EIGHT SURVIVORS OF GOLF TOURNEY FACE 3RD ROUND

Many Stars Suffer Defeat In Yesterday's Match At Braeburn

By Davis J. Walsh International News Service Sports Editor WEST NEWTON, MASS., Sept. 13.—In the wake of the storm that swept the premises of everything except a few championship fragments, Braeburn was a scene of peaceful peace and vast quiet this morning as the eight survivors of yesterday's disaster made ready to limp into view for the third round of the national amateur golf championship. Yes, peace was alleged to be upon us again with yesterday's revolution in which Von Elm, Oulmet, Evans, Sweetser, Marston, Gunn, Storey, Dolp, Somerville and other gods of the locker room were blown off the score board.

In fact, I think it may be said without exaggeration that this round of the championship will be almost as peaceful as the average Central American republic. A 10 year guarantee and service on defective parts goes with this statement, after a cursory glance at the appended program.

John Perkins, British champion, vs John Dawson, conqueror of Evans and Fred Wright, Dr. O. J. Willing, the dentist, who gave all of them the anaesthetic yesterday, vs. George Voigt, the official medalist.

Harrison Johnston, a sound bet in any man's company vs Phillip Finlay, the cellow but clever victory over Oulmet. Robby Jones himself, vs John Heck, the Englishman.

Many of the clubhouse saints may be out of the tournament by this time, but, by the same token, those remaining are the men who put them out and so one may argue by the exact status of the survivors by carefully noting two and two. As a matter of fact there are a covey of extraordinary good golfers remaining with the situation at this moment.

On hand, the writer would venture that they figure to produce a series of extraordinarily good matches for the third round and with the ante being tilted from 18 to 36 holes overnight there can be no comeback from anyone.

The Willing-Voigt meeting is the days wow, if you will pardon my Oxford. It will bring the veteran campaigner from Portland, the man who almost shot himself out of the tournament with an 81 the first day—and maybe with an automatic that night—and the much disgusted medal winner with rounds of 71 and 72. It will bring together, too, a pair of golfers with the ideal match play temperament, the type who can and do rise to almost any emergency.

Chicago Aviator Is Acclaimed Ace Of Air Mail Carriers

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—(INS)—With a record of 8,000 hours in the air and with more mileage on air mail routes than any other pilot, E. Hamilton Lee, who flies the night mail planes between Omaha and Chicago is the "ace of the air mail."

Lee, who took out the first planes in the air mail when it started with 436 miles a day and two stops ten years ago has seen the air mail service expand until it outranks that of any other nation wide transportation system which covers 23,000 miles a day, serving 62 million people directly and twenty millions more indirectly.

Lee has acquired numerous records but thinks his most unusual service was dropping food from an airplane on South Fox Island in Northern Lake Michigan to save a band of starving, icebound lumberjacks. The fastest time he ever made with the air mail was between Chicago and Omaha, 430 miles which he made in 2 hours and 46 minutes. Train time for that journey is twelve hours.

Edgar Jadwin, chief of army engineers. The project is expected to materially increase river traffic in the section affected, and to allow larger barges to ply between the two river junctions and Minneapolis.

ENGLAND STIRRED BY U.S. DEMANDS FOR PLAY RIGHTS

John Ervine Protests Against Americans Acquiring All Shows

LONDON, Sept. 13.—(INS)—The increasing demands of American managers for the rights to English plays has brought forth a vigorous protest from St. John Ervine, celebrated English author. Calling attention to the seriousness of the situation he warns that unless the American managers are "put in their proper place" the West End of London will become a suburb of Broadway.

It is of course, an acknowledged fact that in his struggle to achieve fame it is necessary for the English author to "play-up" to the American theatre. Not only does he secure more money for his plays in America, but their success there usually reassures their production in London.

Authors Helpless

Thus the English author is forced to pay heed to the demands of the American manager. "The first demand of the latter," writes Ervine, "was that all agreements for the production of English plays in the United States should include the right of production in Canada."

Then he claimed fifty per cent of the movie rights. As a result it is now nearly hopeless to expect production in the United States unless a share of those rights is conceded.

"Now these American managers are clamoring for the rights of translation, and even the English rights. In other words they are feeling their way toward world rights in all plays that they buy. The demand for all these rights is being made right along, and unless some determining resistance is now offered a time will come when the American manager will own half, if not all, of the whole rights in any play that is produced."

"When that time comes, he will not only control the English theatre but will be able to terrorize it."

Saluted Servants

Further predicting that authors will become the saluted servants of managers, Ervine continues, "eventually our plays will come to London via New York. That will mean the death of the English theatre."

"Even now, why the Stars and Stripes are not floating over Drury Lane surpasses my understanding. I expect to hear the Star Spangled Banner played there instead of 'God Save the King.'"

All recent productions at Drury Lane theatre have been American. It is also interesting to note that the majority of them have been the biggest successes of their time.

SENATOR BORAH DECLINES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(INS)—Senator Borah, (R) of Idaho, today refused an invitation to speak at a church meeting in Peoria, Ill. Although no explanation was given for the refusal it was understood Borah believed that, as a political speaker, he should not invade churches during the presidential campaign. He starts a speaking tour through the west next week.

Nansen At 67 Plans New North Pole Hop

LONDON, Sept. 13.—Although 67 years of age, Dr. Fridtjof Nansen, the famous explorer who in 1922 was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize, is contemplating a flight to the North Pole. According to information published in the "Contemporary Review," an airship is being built for him in Germany. The ship will have a lifting capacity of 100 tons, and will be especially constructed for Polar work. In 1903-06, Dr. Nansen, in his famous ship the Fram, later used by Captain Amundsen, reached within 234 miles of the North Pole.

Dresser Of English Queen Quits Royal Home In London

LONDON, Sept. 13.—(INS)—After living for 40 years amid the magnificence of palaces, Mrs. Anna Giltrap, a little gray-haired woman of 73 has settled down in a modest London flat obtained for her by the Prince of Wales to dream away the rest of her life in memories of the British Royal Family.

Her memories will be mostly of the late Queen Alexandra and her grandson, the Prince of Wales. She was the late Queen's dresser for over 35 years.

The "Princess" obtained her flat for her when she knew that "Grannie's Maid," as she is known to the younger members of the Royal Family, was in failing health and reduced means.

He has visited her small apartment several times to take tea and talk over old times. It was always a joy to her to see the young members of the Royal Family, and in falling health and reduced means.

Morever, when the vast majority of families live in one room, where shall the cooking be done? There usually is no stove, but on a week of a table in one corner of the house stands a gasolene pressure stove called a "primus."

Most of the cooking is done on the primus which holds one dish at a time. The Swedish company which got the import license for "primuses" has made more money in Russia than any other concessionaire of sales firm.

An Ideal Family The primus holds the family together in Russia, despite all propaganda to the effect that Communism is a wrecker of the home. In fact the press recently printed pictures of a locksmith, his wife and three children as an "ideal" Communist worker's family. In fact the worker who doesn't drink, smoke or fuss, beat up his wife, loaf on the job or stay out late at night. His name was told to all Russia as Fedor I. Porshenoff. He was in the department has now decided it should end.

Dangerous Age Is Also Enjoyed By Men, Avers German

BERLIN, Sept. 13.—(INS)—Men have their "dangerous age" just the same as women, according to Professor Dr. A. Hoche, who has written a book about it.

He emphasizes, however, that man's "dangerous age" is not half as dangerous as that of women.

The "dangerous age" for men is put between 47 and 57, chiefly 50 and 54.

It is supposed to manifest itself in sentimentalism, softness, inclination to weep, indifference, avoidance of society, hypochondria, self-reproachments and inclination to suicide. These psychological manifestations are supposedly accompanied by head aches, blood rushes to the head, dizziness, weakness, cleophasias, stomach and heart troubles, cold hands, and feet.

This "dangerous age," however, is supposed to last with men only one and a half to three years; after that the symptoms disappear.

MOSCOW ORDERS CLEANER HOMES AND LESS RACKET

Moscovites Amazed At New Ordinance That Hits At Sloveness

MOSCOW, Sept. 13.—(INS)—The jovial, none-too-cleanly, leishury Moscovites are gasping in amazement at the latest blast of western culture which has swept across their murky capital in the form of a decree for the improvement of health and presumably happiness. The city housing department, which in accordance with the nationalization edict owns all property, at the behest of several health officers who recently returned from abroad, has ordered that:

1. The floors of all human living quarters are to be scrubbed with hot water at least once a week.

2. No animals other than dogs and cats are to be allowed in houses unless the consent of all neighbors is obtained.

3. At least one window in each room is to have a fortexque which can be opened to admit air.

4. Quiet shall reign from 11 o'clock at night until 7 in the morning.

5. Rugs, quilts and dustcloths are not to be shaken out on balconies. Nor is rubbish to be thrown out the rear windows.

Housewives Revolt "Incomprehensible and unendurable," is the comment of the majority of Moscovites. A study Russian housewife exerting herself in the extent of getting down on her knees to scrub a floor? Never! The proletarian woman has been emancipated. Anyway, floors are washed with a rag, and not scrubbed.

Moreover, when the vast majority of families live in one room, where shall the cooking be done? There usually is no stove, but on a week of a table in one corner of the house stands a gasolene pressure

He devoted all his spare time to physical culture and music. His wife, his son, aged 10, and his two daughters of 8 and 4, were all gymnasts. They all played accordions together and danced the old peasant dances. But Fedor is also an orator of note in his woolen mill. He writes sonnets. And so the story ends with the words: "The atmosphere of this family is so quiet, healthy and delightful. They ride to culture along the road of a healthy existence!" But Fedor who never dreams of playing his accordion after 11 P. M. is unfortunately in the minority. Guests only begin to arrive queer notion the municipal housing department has now decided it should end.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 14.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

EVERY DESIRE SATISFIED—Thou openest thine hand, and satisfied the desire of every living thing. The Lord is righteous in all his ways, and holy in all his works.—Psalm 145:16, 17.

PRAYER—O God, satisfy us early with Thy mercy that we may rejoice and be glad all our days.

We shouldn't think Georgia Democrats would find their gubernatorial nominee a hard man to elect.

According to a newspaper writer, here is another "intrepid airman". We are beginning to wonder if there is any other kind of airman.

What has become of the old-fashioned man who used to take his son out to the woodshed about once a week just to keep his blood circulating properly?

Almea Semple McPherson has started on an evangelistic tour of Europe. No, she will make no radio speeches, or have anything to do with radio operators.

If reports are true Harry Bodwell may soon have a seat in the United States senate, in which capacity he may be able to put through a realtor's relief bill.

President Calles is determined to retire as president of Mexico. He is showing more sense than most former chief executives of that country. Usually they have to be killed to get rid of them.

Gene Tunney had to abandon his walking tour of Europe because of the crowds which persisted in following him around. We suspect that Gene found it a longer walk than he anticipated.

It has occurred to us that some of the boys who lost money in the boom might follow our campaign speakers around and collect the eggs and cabbages being thrown, in an effort to recoup their fortunes.

Mrs. Irving Berlin, the former Ellin Mackay, has made up with her father, according to the New York Daily News. After all the experience modern girls have in making up, we shouldn't think that would be much trouble for her.

We humbly offer the suggestion to George McRory who is managing the Jacksonville office of the state Democratic organization that he give some attention to his own home town. If the comments of those who are casting their ballot in The Herald's straw poll are any indication to go by, there are a lot of Democrats in these woods who need some strong talking to.

After reading his statement some people are saying that Doyle Carlton is likely to vote for Herbert Hoover. We do not think so. Carlton undoubtedly feels as many of the rest of us do, that the South was handed a lemon with the nomination of Al Smith, but he is going to swallow the lemon, as we shall, and like it, simply for the sake of the party to which he belongs.

Democratic convention in Texas recently broke up in a riot. An Alabama preacher is warned against attacking Al Smith. A North Carolina town witnesses wild disorders following a "Hoover Democratic" meeting. Within two months all issues, seemingly so paramount now, will be forgotten, and there will be nothing but a few black eyes to indicate the fierceness of the campaign.

Every time we pick up an exchange and see where another section is going in for celery growing, we marvel at the agricultural development of Florida. We praise the energetic spirit of its citizens which inspires them to keep trying, but we wonder how long Sanford growers will continue to get a profitable price for their produce without making some determined effort to stimulate the market.

No Religious Issue

Seeing on the part of some a tendency to inject into this presidential campaign a religious issue which not only adds to the furor and unpleasantness of the struggle between the two parties but which also threatens to divide the Democratic party in such a manner that it may never be able to function as a party again, the Tampa Tribune recalls a part of the powerful plea of William Jennings Bryan uttered in the Democratic National Convention in 1924:

I am not willing to bring discord into my party. The Democratic party is united on all the economic issues. We have never been so united since I have known politics, and nobody has had more reason than I to regret past discord. Now, when we are united and face our political foes with dauntless courage and with enthusiasm never exceeded, these people tell us that we must turn aside from this titanic task, divide our party on a religious issue and cease to be a great political force.

The Democratic party has never taken the side of one church against the other; the Democratic party must remain true to its traditions; it cannot surrender its rights to exist; it cannot be false to the mission that it had in the days of Jefferson, to which it remained true in the days of Jackson and to which it was still loyal in the days of Woodrow Wilson.

My last objection is that I am not willing to divide the Christian church because if it is destroyed there is nothing to take its place. We must stand together to fight our battles of religion against materialism.

"Dividing the party now may mean, as Mr. Bryan then said," concludes the Tribune, "that the party will cease to be a great political force." To what party will the South then turn? As Senator George said in Tampa: "When you leave the Democratic party, where will you go? And when you wish to return, will there be any party to which you can return?"

Telling The World

Evidently feeling very much as we do that suppression of news is an unwise procedure in almost any circumstance, the Bradenton Herald recites a little story which may prove somewhat of lesson for those who are inclined to condemn The Sanford Herald for publishing from time to time facts regarding the unstable condition of our local government.

"An epidemic," says the Bradenton paper, "of the mysterious malady known as septic sore throat struck the Berkshire section of Massachusetts this summer. It caused a number of deaths, medical science not yet having found a sure way to master it; and it probably cost that part of Massachusetts $1,000,000 in diminished expenditures by vacationists, who stayed away when news of the disease was broadcast.

"A decade or so ago the business leaders who felt this loss would have stormed the newspaper offices demanding that stories about the epidemic be "played down" so that vacationists would not be scared away. Now they are wiser.

"Instead of asking a policy of concealment, civic leaders are planning a big medical campaign to eradicate the disease. Strict public health measures will be enforced; next summer, if it is humanly possible, the Berkshires will not have 'septic sore' throats.

"How much better than the old-fashioned effort to suppress news! This new method of attacking the problem indicates that we are making progress."

Publishing the news regarding the epidemic undoubtedly did have an immediate effect which reacted against the best interests of the town, but in the long run it produced beneficial results which would not, and probably could not, have been produced if the existence of the epidemic had been hushed up. A bad sore has never been cured by ignoring its existence.

THE MOST CONTEMPTIBLE persons known are those who went to the Houston convention as delegates, and whose names are now flying at the mast head of Ben Davis' party and in Davis' paper as republican electors. Anybody has a perfect right to belong to the republican party, and vote the republican ticket, but when so-called democrats accepted the appointment as delegates to the convention, knowing just what was going to happen, and then bolted because it did not happen their way, and accepted the appointment as republican electors still claiming to be democrats, deserve the scorn and contempt of all decent and honorable citizens. Most people have an utter contempt and no respect whatever for them. Who can respect traitors?

—Dalton, Ga., Citizen.

George Washington was born in 1732, which is 200 years flat prior to 1932, which is only four years hence. One learns from Chicago that its deadly rival, the city of New York, is planning to seize upon this bicentennial as the occasion for a great international exposition.

Chicago makes note of New York's intentions for reasons. It happens that Chicago has an ambition to hold, in 1933, one year later than the Washington centennial, a great world's fair of its own. Chicago understands that a world's fair in New York in 1932 would blot out a world's fair in Chicago in 1933. Chicago would get in 1933 the warmed-over exhibits of New York in 1932. It could have only reproductions of New York's newest things in world's fair entertainment and excitement. It would like for New York to call off its show. There is a chance that an issue may get into congress, as in 1890 did the issue of the place for the holding of the Columbian exposition on the 400th anniversary of the discovery of America.

Before New York and Chicago come to blows over this question they should consider whether congress and the country would be justified in encouraging a world's fair now at either place. An exposition of the sort proposed would be very large. It would have to occupy much ground. It would attract huge numbers of people, most of them coming by automobile. What would or could Chicago do with this rushing crowd and its cars? The roads into those cities are already choked, and their capacity cannot be greatly increased in four years.

The streets of those cities are still worse choked, and their capacity cannot be increased at all. Neither Chicago nor New York is able to convey its own population, whether by subway, street car or private conveyance, from the homes to their offices and return without indecent crowding. Why should they want world's fair crowds added to the jam? Why should world's fair crowds want to imperil their comfort and their necks in such places? A world's fair in either of those cities would be more of an imposition than an exposition.

If there must be a world's fair in 1932 or 1933, why not put it where the people could get to it conveniently and be comfortable after they arrive? Put it far from a city where there are already too many people. Spare the world the bitter necessity of jamming into New York or Chicago any other overcrowded metropolis in order to visit it.

If Chicago and New York be aggrieved by the small town stuff, let them remember their greatness and noblesse-oblige.

SANFORD FORUM

Editor Sanford Herald—Have been a life long Democrat for more than 40 years.—Al Smith repudiated the Democratic platform, by telegram. He put at the head of the Democratic party Raskob, the biggest Republican in New York—he does not believe in our schools or our churches—he believes in negro social equality—and will not deny this—he believes in foreign immigration. Hoover believes in our schools and our churches and believes in business equality with all races—he knows the importance of developing our water ways and conserving our great water power and best of all he knows how it should be done—Hoover has done a great work for suffering humanity and proven himself worthy and well qualified for the duties of Pres. of our great republic. He believes in American industries and American labor.—All those who believe as Al Smith does should vote for him—he has wiped out all party lines. Those who believe as Mr. Hoover does should vote for him.—My household will give him our hearty support.—Yours for a New South W. W. Thompson.

THE EPIC OF "DOC" ASHEVILLE CITIZEN

OUT IN BUNKER, MISSOURI, the people have just staged a three-day party. It was given for "Doc," formally known as Dr. J. B. Gordon. It was arranged in honor of his seventy-seventh birthday by his seventy-seventh birthday by 400 men and women whom he attended when they first came into the world. Some of them still live in Bunker. Some of them have travelled far and made their homes in remote places in their search of fame and fortune. But, to show their affection for "Doc," they thought a little thing to make long journeys so as to assemble in their home town for "the big blow-out."

"Doc" had been the mainpring of life in Bunker longer than they could remember. He had treated them for whooping cough, scarlet fever and rosolia. He had set their broken arms and bound up their stone bruises. He had listened to the parents' problems, ranging from Tommy's infected toe to quarrels that might have led to divorce. Going from house to house, meeting the people when strain and suffering let down the bars of their usual reserve, he had come to know all about everybody.

And now, after fifty-six years of practice in and around Bunker, 400 of his "babies" paid him this remarkable three-day tribute! Does any one doubt how "Doc" felt about that? His work, the work of a small-town and country physician, had not been always easy. He remembers how he went against bottomless roads in his one-horse buggy before automobiles and good roads came along—how, on many a freezing night, he wrapped himself as best he might against the cold and went horseback to the scene of need.

How many times he fought with death, until dawn and went. How many times he fought his best, and lost! The responsibilities he had had to shoulder! The times he had had to change from physician to consoling friend! And all he had got out of it apparently was a living and the consciousness of duty well done—that is, if he had time to think of such things.

But here was the whole community making holiday for three days to prove their love for him and their pride in him. So he had got more out of his work than ever he had realized! He had got confidence and devotion of all his people. And what he felt at the realization of this fact would be enough, if it could be adequately described, to move many another community to do for its "Doc" what Bunker did for "Doc" Gordon.

Non-Stop Air Race Terminates Minus Successful Entry

day one has been demolished in a crash, severely injuring two occupants and the six others had been forced down by various causes.

The plane that crashed was the Lockheed-Vega in which John P. Morris and William Thaw II were flying. Their motor drained of oil by a broken oil line, they made a landing in a field near Decatur, Ill., in the dark, early yesterday. A wire fence wrecked the ship completely so badly injuring Morris and Thaw that they were reported in serious condition today.

None of the other pilots was hurt in the several forced landings of the other ships.

Art Goebel made the announcement of his landing at Prescott, disqualifying him for the race prize—immediately after landing at Mines Field. But the crowd at the field—between 80,000 and 90,000 spectators, ignorant of the landing enroute, believed Goebel had won the race and went wild with cheering and applause. But their cheers were no less hearty after they had been informed of Goebel's hard luck.

Both Goebel and Harry Tucker, his passenger and owner of the "Yankee Doodle"—the red, white and blue monoplane—were dead tired when they landed.

The plane itself was badly damaged. A door had been torn off, two windows were smashed, and there were several holes in the fuselage, which was so straked with oil that it looked like anything but the prim tri-colored ship it was when it took off from New York.

The negro put in his appearance late in the afternoon and when he became suspicious that officers had been called, he fled. Police were instructed to keep a sharp lookout for the youth and late last night, Officer Wilcox located James. He had purchased a ticket for Jacksonville and had several dollars in small change in his possession, the police said.

When quizzed this morning, James said he had an accomplice in the robberies last night, but denied complicity in a number of thefts in the residential section. The negro was turned over to county authorities to await a hearing before Judge James G. Sharen.

Half Of Cossacks In America Seen In Picture At Milane

Of the five hundred Cossacks in the United States nearly half were engaged for Columbia's "The Scarlet Lady," which is coming to the Milane Theater today.

The drama relates the tragic events in Russia just previous to and following the revolution. While most of the Cossack population in America lives in the vicinity of Hollywood, Columbia's casting director it is declared found it difficult to secure enough to satisfy the demands of Director Alan Crossland.

Scouts were sent into the Boyle Heights district of Los Angeles where a small colony is located. In the orange groves nearly two hundred former members of the Czar's cavalry were found working. As soon as one or two were made to understand that they might don their uniforms and appear in their erstwhile characters in motion pictures, the entire company of Cossacks stopped work and were ready to start for the studio.

These men have an attachment for the uniform, in which they endured many hardships and participated in numerous lavish spectacles. Every one of them entered the spirit of the picture and recreated the old Russia under the Czar followed by those stirring days when the Reds assumed control.

Posse Seeks Bandit Who Staged Holdup Of Passenger Train

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 14.—(INS)—Sheriff posse were searching today for a lone bandit who last night herded 50 passen-gers into a pullman car of the crack Southern Pacific "Lark" and under the threat of two steel blue automatics robbed them of an undetermined amount of cash and personal belongings.

The robber was slight of build and young-looking. He wore a black mask. Working swiftly he lined his victims up and forced them to deposit their valuables in a sack he passed around. The hold-up occurred as the crack San Francisco bound train sped be-tween Los Angeles and Glendale.

As the train neared the out-skirts of Glendale, traveling at the rate of 30 miles an hour, the band-it leaped into the darkness and disappeared. He is believed to have boarded a train, disguised as a passenger, at Los Angeles.

Striking similarity of last night's holdup to the robbery of the Santa Fe train No. 8 between Los Angeles and Pasadena eight days ago caused police to believe the same man had staged both raids.

Gunmen Rob Butcher And Flee With Cash
CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—(INS)—Five men, two armed with pistols and three with sawed-off shot guns held up the retail butcher store of Wilson and Company in the heart of the Union Stock Yards today and escaped with $5,000 in cash and $1,100 in negotiable checks.

Police Head Thinks Kidnapers Of Child Plan To Return Him

CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—(INS)—Billy Ranieri, 10-year-old victim of kidnapers, is alive and well and probably will be delivered at his parents' home today.

This was the message brought back by police Captain James Daugherty after an early morning conference with Frank R. Ranieri, the boy's father. Daugherty went to the Ranieri home last midnight and was closeted with the father for several hours. "I am convinced the father of the stolen youth is dealing direct-ly with the kidnapers," Capt. Daugherty said. "I also learned he expected the boy home today as the result of these negotiations. "When I asked him for a picture of the boy at midnight, he smiled and said you can have one in the morning when he gets home." The boy was kidnaped eight days ago and is being held for $60,000 ransom. Despite the father's plea that he is unable to raise the money, the kidnapers have noti-fied him that unless it is "on jo-bit" by Saturday—tomorrow—the boy would be tortured to death.
