

STORMS CAUSE HEAVY TOLL IN VARIOUS AREAS

Arkansas, Illinois And Georgia Experience Winds Which Result In Death And Loss

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 2.—(INS)—At least a half a dozen persons were dead and more than a score were in hospitals today as a result of a tornado which ripped through Dagmar, midway between Little Rock and Memphis.

Details were meager owing to the crippling of communication lines. A relief train was dispatched to Dagmar from Brinkley, six miles east. Dagmar is in the White River lowlands and highways into the town were under water.

Reports were received of another tornado at Park Smelter, Ark., near the Oklahoma line. Heavy property damage was done but no casualties were reported.

ATLANTA, Ga., May 2.—(INS)—Heavy damage to crops and property was caused by winds of storms, some approaching cyclonic intensity, which swept widely scattered sections of Georgia during the night.

Although no deaths were reported, several persons were injured.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 2.—(INS)—A swirling snow driven before a cold wind today was blanketing the country and towns from Central Illinois to Southern Missouri.

The weather bureau reported it was the first time in the bureau's history that measurable snowfall had struck Illinois in May. If the weather remains cloudy and a freeze is avoided, no damage will be done to crops, but a shortfall of four inches has been reported.

The thermometer stood at 33 here while at St. Louis it was 32. At Springfield, Mo., the thermometer was registered 31 and a shortfall of four inches has been reported.

Williamson County, reported a hail storm that caused $500,000 damage, today was believed to have suffered the heaviest loss of any Illinois community.

Formula For Preserving Citrus Fruit Juice Given By Riley Fletcher Berry

Sanford and Seminole County residents, who have been asked to destroy the oranges and grapefruit in their yards as a precautionary step against the fruit fly, have been given a formula for preserving their fruit. It is not as difficult as it seems, and the formula has been discovered for bottling the juice and for preserving the pulp and peel.

Riley M. Fletcher Berry, who was emergency home demonstration agent for Seminole County during the World War, today called attention to canning methods suggested by the United States Department of Agriculture. Grapefruit juice and pulp may be canned by simple methods but it is more difficult to can orange juice because of its tendency to become "stale." However, when canned in tin or in glass if it is placed in the dark it sometimes makes a successful ice drink even after a year. Grapefruit juice should also be placed in the dark to prevent it from becoming dark and to deteriorate.

Mrs. Berry furnished the following directions for bottling the juice:

"Wash the fruit and extract juice. Wash the pulp and peel in hot water. Boil the juice to below boiling point, otherwise the flavon is harmed. The degree recommended is heating the juice from 165 to 170 degrees F. in an open aluminum vessel and filling the bottle immediately with the hot juice. The bottles are filled to the overflowing and capped at once. Where corks are used they should be sterilized as well as the bottles, and the corks pressed or tied down until the juice has cooled. Sealing wax is then used to cover the corks. Thus all air is excluded. The bottled juice is placed in water at 165 degrees and held there for 30 minutes to sterilize."

Ten to 15 per cent sugar (three-quarters to one and one-fourth pound of sugar per gallon) added to the juice improves the flavor, Mrs. Berry said. Where (Continued On Page Four)

YOUNG HEAD OF COLLEGE SAYS STUDENTS O. K.

New President Of University Of Chicago At Age Of 30 States His Views On Youth

By James L. Kilgallen (Copyright 1929, by International News Service)

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 2.—American colleges have their problems but the effect of the so-called jazz age on students is not one of them.

"Nothing to get excited about, sums up the attitude of Robert Maynard Hutchins, 'big dean' of the Yale Law School, who, at the age of 30, has been appointed president of the University of Chicago, the sixth largest university in the United States. When he takes charge in Chicago he will be the youngest college president in the country."

"I think the 'vices' and 'ideals' of the rank and file of college boys and girls are as high as they ever have been," Dean Hutchins declared in an exclusive interview today. "The young people are all right. It is not all alarmed over the effect of this so-called jazz age on students. We can bank on our young folk."

A tall, slim, handsome, dark-haired, city-bred, popular at Yale, the young college president declared that he was not at all alarmed over the effect of this so-called jazz age on students. "We can bank on our young folk."

House Committee Gets Racing Bill

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., May 2.—(INS)—A bill to permit racing in Dade County for a three-year period each year legalizing the pari-mutuel system was in the hands of the House Committee on public amendments today, and probably will be reported on within the next day or two.

The bill called for a county referendum on the issue upon the request of 10 percent of the registered voters, and was introduced by the Dade County delegation.

SENATE FIGHTS OVER ISSUE OF LEGAL KILLING

Bill Is Introduced To Permit Slaying Of Run Runners Escaping In Smoke Screen

WASHINGTON, May 2.—(INS)—Guns barked again today in the congressional prohibition warfare as a bill legalizing the killing of rum runners in the District of Columbia who attempt to escape arrested by use of smoke screens, was introduced.

The latest proposal to stiffen the prohibitive enforcement laws by extreme penalties threatened to split the days of the House as well as place many outstanding wets in an embarrassing position.

The new bill, introduced by Rep. Miller (R) of Washington, provides that when a person is employed a smoke screen, poisonous, noxious, irritating or tear gas or where such automobile is attached to it any trap, drag, or foiling device to escape arrest, a policeman may take the fleeing man "and such taking of life is declared to be justifiable homicide."

The Miller bill is the direct outgrowth of the killing of Oliver Fleming, 21-year-old suspended rum runner by patrolman Clyde O. House, who shot through a smoke screen let out from Fleming's car to get his man. House is held for front jury action and possible trial for murder.

While the days have split over the propriety of the House upholding the killing, the wets have sprung forward with bitter condemnation of the action. Some of the congressmen declared to exempt themselves on the Miller bill.

"I introduced this bill because a Washington policeman who shot and killed an innocent violator of the prohibition law at a hotel for grand jury action," said Miller. "If we don't protect policemen who kill someone in the line of duty the criminal element will run wild."

Rep. Brand (D) of Georgia, an outstanding prohibitionist, declared the Miller bill "Congress will never pass such a law as that," he said. "If it does, they'll be killing people all over the country."

Rep. Holiday (R) of Illinois, who started the House row by denouncing the Washington policeman, said such legislation is unnecessary.

"There is no question of the right of an officer to shoot a man who is escaping in the district of Columbia by use of a smoke screen," Holiday said. "An officer who runs into a smoke screen is facing just as great danger as if the hoodlums were firing a revolver at him. But I am not sure that I would favor passing a general law on the subject."

Unusual Weddings Performed On Line Of State Boundary

MARYLAND-DELAWARE STATE LINE, May 2.—(INS)—An unusual double wedding was performed here today by the Rev. L. Winkler of St. Johns parsonage, church. He performed the double ceremony with one couple, James Wright, 21, and Dorothy "Doc" Batten, 22, standing in Delaware, and Gladys Dukes, 22, and Shirley Brown, 18, standing on Maryland soil. The minister straddled the state line and pronounced the quartette legally married.

THIRD PARTY IN TORCH SLAYING TELLS STORY

Friend Of Peacock Says Wife Victim Stepped High And Insisted On Showering Kisses

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., May 2.—The junior murder triangle which ended in the slaying by her 21-year-old husband of pretty Dorothy Peacock, arrived on the scene of the crime today.

He is 21-year-old Eugene Bussey, sophomore at Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore. Bussey, despite his definite collegiate air—he carries a satchel and wears no garb on his socks—wore an embarrassed when Dorothy, the worldly Dorothy, made advances to him when he was visiting his chum and her husband, Earle Peacock, on the story goes.

"It may sound rotten to say it but I don't just literally throw her off my back," said Gene. "I couldn't bring myself to kiss my friend's wife. But she would throw her arms around my neck and kiss me even with Earle looking on."

The investigation of the slaying by a state girl is missing from this sophomore, a type of the modern era of youth.

"I can help to help Earle all I can," said Gene. "I can see how Earle imagined many things and probably gouged himself on. I hope that my story will show he was not himself but that his dead was that of a normally quiet man who assumed himself to be a frenzied by the belief that his wife was unfaithful to him."

"But I want Earle to know there was nothing really between Dorothy and me. I restrained myself because of my friendship for Earle."

Peacock who bludgeoned his 20-year-old wife to death, carried her body to his old typing place under an apple-blossom tree and then burned the body five days later, churning around with Bussey when they were in grammar school in Yorkers.

When the young radio mechanic married Dorothy last Spring, he wrote of his romance to his pal and Bussey saw the couple as they passed through Baltimore on their honeymoon.

Earle wrote me she was as pretty as a moving picture star," said Bussey. Young Bussey told of a grandiose party at the home of Dorothy's mother in New York shortly after the marriage. Earle was there but it seemed that Dorothy was paired off with the college fraternity boy from Baltimore.

"She didn't do anything in front of Earle that time but when we were in the kitchen together she began petting. I didn't know what she meant. I acted kind of fussy and because later she told Earle, while walking at me on the sidewalk, I was just another brother to her."

"She called me up a few days later and I went out to her house. I didn't know at that time that Earle was working nights. Though I was pretty badly tempted I resisted her. She literally hung herself off my neck. I got I would never see her again after I left."

"But I went back to the Bronxville home pretty soon after her invitation and kept going back all summer. I began kissing her and felt morally guilty. We did a lot of making out and I always felt I was treating my friend, Earle, right badly."

BERLIN MAY DAY DEATH TOLL HAS MOUNTED HIGHER

BERLIN, May 2.—(INS)—Sharp clashes between Communists and the police in the workers' residential districts early today brought the total number of deaths resulting from the May Day demonstrations here up to nine, with more than 100 seriously wounded and hundreds of others suffering bruises and minor injuries.

Following the widest day Berlin has seen since the Spartacist uprising 10 years ago, the Communists continued their activities and erected barricades which they attempted to defend with guns, sticks and stones.

Most of the workers' quarters in darkness by denoting street lamps and electric signs and awaited the attack of the police. The police attacked the barricades using rifles and pistols but Communist snipers from rooftop positions made their attack ineffectual. Armored cars were finally brought up. The barricades were taken and the fighting became less widespread after two o'clock this morning.

The police engaged in the fighting numbered 600. They were supported by about 3,000 Communists. Most of the casualties were suffered by the Communists but at least 25 policemen are known to have been wounded.

Communist spokesmen today threatened to call a general strike in protest against the police activities in breaking up May Day demonstrations. They also threatened to demand the resignation of Police President Zeigenthaler and urged his resignation as responsible for the widespread bloodshed.

A total of 600 persons were arrested yesterday in connection with the attempted demonstrations. These included two Communist members of the Prussian Diet.

The Berlin police had a tremendous job on their hands yesterday. Determined to keep the streets clear, they broke up all gatherings by using rifles and clubs and dousing the crowds with water hose. It was only when these measures were not successful that bullets were resorted to and blank cartridges were first used even in these extreme cases.

HELEN WILLS TO BE PRESENTED AT ST. JAMES COURT

By Robert W. Thompson (Copyright 1929, International News Service)

PARIS, May 2.—"Little Poker Face" shed her professional inscrutability and behaved just like any other excited American girl today when International News Service informed her that her name had been published in the list for presentation at the court of St. James on May 9.

"Oh, I'm so happy!" she exclaimed excitedly. "Naturally, I'm excited as I have been looking forward to this event for a long time." In the next breath Helen Wills admitted that her prospective presentation at the British court is even more important to her feminine mind than success in her scheduled tennis competitions.

"I admit that I knew my name had been proposed, but I never dared to say anything. It was not until I can say how glad I am of the date, because I was so afraid that the court might be held during the Wimbledon tournament, and that would have been very inconvenient for me. It would have been difficult for me to play my best tennis while realizing that my presentation at all was impending."

"Then, there is the all-important question of dress. I am having a gown made here by Patou. I am leaving Paris on Sunday for London. As another could not attend the ceremony, she is remaining in Paris. I had arranged to play tennis at the court."

SENATE COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE MERGER OF TWO COMPANIES

WASHINGTON, May 2.—(INS)—A sweeping investigation into the participation of Andrew W. Mellon in the merger of the Aluminum Company of America with the Canadian Development Company four years ago probably will be undertaken by the Senate Judiciary Committee before considering a verdict on his eligibility to serve as secretary of the Treasury, it was learned today.

The committee today has passed on a deposition, made by Mellon last year in a lawsuit brought out of the merger, which was his connection with the Aluminum Company. It is a deposition, according to a source, which was a favor to the interests of the company and was not a complete and accurate statement of the facts. The committee is now studying the deposition and the company's explanation of the merger.

Some Of Business Houses Are Closed; Others Stay Open

This afternoon was just another Thursday afternoon to one group of local business concerns but to another it was the first half holiday of the summer season. Between 35 and 40 establishments were closed while upwards of 30 others were open for business.

Disagreement over the length of the period of Thursday half holidays cropped out several weeks ago when two petitions were circulated among the business leaders. One group favored a 50 per cent holiday May 30 and ending Sept. 5 while others wanted to inaugurate the plan today and close Sept. 25.

Those who closed today were those who favor a five month season. In their petition published recently they made known their intention to close throughout the period "regardless of whom may stay open." The opponents of the proposal accepted the challenge and were open this afternoon.

Whether the differences will be ironed out later or whether the two groups will stick to their agreements was the question that was being discussed in many quarters.

Marketing Expert Who Will Speak Here Is Veteran Practical Farmer

When the county growers of Sanford gather at the courthouse next Tuesday evening to hear W. D. Benedict, farm marketing expert of the Curtis Publishing Company, they will be listening to a man who is a practical farmer himself.

Benedict, according to information received here today, is a product of a Pennsylvania farm. He worked his way through the Pennsylvania State Agricultural College and following his graduation made an exceptional record as a county agent. His work in this field attracted the attention of the Curtis Publishing Company, publishers of the Country Gentleman, Saturday Evening Post, and other home journals, and he was placed in a position to present

Church Continues Its Series Of Meetings

At a series of special meetings conducted by the Methodist Church, the Rev. W. P. Hubman addressed his congregation last night upon the subject, "To Give One's Self."

The speaker declared that personal salvation according to the Christian religion could not be a "solely complete" matter. He showed how Jesus had given all his efforts to the redemption of mankind and used this as an illustration of how man should give himself completely to religion.

The sermon subject tonight will be "Confessing Before Men." The song service will be at 7:45 and the preaching at 8:15 o'clock.

Visitors Praise Zoo As Big Drawing Card

Praise of Sanford's municipal zoo, which was described as one of the city's best drawing cards, was expressed yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. Allen Barnhart of DeLand, upon the occasion of a periodical visit to the zoo.

"We think it is a great advertising feature and congratulate Sanford on having such an interesting collection of animal and bird life," said Mr. Barnhart. The Barnharts have been spending a number of winters in DeLand and until two years ago spent their summers in the north. They are now living permanently in the neighboring city.

Plans Prepared For May Day Celebration

TALLAHASSEE, May 2.—(INS)—Plans were completed today for the annual May Day festival to be held here Friday.

The festival, which has been celebrated for more than 100 years with appropriate ceremonies by the students of Leon High School and Tallahassee High School, will be staged this year by the Leon High School.

Mrs. Mary Louise McLin has been elected May queen, and will be crowned during a well planned afternoon of entertainment. Parades, ball games and dances will feature the program.

Physician Urges Parents To Guard Against Dread Infantile Paralysis

With the outbreak of an epidemic of infantile paralysis in DeLand over 11 cases have been reported in the past few days. Dr. R. E. Stevens, county physician, today issued, in the absence of City Physician J. N. Toler, a warning to parents to safeguard the health of their children, and to keep them away from crowded places in general, and from the infected region in particular. No cases of the disease, however, have occurred here.

Dr. Stevens was in telephone conversation this morning with DeLand health authorities and was informed that 11 cases had been reported there, 10 of them negroes and one white child. One case was fatal, it was learned.

Polioencephalitis, or infantile paralysis, is an acute infectious disease, occurring generally in epidemic form but sometimes sporadically. It is caused by a filterable virus, which has an elective affinity for the nervous tissue, Dr. Stevens explained.

Every case comes from a pre-existing case and is spread by the usual means of social contact, and due to the fact that the virus lives a long time outside of the contaminated object. There is a theory that it is spread by insects, Dr. Stevens stated. The disease breaks out in epidemic form every summer in some part of the United States.

Dr. Stevens listed the following general symptoms of the acute stage: fever, vomiting, restlessness, muscular weakness, headache, rigidity of the neck, delirium, stupor, convulsions, pain and cold extremities. The incubation period is five to 10 days, and Dr. Stevens explained that the attack is generally sudden, resembling any acute infection such as tonsillitis and influenza. The acute stage lasts about seven days, with paralysis occurring in the first three days.

Advising parents as to precautions, the physician recommended that a doctor be called at once when a child becomes sick and urged that children be kept away from crowded places as much as possible.

This new SAMSONBAK Belt challenges every man who wears underwear

IF YOU spent all your time in a Morris chair you could probably afford to pass up this challenge to a tug-of-war on a HANES SAMSONBAK Union Suit. But doing a man-size job and playing man-size sports you won't. See that belt? Eliminates the one weakness common to union suits in the past. Means that ripping, tearing and sagging at the belt are out for good.

We mean this challenge. Hop around to your dealer's. Grab hold of one end of the SAMSONBAK. He'll grapple the other. Then see if you can rip that belt or pull it away from the rest of the suit. No kid gloves required; no quarter asked. Belt stretches but never breaks. Not a strand of rubber in it.

Notice, too, how the patented belt goes three-quarters of the way around your body — everywhere there's any chance of stretching and pulling when you have it on. Most comfortable union suit ever worn. Guaranteed, every thread, stitch and button. Price $1. Many other styles in HANES Underwear. See them all — particularly the smart new shirts and shorts. Fine quality, low price. P. H. Hanes Knitting Co., Winston-Salem, North Carolina.

Look for the SAMSONBAK label before you buy. Center section of belt is in blue to help identification.

Formula Is Given For Preservation Of Citrus Fruit Juices

The pulp is canned in tin it may be placed in the cans (unheated) and after the surrounding water is brought to a boil, it should be kept at that temperature from 15 to 20 minutes.

Following are four recipes for marmalade, which Mrs. Berry compounded, and which are furnished in recipe books published by the Florida Citrus Exchange:

ORANGE MARMALADE: Weigh and slice six oranges, two limes, adding juice of third lime. Pour upon fruit three times its measure of cold water; soak twenty-four hours; cook in same water until soft; strain through sieve with straw. Let stand twenty-four hours; boil fifteen minutes, add pound of sugar; cook until jellied. Skim; cool till peel does not rise; pour into jars. When cold seal with paraffin.

ORANGE AND PINEAPPLE MARMALADE: Core and slice six oranges and four limes; slice a medium-sized pineapple; cut off rind; cut fine or shred; add to other fruit; weigh. For each pound of fruit add one quart water; cook one hour, let stand till morning; then cook till tender; let cool; add equal weight of sugar, cook till jellied. GRAPEFRUIT MARMALADE: With long, slim knife core grapefruit; slice thin as possible and weigh; for each pound allow three pints of cold water; let stand till next day; boil in same water till rind is tender; weigh again; add a pound of sugar for each pound of cooked mixture; let stand over night, then boil till jellied.

GRAPEFRUIT AND ORANGE MARMALADE: Core and slice (as in Grapefruit Marmalade) one grapefruit, one or two sweet oranges, and two limes; measure and add three times as much water. Let stand over night; in the morning boil ten minutes; then let stand again over night. The second morning, measure, add equal measure of sugar, and boil steadily till jellied.

Hague on May 9, 10 and 11, but the Dutch officials were kind enough to change the date. I am so happy that Herbert Walker is to be presented with me."

Miss Willis' presentation gown will be an ivory satin ensemble conforming to the court chamberlain's protocol as to what should be worn. Patou, the famous Parisian dressmaker and style expert, has been fitting the gown while his employes worked upon it for the past 11 days.

Miss Willis was taking no chances. She gave orders for the gown even before her name was published in the official list of American women to be presented. Spesking of the gown, Patou told International News Service: "It has simplicity that will enhance the charm of the youthful tennis star. The train leaves the lower part of the decorative section of the back and spreads out toward the waist, extending exactly 18 inches from the head. The length is irregular, the dress being half way down the skirt. The front is slightly higher. Miss Willis, of course, will wear conventional two white foot-

-ers."

Dixie's Famous Motor Fuel Grows in Popularity With Southern Motorists

The performance of Woco-Pep Motor Fuel is responsible for its growing popularity. It does what gasoline CAN'T do, because it gives in the most perfect combination—Faster Mileage—More Power—Greater Speed—Quieter Start—Less Carbon and Anti-Knock.

Southern motorists actually get this combined advantage in Woco-Pep, and they find it the most economical and desirable motor fuel to use. Hence its popularity.

A few days ago, in response to repeated requests, Woco-Pep, the King of Motor Fuel, was made available to south Mississippi motorists through over 500 Blue and White Service Stations served by The American Oil Company of that State.

This tremendous increase in the Woco-Pep service network is of interest to Florida motorists because it emphasizes the popularity and growth of this exceptional motor fuel, now available in Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, and of course, through the 700 Blue and White Service Stations in Florida.

If you have not tried Woco-Pep Motor Fuel, do so today—its new, better performance will surprise you.

Tiolene
100% Super-Premium MOTOR OIL
Resists Heat and Outlasts Other Oils!

The terrific temperatures which Tiolene can withstand in a motor—its wonderful ability to stand up under heat—to outlast other oils, can be readily proven in the motor of your car. These facts are known to many thousands of Florida motorists.

Tiolene's extraordinary heat-resistance is inherited from Cabin Creek super-Pennsylvania crude—the highest quality petroleum found on this continent. Skilful refining preserves in Tiolene this heat-resistance, and other vital lubricating qualities, which so distinguish Cabin Creek crude.

Because of its superior heat-resistance Tiolene 100% super-Pennsylvania Motor Oil lubricates and protects, long after other oils have thinned out and broken down!
