RIFFIAN CHIEF MAY RESORT TO USE OF PLANES

Machines Were Recently
Bought By Abd-el-Krim
Who Promises Followers
They Will Be Used Soon

Landing Fields Are Now Being Prepared

Situation Along Front Looms
Serious as French Resort
To The Use of Huge Tanks

PARIS, Aug. 4.—Confirmation has been received of the report that Abd-el-Krim, the Moroccan war lord recently obtained the airplanes which some time ago he promised his troops would soon be in use. This statement is made in a dispatch from the correspondent of the Temps at Fez.

The dispatch adds that landing stations have been prepared for the planes, which were transported to Morocco by sea, Ajdir and Sghuan. The planes are intended to combat French planes bombing inside the Riff lines, but the correspondent asserts that before they are ready for action it is certain French chasser escadrilles, made up of French and American volunteers, will be on the spot.

Tanks are proving highly effective in French reconnoissances along the battle front according to advices received at headquarters here. Near Ajzen northwest of Ouzen a tank corps has scattered with little difficulty numerous tribesmen who sought to oppose its progress. Information received at French headquarters confirms the report that Abd El Krim has no serious intention of entering into peace negotiations. His aim appears to try to hold out until the rainy season when campaigning will have to be postponed until next year.

The task of attacking the Riffians in the mountain positions and decisively beating them within a month is one of considerable proportions with still further reinforcement needed. It is said that Marshal Petain, who has returned to France after an extensive survey of the French forces, holds this view and will ask Premier Painleve that additional troops shall be dispatched at once.

Wholesale Munity.
NEW YORK, Aug. 4.—The glamor worn off the prospect of fighting Abd El Krim and his ruffian cohorts in Morocco where they have been causing French and Spanish no end of trouble, resulted in 120 volunteers, recruited in Cuba, were in the brig of the steamship Antonio Lopez today for participating in a wholesale munity. One volunteer is missing and believed to have escaped. The liner arrived here from Havana several days ago and is due to sail for Spain tomorrow.

Identify Men Who Held Up Hotel

Employees of the exclusive Drake Hotel, Chicago, were quick to recognize, and identify the two men who are held as part of the bandit gang that shot up the place during a holiday. Elva O'Green and Iren Bergendahl, hotel secretaries, are at the extreme left; seated are the prisoners, Joe Holmes, 17, and Jack Wilson, alias Woods, Assistant State's Attorney John Sbarbaro, in a gray suit, stands behind them.

DENVER, Colo., Aug. 4.—Blood hounds are on the trail of a coatless, callous hold-up man, who last night shot and killed three members of a picnic party of four, when they responded to a demand for money with the announcement that they were "broke."

Following a slender crew, centering about an unidentified motorist and a patch of tweed cloth, police today were unsuccessful in their efforts to find the man who slew Miss Marie McCormick, Mrs. Julia Stearns, her sister, and Fred Funkner, and wounded Carl Perry, a fourth member of the party.

Dawes Reparations Plan Favored For Rebuilding France

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Aug. 4.—France hopes to divert part of the Dawes plan reparations from Germany to her work of reconstruction "if we do not have to turn over to our friends the whole of the money we get out of it."

Masson reviewed the French war losses and the reparations France so far has received and he placed the money still needed for material reconstruction at one billion dollars. Taxes would be inadequate to supply that sum, and both internal and foreign borrowing were inadvisable. Hope lay in the Dawes plan, and America had a certain moral responsibility to see that it was carried out.

COUNTY CHAMBER IS APPROVED BY SEMINOLE BOARD

Gives Official Sanction To Newly Formed Body Which Will Supervise Expenditure
Of $14,000 Publicity Fund

At the regular meeting Monday morning of the County Commissioners, the Seminole County Association of Chambers of Commerce, recently organized as a publicity and advertising medium for the county at large, was approved and given official recognition.

Representatives of the various trade bodies throughout the county, headed by L. L. LeRoy of Geneva, president of the association, R. W. Pearman, secretary of the body, and R. J. Holly, were present at the meeting of the commissioners and outlining the work to be done by the organization.

The publicity body was authorized to contract obligations in its name within the limitations of the tentative budget of $14,000 recently adopted by it. This county, it was announced, will advance funds in settlement of the obligations made by the publicity organization when the money becomes available.

Youth Drowns, Airman Seriously Hurt As Plane Falls Near Hampton Roads

NORFOLK, Va., Aug. 4.—William H. Long, 15 year old son of Maurice G. Long, of this city, was drowned, and Lieut. W. B. Gwynn, of Washington, the pilot, was seriously injured Monday morning at 10:30 o'clock when a Vought seaplane from the naval base here crashed into Hampton Roads at the mouth of Little Bay.

The boy's mother saw the accident from the shore where she was watching her son take the flight. Efforts by officers and enlisted men from the Hampton Roads naval air station released the boy and Lieut. Gwynn from the submerged wreckage within fourteen minutes after the plane hit the water, but more than an hour's work on young Long failed to bring him to life.

SCOTT BECAME INSANE IN JAIL, SAY ALIENISTS

Exports Will Offer No Testimony of Phantasma, Butterflies and Lions; State Says
He Is Cognizant of Crime

Strong Fight Ahead Is Lawyers' Belief

Imposing Array of Alienists
To Be Quizzed; Accused Is
Pale and Reflective in Court

CHICAGO, Aug. 4.—There will be no testimony of Phantasma, butterflies and lions in the evidence of the alienists on whom the defense relies to save Russel T. Scott from the gallows. The effort to prove that he has become insane since he was sentenced to death and therefore should not be hanged, will be confined to the story of his sixteen months in jail, his career and ideas and the state will try to show that he is mentally cognizant of his position and the penalty he faces.

His guilt or innocence is not even a remote issue. Scott was pictured by the defense as the keen, alert bond salesman, promoter of a $30,000,000 Canadian American bridge corporation and exponent and author of business ethics and finally the bewildered and ineffectual peddler of razor straps, unable to raise two dollars from a crowd.

A jury to pass upon his mental condition was selected yesterday. Opening statements were made by the defense and prosecution and an imposing array of alienists will today begin their testimony in an effort to save Scott.

Scott was pale, reflective and calm. He is in court by virtue of a stay of execution granted ten days ago by Judge Joseph B. David, based upon a petition by Thomas Scott, aged father of the prisoner asserting that his son had become insane since his conviction last December. Mauter, a drug clerk was slain in a robbery here in April, 1924.

Sanford Page Ads Attracting Great Deal Of Attention

Page advertisements pointing out the possibilities for investment of industrial companies in and around Sanford appeared in the Sunday issues of the Miami Herald, the Tampa Tribune and the Jacksonville Times Union. This was referred to Monday by Secretary R. W. Pearman, Jr., of the Chamber of Commerce as having brought forth much favorable comment and effect in attracting attention of already it is having the desired hundreds of thousands of visitors and home seekers in this state.

This advertising is being carried on through the local trade body and the ads last Sunday were the first of a series which will be run in those and other well known papers of state-wide importance. It was unanimously decided by the members present at a recent luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce to this mid-summer advertising because of the increasing number of people who may become interested in Sanford at this time through such publicity.

PROCLAMATION

To the Citizens of Sanford:

Sanford's hour of victory is at hand. Tomorrow morning the big drive to insure the future greatness of our city will begin and by noon we will all know just to what degree our city has met the test. The first day of a campaign invariably tells the story.

So, let us rise to our opportunity as never before in our history. Let us tell the world of Sanford's forward spirit in letters so large that every one will know that here on the shores of Lake Monroe and St. Johns River, a great city is to be built.

The object of this movement, as you know, is to invest through our Chamber of Commerce an adequate fund for a wide-spread and sustained advertising and publicity campaign and for the expansion of the Chamber's activities. From our own efforts in a small way in the past and the more extensive efforts of other Florida cities, we know that this type of community investment pays tremendous returns.

Let us all make the greatest possible investment in keeping with our ability and the profits that will come to us from community growth. Let us make a record for Sanford that cities all over the State and the Nation will envy.

A committee of public-spirited citizens will call on you some time this week to invite you to participate in this great cooperative undertaking. They are busy men and women who are giving both time and money to Sanford. Inspire them in their efforts by readily signing up for more than they expect, and wish them God speed in their efforts.

All shoulders to the wheel for the glory of Sanford and for Victory!

Yours very truly,

Edward Higgins, President.

Famous Tourist Train Will Be Placed In Service Again, Travel To Florida Reason

WILMINGTON, N. C., Aug. 4.—The Everglades Limited, famous Atlantic Coast Line tourist train, will be placed in service southward from Washington, Monday, Aug. 10, and northbound from Jacksonville, Tuesday, Aug. 11. This is more than three months earlier than ever before and is for the purpose of encouraging the unprecedented heavy travel to and from the north and east and accelerating Florida's prenominal development. Also it emphasizes the fact that Florida and the South will enjoy the greatest season in their history the coming fall and winter.

The Everglades Limited will operate on a faster schedule than ever before, via: Southbound: leave Boston 6:30 p. m.; New York 12:30 10:00 a. m.; Richmond 1:10 p. m.; Baltimore 6:16 a. m.; Washington 10:00 a. m.; Richmond 1:10 p. m.; Savannah 3:10 a. m.; and arrive Jacksonville 7:40 the following morning.

South of Jacksonville through sleeping cars destined to Miami will move via the Florida East Coast's new morning train "The East Coast Limited", arriving at St. Augustine 10:15 a. m.; Daytona 12:25 p. m.; West Palm Beach 6:55 p. m. and Miami 9:15 p. m. First trip northbound from Miami August 12th.

The through sleepers for Tampa, St. Petersburg and the West Coast will be handled by the Tampa Special and Pinnellas Special: Leaving Jacksonville at 9:00 a. m.; and arriving DeLand 11:47 a. m.; Orlando 1:02 p. m.; Lakeland 2:59 p. m.; Tampa 4:00 p. m.; Sarasota 6:40 p. m. and St. Petersburg (via Lakeland) at 6:45 p. m. First trip northbound August 12th.

The schedule northbound is as follows: Leave St. Petersburg 9:30 a. m.; Sarasota 9:25 a. m.; Tampa 12:15 p. m.; Lakeland 1:20 p. m.;

Orlando 3:05 p. m. DeLand 4:32 p. m.; Miami 7:30 a. m.; West Palm Beach 9:55 a. m.; Daytona 4:07 p. m.; St. Augustine 6:40 p. m.

The Everglades Limited leaves Jacksonville 8:10 p. m.; Savannah 12:35 a. m.; and arrives Richmond 3:05 p. m.; Washington 6:20 p. m.; Baltimore 7:50 p. m.; Philadelphia 10:00 p. m.; New York 12:25 a. m. (for 6:43); Boston 7:50 a. m. First trip of Miami-Boston sleeper from Miami Aug. 13.

The Everglades Limited's 10:00 a. m. departure from Washington permits connections from all overnight trains from Detroit, Cleveland, Akron, Pittsburgh and Buffalo, and its early arrival (6:20 p. m.) at Washington connects with all evening trains for the same points, also, all points in Florida are furnished through service or close connections to and from the Everglades Limited at Jacksonville.

The Everglades Limited is the only Florida train giving this excellent service.

The Everglades Limited's equipment will be through Pullman; modern dining cars which will serve all meals; coaches between Washington and points south; and there will be through sleepers from Washington and New York, and either from Boston or direct connections at Washington from and to the famous "Federal Express", which besides Boston sleepers carries through cars for Springfield.

Definite announcements concerning points of origin and destination of the through sleeping cars will be made later.

It is difficult to overestimate the good this early inauguration of the "Everglades Limited" will do Florida. It provides through car service or direct connections at Washington for the vast populous territory including Pittsburgh, Detroit and Boston to and from all points in Florida.

By-Product of Pulp Mills Is Being Used In Surfacing Streets

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 4.—Through the use of an industrial by-product which has hitherto been wasted, Stockholm is henceforth to be made a dust-free city.

After conclusive tests the authorities have discovered that by sprinkling streets or roadways that are either macadamized or unpaved with the lye in which woodpulp has been dissolved, they become coated with a resilient substance which holds the dust down even in heavy traffic. At first the streets so treated are a bit sticky, but as soon as the liquid has evaporated the residue forms a brown coating that in many respects exceeds crude oil or any tar-like substance. The slight odor also disappears very quickly. In the past the pulp mills have been in the habit of pouring this chemical laden liquor away.

In the suburbs of Stockholm a piece of roadway has been treated with the new liquid every two weeks, and now the surface is smooth and hard as though coated with some kind of asphalt.

Florida Has Large Output Of Mineral Water Last Year

TALLAHASSEE, Aug. 4.—A total output of 1,861,897 gallons of mineral water valued at $135,357 came from 16 springs reporting sales of such water in Florida during 1924, Herman Gunter, State Geologist, reports. The output for this year was seven times greater than that of 1920, the increase contributed to the rapid growth of the cities of the State at which centers the waters were largely used.

These sales represent waters sold for table use, for medical purposes and for use in soft drinks. Waters reported for the latter use represent only a very small proportion of the total, namely 65,000 gallons, while no attempt was made by Mr. Gunter to collect statistics on the quantity and value of water used in the manufacture of soft drinks as a whole. The term "mineral water" is sometimes misleading but in this report Mr. Gunter has reference to water which is said in its natural state and coming from the various springs or from wells yielding waters of exceptional properties. The statistics also confine themselves to waters which were sold and do not include that which was given away at the springs and at health resorts.

Butter Production In Canada Is Increased

OTTAWA, Aug. 4.—Steady increase in butter production in Canada has taken place in recent years, a report of the bureau of statistics showing that 81,000 tons were manufactured in 1924, against 73,000 tons in 1923 and 68,000 tons in 1922. To this, an average of 45,000 tons a year may be added for butter made on the farms and in the home.

Imports of butter have averaged 1,500 tons annually, the report says, and exports 8,500 tons, while there has been a steady increase in stocks.

Creamery butter production last year amounted to 182,161,347 pounds, an increase of 11.2 per cent over 1923.

A STUPENDOUS PROGRAM

It is not alone Miami Shores' great area—2,800 acres—which has fired the popular imagination and aroused such general interest and unqualified approval. It was not alone its superb location on Biscayne Bay and across all the main Highway leading into Miami. The tremendous development program announced at the inception of Miami Shores, and now being carried out with unprecedented rapidity, has provided the final proof of Miami Shores' superlative worth, considered from either a homesite or investment standpoint.

Who Ever Dreamed--

—that Miami would be a city of 125,000 as it is in this year of 1925?

—that Miami would be so soon a world seaport, with not only coastwise freight and passenger service, but international freight service as well?

—or that the various transportation companies would strain every resource to care for the traffic to Miami in the summertime?

—or that the great tourist hotels of Miami would of necessity open their doors in mid-summer to take care of the city's guests?

BUT IT IS ALL TRUE, ISN'T IT?

All right, Granted! Now, those who bought before anyone ever had cause or reason to even dream of Miami's condition today, had vision—faith and a certain degree of courage.

Today you need nothing but plain, ordinary common sense and reasonable judgment to buy anywhere in the Greater Miami District.

And the Miamians of yesterday, who have profited by Miami's growth, have been the first to buy today at Miami Shores --- set a little further up the shores of Biscayne Bay, with all the advantages that Miami enjoys. ASK THEM!

Sanford Citizens Are Asked Not Kill Birds Who Destroy Insects
In an effort to prevent further killing birds in Sanford, J. A. Rumbley of this city, is having a large number of attractive posters printed, calling attention to the fact that Sanford is a bird sanctuary and that the killing of birds, known for destroying insects is prohibited.
"Birds are the farmer's best friend," declared Mr. Rumbley this morning. "We want to protect them for they save the growers of this section thousands of dollars every year by destroying bugs and insects which are plant destroyers."
Mr. Rumbley said that lately there has been a large number of birds killed and expressed the opinion that it had been done through unthoughtfulness than anything else. The posters will be ready for distribution later this week or the first part of next week, Mr. Rumbley said.
The posters are 14 by 20 inches and printed in three colors. They show a bird picking a bug from a stalk of celery and bear the following wording, "Notice, this is a bird sanctuary. Birds are the farmer's best friends. Don't shoot them."

Snow fell for five minutes over an area of several square miles near Amberg, Wis., and was followed by damaging hail from the southwest came word of damage by flood waters of the Rio Grande.

French Making Plans For Offensive Against Riffians Later This Month
PARIS, Aug. 3.—In the absence of any fighting of importance between the French and the rebellious tribesmen in Morocco, attention has turned chiefly to the reported approaching French offensive.
The correspondent of the Temps in Fez reports that the offensive must come at the end of August, as a winter campaign is unthinkable for all the roads will be impracticable for use after Oct. 16, when the rainy season commences.
As a preliminary to the offensive various strong Riffian positions southward of the Oureghia river, which now form bases for raids, are expected to be cleaned up by the French.
A mobile French column Saturday passed half a mile beyond the ruins of the former French Ain Bouississ position, which was blown up by the garrison last week. The commander counted the bodies of 150 dead Riffians on the barbed wire entanglements. No trace was found of the French lieutenant who blew up the post.
Forty pilots who accompanied a mobile column to Ain Bouississ had just finished the task set for them when they were ordered to observe and bombard West of Ouzazan. They dropped some tons of explosives on Mount Sarsar, one of the Riffian strongholds which must be cleared out before the French offensive begins.
The Ain Bouississ action cost the life of Pilot Captain Jaillé, an air ace of the world war, during which he downed six enemy planes. Jaillé, while flying low, as the conditions required, was struck in the arm and leg by Riffian bullets. His plane crashed and the enemy rushed up to take possession of it, but the mobile force was able to drive them off and obtain possession of Captain Jaillé's body. The fate of the lieutenant who accompanied Jaillé as observer is not known.
Graduates from normal schools of the state for the school year of 1923-24 totaled 1,506. Of this number, 1,188 were white students and 318 were negro students.

The Turning Point For Sanford

Fourteen hundred memberships secured in about two hours of actual work, is the record made by the Sanford Chamber of Commerce this morning. Reports made at noon today show a total of nearly thirty-six thousand dollars has been subscribed on the opening day of the campaign.

A more enthusiastic group of men and women was never assembled in Sanford than those who met at the Chamber of Commerce this morning at nine o'clock. Anxious to get to their tasks, the delays of having pictures taken and receiving final instructions caused many of them to become restless and it was with difficulty they waited until the signal was given for them to go to their various districts and begin actual work.

Men of all walks of life were included in the parade of workers this morning. With their coats off, with their sleeves rolled up and with a determined look, they instilled a spirit of determination among hundreds of bystanders who realized this morning, as never before, that the citizenry of their city mean business and that nothing can stop them from making Sanford a greater city.

Actual work of solicitation started about ten o'clock. Meeting a ready response on the part of business houses and individuals, workers became more pepped up as the minutes passed. When prospects doubled the quotas set for them, when individuals quickly responded with liberal subscriptions, when squawks and kicks were noticeably absent, and when everyone in every part of town seemed in the spirit of the day and awake to his duty the task was made easy for those who are giving their time for the good of their city.

With three more days in which to work, with enthusiasm growing greater as the hours pass, with such a spirit of co-operation as has never been in evidence in Sanford before, there is no doubt that the goal of fifty thousand dollars, and two thousand memberships, will be more than reached.

This morning's activity marked the turning point in the life of Sanford. The result of the first day's work shows the world that the people of this city have awakened to their opportunities and that Sanford is on the way to greater days. It has been a great beginning.

"Old Stuff" That Wears Well

Addressing a good-sized audience of salesmen and business men of Miami recently, Gilbert Johnson, a successful young real estate man of that city spoke of "the things that count" in good salesmanship.

"The things that count in life," he said, "are the things we cannot count.

"Courtesy, politeness, kindness, consideration for others, these things count and are to be classed as the human element in salesmanship. Being a good salesman is merely being a real human being. Service is the soul of salesmanship, and when one sincerely wants to serve his fellowman he is most likely to express his kindly feelings by smiles, cordial handshakes, good humor and uniform cheerfulness. Courtesy to some may seem but an airy trifle, but it is the air cushion that softens the jolts on the road we all must travel.

"I believe in being courteous to all human beings, no matter how humble their station in life; for courtesy is contagious, and the more we show the more comes back to us."

That, of course, is "old stuff". It has been preached a great deal. But it is also one of the precepts that can well be repeated in every gathering of business men who are looking for ways to better their earnings and their prospects.

Particularly in Florida, however, would it be good talk for ambitious towns. If a Florida town would set out in all earnestness to be known as "The Most Courteous Town," it could count on an impetus to its growth that would carry it far indeed. Strangers can be wooed and won by courtesy as quickly as they can be won by the evidence of investment opportunities. If a stranger is made to feel welcome in a town, and gets the impression that he can obtain courteous service without buying it at great price, he is pretty likely to be "sold" to that town, even though he travel on to other places.

In those other places, the traveler talks of how he was treated in the town of courtesy, and is ever after a speaking advertisement for that town.

Courtesy for all human beings, Mr. Johnson recommends. A town could adopt that idea but enlarge upon it by showing courtesy from all human beings that make up the town's population. This could really be achieved in time, this universal courtesy. And great would be the benefit that would come to the courteous city—would come let's say, to Courteous Sanford.

As Brisbane Sees It

The Star-lit Way. Making Men Worth. Meet the Halobates. Consider Amphioxus. BY ARTHUR BRISBANE (Copyright 1925)

MILLIONS lacking his faith may envy W. J. Bryan, as he lay in his coffin on Thursday while 25,000 passed through the Presbyterian Church. They saw a faint smile on the strong face, gray in death.

And they could see that he believed his own eloquent words: Christ has made of death a star-lit way between the companionships of yesterday and the reunions of tomorrow.

TODAY Bryan lies under ground in Arlington Cemetery, with many other brave fighters. On a little white board not far from his grave is written: "On fame's eternal camping ground their silent tents are spread; and victory guards with solemn round the bivouac of the dead."

WHAT HAS happened to him, since he died with that smile of victory on his face, whether he has met and recognized old boyhood friends of Nebraska and some of his political running mates, we do not know.

But thousands will visit his grave with reverence. He will have his place, for a while, in our local history. His last great effort, the Scopes trial, will take its interesting place in the history of lawsuits, and that is "Fame," as we know it.

WORTH MORE than all the fame, to Bryan's happiness, was his power to believe that he, his personality in detail, would be preserved in bliss through all eternity. Such happiness as that really is worth while.

MISS MAY SIMONS lived near a Southern lumber mill, and married ladies did not approve of her morals. So, in the presence of 150 including men, they seized the girl, stripped away her clothing, covered her body with hot tar, and warned her to leave town.

SCHOPENHAUER, the gloomy German philosopher, endeavors to explain such outbreaks in his book "Studies in Pessimism."

He says that women are in a league to make every man support for life some one woman, and any children that may be born.

Women, says he, never forgive any woman that proves false to her sex, by lightening man's responsibilities. They may forgive the man taking advantage of easy conditions, but never the woman.

OF COURSE, there is more than that in it. Man, for his own good, is slowly, through the ages, being made fit for marriage.

It was forced on him, before he was quite ready, spiritually, and he is not ready yet, as a rule. It is woman's duty to make him ready. Miss Simons, of the lumber mill, is one of the incidents in inferior man's moral education.

MR. BEEBE, back from scientific travels and deep sea exploration, tells of strange fishes of the deep sea.

Brought to the surface, they expand and die of a disease like the "bends" that kills workmen suddenly coming from caissons under high air pressure.

DEEP SEA fish carry lights to attract their prey, and to identify each other. The male sometimes carries one, the female two lights, and vice versa.

Certain fishes carry and control colonies of light-giving bacteria within their own bodies. These they cover up at will, with a contrivance like an eyelid or curtain, making signals from fish to fish possible and shutting off light in flight from enemies.

MR. BEEBE'S discoveries, and those of his assistants, will deeply interest those that deny evolution with its gradual changes and adaptations, and believe all fish and all their colonies of light-giving bacteria were created at the same hour.

THE fundamentalist would especially like the "Halobates," sea-going insects, described by Dr. Beebe. These creatures walk along the surface of the ocean so lightly that their feet do not get wet, upheld by "the tension of the water." They lay their eggs on the feathers of sea gulls' wings, and living and dying at sea, Halobates cannot endure direct contact with water. One drop on their backs causes death.

THE AMPHIOXUS, however, would cheer the anti-evolutionist momentarily, for, according to science, he is now exactly as he was 50,000,000 years ago. No change since then, but of course that makes the world more than 6,000 years old.

BESIDES, evolutionists in their theories use even poor stationary Amphioxus. They say his faintly outlined backbone is the ancestor of every backbone on the globe, whether of fish, reptile, bird or animal.

In fact, Amphioxus, living with his tail buried in the sand and taking anything that floats into his mouth, is alleged to be the direct ancestor of man.

That is a dreadful thought, although there are human beings calling themselves "Aristocratic" that live very much in the Amphioxus style, at least with a little effort, and with as little backbone.

HANDING OUT WORTHLESS CHECKS

There is probably no place in the country than Florida where the handing out of worthless checks is so prevalent, and this very reprehensible business would result in a great deal more loss to merchants and others if there did not exist a wholesome dread of taking checks from strangers. Jacksonville people have been "bitten" so often that the majority of them are careful. But this does not mean that the offering has ceased or even slowed up. Every day writers of checks who have no money on deposit in the banks try to get them accepted and a large number of "bad checks" are taken in the course of a month. The checks are sometimes "made good" when threats of prosecution are indicated; but in many cases the drawers cannot be found and in other instances the amount involved is not sufficient to promise satisfaction when legal proceedings are instituted.

One of the excuses by persons passing bad checks is that they propose to pay the money indicated on the paper, but need time. They speak of good intentions as though that morally atoned for a deed that is morally wrong as going into a store and helping oneself to goods without paying at all. There is no real difference between writing an order upon a bank where one has no money—or less money than the order mentions—and tendering it as payment for purchases or debt of any kind, and stealing the things obtained. The person tendering a bad check is really more culpable than an ordinary thief, for the transaction is given the form of legitimacy, and the proffer of a worthless check assumes the same position as that of one handing over counterfeit money.

In this connection it may well be remarked that the sympathy extended criminals and wrong-do-

MY FAVORITE STORIES

By IRVIN S. COBB

Montague Glass some time ago beat me to it by giving publicity to a story which Jimmie Montague, the columnist-poet, tells. Jimmie, who for newspaper is fairly truthful, declares that the thing really happens out in Oregon, where he was reared.

A prominent citizen of the town was an ardent believer in the then new cult of mental healing. Whenever possible this gentleman, with the zeal of a devotee, preached his doctrine. One day on the main street he hailed an impressionable youth from the country.

"Billy," he said, "how's your daddy?"

"Oh," said the youth, "paw's mighty bad off. He's been poorly all spring. Now he's down flat in bed and ain't stiddy. We're 'fear'd paw's powerful sick. He's 'fear'd, too."

"Nonsense," snorted the older man. "Your father ain't sick—he only thinks he's sick. Tell him I said so."

"Yessir, I will."

A fortnight later the same pair met again in the same place.

"Billy," said the citizen cheerily, "how's your father now?"

The youngster heaved a deep sigh.

"He thinks he's dead."

BANNING POLITICS

JACKSONVILLE JOURNAL

"Honor to whom honor is due" is a wise saying. California grew to wealth and popularity through years of consistent advertising. Men of vision capitalized the climate, the scenery, the fruits and the minerals in the earth by a publicity program that exceeded anything the world had ever witnessed prior to the selling of California to the public. He it said to the credit of California that he put its over big.

Florida, basking in the sunshine of contentment and natural beauty and wealth, waited for the world to come to her. It required years to teach the contented Floridian that the roads leading to California and the people who thronged them, were the result of printer's ink. Finally the few newspapers in Florida began to tell the story of Florida; travelers carried back favorable reports from this land of natural beauty and wealth; Chambers of Commerce followed, and though a fortnight ago were only small organizations supported by voluntary contributions, they saw the value of publicity and went to work in an intelligent manner disseminating information about Florida. From that day the population of the state began to increase.

Less than a dozen years ago, Florida took heed of the California way and began to spread printer's ink freely. California awoke to the fact that she had a competitor. Soon she realized that she was on the defensive; then she became offensive and critical. Today, California is playing second fiddle to Florida. But this must be said to the credit of Californians: They are not cutting prices to meet competition. They are wise enough to know that in climate and in geographic location they are in no position to compete with Florida in tourist trade or in winter production of fruits and vegetables. Instead of getting panic-stricken and cutting prices on real estate they are adding prices at top notch.

In this price maintenance, California again sets a good example. There is nothing more destructive to business than price cutting that is prompted by jealousy or envy. There is just one Florida and one California. When these are filled up, other admirers will have to sit on the line fence and look on, in vectors understand this, and this accounts for the large buying in Florida right now. Under the circumstances, there should be no wild fluctuations in prices. Prices should just steadily advance.

A ROW IN ENGLAND

MACON TELEGRAPH

A pen picture of William E. Gladstone, which imputes to him the quality of hypocrisy, has raised a storm in England. The Montgomery Advertiser suggests that it has an origin similar to Mendel Minnigrode's of Andrew and Rachel Jackson—"fearless" biography.

Peter B. Wright, a British author, brought out a volume he called Portraits and Criticisms. Concerning Gladstone, he said: "He founded the great traditions since observed by many of his followers with such pious fidelity—in public to speak the language of the highest, strictest principles and in private to lead a life altogether out of harmony with his principles."

H. N. Gladstone, the commissioner's son, and his private secretary during his political career, indignantly dispatched the following note to the author:

"Mr. Wright: Your garbage about Mr. Gladstone in Portraits and Criticisms has come to our knowledge. You are a liar. Because you slander a dead man, you are a coward. And because you think in the public will accept the inventions from such as you, you are a fool." Appended was a postscript which said: "I associated myself with this letter," meaning, of course, that if Mr. Wright wanted to do anything about it, he knew Lord Gladstone's address.

Wright contends that it was Lord Milner who gave him authority for his statement. He quoted Lord Milner as saying, "Mr. Gladstone was governed by his seraglio."

Perhaps the whole controversy has its basis in the bitterness of the Tory and Liberal fights of the times of Gladstone. Walter Lineham found that as late as 1913 and 1914, Tories were not speaking to Liberals. He recalled an instance where two men who had been friends and roommates in college met in the House of Commons. The Liberal extended his hand, but the Tory refused it contemptuously, saying, "I am not associating with men of your kind." Mr. Page also recalled a dinner party that was in utter anxiety lest a member of the Liberal party should show up. Milner was an avowed old Tory. He hated Gladstone because Gladstone was the people and wrong from an unwilling Queen concessions in their behalf. Victoria despised him heartily because he was a Liberal and the die-hard Tories have not yet forgiven him.

Celery-Feds Lose Pitchers' Battle To Highlanders, 1 To 0

George Cusack, Former Sanford Hurler, Bests Clyde Chapman by Keeping His Four Hits Well Scattered

Lakeland Is Held Hitless 7 Innings

Doubles by Welsh and Kowalski in First Inning Score Lone Tally of the Game

By keeping the four hits he gave up well scattered, George Cusack, former Sanford hurler, had the better of a hurling duel with Clyde Chapman in Monday's game and Lakeland won the first of the series from Sanford by a score of 1 to 0.

After the first inning, however, Chapman was invincible, giving up only one additional safety and pitching good ball throughout. He did not strike out a man during the game but only walked two. The four hits off Cusack came in the fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh innings.

Chapman further proved his ability in the seventh after Edwards reached first on an error and Surface walked, advancing him to second. With Luther at bat, Chapman threw Edwards out at second, Frisbie getting the put-out, and a moment later threw to Bailey at first to catch Surface off base.

The Highlanders scored their lone tally in the first after two men were out. Buckley was safe at first on an error but was out at second when Brazier, the next up, hit into a double play, Bailey to Wetherby to Bailey. Welsh then poled one to right field for two bases. Welsh went to third on an error. Kowalski then clouded one of Chapman's offerings to deep left-center for a double and Welsh scored. Edwards flew out to Frisbie at short.

The Sanford hurler then tightened down with a vengeance and held the Highlanders hitless for seven consecutive innings. During this time five of the visitors reached first on errors and two walked but were unable to score. In fact no runner got past second base.

The Celery-Feds lost several good chances to score because of lack of ability to hit in the pinches. In the fourth Weatherly hit safely but was caught out trying to steal second. In the next inning Frisbie led off for Sanford with a clean single to left field. He stole second but died there when McQue and Bailey whiffed at the atmosphere and Alverson popped out to Kowalski at third.

In the sixth inning after Alford was out third to first, Chapman singled to center field but was out at second on a fielder's choice to second base hit by Dumas. Dumas stole second and went to third on an error. Weatherly was out short to first.

Sanford's last and best opportunity to score came in the seventh when Wade who was up first singled to right field and was advanced to second on a sacrifice by Frisbie. McQue was safe at first on an error and Wade went to third. Bailey popped out on a high fly to Brazier in center field but the ball fell near the infield and as Wade tried to come home on the play, he was caught out by a good margin, making the second double play of the game. Moore batted for Weatherly in the ninth and reached first when Surface dropped his fly to right field. Wade hit a grounder to Edwards at first who threw Moore out at second on the play. McQue was out on a fly to center field.

Athletics Take 12-Inning Game From The White Sox; Tigers Defeat Washington

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 4.—The fast traveling Athletics Monday went to grips with the Chicago White Sox in another extra inning tussle, but retrieved their 15 inning defeat of Saturday by a 3 to 2 victory in 12 innings.

Rommell and Faber had a great pitching duel and finally gave way to pinch hitters. Slim Harris was returned the winning pitcher and Sergeant Connally the loser. In the tenth inning Rommell showed great form when the side was retired after the bases had been filled with no one out.

Chicago was the first to open hostilities by scoring a run in their half of the opening inning. The Athletics, however, came back in the fourth by a rally that netted two runs.

The game was knotted the next session when Davis made a bid for his second run by singling and got opped to third on Collin's single and then scored when the Athletics were executing a double play, precipitated by Sheeley's infield bouncer.

The tenth inning had the large crowd on its feet most of the time. Hooper doubled in Chicago's half. Kamm walked. Schalk singled, filling the sacks with none down. Rommell tightened, however, and Harris batted for Faber lined out. Hooper was forced out at the plate and Davis fouled out to Cochrane, Galloway of the Athletics, opened the inning with a hit for one base. He went to third on Bagwell's single, who was batting for Rommell. But Galloway was out at the plate when Dykes hit to Connally.

A long triple by Hale in the local's half of the eleventh was a strong bid for the game, but fell short when Poole bounced out to Collins for the third out.

Miller made a double in the final inning for the Athletics and went to third on Galloway's fly. Welch, batting for Harris, was passed intentionally. Dykes' infield hit was snatched by Collins, but the winning run was across the plate ahead of the Chicago manager's throw.

How this One-Profit Coach is built by Studebaker on the sturdy STANDARD SIX CHASSIS

SUPERFICIALLY other coaches may resemble this Studebaker Standard Six, but the resemblance will not stand analysis.

Only two cars are made on a one-profit basis—Ford in the lowest price field and Studebaker in the fine car field. Only in these two cases are all bodies, engines, clutches, gears, springs, differentials, steering gear and axles designed, engineered and manufactured by one company.

Contrast this with the average car, where the extra profits of many outside parts and body makers must be included in the purchase price.

These profits are part of the production cost of the car—the same as the steel and wood of the body. They do not buy materials nor workmanship—they do not make any car one whit better.

Studebaker has achieved one-profit manufacture through years of far-sighted management and through sacrifice on the part of stockholders. Earnings which might have been distributed have been retained in the business to build one of the largest gray iron foundries in the world, to erect stamping mills, forges, etc., to purchase the finest labor-saving machinery, to construct enormous body-building plants.

As a result, resources totaling one hundred million dollars are concentrated upon the production of one-profit automobiles such as this Standard Six Coach.

What does it mean to you?
To you, as an automobile buyer, this means:
1. A Lower Price.
2. A Better Car.

A LOWER PRICE, because Studebaker does not need to pile its profit upon the profits of outside parts manufacturers and body builders.
A BETTER CAR, because it is a thoroughly coordinated, harmonious unit. Every part designed, engineered and manufactured by one management, to efficiently with every part.

A better car because can afford to use finer better steel, higher grade, more painstaking in hundreds of unimportant details.

Scores of thousands excess transportation every Studebaker which looked like while it was new, the Studebaker, is built where desert heat and rain trails test automobiles.

utmost—Studebaker sells double portion of cars. Every county in has bought an automobile for its share a Studebaker.

This coach is not a one profit. As a splendid example of the fact we offer the Standard Six Coach. In this car you must see it and ride in it to do so immediately. It is called in reality a roomy five-passenger model. Instead, Studebaker will be the minute in body styles and changes regardless of the calendar.

Come in NOW—and see this one-profit Coach.

Bagging Bandits

Hon. Ed. Withall, Care Seattle Hudson-Exsey Co., Sanford, Fla. Dear Ed:

Up in Chicago, the crime center of the universe, which is threatening to secede from Illinois so they won't have any laws to keep at all, one of the favorite sports is shooting bandits.

If a man who likes big game hunting in Africa happens to live in Chicago and finds it impossible to visit the dark continent, he can pull down his old Winchester and go out on Michigan Avenue any night after supper and get a nice bag of bandits.

This is the open season for bandits in Chicago. No hunting license is required. You can shoot a bandit wherever you happen to flush him.

The hunter is not hampered by any restrictions as to size, sex or width of antlers. A bandit is a bandit in Chicago and the more you bag the more fame you will win.

Then it is a very profitable sport. Every time you bag a bandit you get $2500 in money—cash—not stage money, rent, honest-to-goodness coin of the realm.

This makes Chicago the pot hunter's paradise. It is so much more profitable and less troublesome than any other game shooting—except craps.

If you are hunting ivory, it's lots of trouble to saw off the ivory and get it to market. If you are hunting sealskin, you have to skin 'em and cure the furs.

But all you have to do in bandit hunting is to hit your target, and hit it in the right place, there is no ivory to cut, there is no skin to cure, and the greatest market in the world for bandits is at its greatest source of supply.

There is only one fly in the ointment, and that is that these bandits have a very disconcerting habit of shooting the hunters. It's about a 50-50 break, whether the bandit will bag a bunch of hunters or whether the hunters will bag a bunch of bandits.

But life is uncertain anyway, especially in Chicago, where are located the world's largest slaughter houses and the world's loudest slaughter streets.

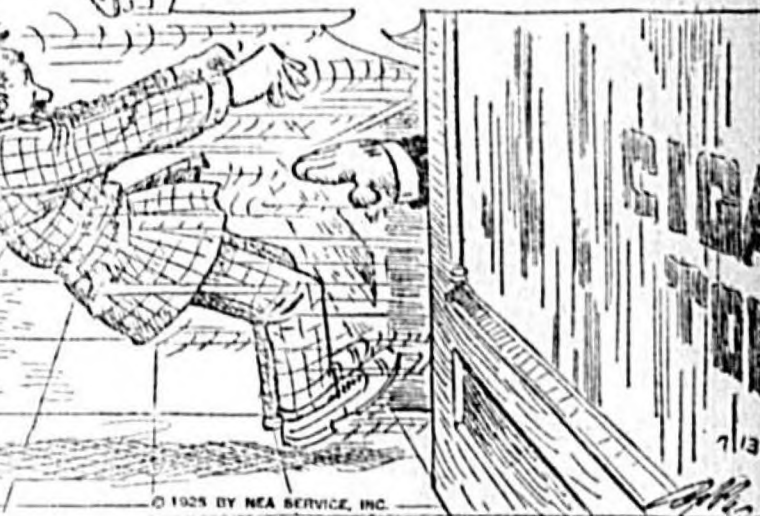

So have the price of bandits go high. What does a fellow want with $2500 when it takes only $50 to buy an Essex Coach? A man ought not to be a hog.

Yours,
 HILL.
