sure he can get one eventually, so I don't see WHY I shouldn't date him in the meantime. I would like your opinion.

TROUBLE AT HOME

DEAR TROUBLE: If you have marriage in mind, you could wait a long time before this man's divorce comes through. And it may never happen. Your parents are thinking of your welfare and future happiness. I agree with them.

DEAR ABBY: I am 21 and am engaged to a young man who is away in the service. I work and keep myself busy and would never think of going out on him, but I get many chances. My fiancé could not afford to buy me an engagement ring, but that didn't matter. We love each other and have plans to marry as soon as he gets back. My problem is trying to convince other men that I am engaged. They say that since I have no ring I am NOT engaged, and if I don't want to go out with them why don't I just say so? Does a girl need an engagement ring to be officially engaged? How can I convince these persistent men?

ENGAGED BUT RINGLESS

DEAR RINGLESS: Ring or no ring, if you and your young man have agreed to marry, you are indeed officially engaged. It's not necessary to convince anyone that you are engaged. Just convince them that you aren't interested in dating them.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "C" at HALL HIGH: A good friend of mine said, "A team is where a boy can prove his courage on his own. A gang is where a coward goes to hide." The friend is an authority on teams. He is Mickey Mantle.

We The Women: By Ruth Millett

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. "Nine out of 10 girls in school today may expect to spend 25 years or more in paid work outside the home." So says the National Manpower Council.

Are parents and high schools doing all that they can to make girls accept that fact? Obviously not, or so many girls wouldn't drop out of high school to marry, or give up a chance at a college education in favor of a wedding ring.

The sad truth is that girls today for the most part tend to ignore the cold fact that chances are they will have to get out and earn a living, or help a husband earn it.

So they don't see the necessity for getting as much education as possible if their main aim in life is to get a husband.

"I don't believe in a wife's working," some of them say glibly. "When I marry I'm going to have a big family and stay at home and take care of my children."

That's nice for a woman, if she can manage it. But big families cost money—often more money than a husband can earn—and so eventually the stay-at-home wife finds herself a working wife.

Too, with divorce as frequent as it is today there is always the possibility that a wife will find herself with several children and, suddenly, no husband.

Other things can happen, too. A woman may be widowed at any age. Or she may find that she is the only breadwinner if the husband is unable to work, due to illness or accident.

All kinds of things can upset the rosy dream of a teenager of marrying Mr. Right and never having to worry her pretty head about earning a pay check.

It would be a kind thing if parents and teachers would always answer a girl's confident announcement that she intends to be a full-time homemaker with, "Fine—if it works out that way for you. But it's 9 to 1 that you'll spend at least 25 years working for a pay check."

"So, while you are thinking about marriage you had better be thinking, too, about how you want to earn that pay check."

Horoscope Forecast

THURSDAY, DEC. 2, 1964
GENERAL TENDENCIES:

Today's waning moon strongly suggests that you quickly and effectively wind up what ever you just have not had the time to complete ere this. Settle distant matters now.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Stop procrastinating and get at those letters that will clear up some long-existing problems. Concentrate upon the important things. Forget all that penny-ante nonsense.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Get at those important duties now when you do not have to have them interfere with other vital matters. Go over your books—know your true position. Clear up that love affair, too.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Associates may seem to be crochety, but remember that there are serious matters for them to handle. Don't show animosity. Clear up any misunderstandings with others quickly now.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) While fast progress at work is not possible now, steady effort still produces a good deal more than you anticipated. Forget irritability of associates. Keep working.

LEO (July 22 to August 21) Keep your nose to the grindstone and forget that dangerous little jaunt you had thought about. Be sure that the unreliable will be the first to condemn. Be a good influence instead.

VIRGO (August 22 to September 21) Fundamental affairs need handling, but you don't seem to be in the mood. Be practical and use will power. They are important. Give true loyalty to closest of kin.

LIBRA (September 22 to October 21) This is one of those funny days when everyone could get feelings hurt, if you do not think before you speak. Don't criticize. Remain silent whenever possible.

SCORPIO (October 22 to November 21) Hurry and get obligations behind you, and realize that nobody gets anything for nothing in this world. Plan a budget for your financial affairs. Stop using the hit-or-miss method.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) Count the good things in your life instead of concentrating on what you think is lack. Take vitamins and improve your vitality, if needed. Stop dreaming—get on the beam.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20) You have been procrastinating where some personal matters are concerned, and now is the time to get rid of them. Increase good will from others. Assist the needy ones.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19) Instead of being a back-biter at odd moments, be sure you are loyal to good friends. Put away that sarcasm. Gad about socially and see how much you are wanted by others. Be friendly, warm.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20) You can rid yourself of all that pressure now being used if you seriously get down to duties that are exclusively yours. Big-wigs will appreciate you more. Get ahead faster.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY, he or she will be one of those individuals who early will seem to want to become interested in outlets and persons alien to those about in own environment, so it becomes necessary that you inculcate the finest spiritual and practical, ethical tenets possible. Give a good grounding in foreign languages and an opportunity to travel early in life.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Agricultural Conservation Plan Opened

The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County committee announces the opening of the 1965 agricultural conservation program. Applications for cost-sharing under the program will be accepted through Jan. 15.

This is a nation wide program, is entirely voluntary, and is designed to help farmers and ranchers establish needed conservation practices on their farms. Payment, depending upon funds available in the county, is made to farmers, ranchers, and growers who sign up and carry out these practices according to specifications.

It will be of special interest to those who plan to do pasture work, apply dolomite or hi calcium limestone on pastures, or on legume cover crops on cropland or groves, plant pine seedlings, construct fire lanes, construct wells or ponds in pastures for livestock water, and plant legume cover crops in groves or on cropland during the coming year. Cost-shares are likewise provided to construct drainage systems consisting of open ditches or underground drainage, and also dikes. Technical assistance is provided by the Soil Conservation Service and by the Florida Forest Service.

For complete information contact the County Agricultural Center Monday and Tuesday of each week.

Extension Club Hears Report On New Officers

A new slate of officers for the DeBary Extension Homemakers Club was reported at last week's meeting of the group held at the Community Center.

Named are Mrs. Isabel Rarrick, president; Mrs. Jewel Crooks, vice president; Mrs. A. Mossel, secretary and Mrs. C. Schless, treasurer.

Plans for the Dec. 17 Christmas Party to be held at the Center were announced to include a grab bag with each member to bring a 25 cent gift for this purpose.

Finished articles made by the women are to be brought for display starting at 10:30 a. m. Beverage and dessert will be supplied by the hostess committee for the sandwich lunch to be brought by each member attending.

Workshop for last week's meeting convened at 10 a. m. with members working on holiday projects under direction of Mrs. Maude Ritter, president. The afternoon program was presented by Mrs. Anthony Opper and was entitled "Understanding Yourself and Family Life."

The dolphin was a symbol of love and diligence, or speed, to early Christians.

Strikes . . . Spares

By John A. Spohld
Signs of our times! This Friday night, we'll have our first spares night.

This is an event we've been looking forward to for the past couple of years and our thumbs go to hard-working Sue Jackson of the Sand Spares League.

At 8 p.m. all team captains will have their sponsor's on hand for free cake and coffee and introduce them to their team members. In addition, each of these fine folks will be introduced to everyone of the team.

I hope other leagues will follow suit. If planned properly it could become a mutual admiration society.

A reminder to 'kids' of the Saturday morning league! Your special tournament will be held Dec. 12. More details at the league this week.

Have you heard talk of a high school intramural bowling league starting soon? Looks like there's an awful lot of interest in this group out at the Seminole High School.

According to informants there are already over 70 names listed as being interested in joining this league. Special rates will be offered to those young bowlers, both boys and girls.

That turkey promotion went over so well for the Women's Bowling Association (who raised over $125 for the blind of the Bowler's Victory Legion) that we'll soon announce our own program which'll not only include turkeys but also ham and liquid refreshments.

Saturday night winners of moonlight bowling were Doug Owens for the men (lantern) and Helen Huxton was high for the women with a travel iron as her prize.

The Thanksgiving Holiday weekend showed its effect with a few less than normal competing in the Sunday Scotch doubles tourney.

Borms like people with names of Pierra, Parella, and Schautteet are having an easy time of stepping into the winners' circle. These folks have been winners more than once in the S.D.'s.

First place went to John Pierra and Marion Parella with their 942 series, including handicaps; second was won by Doris and Frank Schautteet, 918 series.

trounced quite regularly by my wife and to add 'frosting' my 11-year-old Kevin doesn't find it very difficult to beat dear old dad, either.

This past Saturday, little 6-year-old Johnny Spitt-shi had games of 77, 80 and 58. The ball weighs ten pounds. Soaking wet, Johnny must hit around 30! (Yeah, I know — it's not too far away unless he starts shacking me!)

There was excellent bowling done by these youngsters this past week, in both divisions of juniors and youngsters.

First off, John Boggs led everyone with his 225 scratch game, plus his 678 three-game series. Congratulations, John! Others rolling well are the juniors including John Smith 177, Ralph Unger 178, Jim Woods 187, Rob Jones 177, Billy Martin 178, Mike Seary 188, Billy Callan 184, Jerry Smith 186, Bob Driscoll 189 and 188 and David Carter with a 159.

For those under 12, we identify them as our hasty bowlers. These are the week's hot shots: Harold Johnson 145, Gary Almond 140, Kevin Spolaki 179/506.

The Tuesday Businessmen's League watched as Al Chaffin tossed a 222, league high single, for Lance Male Jack Kanner walked home the series winner with his 570 set.

Others making the charmed circle were Paul Marcotte 209, Atlantic Coast Line's Willis with a 203 and Doug Owens of Glas Met, with a 201.

It was a shining hour for Beverly and Joan Adams (no relation) in the Shooting Star League at Jet Lanes as they rolled big 200-plus games in the first game of their league matches. The first roar went up as Joan strung out five strikes in a row for a big 222 game and shortly after another one went up for Beverly bowling on another pair of lanes as her nice 218 effort was posted on the score projector.

Joan's fine rolling enabled her Dennis and Martinale team to sweep all four points from the Mebane Oil Co. team and vault into first place in the league. Dot Johnson came through with a good 170/450 for the Mebane team. Shepard's Oil took all four from Gassman's Studio to take a firmer hold on third place as Gladys Edwards rolled a 468 series.

Pancho's Mexican Foods team grabbed three points from the Lellani House of Beauty, thanks to the combined efforts of Nancy Conway with a 192/451, Mardell Gonterman's 162 and Nora Jagger's 165. Jane Waine hit a 163 game and Beverly Adams scored an even 600 series to go with her 218 game. Joan Adams series totaled out to 513.

Plans Finalized For Ellsworth Visit To Oviedo

Maine Five Tackle Lions In Yule Tilts

By Julian Stromstrom
Final plans were made today for the visit of the Ellsworth High School basketball quintet, champions of the state of Maine, to Seminoles County during the Christmas holidays for a pair of games with the Oviedo High Lions.

The only team left to be obtained is approval by the national high school group for the two-game series.

The Ellsworth team is scheduled to meet the Lions in the first game Dec. 23, in the Fleming Memorial Gymnasium at the Seminoles County Chamber of Commerce.

Following the series, the club will head north at 2:35 p. m. Dec. 31.

Members of the Ellsworth quintet making the trip are Bruce Brasky, Steve Beatham, Larry Gross, John Whitmore, Gregg Stanley, John Linnehan, John Royal, John Patros, Wayne Mayo, Jim Marcus and Mark Nash.

Ellsworth is a town of some 4,500 residents but it has been noted for the quality of its high school cage teams.

It has also been announced that WDEA of Ellsworth will tape play-by-play accounts of the games for rebroadcast in Maine.

'Pick-a-Winner' Winners Named

With the last two Sanford Herald "Pick-a-Winner" football contests finally completed, Contest Director Roy Green today announced the winners.

Basketball season will get into full swing at Seminole High School Friday night when Meek Blythe's varsity cagers go into action against the Mainland High Buccaneers of Daytona Beach in SHS Fleming Gym.

The tilt with Mainland is one of the four non-Metro contests the Tribe will play this season. They also meet Lyman and cross county rivals DeLand, Titusville and New Smyrna Beach.

In all, the Tribe will play in 18 games, 14 of which will be Metro Conference affairs.

JayVee Coach Ralph Stump, last season's head basketball mentor at SHS is working with the younger boys and has been preparing his squad for rough action against Mainland.

Oviedo Lions Take Drubbing

By Marshall Lingo
ORLANDO — The Oviedo High Lions lifted the curtain on the 1964-65 basketball season last night and took a 94 to 25 beating from Colonial High here in a contest which saw the Grenadier varsity throw a ceaseless attack at what at best was the Lions' junior varsity five.

The Lions, without the services of at least four starters who are still engaged in football and preparing for the school's Rainbow Bowl tilt Friday night in Dunnellon, were almost helpless before the hard charging Grenadiers.

Colonial sprang to a 26 to 5 lead during the first period, added 23 more in the second and led the Lions 49 to 11 at the intermission. Oviedo gathered in seven points in each of the two final periods while the Orlando quintet sank 23 in the third and 22 more in the fourth frame. Mike Partin got nine of Oviedo's 25 points.

Hurricanes Dump Braves 48 - To - 33

By Jim Macchus
South Seminole Junior High's Hurricanes wrapped up their second victory in two starts this season when they dumped the Sanford Junior High Braves by a score of 48 to 33 in a contest at Lyman High Gymnasium in Longwood.

Bruce Stuart, a Hurricane forward, paced the South Seminole quintet with 18 points in a contest which proved to be a battle until the Hurricanes blew the game wide open in the final period with a 21-point scoring spree.

Sanford took a first period lead over the South Seminole five by racking up 11 points in the opening stanza and holding the Hurricanes to 10. But South Seminole led at intermission by an 18-13 margin.

Following Stuart in the scoring department was Jim Lucas with a dozen, Mike Hargin with nine, Matt Kickok seven and Brant Rose four. Lucas did not start the contest and was not even expected to play because of illness. However, the youngster replaced

'Eggheads,' Too

ATLANTA (UPI) — Vanderbilt University not only may have the best basketball team in the South—it also may have the smartest.

Youthful coach Roy Skinner explains that at Vanderbilt, where the emphasis is more on academics than athletics, prospects are required to make 250 more points on the College Board tests than the minimum set by the Southeastern Conference.

"It keeps going up every year," Skinner said. "Several of the boys on our team would not be able to get into school if they were starting next fall. Our current freshmen averaged 1,200 on the entrance exam—450 above the conference minimum."

Skinner points out that this insistence on high academic proficiency is making his recruiting job extremely tough. "We had one hot prospect already signed—then lost him in the exam."

When Vanderbilt scouts get wind of a good high school player, they head first for his principal's office and check on his grades.

"He can be averaging 80 points per game out on that basketball court, but if he doesn't have at least a B average we would be wasting time trying to sign him up," Skinner said.

Despite this problem, Vanderbilt has done a pretty good recruiting job in the past few years.

"I remain at least that high throughout the season."

The Commodores posted a 19-9 mark last year. They were 17-2 going into mid-February, then lost four of their last six games.

"We were inexperienced last season," Skinner said. "We came down the stretch, mainly on the road, without a senior playing regularly. The boys were tired and the pressure got to them."

The fact that there was only one senior on last year's team, and he a seldom used reserve, points out why Vanderbilt is expected to be a power this time. All five starters and four other lettermen re-

We'll Pay You $5 JUST FOR LOOKING

(And You Don't Even Have To Buy From Us!)

You may think there's a string attached to this. As usual, you're right. You only get the $5 if you are a bona fide car buyer.

How do we know if you're bona fide? Easy. If you come in and let our salesman show you our cars, and then buy a new car from any dealer between the time you see our salesman and January 1, 1965, bring the car, your sales invoice, and our salesman's card in and we'll hand you $5.

It's not because we're generous. It's just that if you are about to buy a car, it's worth $5 to us for a chance to talk to you. We're confident that we can fill your need, somewhere between a Corvair and a Cadillac.

And of course you get the $5 when you buy from us. Just ask for it.

Progress Walks

Toronto, Canada, may become famous as the first town that really rolls up its sidewalks at night.

The metropolis is far from being the sleepy, provincial village this old joke applies to, of course, and it won't literally roll up its sidewalks and not necessarily at night.

But faced with the job of replacing 400 miles of deteriorating sidewalks, the Toronto City Works Department is going to experiment with portable sidewalks.

These will be precast concrete sections which can be lifted and stacked to one side for the repair or installation of sewer and utility lines and then replaced.

All city dwellers will wish the experiment success. Imagine sidewalk repairs without the nerve-racking sound of jack hammers. Progress can be wonderful.

A Bigger Boom

Dr. Ralph E. Lapp, the nuclear physicist whose family fallout shelter was destroyed by a forest fire a few years ago, has come up with some cheering advice on how to make the Red Chinese all fall down and go boom.

He points out that China, with its huge population and area and absence of concentrated industrial centers, could absorb more punishment than could be inflicted by America's relatively small missile-borne nuclear warheads.

What we need for real deterrent value, he says, is a big, "dirty" bomb—one that could wipe out many of China's 700 million people and their food supply.

Although Dr. Lapp, who is sincerely interested only in atomizing as many Chinese as efficiently as possible, does not say this, there are also sound economic reasons for turning back the clock of civilization.

Big bombs require big bombers to carry them. This would mean a new lease on life for the manned bomber fleet. We might have to start building new ones. That would mean contracts, employment, pay checks.

Aviation Week magazine suggest another argument: The threat of bombers would force Red China to put much of its energy into developing an air defensive system at the expense of offensive weapons.

The government, pooh-poohing Red China's explosion, has assured us it will be at least 10 years before they have the means to deliver any bombs. It might even be 15.

Thought For Today

Even so, I tell you, there will be more joy in heaven over one sinner who repents than over ninety-nine righteous persons who need no repentance.—Luke 15:7.

The sheep was not lost because it got in the thicket but because it had been separated from the shepherd.—Arthur L. Miller.

The Church Architecture

"I like a church that looks like a church." This casual and frequent remark is the popular expression of an attitude that has done much to stifle creative church architecture in the United States.

A careful study of art history reveals that there is no simple formula describing "what a church looks like."

The greatest periods of church architecture demonstrate a capacity for change, an awareness of dynamic engineering principles, and a receptivity to new materials.

Therefore, the history of church architecture embraces such varied forms as the ancient Roman basilica, the soaring Gothic cathedral, and

By James A. McLean
Art Department
LaGrange College

Le Corbusier's contemporary church at Ronchamp, France. A creative architectural period is one which is honest and courageous enough to develop forms in keeping with its own needs and vision. The continuing struggle for honesty and relevance in architecture is in keeping with the concept of a Creator who is yet alive and who still holds his children responsible for their use of freedom.

The average congregation "on the corner" is often alienated from this exciting quest for vital architecture. The like a church that looks like a church" stance has created a climate in which the bland stereotype can easily be substituted for honest soul-searching. This stereotype usually consists of a sanctuary complete with ever-present columns and steeple, a rote-like imitation of forms without the principles that once gave them meaning.

The Christian Church has a great heritage of architecture and literature which can help to give valid insights into the self-awareness necessary for contemporary living. It is one thing to respect and heed this tradition in dealing with current problems. It is quite another to use this tradition as an escape from present responsibilities and the risk of new commitments.

The Christian Church has its roots in the past. This can be a source of great strength. Insights from the past can indeed illumine today's decisions. But the Church also exists in the present. It addresses itself to life in the Twentieth Century. Church architecture should reflect this involvement in the life of contemporary man.

The Church wants to proclaim its relevance to every aspect of man's existence, but its imitation buildings and borrowed facades more often suggest the museum, or the antique shop—houses of relics. The stereotyped church building on the American landscape is more of a testimony to the cult of mediocrity and conformity than to a dynamic understanding of life. The very buildings that seek to proclaim that God is Life often speak more loudly of death.

There is something fraudulent about using the technical ingenuity of this century merely to reproduce copies of past architectural monuments. A small Greek temple is beautiful in its native context, but it becomes a spectacularly shallow stage-set when it is removed from that context, blown out-of-proportion, and made to house activities alien to its original purpose.

Christianity's initial, and continuing, rejection of moral legalism ought to carry builders beyond the deadening impact of architectural legalism. This is not a condemnation of tradition. It is a challenge to transform the insights of tradition by letting them speak through forms which are characteristic of this century.

This appeal for contemporary church architecture is not a defense of newness for the sake of newness. It is certainly not an appeal in behalf of the latest flashy and often sterile "fads" in building. But it is a challenge for the Church to have faith in the NOW, a challenge for the fellowship of believers to gratefully acknowledge an abundance of new building materials and insights, a challenge for them to use the forms and materials of their own time in their praise of the Creator.

Political Notebook

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The mood here is for an attack on North Viet Nam.

I find this among military and civilians at the Pentagon and the State Department and among some men close to the White House.

The decision to attack the north has not been made officially.

At President Johnson's order, teams of three men in the Pentagon and the State Department have been working 18 hours a day, seven days a week to get recommendations ready by the time Ambassador Maxwell Taylor returned from Saigon.

Until recently, some of these same men insisted that attacking the north would do little or no good.

How to carry out any attack hasn't been agreed on. Some officials and officers argue for bombings. They have the targets picked. They've decided on the planes and the units to do the job.

Others argue for a sharp increase in agent penetration. Some agents would have immediate objectives, bombings, sabotage, propaganda — for quick effect. Most of these men would quickly be captured and killed, but it's argued they'd do considerable psychological damage. Other agents would infiltrate deep into North Viet Nam and lie low. Their missions would be a year or two off. Their work could eventually pay off heavily in sabotage, destruction and disaffection.

Some officials want to beef up loyal Laotian attacks on North Viet Nam's Laotian "volunteers," heat up that war to keep Hanoi preoccupied.

Others argue for a strong naval blockade combined with attacks on supply depots.

Most officials I've talked to want a staged attack. Do a little, wait and see what happens, then do a little more. This gives Red Ho Chi Minh a chance to think and gives us time to watch for Red China's reactions.

Some favor timing the attacks to new Red incidents, such as the Tonkin Gulf affair in which U. S. warships were rushed by Red torpedo boats.

Others insist that attacks on the north should be timed so as to best help the new Saigon government. These differences are tactical. I found no officials or officers I talked to against an attack, except one who suggested we ought to look for some way to get out of Viet Nam altogether.

Phil Newsom Says . . .

British Mart Slides

Since Britain's Labor party won its narrow victory in the Oct. 15 elections, the British stock market has been sliding downward.

By the end of last week, the British pound sterling also was under selling pressures and there was speculation that the pound would be devalued for the first time since another Labor government did it in 1949.

At that time the government led by Clement Attlee cut the pound from $4.03 to its present $2.80.

British market analysts said the market slide and the pressure on the pound reflected uncertainty over the government's tax proposal and a belief that the government still had not dealt adequately with the country's deepening financial difficulties.

Devaluation of its currency is a subject about which no government likes to talk until the deed has been accomplished since one objective of such a move is to force down export prices to make them more competitive on world markets. Devaluation advertised in advance simply means that prices move up to fill the gap, thus wiping out any prospective gain.

Any tampering with the pound would have a further far-reaching effect in that it, like the dollar, is the yardstick for many other currencies throughout the world. Governments which preceded Britain's present one preferred to protect the pound even at the expense of Britain's own economy.

It was on Sept. 18, 1949, that Sir Stafford Cripps, the then chancellor of the exchequer, disclosed in a radio address that Britain was reducing the pound to $2.80. So carefully guarded was the secret that Cripps did not even write the figures into the text of his speech until after it was delivered.

Within a week 21 other countries devalued their currencies in chain reaction.

France, not notified in advance, accused the British of undercutting the European economy in a bid for dollars.

The new rate was a boon to American tourists in Britain and in New York prices of British goods began falling according to plan.

But for Britons it meant a rise in the cost of living because of the increased cost of U. S. goods which they could not get elsewhere and among labor it touched off a new clamor for wage increases.

There are similarities between the British situation as it existed in 1949 and as of today.

Then, as now, British goods were pricing themselves out of competitive markets. And then, as now, there existed a serious gap between British imports and exports. A possible straw in the wind

Dr. Crane's

Worry Clinic

Terry's questions are just as appropriate for the usual doctor, clergyman and writer of business letters, so scrapping this case. And be sure to send for the booklet below, for it will reveal original data from the tachistoscope never published by any other scientist.

CASE U-448: Terry F., aged 22, is the journalism student who wanted to know how to increase the interest value of printed copy.

Yesterday I gave you some unpublished data which I derived many years ago while I was director of our Psychology Laboratory at Northwestern University.

For I used the tachistoscope (quick exposure machine) to test printed pages, prior to launching this "Worry Clinic" column.

And while I was located at Smith College, I did similar testing of school children, using two identical stories but different print layouts.

And I found that children (as well as adults) picked the story that was set in short paragraphs in preference to the long paragraphs. Why?

Well, long paragraphs are linked with textbooks and editorial copy.

Short paragraphs are typical of novels and narration. They suggest dialogue.

Many people will thus race through an entire novel in one evening by skipping the long, dry paragraphs of descriptions and reading only the short paragraphs, usually dialogue in quote marks.

For quote marks indicate conversation.

Since you seldom talk to yourself, dialogue means at least TWO people!

And when TWO people get together, almost any conceivable dramatic action may occur, ranging from assault to love, murder to kidnapping, seduction to salesmanship, etc.

And until we know what the dialogue is about, we all tend to be motivated by the old "gossip" urge.

Quote marks thus arouse curiosity and stimulate greater interest.

So launch your story or even a scientific essay with a quotation, or open with dialogue.

Socrates made the dialogue his major teaching strategy and we should follow his example far more today in our schools.

But when you open with a quotation, be sure to break it up so you can get THREE sets of quote marks in the first line.

Contrast the next two openings: "Dr. Crane," you ask, "how can . . ."

"Dr. Crane, how can a writer add more interest value to the printed page?" you ask.

Since quote marks are the most dramatic print symbols that mankind has ever invented, then THREE sets of quote marks on your opening line excel a single set!

Because newspaper and magazine columns are so narrow, you must do a fast break to get those three sets on one line.

"Yes," Terry said, "but how can I use quotes when I am writing a serious essay about something that isn't dramatic?"

Well, dig up a relevant quotation from some ancient authority.

Or use the typical "flash back" method of the movies and TV (where the opening scene depicts fighting or dangerous conflict that really takes place later in the play.

And you medical, dental surgeons and other scientists, should take note of this "print psychology" clinic I'm offering you today, for nothing is more dry and boring than the usual medical or dental convention.

So send for my booklet "How To Write A Table Copy," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents. Refreshers, too, need it!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Dick West's

The Lighter Side

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A recent dispatch from Italy quoted Prof. Gustavo Colonnelli, a research scientist, as warning that the Leaning Tower of Pisa was in imminent danger of collapse.

It is difficult to appraise the situation from this distance. Colonnelli may be right. On the other hand, alarmists have been saying for years that the famous campanile, or bell tower, was on the verge of toppling over.

Anyway, if the tower does bite the dust soon, I hope that steps will be taken to clear the name of Bonanno Pisano, the architect who designed it.

It has often been said that Bonanno may have been a nice guy otherwise—good to his mother and all like that—but he was a lousy architect.

No less an authority than the National Geographic Society has called him a "monumental flop" in the bell tower department. Another authority, the Encyclopedia Britannica, rather cattily remarks that "There is no reason to suppose that the architect intended that the campanile should be built in an oblique position."

I think this is a bum rap. I am convinced that the real story behind the leaning tower went something like this:

On or about the year 1174 A.D., the mayor of Pisa noted that the tourist business was in a slump. He called a meeting of the chamber of commerce to see what could be done about it.

"What Pisa needs is a spectacular new attraction that would draw tourists to our city," the chamber president said.

"Right," said the mayor. "Any suggestions?"

"How about building a big amusement park? We could call it 'Dianeyland' or something like that."

"Kid stuff," said the mayor. "It would never pay off."

"Well, how about trying to get a major league ball club to move its franchise to Pisa?"

"Baseball is a sport, not a business," said the mayor.

"No club owner would think of moving a franchise for commercial reasons."

"Well, how about building a bell tower?"

"A bell tower! Who the hell wants to see a bell tower?"

"Not just an ordinary bell tower. A leaning tower. Our latest survey shows that tourists will travel thousands of miles to see a bell tower that leans."

"Splendid!" cried the mayor. "We'll hire an architect to get started on it right away. As a matter of fact, my brother-in-law Bonanno isn't doing anything right now."

Senator's Call For Action: 1

Get Congress On Ball

(The note: Sen. A. S. (Mike) Monroney (D-Okla.) served as U. S. Representative from 1933 to his election to the Senate in 1950, where he has served since. He is a member of the Senate appropriations, commerce and post office-civil service committees. This is the first of two articles written by him for the Newspaper Enterprise Association and The St. Petersburg Herald.)

By Sen. Monroney
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The American people gave the members of Congress a tremendous new incentive to reorganize the national lawmaking process when they overwhelmingly elected President Johnson on Nov. 3.

The great victory scored by the President can be considered a clear vote of confidence for him and in support of his very well-proven executive abilities. The executive branch of our national government will have strong leadership in the years ahead.

Now the members of Congress must look to their own laurels so that the legislative branch of our three-part political system does not languish or slip into relative ineptitude during what promises to be a period of great change and great accomplishment.

The Congress has been the target of much criticism both from without and within in recent years. Its weaknesses have been well advertised while its strengths and its achievements often have been overlooked.

Although the lawmaking function of the U. S. government has run into serious difficulties which only our lawmakers themselves can remedy, we in the Congress need not apologize for the record of the legislative branch.

The members of Congress will not, however, be complacent or satisfied when they return to Washington in January for the 86th meeting of the national legislature. They will be striving to improve the methods of Congress so that it may meet the ever more complex problems of our nation with decisive and effective solutions.

It soon will be 20 years

SEN. A. S. (MIKE) MONRONEY

since Congress has undertaken an intensive review of its procedures and its traditions. Several times in recent years proposals calling for another reorganization study have been advanced.

Those of us who participated in the reorganization efforts of 1945 have been disappointed that these new studies were not approved.

The growth of this nation, the ever greater need for co-operation and co-ordination within our economic system, the increasing role of government in providing the framework for the rewarding life, the preservation of liberty and the ever more fruitful pursuit of happiness that the modern world makes possible results in more complicated considerations being fed into the lawmaking mill.

Congressional committee systems which were adequate two decades ago no longer seem so. Particularly the problem of controlling the spending of tax dollars has gone beyond existing management apparatus available to the Congress.

The skilled staffs now assigned to these matters are the techniques to stay on top of its responsibilities. It must hold hearings and allocate the funds for some 2,300 departments, agencies, offices and bureaus of government employing nearly 2.5 million employees.

It must establish a tax structure to meet the cost of freedom. It must lay out the means of spreading our billions across the globe where they will best defend our security.

But the Congress of 100 senators and their staffs and 435 House members and their assistants has fewer numbers than are required to run the Bureau of Indian Affairs.

The cost of operating the entire Congress, exclusive of buildings, totals less than the cost of the federal Fish and Wildlife Service.

Without neglecting taxes, trade, transportation, health, defense and a multitude of other matters, Congress must come to grips with its own housekeeping and its own machinery for dealing with these mammoth problems.

Toward this end, I am asking the members of the 86th Congress to join me in sponsoring Senate Joint Resolution No. 1 establishing a bipartisan joint committee on the organization of Congress to make an intensive study of Congressional techniques.

I believe this proposal will gain the support of a majority of both houses, for 1965 will not be a time for timidity nor a time for business as usual on Capitol Hill. It will be a time for Congress to take stock, to shape up.

To do otherwise would be to risk the fate of other democracies, no less noble lawmaking institutions of the past, that eventually became mere debating societies — their former power yielded to executives who offered the leadership that the people required.

spread very thin. Economy and efficiency in the expenditure of taxpayer funds demand a reformation of the appropriations processes.

But that is only the beginning of the challenge that Congress must meet head-on with the new session. In the good old days of the 19th century, Congress would meet for three or four months a year. It would pass a few bills — some about tariffs, some about rivers and harbors, or for a few new post offices — and then adjourn.

Today the work load has multiplied a thousandfold. The subject matter now extends into every facet of human experience, from the problems of air pollution to medical research to economic growth, through the realms of outer space and across the vast spectrum of our fantastic military weaponry.

Congress must not shrink from the responsibility of providing itself with the additional tools and expertise that our rapidly expanding population and our ever more diverse and prosperous economy requires.

Congress has not provided itself with either the staff or

Geneva Youths Plan Dance

By JoAnn Nays

The Geneva Youth Club will sponsor a dance at the Community Hall on Saturday, Dec. 26, beginning at 7 p. m. The dance is being planned for all age groups and the club will provide a band to play music that all ages will enjoy.

Club president Jack Tillman announces that tickets are now on sale and that advance purchases will be considerably less than those made at the door.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Byrnes, current sponsors, advise that refreshments will be available and soft drinks will be sold. Tony Whiting was elected club vice president upon resignation of Horace Johnson and all officers and members are working hard to keep the organization active. Support of residents in such activities as the coming dance is needed and the community is urged to attend and give the young people the encouragement a good crowd would bring.

The 200-year-old oak that inspired Joyce Kilmer to write his poem, "Trees," stands on the campus of Rutgers University.

Swedish Spy Tipped Russia On Marine Move

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Russians were tipped off in advance when President Dwight D. Eisenhower sent the Marines to Lebanon in 1958, largely through the efforts of a Swedish spy.

The spy, retired Swedish Air Force Col. Stig E. C. Wennerstrom, apparently gleaned the information from a high U. S. Air Force officer with whom he was friendly.

This was disclosed when the Senate internal security subcommittee made public portions of Alberto secret testimony by Wennerstrom.

Wennerstrom, 57, was sentenced in Sweden last June to life imprisonment after it was discovered he had spied for the Soviet Union since 1948—even against his own country.

Much of the testimony, taken by the Swedish Federal Police Agency, was censored. But the 164 pages of it translated for the Senate subcommittee showed that he had remarkably little difficulty in obtaining U. S. secrets during his five-year service in Washington as Swedish air attaché (from April, 1952, to May 1957) and later when he returned to Sweden.

Alaska Movie Scheduled Here

"Alaska, America's Wonderland," a two-hour narrative color film, will be shown at the Sanford Civic Center Dec. 3 and 4 at 8 p.m.

Produced by Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Langley of Medford, Ore., who will be present for the showing, the film features a 15-minute sequence of the Lake George Break-up. This natural phenomenon is "automatic" lake which fills and empties itself each year.

These sequences took three years to film; the entire film took seven years.

The Langley's film takes the armchair traveler through Alaskan cities over the Alaska Highway showing such industries as gold mining and salmon canning.

Wildlife scenes include the Kodiak, largest of the world's bears.

Sportsfishing is also featured in a view of Eakimoland.

This inside passage through the 49th state is reported to draw large audiences everywhere it shows.

Steel Contract Parley To Open

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Wage Policy Committee of the United Steelworkers union opens a two-day meeting here Wednesday to lay the groundwork for contract bargaining with the nation's steel producers.

Under terms of the present contract, talks may be reopened upon request of either party after Jan. 1, 1965.

The union will be free to strike any time after May 1 if an accord is not reached.

The Wage Policy Committee, it has been learned, will recommend the union's bargainers to seek a 15-cent hourly wage increase, doubling of shift differentials and re-writing language covering grievance procedures at the local level.

Warren Report Selling Slower

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The 26-volume set containing the testimony in the Warren Commission's investigation of President John F. Kennedy's assassination is not a runaway best-seller like the commission's one-volume summary report.

The Government Printing Office reported this week that 380 of the 478 sets had been sold by the end of the week.

Art Club Meet

December meeting of the DeBary Arts and Crafts Club will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday at DeBary Masonic House. Arthur Bennett will preside and a demonstration will be given by Albert Mercier. Members are urged to attend.

Youth, 16, Draws 3 Life Sentences

CLEARWATER (UPI) — Steve Washington, 16, was sentenced to three life terms in state prison, the terms to run consecutively.

The St. Petersburg youth pleaded guilty to three counts of first degree murder in the rape-robustion deaths last year of three elderly women.

Circuit Court Judge Allen G. Anderson told the husky youth that he had made the sentences consecutive "to exclude the possibility that you will ever be paroled."

Washington, who also was accused of four other rapes, and slayings and molestations throughout the morning-long hearing.

Washington had been arrested in January of this year and charged with the rape-slayings which had terrorized St. Petersburg's South Side last fall and winter.

Named were fancy table, Ruth Boswell; plants, Peg Kuhlman; jewelry, Gail Dill; country store, Clara Gwaltney; snack bar, Florence Boulden; candy shop, Nora Kendrick; fish pond, Mildred Wright; pop corn, Joan Magin; fortune teller and handwriting, Grace Strauss and Catherine Kloss and baked goods, Lucy Carlson.

Geneva Citizens Set Ham Dinner

By JoAnn Hays

The Geneva Citizens Association will sponsor a ham dinner on Saturday, Dec. 12, at the Community Hall beginning at 5 p. m. as its first project under leadership of the new president, W. M. "Buck" Torres.

Served with the ham will be sweet potatoes, cole slaw, a variety of relishes, hot rolls, tea and coffee. Pies will be available at an extra cost and there will be special prices for children under 12 years.

All food served will be home prepared and Torres reports that there are many good cooks among the association membership. Everyone in the area is invited to attend, he says, especially newcomers to the Geneva area who will find this an excellent opportunity to meet their neighbors.

Santa Arrives At Plaza

By Jane Caselberry

Sunshine and smiles welcomed Santa Saturday afternoon when he arrived at Seminole Plaza in Casselberry after a whirlwind tour of the town in an open convertible, escorted by two trucks from the Casselberry Volunteer Fire Dept.

No sooner was he seated in his headquarters in the Mall when hundreds of youngsters were lined up to whisper in his ear about dolls and bikes and all the other things they are dreaming of for Christmas morning.

Santa will be in Seminole Plaza with candy treats Monday through Saturday from 8 until 8 p. m. until Christmas.

25-Mile Canoe Trip Enjoyed

A 25-mile canoe trip up the Wekiva River ending with a Court of Honor was enjoyed by members of Boy Scout Troop 504 of the Church of Ladder Day Saints over the long Thanksgiving weekend.

Two days were spent on the trip, with one day of camping at Robson's Camp on the St. Johns River, where the Court of Honor was held. Parents attended the court.

Girl Scouts have postponed their preliminary house numbering survey in Lake Mary until after the Christmas holidays. Dates will be announced.

Lots of store owners along the parade route had brooms worn down at a considerable faster pace than normal this morning. The reason: Peanut shucks. Jaycoes were selling them during the Christmas parade yesterday afternoon and by the looks of sidewalks they did pretty good. Customers must have liked 'em, too.

Eighteen of this city's "finest" were on duty for the parade. Some of them reporting during off-duty hours. They were augmented by members of the Sanford Naval Air Station Shore Patrol and all were under the immediate direction of Chief Roy G. Williams.

A seven-year-old girl got separated from her mother during the parade. Police were told of this at 7:30 p.m. by a distraught parent. At 8:27 p.m. police got another call. The girl had just got good and tired watching the spectacle and had gone home to bed without telling anyone about it.

The Lions Club had their human lion all togged out in headgear at the staging area prior to the parade. A mother took her young girl — about five years old — to meet Mr. Lion. Nothing doing. The lion talked to the girl, then extended a human hand and the friendship developed and fear vanished.

Politics was the main topic of discussion at the Seminole Chamber corner as many of the city and county politicians gathered to ride in the parade. Seems like all were on hand to be seen by their constituents.

Herald staffers were busy this a.m. trying to arrive at a near-correct estimate of the parade crowd. One said he thought to duck the after-parade traffic, left The Herald at 4:45, drove along the lake front and out Mellonville. He arrived at 25th Street at 5:30 . . . 15 minutes to get home.

Stefany Westgate daughter of Mrs. P. J. Westgate, 2007 Cordova Drive, lost her light brown, plastic frame glasses during Wednesday's Christmas Parade. She believes they were lost on Seminole Boulevard near the tennis courts. They're badly needed and a reward is offered.

Watch for the Mobile Chest X-Ray unit which will be in Seminole County during the week of Dec. 14 through 18. This service is paid for by your purchase of Christmas seals.

United Fund award luncheon has been set for Friday at 12:15 p. m. at the Trade Winds Cafeteria in Seminole Plaza. Fund totals are still climbing but are short of the $10,000 goal.

School children began to arrive early in downtown Sanford yesterday for that biggest of all parades. They were seen as early as 1 o'clock.

City crews were also out early putting "no parking" signs on the former meter posts. Motorists were given a two-hour warning prior to the start of the parade.

Kenneth W. McIntosh, of Sanford, was elected vice president at the organizational meeting of the Central Florida Council on Alcoholism at Orlando.

They're starting that beautification work along the lakefront. State officials are supervising the grading along the lake, fixing trouble caused by last summer's severe storms which pushed the lake over the seawall and undermined it in places. They're also seeding the area between the lake and the highway.

Local Mystery Develops In Miami Death

Governor's Ball Set Here Jan. 7

By Dottie Austin
Seminole County has been chosen to be the scene Jan. 7 for the Central Florida Governor's Inaugural Ball, one of six to be held throughout the state following the Tallahassee Ball on the evening of Jan. 5. The announcement was made today by Harold Kastner, of Sanford, who with Robert Billbimer will be co-chairman of the Central Florida Ball at the Jai-Alai Fronton in Fern Park. New Governor and Mrs. Haydon Burns, members of the Cabinet, Supreme Court and others high officials and their wives will attend. Each ball will be a replica of the other and will open with the Grand March led by the Governor and his Lady. Music for all the balls will be provided by Guy Lombardo and vocalist Miss Anita Bryant. Invitation to the balls (except the one in Tallahassee, which is public) will be by invitation only and invitations will be pressed on contributions to a state scholarship foundation fund which has been formed to assist outstanding Florida students on the basis of need. Persons contributing more than $10 to the scholarship fund will form the guest list for invitations to the ball. All funds raised in the Central Florida area will be used for Central Florida students. The schedule of balls is as follows: Jan. 5, Tallahassee; Jan. 6, Tampa; Jan. 7, Central Florida; Jan. 8, Jacksonville; Jan. 9, Miami; Jan. 11, Pensacola. Kastner was chairman of the Seminole County Burns-for-Governor committee.

GOV.-ELECT BURNS

UF Drive Nears 75%

By Julian Stenstrom
Associate Editor
Another day's receipts were $12.82 shy of hitting the 75 percent mark in the Seminole County United Fund's campaign to raise $40,000. The UF office reported that $367.53 was received in cash and pledges yesterday which brought the drive's total to $29,957.18. The largest contribution received Wednesday was $89.61 from the employees of the Publix Super Market in Casselberry. Gifts of $25 each came from Gramkow Funeral Home, Ben Wiggins, Dr. James Prather Jr., Beneficial Finance and Touchton Rexall plus a $24 contribution from Virginia Garrow. Fifteen dollar gifts were received from J. Phillips Jewelers and Mrs. F. M. Mobley along with $10 contributions from Grapeville Nursery, Helen R. School Hit Again
The Goldsboro Elementary School on West 16th Street was hit again sometime during the night, police reported today. A door was forced by the thief and a soft drink machine was cracked open. School officials, wary of past thefts, now empty the machine daily and it is believed the thief got little money for his trouble, police said.

Vandals Strike
A cigarette machine was damaged sometime Tuesday night at the What-A-Burger stand, 2345 South French Avenue, but nothing was taken, police reported today.

Death Penalty Retention OK'd By Legislators

Seminole County's two legislators agreed with the majority yesterday at a Tallahassee meeting of a special commission that the state's death penalty should be retained. Voting with the majority — an 8-3 margin — were Sen. Mack N. Cleveland Jr. and Rep. Joe Davis, of Seminole County.

Four members were absent when the commission, established by the 1963 Legislature, voted not to recommend that the 1965 Legislature abolish the death penalty for all capital crimes, which presently include murder, rape and kidnapping for ransom. On the latter, Senate Cleveland noted that kidnapping for ransom was added to the capital crime list years ago when kidnapping was at an all time high.

"Now there are few," Cleveland said, in support of his contention that the death penalty "is a definite deterrent." The senator added that he has defended persons accused of murder and even as a defense attorney "I feel it should be retained."

He said there are "adequate safeguards" under existing procedures to keep an innocent person from getting the death penalty. Rep. Davis said he feels the death penalty should be retained. "If the committee feels that it should be abolished," he said, "then it ought to be submitted to the people for a vote. There is no public clamor for abolition."

The two legislators were appointed to serve on the committee and have attended many public hearings throughout the state to sound out public opinion on the matter. Each said there is "no great clamor" from the public to change the law.

Sen. Ed Price of Bradenton, commission chairman, has submitted a number of proposals to the members to study and offer a letter with their personal observations. On receipt of the opinions, Price will call another meeting.

Interviews Held
County commissioners this morning were interviewing prospective applicants for the post of county Civil Defense and veterans service officer. The interviews of about 15 men is expected to last most of the day, a commissioner said. The post was created by the Commission recently and is expected to be filled at the start of the year.

Sub-Zero Weather Grips North Plains

By United Press
A patchwork pattern of wintry weather made for dangerous driving today from Illinois to New York and from Kansas to New Mexico. Sub-zero temperatures gripped the Northern Plains against tornadoes were sighted in the South. At least four persons died in Michigan Wednesday because of slippery roads. Fatal accidents in Missouri, Iowa and Illinois also were charged off to slick conditions. At one time Wednesday, snow was falling in an almost continuous band from Montana to Pennsylvania. Up to six inches fell in northern Illinois, and motorists crawled on Chicago's expressways. The temperature was 15 below at Hibbing, Minn., early today after lows of 20 below at International Falls, Minn., and 5 below at Bismarck, N.D., Wednesday. Bismarck's high Wednesday was zero.

The Midwest was slugged with the first of three pre-winter storms this week. The East and Northeast got the second dose later, with harsh winds that churned seas and caused distress among several ships. A third storm center took shape in the southwestern United States during the night. The weather bureau issued hazardous driving warnings for Texas, New Mexico, Colorado, Kansas and Oklahoma.

Floyd Futch Found Dead In Waterway

By Harry I. Johnson
A Miami area mystery was solved last week but in solving it a bigger mystery was created in the Sanford area. Who was Floyd Futch? Where in Angel City? Who were his companions on an outing to a camp about 30 miles west of Miami? The badly decomposed body of Futch, 40, was found Nov. 20 in a canal off the Tamiami Trail by three boys. Identity was made through the repair of a fractured leg made on Futch by a Sanford doctor about 16 years ago. A metal pin had been used to repair the fracture by Dr. Charles Park Sr. Dr. Park dug back into his attic to help Dade County investigators solve the mystery of the man's identity. The doctor told The Herald this morning he recalled having worked on the man when he was brought to the local hospital in 1948 after he broke his leg while working on the St. Johns River bridge. A truck had backed into the man to cause the fracture, Dr. Park said. The hospital, at that time, was housed at the inactive Sanford Naval Air Station. He added he has never heard of Angel City, near Sanford, the place in which Futch is said to have lived. Dade authorities pieced the following story together in their investigation: Lt. Bruce Berry of the homicide bureau checked with Jimmy Tiger's Camp near the spot where the body was found by three boys. He learned a group of "Sanford men" on an outing had visited the camp "about a week" before the body was found on Nov. 20. The men said Futch became "unruly," Berry reported, and they tied him to a tree to keep him from falling into the canal. Later, they released him and he disappeared. The remainder of the party, Berry said, returned to Sanford without reporting that Futch was missing. The homicide lieutenant drove to Sanford and checked hospital records. Officials could find no record of such an operation but referred him to Dr. Park. Dr. Park recalled the metal pin surgery, went to his attic to check his records to come up with the name Futch. Berry said the body was so badly decomposed the medical examiner's office could not determine cause of death, but it is presumed to be accidental drowning. The Seminole County Sheriff's office said today it has not been consulted in the case. Chief Deputy James Singletary said he has lived in this area for 35 years and has never heard of Angel City. Police Chief Roy G. Williams said his department was not contacted during the investigation nor does he recall any community in this area named Angel City.

Three Judges More Pictured For 9th Circuit

The Ninth Judicial Circuit which includes Seminole County may soon get three additional judges. This is based on a census survey taken in the district at the direction of Gov. Farris Bryant and which has just been concluded.

A three-man commission was set up by Bryant to take the census in every way possible without actually "counting noses." On the commission is Carl Schilke, of Sanford. The district population has increased by 139,900 to 678,000 persons, according to Schilke. These figures were compiled by the University of Florida. The last census, taken in 1960, showed 536,700 persons in the eight-county district.

The district is composed of Seminole, Orange, Brevard, Indian River, Martin, Okeechobee, Osceola and St. Lucie. Circuit judges are authorized on the basis of one for each 50,000 persons in the district. The survey showed Seminole had grown by 12,700 persons to a Nov. 1 total of 67,000. Public hearings will now be held in strategic places in the district prior to the commission submitting its findings to Governor Bryant. He then will study the report and decide on the need for additional judgeships.

Election Case Motions Due
County Attorney Harold Johnson, representing the Seminole County Elections Canvassing Board, indicated today that probably tomorrow he would file several motions in Circuit Court calling for the dismissal of a suit charging the board with election irregularities. The suit was filed by E. Pope Bassett, a candidate for the District 3 seat on the County Commission. Bassett was defeated by the narrow margin of 127 votes by Mayor Lawrence Swafford, of Altamonte Springs. Bassett charged in his suit that election irregularities occurred in several precincts and on Nov. 19 Circuit Court Judge Volpe A. Williams Jr. granted an injunction impounding election records and voting machines.
