PUBLIC WORKS PROGRAM SENT TO CONGRESS

Huge Muscle Shoals Development Bill Nearing Final Enactment Into Law

WASHINGTON, May 17.—President Roosevelt today sent his all-inclusive public works industrial-superiority program to Congress where huge Democratic majorities were planning expeditious action.

Requesting full authority to inaugurate $5,500,000,000 program, he asked the legislators to take early next week on taxes to underwrite the project. If Congress does not decide he will submit his own recommendations.

The administration's vast Tennessee Valley-Muscle Shoals development bill last night passed only House approval of a conference agreement and President Roosevelt's signature to become law.

Acting with unprecedented swiftness, the Senate late yesterday approved the conference report comprising Senate and House differences. And House Democratic leaders promised it would be taken up in that body today either by unanimous consent or by suspension of the rules.

Chairman Smith of the agriculture committee called up the report in the Senate and it went through without a word of debate or a roll call vote.

Senator Norris (R. Neb.), author of the principles in the bill of government operation of the war-time Muscle Shoals power plant, including government construction of power transmission lines and experimental production of fertilizer, smiled happily as the report was approved.

Elks Band Forced To Disband Due To Charity Demands

Announcement was made today by E. Runge, of the Sanford Elks Lodge that the lodge, because of pressure of charity and other welfare demands, has had to abandon the support of a band for the present, and that the Sanford Elks Band has therefore been discontinued.

However, the Sanford Concert Orchestra, under the sponsorship of the Elks Club, and with George C. Yellows of leader, has undertaken to uphold the spirit of public music in Sanford.

This organization, sponsored by E. Runge, Harold Hawkins, W. L. Ray and B. C. Moore of the Elks Lodge, with a number of other musicians, stand ready to supply residents of this section with free musical entertainment.

The orchestra now includes Miss Madeline Mellen, R. Hendel, Frank Pierce, John Benkarik, Jerry Benkarik, Roy Howell, J. A. Penkham, A. F. Kemp, Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Harper, John Dighton, and others.

Mr. Yellows stated today that it is the purpose of this organization to draw and keep together for training all musical talent in Sanford and nearby towns, and anyone playing an instrument who is able to read music is welcomed to join.

Regular practice sessions are held at the Elks Hall every Monday night at 8:00 o'clock, he said.

District Forester Of State Visits City

W. H. Schaeffer, of Plant City, district forester of the Florida Forest Service, was in this section today checking up on forestry projects being worked out by the Agricultural Department of Seminoles High School and Orlando High School.

Early Recognition By U.S. Of Soviet Russia Seen In President's Peace Appeal

WASHINGTON, May 17.—(AP)—A ready disposition to force early recognition of Soviet Russia in the fact that President Roosevelt's peace appeal was sent direct to the Moscow government was avined yesterday by many officials here, despite a quick disclaimer from sources close to the administration.

Some high officials insisted that the move was not to be interpreted as any such way, but nevertheless there were many who clung to the opinion that it would, in effect, de facto recognition will, in effect, be complete.

President Roosevelt's party leader in the Senate, Robinson, of Arkansas, said that "sending the communication direct to President Kallinina, particularly in view of implied acknowledgment of conversational relations" appeared to him to have the effect of an intent to recognize.

Senator Borah, former chairman of the foreign relations committee and long an advocate of recognition, was outspoken in his interpretation of the day's events.

"I am not concerned as to whether the President intended this as recognition," he said. "I am only concerned with the proposition that its effect is the same as technical recognition."

"I do not know what the President had in mind as to recognition, but we are now dealing direct with Russia and that is the important fact. We are no longer proceeding upon the theory that Russia does not exist."

SENATE TAKES STEP FOR AID OF TAXPAYERS

Passes Bill To Repeal All Laws Authorizing Forclosures Against Tax Liens

TALLAHASSEE, May 17.—(AP)—The Senate moved swiftly to relieve taxpayers today while the House delayed its time to setting aside of state officials.

The Senate passed a bill to repeal all laws authorizing tax lien foreclosures. A short time later the Senate adopted a House-approved resolution providing for exemption of homesteads up to $5000 valuation from taxation.

The measure, a constitutional amendment, must be ratified at the general election next year.

Acting upon the House committee's substitute for the Senate-approved salary bill, the House left at 3:50 the governor's salary, $5,000 for cabinet officers, and $4,500 for chairman of the road department.

The Senate received a bill proposing a system of liquor and narcotic drug regulation in state dispensaries, the purchase of liquor to be confined to qualified dealers or out-of-state residents accompanied by a qualified voter.

Shifting $100,000 a year from its biennial appropriation bills, the Senate yesterday passed the measure calling for $4,000,000 a year for general appropriations for state government.

The Senate voted 20 to 8 to send the measure to the House which yesterday received from its appropriations committee a similar measure for $6,015,366 a year.

Agreeing to reconsider the bill which it Monday defeated, the bill 17 to 16, the Senate yesterday struck out many of the additions it made to the bill as it came from the Senate appropriations committee.

Both the Senate and House bills were committee substitutes for the administration bill based on the recommendations of the state budget committee.

There was some confusion and many conflicting statements as to the amounts called for in various appropriations proposals which have been before the Legislature.

Chairman Hodges of the Senate committee said the administration bill called for $5,731,415 a year, but chairman Westbrook and members of the House committee said their bill called for less than the budget commission recommended.

Hitler Endorses Roosevelt Plan For Peace, Promising Co-Operation With Efforts

Hitler Speech Seen Conciliatory Move

WASHINGTON, May 17.—(AP)—A State Department official today described the speech of Chancellor Hitler on disarmament as "conciliatory."

Willingness to obtain a modification of the Versailles Treaty by peaceful methods rather than armed force was the interpretation of the speech by State Department officials.

Official Washington noted on the other hand that Hitler's address contained a warning that Germany would never succeed in its objective.

FRANCE IS ALERT FOR ANY TURN IN GERMAN ACTIONS

Every Precaution For French Security Is Being Provided For

PARIS, May 17.—(AP)—The French government yesterday increased its vigilance with regard to Germany's armament intentions and recalled the declaration of Chancellor Hitler at Berlin with calm alertness.

Although pleased with President Roosevelt's appeal to the nations, Premier Daladier and his colleagues were none the less disposed to take every precaution for French security which the attitude of Germany imposed upon them.

As a national defense measure the factories of Paris, which produce materials useful for both war and peace purposes, were ordered yesterday to report to the "Passive Defense Bureau" upon their productive capacity.

Within a month the factories must present an estimate of their production showing the numbers of their workers, production as well as armaments.

Banking concerns and army officials are also included in the check-up on productive capacity.

The address of President Roosevelt yesterday brought some hope that it might prove a modification in Chancellor Hitler's speech to the Reichstag today, a change in the direction of conciliation.

The foreign office declined any direct comment on the appeal from Washington but it was learned in the highest quarters that the government was pleased at the President's insistence that no nation should increase its armaments above limitations laid down by treaty.

MACDONALD LLOUD IN HIS PRAISE OF PEACE PROPOSAL

Describes Roosevelt Message As One Of Great Landmarks

LONDON, May 17.—(AP)—Prime Minister MacDonald, in an impassioned speech before a distinguished gathering of 200 members of the Plimsoll society last night hailed President Roosevelt's peace proposals as an historic pronouncement.

"This is an historic day," he declared. "America has boldly and openly cut her moorings and has launched herself in full sail with courage and fine determination into new waters," the prime minister continued.

Impassioned Address Is Delivered Before Reichstag By Fiery German Chancellor

Chancellor Adolf Hitler in an impassioned speech before the Reichstag today gratefully endorsed President Roosevelt's plan for relieving the international crisis and promised co-operation with Roosevelt's efforts.

BERLIN, May 17.—(AP)—Chancellor Adolf Hitler in an impassioned speech before the Reichstag today gratefully endorsed President Roosevelt's plan for relieving the international crisis and promised co-operation with Roosevelt's efforts.

The Chancellor agreed that without a solution of the disarmament problem, lasting economic reconstruction is unthinkable.

In behalf of the entire nation and especially the young Nazi movement he pledged that Germany would go as far as any nation in disarming even to the extent of scrapping her entire military equipment, provided other powers did the same.

He particularly offered to refrain from any claims for retributions of aggression so long as other nations accepted their part in the German economic plight.

He declared that Germany recognizes the right of the French and Polish, emphasizing that his nation is devoid of all instruments of aggression.

The German chancellor said he is ready to join any non-aggression pact in the realization that the high-minded proposal of the American President to inject the mighty United States as a guarantor of peace in Europe would mean a great tranquillization for all who desire peace.

Hitler restated the Treaty of Versailles before the specially convened session of the Reichstag and demanded for the German people the "right to live."

"It is not wise to rob the people of the economic possibilities of existence without taking into account that human beings depending thereon, now as before, exist as a factor demanding the right to live," the chancellor told the Reichstag.

"The idea of rendering service to other peoples by destroying economically a people of 65,000,000 is so absurd that nobody can date today up to it," he said.

"Even more absurd was it to try to affect the destruction by methods which, according to the law of cause and effect, sooner or later had to lead the victors into a catastrophe."

Turning to the subject of reparations, the chancellor declared: "If at this moment I speak consciously as a national socialist," he continued, "I should like to refer in behalf of the national government and of the entire national conscience to the fact that Germany is animated by the deepest understanding for similar feelings and attitudes, as well as justified claims to life by other peoples."

The chancellor asserted that the Versailles Treaty was no solution, nevertheless no German government will of its own accord.

MITCHELL CALLED 'BIG FISH' BY HIS DEFENSE LAWYER

NEW YORK, May 17.—(AP)—Charles E. Mitchell was characterized by his counsel yesterday as a "big fish" brought to trial for alleged income tax violation to appease "mob psychology" while the government accused him of cheating of $85,000 in taxes.

"When mob psychology dominates the mind of a jury," said Max D. Steuer, noted criminal lawyer, "who is then to be made the victim? The underlying fact is that Mitchell is a big fish, he is a financial success, the extent of which God alone could fathom, by selling his National City bank stock to his wife in 1929 instead of disposing of it on the open market."

The banker, Steuer said, lost $2,800,000 in the depreciation of his stock and the wife was for the purpose of recouping the loss for income tax purposes.

Mr. Mitchell never at any place, at any time, has denied that his purpose in making this transaction, was to fix the amount of his loss so he could deduct it from his income tax.

"This was not a real sale, it was a sham for the purpose of deceiving the government," Steuer continued.

Speakers Representing Chapter Of Future Farmers Feature Club Meet

An explanation of what Future Farmer work really means to the boy of high school age, a short account of the methods a national chapter of the Future Farmers Club used to win the annual growing contest, and the reading of a paper on "The Clash of the Carriers" furnished Sanford Kiwanians with their entertainment program at the weekly luncheon today.

Alex R. Johnson, vocational agriculture teacher at Seminoles High School, first explained the value of the work he teaches to all boys who are interested before he introduced John Benkarik, winner of second place in the district public speaking contest, and Ed. Clair White, Jr., winner of the annual pig-raising contest.

Mr. White told the Kiwanians how after adopting a pig project as his principal objective, he had been able to win several first and second prizes for pigs he had grown during the past few years.

He also explained the cost and labor involved in growing and curing the pig which won for him first prize in this year's contest.

Mr. Benkarik, in discussing railroad transportation with that furnished by motor trucks, airplanes, and other newer methods of transportation, summed up a major portion of his talk with the statement that the old classification of slow freight and fast freight is a past history. "The word 'slow' has no place in the dictionary of transportation."

thus the motor vehicle is by all odds the most important of the new means of transportation and is the most spectacular feature of American life."

Concluding, he said that "Methods and plans are changing from day to day and we may expect steady improvement in the speed and flexibility of transportation. The public insists on a faster and more complete service than steel rails alone can offer. Shippers and buyers are demanding more regularity of schedule, more responsibility, and greater safety from truck service. The key word in transportation is speed. Viewed in the light of present-day demands, the iron horse is a bit hoarse. In the interest of the shipper and the public the motor should be the ally, not the enemy of the rails. It is the plain duty of the railways to take the initiative in this matter and give us the best ever in modern transportation."

Among those attending the luncheon were: Mr. Johnson, Mr. White, Mr. Benkarik and Johnnie Johnson, as guests, and Kiwanians Howard Overlin, who presided, E. H. Randall, Jr., E. T. Hoy, W. T. Langley, F. H. Lanson, Karl Lehmann, Peter Schaal, W. B. Zachary, C. O. Bare, Fletcher Baily, Arthur Franzen, Bill DuRosa, B. D. Caswell, Julius Dingfelder, Dave Boniske, T. L. Dunas, S. F. ## Jap Spokesman Says People Desire Peace

TOKYO, May 17.—(AP)—A war office spokesman declared today that Japan, because of her present operations in North China, would be embarrassed by President Roosevelt's suggestion that nations should abstain from sending armed forces outside their borders. "Japan is second to none in loving real peace," he said, "but if assurance of peace means the maintenance of status quo regardless of circumstances Japan would be unable to subscribe to the suggestion." He expressed the belief, however, that Japan might agree not to increase armaments until the proposed conference could be held.

NEITHER POVERTY NOR RICHES: Remove far from us vanity and lies; give us neither poverty nor riches; feed us with food convenient for us.—Proverbs 30:8.

If these "big business" men don't quit praising Roosevelt, we're going to have another depression first thing you know.

Senator Parrish voted to remove arsenic restrictions from grapefruit. Which will please some people; distress others. Thus politics.

Nicely carefully selected stocks in Wall Street sell today on an average at 49, and were selling a year ago at 43.7. At least people think that business is on the up-grade.

Now that the doctors can give you a prescription for a month's supply of pre-war whiskey, we expect to see health statistics of the country completely shot to pieces.

The State Senate has passed a bill "permitting" state banks to issue preferred stock up to 50 percent of their capitalization. "Permitting" is good! All they've got to do now is to find somebody who'd put up the money.

"The United States, France and Great Britain are actively preparing to face Germany with a common front against her rearmament," says a news story. It seems to be a matter of a united front against an excited runt.

Arthur Brisbane, being well over the draft age, is strong for "doing something" about collecting the war debts. Fort Myers News Press. We imagine if he wants to do something about war debts, he will have to do it himself unless he can get them to come over here looking for a fight.

Wonder if certain newspapers could kindly explain why it is that we have not, at this writing, heard any of the common people expressing a great yearning to pay a sales tax. Tampa Tribune. He sure it has never been explained to them that indirectly they have to pay all other kinds of taxes as well.

James M. Cox, Florida publisher, has been selected as a member of the American delegation to the 11th important London Economic Conference. Others include Secretary Hull, Newton D. Baker, Bernard Baruch, and Chairman Pittman of Nevada, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. It is a strong delegation.

One of the books to gain the official recognition of Nazi doctrine was "All Quiet on the Western Front," a book which adequately illustrates all that is stupid and horrible in war. The Hitler Minister of Propaganda ordered this book along with numerous others, burned in the public square. Evidently the horrors of war are not to be taught to the younger German generation. They are to be prepared for new "cannon fodder."

A House amendment to Senator Fletcher's securities bill would relieve corporate officials of responsibility for buying false financial statements if they can show that they had reason for believing the statements were accurate. That's the double standard of our laws today: a loophole is provided for scoundrels at the time the law is enacted. How easy it would be for any scoundrel corporation officer to show that he "thought" his statements were correct.

A New Foreign Policy

With dramatic suddenness President Roosevelt has injected himself and the people of the United States into the affairs of Europe and the entire world to an extent to which they have not been involved since the World War. With one sweeping gesture, reminiscent of his banking holiday, his economy measures, his farm relief bill, he has changed the entire complexion of American foreign policy, and, it is safe to predict, the whole course of human events for years to come.

Recognizing that the peace of the world depends upon peace between individual countries, and that the economic recovery and development of the world depend upon the maintenance of peace and the re-establishment of friendly relations within the family of nations, President Roosevelt has laid down the law on the necessity for disarmament and non-aggression pacts. The United States will not remain aloof while the peace of the world is threatened by violent sabre-rattling.

The Geneva Disarmament Conference had reached an unyielding deadlock. Germany was insisting upon equality in armament with France and other neighboring countries. France with equal determination was opposing these claims and was supported in her position by the terms of the Versailles Treaty. Nothing which Italy or England had been able to do or suggest had produced the slightest effect in modifying the impasse.

Adolph Hitler, chancellor of Germany and the firebrand of European politics, had called the rosenbergs together for a meeting today for the express purpose of outlining to them the future German foreign policy. It was confidently expected that he would formally declare Germany's intention to re-arm and in some quarters it was feared that he would declare the Versailles Treaty in its entirety a mere scrap of paper, demanding a revision of European boundaries.

The haste with which President Roosevelt drafted his declaration of American foreign policy and dispatched it to the other world powers, just twenty-four hours before Hitler's scheduled proclamation, may justly be interpreted as an effort on the part of the Administration to head off an incurable crisis in European affairs, or at least an effort to temper the fiery Hitler's remarks so as to permit of further consultation and conciliation.

Will Herr Hitler take the hint? Or will he defy the world? Will the efforts of Roosevelt toward peace succeed, or will the next gale which sweeps across the Atlantic "bring to our ears the clash of off-sounding arms"?

Capone As A Prisoner

Among the one-time luminaries, whose names frequently graced the front pages of newspapers, but, who has recently been obscured by forbidding prison walls, is one Scarface Al Capone. In fact we had almost forgotten about the former Chicago gangster, whose criminal deeds carried his name around the world, until the other day when one of his prison mates received his freedom and gave out an interview revealing intimate sketches of Capone's prison existence.

We hear that Mr. Capone, despite his corpulent figure, is a player on the penitentiary baseball team, holding down third base, and doing it in a creditable manner, too. His fielding is reported to be of high calibre but his batting a trifle weak.

Capone's daily work consists of working in the shoe factory of the prison, where it is said he has become quite proficient at his job. Among the other inmates he is known as a "good fellow" and to the guards as a model prisoner. He prefers to associate with the young and active men and does not care so much to hobnob with the other "big shots."

Curiously enough many of his former enemies in the racketeer game are now behind the bars with him, and it is said that they have forgotten their old animosities under the spell of prison camaraderie, which makes all men brothers. During the recreation hour Capone may be seen sometimes laughing and joking with the former leader of a rival faction upon whose life the death premium may have once been set.

Thus Capone as a prisoner of the United States penitentiary in Atlanta is a credit to that institution. He is well liked, efficient in his work, a good sportman, and excellent company. May he always remain in this environment, for outside of prison walls he becomes the antithesis of the qualities which he exhibits as a prisoner.

THE TEST OF HITLERISM

In the sudden crisis over the disarmament conference, the new German nationalism appears to have met its first severe test of statecraft. With remarkable skill, Hitler has played upon the humiliation of national defeat and the glamour of belligerent patriotism to make himself master of Germany. As a device of domestic politics, the technique has been brilliantly successful. Its defect is the obvious one that every fresh success at home could only be purchased by an aggravation of the international problem—a problem for which the technique itself provided no solution. Every new outburst of German patriotic belligerence inevitably produced a new stiffening of the foreign resistance which the Nazis were promising to break down; and from the beginning the inescapable collision between the nationalist fervor which the Nazis were utilizing and the foreign hostility which it produced could be seen approaching. When the collision came, would the men who had seized control of Germany prove themselves capable of controlling as well the consequences of their own methods? Could they curb the new nationalism sufficiently to permit of a workable adjustment of international relations, or would they find themselves powerless and riding their own whirlwind into a general chaos? The collision seems to have taken place. It was forewarned in the British disarmament plan of March. That was, so to speak, a last chance offer. "Here," Mr. MacDonald said in effect, to the Germans, "are some pretty spec-

SANFORD, TWENTY YEARS AGO

Mrs. Martin H. Long, of Jacksonville, arrived in the city Monday evening and is the guest of her mother, Mrs. George B. Dickinson. Mrs. Long's many friends will extend her a cordial welcome. Mrs. B. Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Ellsworth's Russian terrier dog, Pag, died supposedly from snake bite last week. Joe Cameron recently had three sheep not mislead one into expecting an immediate reoccupation of the Rhineland. It is to be expected that French as well as British statesmen would enter upon an adventure of that sort with only the greatest reluctance. Once back in the Rhineland they could never get out again. A long and expensive military occupation of a thickly populated and bitterly hostile territory is not something lightly to be undertaken. It would lead to endless and difficult attempts to create a "buffer state," and the later problems which that would raise ought to be clear enough in the light of the history since 1919. There are lesser sanctions—League resolutions, reconstructions, and so on, which would certainly come first. The trouble is that once a process of this sort is begun it is never easy to stop it; one thing leads to another, and where it is impossible to go back the statesmen find themselves compelled to plow forward. Such a long and perhaps disastrous history is that which would now seem to open before Europe. Whether or not it can be averted depends largely upon the realism and ability of Hitler and his advisers—depends too much upon that for the outside world to feel altogether happy.

Woman's Auxiliary Of Church Has Party

With 80 women in attendance, the Woman's Auxiliary of the First Presbyterian Church, of this city, celebrated its twenty-first anniversary with a Chinese tea party Monday afternoon in the social rooms of the church which were opened ensuite for the occasion and decorated with bamboo and flowers to represent a Chinese garden.

Mrs. L. I. Frazier presided over a short business session and then announced that the program for the day was arranged by Mrs. Henry M. Laidin's circle of the Auxiliary.

Mrs. W. L. Henley, foreign mission secretary, gave an explanation of the program, "The Path to Peace," which was illustrated by three Chinese war posters designed by Chinese Christians and used in their missionary work. Miss Mae McGill then gave the devotion.

The four leading parts in the program, "The Path to Peace," were taken by Mrs. Henley, Mrs. Furbur Russell, Mrs. S. D. Highleyman, and Mrs. Roy F. Mann. Mrs. Henley, an old Chinese woman, gave the prologue, while Mrs. Russell portrayed the part of a young Chinese Christian woman, Mrs. S. D. Highleyman represented Mrs. Montgomery, an American missionary, and Mrs. Mann took the part of Miss Helen D'Zang, a native Chinese teacher.

A large group of Chinese girls in wonderful costumes added to the interest of the program. These parts were taken by Mrs. Hesse Russell, Mrs. Peter Schaub, Mrs. John Brumley, Mrs. F. E. Dutton, Mrs. John Gilman, Mrs. Clara Loring, Mrs. Cheryl Steenworth, and the Misses Betty McKinnon, Mary Frances Andrews, Nannie Bell, and Margaret Pardon.

Music was furnished between scenes by Mrs. R. H. Walther, pianist, who accompanied nearly visible choir. At the close of the affair, Mrs. Roy F. Mann introduced Mrs. Linton F. Allen, representative of the "Honorable Elder," who welcomed the guests to the tea party. A group of girls, in vendor's, distributed tea, sandwiches, and cakes and collected the two bags containing offerings from the guests.

Music Department Of Club Gives Program

A feature of the last program of the season of the Music Department of the Woman's Club which was presented last night at the Women's Club before a large audience was the "Folk Song Art Song," given by Mrs. Emma S. Munson, chairman of the program for the evening.

In her talk Mrs. Munson told of the origin of folk songs and how the folk songs of the various countries are characteristic of the traits of the people of the country. She stated that most of the folk songs and modern music is based on folk songs and by careful study one may discern the melody of some folk song in almost any musical composition.

In regard to American folk songs she said that when Cecil Sharp came to this country he found from 100,000 to 2,000 folk songs in the Appalachian mountains in North Carolina. A large number of folk songs is to be found in Ireland, England, Scotland, Germany, Hungary, Bohemia, Russia, and Poland and many other countries.

In bringing her talk to a close Mrs. Munson said that there is a definite simplicity in the creation of a folk song often beyond the grasp of a casual writer. She quoted Calve as saying: "It is easier to sing an operatic aria than to sing well a folk song." She added that had Patti ever sung anything but "Home, Sweet Home" she would have for that same reason become famous and had Emma Abbott never sung anything but "The Last Rose of Summer" she would still be known to fame.

As the guests arrived they were greeted at the door by Mrs. A. M. Phillips, Mrs. W. T. Lantry, and Miss Margaret Davis, hostesses for the evening. The club rooms were decorated for the occasion with quantities of bright colored lanterns arranged with fern in tall floor baskets.

Mrs. B. C. Moore, chairman of the Music Department, welcomed the guests and introduced Mrs. Munson who announced the program as follows:

Introductory piano number, "Marche aux Fleurs," Tchaikowsky. Mrs. Frances Hickson, Mrs. Madeline Mathison.

Topic, "Folk Song Art Song," Melody of Scotch Songs, Shute. Mrs. Cecile Herndon, Mrs. George Herndon and Mrs. B. C. Moore.

Bring To Me Only With Thine Eyes, English Folk Song. Mrs. F. S. Lanson.

Chorus, "Melody," Selected Stephen Foster. Mrs. F. S. Lanson.

Chorus, "Swanriver River" and "No More," Mrs. F. S. Lanson.

which she stressed church unity which she stated is founded on spirituality. This was followed by a piano solo by Gwynn McCrum, and another piano solo, "Minuet" by Paderewski, rendered by Miss Helen Gurdy.

Four members of the society then presented a short play, "The Deaconess' Conference" after which a solo was sung by Mrs. J. B. Powell, Mrs. J. E. Frey, Mrs. W. C. Dinkle, Mrs. Alva Hubbard, and Mrs. George McCrum.

The meeting was brought to a close by a song after which refreshments were served in the church annex by Mrs. J. B. Crawford and her committee.
