Kelley meets with investigator

SANFORD — Seminole County Commissioner Jennifer Kelley's attorney said he and Kelley met with a state attorney's investigator Wednesday. He said they discussed an elections complaint filed against her. Attorney Mike Appleton of Orlando said he and Kelley met with Phil Sellers. Sellers was assigned by State Attorney Norm Wollinger to investigate an eight-count complaint filed in April by Kelley's former commission opponent Art Davis. He alleged Kelley violated state elections laws.

Shot reportedly fired into car

SANFORD — Sanford police report charging Kevin Christopher Daly, 31, 423 Brittany Circle, Casselberry, with aggravated assault after Daly allegedly followed the car of another man to a Sanford market and then fired a shot into the victim's vehicle.

Daly is also charged with carrying a concealed firearm and use of a firearm in a felony. He was arrested at 7 p.m. Thursday outside the Fairway Market on U.S. Highway 17-92 at 27th Street.

Police said one shot from a 9 mm pistol was fired into the car of Joseph Malone. There was no report of injury. Police reported finding a 9 mm pistol in Daly's pocket when he was arrested. A reason for the gunplay and vehicular pursuit was not reported.

Industrial park OK'd

By LAURA L. SULLIVAN
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Plans for a $4-million industrial park on the city's west side were revealed last night.

The city planning and zoning commission unanimously approved rezoning for the development after its details were presented to commissioners.

The commission approved rezoning 19 acres at Kennel Road and West State Road 46 from agricultural to light industrial use.

Bob Siegler, representing Federal Parts, Inc., said the industrial park will include up to 40 lots and 45,000 square feet. The first phase of the development will begin within the next 90 days, Siegler said. At least part of the 15,000 square feet of development to be built in the first phase will be occupied by the first quarter of next year.

he said.

Fully developed, the industrial park will have a value of more than $4 million, Siegler said. A local bank will handle all financing for the project, he said, and no industrial revenue bonds will be issued.

The park will be divided into small industrial parcels to meet a demand for small businesses, Siegler said. He said he has already received a SANFORD — A 62-year-old burglary suspect remains in serious condition today recovering from stab wounds inflicted by a 74-year-old Sanford man who claims he was defending himself and his home with a butcher knife.

The apparent burglary victim, Tony Belisto, 690 W. Airport Blvd., Sanford, is recovering at home today from wounds to his face and hands. Police say he received the wounds when the burglary suspect, who was also armed with a knife, attacked Belisto in his home at about 4:15 p.m. Thursday.

The suspect, James Madonia, 62, #56 Sanford Court Apartments, 3291 S. Sanford Ave., Sanford, was airlifted to Orlando Regional Medical Center after he was found lying wounded in Belisto's house following the combat between the two men. Belisto was

No tax increase in Lake Mary's new city budget

By SANDRA BOUCHANINE
Herald staff writer

LAKE MARY — A paid fire department with nine full-time firefighters will not cost city property owners a tax increase after all. At last night's meeting, the 1990 budget was adopted without the tax increase that had been proposed.

The property tax rate will remain at $3.8991 per $1,000 of assessed property value, the same as it has been for the past three years.

The tax increase became unnecessary because updated financial information revealed $533,334 of additional revenue came to the city from June through August of this year, most of which has been accounted for. The remaining $130,000 will be carried forward into next year's budget, City Administrator John Litton said this morning.

A motion to adopt the 1990 budget made by Commissioner George Duryea was passed unanimously by the commission.

Commissioners Bill Greene and Duryea voted against a property tax increase at the first hearing two weeks ago. It was Greene who suggested that there were surplus funds and a tax increase was not warranted.

"I was the only one that saw there were additional funds there. We didn't need to raise taxes and I'm glad to see I was proven correct," Greene said this morning. "I couldn't find any fat. It was a very lean budget, however, we have the funds and didn't need to raise taxes. Somebody has to be a watchdog, I'm glad it came out," he added.

Duryea who voted against the preliminary budget because he felt there was too much "fat" in it, said this morning he was elated about the 1990 budget.

"I really think that the staff realized that perhaps we were correct about the amount of carry over and the contingencies. Litton felt comfortable they could do everything with the same millage rate," he said.

At the first public hearing two weeks ago, the commission was divided on the budget. A preliminary budget was approved by a 3-2 vote with property taxes of $4,3772 per $1,000 of assessed value, a 12.2 percent increase. Greene said he couldn't "justify" a tax increase because there were enough surplus funds from the 1989 budget, however, Litton said he could not produce a definite figure of surplus funds until an audit was done sometime in November.

A full-time paid fire department to be employed on Jan. 1 will cost $217,244. The 1990 budget also highlights parks and recreation with $50,000 being earmarked for parkland acquisition. The city will also receive a $30,000 computer upgrade.

The commission congratulated Litton, who joined the city this year, for his work in preparing the budget.

Two caught at burglary site

SANFORD — City police report charging two men with burglary to a vehicle and possession of burglary tools after catching the pair as they allegedly tried to steal a spoiler or air deflector from a new truck at Ken Rummell Chevrolet, 3455 S. Orlando Drive.

Robert Raymond Hawkins, 22, of Orlando; and Jerry Lee Harrison, 21, of 816 Orienta Apts., Altamonte Springs, were arrested at the dealership at 3:53 a.m. Wednesday. Police said both had burglary tools. Bond is $2,000 each.

Three arrested on drug charges

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — City police who watched what they believed was a cocaine sale outside businesses on Douglas Avenue at about 11 p.m. Wednesday, report arresting three men on narcotics charges after confronting the suspects.

The man accused of buying cocaine, Paul Edward Culver, 27, 441 Trinity Ave., Altamonte Springs, was charged with possession of cocaine. The accused seller, Troy Eugene Hill, 20, 147 Jackson St., Altamonte Springs, is charged with sale of cocaine.

Police said they took a Day's Lodge room key from Hill. They went to that room and entered the room to arrest Gordon Scott Kimbrough, 19, 147 Jackson St., Altamonte Springs, on a charge of possession of cocaine. Police said they found cocaine on a nightstand beside the bed where they found Kimbrough sleeping.

Woman arrested as prostitute

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — A woman who got into the car of an undercover City County Investigative Bureau agent and allegedly offered sex in exchange for $50 has been arrested.

Renee Darlene Ferrite, 27, of Orlando, who was picked up outside Uncle Jones Bar-B-Que on State Road 430, Altamonte Springs, was charged with assignment to commit prostitution at 11:15 p.m. Thursday. She was also charged with possession of drug paraphernalia after a cocaine pipe and razor blade were reportedly found in her possession. Bond is $500.

Lack of liquor license brings arrest

OVIDO — The owner of C&C Broadway Deli, 1389 W. Broadway St., Oviedo, was arrested there at about 5 p.m. Thursday after city police allege he sold beer to a minor. Maximilian Montrose Cook, 25, of Oviedo, was charged with both selling alcohol beverages without a state license and selling beer to a minor. Bond is $100.

Correction

Based on incorrect information on police report, the address of an auto theft suspect was reported incorrectly in a police brief on Thursday. Sheriff's deputies reported that Lynn Marie Gamble, 26, was arrested for auto theft Tuesday morning. The current resident of 215 Melissa Court, Sanford, said Gamble does not reside there.

Kelley's attorney acknowledges meeting with state investigator

By J. MARK SANFIELD
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Seminole County Commissioner Jennifer Kelley's personal attorney said he and Kelley met with a state attorney's investigator Wednesday to discuss an elections complaint filed against her.

"The commissioner first learned of the filing (of the complaint) in the Sanford Herald on April 6, 1989," said attorney Mike Appleton of Orlando. "She has not seen the complaint, but after the meeting we have a little bit better understanding of what it is all about."

"It has always been the commissioner's position and will continue to be that she will be fully cooperative," Appleton said.

Appleton said he and Kelley met with Phil Sellers. Sellers was assigned by State Attorney Norm Wolfinger to investigate an eight-count complaint filed in April by Kelley's former commission opponent Art Davis. He alleged Kelley violated state elections laws. Neither Appleton nor Sellers would disclose the nature of the discussion.

Sellers filed a subpoena Sept. 11 seeking the addresses and telephone numbers of 46 Seminole County students.

Dog group to discuss crisis on Sunday

By J. MARK SANFIELD
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — The Florida Association of Kennel Clubs will host a "crisis" seminar in Orlando Sunday to educate the public on responsible ownership of dogs, especially for the breeds and mixed-breeds that have come to be known as "pit bulls."

American Kennel Club vice-president Alan Stern and AKC board member Walter Goodman will lead the seminar at the Ramada Inn on West Highway 50 beginning at 10 a.m. The seminar is free and open to the public. Sen. W.W. "Bud" Gardner, D-Titusville and officials from area animal control departments and numerous animal organizations are expected to attend.

There are three AKC-recognized breeds of dogs that the public calls pit bulls. They are the American Staffordshire Terrier, the Staffordshire Terrier and the Bull Terrier. The three breeds and their mixes were used in England during the 1800s to fight each other and participate in other blood sports known as "rattling" or "badger baiting."

AKC officials believe the dogs are not naturally vicious, but made aggressive by their owners who trained them to fight.

Housing group hires counselor

BRAD COFFMAN
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Sanford Housing commissioners hired a tenant counselor Thursday night but postponed amending its budget until it hears from the department of Housing and Urban Development on whether its proposal to hire a management company is approved.

Phyllis Richardson, who was a tenant counselor for seven years, was hired to fill the position again. Linda Williams, interim executive director, said in recommending Richardson that she quit the job to earn her bachelor's degree and has been a volunteer worker with the agency since then.

No more rhetoric

Although the ruling party lost support to conservatives and liberals in the general election, South Africa's new president, F.W. de Klerk, theoretically begins his term with enough votes in parliament to expand the feeble social political reforms started by his predecessor, P.W. Botha.

In practice, however, Mr. de Klerk's powers of leadership will be sorely tested. It is clear that much of the white electorate does not embrace his plan to give the disenfranchised black majority more political power.

The outside world has grown justifiably impatient with white South Africa's empty promises and false starts. President Bush has rightly called for tangible progress toward reform, and many in Congress press the point more forcefully.

Unfortunately, what little leeway Mr. de Klerk has to prove his sincerity was dissipated when government police brutally assaulted peaceful protesters during the election campaign. Now his only salvation lies in action designed to bring a swift end to apartheid. Rhetoric will no longer suffice.

Given that fully three-fourths of South Africa's whites voted for no more than limited changes to the existing constitution, or for reverting to a more rigid application of apartheid, it is difficult to see how Mr. de Klerk justifies what he calls his mandate for reform.

His campaign promises were deliberately vague. He talked of the need for yet another constitution and offered a promise of some unspecified form of power-sharing for the country's 26 million blacks. Black leaders properly demanded an end to demeaning and repressive legislation and the right to vote in free elections.

In a recent specific statement on far an South Africa, the Bush administration has spelled out specific steps Pretoria must take to bring about negotiations between white and black South Africans.

These include release of political prisoners, particularly African National Congress leader Nelson Mandela, lifting the state of emergency imposed in 1986 and permission for political exiles to return to South Africa. In addition, the Bush administration seeks the lifting of bans on the ANC and other anti-apartheid organizations, and an end to violence and racial prejudice in all forms.

Lamentably, these reforms appear unlikely. Given the electoral losses suffered by the ruling National Party, President de Klerk will fear angering more party members to the arms of the opposition Conservatives by aggressively pushing reform at this juncture. Yet the need for progress and negotiations is urgent and overwhelming.

Washington should use all the constructive leverage it possesses, including economic and political sanctions, to encourage Mr. de Klerk to prepare an agenda for talks with the ANC and other black organizations. What is needed is a detailed timetable for reform that will end once and for all the dominance of 5 million whites over 26 million blacks, Asians and persons of mixed race.

Although there is reason to be encouraged by unexpected electoral gains among white reformist candidates of the Democratic Party, the reality is that only Mr. de Klerk's Nationalists have the power to implement serious change. Yet Mr. de Klerk's opportunity to avert a violent convulsion of South Africa's white-controlled society may have been missed.

Massive plan aims at clearing the air

MISSION HILLS, Calif. — On especially bad days, the smog that plagues the Los Angeles metropolitan area looks like a huge olive-drab Army blanket suspended above the entire region and smothering its people.

The noxious mixture of carbon monoxide, nitrogen dioxide, particulate matter and other contaminants stretches from the San Fernando Valley here in the northwest, into the central business district, south to the Pacific Ocean and east into the San Gabriel Valley.

It is responsible, according to one study, for a total of more than 700 million person-days annually of coughs, sore throats, irritated eyes, headaches, nausea, chest discomfort and assorted other maladies. "Virtually no one is unaffected," says the study commissioned by the board of the South Coast Air Quality Management District, a previously obscure government agency that has become very well known by virtue of its imminent imposition of a wide-ranging, decades-long plan to cleanse the region's air.

"Residents of the (Los Angeles) basin pay for breathing polluted ambient air with decreased life spans, increased episodes of respiratory infections and other illnesses," says the AQMD study.

Indeed, the risk of dying in the basin because of its dreadful air quality now is about the same as the chance of being killed in an auto accident in the city of Los Angeles.

AQMD estimates that the annual pollution-control costs associated with the plan would total almost $2.8 billion — but the agency says the region would save $9.4 billion in health care costs annually if it complied with federal air quality standards.

Los Angeles' air pollution problems may be the worst in the nation, but residents of scores of other urban areas across the continent face only slightly less severe problems. Unless those communities take remedial action now, they could be forced to impose drastic measures similar to those crafted by AQMD.

Los Angeles' air pollution problems may be the worst in the nation.

There are 123 rules in the initial five-year phase of the agency's cleanup plan that will directly affect the 12 million people living in the non-desert portions of Los Angeles, San Bernardino and Riverside counties as well as all of Orange County. Among them:

• Solvent-based paints, varnishes, sealants and other coatings sold or used in the region will have to be reformulated as water-based products to reduce the amount of gases released as they are applied.

• All products dispensed from aerosol cans, ranging from hair spray to furniture polish, will have to be either reformulated or banned. Even underarm deodorants that roll on must be reformulated to reduce the small emissions of organic gases released as they evaporate.

• Backyard barbecue grills in which starter fluid can be used to light the charcoal will be prohibited. Restaurants using charcoal broilers will be required to install special vents to reduce emissions.

• Bias-ply tires will be banned from the market because they wear down relatively quickly, spewing small rubber particles into the atmosphere. Only more expensive radial tires will be sold.

• Large commercial bakers will be required to install afterburners on their oven exhausts.

Is Bush playing the spoils game?

WASHINGTON — Do a small favor for George Bush and you get a thank-you note. Do a large favor and you get an ambassadorship.

The Senate has caught on to Bush's political spoils game and is making much ado of some pending ambassadorial appointments. But the indignation comes too little, too late. Some questionable nominees have already been approved by the Senate.

Calvin Howard Wilkins Jr., for example, is the kind of interloper who makes career foreign service people grind their teeth. He is the new ambassador to the Netherlands. The Wichita, Kan., pizza mogul began his business career selling vacuum cleaners door to door.

He doesn't speak Dutch, but he speaks German and that's good enough for Bush. The president may be more interested in another of Wilkins' qualifications — a 15-year history of political contributions to the Republican Party. Since 1974, Wilkins has given $178,300 to various GOP causes, including generous contributions to two members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that confirmed him — $1,000 to Sen. Frank Murkowski, R-Alaska, in 1986 and $1,000 to Sen. Rudy Barchewitz, R-Minn., in 1984.

Wilkins capped his charitable campaign with a $62,000 gift to the Kansas Republican National State Election Committee on Sept. 8, 1988, our reporters Bonnie Potter and Stewart Harris have learned.

Wilkins' nomination for the Netherlands post was rushed through a Senate committee, and approved on June 30 before Bush's trip to that country because the president wanted his ambassadorial place.

Nominations like Wilkins' have become the rule rather than the exception under Bush. During his first seven months in office, Bush nominated twice as many political loyalists as he did career diplomats to head embassies, according to figures compiled by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Ronald Reagan was not nearly as adept at gratitude as Bush is. During the first seven months of Reagan's second term, his nominations of career diplomats outnumbered political ones 3 to 1.

The primary critic of Bush's political spoils is Sen. Paul Sarbanes, D-Md., who says, "If we're going to have any standard of seriousness for ambassadorial nominees, we should get off this money merry-go-round."

Sarbanes lost the fight over Wilkins. But he continues to oppose the nominations of others whose resumes don't qualify them to represent the United States abroad.

On Sarbanes' hit list are Pennie Percy Kerth, the nominee to Mauritius, and Della M. Newman, waiting to pack her bags for New Zealand.

Kerth is a political party-thrasher and a former Ms. Maid of Cotton for the National Cotton Council. She chaired the closing-night party for the 1984 Republican Convention and co-chaired the 1988 Bicentennial Presidential Inauguration. The Republicans consider her to be a crack fundraiser.

Kerth told us she has demonstrated her executive and administrative skills with her current employer, Bethely's auction house.

Newman is a real-estate tycoon from Washington state and another party thrasher. She chaired the Bush campaign in Washington. But her knowledge of New Zealand is a bit shaky. She could not name the county's prime minister.

But by the loose standard of party loyalty, Kerth and Newman are qualified for the most important

The kind of interloper who makes career foreign service people grind their teeth.

Tough choices in Palestine

WASHINGTON — Nine months after a diplomatic debate, the United States is in danger of making matters worse. The Bush administration, which is relentlessly and sometimes abominably eager to undercut the obvious — that it is not the Reagan administration — may well pick up where the Reagan administration left off in opposing the Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO).

The question is: What will happen if Yasser Arafat requests a visa to visit his kindred spirits, of which there are all too many, at the United Nations?

Late last autumn, to enable it to do what it had long wanted to do — deal directly with the PLO — the State Department became Arafat's stylist, coaxing him to sing the right (well, the State Department's idea of the right) words. The three U.S. conditions were recognition of Israel, acceptance of U.N. Resolution 242 and renunciation of terrorism. The PLO did none of the three, but feigned agonies of surrender, so State ruled that it had done all three.

The PLO slightly softened its rhetoric of implacable hostility toward Israel, hostility still enshrined in the PLO covenant, which declares Palestine "inviolable" and vows "elimination of Zionism and Palestine." The PLO "accepted" Resolution 242 (as the PLO misconstrues it to require complete withdrawal to the 1967 borders).

But the PLO accepted 242 in the context of "relevant" U.N. resolutions. These — "Zionism is racism," and the rest — have the cumulative meaning of mandating Israel's destruction.

Today, as 10 months ago, the PLO, speaking to its constituencies, reassures them that its diplomatic maneuvers are merely part of a phased approach to the liquidation of Israel. The two-stage, two-state strategy is to reduce Israel to indefensible borders by means of the PLO strategy on the West Bank, and then use violence.

Regarding terrorism, the PLO said: We never have used it, we promise to stop using it, and attacks against Israelis are not terrorism. Since then, the PLO has increased terrorism in three ways. There have been more attacks across the border, including assaults from the Fatah faction. PLO radio from Baghdad incites and praises terrorism within pre-1967 Israel, such as the act of plunging an Israeli bus into a ravine. And there has been a sharp increase in murders of moderate Palestinians — 89 so far — on the West Bank.

Israel has serious plans for accommodating its security needs and Palestinian political aspirations. Israelis cite as a possible model Spain's concessions to Catalan cultural and political autonomy. (Israelit is that analogy is Israeli concession of the West Bank.) Battered groups could be replaced by towns for 85 billion — 2, say, 10 European nations would put their money (a mere $40 million each for just five years) where their mouths incessantly are. But what moderate Palestinians will come forward to negotiate? They see other moderates murdered and the United States is more than merely mute, it is abjecting the "umbrella organization."

Concerning whether the PLO is a terrorist organization, State's position is: It cannot be such an organization because we are talking with it and we are not allowed to talk with terrorists. State also says the PLO is an "umbrella organization" and that Fatah is one faction bound by Arafat's supposed renunciation of terrorism. How does State verify compliance? The point of the PLO "umbrella" structure is to allow appeasement-minded Westerners to say they cannot trace a thread of responsibility of Palestinian terrorism.

Six months ago, Arafat reaffirmed the PLO goal of "the complete liberation of the Palestinian soil and the establishment of a Palestinian state over every part of it." Five months ago the head of the PLO's Political Department said: "The recovery of but a part of our soil will not cause us to forsake our Palestinian land... We shall pluck out teeth in those places which our bullets can reach... This act shall then form the basis from which we shall later pursue the next phase."

Three months ago, the leader of the PLO's second largest faction said: "The establishment of a Palestinian state in the West Bank and Gaza will be the beginning of the downfall of the Zionist enterprise... (Our goal is the complete liberation of the national Palestinian soil." Last month the Fatah conference in Tunis reaffirmed that the 1948 partition of Palestine was a "crime."

The Bush administration, which peddles itself on believing that all differences are negotiable, cannot imagine implacability, and therefore cannot recognize it in the PLO. Or so any cynic, who keeps they are not serious about a visa or Arafat.

But what moderate Palestinians will come forward to negotiate?

Growth

will reach about 43,000 in 20 years, increasing the city's housing stock by 5,786 houses, duplexes, apartments and mobile homes. Single-family homes account for nearly 57 percent of all growth in housing, while apartments and other multi-family units make up nearly 38 percent of the projected growth.

The planning and zoning commission reviewed the first draft of the plan, prepared by Solin and Associates. Les Solin said in November a final draft of the plan would be presented to the city, which will have until April 1991 to adopt a version of the plan before submitting it to the state.

The Growth Management Act of 1985 requires each city and county to provide the state an analysis of its housing, infrastructure and conservation needs and a five-year plan of addressing those needs.

"Planning to no longer undertaken by asking the people what they would like to see in their community," Solin said. "In Florida, we have legislation that is putting our feet to the fire."

Many of the road improvements outlined in the plan are measures to make up for deficiencies in the city's transportation system. The plan calls for widening Airport Boulevard, Sanford Avenue, County Roads 427 and 45-A and singles out Seminole County as a possible source for more than $40 million to complete the work. An analysis of capacities for major road arteries shows CR 46-A outgrowing even a four-lane capacity between Country Club Road and Airport Boulevard by 1992.

Balancing the population and commercial growth around wildlife inhabiting the area is one of the tasks the planning document attempts to map out. The plan lists 11 endangered species and 94 threatened species of plants and 22 endangered animal species in the Sanford area.

The daily water flow will nearly double between now and 2006, according to the document. The plan notes an increase from six million gallons daily last year to 13 million in 2006, although the city's reclaimed water system, used now on city lands and to be used in residential neighborhoods, may decrease the projections for potable water use.

Most of the demand for water will stem from commercial and industrial growth. With 2,802 acres designated for commercial and industrial use, the plan projects a water demand for that land at 7 million gallons daily.

The planning and zoning commission will hold monthly work sessions to study the comprehensive plan draft.

City planner Jay Marder said the planning and zoning commission, with city staff, "will have enough to discuss the concepts of the plan with the public by the end of this year." Work now being done is refining of work done over the past four years, he said.

number of inquiries for lots. The park will be built by Howard Lay, president of Federal Parts, Inc. The local firm will move its facilities from the airport industrial park after 17 years there.

Federal parts currently is located at the Sanford Regional Airport where, Lay said, the business has outgrown the space available.

Krueger Enterprises, a booming remodeling company, has already committed to construction in the industrial park. A Georgia box-making company has also visited the site to survey a three-acre parcel, he said.

No estimates on the number of people to be employed at the park nor the projected annual payroll were available.

The three-phase development will be located directly across State Road 46 from Northstar Industrial Park, a major industrial development under construction.

Limit death row appeals: Powell

United Press International

WASHINGTON — The appeals available to people sentenced to die should be limited, a panel headed by former Supreme Court Justice Lewis Powell said, reducing an average eight-year delay between conviction and execution.

The committee of the Judicial Conference of the United States, the policy body of the federal court system, called Thursday for a series of changes to end the lengthy series of appeals by lawyers for death row prisoners, while guaranteeing fairness for those facing capital punishment.

The proposal, which could be voted on by the Judicial Conference in March, would place limits on such appeals. In return, states would have to provide prisoners with attorneys for all appeals and automatic stays of execution during the review process.

The committee's proposal basically would limit the number of habeas corpus challenges a prisoner may bring. This is a procedure under which a prisoner convicted in state court may challenge the conviction and sentence in federal court by claiming it violated the Constitution.

"My opinion is that capital punishment will be abolished in the United States because it is not being enforced," Powell said, adding it has not deterred murders and "in time I feel we will follow the example of Western Europe" and abolish it.

Currently, those facing the death penalty make appeals into state and federal courts. Powell said the average time between conviction and execution has been more than eight years.

"The aim of the proposal is this," Powell said. "Capital cases should be subject to one fair and complete course of collateral review through the state and federal systems. This review should be free from the time pressure of an impending execution and with the assistance of competent counsel for the prisoner. When this review has concluded, litigation should end."

Leslie Harris, legislative counsel with the Washington office of the American Civil Liberties Union, described the commission report as "abstract, fact-free and rather bloodless."

She said, "The controversy over habeas corpus boils down to one simple question: Should there be a time clock on justice in this country? The Powell Commission plainly says 'yes' and we're here to say 'no' — the report is cloaked in moderate tones but there is nothing moderate about what it proposes."

Powell does not oppose the death penalty, but was skeptical that any changes will improve the death penalty system in the United States — a system that is constantly attacked as being flawed.

People who favor the death penalty maintain that long delays and legal maneuvering remove any deterrent value it may have. People who oppose it say the system is discriminatory, unfair and applied unjustly.

After a period of comment, the proposal will go to the Judicial Conference in March. If it is adopted, it would then go before Congress, which would have to enact legislation. Individual states also would have to pass laws to participate in the proposed new system.

Gator

South fish house. Hendryetta measured 13 feet, 6 inches, an impressive length but still 6 inches shy of the state record and nowhere near the fabled 18 feet.

After the processor skinned the alligator, the wrinkled hide stretched out to 15 feet, 1 inch, said game warden Scott Hoffman.

"It's kind of sad in a way," said Hoffman, who identified the body. "It's definitely the same gator they were all talking about. It's all wrinkled up around his eyes. That creature's been out there on Lake Okechobee probably 80 to 90 years. I think it was just too old and tired to fight any more."

Named for her home, Hendry County, the massive alligator threw the lakeside community of Clewiston into a frenzy and inspired outlandish tales about the one that got away.

Hendryetta sightings made the news as far away as Germany. Before the 30-day alligator hunting season began Sept. 1, several people wrote to Gov. Bob Martinez asking that Hendryetta be granted special protection because of her extreme age.

Hoffman said the alligator had an unusually large head, which probably caused people to think it was larger than it was.

Gary Metts, the processor at Mouth of the South, bought Hendryetta for $500. He skinned 180 pounds of meat from it, about 30 pounds more than expected for an alligator that length.

Race

The fun run will begin at 8 a.m. at the Sanford Civic Center on Seminole Boulevard. The 8-k run will begin at 8:30 a.m. and the kiddie run will begin at 10 a.m.

All runners will receive T-shirts for participation.

The third annual Sanford Water Festival Triathlon, sponsored by the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, will kick off from the Holiday Inn on Lake Mary Road at 8 a.m. The race includes a three-mile run, a 10-mile bike course and short canoe segment.

Individuals, two-person teams and three- or four-person teams may compete in the triathlon.

Dave Parr, chamber executive director, said more than 100 triathletes had registered as of Thursday. Late entries may register before the race at the Holiday Inn.

Sanford police Lt. Mike Rotundo said Madonia is not a suspect in any other burglaries.

"Madonia's wife said today her husband did not know the intruder. Mrs. Beletto said her husband is sorry that Madonia was seriously injured, but she said he had to defend himself.

According to police, the intruder is believed to have entered Beletto's house through an unlocked door. He allegedly took a television and $800 from the house to put in a car outside.

When the suspect allegedly entered the house a second time, police said Beletto was awakened by a noise and the confrontation occurred.

Police said both men suffered multiple stab wounds. Beletto was taken to Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford.

A spokesman for the Orlando hospital said Madonia is in serious condition, and Rotundo said he is not under police guard. Charges are pending against Madonia.

Mrs. Beletto said she was at work when her husband was attacked, but is at home with him today. She said he is "doing fine."

Volunteers will be exchanging quarters for bills from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. The festival will also feature hot air balloon rides, School of Dance Arts, Dr. Zoforus, the Dixieland Clingers, as well as various musical groups, games and booths.

Donations will go toward a $5,000 fund to help the city maintain the playground once it is built by 1,500 volunteers Nov. 1 through Nov. 5. SIB has already raised $50,000 for the cost of construction and design.

The playground was designed by the Robert Lamborn architect firm of New York, with the input of local schoolchildren.

Capital gains tax showdown set

WASHINGTON — House Democratic leaders prompted a showdown threat Thursday from President Bush over his capital gains tax cut by unveiling an alternate plan of higher taxes on the rich and a restoration of tax deductible retirement plans.

"Beginning today, the middle class fights back," House Democratic leader Richard Gephardt of Missouri told a news conference.

But Bush, appearing Thursday night on the ABC program "PrimeTime Live," promised a veto if a rate increase is attached.

"I will veto a rate increase," Bush vowed. "I sent a signal up to the Hill we do not need a tax increase. I know they are upset about the capital gains reduction, but that is not a tax break for the rich. ... So I hope we can prevail."

Even as Democrats said the choice House members will face next week between the capital gains cut supported by Bush and most Republicans, and the Democratic alternative, pits the rich against the middle class, Bush vowed to quash any such effort.

The Democratic plan that prompted such a swift reply from the president includes a 50 percent restoration of previously eliminated tax deductions for opening or adding to Individual Retirement Accounts, or IRAs. Funds could be withdrawn without penalty for first home purchases or college costs.

Most middle-class Americans lost that deduction in the Tax Reform Act of 1986 in exchange for lower tax rates, but lower wage earners kept it.

Insurance antitrust suit still alive

SAN FRANCISCO — California Attorney General John Van de Kamp said he will go to the U.S. Supreme Court if necessary to appeal a federal court's dismissal of a massive insurance industry antitrust suit.

U.S. District Judge William Schwarzer threw out the lawsuit filed by 19 states accusing major insurance companies of colluding in a "global insurance boycott" in violation of antitrust laws.

"I remain convinced that Congress did not intend to leave Americans defenseless against group boycotts by insurance companies, and I intend to seek review of the decision by the court of appeals and, if necessary, by the U.S. Supreme Court," Van de Kamp said.

"Today's decision is but the first step on the road to a final, authoritative statement of the law," he said.

The states maintained that 31 companies conspired to make it virtually impossible for businesses, local governments and non-profit groups to get liability coverage during what became known as the "liability crisis" of the mid-1980s.

Judge Schwarzer ruled that while insurance companies may have violated antitrust laws by agreeing to curtail coverage for certain risks, they are immune from those laws because of an exemption granted to insurers under the McCarran-Ferguson Act.

Pilot of crashed plane disappears

NEW YORK — A co-pilot was at the controls of the USAir jetliner that crashed into the East River at LaGuardia Airport and authorities were investigating reports the pilot acted erratically before the aborted takeoff, newspaper reports said today.

The pilot, who should have been at the controls because of a medical emergency, had only two months experience in a Boeing 737 before the crew tried to abort takeoff late Wednesday, plowing down the runway at 140 mph. The New York Times reported it was the co-pilot's first time in the cockpit of a 737.

Both the pilot and co-pilot disappeared shortly after the crash that killed two of the 63 people aboard USAir Flight 9080 to Charlotte, N.C. Aviation authorities said they were attempting to interview both men.

"We've tried to contact him, but we have not been able to do so," Fred Farrar, a spokesman for the Federal Aviation Administration told the Times.

Authorities were investigating reports that the co-pilot of the flight told Port Authority police shortly after the crash the pilot had been "mumbling" and "acting irrationally" just before takeoff, the Times reported.

The Daily News in its Friday edition quoted an unidentified law enforcement official as saying the actions of the pilot "may have played a part in the accident."

Frozen embryo ruling handed down

MARYVILLE, Tenn. — The first court ruling granting the protection of human life to frozen embryos opens a Pandora's box of issues never before addressed by the law and could jeopardize in vitro fertilization programs in this country, experts said.

Saying "life begins at conception," a judge ruled Thursday that embryos are human life, even if formed in a laboratory dish, and awarded a divorced couple's seven eggs to the woman in a landmark case.

Blount County Circuit Judge W. Dale Young granted Mary Sue Davis the right to have the eggs implanted in her womb in order to have a "test-tube baby" against her ex-husband's wishes.

"Human embryos are not property," the judge ruled. "Mr. and Mrs. Davis have produced human beings, in vitro, to be known as their child or children."

Hugo rips through Carolinas

Charleston hit hard; three deaths reported

United Press International

CHARLESTON, S.C. — Hurricane Hugo barreled through historic Charleston with 135-mph winds early today, ripping apart century-old buildings and sending a wall of water surging through city streets before it moved inland to create more floods and deadly tornadoes.

Three deaths were reported in the Carolinas from Hugo and its tornadoes.

Downgraded to a tropical storm as it lost power inland, Hugo headed toward Virginia at a 25-mph pace Friday morning, something of a blessing, forecasters said, since its fast movement decreased the threat of flash flooding.

The hurricane's arrival was not so fortuitous. It smashed into Charleston just as the tide was coming in, sending water coursing through streets as far as 10 miles inland. Hugo's winds stripped the roofs from numerous buildings, including City Hall, and snapped trees.

"We will be recovering from this for a long, long time," said Paul Lunaford, director of the state's Emergency Preparedness Division.

Residents stepped out at dawn to get the full impact of Hugo's havoc.

"It is a scene of destruction unprecedented in recent South Carolina memory," said Charleston Mayor Joseph Riley, taking his first look at the damage.

Most of the city was plunged into darkness as power lines snapped along with telephone lines as the screeching winds bowed over trees, utility poles and huge metal signs.

Many residents and emergency workers huddled in terror in downtown buildings. Lines began forming at grocery stores hours before they opened.

Police blocked off the streets and warned motorists off because of downed power lines. Ambulances were unable to answer emergency calls because of fallen trees across the roads and several had to wait until police with chain saws cleared a passage.

Pieces of roofing and slivers of glass littered the streets. Ancient oak trees stood broken and mostly bare, their leaves stripped away by the wind. Power transformers were bent like paper clips and electrical and phone lines were strewn like snakes along the sidewalks.

Two tractor-trailer rigs lay smashed on their sides in a restaurant parking lot, and tree trunks crushed several cars. The roof was off Charleston's old Slave Market, and police said the roof had blown off City Hall and several other structures.

"I've been through David, Fredrick, Gracie and now Hugo," said Rosetta Holmes, who moved to Charleston in 1947. "Gracie was the worst but this one was pretty bad, too."

Charleston's historic cannon-lined Battery Park was awash with mud and debris but most of the graceful old homes lining the area escaped serious damage.

Elizabeth Amory was told to leave her low-lying 1898 wood-and-brick house but refused to go, saying she feared for the safety of her four cats.

"The house sort of swayed all night," she said. "It was like being in a rocking chair. I didn't know how scared I was until this morning."

A few wide-eyed residents wandered the streets in T-shirts and shorts snapping pictures of the devastation like tourists.

"I stayed up all night because I was so scared," said Stacy Davidson, one of the few guests in a downtown Charleston hotel. "I can't believe the way downtown looks right now."

The worst hit area seemed to be the barrier Isle of Palms north of Charleston. Communications to the island and neighboring Sullivan's Island were cut off.

Harrison McLaurin, public relations manager for Southern Bell in South Carolina, said his contacts reported that the Ben Sawyer Bridge, a drawbridge connecting Mount Pleasant on the mainland with Sullivan's Island, had collapsed during the hurricane. The bridge was the only one linking Sullivan's Island and the Isle of Palms to the mainland.

The state Department of Highways and Public Transportation moved its equipment into strategic points in preparation for efforts to reopen roads covered with power lines and uprooted trees.

A few hours after its opening assault on Charleston, Hugo had weakened into a tropical storm. But earlier Hugo was the most powerful storm of the decade and had sent terrorized residents seeking refuge in homes, schools and shelters when it made landfall about 11:30 p.m. EDT Thursday.

"The wind is screaming. It's just screaming," Liz Leopard of the Red Cross cried as Hugo passed through.

Leopard was cringing with other emergency workers in a five-story office building that lost part of the roof as Hugo hit land. "The storm surge is tremendous," she said. "It's literally a wall of water surging across the street and we're at least 10 miles from the oceanfront."

"It sounds like a scary movie out there," said Margaret Hamilton at the Charleston International Airport in the northwestern section of the city.

Police in Charleston began receiving reports of looters before dawn and officers patrolled the streets looking for criminals and citizens needing assistance. Major damage was reported to more than 20 downtown buildings and officials feared excessive damage on low-lying barrier islands, which were inaccessible until daylight.

In Columbia, Gov. Carroll Campbell placed the National Guard on standby alert for use in Charleston.

The storm was accompanied by torrential rains that caused some heavy flooding in the Charlotte, N.C., area.

Geneva Nash, Union County, N.C., emergency management coordinator, said a tree crashed through the roof of a house and killed a 6-month-old infant. The name of the child was not released.

The flooded streets of Charleston looked like Venice, Italy, during the early morning hours, witnesses said.

"The water is as high as 6 feet deep, and it's surging down the streets with the wind," said police Cpl. Terry Williamson. "This is a wall of water. We've had houses collapse with the winds. As far as we know, no one's been hurt but communications are spotty."

A Navy vessel broke loose and slammed into the 110-foot Coast Guard Cutter Manitou docked at the Charleston Navy yard. None of the Manitou's 15-person crew were injured.

The roof was blown off the Coast Guard's emergency command center when the eye passed directly over the Charleston Coast Guard base, Parris said. Agency command centers in the damaged buildings were moved to other parts of the city.

Driver saves children after school bus crash

United Press International

ALTON, Texas — Driver Gilbert Pena, although critically injured, managed to save several children hurt when a truck plowed into his school bus, driving it into a water-filled gravel pit and killing 19 students.

Pena was one of four survivors in critical condition early today at Mission Hospital.

Nineteen students were killed and 67 people were injured in the crash, described by the National Transportation Safety Board as the third worst bus accident in U.S. history. The crash that killed 29 in Martinez, Calif., in May 1976 and 27 killed in Kentucky in May 1988 were worse.

Some of the young survivors managed to crawl out bus windows or were pulled out by Pena as the bus filled with water, officials said.

"He was injured and yet he was rescuing them. He was responsible for pulling a lot of them out of the bus," said Mission Hospital spokesman.

The Rev. George Gonzalez, of Iglesia Bautista del Pueblo in Mission, visited Pena in the hospital.

"He was in pain. He couldn't talk," Gonzalez said, adding that survivors told him Pena "had done all he could until he passed out."

The accident happened about 7:40 a.m. on a narrow rural road near Alton, about 4 miles from Mission near the Mexico border.

A soft-drink delivery truck drove through a stop sign and crashed broadside into the bus, carrying 80 Mission Consolidated School District students ranging in age from 12 to 17, as it was on its way to school.

"According to the driver, his brakes failed," said DPS Sgt. Israel Pacheco.

Bogota rocked by more bombs

Rumors revived that Colombia's justice minister has resigned

United Press International

BOGOTA, Colombia — Ten bombs rocked Bogota in attacks believed linked to the cocaine cartels' war against the government, and Colombia's justice minister was reported for a second time in a month to have resigned.

Government officials Thursday declined to confirm the reports that Justice Minister Monica de Greiff, 32, had resigned after less than three months in office. Local radio and television news broadcasts carried the report.

"We have nothing on it," a spokesman for the presidential palace said.

The reports said President Virgilio Barco late Wednesday accepted de Greiff's resignation, which the justice minister reportedly offered last month after hit squads linked to the Medellin and Cali cocaine cartels threatened her life and the lives of her husband and young child.

De Greiff reportedly turned down an offer of the ambassadorship in Portugal. Widespread rumors of de Greiff's resignation surfaced last month while she was in Washington conferring with Bush administration officials about U.S. assistance in Colombia's crackdown on powerful drug lords.

Barco denied the rumors and de Greiff, a popular symbol of Colombia's growing vigilance against drug trafficking, vowed to stay in office and soon returned to Bogota under heavy security.

Drug traffickers killed one of her predecessors and severely wounded another. A previous justice minister was assassinated in office. The National Judicial Employees Association said 230 judges have been killed and 1,000 threatened in the past 10 years, many of them while presiding over cocaine cases.

Ten powerful bomb explosions that ripped through Bogota before dawn Thursday appeared to be aimed at key national political parties, police said.

"The attacks began after 3 a.m. when 10 bombs exploded, nine of them in centers of political groups," said Gen.

Octavio Vargas Silva, chief of the police operations unit.

Two suspects were arrested shortly after nine bombs went off simultaneously in La Soledad, a neighborhood near the center of Bogota, Vargas Silva told reporters. A 10th bomb destroyed a southern Bogota bank office, wounding two guards.

At least eight of the bombs exploded at offices of the two traditional political parties, the ruling Liberal Party and the opposition Social Conservative Party.

No group claimed responsibility for the attacks, but a police source said the bombings may be the work of "the Extraditables," a cartel-linked hit squad.

Lebanese lawmaker assassinated

BEIRUT, Lebanon — A Lebanese Parliament member's assassination was denounced as an attack on Lebanon's faltering peace process, and the pope renewed his efforts to end the Christian-Muslim fighting he calls "genocide."

Veteran conservative Sunni politician Nazem Al Kaderi, 73, was gunned down Thursday in a daring daylight attack in Syrian-patrolled Muslim west Beirut as he left a barber shop, police and witnesses said.

Kaderi's 35-year-old bodyguard fired several shots at the four assailants, who instantly returned fire with automatic rifles, killing him, police said.

Quayle, Thatcher open conference

TOKYO — Vice President Dan Quayle and British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher opened an international conference of conservative political leaders today who proclaimed the "total failure" of world communism and pledged their determination to prevent its comeback.

"Democracy is on the move ... while communism and socialism are in retreat," said Thatcher at the opening session of a two-day meeting of the International Democratic Union, an organization of conservative political parties from 27 nations.

"Our democratic system has shown itself infinitely superior to communism and socialism," Thatcher said.

Quayle agreed but warned against complacency.

"It is too easy to ignore the fact, learned through bitter experience, that freedom has enemies," the vice president said on the first full day of his six-day visit to Japan.

Vietnamese troops leave Cambodia

United Press International

PHNOM PENH — The beginning of Vietnam's final troop withdrawal from Cambodia was greeted by new fighting and growing fears that all peace efforts will fail and the country's future will be decided on the battlefield.

Vietnamese troops Thursday began leaving Cambodia aboard battered trucks, buses and aging U.S.-made armored personnel carriers, and officials said all of Hanoi's remaining 26,000 soldiers would be out of the country by Tuesday.

Colorful departure ceremonies were held for Vietnamese forces in western Siem Reap and Pursat and in eastern Siem Treng Province to mark the beginning of the end of Vietnam's nearly 11-year occupation of neighboring Cambodia.

Civilians waving the blue and red flag of the Vietnamese-installed Phnom Penh government bade goodbye to Vietnamese forces that invaded in December 1978 to oust the bloody Khmer Rouge regime that had terrorized the nation for nearly four years.

At the height of Hanoi's occupation, more than 200,000 Vietnamese troops were in Cambodia fighting the three-party anti-Hanoi resistance movement headed by former Cambodian head of state Prince Norodom Sihanouk.

The role of the Khmer Rouge — if any — in the future government of Cambodia is the key issue dividing the current Phnom Penh government, the resistance and backers of both sides in the conflict.

In Jakarta, an Indonesian official close to the Cambodian peace talks predicted that the warring Cambodian factions would not be willing to negotiate a settlement until after months of inconclusive fighting.

"Both sides think they can move (battlefield) developments in such a way that they will be in a better position for a compromise," said the source, who spoke to reporters on condition he not be identified.

The key obstacle to agreement is the composition of an interim power-sharing government that could run the country until elections could be held, he said.

Prime Minister Hun Sen flew Thursday to Phnom Penh from Bangkok, where he held talks with Thai officials.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Jacoby's RBI ends marathon

CLEVELAND — Brook Jacoby's sacrifice fly in the 17th inning scored Tommy Hinzo Thursday night to end the longest game in the American League this season and lift the Cleveland Indians to a 5-4 victory over the California Angels.

The 5-hour, 26-minute marathon dropped the second-place Angels 3 1-2 games behind the Oakland Athletics in the American League West. The decision snapped California's five-game winning streak and ended Cleveland's six-game losing streak.

Pete O'Brien led off the 17th with a triple to right off loser Rich Monteleone, 2-2, the sixth California pitcher. Hinzo ran for O'Brien and Jacoby, batting with the infield and outfield drawn in, hit a sacrifice fly to right.

In other American League action, Milwaukee split with New York, Milwaukee winning 14-1 in the 1st game and New York taking a 5-4 win in the 2nd; Oakland edged Minnesota 2-1; and Seattle drilled Texas 8-3.

Lakeside Road Race tomorrow

The Sanford Lakeside Road Race, sponsored by The Sanford Kiwanis Club and the City of Sanford Cultural Affairs Department, will be run Saturday morning at the Sanford Civic Center.

The road race is an annual affair that is eight kilometers in length and sanctioned by The Athletics Congress. The event is scheduled to start at 8 a.m. with a two-mile fun run, followed by the 5K at 8:30 a.m. and a 1/4 mile kiddie run at 10 a.m. Award ceremony is set for 11 a.m. at the Civic Center.

Entry fee for the event will be $8.00 and each entrant will receive a shirt. Trophies will be presented to the top three men and women finishers in the open division plus the top three men and women in each age group. There will be 12 age groups plus a wheelchair division. Each entrant in the kiddie run will receive a ribbon for participating.

Proceeds from the event will go to benefit Wood-privileged children.

Soul searching helps Leonard

WASHINGTON — Coming off an unimpressive showing against Thomas Hearns, Sugar Ray Leonard says he has engaged in some "soul-searching" heading into his third bout against Roberto Duran.

Leonard, 33, was knocked down twice and was lucky to earn a controversial 12-round draw with Hearns on June 12.

"I've been doing a lot of soul-searching for a lot of reasons," said Leonard at a news conference Thursday to promote his Dec. 7 bout with Duran in Las Vegas.

Leonard will have his third different trainer in as many fights, replacing Dave Jacobs, who was in his corner against Hearns, with Jose "Pepe" Correa, who has trained International Boxing Federation welterweight champion Simon Brown. He also will train in Hilton Head, S.C., where he trained for his 1987 victory over Marvellous Marvin Hagler.

Butler's two-bagger lifts Giants

SAN FRANCISCO — Brett Butler lined a two-run double to highlight a three-run seventh inning rally that led the San Francisco Giants a 4-3 triumph and their third straight come-from-behind victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The verdict gave the Giants a three-game sweep of the series and reduced their magic number to five over the second-place San Diego Padres. The Giants lead San Diego by five games in the National League West.

Kelly Downs, 4-6, yielded two runs and six hits, walking none and striking out six over seven innings. Steve Bedrosian pitched the eighth and ninth for his 23rd save.

Ramon Martinez, 5-4, was the loser, allowing four runs and seven hits with six strikeouts in 6 1-3 innings.

In other National League action San Diego overcame Cincinnati 11-7; Chicago humbled Philadelphia 9-1; Atlanta blanked Houston 3-0; Montreal tipped Pittsburgh 6-5; and New York ripped St. Louis 6-1.

Lake Mary to host harriers

Lake Mary's D.J. Lewis

By MARK BLYTHE
 Herald sports writer

Seminole County cross country teams will focus their attention on the Lake Mary Invitational tomorrow as all six schools will be involved in the event.

The races will open with the girls varsity at 8 a.m., followed by the boys varsity at 8:30, girls junior varsity at 9, and boys junior varsity at 9:30.

"We have 16 teams coming and it will be a very competitive field," Lake Mary boys coach Willie Calloway said. "We had a good race last week and I hope things will fall into place for us this week. I think we should be in the running for the championship."

Lake Brantley, Titusville Astronaut, Lyman and Lake Mary all loom as the early race favorites and all have been impressive in the early going. Lyman may have the top team but it has been running a split squad. Therefore, it hasn't been one of the top teams in the earlier races.

"The course is in real good shape and our runners like it," Calloway said. "It will depend on the rain right now. The course was in good shape today but that could change with some heavy rain."

The Lake Mary course has been known to take its toll on runners as it features a short steep hill at the end of each mile loop. The hill also has loose dirt, making it that much tougher to scale.

"That hill has taken it out of a lot of runners," Calloway said. "You have to know how to run this course."

The boys race will feature the state's top runner and one of the top runners in the nation in Lyman's Teddy Mitchell. Mitchell is the defending 4A state champion and owns the state's best time of 18:15.

Leading the host Rams, who won their first title in three years last week at the Edgewater Invitational, will be led by D.J. Lewis and Bob Robertson.

The girls race will have three ranked 4A teams doing battle along with a ranked 3A team. Lake Howell, Lake Brantley and Lake Mary are all ranked among the top 10 in 4A with Titusville Astronaut being ranked in 3A.

Lake Howell is coming off a brilliant performance at the Edgewater Invitational and will look to improve on that this week.

"We're looking for consistency, a team effort and a strong desire to win," Lake Howell coach Tom Hammontray said. "We're getting to that point of year when you have to establish something."

Team effort lifts Rams

From staff reports

LAKE MARY — Lake Mary's girls volleyball team came up with another solid team effort to down nemesis Lake Brantley 15-11, 15-9 in Seminole Athletic Conference action at Lake Mary High School.

The Rams, now 11-4 overall and 3-1 in the SAC, will return to action Monday at home against Deltona. Lake Brantley, which fell to 4-5 overall and 2-3 in the conference, will return to action Thursday when it hosts Seminole.

"We had a real strong team effort," Lake Mary coach Cindy Henry said. "They realize now that we can make a mistake and not dwell on it. They know that someone else will come along and make up for it."

The Rams used a well-balanced attack as all of their players had a good day. It was the first time in two years Lake Mary has defeated a Lake Brantley team.

"I hope the way we're playing stays with us," Henry said. "I'm glad we have the type of team we have. We don't have to depend on one player having a good day. We don't have that kind of player anyway."

In boys' action, it was Lake Brantley handing Lake Mary its first loss of the season 15-10, 15-7 before a packed house at Tammy Scott (No. 16) and the Lake Mary Rams beat long-time nemesis Lake Brantley for the first time in two years Thursday night, posting a 15-11, 15-9 victory.

Oviedo rips Seminoles

By MARK BLYTHE
 Herald sports writer

OVIDEO — Oviedo's boys and girls made easy work of Seminole Thursday in Seminole Athletic Conference volleyball action before 231 fans at Oviedo High School.

Oviedo's girls took a 15-3, 15-5 victory to improve to 10-2 overall, 4-0 in the SAC. They will return to action Tuesday against Lyman. Seminoles fell to 2-5 overall, 1-3 in the conference and will return to action at home Tuesday against Lake Mary.

"It was nice to be able to play and have fun," Oviedo coach Anita Carlson said. "We were able to play all our subs and we even managed to start back row hitting in the second game."

Seminole opened the match with two quick points off the serve of Shawn Cohen. Mimi Tran then put the Lions into the lead with three nice serves, including an ace, as Carrie McCloud powered down two spikes.

Shannon Wilcoxson then put Oviedo into command of the opening game as she reeled off 10 consecutive points to up the lead to 13-3. Wilcoxson was aided by the net play of McCloud and Betsy Hughes.

Hughes played another strong all-around match for the Lions as she continually put up nice acts for her teammates along with keeping Seminoles off balance with her dinks and hits.

Morse leads Greyhounds

By DEAN SMITH
 Herald correspondent

DAYTONA BEACH — Kennis Morse rushed for 85 yards and two touchdowns as Lyman High School won for the second time in three starts, defeating Mainland High School 17-3 in varsity football action at Municipal Stadium Thursday night.

Lyman, 2-1, gets back into Seminole Athletic Conference action next Friday when it travels to Sanford to take on Seminole High School. Mainland, which falls to 0-3, travels to Candler to take on Lake Weir High School next Friday.

Lyman totally dominated the game offensively, as they outgained the Buccaneers 279-94 in total offense. The Greyhounds also controlled the clock as they had the ball on offense for almost 30 of the 48 minutes of the contest.

Despite the one-sidedness of the game Lyman coach Bill Scott was not a happy man. "We're just not consistent," said Scott. "We're so young and inexperienced, it's just

Tribe faces tough test in Titusville

By TONY BOGANNON
 Herald Sports Editor

One game into the 1989 season and already Seminole High School football coach Emory Blake was faced with a quandary.

His team had a relatively easy time of it last Friday, beating long-time rival Deland 33-6 for their first win of the season. But Blake knew that his team hadn't played all that well, despite gaining over 300 yards in offense and allowing just over 100.

Rams hope to improve against Apopka

By MARK BLYTHE
 Herald sports writer

Lake Mary will look to stop Apopka's Roecoe Griffin and force the Blue Darters into a passing game tonight when the teams meet for a non-district football contest tonight at Apopka High School. Kickoff is set for 7:30.

The Rams, 0-1, are coming off a tough 28-24 loss to Lake Brantley and will enter a demanding two-week stretch, facing Apopka and Lake Howell (ranked seventh in the state in Class 5A). Apopka, who was ranked early in the year, dropped to 1-1 with a 19-0 loss to Winter Park last Friday.

"After we watched the film, some of the players stood up and agreed that they hadn't played well," said Blake. "They know they can play better and they want to play better."

The Tribe will get a good test tonight, when they host the Titusville Terriers at Tom Whigham Stadium in a 7:30 p.m. contest. Last year, the Terriers advanced to

Oviedo, Lake Howell look to stay unbeaten

By MARK BLYTHE
 Herald sports writer

Oviedo and Lake Howell will look to keep their unblemished records another week as they enter tough football games tonight. Oviedo taking on first-year Deltona while Lake Howell will host Lake Brantley in a 5A District-4 confrontation.

The Oviedo Lions, 2-0, are not real sure what to expect from Deltona, which is in its first full year of varsity competition.

"We don't know too much about them," Oviedo coach Jack Blanton said. "We just can't give up the big play and allow them to score easily."

Oviedo will stick with its regular offensive attack of running Frank Diaz and opening it up with passes to Simon Harper, Dana Allen and Chris Witherspoon.

"I know their quarterback is all right and they have some decent receivers," Blanton said. "Their tailback is pretty quick and we'll have to stop him."

Since Blanton knows little about Deltona, he's

Sanford Electric rallies for win

By DEAN SMITH
Herald correspondent

Sanford Electric used an 18-hit attack to come from behind and defeat J & J Electric 8-6 in a battle of unbeaten in Sanford Women's Fall Slowpitch Softball League action at Chase Park on Tuesday night.

In the second game of the evening, Central Florida Fabricators picked up its first win of the season with a 9-3 triumph over Seko Air Freight.

The win moves Sanford Electric to 3-0 on the season while J & J Electric falls to 3-1. J & J plays CFF (1-3) and Sanford Electric plays Seko (0-5) Tuesday night at Chase Park.

Sanford Electric scored a run in the top of the first only to see J & J come up with six runs on six hits and five errors in the bottom of the first. But Sanford scored a pair of runs in the second and four more in the third to take the lead before adding an insurance run in the seventh.

Connie Thomas and Tina DiBartolo each collected three hits for Sanford Electric. Brenda Scipio, Paula Ritchey and Holly Lowder had two hits each. Cindy Miller, Tina Kimball, Teresa Wallberger, Sally Carter, Sam Murray and Jay Weaver each had one hit. Carter's hit was a double in the big third inning.

For J & J, which came up with nine hits, Rhonda Ralston, Sue Sojka and Lisa Clark had two hits each. Those with one hit were Julie Ellenberg, Beth Sparks and Sharon Faulk.

In the second game, CFF scored early, then cruised to the easy victory. CFF scored two runs in each of the first and third innings around a four-run second inning. They added one run in the fifth.

Edith Chester, Marie Byrd, Jo Sanders, Tammy Bailey and Tracy Davison each had two hits to lead a 14-hit CFF attack. Others with hits were Rosa Williams, Mildred Bailey, Belinda Anderson and Tammy Whitley.

For Seko, Jennifer Templin led the way with three hits and scored two of her team's three runs. Others with hits Bobbie Mosley, Deana Sowers, Kerrie Jones, Michelle Green and Faye Kennedy.

though, and we're happy with the way they've been improving.

Peters feels his offense will need to go to the air a little more. Since this is a non-conference and non-district confrontation, he will be able to experiment different formations.

"Last week, we were in a district game and we wanted to establish a running game," Peters said. "This week, we'll look to pass more and give quarterback Mike Merthle a chance to get into rhythm with his receivers."

The Rams are hoping to keep improving each week and will look to come up with some upsets later in the season. Lake Mary plays one of the toughest schedules in the county and will need to keep improving or it will run into trouble later.

"We want to keep improving and shock some people," Peters said. "I think all these kids have to do is win. I'm not sure when we'll get our first victory, but when we do get a win, I think we'll turn the corner and become a real good football team."

Peters knows all about Griffin, who rushed for 326 yards against Brantley two weeks ago and 94 last week against Winter Park. When he's contained the Apollos offense isn't nearly effective as it was shutout last week.

"We definitely need to stop Ronnie (Griffin)," Peters said. "He's a large part of their offense and we can key on him. We'll try to stop him with our linebackers. Their quarterback is also very good and they have some good receivers."

the semifinals in the Class 4A state playoffs.

Once again, Seminole fans can expect to see the home team work on its advanced offensive attack. Last week, quarterback Kerry Wiggins passed for 133 yards while the 'Noles rushed for 179 yards as a team. Blake would like to keep the rushing figure at that point and double the passing yardage.

Last week, however, Wiggins showed signs that he is coming of age. Only a junior, Wiggins didn't force many passes into bad spots and made a couple very nice finesse passes over defenders into the waiting hands of his receivers.

"That's part of the freedom I give Kerry, the freedom to make mistakes," said Blake after the DeLand win last Friday. "He prepared his team for a big confrontation. Oviedo is a big favorite in the game but is well prepared to play a tough ballgame."

"We know they'll be tough," Blanton said. "We'll have to be ready to play. They have good size and they looked good in their comeback win earlier in the season."

At Lake Howell, the Silver Hawks are anxiously awaiting their home opener against Lake Brantley, a team that has frustrated Lake Howell for the past three years.

The Silver Hawks, ranked seventh in Class 5A, will look to end that jinx tonight and remain in the rankings another week.

Lake Howell brings in the strongest running attack in the county led by running back Marquette Smith, who leads the county in rushing with 351 yards in two games.

Fullback Cortes Graves adds depth to the attack, which should be a big factor in the outcome. Quarterback Dan Vereck is another tough athlete that can run and throw the ball.

Lake Brantley features the running of quarterback Clint Johnson and running back Elroy Dantzier. Jason Vartek adds strength to the offense while being the Patriots' top defender, playing an inside linebacker.

going to take time to get things together."

Lyman also had several people playing both ways (offense and defense) and in different positions. "We were just trying out some different combinations to try and find out what will work," added Scott.

Of the Greyhounds' 279 yards of offense, 256 were gained on the ground. In addition to Morse, Marvin Reed rushed for 79 yards, sophomore Brian Grayson added 64 yards and Octavio Holiday had 28. Cedric Boucy, who is usually Lyman's big ground gainer, did not see much time to do minor injuries.

But the Lyman defense was just as dominating holding the Buccaneers to only 15 plays and 30 total yards the second half. Junior defensive end Tracy Duncan came up with a couple of quarterback sacks and a fumble recovery while Reed had an interception and Tom Calguri, Mark Proctor and Jeff offensive threat Mainland showed all night, gaining 55 yards on four carries. On the only Buc scoring drive, he carried twice for 27 and 16 yards to set up a 30-yard field goal by Julian Green.

Lyman took the opening kickoff and drove 69 yards for a touchdown. Morse getting the last five yards for the score. Lyman kept the drive alive when Reed took a short snap on a fake punt and ran for the first down.

Jeff Jackson hit the cross bar with a 42-yard field goal attempt but came back with a 38 yarder later in the second quarter.

Lyman's final score of the night came on the opening series of the third quarter. Grayson kicked off for Lyman to start the half but his kick into the wind was mishandled by a Mainland player and Duncan recovered for the Greyhounds. Nine plays later, Morse ran the ball in from the seven, then added a two-point conversion run.

Lake Brantley improved to 7-0 and will return to action Thursday at home against Seminole. Lake Mary fell to 7-1 and will return to action Monday at home against Dr. Phillips.

LAKE HOWELL-COLONIAL

ORLANDO - Lake Howell rebounded after a first game loss to take a 5-15, 15-9, 15-9 victory over Colonial in prep volleyball action Thursday night at Union Park Middle School.

Lake Howell improved to 7-3 and will return to action Monday at Lake Mary against Dr. Phillips. Colonial dropped to 2-3 overall this year.

"We have to beware of reaching a plateau and not improving," Lake Howell coach Jo Luciano said. "I know every team has it's plateau's and here is no way around that. But the other teams in our area are improving and we'll have to also."

After dropping the first game the Silver Hawks put things together in the second game to even the match at a game apiece.

In the final game the teams battled throughout. After both teams struggled early to a 4-4 tie Lake Howell's Missy Martinez served three consecutive points to give her team the lead for good.

Heather Braun put down a kill and gave the Silver Hawks a sidout and served for a pair of points to increase the lead to 9-5. After Diann Lowe upped the lead to 11-5 Colonial scored two points to cut the lead to 11-8.

Martinez then served three points, one on an ace and two off hits by Braun before Dana Boyce served the match's final point to give Lake Howell the win.

Loch Lowe-Wymore Tech

Loch Lowe Prep won its first game of the season, defeating Wymore Tech 15-3, 15-6 on Thursday night.

"It's good to get that first win out of the way," said Loch Lowe coach Tina McFerren. "This team hasn't reached its full potential yet. Once they do and get some confidence in themselves, then they'll begin to roll."

Betty Weaver led Loch Lowe on Thursday, serving 10 points, including three aces. Chris Rabb served seven points (one ace). Cindy Zapp served six (three aces) and Camilla Kennedy served five (two aces). Tiffany Morgan and Kris League played well at the net for Loch Lowe.

Loch Lowe also got a lift from the addition of two new players, sophomores Patty Kelly and Stephanie Goins. Kelly adds some height along the front line while Goins is a strong back row player.

The next match for Loch Lowe, now 1-3, will be next Friday at Orlando-Luther.

BOYS

LYMAN-DELAND

DELAND - Lyman's boys volleyball continued to roll Thursday night, posting a 15-10, 15-12, Seminole Athletic Conference victory over DeLand.

Lyman improved to 5-1 on the season and 3-1 in the conference. DeLand fell to 0-5 overall and 0-5 in the SAC.

"We didn't play that well," Lyman assistant coach Jerry Kelly said. "We scored mostly on their mistakes. We were lackluster and just stood around watching."

"We've never played well against Oviedo," Seminole coach Beth Corso. "In my six years of coaching, Oviedo has never seen one of my teams. We play well Tuesday and tonight we came in and did nothing, we had no intensity."

The second game started out with Tran and Wilcoxson getting a pair of service points each. Seminole cut the lead to 4-2 but could never threaten after that as Oviedo scored the next six points to up the lead to 10-2.

The Tribe managed to cut the lead to 11-5 but could do nothing after that as Oviedo's back row hitting came through and helped score the final three points to end the game.

"Every win is sweet," Carlson said. "It was fun and we'll take it."

In boys action, Oviedo whipped Seminole 15-7, 15-5, to improve to 5-3 overall and 3-3 in the conference. The Lions will return to action Tuesday against Lyman.

Video mania has many outlets

By BRIAN MUMBAER
Herald People editor

Eric Mumbaer is stumped when asked why he enjoys a particular video game.

"Because I'm good at it. I guess," said the recent Lake Mary High School graduate.

Perhaps Eric has never thought about it because video games are not something you talk about. They're something you do.

You might find a few video games in certain convenience stores and pizza parlours, but to really indulge, pay a visit to one of Seminole County's video arcades.

In the passive sense, one can exhaust himself on a vast array of athletic video games: fist fighting, football, race cars, skateboarding, demolition derby, Olympics, wrestling, golf, kung-fu, basketball, bowling, billiards, boxing, pro wrestling, motorcycle racing, kickboxing and dodge ball.

One video game proposes a radical solution to an American crisis. The game "Narc" is subtitled "Say No to Drugs." It shows an anti-drug quote from an FBI official, and boasts this statement: "No one had the guts to fight until now." The game player goes about killing and arresting inner-city drug dealers who are dressed in black leather outfits or brown overcoats.

Warfare, from American troops in Vietnam to Contras in Nicaragua, is another popular theme, whether the onslaught is via tanks, jets, helicopters or guerrilla tactics.

"After Burner" gives one realistic, impressive visuals as he soars through the sky as a fighter pilot.

Other video games are overt takeoffs on hit movies. In the game "Robocop," one has the mission to clean up crime in old Detroit. "Dark Adventure," in the line of the "Indiana Jones" movies, has one battling armies of spiders and snakes. In "Xenophobe," which borrows from the movie "Alien," you and a monster have it out in a spaceship.

With lightning-fast hands and fingers, the veteran video player will get caught up in the thrill of victory and the agony of defeat. Victory: getting to inscribe your initials as a high scorer. Defeat: getting killed and digging deep for another life.

An arcade sounds like a room full of activated music boxes, all producing their own electronic theme songs and sound effects. The patrons, mostly pre-teens and teens, often get caught up in what they're playing.

"One of the guys comes in to play the death-and-destruction games," said Jim Dempsey, an attendant at Electric Circus of Lake Howell, in Casselberry. "This guy really gets bent out of shape when his magic man or whatever gets killed. He's about 20 to 21 years old."

"I personally find a lot of (the games) stupid," said Clancy Strasser, a manager of Fun-N-Games at Altamonte Mall. "But a lot of kids, they like them—that's all I can say. They get to where they get a little expertise on them and they come back."

Eric Mumbaer said he doesn't spend dollars there, only loose change. But Dempsey said he has seen another side.

"I see the kids come here during the day, especially on the weekends after they get their allowance," Dempsey said. "They'll sink $10 to $20 into the games and they'll come next door and not have any money to eat. That's a shame."

He remembers two 9-year-old girls who spent $36 one Saturday night on games. They had to borrow money to buy a soda afterward, he said.

"They're not hurting anyone but themselves," Dempsey said. "So there's no cap on how much they can spend. People come in here and it's just like going to Las Vegas. They take rolls of quarters and throw them in there."

Although pinball games, "Pac Man" and "Centipede" are outdated to most kids, such games don't feature multiple buttons and levers. The Electric Circus keeps some of these simpler games for adults and seniors, Dempsey said.

Membership at the Electric Circus is $5. For membership, one gets $7.50 in tokens, tokens for recruiting new members, and tokens for winning in member competitions, Dempsey said.

Strasser said Fun-N-Games offers a family atmosphere.

"We're not one of the dark-ink arcades," he said. "You generally think of an arcade as seedy. We try to make it as open and lighted and uncrowded as possible." Cheri Larrick, manager of Funtime USA Inc. in Altamonte Springs Interstate Mall, said her arcade is convenient for people going in or out of the mall's movie theater, but "it's not a hang-out, per se."

Larrick said Funtime USA is privileged to have "Galaxy Force," a sit-down, spaceship version of "After Burner" in which the seat moves and the game title. She said the manufacturer has allocated only two for Florida.

The Fun Machine probably has the largest selection of video games, with around 200 housed

Son's friend getting free ride on vacations

DEAR ABBY: We are an ordinary middle-class family. Our older children are married, and we have one son at home who just turned 15.

We like to take vacations, and our son likes to take a friend with him. For the last four years, the same friend has been going with us. (I'll call him Buddy.) We always pay Buddy's way as though he were a member of the family. I'm talking about food, motel room, which he shares with our son, and whatever it costs to get through the gate at some park.

We never thought about it until this year, but we resent the fact that Buddy's parents have never offered to pay part of the lodging for their son, gas for our car, meals or anything else. They aren't any worse off financially than we are. They never go on vacations, so they aren't able to invite our son anywhere. They always thank us when we bring Buddy home and tell us he'd never get to go anywhere if it weren't for us.

We're not greedy or cheap, but this kid practically lives at our house during the year. I'm not even here if it's proper to expect anything. I wish our son could have as nice a free vacation as Buddy gets. What are your thoughts on this?

ADVISE

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

COLORADO QUESTION

DEAR QUESTION: It would be most thoughtful and considerate if Buddy's parents paid a little something toward their son's vacations, but look at it this way: Your son has a compatible companion on his vacation trips, which makes those vacations more enjoyable for everyone, including you. All things considered, it's a pretty good deal for all parties. Especially Buddy.

Liver disease cure-all most likely is bogus

DEAR DR. GOTT: A news commentator recently indicated there is a medication being used in Mexico by local doctors and hospitals that cures all liver diseases. He called it "Sen." Have you heard of this, and does the FDA sanction it?

resistance), underlying chronic infection (that can predispose patients to acute infection) and unusually frequent exposure to infection, as occurs in health-care workers and school-teachers.

DEAR READER: Drug-testing in underdeveloped nations is often sloppy and unscientific. Before a medicine is marketed in the United States, it undergoes stringent analysis to determine its usefulness—and its dangers. This is a vital procedure, protecting consumers from quack cures and harmful compounds.

I have not heard of "Sen"; as far as I know, it has not been tested or approved by the Food and Drug Administration. And it probably won't be submitted for testing.

Frankly, I'm always skeptical about claims that a new, unproved drug can cure a variety of ailments. For instance, liver disease has many causes, ranging from genetic abnormalities, such as alpha 1 antitrypsin deficiency in children, to damage from infection (hepatitis) and drugs (especially alcohol). I do not see how any one drug could possibly "cure all liver diseases," when the causes are so varied.

Don't take drugs that have failed to obtain the FDA stamp-of-approval. If you do, you will most likely waste your money and run a real risk to your health.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm 29. Since I was a child I've always caught colds. My sinuses are constantly draining. I have terrible breath and had caraches until I had my tonsils out. Who do I see about this?

DEAR READER: Some healthy people seem to be particularly susceptible to frequent upper respiratory infections. This may be due to allergies (that can weaken tissue

WIN AT DIAMONDS

By James Jacoby
Austrian experts Jan Fucik and Fritz Kubak won the Icelandic open palm event last February in Reykjavik by a very wide margin. Although the winners were experts, the wide margin tells us they had a healthy serving of luck. Today's hand is a good example. The opening two-heart bid was a special opening, showing a long heart suit and four clubs, as well as opening-bid values. Kubak, South, doubled for takeout and then bravely bid four spades when the bidding got back to him at the four-heart level. West doubled and led the queen of hearts. Declarer won dummy's ace and played a club. East won the ace and could now defeat the contract by playing back a diamond. West would take the ace and play another diamond, allowing East to ruff with the spade king. Instead East inexplicably played another heart. Kubak ruffed and cashed the ace of spades, dropping the now useless king from East. Declarer now played diamonds. West won the ace and played a club to South's king. Now came the high diamonds, a diamond ruff and a heart ruff. When declarer played his last diamond, the only trick that the defense could still take was the spade jack. Certainly the defense would have been easier if West had selected the jack of clubs for his opening lead, but he can't be faulted for leading partner's primary suit. There was really no excuse for East not to lead his singleton diamond when he got the chance.

HOROSCOPE

By Bernice Bode Cool
YOUR BIRTHDAY
Sept. 23, 1989

Important financial transformations are in the offing for you in the year ahead. You're in a very favorable, long-range cycle where all of your material desires can be fulfilled.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Everyone had better get out of your way today once you establish a course of action. You'll mean business and people with whom you'll be involved will know this. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail 83 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91426, Cleveland, OH 44101-3426.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) In your own quiet way today you should be able to take effective measures to gain your objectives while others are looking the other way. Operate without attracting attention to yourself.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You're presently in a cycle where conditions in general are more hopeful than usual. You could be very lucky in getting something for which you wish.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Even if you have to assume another's responsibilities, you're not likely to be reluctant to tackle tough objectives today. Your faith in yourself and your abilities will be substantiated.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If it is necessary at this time to reach an agreement with a particular person regarding a specific issue, this is a good day to attempt it. Chances are good that an understanding can be achieved.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) It doesn't look like you'll waste any time or motion performing essential assignments for yourself or others today. When you set your mind to do something, it will be done.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Two heads will be better than one today and this is why you should do extremely well in your partnership arrangements. Collective ideas could be winners.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Through unselfish service and a desire to help others, you are likely to receive rewards today you won't be seeking, yet you'll be deserving of what you get.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Don't reject any invitations today which might provide you with opportunities to make new contacts in a convivial atmosphere. You could do yourself good and have a fun time in the process.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You're likely to be extremely skillful at handling commercial and financial situations today. You'll not be intimidated by obstructions if you sense possibilities for personal gain.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Occasionally, it is essential we treat our own horns, especially if we've done something noteworthy about which others should be informed. It may be up to you today to broadcast your achievements.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Diligent effort and a bold mind are two tools you can apply today to improve your lot in life materially. They make a profitable combination.
