Government Report Shows 1939 Good For Nut Crop

The United States Department of Agriculture reports that the 1939 nut crop is the best since 1935. The report states that the total nut crop is estimated at 1.5 billion pounds, a 10 percent increase over the 1938 crop. The report also notes that the quality of the nuts is excellent, with a high percentage of the crop being in good condition. The report is based on data from the National Nut Producers Association and the United States Nut Growers Association.

The report also provides information about the different types of nuts produced in the United States. It notes that the total nut crop is divided into three main categories: almonds, pecans, and walnuts. Almonds are the most widely produced nut, followed by pecans and walnuts. The report also provides information about the different uses of nuts, such as for food, for oil, and for other products.

THANKSGIVING

For the love of Spring... For the love of the year... For the love of the year...

MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER

If civilization continues to progress and devotes its entire energies to the annihilation of the human race, we know exactly what will happen for we have been reading...

Long after World War No. 12 (we are now living in the midst of World War No. 2) when the only living thing that could recall anything at all about the now extinct creature called man, was old Grandpa Squirrel...

"Well," says old Grandpa Squirrel, "As I remember the critters. They were like mammals. And they were the orneriest, sassiest tribe of varmints, always a-tighin' and a-foulin' and a-shootin'..."

But with the songs, came soldiers, and lieutenants, and captains, and generals. And pretty soon everyone who had gone to live in the valleys wanted to live in the mountains, and all those who had gone to live in the mountains wanted to live in the valleys...

And pretty soon the world was at war again. And men with fixed bayonets, steel helmets, and leather boots were sticking each other in the ribs, and shooting each other in the stomachs. This time nothing at all was left in the whole world...

Except one man, one woman, and one little flower.

Why not take a leaf from... President Roosevelt says we must either have a government of narrow scope...

New York's little boy, play... New York's little boy, play... New York's little boy, play...

President Roosevelt says we... President Roosevelt says we... President Roosevelt says we...

New York's little boy, play... New York's little boy, play... New York's little boy, play...

Who? Me? Yes, You!

Ever since the depression began we have been hearing people say, "Why doesn't someone do something about it?" And when the question was turned around, "Well, why don't you do something about it?" the answer invariably was, "Me? What one? I don't do it."

Well, now it is you, Public Purchaser No. 1, who can do something about it, so far as Sanford is concerned, more than anyone else. If you want to bring a $300,000 a year payroll to Sanford, with all the re-employment that means, with better stores, better wages, and profits for all, you can, simply by trading at home.

The Mayor can't make this campaign a success by himself. The Herald can't. Nobody else can. But you can, you, the man who pays the bills; you, the housekeeper who spends 80 percent of what her husband makes. You can make it a success. You can fill our vacant stores and give clerks who have been standing around twiddling their thumbs something to do. You can turn red ink into blue and make long faces round and jovial.

It isn't just the dollar you spend out of town that hurts. It's the many dollars worth of business that one dollar would have created if it had remained at home. When you spend a dollar with your local merchant, he spends it with the druggist, and the druggist takes it over to the grocer, who applies it on his fertilizer. The fertilizer dealer takes it to his butcher and the butcher buys some hardware with it.

Thus the single dollar which you spent at the merchant's store has generated six dollars worth of business. How much more business it will develop before it finally leaves town or is buried down in the old sock under the bed, nobody knows. But when that dollar is spent out of town, its circulation so far as Sanford is concerned is over. It may keep on doing some good for somebody, for some other town, but from our point of view it has joined the ranks of the unemployed.

And so, if you want Sanford to be prosperous, if you want our stores to be progressive and successful, if you want our vacant buildings occupied, if you want to see our unemployed at regular work again and the working conditions of other employees improved, if you want to see Sanford keep pace with other growing Florida communities with good schools, good churches, amusement parks, paved streets, and proper recreational facilities, all of which take money, generated from the business developed at home, do your part.

Keep Sanford dollars working in Sanford. Join the Sanford boosters. Trade at home.

MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—It may be that the real mid-west link between the original African music and modern swing has been discovered. Louis Prima thinks so.

It is a thing that he has named the "Gibby Rhythm." It comes from a melody played and changed for 150 years by a small, obscure, semi-religious sect of Negro living near Kumero, Ia., a town about 30 miles from New Orleans. This sect has kept its music in practically the same state in which it was brought over from the Congo. Their leader is an 85-year-old ex-slave named Grandpa Squirrel. Prima says he has the most extraordinary sense of rhythm he has ever seen.

The actual discovery was made by Henry Neum, a song writer, who struck upon the "Gibby Rhythm" last November. The reason the "Gibby" have kept their music a secret so long is that whenever a white man comes around they shoot up.

Neum told Prima about his discovery, and Prima, a native of New Orleans, declared he had never heard of it. But last May, while home on a visit, he went down to Kumero and looked up the King. They got to be friends. The King even invited Prima to attend several "Gibby" meetings, and in this way he came face to face with this strange sense of African rhythm.

Prima went down all of three times and learned Gibby to return to New York. He wanted to organize a 16-piece band to play current musical favorites in the Gibby style. The main difference in old jazz, and now, is that the Gibby's exist in a clear, pure state. It is altogether without sophistication. Since the Gibby's can't read music, their songs, the folk songs, were handed down from generation to generation. Prima has been recording for a solid month. He says it is hard to have all his notes and three choruses at the Gibby House and have a "take" that he offered Prima a year's contract for the "Diamond Jubilee."

In any case, all things, the King himself, drifted into town last week and Prima has made the "Gibby" music of the band. The King, an old man, has a very peculiar way of playing. He says he has never seen a white man play like that. They say it is the best in the town, he is content.

Except one man, one woman, and one little flower.

National Income To Be 4 Billion Ahead Of 1932

Unemployed Expected To Number Nearly 8 Million Soon

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—(AP)—The national income of the American people will top the 68-billion-dollar mark this year. That's about four billions ahead of the net income for 1932.

The unemployed at the end of the year will number about 8,000,000—or less than they've been since the stock market crash of 1929.

That income is far short of the 90-billion-dollar economic millennium desired by President Hoover. And the unemployed are still four times as numerous as they were in 1929.

But there has been a sharp upturn—better than most economists dared to expect before the European war came along.

Why the sharp improvement? Did the war do it?

You'd be a lot closer to the truth if you charged it up to bad memory. That's the conclusion of a large group of government economists.

The European war could not be the direct cause of our economic improvement, because our trade with Europe has shown little increase since the war began. European countries are doing a lot more business with us last year about this time.

Our 1933 prosperity—or what passes for it—can be attributed to our own fall buying spree that began with the war, and is not ended yet.

Nearly everybody had a vague notion that the war produced inflation and high prices. You call that war psychology. Everybody thought he'd buy at low prices, and sell dear later on. Prices did go up for a short while, but then they went down again for these things. Yet people are buying at present prices for supplies in advance. Apparently they are counting on something to shove our economy in a high gear within a year or so.

Maybe they're right. Anyway the steel mills are running at 90 percent of capacity and business generally is humming along at around the level of 1929.

But the memory of the World War years has not served us right. For there was no immediate upturn in 1911. In fact, there was a downturn for several months, and it was almost a year before the war spurt kited the nation into an upward economic spiral. What's more, inflation was a primary fac-

Expected to attend are 45 members of the University of Florida and 30 members of the State's undergraduate chapters, and members of the Leesburg, Miami and Jacksonville alumni groups. The newly formed alumni organization of Daytona Beach will also be invited. Individual invitations have been mailed to more than 1,000 fraternity members in the state.

Members will attend church in a body at morning and then will be feted at a dinner meeting at the Leesburg country club. After the dinner meeting future plans for state meetings will be held. Yuletide Glimmers To Be Sparkling, Full of Sparkle

NEW YORK, Nov. 27 (AP)—When swing bands begin to play for this year's Christmas parties, the frocks which dance under holly-hung chandeliers are going to glitter.

There's a touch of it in nearly every costume—either in shimmering laces and brocades, in the gold and sequin embroidery that shines on dull fabrics or in the gleaming jeweled accents worn on heads, throats and wrists. It all makes one of the richest, most sparkling modes fashion has seen in many a year.

As a balance to all this glitter, the frocks themselves often have a demure discreet air for the covered-up look is still strongly in vogue.

Parachute mines, believed Hitler's long-awaited secret war weapons, are reported responsible for many of ship sinkings off England's east coast. Photo-diagram shows how Nazi planes show these magnetic, high explosive mines. Britain plans wooden sweepers to thwart their action.

belles will dance in the new ballet frocks, whose almost measureless, frothy, net skirts are topped by bodices of sparkling sequins or brocade. The deep ecologies of these offer striking contrast to the cover-up vogue. Some slim frocks and bustle dresses will be worn too.

at the back, with the hair often scooped into a snood of chenille or shimmering gold mesh. When the mood is anything something else is nearly always worn in the hair—a gleaming jeweled bow-knot, feather tips, real flowers or velvet bows.

Jewels—never more important than they are this year—are going to add a lot of sparkle to Yuletide parties, shimmering in necklaces, pendant earrings, bracelets and clips.

Long colored suede gloves will cover hands and clog-soled sandals are going to be seen on many chic feet.

At holiday dinner and theater parties scores of slim silhouettes will be seen. Smartest are sleek suave tailcoats of dark wool or black satin and high-necked long-sleeved dinner frocks of dark or colorful wool crepe.

More smart clothes will appear at the family Christmas dinners and holiday cocktail parties. Many smart New Yorkers will wear slim simple black crepes, or one of the swishing black failles which have the season's "favored 5 o'clock look." Hats and jewels will add a splash of color to their costumes.

More talked of right now, however, are new light colored wools—muted grayed blues, muted aquamarines, dusty roses and softened golds and ambers—which sound strange new notes of color in a world accustomed to daytime blacks, browns and grays. They have a very festive look and come are sure to appear at Christmas parties in homes.

NATURE'S WAYS

Edited by C. E. Menden, President Audubon Society

Bird banding is plenty of fun, the greatest interest of course coming from reports of birds one has banded from stations perhaps a thousand miles or more away. A Purple Finch tagged in Michigan during the breeding season may show up in Northwest Florida at some feeding station. A Sooty Tern banded on the Dry Tortugas in June may be found next winter in South American waters. Pelicans nesting at the Brevard Reservation near Titusville have been found a season or so later along the East Coast, from Fernandina to West Palm Beach; and many of them have been reported from the north coast of Cuba, where they apparently find good winter feeding grounds. Occasionally one strays even to the coast of Mexico.

We have found that juncos or towhees found in the palmetto scrub near our house are always the local white-eyed species, whether winter or summer. However, in a somewhat different environment of gallberry, oldberry, and scrub oak, there may be a few white-eyes in summer, but in winter the towhees found there will be largely the Red-eyed migrants from the Northern states.

When you find a banded bird be sure to report it to the Biological Survey in Washington. It may provide just the information needed to supply a missing link. Both the one who originally banded the bird and the one who later found it will receive an interesting report from Washington. You may be thrilled to know that this frill creature has come to Florida from Northern Canada; or perhaps is on its travels to or from Mexico, its regular winter home, and is only stopping in Sanford for a "bite to eat." Last winter a Cormorant caught in a fisherman's net on the St. Johns River, proved to have been banded in Maine, while two ducks killed by hunters had been captured a year before, one in South Carolina, one in Louisiana.

THIS BIRD TRAVELLED

The longest journey of a banded bird on record is of a Sooty Tern, which tagged in Labrador was found less than three months later on the Natal, South Africa. It evidently traveled across the Atlantic Ocean. In another instance, a Red-eyed Vireo was banded in Michigan by this singer but placed together from the legs of other banded birds. It was a long trip to the Florida coast, where the bird was found in flight close to the distance for circumnavigation of

"Keep Sanford Dollars at Home!"

A CAMPAIGN WHICH, WITH YOUR COOPERATION, WILL BUILD SANFORD INTO A BIGGER AND BETTER CITY.

SPONSORED BY Edward Higgins,
Mayor Of Sanford

"THE PLAN"

At the request of a group of citizens who realize the seriousness of the loss of trade to Sanford by out-of-town buying, I am putting on a vigorous campaign to show the people of Sanford that it is to THEIR interest to trade at home and thereby keep Sanford dollars here in Sanford.

Students of the local Grammar School, the Junior High School and the High School will call on YOU beginning Monday after school and ask YOU to sign a pledge card like the one below, promising that you will co-operate by trading at home for at least the next four months and thereby do your bit to "Keep Sanford Dollars at Home," boost Sanford, and make this a bigger and better city in which to live. Prizes totaling $33.00 will be awarded to students securing the most pledges.

MY PLEDGE

Mr. Edward Higgins, Mayor
City of Sanford, Florida.

November 21, 1939

Dear Mr. Mayor:

I am entirely in sympathy with your campaign to keep Sanford Dollars in Sanford, so that they may circulate here and thus improve the general condition of our city. I believe in Sanford but realize that we are not making the best of our opportunities and am therefore willing and glad to do my full part toward making it a better town to live in. I further pledge myself for the next four months to trade at home, and do all in my power to encourage my friends and neighbors to do likewise.

The Herald will soon publish an honor roll of those citizens who sign the above pledge.

Every merchant, business and professional man will be requested to sign a "Merchant's Pledge" card like the one illustrated below. YOUR Sanford merchants are co-operating to "Keep Sanford Dollars at Home" and at the same time are pledging to you that they will carry a stock of goods that will be as stylish, as of good quality, and as of low prices as you can find in other cities where many Sanford people have been trading.

MERCHANT PLEDGE

Hon. Edward Higgins, Mayor
City of Sanford

1939

Dear Mr. Mayor:

I will co-operate in your plan to keep Sanford Dollars in Sanford and pledge myself to the following:

1. To carry such stock of goods as are necessary to fill all demands and to sell at such prices to meet competition.
2. To purchase all supplies and accessories, except stock for resale, as are incidental to my business in Sanford as far as possible.
3. To impress upon all my employees the importance of spending their wages in Sanford.

Russian-Finnish Dispute Flaring After Incidents

Finnish artillery opened fire only on Russian troops stationed at the border village of Malmi, and killed four men, including a junior commander, and wounded nine men, including a junior commander and a junior lieutenant. Seven machine guns were fired, it was alleged, at the village which is located on the Karelian Isthmus reaching between the Gulf of Finland and Lake Ladoga. From the Finnish border there is only about 20 miles from Leningrad, one of Russia's largest cities. However, in Helsinki, the Finnish capital, Premier Calander emphatically denied there had been any shooting. Observers in Moscow interpreted the reported incident and the Soviet demand in the light of a threatening and vitriolic attack on Finland yesterday in Pravda, Communist party newspaper, which singled out Premier Calander and said he should study the fate that befell "Polish jackanapes." They pointed out that Russia probably had nearly 1,000,000 troops massed along the borders of Finland, whose entire population is not much more than three times that figure. Finland, they pointed out, is known as a land "of a thousand lakes" and that these waters are now frozen over easing the way for troops equipped with snowshoes. They pointed out, also that the growing campaign of the inspired Soviet press against Finland was similar to that which suddenly opened upon Poland just before the invasion of that country Sept. 17. At any rate, it was feared that a pretext for an invasion had been reported, if an invasion were intended. Some foreign quarters thus interpreted yesterday's events as a signal for Soviet troops, massed along the Finnish borders, to march in and to reap the diplomatic conquests of the shores of the Baltic that were begun with Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania.

LONDON, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain said last night in a radio speech that the Allies' war aims foresee a Utopian Europe completely disarmed and living in good will and mutual tolerance after Hitlerism is crushed. His speech contained the first detailed statement of Britain's war aims, including a "new Europe" which he said would take years of patient cooperation to bring about. He warned the British people that Germany at any time may unleash mass aerial bombardments of the British Isles "without any considerations of humanity."

Chamberlain's radio address was his first since he went before a microphone at No. 10 Downing Street 12 weeks ago today and announced gravely that Britain was at war with Germany. The prime minister said that the Allies' war aim is "to defeat our enemy" while their peace aims were to "establish a new Europe."

The new Europe, he added, would not be brought about by tearing up old frontier posts and redrawing the map of Europe according to the dictates of the victors. "It will be a Europe with a new spirit in which the nations which inhabit it would approach their difficulties with good will and mutual tolerance," he said. Boundary adjustments will be settled around a conference table.

"There will be a full and constant flow of trade among the nations concerned," he said, and each European country will have the right to choose its own form of internal government "so long as that government does not pursue an external policy injurious to its neighbors."

"In such a Europe armaments would gradually be dropped as a useless expense. The establishment of the Utopian Europe, he said, would be a process requiring years to bring about and necessitating some sort of machinery for conducting and guiding its development."

BRITISH HERO DIES
NOVE, England, Nov. 27.—(AP)—General Sir George Tom Malenkov, 69, who used a tin which was a leg from a mummy, the British troops returning from home during the World War, died yesterday in a nursing home here after a long illness.

Army Board Hears Merits Of Canal To East Coast

The board to the capital. There were five delegates from Jacksonville, including George W. Gibbs, president of the association, and Arthur Soles, Duval county engineer, who also assisted in the preparation of a report on the project, which will cost slightly over $5,000,000. There are other Florida waterway improvement projects which are scheduled for consideration at the meeting of the board today. They include: Improvements in the St. Johns from Jacksonville to the ocean. Certain improvements were recommended by the division engineer, but after a previous hearing, the board said it was "not convinced of the advisability" of the project. Improvements in the channel from the intracoastal waterway to Cocoa and in the Cocoa turning basin. Although the division engineer's report was partly favorable, the board was "not convinced" the work should be undertaken. Deepening of Lake Worth inlet. The project was turned down by the division engineer on the ground that "the cost of the improvement is not justified by the benefits to be expected therefrom." On the basis of testimony at public hearings and the findings of subordinate engineers, the board makes recommendations to the chief of engineers, who in turn presents his conclusions to the Secretary of War. The secretary then transmits the whole sheet of reports to the Senate Commerce Committee or the House Rivers and Harbors Committee. All waterway projects require authorization by Congress.

Seal Sale To Begin On Thanksgiving Day

JACKSONVILLE, Nov. 27.—(AP)—An army of volunteers are working feverishly throughout Florida in preparation for the coming Christmas Seal Sale. The sale opens November 30, Florida's Thanksgiving Day, and closes Christmas Day. In every county in Florida workers are preparing lists to whom Christmas Seals will be mailed later this month. Arrangements are being made for a display of the colorful Christmas posters and other exhibits designed to call to the attention of the public the Christmas Seal Sale and the tuberculosis program which it supports. The sale in Florida is sponsored by the Florida Tuberculosis and Health Association and its affiliated organizations and committees, making a network to every town and hamlet in the state.

Solution To Relief Sought In Cleveland

Jobless Charge On City Hall With Demand For Immediate Action By Mayor

Services May Be Destroyed

Relief Comes Ahead Of Every Obligation, Burton Says

CLEVELAND, Nov. 28.—(AP)—Mayor Harold H. Burton was ready today to "destroy" the city's regular services to feed hungry reliefers, who have threatened to obtain food "on our own authority."

"Relief comes ahead of every obligation," Burton told 1,000 shouting jobless last night who stormed the city hall with a demand that the city take immediate steps to restore curbed relief.

"He answered a threat to 'feed ourselves' by retorting sharply: 'That is anarchy. That must not be permitted in Cleveland and will not be permitted in Cleveland.'"

C. B. Cowan, head of the association of unemployed, demanded that the city council restore regular relief services, which were drastically slashed because of dwindling funds.

With 70,000 on relief the city has lopped off the relief employment and other benefits to others.

Burton placed responsibility for the crisis on the state. He has tried unsuccessfully to get Governor C. Frankland to call a special session of the legislature to consider the problem.

Two city relief offices were closed and applicants admitted only at 11 a. m. This morning, however, a second office was opened and a second admission of applicants was permitted.

The German government, last night in a 3,000-word announcement that the recent British Blue Book on the origins of the war contains indisputable proof that Great Britain played a "treacherous, two-faced game" which forced Poland into war with Germany.

The German reply asserted that on Aug. 25, three days before the final invasion of Poland, the British government committed a "forgery" in order to gain time.

This "forgery and sheer lie," according to the government statement, was a memorandum delivered to Germany from British Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax saying that Britain would need a month to settle a settlement of Germany's demands.

Actually, it was contended, Poland had not consented to any such settlement and was feverishly preparing for war.

England wanted war against Germany, the German government said, "Germany already has day after day been unable to make any reply to this proof."

The British Blue Book was described as "an irresponsible attempt to scape responsibility for the war to Germany."

"SCARLET O'HARA" PRESENTS

Scarlett O'Hara wedding presents are becoming the vogue amid all the furors over the world premiere of "Gone With the Wind," in Atlanta on December 15. This painting, held by Mrs. Harold Sargent of Atlanta, was a gift to the Sargents from Henry Kurtz, son of Wilbur Kurtz, who was technical adviser in filming of "Gone With the Wind." The painting depicts Scarlett, who wears a likeness to Vivien Leigh, standing on the staircase talking to a Yankee soldier.

Jury Returns Second Degree Murder Verdict

Denmark Montgomery Must Serve At Least 20 Years

After staying out only a short time, a 12-man jury returned at noon today a verdict of second degree murder in the case of Denmark Montgomery, negro, charged in a Grand Jury indictment with premeditated murder in connection with the fatal shooting of Hattie W. Walker, negro, in Midway on the evening of May 29.

The verdict of the jurors carries with it a minimum sentence of 20 years in the State Prison at Raiford although the 65-year-old negro will not be sentenced by Circuit Judge Millard B. Smith until later in the current court term.

This was the first of the criminal cases to be prosecuted at this term of the Circuit Court. The next case, docketed for Friday morning at 9:30 o'clock, will be that of Sinclair Ash, negro, charged in a Grand Jury indictment with premeditated murder in connection with the fatal shooting of Ralph Cook, negro.

On Monday, Ellis Locks of Longwood, will go on trial for the alleged theft of one of the large cypress trees in the Big Tree Park near Longwood.

The jurors who returned the verdict against Montgomery in the case which began yesterday morning are as follows: Perry G. Cameron, L. A. Brunley, W. H. Rife, Earl D. Darr, E. A. Farrell, B. F. McWhorter, C. R. Clontz, C. M. Marshall, Orie R. Mathews, Jack Christian, E. F. Lundquist and L. C. Beaver.

By flying from Washington to Warm Springs and back to get some essential Presidential decisions, Smith said he would be able to prevent a week's inactivity by a house appropriations committee which is getting the treasury appropriation bill ready for the next congress.

After their conference at the temporary White House on a Georgia mountainside, the President drove Smith to the headquarters of the Warm Springs foundation for infantile paralysis sufferers and dined with the officers who few Smith down in an army helicopter.

"How are you going to get out of that field without any wind?" Roosevelt asked.

The fliers said they believed they could make it all right, although the terrain was rough.

Inspection Period Will Be Extended

Citrus Group Votes For Cent-A-Box Levy To January; Shippers Divided

LAKELAND, Nov. 28.—(AP)—The Florida Citrus Commission today extended the maturity inspection period, and voted a cent-a-box inspection tax from Dec. 1 to Jan. 1.

By law the inspection period ends midnight Nov. 30 but the commission said the authority to extend the time to protect the industry and the consuming public from green fruit.

In past years, the practice has been to extend the inspection 15 days or a month. Representatives of the industry divided on the question of a special meeting of the board but commissioners said there was a need for continued inspection through maturity tests. The majority of fruitmen agreed with this view.

LAKELAND, Nov. 28.—(AP)—Frost nipped tender truck crops in north Florida this morning, but the Weather Bureau said such crops should be protected tomorrow morning from further frost damage.

Frozen Food Industry May Hurt South As Winter Garden Center

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 28.—(AP)—A depression-born industry is changing America's eating habits and uprooting long established markets for agricultural products with such rapidity that the nation's farmers do not yet realize the tremendous upheaval taking place.

That's the story brought back by Harry Carlton, University of Tennessee market expert, from a 10-months study of the infant frozen food industry, pursued rapidly to all parts of the country.

Ending a 21,000-mile coast-to-coast tour of farm producing and distributing centers, Carlton summed up his findings with the assertion:

"The frozen food industry is knocking the calendar out of the farming game, and every farming center south of the Potomac is becoming a direct competitor of the other."

And, he added, the southern farmer is going to be holding the long, with the north, to grow or getting the profit on the products of exceptional quality and fine flavor are developed to compete with the frozen products of the north, where the frozen industry has reached its highest development.

A national authority on farm marketing, Carlton pointed out, farmers during an interview to support his claims that article of ture faces a complicated problem upstating all the established marketing practices based on cash and crops.

The first large-scale experiment in freezing fruit, vegetables, fish and meats were carried out in the late '20's, Carlton said, and the frozen foods were first marketed in 1930.

At that time, one large concern had 50 retail outlets for its frozen products but despite the harvest and restricted markets of depression years, it has 500 retail outlets today and is adding 50,000 retail grocers are now equipped to handle frozen products.

Two years ago the frozen industry marketed 20 million pounds of vegetable and 10 million pounds of fruit and about 10 million of fish, poultry and meats.

Last year the total output of frozen food was valued at about $90,000,000 and the industry is now applying the growing demand, according to Carlton, to other lines.

"If the rate of increase continues in this depression year, it is what will be under normal conditions," he said.

"Individuals who are able to realize yet the market's potential for business in food in Florida, that hotels and other concerns serving the tourist trade, the frozen berry season there, some come from Florida," he stated.

Depend a few losses in the game that is making Sanford famous. As mentioned, we have seen the gradual growing in numbers of our own visitors and it was little as we can do to make their playing facilities pleasant and efficient for little by little they are coming in an ever-increasing number.

City To Make Repairs To Shuffle Board Courts Following Petition

A petition signed by 70 Sanford business men requesting improvements to the shuffle board courts on the corners of Palmetto and Second Street was presented the City Commission at its meeting in the City Hall last night and the petitioners were given the assurance that the needed repairs would be made as soon as possible.

It was also pointed out that although the courts now the fire station have been allowed to run somewhat in the last few months, that there are 12 new courts fully equipped for the use of the shuffleboard in Fort Meade Park.

The City not only plans to make improvements to the courts near the fire station but to also provide lighting facilities for night play on the courts in the lake front park. There are also horse shoe, racquet, tennis and croquet courts in the park equipped for the use of tourist visitors and residents of Sanford and plans for a recreational building are being made.

The petition was circulated by W. L. Aldrich, a tourist visitor of Sanford, who expressed his appreciation to those who signed the petition "to assist in providing facilities for the amusement of tourist visitors while in Sanford."

The petition is as follows: "We the undersigned businessmen and merchants of Sanford, do most respectfully petition your honorable body to make such improvements in and upon the City's Shuffle Board Courts as will provide a pleasant and attractive place for our winter visitors to

City Defers Approval Of Lighting Deal

Commission Bars Gambling Concessions From Seminole Fair

A new 10-year street lighting contract and the Seminole County Fair scheduled for February were the principal topics of discussion at the regular meeting of the City Commission last night when the group deferred action on signing the proposed lighting contract and granted permission for the Elk Lodge to sponsor the annual affair providing certain restrictions are observed.

H. H. Coleman, local manager of the Florida Power and Light Company, gave the Commission a detailed outline of the "Type B" rates which would become effective when the City signs the 10-year contract. The local power company manager agreed to furnish free of charge current for the remainder of the fiscal year for several additional lights which would be installed under the contract.

This year's fair, under the supervision of the Elk Lodge will be strictly educational. Fred D. Dyer, president of the Commission, in requesting permission for the use of the lake front property for the Fort Meade Park improvement, said he felt for the fact in granting the lodge permission to hold the fair this year the Commission would allay a long-standing desire of the people of Sanford.

Several bills were received for consideration at a reception in Fort Meade Park. The bills were ordered filed for the future reference.

A. A. Latham was granted permission to construct a concrete filling station and grocery store on the northwest corner of Florida Avenue and First Street, and the application of W. A. Herkins for construction of a frame building to be used as a fish market on Cypress Avenue was turned down on the ground that the building would be in the fire district.

The problem of sink holes in the stacks of the pine mill in Sanford again came before the Commission and a resolution was passed to have a study made of the problem.

Two complaints of a mobile nuisance were referred to Building Inspector G. P. Paxton for his attention.

The City Commission also acted on the application of 45 months to be used to delay building expenses in connection with the Home Aid Project.

Amendments to the ordinance regarding the operation of public dealers in Sanford was also recommended by the City of Police Roy G. Williams.

The proposed amendment would place a limit on the age of the boys from whom the dealers can purchase. The move was proposed in order to check the petty trading among small boys who sell their stolen wares to the public dealers. The matter was referred to City Attorney Fred R. Wilson.

The contractor for the city of Sanford is to be notified of the ordinance and a person employed by one of the persons a contractor and two sub-contractors without payment of the contractor's license.

Chamberlain States Blockade Will Go Into Effect Dec. 4

HELSINKI, Nov. 28.—(AP)—Foreign office spokesman announced today Russia denounced the non-aggression pact with Finland in a note handed to the Finnish foreign minister in Moscow.

German authorities today asserted that a British heavy cruiser had been torpedoed and destroyed by a submarine off the Shetland Islands as master of the seas was disputed with growing intensity by Europe's belligerents.

The German announcement said the cruiser of the London class, 9,850 tons, was sunk by the same submarine commander who sank the battleship Royal Oak Oct. 11 at Scapa Flow. German military experts earlier had claimed the British fleet had been "sunk" from the North Atlantic well as the North Sea, but the German opening Parliament, stated that the entire sea area was being kept "free and open."

British ships brought to port 105 German prisoners from captured British vessels, one understood to be a submarine. Chamberlain announced that the British blockade of German ports was in effect today.

According to Finnish Russian sources, the European spokesman, Finland replied with an offer to compromise with Russia's demand for withdrawal of Finnish troops from frontier Finland areas and to withdraw if the offer was accepted.

The Finnish government, denying the offer, suggested that the offer be referred to a joint commission established by a treaty to take care of border problems. Finland had earlier refused the offer open to Russia.
