The terminal project was not based on any objection to water transportation, as Chase & Co. stood to make a large financial gain if the terminal should prove successful. He also pointed out that he personally owns property in the waterfront section which should increase in value.

However, he continued, he did not believe that the terminal would prove successful, and added that it is possible to pay too much for some things, even good things. Quoting at length from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation resolution which the City Commission has approved in connection with the financing of the proposed project, Mr. Chase said that substantially it gives the RFC a blank check and places the City in a position of unlimited liability to the federal agency.

He said that the cost of maintaining and operating the terminal would be $120,000, not including interest charges on the money borrowed, and the City agrees to pay these charges whether the revenue from the terminal plus the parking meter revenues are sufficient or not, and might have to assess additional ad valorem taxes to do so.

Declaring that the City has sold its birthright for a mess of pottage, Mr. Chase declared that it is a mistake to surrender the sovereignty of the city to some remote but all powerful agency. "We have already seen what can happen through unwise financing," he declared.

Indicating his suspicion that the RFC didn't really want to make the loan and had made the restrictions so rigid in the hope the City would not accept the restriction, Mr. Chase concluded by pointing out that Sanford has been on the upgrade for the past ten years without the aid of the terminal.

"There is no reason to believe it will stop now without the terminal. The best way to attract new business and industries here is to avoid unnecessary increases in City expenses and keep taxes down," he said.

Speaking for the stadium, Mr. Stenstrom said that it would provide a place for baseball, football, other types of outdoor recreation with stands for 5,000 people at a cost of $140,000. He said it would eliminate the dangers of the present structure, do away with constantly mounting maintenance costs, and provide protection for Sanford's million dollar investment.

statement it said was signed by Fuchs, describing himself as a "schizophrenic" (split personality) who had divided his mind into two compartments. One permitted him to carry on agreeable contracts with those around him at the Harwell atom plant. The other established him as a person completely independent of the forces of society.

Fuchs was the leading atomic researcher during the war at Harwell. Britain's atomic establishment, and was head of the theoretical physics branch, the heart of the power company increase practical for the power company to reduce rates by a proportionate amount since any rate reduction within the city limits of Sanford would have to be accompanied by a rate reduction throughout their entire system, making the cost of such a reduction prohibitive.

He also pointed out that with a 30 year franchise the power company would be in a position to borrow money for plant expansion at a rate of interest less than is possible with a short term franchise and thus save considerable sums of money. Thus, he said, the proposed "kickback" in exchange for the 30 year franchise is a good deal for the power company and it is a good deal for the City.

"If we lack the faith in our City necessary to provide these essential recreation facilities for our youth at a cost which the power company will pay," he concluded, "where will we ever get the faith to make future costlier improvements to our sewerage system as advocated by our opponents."

Commenting on the Merchants Association and the City Commission for bringing these issues before the people, Mr. Martina said he was opposed to the stadium because he had been brought up in a business family and had been taught that the essence of good business is sound economy. And it is not sound, he said, to spend more than you make.

The City of Sanford spent $122,429 last year on a debt which it already has, a debt which if paid at the current rate will still be over two million dollars when it all comes due in 1970. He suggested that if the City can get additional revenue from the power company it should be applied to a reduction of the debt which already consumes about one-fourth of the City's annual revenue.

Pointing out that only about 1,000 or 1,500 fans attend baseball games here on the average, Mr. Martina said that the stadium would be a "must" and he deplored the defeatist attitude which says that we cannot afford them. Extension of the sewer lines, he said, would cost only $325,000 or only about twice as much as the stadium.

"We should not try to provide comfort and luxury for baseball fans until we have taken care of our sewer problem," he said.

Fier William James Skardon testified Fuchs had signed a statement when he was questioned at the Harwell plant on his arrest last week.

In the statement, Fuchs was said to have asserted that when he learned the kind of work he was to do in Britain, "I decided to inform Russia and I established contact through another member of the Communist Party."

"Since that time I have had continuous contact with persons completely unknown to me except that they would give information to the Russians," the statement said.

"At this time I had complete confidence in the Russian policy and I had no hesitation in giving all the information I had."

"I believed deliberately the Western Allies allowed Germany and Russia to fight each other to the death. I tried to concentrate on giving the results of my own work x x x"

"I used my Marxist philosophy to conceal my thoughts, which had to be separated into two compartments. One side was the man I wanted to be. I could be free and easy and happy with other people without fear of disclosing myself because I knew the other compartment would step in if I reached a danger point. x x x"

"Looking back now, the best way is to call it controlled schizophrenia."

MacArthur To Control Fleet In Jap Waters

Joint Chiefs Announce Unification Attempts In Pacific; Report To Truman

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13. (AP)—The military high command announced today it has given General Douglas MacArthur authority to assume control of American Naval Forces in Japanese waters in event of emergency.

This unification move was made known at a news conference held by the Joint Chiefs of Staff who have just returned from a 10-day tour of Pacific bases.

It was also announced that they have submitted a "top secret paper" to President Truman on the effects on American security of the Communist advance in Asia.

General Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs, was asked whether Communism could be stopped at the borders of China with American aid. He replied that this was primarily a State Department decision and then volunteered the statement that the top secret report has been submitted.

Admiral Forrest P. Sherman, the chief of Naval operations, said there is no evidence that Russia since the war has increased the percentage of its total naval force which is maintained in the Pacific.

"It is our plan to keep the Pacific fleet as strong as we can with the total force we have," Sherman said. "As you know, we have made minor adjustments in that direction."

In response to questions, Sherman also said he believes that American Naval forces in the western Pacific are equipped and deployed to cope with any threat from Soviet Russian submarine strength.

Before the news conference, Secretary of Defense Johnson told reporters the chiefs had a "general idea" of the military situation in the Pacific. He also said he believed they had accomplished savings of $4,000,000 to $10,000,000 by the spot consolidation of military activities.

Sherman related that while they were in Tokyo the joint chiefs ordered a change in the Pacific command structure to "strengthen and clarify" relations between the Naval forces and General MacArthur's occupation headquarters.

"When the western Pacific Naval forces are in Japanese waters and when there is no general security threat, the western Pacific forces are not in Japanese waters, they operate as units of the Pacific fleet," Sherman said.

Three Collisions Occur In Sanford During Weekend

Mrs. George A. Speer was shaken up and slightly bruised, but otherwise was not seriously injured in an automobile collision which occurred Saturday at the intersection of Park Avenue and Seventh Street near her home at 700 Park Avenue.

Damage to the 1949 Plymouth sedan which Mrs. Speer was driving was estimated at $300, and to the 1930 Ford Coupe, involved in the collision, and driven south on Park Avenue by James P. Benson, at $400.

The accident was investigated by Police Chief Williams, Capt. Tills and Patrolmen Spence and Sparks.

At 5:40 o'clock Sunday afternoon a 1936 Ford Coupe driven south on Sanford Avenue by U. E. Benton, collided with a 1948 Oldsmobile driven east on Twentieth Street by Harry Atkins of New York state. Damage to the Ford was estimated at $100; to the Oldsmobile, $300. Patrolman Sparks reported that no one was injured.

Another collision occurred at 12:30 P. M. Sunday when a 1950 Buick sedan, driven north on Mainville Avenue by Myron F. Smith, collided with a 1939 Plymouth Sedan driven west on Twenty-fifth Street by H. L. Fringle, colored. Damage to the Plymouth was estimated at $150; to the Buick, $35. No injuries were reported by Patrolman Joe Hickson, and Patrolman Spence.

Nutritional Value Of Celery Told At Rotary Meet

Celery Knob Is Said To Be Rich In Minerals By Speaker

Jack Smith, member of a New York Stock Exchange firm, and guest of Bill Kirk at the Rotary luncheon today, stressed the nutritional value of celery and said that the celery knob has been found to be particularly rich in minerals.

Mrs. Bess Mackintosh of St. Augustine, general field representative for the southern area of the American Red Cross, traced the origin of the Red Cross to a battlefield in Switzerland in 1864 and said there are now 65 Red Cross organizations, in addition to the American Red Cross, operating throughout the world.

Reporting for the building committee of the Rotary Club, G. W. Spencer said that the architect had been authorized to draw up plans for a proposed civic club building to be sponsored by the Rotary Club and revealed that the committee is now looking for a suitable site.

Dr. R. W. Ruprecht reported that at a board of directors meeting last Friday night an appropriation of $250 for the operation of a Junior Baseball League here this Spring was approved. It is expected that there will be four teams in the league and they will be coached and managed by members of the Rotary Club.

Dr. Holt, one of the few surviving members of the League to Enforce Peace, gave his ideas today in the form of a public statement at his winter home.

He said President Truman's pledge to develop atomic weapons until a control plan is achieved is more important than the decision to make the bomb because it means the hydrogen bomb is not itself adequate to insure justice, peace and security, but a necessary evil that must be developed, supported and endured until at least some sort of world organization is established to control or abolish it.

U.S. Ready For Atomic Parley With Russia

State Department Answers Charge Of Blame For Soviet Walkout In U.N.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13. (AP)—Assistant Secretary of State John D. Hickerson said today the United States is ready "at any time to sit down and talk" with Russia on the control of atomic energy.

Hickerson made this response to a charge by Russia's Jacob A. Malik that the United States and other Western powers are responsible for the Soviet walkout from the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission. The Russian delegate quit this and other U. N. agencies over a demand for expulsion of the Chinese Nationalist representatives.

Hickerson declared at a news conference that the "Soviet Union and the Soviet Union alone is blocking the agreement."

In saying the United States is ready to discuss the subject "at any time" he made plain he was referring to discussions within the United Nations.

Hickerson was U. S. representative on the six-nation atomic commission when Malik walked out of the group. The Russian left when the commission refused to act on Russia's demand that the Chinese Nationalist delegate be replaced by a representative of the Chinese Communist regime.

Hickerson went over the U. S. position in response to newsmen's questions about a newsmen's letter to U. N. Secretary General Trygve Lie blaming the West for collapse of the talks.

He declared the U. N. official record of what took place in the commission said he said the issue raised by Malik was wholly irrelevant" and added that Russia showed little regard for the General Assembly's resolution that the U. N. should be open to all states in a search for an agreement on control.

Hickerson said that although the United States is continuing to look for a deal, it is not ready to talk.

TRUMAN ASKS FOR TIGHTER CONTROLS ON GI TRAINING
WASHINGTON, Feb. 13. (AP)—President Truman asked today Congress today to fix tighter controls for the kind of schools eligible to have been organized primarily to get in on the flow of government GI training which, until now, have been "shaded" and "swayed" by government funds.

Mr. Truman said in a recent message to Congress that the "increased training in trade and vocational training has included training of less than acceptable quality."

In a number of cases, the President added, "veterans have not received instructions which were of such quality as to get in on the flow of government GI training which, until now, have been 'shaded' and 'swayed' by government funds."

The President's letter and the report made plain they were made to assist the GI training.

Under the GI Bill, the government has made to train.

MIAMI EDITOR GETS 30 DAY SENTENCE
MIAMI, Feb. 13. (AP) — Reubin Klein, a weekly publisher, was ordered to jail for 30 days today for refusing to tell the Dade County grand jury his source of information for an article that appeared in his publication.

Circuit Judge Charles E. Carroll found Klein to be in contempt of court. He said Klein's refusal to tell the "whole truth" tended to obstruct the grand jury in its investigation of gambling.

The contempt charge grew out of publication by Klein of testimony allegedly given by two others before the grand jury. Klein's publication is the weekly "Miami Life."

The article quoted Melvin Richard, Miami Beach city councilman who has claimed he was offered a $200,000 bribe to support gambling, and a radio commentator, Barry Gray.

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 13. (AP)—Angry soft coal miners continued their nationwide "no contract no work" strike full blast today. They ignored both John L. Lewis' work order and a federal court injunction.

In some areas lack of official notification is delaying a decision by United Mine Workers leaders on allowing their chairman's order to return to the pits "forthwith."

No mines are operating in the large bituminous (soft coal) producing areas except unorganized or independent union pits and those covered by new contracts with the UMW.

Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Indiana, Illinois, Alabama, Ohio and other important coal states all report the strike is as strong this week as last.

Determined strikers vow they'll stay out until they get a contract. They also vowed to direct their 472,000 striking miners' back to work. But with telegraph offices, mining communities, several schools were late in receiving the official word.

Some wells are and they aren't working because this is Lewis' 70th birthday.

In some areas lack of official notification is delaying a decision by United Mine Workers leaders on allowing their chairman's order to return to the pits "forthwith."

No mines are operating in the large bituminous (soft coal) producing areas except unorganized or independent union pits and those covered by new contracts with the UMW.

Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Indiana, Illinois, Alabama, Ohio and other important coal states all report the strike is as strong this week as last.

Determined strikers vow they'll stay out until they get a contract. They also vowed to direct their 472,000 striking miners' back to work. But with telegraph offices, mining communities, several schools were late in receiving the official word.

Some wells are and they aren't working because this is Lewis' 70th birthday.

Young Army Hero Of World War II To Finish School

By HAL HOYLE
NEW YORK — (AP) — A young Army hero who won the nation's highest award for valor at the age of 19 now is attacking an educational objective.

"I want to finish grammar school," said Master Sergeant James H. Hendrix. "After all I'm 24 now, and I ought to be getting on with my schooling. I want to learn all I can."

The stocky, red-haired, freckle-faced paratrooper, who came here to appear in a film about the American Cavalry Society, plans to attend a school at Camp Campbell, Ky., his present base.

"I only got to the fourth grade before the war," he grinned. He said he will go to work as a younger kid "could have a change of life in the second oldest of 14 children in the family of a Lepanto, Ark., cotton farmer."

Hendrix is a man for whom death has been transferred out of the world. He went through 8 months and 21 days of Doughty combat overseas without a scratch. On Christmas Eve, 1944, in Belgium he went on a daylong battle during which he was awarded the National Medal of Honor. Between dawn and dusk he:

- 1. Pulled three wounded American soldiers from flaming vehicles.
2. Drove the crews away from two 88 field guns by his rifle fire.
3. Destroyed two enemy machine gun positions.
4. Killed 7 Germans with his rifle.
5. Captured 13 other Germans.

"All I got was a few bullet holes through my clothes," he recalled. As a Medal of Honor winner, he could pick his branch of service. So he transferred out of the armored infantry into an airborne division, which had turned him down earlier because of his color blindness.

Last September he had another death sentence. He was to be killed while making his eighth jump from a plane, both his chutes failed to open and he plunged 1,000 feet to the ground. The durable Hendrix wasn't even dented.

"But I did make a two-and-a-half-foot hole in that plowed field," he laughed. Since then he has made six more parachute jumps without incident. "I feel sure now I'm going to die of old age," he said. Hendrix hopes to put in 20 years of service, retiring at 48 to raise horses, chickens and raise cows, hogs and chickens.

"The Army has been good to me," he said. "I was drafted into it, but once I got in I found I liked it. Up to now it has given me everything I've wanted. A lot of the fellows who were in overseas stayed in for that reason." Jim lives by a simple philosophy of courage, and feels he has no curiosity. He isn't worried about old age, or going broke, and says he

Rural Common Sense

By SPURD JOHNSON
Like other groups, farmers have more automobiles and trucks now than ever before, and the great number of vehicles now in operation makes it more necessary than ever before to be careful in driving.

There are more and better highways than there were a decade ago, but construction of highways has lagged far behind the tremendous increase in motor vehicles during the past 10 years. So, there is far more traffic on all roads.

The motor vehicles of today are capable of higher speed than any others in automobile history. The great increase in vehicles means, accompanied by a corresponding expansion of highways and the great speed of the vehicles of today combine to produce a travel condition fraught with peril.

Highway danger is ever before most folks. On the highway they Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hampton and family. The Rev. and Mrs. W. U. Kyzer had dinner with Mrs. Tommy McLean Jr. and son, Sunday.

Rio Grande Open Golf Tournament Begins Today

Snead Leaves Winter Circuit For Rest; Demaret, Haas Enter

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 14.—(AP)—Golf's winter tour rolled on to Harlingen, Tex., and the Rio Grande Valley open today minus 16. Snead, Demaret, Haas and other departments of the game for the year.

Silent Sam accumulated 205 strokes for 72 holes and grabbed the Texas Open here yesterday for the second time in three years. He also moved far in the lead in money in the five tournaments played thus far on the PGA tour.

The star from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., left the tour for a couple of weeks, departing today for Meridian, Miss., where he will play some exhibitions and rest up. He will miss the $10,000 Rio Grande Valley Open and the $10,000 Houston Open, rejoining the tour at St. Petersburg, Fla., for the open tournament there Mar. 3-5.

Snead had an eight-under-par 69 in yesterday's Texas Open final round to beat out Jimmie Demaret of Ojai, Calif., by a stroke. He fought both Demaret and Fred Haas, Jr., the New Orleans star, in the stretch. Haas, leader at the three-quarters mark with 199, shot a 68 and wound up third, a stroke back of Demaret who laid down a 65. The last two rounds Snead beat over the treacherous 6,400-yard Brackneridge Park course totaled 128—a new PGA record for the final 36 holes of a tournament. It wiped out the mark he set on the same course by Sam Byrd in 1945 by three strokes.

Kentucky, Tulane, Vandy And Tennessee Head SEC Cage Race

By STERLING SLAPPEY Associated Press Sports Writer

Before the season pollsters and predictors pondered and pontificated on who would win the Southeastern Conference unofficial basketball championship during the regular season.

Their picks varied generally between Kentucky and Tulane with Vanderbilt, Tennessee or L.S.U. ranking just behind.

So far the pickers aren't too far from base if you forget what Auburn, Tennessee and L.S.U. are doing to the form sheet. Last week's results got the actual ranking, and predicted rankings much closer together.

Vandy, Kentucky and Tulane are in the first four-team division as predicted. Auburn, in third place, is the only upstart.

Alabama, Georgia Tech and Georgia are three of four teams in the second division as they generally were named. Mississippi State is the only upstart.

Mississippi and Florida rank low as predicted. However, Tennessee, in 10th place and L.S.U. in ninth, were picked much higher.

The Associated Press pre-season poll picked the conference to end in this order: Tulane, Tennessee, Kentucky, Vandy, Alabama, Georgia, Georgia Tech, L.S.U., Florida, Mississippi, Auburn, and Mississippi State.

The Nashville Banner poll named this finish: Kentucky, Tulane, Vanderbilt, L.S.U., Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia Tech, Georgia, Auburn, Mississippi, Florida and Mississippi State.

Vanderbilt took first place last week with victories over formerly top ranking Auburn 45-51 and Alabama 47-38. Kentucky moved from third after the Vandy loss but came back with two victories, 47-48 over Georgia and 64-60 over Tulane.

The regular season has two weeks to go and only Vandy, Kentucky and Auburn amount to anything as contenders. Auburn's chances are something less than slim.

Vandy has three more conference games including meetings with Mississippi State tonight and Mississippi Thursday in Nashville. In Lexington Kentucky must play Alabama tonight, Mississippi Wednesday and Georgia Tech Saturday.

The final conference game for the two leaders could easily decide the season championship. On Feb. 25 Vandy meets Kentucky in Lexington.

Auburn's championship hopes depend principally on the meeting of Vandy and Kentucky. Since one of them will take a whipping Auburn mathematically can slip back on top. Five SEC games remain for Auburn including tonight's with L.S.U. in Baton Rouge, and the Alabama game in Auburn Saturday.

Other games this week are: Tennessee-Florida-Houston at Tallahassee; Wednesday—Georgia Tech-Georgia in Athens; Friday—Mississippi State at L.S.U. and Saturday—Miami at Florida, Georgia-Maryland in Baton Rouge, Mississippi State at Tulane and Tennessee-Loyola in New Orleans.

Other scores last week were: Alabama 58, Mississippi State 58; Florida Southern 37, Florida 62; Tech 49, Florida 38; Georgia 77, Florida 62; Tech 46, L.S.U. 54; Tulane 68, Mississippi 60 and Mississippi 69, Northwestern 53.

NCAA Tourney Entries Not Determined As Contest Nears

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Several close basketball games in conference all over the country are holding up selections for the NCAA and NIT tournaments next month.

Probably the most important of February, at least three or four of the major loops have produced champions. But so far only one of nine conference titles appears settled. Ohio State (15-3) is the apparent winner in the Western Conference with three games left. Add Holy Cross (20-0), an independent, to Ohio State and you have the only two quintets that are almost certain choices for the NCAA. There is some talk Holy Cross may also try for the NIT title.

The NCAA names its eight tournament teams mainly from conference winners, not inviting the independents very often.

That leaves independent football contenders for the National Invitation Tournament, also held in Madison Square Garden. Twelve clubs will receive bids to this one. Champions of both tournaments last season are eligible for defenses of their crowns. However, Holy Cross (NIT) are having it rough this year and scrapping despondently to make the grade against South Carolina for the National League title. Retirement of Barr Brings Note From Red Barber

Umpire Barr today revealed that he had received more than 200 letters of congratulations and condolences since he announced his retirement as a National League umpire. Among the letters was one from Walter "Red" Barber, former Sanford resident, and now director of sports of the Columbia Broadcasting System.

"Dear George," he wrote: "Please know that I am not at all pleased to read of your retirement from the National League staff of umpires. Your absence this summer will be not only a loss to the league itself but to me personally. I have not only all the respect for the conduct of your profession, but I have such a deep warmth of personal appreciation for you as a man. We just don't have enough George Barrs around to spare.

"However, George, I must in all honesty send you congratulations. We cannot keep pushing ourselves endlessly and few of us are smart enough to take ourselves out of the hitting order before we are forcibly benched.

"Anyhow, wherever you go and whatever you do have my warmest good wishes and any time you are around my neck of the woods, please give me a shout. Warmest personal regards and deepest appreciation for your many assists to me over the years."

Sports Roundup

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Future Book: The high-ranking St. John's U. basketball team, which already has taken one licking that doesn't show on the records, probably is due for another tomorrow.

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—(AP)—There are a thousand good stories—some of them true—about old Jim Thorpe, the greatest all-around athlete of the past 50 years. And, in the nearly 40 years since the muscular Sas-Pox Indian first flashed to athletic fame at Carlisle Indian school, it has become increasingly hard to tell where the truth ends and where the exaggeration begins.

James Francis Thorpe is not merely a legendary figure in American sports. He's the kind of man about whom legends grow. He's the kind of man who's talked to add to the fable of old Jim.

Taking fact and fable for what they're worth, the sports writers and broadcasters of the United States, participating in the Associated Press poll, voted Thorpe the outstanding male athlete of the first half of the 20th century. They voted him ahead of Babe Ruth, Jack Dempsey, Ty Cobb, Bobb Jones and Joe Louis—all great athletes about whom some colorful yarns also have been told.

Of the 393 voters, 252 named Thorpe first, 45 named him second and 29 third. Ruth drew 86 first place votes, 118 seconds and 30 thirds. Dempsey was ranked third with 19, 67 and 55.

In other ballots, the experts also chose Thorpe—now 61 years old—as the outstanding football player of the 1900-1949 period and ranked him second only to Jesse Owens in track.

According to legend, Thorpe was virtually indestructible; the kind of guy who'd ask: "Who could get hurt playing football?"

There's a legend that Thorpe was a one-man track team who once beat LaFayette single-handed in a dual meet. Harold Aron (who coached the West Coast trip. Ted, who landed in the western division of the N.A.F.I., says: "Lots of people are going to be surprised when they see the check we bring back from two of the best football towns in America."

When (and if) Peanut Lowrey reports to the Cincinnati Red training camp Mar. 1, it will be the first time in six years he's turned up for the start of training. He was a five-year holdout with the Cubs.

Cleaning The Cuff

Yunkers Raceway (formerly Empire City) will dish out $249,000 in purse money during its Spring business racing meet. That's the kind of thing that makes it tough running a county fair.

Joe Oleson, who likely will be George's first string, left ballcock in New York City and is captain-elect of the football team at Georgetown and was good enough to make the baseball varsity as a sophomore—but he only plays intra-mural basketball.

Holland Declares All of South Are Against FEPC Bill

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12. — (AP) Senator Holland (D-Fla.) said today that he believed the bill to block in the South "the cause of both the white and colored people are against it."

In a television debate with Senator Humphrey (D-Minn.) on the fair employment practices program, Holland declared that adoption of anti-job discrimination laws by only 10 states shows that the people of the country oppose such a system three to one. He added:

"You can't run this kind of thing down the throats of America. In the states of the South, nobody has ever suggested an FEPC program because the population, both white and colored, are against it."

Humphrey replied that negroes of the South have had no opportunity to express their views on the matter, adding that some counties in his own state register a greater vote at the polls than white states in the South.

"We can't afford," he asserted, "to have American policy in the present world situation dictated by such a small segment of the Nation's population."

The Minnesota Senator said Southern discrimination against Negroes is hampering American progress in international affairs in other respects as well.

"What do the Russians say in the United Nations when we want to investigate such things as slave camps in Siberia?" he asked. "They say they want to investigate the poll tax situation in the South."

Holland retorted:

"I'm glad to see my friend is quoting Mr. Grynko. In the South, we don't consider him an authority on American affairs."

Holland said most people who support such civil rights proposals as "FEPC" don't understand that it's bringing in an ideology that's entirely foreign. At another point, a reference to Communism in connection with civil rights proposals brought this sharp reply from Humphrey:

"The innumerate of my colleague is not becoming a member of the Senate. This is not Communism."

Humphrey answered Holland's allusion to anti-Communist bills by saying that "The State Legislatures in this country are the most unrepresentative bodies in America." He listed a number of states, largely in the North, where he said voting districts should be reportioned, an amendment which he said is not in the bill.

Holland snapped back that the people of Florida had been beaten down by a FEPC bill by two and a half to one in a referendum, adding:

"I'm sorry my colleague doesn't believe in the type of democracy which exists in his own state."

In the camellia-blooming period, now approaching its peak in the Southland, the "crocus of flowers" is being seen at its unforgettable best by visitors to Charleston's world-famous gardens. Cypress Gardens, west of the three great gardens, boasts 300 new varieties planted this year, according to B. H. Klotz, owner — many of them quite as blossom-packed as the fringed plant in the middle photograph.

In both Middleton and Magnolia Gardens, hundreds of the camellias are more than 100 years old — they are actually "trees" that you could easily climb!

In recent years, a number of syndicated artists and writers have been attempting to locate America's largest camellia — and to assist in this, a survey has just been completed. The tallest and largest camellias were found: hitherto unpublished facts were brought out, and these recent photographs are now published here for the first time. The "tree" at the left is the tallest camellia in America. It towers 29 feet, 6 inches; the trunk is 50 inches in circumference; and the spread is 21 feet. It is a John Harvard variety, with a maroon imbricated flower. C. Newwood Hastie, Jr., of Magnolia is shown beside this record camellia in his renowned garden — called by John Galsworthy "the loveliest in all the world." It was planted in 1843.

From the standpoint of trunk circumference, the tree on the right is the largest. Its circumference is 63 inches; the spread is 33 feet and the height is 21 feet, 9 inches. J. J. Pringle Smith, owner of Middleton Gardens, is shown pointing to one of the thousands of single red blossoms which deck his fabulous tree, one of the first camellias planted in America — sometime between 1783-1785. Because of the shape of the trunk, this fantastic tree is called "Elephant's Foot."

Garden lovers who have traveled the world over agree that nowhere else is there such a mass display of camellias to stagger the imagination as in Middleton. You will walk amazed through actual "tunnels" of camellia blossoms — overhead, on each side, and on the red carpet of petals in the paths. For actual number of varieties of choice camellias, Magnolia leads with more than 500.

Coal Strike

District 2, in Oklahoma and Arkansas, looks for a continuation of the strike despite Lewis and the miners' union.

"Some of the miners feel the government is trying to make control of their own property," said one of the miners. "They don't want it stolen away from them and be reduced to slaves."

Meanwhile Southern coal producers today accepted John L. Lewis' invitation to resume contract bargaining on Wednesday.

Friday as part of his compliance with court orders obtained by the government under the Taft-Hartley Act.

By the words of his orders to miners, Lewis has brought himself into compliance with that court order and another that directs a return to full coal production.

But out in the coal fields the miners sit on their hands today, refusing to go back to work despite the court order and the instructions Lewis has put out.

What action the government might take under the circumstances was not clear.

Justice Department officials were today in court enforcing court orders, did not want to talk about it.

One official indicated, however, that the policy for the moment at least is to let the miners find their own way out of their present situation.

That was not to say it would not move if the coal strike drags on despite the "stop strike" order issued last Saturday.

Joseph Moody, president of the Southern Coal Producers Association, told reporters the group has sent Lewis a message saying that

Pacific Defense

The joint chiefs said their on-the-spot decisions included the transfer of the Military Air Transport Service terminal on Guam to the Navy.

The Navy was ordered to see that the Air Force is ready to take over. Also they said the Navy may take over operations of a small post in Guam now run by the Army.

General Joseph H. Collins, Army Chief of Staff, said it was hoped the Army eventually would be withdrawn entirely from Guam, leaving the Air Force to service itself there.

Bradley noted that the joint chiefs visited Japan, Okinawa, Guam and Hawaii, Formosa and the Philippines were omitted, he said, because they are neither American territory nor under U. S. occupation.

The joint chiefs reported they found housing for military personnel and their dependents "very poor," particularly in Okinawa.

General Hoyt S. Vandenberg, Air Force Chief of Staff, said that in some instances they found "horrible living conditions." He said morale was mostly high nevertheless.

It had "no objections" to meeting with the Union at 11 A. M. Wednesday at the Statler Hotel here.

Moody said he was advised that other coal operating groups also will accept the Lewis bid for resumption of bargaining.

Federal Judge Richmond B. Keck, along with ordering an end to the coal strike, directed the operators and union to enter "good faith" bargaining immediately.

Moody had no comment on the continued walkout in the coal fields today.

States Benefits

Because of higher wages, more unemployed established a right to maximum unemployment compensation benefits before they were thrown out of work.

1. The federally-financed program of servicemen's readjustment allowances ended in July, and threw many unemployed veterans onto the state system.

2. Contributions to the fund are based on the employment experience of the employer for the last three years, so they were lower last year because most employers had good records for keeping their plants following the war.

With last year's increased unemployment, some employers' rates are likely to go up automatically this year to help balance the fund. Just how much they will go up hasn't been calculated.

The law provides that anytime the funds gets below $50,000,000 there will be an automatic set-up in every employer's contribution rate. When it drops to $25,000,000 there will be another general increase.

Directors of the system aren't looking for either floor to be reached anytime soon.

Russian Hatred

The Soviet army's official newspaper, Tselishche Rudskan, told the 20,000,000 east Germans "destroyed Dresden reminds you fight against the imperialist toiler."

Dresden's mayor wrote in the Chief Communist party organ, Neues Deutschland, that the Anglo-American side killed 35,000 civilians but had "not been a military necessity."

Mayor Walter Wolfarth added: "For this dreadful deed, we shall remember the American and English war-mongers again and again. We wish tirelessly to recall this horrible destructive work to all Germans who have been hounded by Wall Street and have become traitors to our German Fatherland."

Soviet officials in East Germany indicated they feared no backlash from the hate campaign, since the Western powers apparently had no documentary proof that Russia wanted Dresden bombed at the time it was hit.

Meanwhile in Berlin, Russian front-line guards were clearing an average of 10 Berlin-bound trucks an hour early today, a rate which American officials have described as normal for winter highway traffic.

Russian-controlled East German police applied the same rate throughout most of the country on highway traffic to and from Berlin after having permitted an even higher volume earlier.

There were small backlogs of 20 trucks on the western side of the Berlin-British zone checkpoint at Helmstedt and 20 on the eastern side.

Allied officials said such backlogs were not something to be concerned about, as long as the flow of traffic is kept at the normal level.

Chicago, Feb. 13. — (AP) — A high State Department official declared today that the Iron Curtain is indispensable to maintenance of the Communist dictatorship in Russia.

Premier Stalin "knows that not even a dictatorship can retain power and control except by the consent of the people," said Howard Sargeant, deputy assistant Secretary of State for public affairs.

"Therefore," he said, "the Iron Curtain is indispensable. Sargeant's remarks were in an address prepared for the Inland Press Association.

"The continuance of dictatorship control over the Russian peoples depends on convincing them that the United States and other free nations are their enemies and are plotting against them," Sargeant said.

"To sustain this fiction, it is necessary to cut the Russian peoples off from the outside world. The Iron Curtain is doing a pretty good job."

Puerto Ricans Study Florida Market System

JACKSONVILLE, Feb. 13. — (Special) — Puerto Rico has joined the states coming to Florida to study our state market system.

David Stives of San Juan has been sent here by Commissioner Roman Colon-Torres of the Puerto Rican Department of Agriculture to intensively study the grading, packing, the sanitation and management of the marketing facilities, the processing and the mechanics of a trading operations between states.

Assistant Director of State Markets, G. B. Ingens, is assisting Mr. Stives in planning his program, which began in the Florida City and Pompano Markets. Commissioner Maya little dreamed when he began Florida's state system of markets 12 years of more ago that it would be used as a pattern for markets throughout the United States and its possessions.

William L. Wilson, Director of State Markets, said today: "Markets have been planned to assist largely the small farmers who have become shipping point markets of such importance that in many instances they have become points of price determination."

At the Florida City State Market the peak of the Spring tomato deal is approaching, with one day's handling reaching 20,000 bushel field crates. The volume during the past six day period reached 100,000 bushel field crates, for an average price of $4.10. The quality is steadily improving and an increase in volume is anticipated for at least two more weeks before the peak is reached in production to tomatoes.

The Pompano Market reports harvesting will begin about February 20th of the crops planted after the heavy holiday rain period. Weather and growing conditions have been ideal and the crops are showing great prospects.

Available on this market at the present time is a good supply of beans, peppers, lima beans, eggplant, cucumbers, squash, field peas, and okra, all of good quality.

"Available on the Pompano Market during the current week will be a good supply of beans, celery and cabbage, while the Palatka Market continues with a good supply of cabbage and a light supply of cauliflower. Cabbage on this market brought 55c to 70c per sack for 16,500 sacks, and 75 tons were sold at $15.00 per ton in bulk."

he had served as a consultant with the OPA in Washington and had frequently sat in on important meetings with the National Research Council dealing with complaints against the OPA. He said he learned that more important than how much one ate was that he ate. Speaking of investments, he said that the best investment a person could make was in his health.

Eating the wrong kinds of food, he said, is one of the chief causes of indigestion, which in turn is a chief cause of fatigue, accidents, absenteeism, disease and death. A person's health, he said, depends on what is put into the body through food. Salt, he added, is the only mineral the body throws off.

Other minerals like phosphorus, potassium and magnesium are absorbed by the body.

They identified him as the son of Mrs. Amelia Paliwodinski, 50, who has pleaded guilty to a second degree manslaughter charge in the death of her husband, John, last Jan. 8.

Police said they found in LaMar's home the key to Mrs. Frisbee's car and a box containing a .32-20 caliber rifle bullet, corresponding to the rifle in her car.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 13. — (AP) — A Washington University football player used a flying tackle yesterday to rescue his girl friend from a masked man who was dragging her down a lonely country road.

Police reported James Grieg, 190-pound athlete, braved gunfire to tackle the man, then beat him into submission and delivered him to police.

Neither Grieg, 23, nor his girl friend, Charlotte Obst, 19, former homecoming queen at the University, were injured.

Acting Police Lt. Gus Teu identified the masked man as Kendall Leonard Morris of St. Louis, a laborer and former convict.

Teu said Grieg gave this account:

"I and Miss Obst were seated in a car when a masked man came up, pointed a gun at them and forced Grieg to drive several miles outside the city to a side road."

"He took Grieg's wallet containing $3 and told Miss Obst, 'Either you get in the car with me or else.'"

Miss Obst snatched off the mask and the man started pulling her up the road.

"I must have backed up 25 yards," Grieg said. "All the time he was forcing himself upon her. Then I heard her shove him and call my name. I took off. It was dark and I couldn't see them, but I was running forward."

"So tired, I don't know where the bullets went. When he tried to shoot again, the gun didn't go off. Then I got a glimpse of the light and I saw a masked man standing over my gun in hand. I made a dash for it. I knew it had to be Grieg. It was.

Grieg was needed for investigation of the case, but he was not needed for the case, he said he submitted the report.

There have been charges in Congress that some schools amount to little more than a "racket" with the school chiefly interested in getting the government tuition money and the student-veterans living interested in getting the living allowance.

In an interview last week end, Rep. Taber (R-N.Y.) said hearings by the House Appropriations Committee had indicated "padding" in the training program. He said there were schools whose attendance rate was as low as 30 per cent of the enrollment.

Taber said large savings could be made by proper checks on GI training. "I wouldn't say that it might not be as much as a billion dollars."

Northern Missouri and central Illinois had sleet and freezing rain and rain also fell along the Washington and Oregon coasts.

Temperatures remained comparatively mild, however, throughout the storm area. Fargo, N. D., was the nation's coldest spot with nine degrees.

Apartment House Project Looms In City

Commission Gives Option On Land For Construction Of $300,000 Building

Construction of a $300,000 group of apartment buildings on the area now occupied by the municipal softball diamond on the lake front looms as a possibility following action by the City Commission last night in authorizing 120 day option on the property to John Gray developer from Rochester, Ill., City Manager Clifford McKibbin announced this morning.

To offset the loss of the softball diamond which is much enjoyed by youths and other groups of Sanford, the Commission ordered a new diamond constructed in Fort Mellon Park east of the tennis court.

The duration of the option is designed to permit Mr. Gray to get an answer on a request for commitments from the Federal Housing Administration for the building of an apartment house group, two to three stories in height and containing 60 to 70 apartments.

The option, said Mr. McKibbin, is conditioned that the developer should have a reversion clause, effective six months from the date of option if work is not begun on at least 36 apartments. The consideration was $2,000 for the option, plus conveyance to the City of lots 10, 11 and 12, Block 10, Highland Park.

A number of persons interested in voicing opinions concerning the proposed 30 year franchise to the Florida Power and Light Co. appeared before the Commission and were told by Mayor Carraway that the City has put the matter into the hands of the people by virtue of a referendum, Feb. 21. G. W. Spencer, questioned the legality of the franchise. Others, including M. L. Callum and W. A. Laffler, pointed out that in their opinion it might be unwise to give a franchise to the power company for 30 years, in that the City might find it more difficult to finance its own power production.

The foreign office note to the American embassy did not say where the missionaries are being housed. It had been reported authoritatively the two were being held at Olomouc in central Moravia, but they had been stationed by their church. They had been held incommunicado. All efforts of American officials to see them have failed thus far.

The foreign office note also indicated the "prohibited area" which the two missionaries are alleged to have violated. This apparently is the Polish border area to which the two men were traveling.

The note said the embassy's request to see the men "was under consideration."

Both men, unmarried, have been in Czechoslovakia for a little more than two years. As far as is known, they left Prague Feb. 27, for a regular weekly visit to church members living on the outskirts of Brno, near the Polish border.

The missionaries had told friends they expected to be back Saturday night, Jan. 28, for regular church services, the following day.

Baseball Experts Gather Under Hubbell At Giants' Tryout Camp

An imposing array of experts have been gathered under Coach Hubbell at the New York Giants tryout camp at the Municipal Airport where by Feb. 28, more than 500 prospects will have been looked over and a number with outstanding ability assigned to teams of the Giants system.

Cooperating in the big job of directing the tryout camp is Mel Ott, former manager of the New York Giants, and Clarence "Hubbell" Howard who is supervisor of B.C. D clubs in the Giants system.

Managers of a number of talent teams are also here to aid in the work. These include former San Francisco Giants Manager Hal Greener, new job of the Jacksonville team; Frank Genovese, manager of the New York Yankees; and Ed Levy, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals.

U.S. Soft Coal Miners Remain Out On Strike

No Contract, No Work Walkout Remains In Full Force; $15.50 Day Wanted

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 14.—(AP)—Governor Thomas E. Dewey asked the New York legislature today for emergency powers to ration coal and restrict the use of electric power and manufactured gas because of the strike-created coal shortage. Dewey said the state had only a 10-day supply of coal left. "If the present strike should continue longer than a few days more, our state would face a catastrophe."

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 14.—(AP)—More whistles whined in vain today today as striking soft coal miners for the second day defied work orders from both the government and John F. Lewis.

The no contract no work walkout continued full force in all labor coal producing states. Hundreds of pickets lined Pennsylvania highways to make sure all pits are closed.

Pennsylvania state police report of two men wounded with buckshot in the area of Lakota. It was not determined if they are miners or pickets.

The men wounded were identified as Frank Kozak, 23 and LeRoy Harris, 27.

Florida Streams Polluted By Fruit Processing Waste

GAINESVILLE, Feb. 14.—(AP)—Florida has another water pollution problem, what to do with millions of gallons of waste water containing fruit sugars from the state's fruit processing plants.

The water, used in washing fruit and in many other ways, is now being drained into streams and ponds in numerous localities. Its sugar content makes it a favorable medium for development of bacteria which cause objectionable odors and tastes.

Criticism Of Marshall Plan Is Not Confined To America

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—(AP)—A criticism of the Marshall Plan and its performance isn't confined to the side of the Atlantic, where it is growing both in Congress and in the business world.

It may come as a shock to some Americans, but Uncle Sam's heart stopped of the valentine lady and forget me not, doesn't look good as long to many European today as it does to him.

Many Europeans evidently believe Uncle Sam is trying to make a necessary loan like a victim and seeking a shrewd bargain.
