Eighth Woman Found Nude And Murdered

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) - Beginning Jan. 1, motorists must prove they have auto insurance when they renew their tag instead of when the auto is inspected.

Mosquito War Moving Ahead

The anti-blind mosquito marauders seem to be

We are especially encouraged that two of our state representatives, Rep. Vince Fechtel (R-Leesburg) and Robert Hattaway (D-Altamonte Springs), have committed themselves to join in the pattle of the blind mosquito.

We are equally encouraged that the movement to find a means of controlling those pesky midges is growing beyond Seminole County as evidenced this week by the presence of officials from six other central Florida counties at a meeting in Mt. Dora.

All agreed with the special task force created by the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce that eventual control of the pests is dependent on a comprehensive research program. Such a program costs money, and the commitment is there now to go out and get from the state what is needed: an initial funding of $250,000.

The decision to seek state funding, instead of relying on funding the problem is not limited to any one country — although we here in Seminole know fully how devastating the problem is.

It was Sanford, after all, and the panel headed

y John Krider, that initiated the latest, ongoing war on the blind mosquito

Dr. John Darby, head of the Sanford Institute of Food and Agricultural Science. Agricultural Research and Education Center in Sanford—where the research would be conducted—has set what appears to be a realistic objective.

"The goal," says Dr. Darby, "would be to manage the pest in such a way that the population of the blind mosquito would be reduced to an acceptable non-nusiance level."

Even that would be a relief. Just ask the proprietors of the Holiday Inn on Sanford's lakefront. Or the merchants in downtown Sanford. Or visitors to the Seminole County Courthouse or lending their know-how and strengths in addressing the blind mosquito menace.

Dr. Hall, assistant medical entomologist at the University of Florida's Sanford institute, will be spearheading the research program.

He noted—among other more technical data—that modifying conditions under which the midge survives can make the insect easier to control. So the thought processes are working. And as long as the objectives are kept in such reasonable. rational and realistic levels, the jobs surely will be inished. We endorse these efforts. And you can help, too. Let your local and state officials know of your concern and disgust with the ever-returning blind mosquitoes. Let them know you want something done.

NO HANDICAP: Despite the fact that his arms and hands are not fully developed, 13 year old Chris Jackson from Iowa has won numerous bowling awards. He is carrying a 95 average and has reled a 170 game. Chris placed first in team and singles competition in his local association tournament, which qualified him to represent the area in the District Family Doubles Tournament. No. . . this youngster isn't handicapped.

How would you like to be a 103 averaged bowler, 11 years of age, and come up with a 275 game? Well, it is true; and the elated youngster is Tommy Stephenson, of Athens, Georgia. BOWLING TIP: A bowling tip from none other than the pro of pros, Earl Anthony; whose tip is for all bowlers, no matter their age. We are aware that bowling is a game of coordination and concentration, and one of controlling your emotions. It is a sport with no defense. So Mr. Anthony advises it does no good to get angry, kick objects, or throw the ball harder. Just concentrate on a smooth delivery and work hard on your weak points. Lessons and lots of practice also help.

AROUND THE LEAGUES: OFTY LEAGUE: This oldest of leagues in the area reports high average held by Frank Schautteet, 181. One pin separates the field for high scratch game, with Mike Kearney at 242 and Warren Mewes right behind with a 241. Jack Kaiser's high scratch series leads (641), while Bob Kirkland's 700 handicap series is high.

KISH REAL, ESTATE: Gary Lauden did some fantastic bowling with games of 173-244 giving him a nice 569 series, and star of the week title with 115 pins above his average. McDONALD'S MIXED: Rolling right along is Joanna Bass, who rolled a 190 game, 518 series and garnered star of the week honors with 107 pins over her average.

SHOOTING STARS: Kathle Behrens ran rampant over the lanes, rolling a great 227 game and 548 series. Psychiatrist Gets It All Together

Dr. Gutman (left considers himsel no different from a mechanic who works on cars. If your car has a problem, you go to a mechanic, get it diagnosed and repaired.

By MARYLIN SHEDDAN Herald Staff Writer

"Always speak the truth, but do not always tell it." "Don't marry trouble. Don't buy the line 'I need you'." "The closer the crisis, the closer the cure."

And-"People can't read your mind. If you show self confidence they will think you have it. Soon you will." The above are just a few of what might be called "The maxims of Michael" - Michael being E. Michael Gutman, MD., P.A., formerly of Sanford and now of Winter

Gutman is a psychiatrist, but he considers himself "no different from a mechanic who works on cars. If your car has a problem you go to a mechanic, get it diagnosed and repaired. If you come to me with a problem you get it fixed and go on your wav." says the moustached darkeyed man who does not believe in therapy which takes years to help a patient.

"I believe that people are fed up with the conventional type of Freudian psycholanalysis," Gutman says.

Gutman-and his numerous patients-are pleased that his fast, hard-driving therapy is useful to patients of all "The youngest patient I ever treated was 9-monthsold. The infant was spoiled, cried all the time and constantly demanded attention," Gutman explained.

"All I did was hold it while it cried and tell it over and over that when it stopped crying I would give it back to its mother." Gutman says.

"It took only a short time for the baby to learn it had to stop even whimpering to be returned to its mother, and the grateful parents were soon on their way with a healthier family," he said. Gutman was an army psychiatrist, working far from the cries of spoiled babies, with the 85th Evacuation

Hospital in Qui Nhon, Vietnam, before his discharge in He set up private practice in Orange County and promptly spread his psychiatric knowledge around among groups who could benefit-from Vietnamese refugees to police, and hospital patients.

He has talked at least, one hostage-holding criminal into freeing his victim and given testimony in more than 600 criminal cases. But he says a lot of ordinary people can often benefit from psychiatric help.

"Any time a person has a gnawing discomfort inside himself; when he knows within himself that something isn't right; when he knows he is out of tune, a few millimeters off on his timing then he needs to go to someone to get help," Gutman explains.

"I tell my patients to work on a part (such as those at the beginning of this article) when they are having trouble. They are also told to make note of any situation that comes up where the formula is applicable They bring it in to me and we talk about it," he says. Gutman has packed his mini-bits of wisdom into an over-sized paperback book entitled "The Winner, or, A Headshrinker's Full Deck of Freeze-Dried Formulas on How To Win'', which he and wife have printed and sell for $2 a copy.

The book is written around a deck of ordinary playing cards, each with its own formula and instructions for making that formula work. He divides the suits of cards into: clubs, for leadership; diamonds, for gems of success; spades, for mastery of personal relationships, and hearts for introspection, intimacy, trust and love. One such formula, represented by the nine of hearts, is called "Self-Profile". It says, "Everyone should write an autobiographical sketch, a resume, and a curriculum

It goes on to list the items which one should include in such a sketch: present life; childhood; family, siblings; adult life; work; marriage; divorce; children; schools; hobbies, interests, tastes; military; past medical mental; skills; handicaps; friendships; eat, sleep, play; criminal; religion: vice, morals; moods, behaviour; sex life; patriotism, vote; homes. Then the sketch is to include a chart of faults, successes failures and goals. The book includes 58 such formulas, for the 52 playing cards and six others. It also includes a detailed section entitled "Parent Power" and provides detailed, but attain the cooperation of one's children.

"There is a new movement in this country toward God and religion," Gutman says. "People are looking for the strength. All of God's formulas are in the Bible," he says, adding that he bases all of his work on that book-and that it is so stated in such a way that "Christians, Jews, agnostics, and atheists can all deal with it and learn from Besides being the TV and print spokesman for Ford, Del Monte, and General Foods, Bill Cosby is currently starring with Sidney Poitier in the film, "A Piece of the Action." And this past July, Bill Cosby became Dr. William Henry Cosby, the result of seven years of study in the field of education at the University of Massachusetts.

"I think I proved that with motivation anything is possible," says Cosby in Essence magazine. "If I have any goal in life, it is to motivate learning in our kids. It's been said before; it'll be said again: Education is the key to our advancement. No child today

Some of us have individual problems which can be solved by experienced people who work in local Social Security offices. It's understandable that many of us cannot make personal trips to these offices because of physical handicaps or for lack of transportation. I've found the phone a good way to set answers for some of my questions. And I've recently obtained a copy of the informative hookiet. Their Humitess with Social Security? today. The Congressional House Ways and Means Committee has voted to let us earn up to $4,500 in 1978 and $5,000 in 1979.

Many retirees aren't physically and mentally ready to work eight hours a day and five days a week. But President Carter recently asked heads of federal departments and agencies to hire part-time workers, which may provide opportunities for many older persons to get some much-needed extra income and still not exceed the earnings limitations which now keep many from doing productive work.

But I suggest you also write to your congressmen and your two U.S. Senators. And I recommend you send this mail to their local offices instead of to them in Washington where they may be busy and preoccupied with national legislation. Back home they're more likely to be keyed to the problems of their constituents — you and me, the old folks at home.

I wish I could provide guaranteed assurance to those who expressed fear that the Social Security hand would be depleted and there would be no maney to continue sending us our monthly benefit checks. Mine has to be a purely personal guess. Comes the day when there won't be enough delices in the fund, the money for our checks will come out of the general treasury fund.

Which maybe is the way the financing of Social Security should be made anyway.

It was Kirchhoff who told Stewart by telephone last Tuesday night commissioners had voted to add payment of Stewart's moving expenses to the $31,500 annual salary. The Ft. These cool, brisk central Florida days lend themselves to all kinds of activities and pastimes — including the temptation to exercise. That's what these youngsters had in mind as they took advantage of the playground equipment at Southside Elementary School in Sanford. And it seemed to be a girl's day, as Deonna Murray managed to climb a little faster atop the bars just high enough to look down at Stephen and Manuel Celis who were doing their hangin'-on thing.
