Rezoning Downtown Area Of Sanford Set For Review

A standing room only audience is expected at the 7 p.m. meeting of the Sanford Planning and Zoning Commission Thursday as the controversial rezoning of a section near the downtown is considered.

The area being considered for rezoning from multi-family and commercial to single-family district is from 4th Street to 13th Street between Laurel and Sanford avenues.

The city's advisory board will meet in the city commission room at city hall, 300 N. Park Ave. Recent buyers of old homes in that area, who restored the houses to their original appearance, spurred the move for the rezoning early this year when they organized. Dozens more long-time residents joined the movement and the planning and zoning commission conducted a study of zoning in the area.

Those seeking to have the area rezoned, say they are doing so to protect their properties from further commercial encroachment.

If the rezoning is granted, owners of apartment buildings in the district would be allowed to continue to operate if they are properly licensed.

One complaint the apartment owners have is that if the rezoning is brought about and their unit burns down, they would be unable to rebuild a multiple-family dwelling. They would be restricted to building a single-family unit if their property is in that area rezoned.

Owners of investment property in the district have bombarded city officials with letters and telephone calls opposing the rezoning. The opponents have said that rezoning the property will violate their constitutional rights, would adversely affect the values of their properties, and would restrict city revenues since commercial properties generally generate more property tax revenue than single family homes.

Mayor Lee P. Moore has opposed the rezoning saying there should be some way the city can preserve the property rights of the people who live in the area, the rights of not only the single family homeowners but also the apartment owners.

Haul Tops $1.5 Million

Record Drug Bust For Altamonte

By Diane Petryk
Herald News Editor

Unable to post $1 million bond, a 33-year-old Altamonte Springs man remained in jail today following his arrest in what is believed to be that city's largest-ever drug bust.

Altamonte Springs special investigators confiscated what they "conservatively" estimated at $1.5 million in cocaine and other drugs in a search of a storage locker early Tuesday evening and two hours later arrested Jeffrey Scott Lang, Apt. 40, 100 Douglas Road.

After just 24 hours of police work, the team of investigators, led by Altamonte Police Sergeant Richard Beary, arrested Lang and charged him with trafficking in cocaine, trafficking in methaqualone, and possession of more than 20 grams of marijuana.

Acting on a tip, the investigators obtained a search warrant for a mini-storage locker off State Road 434.

Inside they found a large rifle safe containing the contraband drugs and wads of $100 bills.

Investigators whooped late last night when word came of County Judge Harold Johnson's ruling set-surprised" by the amount.

"But it's only fitting for a guy who has thirty to $40,000 cash in a warehouse," he said.

The rifle safe from the storage locker, opened at Seminole Business and Storage Center, 520 N. State Road 434, was found to contain two smaller safes which in turn contained:

- Three pounds of high quality cocaine, retail value estimated at $1.5 million, perhaps double that if "cut once" (diluted).
- 5,000 quaalude tablets (methaqualone) valued at $4 each or $20,000.

- Several bags of high quality sensimilla marijuana valued at approximately $1,000.
- The cash, estimated at about $35,000.

Investigators stressed that the drugs were all very high quality.

"They were so pure, he must've had a good connection," one officer said. He said the cocaine, if cut once could net double the estimated $1.5 million. And, although it would end up "junk," it could be cut up to eight times, he said.

The storage locker was searched at about 6:30 p.m. after a warrant had been obtained from Judge Johnson.

The charges against Lang are all felonies.

According to Assistant State Attorney Alan Robinson the cocaine and methaqualone charges carry maximum penalties of 30 years jail each, while the marijuana charge carries a maximum penalty of five years.

The confiscated drugs and other evidence was sealed in a vault at the Altamonte Police Station at about 11 p.m. Tuesday.

Beary said Lang is believed to have been dealing in drugs for six to eight months. Police think the drugs are from Bolivia, having been routed through Colombia.

Investigators said the usual method of importation is to drop the contraband from a private plane at night at a spot where accomplices are waiting.

Lang, who lived at Longwood Village apartments, listed his occupation as a self-employed construction worker.

He was transported to the Seminole County Jail at approximately 11:30 p.m. Tuesday night and had not made bail by noon today.

Police said an investigation is continuing.

Budget Hearing Set For Lake Mary

The first in a series of two public hearings on Lake Mary's proposed record $1 million budget for the 1983-84 fiscal year, calling for a tax rate of $4.76 per $1,000 assessed valuation is scheduled for 7:30 p.m., Thursday, at city hall.

A second public hearing and final adoption of the budget is scheduled for Sept. 29.

The tax rate, represents a 61 cents per $1,000 increase in property taxes over the current year's $4.15.

The proposed tax rate is expected to be reduced by about 40 cents per $1,000 as a result of commission workshops on the budget and cuts of a number of smaller items. However, the continued inclusion of funds to pay a down payment on a 1,250 gallon per minute fire pumper truck is expected to raise the fire of at least one city commissioner. Ray Fox.

Fox has opposed the purchase of the second fire truck in two years by the fire department, noting that the buy would mean about half of the department's nearly $50,000 budget would go for debt service. The city is still paying for the last fire truck that was bought.

He has favored delaying the purchase until next year, also on the grounds that if Lake Mary needs to borrow money to create its own water system the city should not be increasing its debt at this time. It is estimated that the proposed new truck will cost about $100,000.

The proposed budget includes $778,805 for general operation of the city and $248,115 for the city's water and sewer utility systems.

The city commission at the meeting to be held at city hall, 158 N. Country Club Road, will also review the site plan for the 60,000 square foot marketing and administration building Stromberg-Carlson plans to build adjacent to its manufacturing facility at 400 Rinehart Road.

Stromberg officials have said the $4 million structure will enable the corporation to consolidate all of its Central Florida operations in the Lake Mary complex.

The proposed new building, described as "high tech looking" features aluminum metal framed glass on the exterior of the single story facility and pre-stressed concrete panels.

Also on the meeting's agenda is an agreement suggested for approval by the Lake Mary Civic Improvement Association where the organization would lease city-owned property at Crystal Lake Beach Park as the site for a community center it plans to build. —Donna Estes

Boy Burglar Gets Year

A Longwood youth involved in a teenage burglary ring which targeted posh south Seminole County homes has been sentenced to a year in the Seminole County jail and 10 years probation.

Circuit Judge S. Joseph Davis Jr. also ordered Kevin Stuhrke, 17, to pay $548 in restitution to one of his victims, $15 to a state victim's compensation fund and $20 per month supervision costs during his probation period.

Stuhrke, of 193 Bristol Point, pleaded guilty July 7 to two counts of burglary.

Seminole County sheriff's investigator Allen Hatzell said that Stuhrke, while he was a student at Lake Brantley High School, was involved with classmates Anthony Raponi and John Frederick Clifford in a burglary ring that was linked to 81 break-ins between August 1982 and February 1983. The ring netted nearly $100,000 in stolen loot, Hatzell said.

Most of the burglaries occurred in affluent south Seminole residential neighborhoods such as Sweetwater Oaks and Hatzell said.

Raponi, 18, of 201 Green Lake Circle, Longwood, has pleaded guilty to 12 counts of burglary and was sentenced to one year in jail and 10 years probation and was ordered to pay $8,100 in restitution to his victims.

Clifford, 18, of 959 Apple Lane, Altamonte Springs, pleaded guilty July 27 to four counts of burglary, two counts of grand theft and one charge of petty theft. He is scheduled to be sentenced Sept. 22.

Utility Hook-Up Fee Quadruples

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

Developers of new homes in Sanford will begin paying $1,925, almost quadruple the amount now being charged, on Nov. 1 to connect houses to the city's water and sewer utility system.

The Sanford City Commission on a 4-1 vote at a special meeting Tuesday gave the nod to the recommendation from City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles to raise the fee from the $550 the city has been charging for the past 11 years.

Only Commissioner David Farr voted against the proposal designed to give the city a trust fund to pay for necessary expansion and improvements of the utility systems because of growth.

Some $1,495 of each connection fee is to go into the trust fund. The other $440 of each fee will be used to pay actual costs of utility connections and a new $50 per home deposit on utility service which is refundable. Currently, customers pay a $20 deposit, but the city manager said it is not covering utility bills when residents move out without paying them.

Knowles' argument, supported by Mayor Lee P. Moore, was that if the connection fee is not increased current residents who have not created the need to expand the systems will be paying the costs.

Both Knowles and Moore predicted that the increased fee will neither halt nor slow down the building boom which has hit the city.

Knowles acknowledged the cost of the connection fee will be added by developers to the price tag of new homes.

Farr voted against the increase.

saying he is concerned about young couples who are trying to buy their first homes and that the new charge may mean that they cannot buy.

Similar connection fees will also be charged for apartment complexes and other structures in the city.

Farr said he has heard comments from developers and builders that they wouldn't mind paying higher connection fees as long as sewer and water capacity is available when they need it.

"The $2,000 connection fee may not have an affect we may not want to see," Farr said. "If it is too high, potential developers may decide not to build, but if that happens we won't need the additional capacity."

When Farr talked about a lesser fee, Knowles said if the commission goes below the $1,925, it will be saying that the present customers should be charged for part of the costs of growth. "I caution you that you will then hurt the present customers," Knowles said.

Another part of Knowles' recommendation—that a connection fee equal to the one to be charged for new Sanford construction plus a 25 percent premium also be charged to Lake Mary, Midway-Canaan and the Indian Mound water district, all of which Sanford serves with water by contract—was discussed briefly.

Knowles said, "I suggest that if Lake Mary is going to separate its water system from us, there will be no need to pay Sanford a connection fee." Under the city's formula, the charge solely for water service connection would be $445. With the 25 percent premium added, the fee would become $556.25.

Lake Mary Mayor Walter Sorenson said earlier that he understands Sanford's utility problems.

Farr said Sanford might consider levying and collecting the fees from Lake Mary and then refunding the money when Lake Mary gets its own water system.

Moore said the city by the end of 1984 could have a fair amount of cash set aside for utility expansion, adding that the fund would also grow through wise investment of the money.

The commission instructed City Attorney Bill Colbert to prepare an ordinance setting the new connection fee. Knowles said the first public hearing on the ordinance will probably be held at the commission's Oct. 10 meeting.

Knowles made it clear that the special trust fund to be created will not pay for the state mandated improvements in the city's sewer system, which he estimated earlier at upwards of $11 million. Currently the city is appealing a state Department of Environmental Regulation ruling requiring the city to stop by 1985 the dumping of sewer effluent into Lake Monroe.

One of the greatest costs with converting the system to using a land-spreading technique for sewage disposal rather than dumping into Lake Monroe is the need to acquire some 2,500 acres on which to spread the highly treated effluent.

Knowles said he and the city staff is seriously looking at a recommendation from the city's utility director, Paul Moore, to build a small sewer plant at the Sanford Airport. If that idea were implemented, Knowles said some of the effluent from the city's main sewer plant on Poplar Avenue could be diverted to the Sanford Airport plant and spray irrigated.

Petition

Lake Mary Group Fighting Retirement Home

A group of Lake Mary residents are banding together to protest a city Board of Adjustment decision which will permit a "group retirement home" in a residential area on the northwest corner of Washington Avenue and Russkin Street.

A petition was submitted at city hall today appealing the board's decision. The City Commission is scheduled to hear the appeal at its meeting on Oct. 20, according to City Clerk and Acting City Manager

Connie Major.

One of the protesters, Anna Jardine of Fifth Street, said the major complaint of nearby homeowners is that the retirement center is a profit-making business.

She said that the commission has adopted an ordinance permitting "profit-making businesses of this type" as well as schools either public or private, public utility services, guest cottages and sewer treatment plants to locate in the RIA zoning districts which heretofore have been limited to single-family homes.

"There will be from 10 to 12 people in the retirement home and we feel this is not the place for it in our single-family home neighborhood," Mrs. Jardine said. She added that those wishing to join the protest group may call 323-0987 or 322-1307.

The owner-operator of the proposed home, Antonio Assent, received the special exception from the Board of Adjustment Aug. 31. Assent has operated a dental lab in the city for the past several years.

The house which was previously used as a single-family home is to be renovated to provide space for the 10 to 12 residents permitted by the state Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services which regulates such retirement centers.

The city revised the RIA zoning classification in line with state law encouraging group homes in residential areas.

The group protesting the location of the center has requested that the city notify 74 homeowners of the appeal date in addition to the owners within a 300 foot radius of the facility as required by city law. Mrs. Major said she will ask the city commission at its 7:30 p.m. meeting Thursday whether they wish to grant this request. —Donna Estes

Boston Vodka Party

BOSTON (UPI) — Anyone with a bottle of Russian-made vodka was urged to pour it in the ocean today in a Boston Tea Party-style protest against the Soviet downing of Korean Air Lines flight 007.

The demonstration was to take place on The Beaver II, a replica of the 18th Century merchant ship from which angry colonists dumped boxes of British tea into Boston Harbor in 1773 to protest "taxation without representation."

State Rep. Howard C. Cahoon, R-Chatham, who helped organize the protest, has filed a bill to ban the sale of Russian vodka.

"There is very little we can do as a nation," added William Snowden, a restaurant owner on the resort island of Nantucket, "especially in the way of trade sanctions, to repudiate the Soviets without expecting retaliation. But as individuals, acting unofficially, we can send a clear message to them by refusing to buy their product."

Between $3 and $4 million worth of Stolichnaya, the only Russian vodka sold in the United States, is sold in Massachusetts annually, Snowden said.

IN BRIEF

Wells Fargo Bandit Makes Off With $7 Million

WEST HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — Police nationwide searched today for a Wells Fargo security guard suspected of drugging two co-workers and stealing more than $7 million in the second biggest robbery in American history.

Police and FBI agents found a rented getaway car apparently abandoned by the alleged robber, Victor Gerena, 25, of Hartford. Police said the robber pulled a gun on two of his fellow workers, bound and drugged them, then stole the money.

Police said they didn't know if Gerena had any criminal record. He has worked for Wells Fargo since May 1982.

A police spokesman said the firm was able to determine that at least $7 million was taken, but an inventory was still going on and "a sizeable amount was left behind."

The largest cash robbery in the United States was an $11 million heist from Sentry Armored Car-Courier in New York City on Dec. 12, 1982.

Ford Ups Prices 2.3%

DETROIT (UPI) — Prices of Ford Motor Co.'s 1984 models will go up about 2.3 percent or an average of $254 — a modest increase similar to the increase announced earlier by industry leader General Motors.

Ford's announcement Tuesday means the price of the average Ford auto will be around $11,200.

Three weeks ago, GM announced price increases of about 2.4 percent or $287, including several federally mandated engineering changes. The average GM car will cost $11,600 this fall.

Until last year, automakers traditionally raised prices about 5 percent per year. But the recession prompted companies last year to scale the increases back to about 2 percent.

NATIONAL REPORT: A slow-moving cold front finally reached the East Coast and cooled off the Atlantic states but more above-normal temperatures were forecast for the West. The Plains, which bore the brunt of the ruthless summer of '83, remained a little cooler than normal. The Mid-Atlantic states, which baked under record 100-degree temperatures Monday, cooled off into the 70s Tuesday, thanks to a slow-moving cold front that produced showers — some of them heavy. "There is a front that was slowly pushing its way across the country. It has finally reached the coast and the rain is what's left over," said forecaster Joan Murray of the National Severe Storms Forecast Center. Heavy thunderstorms hit Virginia and North Carolina, with 2 inches of rain soaking Tidewater, Va. in less than 3 hours and 1 1/2 inches hitting Greensboro, N.C. in one hour. Heavy showers hit the Gulf Coast as the September rainy season got underway. Two inches of rain soaked Panama City, bringing the two-day total to 5 inches. Only Raleigh, N.C. failed to cool off and reported a high of 91. But the cool front was expected to drop temperatures, which have been 90 or higher on 52 of the last 75 days, as much as 20 degrees. Temperatures on the West Coast soared to record levels.

Senate OKs Huge Military Spending Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A $188 billion military spending bill that gives President Reagan virtually everything he wants to continue his five-year military buildup now needs only House approval before it goes to the White House.

Backers used the Soviet attack on a Korean passenger jet to obtain overwhelming Senate approval Tuesday of compromise legislation that includes authorization for 21 MX missiles and resumption of nerve gas production for the first time in 14 years.

The legislation, approved 83-8, had been worked out by a House-Senate conference committee in a series of late-night and weekend sessions last month.

The House also must pass the bill, and opposition to the nerve gas provision, which the House originally rejected, seemed to be crumbling. The House is expected to take up the legislation later this week or next week.

A leading House opponent, Rep. Ed

Bethune, R-Ark., said the nerve gas fight may instead be waged again when the House takes up legislation actually appropriating the money for the nation's military program.

The nerve gas provision originally was rejected in the House and only passed in the Senate when Vice President George Bush cast a tie-breaking vote.

In the Senate, Sen. David Pryor, D-Ark., attacked the provision authorizing $114.6 million for producing a new and ostensibly safer weapon containing nerve gas. The United States has not produced nerve gas since 1969.

Saying he hoped the nerve gas provision "will not become our monument to 269 people who did not survive the Korean Air Lines disaster," Pryor promised to fight the issue once again when the Senate takes up appropriations legislation in the coming weeks. However, he voted for the overall spending measure Tuesday.

Sen. John Tower, R-Texas, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, referred to the Korean Air Lines disaster and other recent events as justification for passing the defense authorization bill, the biggest in U.S. history.

"I can think of no other period in the recent past that more vividly demonstrates the dangers we face," he said.

Eight Democrats voted against the measure: Ernest Hollings of South Carolina, Edward Kennedy of Massachusetts, Patrick Leahy of Vermont, Carl Levin of Michigan, Howard Metzenbaum of Ohio, Claiborne Pell of Rhode Island, William Proxmire of Wisconsin and Paul Tsongas of Massachusetts.

The mammoth authorization bill gives Reagan virtually everything he asked for.

It includes $4.8 billion for procurement of 21 MX intercontinental nuclear missiles, which were bitterly opposed by Senate Democrats who held up the bill for two weeks over the issue. The Pentagon wanted 27 missiles, but reluctantly decided against fighting the compromise.

The bill also endorses the recommendations of Reagan's bipartisan commission on strategic forces, which suggested deployment of 100 MX missiles; development of a smaller, mobile intercontinental missile, presumably a less-tempting target for the Soviets than the multiple-warhead MX; and serious pursuit of arms control efforts.

Also included in the bill is $1.87 billion for procurement of 10 more B-1 bombers and $407 million for purchase of 95 Pershing-2 missiles for deployment in West Germany.

Against administration wishes, however, the legislation kills the 155-millimeter neutron bomb, which was being developed for NATO use but which European nations had shown a reluctance to accept, and it creates an independent office of weapons testing in the Pentagon.

Arson Suspect Turns Himself In

A Houston man charged with murder and arson in connection with a 1982 Oviedo fire, turned himself in voluntarily at the Seminole County jail Tuesday and was released a few hours later after posting $5,000 bond.

William Earl Fogle, 51, was arrested in Houston Aug. 29 and charged on a Florida warrant with second-degree murder, first-degree arson, burning to defraud an insurer and conspiracy to commit arson in connection with a June 1982 fire in Oviedo that killed Fogle's brother.

Fogle was released from the Houston jail a few days ago after posting $5,000 bond there, according to John Spolski, spokesman for the Seminole County sheriff's department.

Fogle was released in Texas on the condition that he agree to travel to Sanford and turn himself into authorities here, said Ray Pippin, chief fire investigator with the Seminole County fire department.

Pippin said the arrangement was worked out between the prosecutors offices in Houston and Sanford.

Fogle turned himself in shortly before noon and was released from jail at 2:30 p.m. The $5,000 bond that Fogle had posted several days ago in Houston was returned to him after he turned himself in at the Seminole County jail. Spolski said.

Fogle's sister-in-law, Joyce Elaine Fogle, 44, of 1455 Lady Amy Drive, Casselberry was arrested on identical charges several weeks ago.

Investigators claim that on June 27, 1982, Robert Fogle set an Oviedo house on fire and died as a result of smoke inhalation. He was William Fogle's brother and Joyce Fogle's husband.

Investigators say Fogle was attempting to burn a vacant house he and his wife owned on Spring Street west of Oviedo to collect $30,000 insurance.

But he mistakenly used gasoline instead of kerosene to start the blaze, resulting in an explosion that led to his death, investigators claim.

Investigators allege that William Fogle advised his brother on how to set the fire.

Pippin said a $30,000 claim was filed with Aetna

Retail Sales Fall Sharply

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government reported the nation's retail sales, the pulse rate of the economy, fell a surprisingly sharp 1.4 percent in August, but the administration said the "hesitation" in the recovery should not be a cause for concern.

The drop was the largest in more than a year and steeper than any leading forecaster expected, mostly because auto sales plummeted 9.2 percent, the Commerce Department said Tuesday.

Analysts in and out of government offered a variety of reasons, from Detroit's inability to deliver enough of its most popular models to the heat wave, which may have postponed many fall purchases.

But the slowdown appeared to be the single biggest setback in the monthly economic statistics since the recession ended. If actually caused by a more fundamental problem, like continuing high interest rates, forecasters say the sales decline could be the beginning of a new downward trend.

Both the overall decline and the drop in auto sales were the largest since June 1982.

IN BRIEF Foner State Official Heded For Jail...Finally

TLAHASSEE (UPI) — Former state Treasurers Commissioner Tom O'Malley is about to go to prison after nearly a decade of battling corruption allegations.

He'll begin a three-year term at a federal prison in Kentucky Oct. 19 unless a last-ditch legal effort succeeds, the New York Times Florida newspapers reported Tuesday.

O'Malley resigned his Cabinet post in 1975 after he had been impeached by the House over corruption allegations and was about to be tried and probably removed from office by the Senate. He later pleaded no contest to a misdemeanor corruption charge in state court and was convicted of felony extortion and mail fraud charges in federal court.

Impeachment and criminal charges centered around allegations that O'Malley pressured insurance company executives to do business with the two men who took over his Miami law firm after he won election to the state Cabinet in 1970 and then took kickbacks from them.

Ohan May Be Millionaire

OLYWOOD (UPI) — "Finders keepers" will soothe a rich little rhyme for a 16-year-old orphan who found a $1 million sack of jewels along Broward County railroad track.

El DeWild found the loot six months ago while he was playing hooky from school. Now police said the teenager will soon get the jewels back — for good.

As a week of arguing over how and when to turn over the treasure, police said they believe they have reached an agreement with the boy's lawyer. The transfer should be made some time next week.

Sar, police have not been able to find the owner of the cache of nut-sized diamonds, gold rimmed jewel-adorned bracelets. They have checked 200 to 300 claims from police who say the jewels may be theirs. Police suspect the jewels may have been stolen and possibly dropped from a passing train.

Cold Comes Up Empty

OLYWOOD (UPI) — A finicky Lake Worth woman will get back the $250 she paid a matchmaking firm that failed to find three Jewish gentlemen who met her exacting specifications, a judge has ruled.

Jewish Introduction Inc. violated its contract with 59-year-old Mildred Rosenstein, Broward County Circuit Judge Morton L. Abram ruled Monday.

Rosenstein said she requested a marriage partner who was "knowledgeable, considerate, understanding and cultured." She also wanted protective suitors to be non-smokers between 6 and 70 years old who were generous and athletic and "assertive without being obnoxious."

As Alternative To Proposition 1

Eliminate Homestead Tax, Increase State Sales Tax

CLEARWATER (UPI) — Tampa Mayor Bob Martinez has proposed elimination of homestead property taxes and an increase in the sales tax as an alternative to Proposition 1 which would roll state and local tax assessments back to the 1980-81 fiscal year level.

Martinez said his proposal would free Floridians from paying any property taxes on their individual residences and would mean an overall $300 million-a-year tax cut because residents pay 100 percent of the homestead property taxes but would pay just 75 percent of the sales tax, with tourists paying the rest.

He proposed an increase of 1.5 percent in the sales tax. But he coupled that with retaining the full exemption on food and medicine and exempting motor fuels and special fuels from the increase.

Martinez made public his proposal Tuesday night during a speech to the Pinellas County Contractors and Builders Association and said he will present the full proposal to the Florida League of Municipalities at its convention in Orlando next month.

Martinez said the amendment would eliminate the homestead property tax, but the property tax on rental property and commercial property would continue.

He said the homestead exemption tax applies to only about 28 percent of the statewide property levies and amounts to about $1.2 billion a year.

Martinez said that is the projected amount of revenues that would come from the increased sales tax.

He said the increased sales tax monies would be returned to the counties in the same manner current taxes are funneled out and said each county — whether large and tourist oriented, or small and agricultural — would be guaranteed a state sales tax sum equal to the monies lost with the elimination of homestead taxes.

He said the amendment also would provide for later assessment of property taxes on homestead property, but only after approval in a local referendum.

"I think this will encourage young people to buy homes," Martinez said.

Martinez called the sales tax the fairest tax and used Polk County as an example.

He said an unemployed phosphate industry worker still faces a property tax bill which must be paid whether he is working or not. But he said that same worker can regulate the amount of sales tax he pays by limiting what he purchases.

Martinez is an outspoken opponent of Proposition 1, which he termed a "crude demand for tax reform" and "a political 2-by-4 designed to get government's attention."

"This is an alternative to Proposition 1," Martinez said. "It is my view the property tax is what has stirred the opposition."

If Martinez persuades the Florida League of Municipalities to get behind some form of his proposal and the Legislature goes along, voters could have to decide between it and Proposition 1 in the 1984 general election.

But Martinez said the issues would have to be presented on the ballot in such a way the voters had to select one over the other or reject both.

"It wouldn't work to pass both," he said.

'We Are Sensitive To Censorship'

Mother Goose Will Stay Despite Her 'Bad Taste'

MIAMI (UPI) — Reasoning that bad taste is preferable to censorship, county library officials refuse to ban a volume of nursery rhymes containing ethnic slurs.

Dade County County commissioner Barry Schreiber had asked the Library Advisory Board to remove a 1913 Mother Goose anthology from library shelves because of anti-Semitic nursery rhymes.

The board conceded that the wording in some of the rhymes was in "bad taste," but decided unanimously Tuesday to keep Mother Goose.

"We are sensitive to censorship here," board member Ed Henry told Schreiber, adding that "you have every right to tell citizens in the community what you think of the book, though."

Schreiber complained that the book contained "reprehensible ethnic slurs" such as: "Jack sold his gold egg to a rogue of a Jew/who cheated him out of half of his due."

The Viking version of Mother Goose rhymes was the only one that used the offending version, Schreiber said. Others changed it.

In Willy Pogany's Mother Goose, he said, the verse was edited to read: "Jack sold his gold egg to a rascal named Hugh/who cheated him out of half of his due."

Board members said they acquired Viking Press' Mother Goose because it was illustrated by Arthur Rackham, the famous British illustrator.

Riverfront Development Law Is Being Ignored

LAKE CITY, Fla. (UPI) — Some of the 11 counties along the Suwannee River that last year passed the governor's model ordinance regulating riverfront development have been ignoring or circumventing the law, a state official says.

John Hopkins, a planner with the Department of Community Affairs' Bureau of Land and Water Management, warned that failure to enforce development standards along the historic river could result in the gully counties forfeiting their control of riverfront development.

Under the law, Hopkins said, if the state decides some counties are not enforcing the ordinance or are handing out too many variances, those counties can be declared areas of critical state concern. That designation means the state can set development standards and make the counties enforce them — taking them to court if necessary.

"We're concerned about anyone, on a regular basis, granting variances for provisions of the ordinance," he said.

The model ordinance written in 1981 by Graham's Suwannee River Resource Planning and Management Committee and adopted last year by the 11 counties along the Suwannee and its tributaries is designed to prevent development detrimental to the pristine river.

Hamilton and Levy counties were singled out for granting variances from the provision requiring a building setback line of 75 feet from the river.

"In some cases, the ordinance has been followed to the letter in specific counties, and in other counties provisions ... have been waived or have not been adhered to very strictly," said John Shoemyen, a water resource specialist with the Suwannee River Water Management District.

More than 11,000 lots have been platted on the banks of the Suwannee and its tributaries in the past 20 years, Shoemyen said.

The Wizard Of Chrysler

Remember the part in the Wizard of Oz when Toto runs over and pulls back the Wizard's curtain? You find out that all the huffing and puffing and flashing lights of the great Wizard are — well, just an elaborate hoax, a slick sideshow to keep the natives guessing.

The more we read about the case for a U.S. "industrial policy," the more we're reminded of that scene. The latest charlatan to have the curtain yanked out from under him, so to speak, is none other than Mr. Industrial Policy himself — the Wizard of Chrysler, Lee Iacocca.

"To start with," Iacocca told a recent meeting of the Economic Club of New York City, "it seems the use of the Washington buzzword 'industrial policy' is all wrong." Now that statement intrigued us. As we went further, however, it was back to Emerald City.

The problem with arguing for an industrial policy, according to Iacocca is that "we already have an industrial policy." Every time the government lowers a tax or raises a tariff it is making industrial policy.

This being the case, you'd expect Iacocca and other advocates to outline a different kind of industrial policy than the one we have now. What you get, instead, are fuzzi words to explain the industrial policy buzzword.

Iacocca, for example, wants the United States to initiate the "Japanese success story." If America really meant to do this — and it's not a bad idea — we might start by radically cutting taxes, which are much lower in Japan than here. Or by encouraging freer venture capital markets, investing savings in young, small, risky firms.

Instead, what Iacocca has in mind is to: 1. Raise up new tariff barriers; 2. lower deficits by "expanding revenues" (raising taxes); and 3. subsidize large firms (like Chrysler) using guaranteed loans and special tax credits. These may be good steps to take, but they are emphatically not what the Japanese have been doing.

Another critical element, Iacocca goes on, is something called "government-business cooperation." This "could include tax credits and guaranteed loans for productivity improvements and modernization for those companies that choose to participate, and that maybe even commit to wages and prices that are indexed to productivity and real GNP growth, not inflation."

Sounds great. But don't you wonder why unions and management can't agree to such sensible things without the sweetener of government subsidies?

Ah, but these kind of queries "aren't the right questions to ask about an industrial policy," says Iacocca. It's not that we don't have such subsidies now — "there are already $409 billion worth," Iacocca reminds us. (Could that be the problem?) No. The problem is, they aren't going to "critical industries."

What are "critical industries?" Darned if we know. What it really comes down to is, who decides?

Under an industrial policy, it's politics. Hence, the industries that get backing tend to be industries like Iacocca's — heavy manufacturing businesses with strong unions, in which the United States is losing its competitive edge to cheaper foreign labor.

Industrial policy? We're all for one. But let's make sure it includes tax cuts, a stable dollar, deregulation, and a spending muzzle for Congress. If there's a better approach available, it certainly hasn't been articulated by the Wizard of Chrysler.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Every year, along about this time of the season, you Red Sox fans start BABBLING!"

By Michael Beha

Everyone knows that Florida isn't really in the South. It's located in the South but it's populated by New Yorkers and other carpetbaggers.

One state which has contributed a great number of residents to Florida is West Virginia. Seminole County Commissioner Robert G. "Bud" Feather is from Morgantown. Assistant school superintendent Roger Harris is from Bluefield. Florida State football coach Bobby Bowden coached at West Virginia University and Theresa Fulton, press representative for U.S. Rep Bill McCollum, also is a graduate of West Virginia University. And yes, I'm from there.

I know there are many more Mountaineers around these parts. I've met many during my time in Florida. The following information is for all of them.

The 25th annual West Virginia Day will be held Sept. 25 at Fox Lake Park in Titusville. The park opens at 10 a.m. and closes at 5 p.m. with introduction of distinguished (and sometimes extinguished) guests at 1 p.m.

The silver anniversary of West Virginia Day will feature mountain music and singing and participants should bring a picnic lunch.

Speaking of West Virginia, it was a pleasure to travel back home in August for a week's vacation. For me, home is Parkersburg, along the Ohio River. But there was ample opportunity for the family to take in the awesome beauty of the mountains as we visited relatives in the southern part of the state.

It's hard to imagine a place as distinctly different from Florida as West Virginia. The mountains are a sharp contrast to the flat, sandy terrain we have here. And there's nothing to compare with the pristine beauty of sections of the New River, the whitewater rapids on the W. Gauley and Potomac rivers or the trout fishing on nameless mountain streams.

Of course the state has its problems, unemployment is the highest in the country, strip mines still scar the land in some areas and most of us still remember the shellacking our football team got at the hands of Florida State last year in the Gator Bowl.

But there's one difference between the two states that stands out from all the rest. The people. Ask a Floridian where he's from and it's likely he'll say some other state. Ask a West Virginian where he's from and he'll tell you West Virginia, even if he no longer lives there.

VIEWPOINT

Writer Defines Freedom

By Dean A. Olson

(Editor's Note: Anthony Harrigan is on vacation. The following is a guest column by Dean A. Olson, chairman of the Rockford Aeronautics Products Co., Rockford, Ill. Mr. Olson is a former chairman of the Illinois Manufacturers Assn.)

America means freedom, and freedom means America! America was founded by pioneers and adventurers who believed wholeheartedly in this concept, and they had the foresight to preserve their thinking in many documents such as The Mayflower Compact, The Declaration of Independence and The Constitution. This freedom that the early Americans wrote and talked about has created a country that gives more opportunity to its citizens than any other country in the world and has allowed the maximization of social and economic mobility based on individual effort. The concept of freedom has unfortunately become bland and almost meaningless because of the abuse and malignancy given to it in these transitional times by people who take the concept for granted.

To me, it is sad to see the concept of freedom, which I have fought for and loved, placed in disrepute. I think back to the times when I have been called upon to serve my country. I responded with pride and with my heart and soul because America is the greatest and most free concept that the world has ever known. I couldn't do less than respond. Out of duty, yes, but mostly out of duty born and nurtured in freedom. Recently, at the changing of the guard at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, America's flag passed by bringing an automatic hand salute and a tear of pride to my eye. In America we are free to live and to die with honor and with freedom.

This cultural idealism that springs from our freedom gave me the opportunity to start a business after World War II. Despite the obvious obstacles to success in any enterprise, the abiding climate of freedom in America made it possible for me to have an even shot to succeed.

I found the trust that allowed me to work my way into an ownership position. I found the freedom to operate my company ethically-morally. I found the joys of seeing success. I found an openness in the economic system which gave me the opportunity to invest my time, talent and worldly goods.

To the detractors of America, to those desecrators of freedom, let me add that I have never heard them put forth an alternative system that can even come close to satisfying the basic hunger of all mankind for freedom. It is easy to find fault, to point out our imperfections and mistakes. But I believe America can take it because we are free!

Soviets Knew What They Were Doing

WASHINGTON — Evidence locked in secret CIA files suggests that the Soviets knew exactly what they were doing when they shot down an unarmed civilian airliner that had strayed off course into Soviet airspace.

The bitter irony is that Russian airliners are probably guilty of the aerial espionage that the Soviets wrongly thought the doomed South Korean airliner was engaged in.

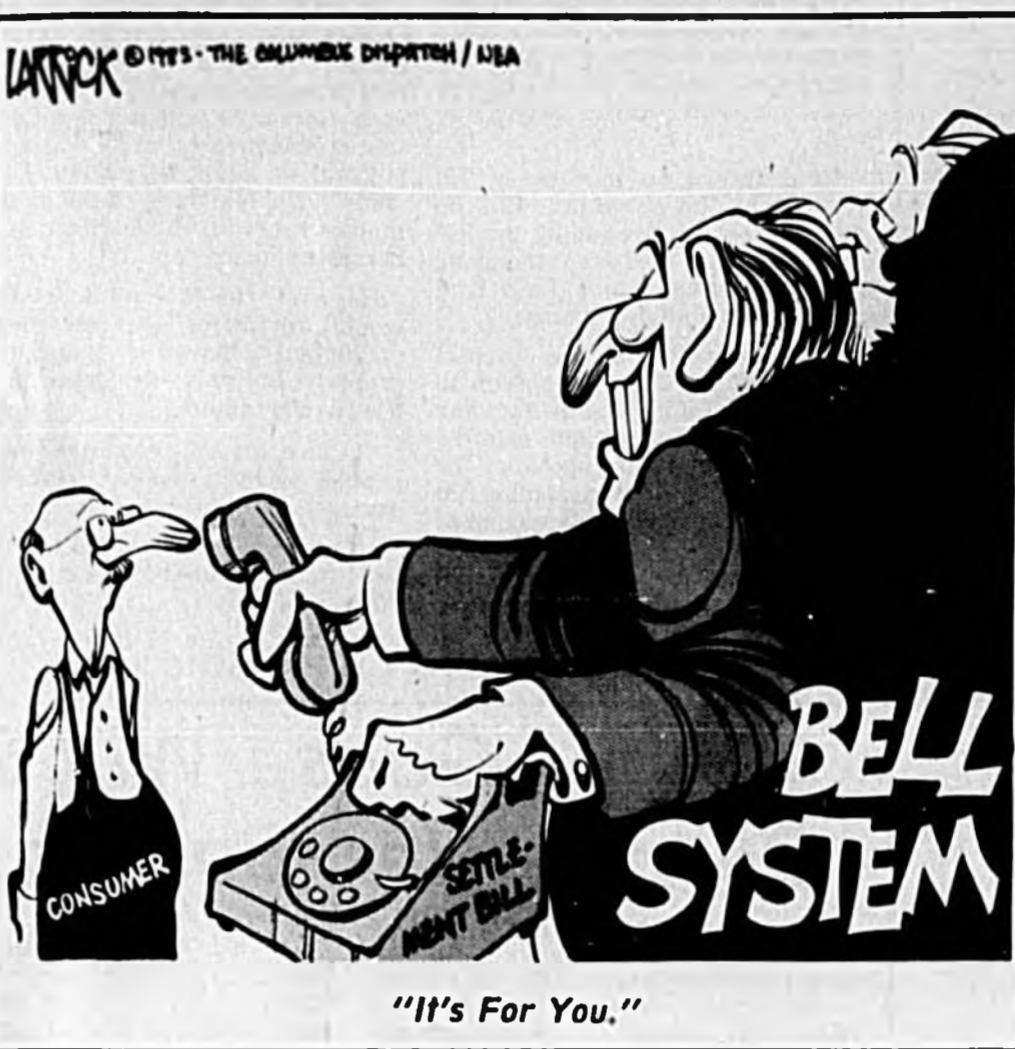

A CIA report, stamped "Secret" and barred from foreign distribution, claims that Aeroflot, the Soviet airline, "is a significant instrument of Soviet intelligence collection."

The report cites "a prolonged employment of Aeroflot by the Soviets for both counterintelligence and foreign collection purposes." The Soviets are suspected, for example, "of using Aeroflot for signal intelligence collection operations."

Once, the Soviets rescheduled an Aeroflot flight "to permit coverage of a U.S. command post exercise." Another time, an Aeroflot airliner, flying over the United States, "was viewed as having a collection mission since signal intelligence intercept gear was observed on the aircraft."

Yet there has never been the slightest suggestion that Aeroflot planes should be shot down when they intrude into U.S. airspace with their espionage gear.

Just about every Aeroflot flight, sug-

In Praise Of McEnroe

FLUSHING MEADOW, N.Y.: John McEnroe, the Wimbledon champion and last year's Open Champion lost to an inspired Bill Scanlon, and maybe to a tender left shoulder, but there can be little doubt that McEnroe remains the best tennis player in the world. He can do more things with a tennis ball than anyone else, and he belongs with the greatest modern players who emerged following World War II, beginning with Jack Kramer.

I would not want to take anything away from Bill Scanlon, who played superbly. And the great thing about tennis today is the sheer quantity of first-rate talent. A player ranked 200 on the computer has a serious chance to beat a player in the top 10.

But McEnroe is McEnroe and he is the best.

What everyone knows about McEnroe is, that he is subject to outbursts of temper on the court; he engages in shouting matches with tennis officials, fans, and other players, and has been repeatedly fined for such misconduct.

But McEnroe is not as disagreeable as you might think, even though this pasty-faced youth looks like everyone's idea of a spoiled brat.

He is a superb all-around athlete. Stanford recruited him as a soccer player, and he had excelled at that game, but he immediately won the intercollegiate tennis championships and turned pro, and is now certainly the best player in the world.

Off the court, he is personable and even gentle. Earlier this year, in the tournament of champions held at Forest Hills, McEnroe blasted Guillermo Vilas off the court 6-1, 6-1 in the semi-finals.

Afterwards, at the clubhouse, I overheard the two players discussing the match. McEnroe was concerned about Vilas. He said that Vilas had seemed a bit slow to him. Yes, Vilas said. He thought his diet might have something to do with it. What are you eating, McEnroe asked. Nothing but steak and water, Vilas replied. McEnroe was genuinely alarmed. That's all wrong, he said. You should eat some pasta a couple of hours before a match. You should see a nutritionist.

The concern of this young professional about the well-being of a player who, after all, is a rival, was impressive.

There are a number of things to be said about McEnroe's outbursts on the court.

First of all, he is a perfectionist, and before a match he is a bundle of nerves. Even when he is playing at the peak of his form he is apprehensive that something will go wrong. As the time of the match draws near, he can scarcely contain himself, and when he walks onto the court he is in an explosive state of mind.

He has some idea of the perfect tennis match burning in his brain. When the officiating is sloppy, or cameramen unduly intrusive, or the fans scream in the midst of a point, he is very likely to react violently.

Knowing this, some fans take a perverse delight in goading him — applauding his errors (which goes against all tennis tradition) and even booing him or calling him names. It has never seemed to me that buying a ticket to a sporting event gives a fan the right to abuse an athlete personally.

Cooler Air On The Way

By James Wagner
Meteorologist,
National Weather Service

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Earth's atmosphere is a mighty engine fueled by sunlight.

The position of the sun and the amount of sunshine that reaches earth determine how hot or cool the air runs, and how smoothly. The sun determines whether you will swelter or accumulate a coating of snow when you step outside.

The sun, in short, determines the seasons.

By September, the sun has dipped lower in the southern sky. Its rays hit the northern areas of Earth at a shallower angle than in the summer.

As the days grow shorter and the nights longer, more energy leaves the surface of Earth than is received from the sun. The oceans and land in the northern latitudes begin to cool, with the land cooling more rapidly.

The early fall cooling is most noticeable in the northern areas of the United States, including the heavily populated areas of the Northeast and Midwest.

Now, changing air currents bring in more cool, dry air from Canada to replace the warm, moist air from the tropics. There is a significant decrease in the humidity as well as the temperature.

Over land the atmosphere cools more at ground level than at the higher altitudes. Since cool air is denser than warm and tends to sink, this makes the atmosphere stable. Fewer small-scale showers and thunderstorms develop and are less vigorous.

As the fall season progresses the temperature difference between the northern latitudes and the tropics increases rapidly. As a result, the prevailing westerly winds high in the atmosphere get stronger. The large-scale frontal storms pack more energy, become better organized and bring more rain to large areas. In timelier bring snow.

Meanwhile, the surface waters of the Caribbean, Gulf of Mexico and the Atlantic have been storing up energy from the sun all summer. The excessive heat in the oceans now works hard to boil up into the atmosphere.

Upper-level winds, called strong currents, direct the storm on its course. Of the six or so hurricanes born in the Atlantic, Caribbean and Gulf of Mexico waters each year, an average of one of them cross the U.S. coast every two years.

September normally marks the peak of the hurricane season.

Hurricanes may appear to be acts of nature designed to inflict pain and destruction on people. They are actually nature's way of organizing the air to carry excessive energy away from the tropics.

Security Group, on Japan's northernmost island, Hokkaido. It monitored the entire tragedy from its range.

Footnote: There was positive surveillance equipment aboard the downed South Korean airliner, the United States has sophisticated equipment that doesn't require those of commercial airliners.

DREADLOCKED POLITICS: The Marxist regime of Grenada, the Minister Maurice Bishop is having trouble with an unlikely segment of the island's population: the marijuana-smoking members of the Rastafarian cult, who worship the late Ethiopian Emperor Haile Selassie and wear their hair in carefully braided "dreadlocks."

The free-living Rastafarians have been accused of "anti-socialist tendencies." Translated, this means they make by communists. "They don't participate in the revolution — and they are a bad influence on the youth," explained a Bishop aide. In fact, the Rastafarians are clearly popular with Grenada's young people, despite official disapproval.

The regime's response is to take a page from the Kremlin manual and establish a Siberian-style penal colony in the mountainous interior, to educate the Rastafarians away from "revolutionary nonconformity." The for camp's ironic name: Hopeville.

Suicide Rate Among Young Americans Up Dramatically

ATLANTA (UPI) — Suicide has become the third leading cause of death among Americans age 15-24, with a more than 40 percent increase in the suicide rate among young people — particularly males — in just eight years, federal health officials say.

The national Centers for Disease Control said that suicide among young people began to increase dramatically in the mid-1950s, when it was the fifth leading cause of death for the 15-24 age group, and had more than tripled by 1978.

The CDC said young adults 20-24 years old had approximately twice the number and rate of suicides as adolescents 15-19, and that by 1978, the ratio of male suicides to female suicides in the combined age groups was more than 4 to 1.

The method of suicide also changed dramatically from 1970 to 1978, with firearms and explosives being used more frequently instead of poisoning, the CDC said.

The federal health agency also reported that homicide, the second leading cause of death for people in that age group and the primary cause for young black males, had dropped more than 25 percent between 1970-78.

The leading cause of death in the 15-24 age group is injuries, including automobile accidents, the CDC said.

The CDC report did not discuss reasons for the suicide increase and the decline in the homicide rate of young blacks. However, the agency said the Department of Health and Human Services had established objectives to reduce both suicide and homicide rates by 1990.

Suicide and homicide statistics cited in the CDC's Morbidity and Mortality Weekly Report were supplied by the National Center for Health Statistics and the FBI.

Between 1970 and 1978 — the last year for which figures were available — 39,011 people in the 15-24 age group committed suicide, the CDC report said. The suicide rate for that age group increased 41 percent, from 8.8 deaths per 100,000 population in 1970 to 12.4 per 100,000 in 1978. The rate for the remainder of the population remained stable.

The suicide rate increase was due primarily to an increasing number and rate of suicides among males, primarily white. "Rates for males increased by 47.4 percent compared to an 11.9 percent increase for females ... so that by 1978, the ratio of suicides committed by males to those by females was greater than 4 to 1."

Many Jobless Aren't Seeking Compensation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — More Americans have been without jobs recently than at any time since the Depression, but the percentage of them receiving unemployment compensation has been unusually low, according to a new study.

But the Brookings Institution report said the reasons are not fully understood.

In 1982, when the number of unemployed Americans averaged 10 million, only 45 percent of them were receiving unemployment benefits under the joint federal-state system, it said.

During the recession year of 1975, when the number of unemployed averaged less than 7 million, 78 percent of the jobless were receiving such benefits, it reported.

Author Gary Burtless said part of the explanation is that Congress, at the urging of the Reagan administration, has limited the scope of the benefits program.

There are two kinds of benefits. The basic program provides up to 26 weeks of compensation. In 1975, so-called extended and supplemental programs also were in effect, increasing the maximum to 65 weeks.

Congress since has limited the maximum duration to 52 weeks, and this soon will fall to 39 weeks. Provisions have been changed so that today's extended program currently operates only in West Virginia, Louisiana and Puerto Rico.

But, according to Burtless, these changes in law account for only about 60 percent of the relative decline in unemployment benefits.

Percentages of jobless Americans receiving the regular 26-week benefits, for which the law has not significantly changed, have declined also, he said.

Burtless said fewer of those Americans who lose their jobs are applying for unemployment compensation than in the past. During 1982, 1.1 million fewer workers applied for the basic program than would have been expected because of the unemployment figures at the time.

Burtless examined several possible reasons for this: Two-earner families are common these days, so a laid-off worker may have a spouse to rely on financially. Jobless pay now is reduced by the amount of pension payments. For those over certain income levels, it is taxable.

But he said none of these provides a statistical explanation. The reasons are still a mystery.

Jesse Jackson For President?

A Campaign Of Adoration, Belligerence And Doubts

By Rob Gloster

RULEVILLE, Miss. (UPI) — Fannie Lou Hamer marched from a cotton plantation to the Sunflower County courthouse in 1962 to become one of the first blacks to register to vote in the northwest Mississippi Delta.

She was beaten by police, shot at 16 times and forced to leave the farm where she had lived for years. Despite an ultimatum from the plantation owner, she refused to take her name off the registration books.

The Rev. Jesse Louis Jackson is contemplating a similar march this fall, tracing Mrs. Hamer's steps to the courthouse in Indianola and possibly continuing on toward the White House.

If Jackson decides to run for the Democratic presidential nomination, aides said he is "strongly leaning" toward announcing his candidacy beside Mrs. Hamer's grave in a weed-filled Ruleville park.

Jackson then would walk through the heart of this poor rural county to the courthouse, where he is regarded by some officials as an outsider who has caused nothing but trouble for Sunflower County.

That walk would give Jackson a view of what he would encounter along a national campaign trail — the adoration of previously indifferent blacks, the belligerence of many whites, and doubts by some black leaders who believe a non-white presidential candidacy could backfire.

Human

Perry Hamer, Fannie Lou Hamer's husband, said he would support a presidential bid by Jackson, who came to Ruleville for Mrs. Hamer's funeral in 1977 and again this year to crusade for voter registration.

"He's a human just like the whites are," Hamer said. "The whites run, so how come he can't run? It'd suit me just fine."

But white officials accuse Jackson of stirring up trouble in Ruleville and using the voter registration campaign to further his own goals.

"We (whites and blacks) have a good working relationship if outsiders would stay out of our way," said Billy Lott, police chief of the racially mixed town of 3,500.

"People in the Delta area are rather close and they can't understand exactly why he (Jackson) is here," said Cindy Herring, editor of the Sunflower County News. "Why would he come to Ruleville and check on the vote when we had federal poll watchers who had OK'd everything that was going on?"

"It seemed like a political move, a personal move to a lot of folks."

"He hasn't helped anything," said Mayor John "Bud" Burrell. "We've never had any racial problems here."

Nationwide, the reaction to a possible Jackson candidacy is as prickly as the cactus that sits near Mrs. Hamer's tombstone.

Major black organizations and such political leaders as Atlanta Mayor Andrew Young oppose a 1984 black presidential bid and have warned a Jackson campaign could help President Reagan's re-election chances.

"There is a question whether black voters will vote for a black candidate if the perception is he can't win, and the fear that a Jackson candidacy would further divide the race and the Democratic Party," said Harry Ross, a black pollster from Atlanta.

Benjamin Hooks, executive director of the NAACP, praised Jackson's attempts to enlist additional black voters but said a presidential bid is not the answer.

"I don't think black folks are that unsophisticated,"

'When you run, you gain self-respect. When you run, your enemies can't write you off and your friends can't take you for granted. When you run, the masses register and vote.'

process.

At least a dozen states that endorsed Reagan in 1980 will vote Democratic in 1984 if blacks vote, Jackson claimed.

He said Reagan won by 17,500 votes in Alabama, where there are 272,000 unregistered blacks; by 5,000 votes in Arkansas, which has 85,000 unregistered blacks; and by 165,000 votes in New York, with 900,000 unregistered blacks.

"A black candidacy would dramatically increase voter registration and participation," he told the PUSH convention. "There are 18 million eligible black voters, but only 10 million are currently registered."

"A combination of Reagan's negative incentive and a black candidate's positive incentive could take us from 10 to 15 million registered voters."

Jackson's presidential bid would be based on what he calls a "Rainbow Coalition of the rejected," which would include blacks, Hispanics, women, peace activists, Indians, the young, the elderly, environmentalists.

"The rejected stones must become the cornerstone of a new progressive coalition for jobs, peace and justice," Jackson said.

Mayor Richard Hatcher of Gary, Ind., head of a committee exploring the chances of a Jackson campaign, said the "Rainbow Coalition" could make a black a serious challenger for the Democratic nomination and the presidency.

Fifty percent of the Democratic convention delegates will be women and at least 20 percent blacks, Hatcher said. Also, the largest bloc of delegates will come from the South, which has the highest concentration of blacks.

But Ross, the Atlanta pollster, said blacks have not banded together to elect black politicians, even in regions where they constitute a majority. A Jackson candidacy, he said, might place pressure on Democratic candidates that could boomerang against blacks.

"National black leaders must guard against a white Democratic presidential candidate being perceived as a candidate that has sold out to blacks nationwide, forcing a crossover of white Southerners to the Republican Party," Ross said.

Charles Evers, a black independent candidate for governor in Mississippi, said a Jackson presidential campaign would be a serious bid and a symbolic victory for blacks.

"It would be the most positive thing that could happen," he said. "Blacks have never had a reason to vote. Blacks are like whites. We need a reason to vote. He gives us a reason."

Evers, whose brother Medgar was killed during a 1963 civil rights march in Mississippi, said apathy among young blacks and fear among old blacks has inhibited voter registration. A Jackson campaign would help eliminate both problems, he said.

"He can inspire us," Evers said. "It would just be tremendous for him to run."

Evers said about 40,000 Mississippians were added to the voter lists by Jackson's drive. State officials said 42,714 people registered between October 1982 and July 1983, but it would be impossible to gauge how many were influenced by Jackson.

Sunflower County officials claim Jackson had little to do with increased registration and accuse the civil rights leader of personal aggrandizement.

Jack E. Harper Jr., the county's white chancery clerk, said only 51 people registered as a result of federally monitored trips by voting officials to Ruleville — and 23 of them were white.

County records showed registration increased from 17,939 on April 1 to 18,824 on July 2, the deadline to vote in gubernatorial primaries.

Perry Hamer said there no longer is any excuse for blacks not to register.

"There are so many colored people you just can't get to go register so they can vote," he said. "They ain't got nothing to do but go to the courthouse and put their name on the book. But they won't do that."

Yet, Hamer remembers the beatings suffered by blacks who tried to vote in Sunflower County during the '60s. An NAACP official, the Rev. George Lee, was assassinated in 1955 for registering in neighboring Humphreys County.

"White folks in them days, they wanted you on the farm. If you tried to do something for yourself, they didn't like that and they wouldn't want to put up with you," Hamer said.

"But they (blacks) don't have nothing now to be scared of. It's not like that now. People got all the privilege in the world."

Intimidation

Jackson and black leaders have charged that intimidation by white officials, landlords and businessmen still prevents people from registering or voting. They have asked federal officials to monitor all Mississippi elections, but public officials insist they make every effort to ensure everybody has a chance to register.

"One can go and register to vote anytime he wishes," Mayor Burrell said. "There's never been any discrimination in our circuit clerk's office. Anyone gets just as fair treatment if he's black as if he's white."

Even if increased voter registration is not a major factor in next year's presidential election, black officials said it will set a trend.

"What you're seeing now is the groundwork for 1988," pollster Ross said. "If Reverend Jesse Jackson is successful in galvanizing black voters across the Southeast United States, then you will see a serious effort occur in 1988."

"In 1988, there will be a serious effort among national black leaders, among black voters, to elect a black president."

Hooks said. "I don't think you've got to run a black presidential candidate to convince people to register. If Mr. Reagan hasn't convinced us to register, nothing else will."

Joseph Madison, director of the NAACP's voter education program, said a Jackson campaign would be "the biggest hoax that has been put off on black people."

Jackson, 41, believes blacks must run for office to get their "programs and agenda on the front-burner for discussion" and to encourage greater black voter participation.

Strategy

"Running must become a strategy. We need thousands of candidates at every level," Jackson said in a keynote speech at this summer's convention of his organization, People United to Serve Humanity — PUSH.

"When you run, you gain self-respect. When you run, your enemies can't write you off and your friends can't take you for granted. When you run, the masses register and vote," he chanted to screams of "run, Jesse, run."

Black candidates will force Democrats to become more responsive to minority needs, Jackson said.

"Blacks will no longer settle for being the Harlem Globetrotters of the Democratic Party. We will no longer provide the talent, the tricks, the thrill and the victory, but then have all white proprietors at the top."

To Jackson, a presidential campaign is largely a matter of numbers — the thousands of unregistered blacks he believes must be brought into the electoral

Raines Sets Gauge On Ultimate 70-70 Club

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Seventy and 70. Seventy stolen bases and 70 runs batted in. The ultimate gauge of speed and production. Figures never attained in the history of Major League baseball. And guess who has a chance to reach that never before plateau?

Tim Raines. The ex-Seminole High three-sport star has already halfway there. He swiped his 70th base Sunday when the Montreal Expos trimmed the New York Mets to move into first place in the topky-turvy National League East. He has been caught just 13 times, only seven times by catchers.

Raines' RBI total stands at 64. Just six shy. "I think I can make it," said Raines from Chicago Monday night after the Expos had fallen out of first place by losing to the Cubs. "It would be quite an accomplishment."

The speedy left fielder has driven in more runs than any leadoff hitter in both leagues, quite a feat when you realize the seventh, eighth and ninth (pitchers) have to set the table for him to be successful.

"Doug Flynn has been the key," said Raines, who is batting nearly .350 with the pressure and men on. "He's gotten on base a lot which has made it easier for me."

So has his most productive season in the bigs. Raines' third year has seen him set career highs for homers (eight), RBI (64), runs (111) and walks (83). "I would like to get 100 walks and also break my record for doubles and triples," he said. "I've been a lot more selective at the plate. I'm not going after bad pitches."

Raines ripped 32 doubles last year. He has 27 now. He legged out eight triples last year. He has seven to date, but not many in the past two months. Stolen bases have pretty much been taken for granted. Raines knows he'll get them, although he says he's not worried about records. The three-time all-star outfielder, who will be 24 on Friday, stole 78 last year, so with 20 games to go, that mark should tumble also.

While Raines keeps a pretty close watch on his hitting barometer, the emphasis now is the pennant race. And, yes, he's been bombarded with the question, "How come Montreal, with all its talent, isn't running away with the N.L. East?"

Well, Tim, how come? The response, naturally, was guarded. "What about their talent?" demanded Raines. "St. Louis, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh have a few players too. People forget about their players."

"St. Louis can match us with their pitching, Pittsburgh has all those hitters, and Philadelphia has all those old guys, but they're been there (in the World Series) before. That will help them."

Does that mean the Expos are a talent-less club playing over their heads?

"Oh no, I didn't say we didn't have talent," said Raines. "We do. We have the best talent and probably the best starting pitching. And the best everyday lineup."

Then why the four-way logjam? "Andre Dawson has been our most consistent player, but (Al) Oliver and (Gary)

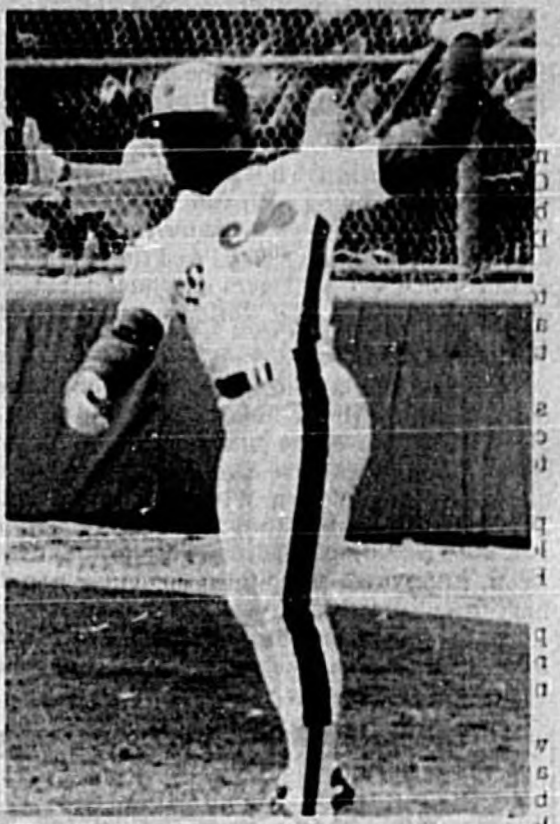

Carter haven't been hitting like they can," Raines said. "That's the difference. They're not having the type of years they're capable of having."

Raines, like Dawson, has been pretty consistent himself. After a slow start, he has kept his average at the .290 mark. "I was up to .298 one time, but I just couldn't push it over .300," he moaned. "I still think I can get it (.300), though. I just gotta get hot."

And, he couldn't pick a better time if the Expos ever plan to reach their potential and battle Los Angeles or Atlanta in the playoffs for a trip to the World Series.

He does see the lumber starting to stir in Carter's bat, however. "Gary's been hot for about a month and, of course, he's always going to be good defensively. If Oliver starts to hit and (Tim) Wallach keeps hitting, we'll take it all."

Raines said St. Louis gives Montreal the toughest go-around of the contenders. "We've got 17 games with Pittsburgh, St. Louis and the Phillies. We have to go head-to-head to beat them. We'll either win or lose it against them."

Tim Raines loosens up for the pennant push.

Murray Lost For Season

The Lake Mary Rams received some bad news this past week while preparing for its opening game against the DeLand Bulldogs Friday at DeLand. Junior running back Pat Murray, the Rams' leading ball carrier a year ago, is out for the entire '83 season with a cracked bone in his shoulder according to assistant coach Bob Becker. The injury occurred in an intrasquad scrimmage.

Becker said that Murray was just coming into his own. Last year, Murray gained 285 yards on 80 carries and was the leading kickoff returner. Senior Neal Wellon will start in Murray's place.

After the first week of the season, there isn't a whole lot to brag about in among the Seminole County Leaders. Lake Howell's Jay Robey picked up where he left off last year (1,003 yards rushing) by picking up 102 yards on 10 carries in the Hawks 44-0 rout of Bishop Moore. Lake Brantley's Allen Armstrong and Seminole's Tim Lawrence both gained 80 yards last week. Lake Howell's Darin Slack is the leading passer as he completed 3 of 9 for 85 yards and two touchdowns against the Hornets.

Service Breakdown Costs Tribe; Rams Rout Lyman, Lose To DeLand

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

The first game jitters got to Seminole, Lake Mary and Lyman Tuesday in the opening night of the 1983 prep volleyball season. At Oviedo, a powerful Lady Lions squad combined with a poor serving performance enabled Oviedo to sweep two games from coach Beth Corso's Lady Seminoles white-hot at Lake Mary, the Lady Rams got off to a bad start against DeLand but rebounded to beat mistake-ridden Lyman in the second game of a tri-match.

"We played well, but we gave it to them (Oviedo) on the serves," Corso said. "We got nine serves (the first game) on defense, but gave Oviedo 10 back. We turned our serve over too many times."

Behind the strong front line play of Fayette Robinson and Stephanie Nelson, the Lions swept to a 15-6, 15-5 victory over the Tribe. Robinson, a senior and one of the best players in the area, put her three years of experience to work as she helped Oviedo dominate in the early going. Nelson, only a sophomore, showed signs that she will be one of the top players in the county in '83. Fran Foster, another three-year veteran, also turned in a fine performance for the Lady Lions Tuesday night.

Prep Volleyball

For Seminole, senior Katy Barbour and junior Janet Hauck played very well all-around according to Corso and senior Gene Stallworth had a fine passing game.

"We hit and attacked well," Corso said. "But we didn't serve well at all. You must have all three going for you if you want to win."

The Lady Seminoles will try for win number one on Thursday when it travels to Lake Brantley. The Junior Varsity begins at 4 p.m. with the varsity to follow.

In JV action Tuesday night, the "all rookie" Lady Seminoles of coach Nancy VanWormer were swept by the JV Lions, 15-4, 15-7.

Lake Mary's Lady Rams took a beating in their introduction to the Five Star Conference, but then came back to rout the defending conference champions. In the opening game against DeLand, Lake Mary got off to a bad start and wound up losing in straight games, 15-5, 15-0.

"I guess the first game jitters had a lot to do with it," Lake Mary coach Cindy Henry said. "We would make one mistake and then roll over and die."

DeLand had little trouble getting past the Rams as it needed only three different servers to score all of its points in the second game while Lake Mary won only two serves and the gave them right back without scoring a point.

"Our receiving of serves was terrible," Henry said. Henry said that Robyn Pinnock was the best of a few Lady Rams that played well in the first match.

Lake Mary then came back and cruised to a 15-2, 15-10 victory over a young Lyman team. Lyman, last year's Five Star champions with an unbeaten conference record, lost all of its starters and its top three reserves from the '82 season.

Behind the strong play of Laura and Peggy Glass, Lake Mary breezed to a 15-2 triumph in the first game. The "Glass Towers" combined for nine of the team's 15 service points. In the second game, the good looking seniors combined for 11 of the Lady Rams' points.

"Lyman looked like we did against DeLand," Henry said. "They made a lot of mistakes and gave us a lot of points."

"We had a hard time getting started," first-year Lyman coach Anelle Griffin said. "We didn't play that well at all."

McBroom, Cheeseman Duel Again

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

It's still too early to get hyped up about the second cross country meet of the year. But when you're got Ken Cheeseman trying to avenge a loss to Doug McBroom, well, no hype is really needed.

That will be the matchup Thursday afternoon when the Edgewater Invitational will be run off at the Trinity Prep course in Goldenrod. Junior varsity action begins at 4 p.m. The varsity 4A boys will toe the mark at 6:30 p.m., a half hour after the varsity girls.

McBroom, a Lyman senior, came from 40 yards back Saturday at Seminole Community College to upset Cheeseman by five seconds in the Greyhound Opener. Cheeseman is no stranger to upsets, having pulled off a similar stunner against Winter Park's Brian Jaeger last spring in the 4A state mile.

"I think I kind of startled Kenny," said McBroom about his first ever win over the Lake Howell distance ace. "Kenny has an excellent kick and when he pulled away from (Oak Ridge's) George Gardner, he probably thought he had it won."

In past years Cheeseman always did. McBroom has always been able to stay with him for the majority of the race — whether it be the mile or the three mile — then Cheeseman would turn on the kick and it would be "Good-Bye McBroom."

Saturday, however, was different. Avis finally caught and passed Hertz. "The heat and humidity had a lot to do with it," said McBroom. "I still don't think Kenny is used to the Florida humidity. It doesn't bother me."

"Coach (David Huggins) has worked us for strength and endurance. I've added about five pounds and gotten stronger over the summer. I think I've matured as a runner," he added.

Cheeseman, no doubt, will attest to that last statement. Although the heat gave McBroom an edge, he said he knows it will be different Thursday when the Silver Hawk redhead comes back to claim his place in the sun.

"I won't be able to play as much catchup as I did Saturday," said McBroom. "I was going to go out strong, but I wasn't going to go out like a rabbit with the leaders."

Cheeseman and Gardner did go out like rabbits and McBroom pulled his tortoise act and caught them at the end. "My splits were very even," pointed out McBroom. "I don't think his were. When I caught him, he looked kind of pale. Kenny was sick a couple weeks ago, and I don't know if he's completely well."

While the girls' portion of the meet can't match the Cheeseman-McBroom duel, there should be an interesting matchup between Trinity Prep junior Adrienne Polittowicz and Lake Mary freshman. The two girls will be running in different races — Polittowicz 3A and under and Kingsbury 4A — but all eyes will be peered to the times.

Polittowicz ran a 12:06 two mile on her home course while Kingsbury reeled off a 12:13 at SCC, a much tougher course, according to Lake Mary coach Mike Gibson. "The Trinity course is the easiest in the area," he said. "It's just a flat out course. There could be a 30- to 40-second difference from SCC."

Which makes it too bad they aren't in the same race since Polittowicz is ranked first in the county and Kingsbury is second. Thirteenth second behind Kingsbury is Lake Brantley's Kathryn Hayward, who may be the best of the trio. Hayward is a senior and she didn't get started until after the SCC summertime Jamboree.

After Hayward on the honor roll comes Lake Howell's "Fabulous Freshmen" trio of Lisa Samocki along with Martha and Mary Fonseca. Samocki is has a 13:09, while Martha is at 13:17 and Mary is at 13:23.

America's Cup Yachts Poised To Begin Finals

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI) — America's Cup rivals in their fragile boats sailed into gusty 25 knot winds today with showers and fog expected, while Liberty and Australia II crewmen both claimed superiority in the rough waters.

The National Weather Service issued a small craft advisory, warning the visibility was expected to drop to one mile or less in Rhode Island Sound where the delicate 65-foot-long boats waited for the gun to signal the 10-minute starting sequence.

The two yachts, towed by tenders, headed to the 24.3 mile course 7.9 miles southeast of the Brenton Reef Light Tower. Along came hundreds of spectator craft packed with supporters disappointed that Tuesday's match was postponed by the New York Yacht Club's Race Committee because of shifty winds.

Eternal Optimist Sparky Still Chasing Orioles

Sparky Anderson give up? You gotta be kidding. He never gives up. At least not as long as there's any life at all. He hears how everyone is saying no one can beat the Baltimore Orioles, how they've got the best balanced ball club in both leagues and how they're as good as in.

Sparky Anderson isn't going to stand there on the street corner arguing with you. He knows how good the Orioles are, but he says the same thing Yogi Berra does. It's never over until it's over. And the way he sees it, his second place Detroit Tigers still have a chance. Maybe not the best one in the world, but they're not finished yet.

"We got a shot at 'em," Anderson said before Monday night's game with the Indians, which his Tigers started 3 1/2 games back of the Orioles in the American League East. "The Orioles have a good club, but they still gotta play seven games with Milwaukee, seven with us and four with New York. If they lose five straight and we win five in a row, their lead can disappear in less than a week. I don't say that'll happen, but it could and you have to look at it that way.

"If we were in fourth place, with two other clubs in front of us besides Baltimore, we'd be in rough shape.

Sports Parade

By MILTON RICHMAN

But we're right behind the Orioles and that gives us a chance."

Last year, the Tigers finished fourth, 12 games behind the first place Brewers in their division. They wound up only four games over .500. Right now, they're 19 games over. Not only have his players performed better on the field, but they have improved mentally, according to Anderson.

"That's the big difference with us," he explained. "We got down there in the trenches and won when we had to win. Take our last road trip, for example. We lost our first game with the Indians, then the first game of a double-header with them the following day. We were down, 3-1, in the eighth inning of the second game, but we pulled it out. Then we went to Milwaukee and lost the first game of a double-header with them, 2-1, but we won the second game by the same score. Those kids we have don't quit. They won't quit, either. Baltimore is gonna have to play. The Orioles look very good now. I'm not taking anything away from them, but they're not in yet. Until they close the door, they haven't done anything."

All this is typical Sparky Anderson. If guys like Chuck Tanner and Tommy Lasorda are the champion optimists among major league managers, then the Tigers' pilot has to be the undisputed No. 1 contender. He always looks on the bright side. Of everything. Anderson claims his background is primarily responsible for that.

"If you gave me one of those IQ tests, I don't think I'd finish very high," he ventured. "But when it comes to knowing myself, where I come from and what it takes to get there, I think I'd do all right in any kind of evaluation. Starting out in my life, I was lucky to know men like the late Lefty Phillips, who was like a father to me, and Rod Dedeaux. They had a great influence on me and on my thinking. Later on, so did others in baseball. People like the George Kissells, the George Schergers and the Charlie Dressens. When you get a chance to be around men like that, some of their enthusiasm and knowledge has to rub off on you.

"Look, I've said it so many times, I'm the luckiest guy in the world. I don't feel I'm anyone who should be asked for his autograph or who should be put on a pedestal because I'm a major league manager. I know where I come from."

Anderson now makes his home in Thousand Oaks, Calif., but he originally came from Bridgewater, S.D., and makes it a point to go back there from time to time, to see his old friends and maybe to make sure he never forgets his roots.

"There were only something like 600 people in Bridgewater when I was growing up there and, physically speaking, it hasn't changed that much," he said. "It still has one little Main Street. You got the school on the right and the little jail house next to it. I don't think they ever lock the door. I used to go in there now and then just to talk with the sheriff. Then there's the hardware store and the egg factory where the farmers raise the chickens. I lived two blocks down the road. You should've seen those lilac trees in our yard. They were the best you ever saw."

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Hartsfield's TD Run Leads Rams' Frosh Past Sanford

Anthony Hartsfield broke loose for a 55-yard touchdown run in the third quarter Tuesday to lead the Lake Mary freshman to a 6-0 victory over Seminole in the first game of the season for both teams at Lake Mary High School.

"They could never punch it over on us," said Seminole coach John Brady. "But they beat us with the long one. He (Hartsfield) slipped out of three tacklers. We just didn't wrap up."

The Rams, 1-0, host Lake Brantley next week at 7:30 p.m. Seminole, 0-1, has two weeks off before hosting the freshman Patriots on Sept. 27 at 7 p.m.

The game was a scoreless battle in the slish as both teams had trouble keeping their feet due to a downpour before the game. A fumbled punt gave the Rams good field position at the Seminole five-yard line in the first quarter, but linebacker Keith Redwine and defensive end Sonny Osborn turned in two key stops to hold the Rams.

The game remained scoreless until the midway point of the third quarter when Lake Mary quarterback Shane Letterio ran an option right and pitched to Hartsfield. The powerful freshman, who is a younger brother of Ram varsity quarterback Ray, turned the corner, shed three tacklers and romped into the end zone. The extra point kick was wide, but Lake Mary had all the points it would need.

"We had some great defensive plays," said Brady. "But we need another week to get the offense going."

Antoine Cockerun led the Tribe with five tackles and seven assists. Keith Redwine had five and five while defensive tackle Troy Turner collected four tackles and five assists. Osborn added two and two.

Stewart Gordon led the Seminole runners with 60 yards in 11 attempts.

Linebacker Ryan Lisle and defensive end Oscar "Big O" Merthie were the big hitters for the Rams.

Ex-Indiana Gridder Killed

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (UPI) — The Monroe County Coroner said there is evidence police shot to wound rather than kill in the death of former Indiana University football player Denver Smith.

Smith, 24, was killed during a scuffle with police Monday at the municipal garage and service center. Smith, a part-time student with a wife and baby daughter, was shot four times and pronounced dead on the scene by Deputy Coroner Dennis Troy.

"There is evidence that they (police) were firing to try to reduce his activity, not to kill him, although the final shot did hit a major blood vessel in the chest," said the coroner, Dr. John Pless.

Pless said an initial autopsy showed three gunshot wounds in Smith's arms and sides, and a fourth in his chest, which appeared to be the fatal shot.

"What contributed to his behavior is still a question," Pless said. "Something was affecting his brain. It was not entirely normal."

Deputy Police Chief Gary Clendenning said the incident began when police received a call that a man, later identified as Smith, allegedly had threatened a motorist with a tire iron.

Officers found Smith near a shed on the municipal property and a fight ensued, during which police said Smith gained control of a policeman's gun. They said several officers then fired at him.

Stewart, Teague Lift 080

Shayne Stewart and Matt Teague combined for all seven of Sanford 080's goals as coach Dr. Roger Stewart's under 10 division team routed the Conway Crushers, 7-3, in Sanford 080's opening game of the Sanford Soccer Club season.

Stewart outscored the entire Conway team as he pumped in four goals while Teague matched Conway's output with three goals. John Letchworth also had a fine offensive game as he contributed three assists. Goalie Jason Walraven led the defense, as he allowed just one goal and blocked three shots that were potential goals.

Sanford 080 will try to make it two in a row Saturday when it hosts Downtown Orlando at the Sanford Airport "B" field.

Lake Mary's Robyn Christensen shows a lot of form and concentration in the Lady Rams match against DeLand Tuesday night.

... Lady Rams

 Lake Mary looked as if it would make the second game look as easy as the first as the Lady Rams jumped out to a 14-4 lead. But, Lyman came back behind the strong serving of Tina Warden who served six points to cut the Rams' lead to 14-10. But, Lake Mary regained the serve and put the game away before Lyman had a chance to get it back.

"We got all of our serves in against Lyman. Laura and Peggy did a great job," Henry said. "Their serving and Lisa Simkins' setting was a big asset for us against Lyman."

The Lady Rams will be back in action Thursday when it hosts Oviedo. JV action starts at 3:30 p.m. with the varsity scheduled to start at 4:30.

"We're going to have a tough practice today (Wednesday)," Henry said. "There's a lot we have to work on."

While Lake Mary split its two matches Tuesday, Lyman dropped both of its matches. The Lady Greyhounds also lost to DeLand, 15-7, 15-6, giving DeLand two victories for the night.

"Our passing game was OK against DeLand," Griffin said. "But we couldn't do anything with it once we got it to the front line."

Lyman will also be back in action on Thursday as it travels to Apopka for a 3:30 match.

Lake Howell's Lady Silver Hawks opened the '83 season in fine fashion with a 15-8, 15-9 victory over Daytona Beach Mainland. The offensive hitting of Christie Scott and Kathy and Beth Saunders highlighted the match for the Lady Hawks according to coach Jo Luciano.

In the first game, Caryn Krumweide had an exceptional serving game as she had a string of nine straight service points as Lake Howell jumped out to a 9-0 lead. Mainland came back to cut the lead to 9-7, but Krumweide came back to serve two more points and give the Lady Hawks a little breathing room, 11-7.

Eileen Thiebaut then served the next three points with a spike by Kathy Saunders the big hit in the rally that gave the Hawks a 14-7 lead. After Mainland trimmed it to 14-8, Kathy Saunders came back to serve the last point to give Lake Howell the game.

The second game was a back and forth struggle for most of the way. With the score tied at 2-2 lead, Beth Saunders served four straight points, the last one an ace, to give the Lady Hawks a 6-2 lead.

With Lake Howell clinging to a 11-9 lead, Kathy Barma stepped in and served the next four points as the Hawks rallied to a 15-9 victory.

Lake Howell's next game is Tuesday at Apopka with the junior varsity beginning at 4 p.m.

Expos Regain NL West Lead; Blazing Birds Sweep Twinbill

CHICAGO (UPI) — When Montreal right-hander Bob James was the Expos' top draft pick in 1976, it was generally accepted the Glendale, Calif., native would be a certain success.

James, however, bounced around the Montreal farm system with one loss in 13 appearances for the Expos in three different seasons.

"They even sent me to Detroit last year to see if I could get my act together," said James, who beat the Chicago Cubs 5-2 Tuesday for his first major league triumph. James relieved starter Scott Sanderson in the Cubs' fifth.

The victory, combined with Philadelphia's loss Tuesday night, put the Expos back into first place by a half-game in the National League East.

"I have always felt I could become a good pitcher, but when I look back, my inability to throw strikes and a bad injury to my pitching arm put me on hold," James said, noting a broken bone put him out of action for the entire 1981 season.

"My confidence never left me, though," James added.

After playing for Wichita earlier this season, the Expos got James back from Detroit, and Montreal manager Bill Virdon gave him another chance.

"James has always been able to throw strikes," Virdon said. "The fact that he hasn't been able to win up here is just a case of his not being able to mature and getting enough work."

James pitched 4 1-3 innings and had a career-high six strikeouts while allowing just one hit.

"It has not been a case of my being disillusioned or giving up," he said. "The Montreal management has continued to be positive and told me it was always better to be pitching, even if I had to do it in the minors."

Cubs' starter Dickie Noles, 5-10, gave up a leadoff single to Tim Raines in the first inning. Raines then stole his 71st base and scored on Andre Dawson's triple to the center-field wall. Dawson scored when second baseman Dan Rohn bobbled Al Oliver's grounder. After Gary Carter reached on a forceout, Noles walked Tim Wallach and Francona doubled into the right-field corner, scoring Carter and Wallach.

Sanderson gave up a single to Larry Bowa and walked pinch hitter Jerry Morales in the fifth. Rohn then singled home Bowa and Bill Buckner added an RBI single off first baseman Oliver's glove. James then replaced Sanderson and walked Mel Hall to load the bases before retiring Keith Moreland on a groundout to end the inning.

The Expos added a run in the ninth when Oliver singled in Raines.

Pirates 5, Cardinals 0
 At Pittsburgh, though no one will win the National League East in a walk, the Pittsburgh Pirates appear willing to settle for a limp.

With Bill Madlock and Johnnie Ray making key contributions despite injuries, Rick Rhoden fired a five-hitter to help the Pirates post a 6-0 victory Tuesday night over the St. Louis Cardinals.

The decision, combined with Montreal's triumph over Chicago and Philadelphia's loss to New York, kept the Pirates in third place in the National League East, one game behind the Expos.

Ray was playing with a bad throwing elbow, which developed in mid-August and which has been diagnosed as either tendinitis or bursitis. He sat out a few games a couple of weeks ago but is reluctant to miss any games during the stretch drive of September.

"Hey, I'm not 100 percent, but neither are guys like Madlock and (pitcher John) Candelaria," Ray said. "Those guys are key players, and when they can go out and play hurt, it's a big inspiration to you."

Rhoden, 11-12, used a no-windup delivery to walk three and struck out six in his sixth complete game of the season. Rhoden allowed only two runners to reach as far as second base and was supported by a 10-hit attack off six pitchers.

Madlock, limping badly with a pulled calf tendon suffered a week ago, started his second straight game and stayed in long enough to double home the final of four third-inning runs off St. Louis starter Joaquin Andujar, 6-14. Jim Morrison came in to pinch run for Madlock and then took over third base.

Mets 5, Phillies 1
 At Philadelphia, Darryl Strawberry drove in three runs and Mike Fitzgerald became the 48th player in major-league history to hit a homer in his first at-bat, helping New York tumble the Phillies into second place. Walt Terrell, 7-7, was the winner and Tony Gheflin, 1-1, took the loss.

Expos 5, Cubs 2
 At Chicago, Terry Francona capped a four-run first with a two-run double and reliever Bob James picked up his first major-league victory to lead the Expos back into first place. James, 1-0, allowed one hit in 4 1-3 innings and struck out six. Dickie Noles fell to 5-10.

Reds 6, Braves 0
 At Cincinnati, Mario Soto pitched a three-hitter for his third shutout of the season and Nick Esasky homered to lead the Reds. Soto, 16-12, struck out nine and walked two in his 17th complete game. He became the first Reds' pitcher to win 16 since Tom Seaver in 1979. Pascual Perez, 13-8, took the loss.

Dodgers 5, Astros 1
 At Houston, Steve Sax drove in two runs to back the six-hit pitching of Jerry Reuss, 11-10, to help the Dodgers. The decision, coupled with Atlanta's loss to Cincinnati, put the Dodgers four games ahead of the Braves and dropped the Astros 8 1/2 games behind in the West.

Padres 4, Giants 3
 At San Diego, Kevin McReynolds singled into the left field corner with two out in the ninth to break a 3-3 tie. The victory went to Sid Monge, 8-2, who entered the game in the eighth inning. Greg Minton, 7-11, took the loss. Tony Gwynn ran his hitting streak to 21, tying the NL season high.

A.L./N.L. Baseball

BOSTON (UPI) — Winning plays are coming in many forms and from many different players as the Baltimore Orioles continue to roll toward the Eastern Division title.

At Boston's venerable Fenway Park Tuesday night, the Orioles notched their third consecutive doubleheader sweep with the help of a Red Sox castoff and an untended rookie pitcher. They thus increased their lead to 5 1/2 games over Detroit.

BOB JAMES GARY ROENICKE

In the opener, Jim Dwyer's double cleared the bases with two out in the 12th inning to lift the Orioles to a 7-4 victory. In the nightcap, Bill Swaggerty, appearing in his second major-league game, pitched 5 2-3 innings of six-hit emergency relief and Gary Roenicke smashed a grand slam in the eighth inning to lead Baltimore to a 7-1 triumph.

With two out in the 12th inning of the first game, Dwyer, who began his career with Boston, drilled a 2-and-0 delivery off the left-field wall just out of the reach of Jim Rice.

"I guess you could say we caught a break in the first game," said Orioles manager Joe Altobelli. "It's not easy to win in extra innings on the road."

Tigers 3, Indians 2
 At Detroit, the Tigers showed they haven't given up by winning their fifth straight. Lance Parrish and Kirk Gibson drove in first-inning runs and Jack Morris pitched a five-hitter for his 19th victory. Morris raised his league-leading strikeout total to 207.

Yankees 2, Brewers 1
 At New York, Ken Griffey's third hit of the game, an eighth-inning single, drove home Willie Randolph with the tie-breaking run. With two out in the eighth, Randolph had bounced a double past third baseman Paul Molitor. Rich Gossage, 12-5, pitched the final 1 1-3 innings for the victory. Mike Caldwell, 11-11, suffered his third loss this season to New York.

White Sox 5, Twins 1
 At Minneapolis, Scott Fletcher collected a solo home run and an RBI single and Julio Cruz banged a two-run single as Chicago won its eighth straight and reduced its magic number in the West to three. Rich Dotson, 18-7, posted his sixth straight victory.

Royals 4, Angels 3
 At Anaheim, Calif., Bud Black, 9-8, carried a one-hitter into the ninth but needed Dan Quisenberry's major-league record 39th save to stave off the Angels. Black allowed a three-run homer to Ron Jackson in the ninth before Quisenberry got the last two outs to break the market set by Detroit's John Miller in 1973.

Blue Jays 6, Mariners 4
 At Seattle, Jorge Orta capped a five-run third with a three-run homer and Willie Upshaw had two RBI to lead the Blue Jays. Luis Leal, 12-10, scattered eight hits over 7 2-3 innings for the victory and Roy Lee Jackson notched his fifth save. Bob Stoddard, 8-15, was the loser.

A's 6, Rangers 5
 At Oakland, Calif., Rickey Henderson stole three bases to reach a major-league milestone and Dwayne Murphy hit a three-run homer to power the A's. Henderson's three steals gave him 101 stolen bases, making him the first player in major-league history to steal 100 or more in three different seasons.

Pell Says, 'Beware Of Sycamores'

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — Florida is ranked 15th in the nation this week, but Gator Coach Charley Pell says his team must beware of unbeaten and unknown Indiana State.

The Sycamores crushed Northern Iowa, 26-0, last week and carry a 2-0 record into Saturday night's meeting with the Gators at Florida Field.

Florida is 1-0-1 with a season-opening win over Miami and a 19-19 tie with Southern California last week. Game time is 7 p.m. EDT.

"The thing that worries us about Indiana State is that they run the option out of the 'I' (formation) the way Nebraska does," Pell said Tuesday, noting Sycamore Coach Dennis Ratz is a 1968 Cornhusker graduate.

Indiana State is an NCAA Division I-AA team, but Pell said they bear little resemblance to Florida's most recent I-AA opponent, West Texas State. The Gators destroyed West Texas, 77-14, last year.

"I don't think you can compare them with West Texas

College Football

State in any way," said Pell. "Indiana State is a much bigger and faster team. Their offensive line is bigger than our offensive line was in '79 and '80."

Pell seemed more concerned with Indiana State than with a possible letdown by the Gators because of the frustrating tie with Southern Cal.

Pell said his club enjoyed a "very good" workout Monday following their disappointing trip West.

The Gators led Southern Cal 19-13 as time expired Saturday, but the Trojans got another chance when Florida was penalized for having too many players on the field.

The Trojans scored a touchdown on a 25-yard pass with no time remaining, but missed the extra-point that would have given them the victory.

Pell called the contest one of the "craziest" he's ever seen. The tie dropped the Gators three places — from 12th to 15th — in this week's United Press International coaches poll.

Pell announced that freshman Walter Odom would replace sophomore Tom Peddie at tight end. Odom, a 6-foot-5, 215-pounder from Miami, played sparingly in Florida's opener and was used considerably against Southern Cal.

Sophomore running back John L. Williams, who suffered a knee injury in the last preseason scrimmage and didn't play against Miami, ran for 47 yards in the Southern Cal game but is doubtful for Indiana State.

Pell said it would be "sensible to hold Williams out of the game" because of the strain Florida Field's artificial turf might put on Williams.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Begin's Resignation Expected Later This Week

TEL AVIV, Israel (UPI) — Prime Minister Menachem Begin's health is improving and he intends to hand in his letter of resignation later this week, his spokesman said today.

Uri Prera said Begin has been working out of a small sitting room on the second floor of his official residence in Jerusalem, receiving reports and handling emergencies. But his weeklong seclusion continued to raise questions today about his health and ability to function as Israel's leader.

Although he is under no legal obligation to hand deliver the letter, Begin believes anything less than a personal meeting with President Chaim Herzog "would lack dignity," the newspaper said.

Draft Law Passed

United Press International

A second group of 1,000 Salvadoran troops arrived in Honduras for a crash course in anti-guerrilla warfare from U.S. Green Berets. At a U.N. Security Council meeting, Nicaragua denounced the U.S. policy of "war and aggression."

Nicaragua's Council of State, controlled by the leftist Sandinista Party, passed a mandatory military draft registration law Tuesday despite resistance from the Catholic Bishops Council and several opposition parties.

Japan Wants Compensation

United Press International

Japan disclosed today it will seek compensation from Moscow for its citizens aboard the South Korean airliner downed by a Russian warplane, and Ireland imposed a token sanction on Soviet flights to protest the attack.

In Tokyo, a Foreign Ministry source said the government's formal demand for reparations would be independent of claims filed against Korean Air Lines by families of the 28 Japanese victims.

Spying

Soviets Say Ousted Diplomat Counted On 'Humaneness'

MOSCOW (UPI) — A U.S. diplomat accused of spying had counted on "Soviet humaneness" by using his wife and infant daughter as cover for his espionage work, the Soviet news media charges.

The Communist Party newspaper Pravda and Soviet television Tuesday linked the arrest of Leningrad Vice Consul Lon David Augustenborg and his wife with American attempts to penetrate Soviet borders.

Their arrests and Soviet orders for them to leave the country generated widespread publicity, diverting attention from a worldwide furor over the Soviet downing of a Korean jetliner and related boycotts and protests.

A U.S. Embassy official said the timing of the arrests "speaks for itself."

The Soviet media said Augustenborg claimed to have packed his wife and daughter into their family car Sunday for an outing to an American-owned dacha in Zelenogorsk, 25 miles from Leningrad.

"The actual aim of the trip was quite different — to conduct the espionage activity deliberately designed in detail by the U.S. intelligence agencies," said Boris Kalygin, Soviet television's political commentator.

Agents of the Soviet security service KGB arrested Augustenborg and his wife Denise while they were en route to the dacha.

In Washington, the State Department "vigorously" protested what it called the physical mistreatment of the couple by Soviet officials. The department gave no details.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman in Moscow declined to say whether the Augustenborgs already had left the Soviet Union after being declared persona non grata.

Augustenborg took with him his little daughter when going out for an espionage operation in order to make it appear as a pleasure trip out of town. He calculated on Soviet humaneness, our love for children," Pravda said.

The object of his mission, Pravda continued, "was to take away a spy container planted at the roadside" by a CIA-recruited Soviet named A. Ivanov, who the newspaper said was giving away Soviet naval secrets.

"When their car braked to a stop near a milestone where the container was planted, Mr. Augustenborg did not venture to go out and get it," Pravda said.

"He sent his wife. That was again to distract attention with a calculation of Soviet humaneness. They know our respect for women."

The television evening news said the Augustenborgs were caught "red-handed" picking up the container and wrapping it in a baby blanket, despite the fact they denied the blanket belonged to them and said they had no knowledge of any container.

The television showed the alleged contents of the tin container, including instructions to possible new recruits from the CIA, chemicals to develop messages and special forms with questions to be asked by anyone recruited into the CIA agent network.

In confirming the incident, the State Department revealed that two Soviet air attaches were expelled quietly from the United States in August. The Soviet move appeared to be in retaliation for the U.S. action.

Despite New Power To Order Air Strikes

Marines Not Expected To Go On Offensive

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Reagan administration does not expect the Marines in Lebanon to take the offensive against Syrian troops despite the authority given officers to order protective air strikes and naval barrages.

"I don't force us going to war against Syria," one aide said.

"We're still in a defensive role," he said. "We still believe that we can get a cease-fire and the Lebanese government can extend its control over a greater area" in Lebanon, the aide said.

"I don't see a basic push to go on the offensive ... although the Syrians are stimulating aggressive acts," he said.

Other officials explained that the Syrians refuse "to recognize the legitimacy of the Lebanese government and are very critical of the agreement with Israel. They also accuse the government of Lebanon of allying itself with the Christian Phalange to take advantage of other sectarian groups.

President Reagan authorized the local Marine commanders to call in tactical air strikes from the carrier USS Eisenhower in the fleet sitting offshore from Lebanon. Reagan also broadened the order for Marines, calling on them to protect all American personnel in Lebanon as well as themselves and suggested that U.S. air power would be used to defend the British, Italian and French troops in the peace-keeping force.

Reagan acted after his key military and diplomatic advisers decided the situation in Lebanon was deteriorating and the threat to U.S. citizens was increasing with the Druze, Palestinian and Syrian forces taking the offensive in the Shouf mountains, officials said.

In addition, Shiites and "communist militias" were becoming more aggressive in the Beirut area. Officials said the Lebanese communists were allied with the Druze and Palestinian radicals and "all were supplied by Syria."

They said these forces were only three miles from the U.S. embassy residence and the government palace at Baabda, and have gained control of territory overlooking Beirut.

"Beirut then would have been effectively surrounded ... so that was the reason for the series of (White House) meetings ... to reinforce our objectives and to look again at our objectives," officials said.

As for the Israelis, officials said "they left all their bases covered" in the Shouf mountains when they redeployed their forces to southern Lebanon. Officials said the Israelis "had domestic pressures and their religious holidays" were coming up when they left the mountain region.

The White House still hopes to avoid seeking congressional approval for the troops to remain in Lebanon under the War Powers Resolution. Implementation of the act would permit Congress to vote to withdraw the troops within 90 days.

Such a time limit would be "a grave error" and "almost guarantee" increased attacks by factions opposed to the Lebanese government, Assistant Secretary of State Nicholas Veliotis told Congress Tuesday.

Gen. Paul Kelly, Marine commandant, agreed with the administration position that his troops do not face "imminent hostilities" as envisioned by the War Powers Act.

Speaker Thomas O'Neill said the House Foreign Affairs Committee would act on a resolution this week, but its final form has not been decided.

Effects Of Drug, Alcohol Use On Family Topic Of Talk

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

The effects of the chemical dependency of one person on other members of the family will be the topic of a talk tonight by Mary Lee Zawadzki, director of Bayshore on the Gulf drug and alcohol rehabilitation center in Dunedin, 7:30 p.m. at the Sanford Civic Center, 401 E. Seminole Boulevard, Sanford.

She will also show the motion picture film, "Another Chance."

Appearing here at the invitation of the Seminole County Parent to Parent Program, Inc., her presentation is free to the public. Chemical dependency is the abuse of illegal or prescription drugs, alcohol, or a combination.

"When one member of the family is chemically dependent," said Yvonne Allan, coordinator of Parent to Parent, "eventually most of the other members of the family will become co-dependents, emotionally unstable and turn to some type of drug as well."

"As a child of alcoholic parents her personal recovery from co-dependency is a vital factor in her ability to educate and treat the family of a chemically dependent person," Mrs. Allan said. "It takes co-dependents from 3-5 years to recover from the emotional problems caused by problem."

Mrs. Zawadzki received her clinical internship experience at Bowling Green Inn, Johnson Institute, Metropolitan Medical Center, and Faulkner Institute.

The film, "Another Chance," and the interviews with Mrs. Zawadzki and Sharon Wegscheider are under consideration by 20/20, 60 Minutes, and the Phil Donahue Show.

The Parent to Parent Program, which has been functioning for about a year with a small group of volunteers operating out of an office in the Seminole County Courthouse, was recently incorporated. They have applied for some grants to help fund the program and allow them to hire professional staff.

For further information Mrs. Allan can be contacted at the courthouse (323-4330, Ext. 480) Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. or at home at 644-1464.

Cook Of The Week

Nurse Packs Nutrition Into Meals

By Lou Childers
Herald Correspondent

Little did Linda Thompson dream that when she attended St. Rita's Hospital in Lima, Ohio, to study for her LPN degree that her strong convictions about good nutrition would become more acute. That was back in 1967-68. Her convictions are even stronger today.

Linda says, "I grew up on a farm in Hamler, Ohio, about 50 miles south of Toledo, and we had plenty of fresh vegetables from our garden." Now, Linda still insists that her daughters, Shelley, 13, and Lezley, 7, have "fresh" instead of canned because she doesn't want them to have the many additives that are known carcinogenics.

Linda tends to adhere to a precept she found in a cookbook she purchased during an eight-week nutrition class taught at the church she attends, First Baptist of Winter Park. The "Out of the Sugar Rut" cookbook by Joanie Huggins states, "Make nutritious cooking a fun family adventure. Let the children know why you are concerned about their health...and take responsibility for what is brought into the home."

Linda's older daughter Shelley completed a science project last year on "How Sugar Affects the Body," and after a few trips to the library for her research materials, the entire family knows a lot more reasons for "eating well."

The first thing most people think when they investigate healthful eating habits and "health foods" is, "Oh, no! I'll never be able to have anything sweet again." Linda has put this myth to rest for her daughters by providing them with desserts such as Apple Crisp, sweetened with honey, and a snack, Linda's Granola, which can double for a morning cereal. The granola she prepares is loaded with good-for-you ingredients such as oats, wheat germ, sunflower seeds, and nuts, but still it satisfies the "sweet tooth" naturally by including honey, coconut, dates and raisins.

Linda moved to Florida in 1970 and she has worked for Drs. Albert, Ziesman and Berringer in Altamonte Springs for the past four and one-half years. She says, "Being a nurse has just made me more aware of nutrition." She believes a lot of people may be ill because of poor eating habits and including too many foods loaded with preservatives, artificial colorings, etc. She also affirms that she feels better since "not using any white flour, white sugar and less salt."

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wayne Brown

Miss Stultz, D.W. Brown Repeat Vows

Luella Mae Stultz and Donald Wayne Brown were married Aug. 27, at 4:30 p.m., at the First Presbyterian Church, DeBary. The Rev. Lewis Bullard performed the candlelight and double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.H. Stultz. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Willie Brown, 1005 Grove Manor Drive, Sanford.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her vows an original candlelight satin back crepe gown and veil created by her mother. Fashioned along the empire silhouette, the gown featured a Chantilly galloon lace bodice and long galloon lace sleeves. The skirt gracefully cascaded into a sweeping lace trimmed train that was also appliqued with antique heirloom silk motifs. A candlelight satin back crepe cap, studded with seed pearls and bordered in Chantilly galloon lace, secured her three-tiered candlelight tulle veil. She wore her grandmother's pearls and pearl earrings and carried a cascade of Cymbidium orchids, ivory rosebuds, baby's breath and ivy.

Mrs. Julia Perez of Bradenton, attended the bride as matron of honor. She wore a lilac taffeta gown overlaid with lilac organza, styled along empire lines. Her headpiece was a lilac picture hat and she carried a single silk magnolia showered with lavender streamers.

Mrs. Marietta Deilus of Deltona was the bridesmaid. Her attire and flowers were identical to the honor attendant's.

John Noel III, Sanford, served the bridegroom as best man. David Kerr, Winter Haven, was the groomsmen.

Whitney Ann Best, the bride's cousin, Bradenton, was flower girl. Ring bearer was Donald W. Brown, the bridegroom's cousin, Casselberry.

The reception was held at the Florida Power Clubhouse, Enterprise.

Following a wedding trip to Sebastian, the newlyweds are making their home in Osteen. The bride is a registered nurse at West Volusia Memorial Hospital, DeLand. The bridegroom is a carman at American Railway Services, Sanford.

Let Rich Mom Pay Own Way

DEAR ABBY: My mother, who is 85 years old, is failing in health and fast approaching the time when she can no longer live alone. She has over $100,000 in savings, but she refuses to spend a dime of it because she wants to leave an "inheritance."

Dear Abby

I am willing to take her into my home, although it is so small to accommodate three people comfortably. My husband is opposed to giving up our privacy and thinks my mother should spend her money on the care she needs.

We have no designs on her savings, and I agree with my husband that no amount of money is worth sacrificing our privacy. But Abby, how can I turn my back on my mother if she insists on living with me? She regards all nursing facilities as "sties." I'm afraid if I recommend one she would interpret it as an act of abandonment. I am frustrated and upset worrying about this.

What is your advice?

TORN IN MASS.

DEAR TORN: Since you can't accommodate her in your home and she can well afford to pay for her own care, suggest that she employ a live-in attendant to look after her in her own home. And don't feel guilty. Every 85-year-old person should be so fortunate.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I had a very loving relationship almost every night. (I think you know what I mean.) If it matters, we're both in our late 20s.

Recently, my husband started a great paying job. Now the problem: Every two weeks he has to work swing shift, and he's exhausted when he gets home. I work from 7:30 a.m. until 4 p.m. and don't see him until he gets home around 2 a.m., so we don't have any time for lovemaking. We want to be more than just weekend lovers.

How do other couples manage their lives when they work overlapping shifts.

NOT SWINGING WITH THE SWING

DEAR NOT SWINGING: They somehow make do. And when they can't make do, they don't.

DEAR ABBY: I'm 34, fairly attractive, have a good personality and a sense of humor. I've never been married, and that is my mother's problem. We went to a friend's wedding (her second) and Mom was del may marry, but I'm not desperate. I was engaged twice, and thank God I didn't marry either one! I don't need a man for security or support. I own my own business and I'm independent. I'm alone, but I'm not lonely.

I like children, but I really wasn't cut out for motherhood. I like men, but am I going to get married to show the world I can get a man — or to make my mother happy?

Abby, please tell parents to enjoy their grown children for the people they are — not for what they want them to be.

SINGLE BUT NOT ALONE

Nolan Ryan Serves Up Secret Sauce

Looking for the ultimate barbecue sauce to use on your outdoor recipes? We have just the answer for you, and it doesn't come from a cookbook or an old family recipe. The perfect barbecue sauce just may have been developed by none other than Nolan Ryan, the famed pitcher who is currently breaking all available records for strikeouts in the major leagues.

When he's not pitching for the Houston Astros, Nolan, his wife, Ruth, and their three children can usually be found at their ranch home in Alvin, Texas; a modest homestead that covers some 80 acres of rolling green countryside. The Ryan's ranch consists of a few horses, barns and out buildings, hay fields, and some of the most beautiful 100 to 150-year-old oak trees found in Texas.

Naturally, a day spent with the Ryans is likely to wind up with family and friends gathered around the charcoal grill, where Nolan will be basting hamburgers, steaks or briskets with a pungent sauce, that up until now, has been a Ryan family secret. After all, a Texas ranch without barbecue is like a double header without hot dogs.

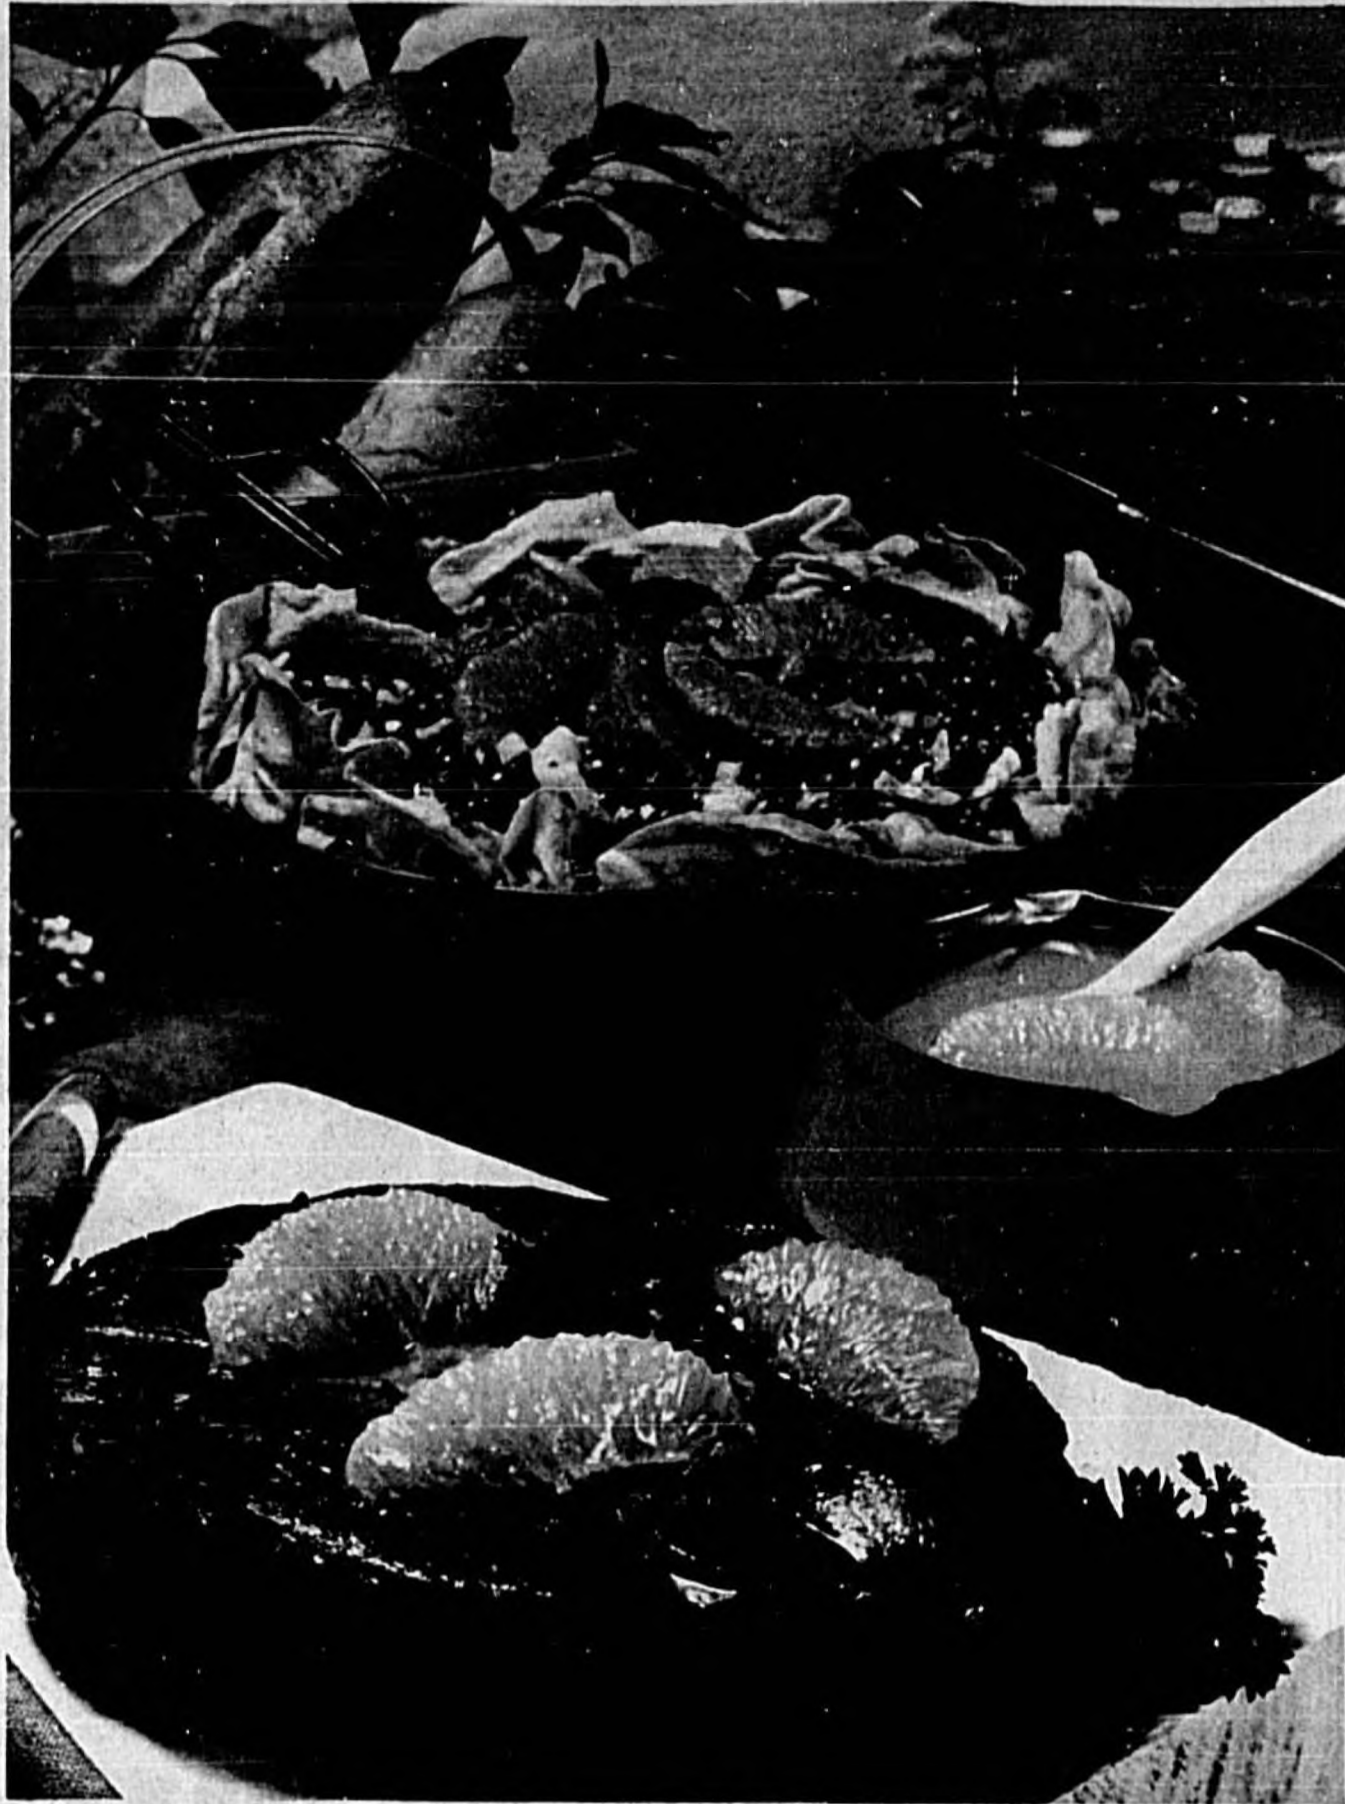

Nolan Ryan's barbecue sauce was developed over time. "At first I used prepared sauces," he said, "but I didn't like the texture. I found they were usually too thick, and they burned too easily on the grill."

Burned barbecue sauce was not Nolan's idea of good barbecue sauce. So he set out to find the right combination of ingredients to make a sauce that would stand up to a hot fire without burning and drying out, and keep all of the flavor and texture intact.

Ruth Ryan says that Nolan's recipe started out as a hit or miss proposition. "He knew what he wanted," she said, "and after several tries, he got it perfect. Now we use it all the time, particularly when friends come over, or when we host a team get-together."

The most important secret for any recipe cooked outdoors on the barbecue grill is to start with a hot fire that gives out a steady, even heat. Nolan uses enough charcoal to cover the bottom of the grill, and then piles the briquets into a mound. He saturates them with a high quality charcoal starter that does not smoke, and adds no oily aftertaste to the food. He waits a minute or so for the starter to soak in, and then lights the fire with a single match. As soon as the briquets are covered with a white ash, usually about half an hour later, he spreads them out, and he's ready to start cooking.

The barbecue sauce is easy to make, and often, Ruth and Nolan prepare while waiting for the fire to reach the right cooking temperature. To make the sauce they use a blender, a large bowl and measuring spoons.

Orange Pea Salad complements grilled ham steak with grapefruit sauce

Bright Citrus Dresses Up Fall Barbecue

Eating outdoors has become a traditional American way to take advantage of beautiful weather. But the food you serve should be rich tasting and satisfying enough to handle exercise-honed, fresh air appetites.

HAM STEAK BARBECUE

- 1 ham steak, 1 1/2 inches thick
- 2 tablespoons salad oil
- 1 cup Florida grapefruit juice from concentrate
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon dried leaf oregano
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1/4 cup soy sauce
- 1 teaspoon grated grapefruit rind
- 2 tablespoons chopped parsley
- 1/4 cup chopped scallions

Place ham steak in shallow dish. Mix remaining ingredients and pour over ham. Cover and refrigerate 2 hours. Remove ham from marinade and place on grill when coals have reached the light gray ash stage, or place 5 to 6 inches from broiler heat. Grill 15 minutes on one side, basting with marinade, turn and grill 10 minutes longer. Remove from grill and serve with Grapefruit sauce. Yield: 6 servings.

Grapefruit Sauce:

- 1/2 cup sugar
  - 2 tablespoons cornstarch
  - 1/4 teaspoon salt
  - 3/4 cup water
  - 1 1/4 cups Florida grapefruit juice from concentrate
  - 1 cup Florida grapefruit sections
- In medium saucepan, mix sugar, cornstarch and salt. Gradually stir in water and grapefruit juice. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and comes to a boil. Simmer 1 minute. Remove from heat and stir in grapefruit sections. Yield: Approximately 3 cups sauce.

ORANGE PEA SALAD

- 2 packages (10 ounces each) frozen peas
  - 1 1/2 cups chopped celery
  - 2 tablespoons chopped fresh mint or 1/2 teaspoon dried leaf tarragon
  - 1/4 cup sour cream
  - 2 teaspoons grated orange rind
  - 2 tablespoons Florida frozen concentrated orange juice, thawed, undiluted
  - 1/2 teaspoon sugar
  - 1 teaspoon salt
  - Salad greens
  - Florida orange sections
- Cook peas according to package directions. Drain and cool. Mix with celery, mint, sour cream, orange rind, concentrated orange juice, sugar and salt. Chill. Turn into bowl lined with salad greens and garnish with orange sections. Yield: 6 servings.

NOLAN RYAN'S SECRET BARBECUE SAUCE

- 1 small onion, diced
- Juice of one lemon
- Half a can of beer
- 2 tablespoons soy sauce
- 2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
- 2 tablespoons brown sugar
- 1 32-oz. bottle of prepared barbecue sauce

The diced onion, lemon juice and beer are mixed well in the blender. When the consistency is smooth and free of lumps, Nolan pours the mixture into the bowl, and stirs in the remaining ingredients. Nolan says that in place of beer, the juice of two lemons rather than one can be used to liquefy the onions.

During cooking, the meat is continuously basted with the sauce. Leftover sauce can be heated, and served at the table for anyone who wants extra, or stored in the refrigerator for the next cookout.

Made right, the sauce is thin and flavorful enough to use as a marinade, and Nolan says that ribs or brisket are especially delicious if soaked in the sauce overnight, and then basted on the grill. "The flavor soaks right into the meat, the grill adds a wonderful smoky flavor, and the sauce doesn't stick or burn. Nothing could be better," Nolan says.

Remember, the best flavors from your charcoal grill come from the unique combination of meat, sauce, charcoal and fresh air. A great recipe, like Nolan Ryan's sauce, cooked outdoors can be a tasty treat for the whole family. But nothing spoils a great recipe faster than adding unwanted flavors from a poor quality charcoal lighter.

Astros baseball pitcher Nolan Ryan and his wife Ruth enjoy cooking outdoors on their ranch in Alvin, Texas, especially when the meat is basted with Nolan's own pungent barbecue sauce.

Have Your Cake And Eat It, Too

It's so easy to make a cake for any reason, according to experts in the Betty Crocker kitchens.

Stir rum flavoring into remaining whipped cream mixture; frost side and top of cake. Sprinkle with peanut brittle; press lightly. Refrigerate until chilled, at least 2 hours. (Or cake can be frozen; thaw in refrigerator 2 to 3 hours before serving.) Refrigerate any remaining cake.

PINEAPPLE FILLING: Fold few drops green food color, 1½ teaspoons vanilla and 1 can (8½ ounces) crushed pineapple, well drained, into 2 cups of the whipped cream mixture.

Microwave Magic

Easy Hints To Convert Recipes

Most of the cooking methods called for in conventional recipes, can be achieved by microwaving too. Those cooking methods that can not be adopted to microwaving are deep-fat frying and oven broiling.

The biggest difference between a conventional recipe and the microwave version is the cooking time and in some recipes, the amount of liquid.

The best advice I can offer to you when adopting a conventional recipe for the microwave, is keep it simple and be familiar with how the food should look. Don't try a recipe you have not prepared a number of times. These hints might also be helpful:

1. Microwaving time will be approximately 1/2 to 1/3 the conventional time.
2. Check the cooking progress frequently.
3. Add a little more liquid to match the consistency of the original recipe.
4. Stir and rotate the food if it appears to be cooking unevenly.
5. Check doneness, use minimum cooking times.
6. The first time you convert a recipe, reduce the amount of salt and add more after tasting if needed.
7. A microwave scale might be a good investment if you want to adopt many recipes. This scale estimates cooking time according to weight of food and power setting.

The following recipe for Hungarian Chicken is that used for the conventional method of preparation; the second recipe is the microwave version. Note the simple changes that need to take place.

HUNGARIAN CHICKEN (Conventional)

- 4 tablespoons butter or margarine
  - 2 tablespoons salad oil
  - 2-3 1/2 lb. fryer chicken, cut up salt and pepper
  - 1 tablespoon sweet Hungarian paprika
  - 1/2 cup finely chopped onion
  - 1/4 cup white wine
  - 1 cup sour cream
- In a skillet, melt butter in oil over moderate heat. Add chicken pieces and brown lightly. Season with salt and pepper. Sprinkle with paprika and turn well to coat all pieces. Add onions and wine. Reduce heat, cover pan and cook 25-30 minutes, or until tender.

Remove chicken to serving platter. Blend sour cream into pan drippings. Heat and pour over

HUNGARIAN CHICKEN (Microwave)

- 2-3 1/2 lb. chicken, cut up
  - 2 tablespoons butter salt and pepper
  - 1 tablespoon sweet Hungarian paprika
  - 1/2 cup chopped onions
  - 2 tablespoons dry white wine
  - 1 cup sour cream
- Skin chicken. In a large casserole, melt butter at 100% power for 1 minute. Add chicken, turn to coat. Season lightly with salt and pepper. Sprinkle half the paprika over chicken. Add onions and wine. Cover tightly (use tight fitting lid or plastic wrap.) Microwave at 100% power for 15-18 minutes. Turn and rearrange chicken pieces after half the cooking time.
- Remove chicken to serving platter. Cover with foil. Skim fat from juices. Blend in cream. Reduce power to 50%. Microwave uncovered for 1 1/2 to 2 minutes or until heated through. Pour sauce over chicken. Serve with poppy seed noodles.
- When reading this recipe note the oil has been eliminated and the wine has been reduced by half. Skin has been removed but that is optional. Calories have also been reduced.
- Either method of preparation will present a tasty, colorful chicken dish that is easy and economical.

Cheeseburger Casserole, served with a fresh salad and apples in Butterscotch Sauce, gets its start from frozen macaroni and cheese.

Casserole Tasty Dish For Just 2

Life may seem complicated these days, but there is one simple truth: more people are cooking for one or two than ever before. This means that many of us are discovering the big "hitch" in cooking in small quantities — that it isn't easy to fix foods that are good for us, ready in a few minutes and more interesting than the usual quick meal.

This isn't a problem at all with a well-stocked larder that includes single-serving packages of frozen prepared macaroni and cheese. In 10 to 12 minutes of microwave cooking, this simple entree can be transformed into a complete, hearty meal.

Cheeseburger Casserole, a take-off on that all-American favorite, combines frozen prepared macaroni and cheese with canned mushrooms and seasonings in a "crust" of savory ground beef. Serve with a garden salad of lettuce, tomato, onion and end with a quick dessert, fresh apple chunks in Butterscotch Rum Sauce prepared easily in the microwave oven.

Tuna casserole can usually feed a crowd or provide leftovers that linger for a week. Now, a small family can enjoy it, too. For Tuna and Cheese Casserole, frozen prepared macaroni and cheese is prepared in the microwave with chopped onion, then microwaved with tuna and a few other ingredients out of the pantry. Sprinkle with crushed potato chips, microwave and serve with a salad or fresh vegetables.

CHEESEBURGER CASSEROLE

- 1 package (8 oz.) frozen prepared macaroni and cheese
- 1 can (2 oz.) mushroom stems and pieces, drained
- 1/4 teaspoon garlic powder
- 3 drops red pepper sauce
- 1/2 pound ground beef
- 2 tablespoons catsup
- 2 tablespoons bread crumbs
- Dash paprika

Remove macaroni and cheese from foil pan and place in microwave-safe bowl. Add mushrooms, garlic powder and red pepper sauce. Heat, covered, on high 4 to 5 minutes or until macaroni and cheese is thawed, stirring once. Let stand covered. In small bowl, combine ground beef, catsup and bread crumbs. Press against bottom and sides of two, 10 oz. custard cups. Heat, uncovered, on high 2 to 3 minutes or until browned, rotating once. Pour off excess grease. Fill beef with macaroni and cheese mixture. Heat, uncovered, on high 1 to 2 minutes or until hot. Garnish with paprika. Makes 2 servings.

BUTTERSCOTCH RUM SAUCE

- 4 teaspoons cornstarch
- 1/2 cup packed light brown sugar
- 2 tablespoons milk
- 2 teaspoons corn syrup
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
- 1 tablespoon dark rum
- 2 apples, cored and cubed
- Sliced almonds

In small glass bowl, combine cornstarch and brown sugar. Stir in milk and corn syrup. Add butter. Heat, uncovered, on high 3 to 4 minutes or until thickened, stirring occasionally. Stir in rum. Serve warm over apples. Garnish with almonds. Makes 2 servings.

TUNA AND CHEESE CASSEROLE

- 1 package (8 oz.) frozen prepared macaroni and cheese
  - 2 tablespoons chopped onion
  - 1 can (2 oz.) mushroom stems and pieces, drained
  - 1 can (7 oz.) tuna, drained and flaked
  - 2 tablespoons sliced stuffed green olives
  - 1/4 teaspoon pepper
  - 1/4 cup crushed potato chips
- Remove macaroni and cheese from foil pan and place in 1-quart glass casserole. Add onion. Heat, covered, on high 4 to 5 minutes or until macaroni and cheese is thawed, stirring once. Stir in mushrooms, tuna, olives and pepper. Heat, covered, on high 2 minutes, stirring once. Sprinkle potato chips on top. Heat, uncovered, on high 30 seconds to 1 minute or until hot. Makes 2 servings.

Throw A Halloween Party With Chili As Main Course

Conjure up a Halloween party menu that look and tastes fabulous, yet goes together in the wink of a black cat's eye.

Today's busy lifestyles need not preclude a fun and festive party in celebration of the eve of All Saints' Day. Even dual-career households and active families will find these two party menus easy to fit into crowded time schedules.

Old-Fashioned Chili Con Carne is the featured concoction for the first menu. Combining ground beef and pinto and kidney or pink dry cooked beans, this hearty chili goes together fast. Or, take a cue from some busy hosts and hostesses, and prepare the chili in advance. Then, just reheat before serving. Either way, Old-Fashioned Chili Con Carne is perfect for informal Halloween meals.

Accompany the chili with cool, refreshing Grape and Green Salad. Lightly tossed with a well-seasoned Vinaigrette Dressing, this salad magically balances the flavors and textures of juicy, fresh California table grapes with mellow avocado chunks.

Treat little and big gobblins alike to individual packages of naturally tan-shelled pistachios from California. Fun to crack and eat, these memorable treats are also a great snack to pack into lunch boxes and brown bags during Halloween week.

The second party menu starts with Halloween Bean Platter, an intriguing array of assorted cold cuts and cheeses served up with satisfying portions of a bean-vegetable salad. Serve with Toasted French Bread With Pistachio Butter, a quick-to-prepare accompaniment with distinctive appeal. And for a super-easy finale, let pumpkin pie or spiky cake squares from the bakery go delightfully party-festive with a generous dollop of Creamy Grape Topping.

Both of these great party menus are wonderful for informal entertaining for family or friends. And they're easy enough for everyday meals throughout the fall season, too.

Featuring natural foods like fresh California table grapes, pistachios from California and flavorful dry beans, these menus are sure to become traditional favorites for Halloween and autumn meals.

Apples: A Bushel Of Baking Fun For Fall

Autumn is in the air. What a perfect time to have some fall fun by baking wholesome apple treats!

Wake up to the wonderful aroma of fresh baked apple coffee cake or sweet rolls. Perk up an afternoon with tasty apple dumplings. Or cap off the evening meal with a crunchily apple dessert or custardy pie. There's applesolutely an endless number of possibilities. For best results when baking with fresh apples, store them in the refrigerator in the fruit and vegetable crisper or a plastic bag to retain fresh taste and crispness.

Don't limit apple baking to fall. Many of the 20 major commercial varieties grown across the country are available fresh year-round. The apple-baking season can be extended, too, by using always available natural applesauce, apple juice, cider or easy-to-use apple pie filling. It's easy. It's mouth-watering. It's a bushel of baking fun!

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY SEPTEMBER 15, 1983 Promising new channels for creative talents will be opened for you this coming year. This will be due to your own mental efforts, rather than those of associates. VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Much more can be accomplished today by striving to serve your personal interests, rather than half-heartedly trying to advance the causes of others. Order now: The NEW Matchmaker wheel and booklet which reveals romantic compatibilities for all signs, tells how to get along with others, finds rising signs, hidden qualities, plus more. Send $2 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Mail an additional $1 for your Virgo Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead. Be sure to give your zodiac sign. LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) If you have something important to work out today, avoid noisy friends or groups. They'll have a disturbing effect upon your mental processes. SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Begin, as of today, to look a little farther ahead. This will enable you to dovetail your present efforts more comfortably with your future hopes. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) The attention of persons who count will be focused upon you today. Fortunately, you'll say and do the right things to make a proper impression. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Do not rely too heavily upon notes if you have to make a presentation today. Your spontaneous remarks will have the most impact. AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You should do rather well in your business or commercial dealings today, because you're gifted at probing for relevant information. PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Where joint interests are concerned today, it will prove to your advantage to heed the suggestions offered by your mate or partner. ARIES (March 21-April 19) Don't be hesitant to speak up today if a co-worker tries to assume credit in front of the boss for an idea which you conceived. TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Strive to associate with persons today who act and think young. Their presence will have a beneficial effect upon your own outlook. GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Someone toward whom you feel protective may be heading for a problem which, you know from experience, can be averted. Redirect his thinking. CANCER (June 21-July 22) Some long-delayed important news you've been expecting may arrive today. Its contents could be even better than you dared to hope. LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Important groundwork can be laid today to help improve your financial position. Don't be overly concerned about returns—they'll come later.

Exercise Necessary For Arthritis Victim

DEAR DR. LAMB— We are worried about our son. He is 22 years old and was diagnosed as having ankylosing spondylitis. His backaches started when he was in high school. He walks stiffly and can hardly bend down to tie his shoes. He has an office job. We've heard this disease is a type of arthritis. It starts in the lower spine and fuses it as it progresses upward. We wonder how this will affect his life. Won't this restrict his mobility? Would exercise help keep him from fusing? Two of our three daughters also have developed back trouble, yet nobody else in our whole family has this problem. We are puzzled. Could our son's condition be caused by diet? Perhaps calcium deposited because of drinking a lot of milk? The doctors didn't tell him much. They put him on Indocin and exercise. If you have any information on this disease we would appreciate it. DEAR READER— Yes, it is a form of arthritis and related to rheumatoid arthritis, but it is not quite the same thing. And while we used to think it was found mostly in young males it can also affect females. You should consider this in regard to your two daughters with back complaints. The disease is not related to diet. Rather it is caused by an inherited genetic defect. The gene has even been identified. Exercise is quite important and will help him maintain his flexibility. He needs flexibility and stretching exercises. Indocin is usually the best medical treatment and is rather specific for this disorder. By the way, smoking is particularly bad in patients with either rheumatoid arthritis or ankylosing spondylitis, so if your son smokes he definitely should not. These patients are apt to develop severe lung disease from smoking. DEAR DR. LAMB— I frequently have a stitch in my side when I am running. It is like a muscle spasm and is in my right side, especially under the edge of my right ribs. It is quite severe and I usually stop running. After I rest awhile it goes away. No matter how I stretch or turn it persists. I never have it except when I am running. I know other runners have this problem but I don't know what causes it or what to do about it. Any suggestions would be appreciated. DEAR READER— There are many things that cause pain in that location but if it occurs only with running and is as you describe it, it is probably the stitch in the side that runners sometimes have. It occurs more often in runners who are not in good condition or those making a maximum effort. And no one knows for sure what causes it. Some think it is from a spasm of the diaphragm. Another cause may be gas accumulated in the colon where it bends just under your rib cage. Resting or slowing your running helps. Pressing against your upper abdomen with your arm as you bend over may help. I'd recommend avoiding any gas-forming foods before running. Also avoid carbonated drinks. Some recommend deep breathing but I think it is unwise to take more than a few deep breaths as more can trigger heart slowing or induce faintness, particularly if you then hold your breath.

WIN AT BRIDGE

Bridge hand layout showing North, South, East, West cards and dealer information.

By Oswald Jacoby and James Jacoby Mike Lawrence discusses the North hand at length in his book on hand evaluation. It qualifies as a maximum no-trump opening whether you use the standard 16-18 or the experts' 15-17. Those South has no problem at six spades. North would have no play for six no-trump against a diamond lead by East. South could make six no-trump, but North had bid no-trump first.

$1.5 Billion Needed To Upgrade U.S. Math, Science Programs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House is remaining silent as several education groups hail a proposal that calls for $1.5 billion to make U.S. math and science programs the "finest in the world by 1995."

A National Science Foundation study commission issued the multifaceted plan Tuesday as the Reagan administration sought to develop its own initiatives to bolster public education.

President Reagan, spurred by a series of recent reports critical of American education, has said schools must be improved, but insisted that states and localities — not Washington — have the primary fiscal responsibilities for them.

"Although education is primarily a local responsibility, we now have a critical situation," commission co-chairman William Coleman told a news conference in releasing the study.

"There is a crying need for a national commitment and national leadership for change," said Coleman, who served as secretary of transportation in the Ford administration.

The commission called for creation of 2,000 model schools as "landmarks of excellence" and the retraining of about half the nation's 2.2 million teachers who are "less than fully qualified" to teach math and science.

In addition, it proposed intensified classroom instruction, increased high school graduation requirements and creation of a presidential council to oversee its plan.

"We agree wholeheartedly with the commission's emphasis on building a strong and lasting commitment to science — and backing that commitment with federal dollars," said Mary Futrell, president of the 1.7 million-member National Education Association, the country's largest teachers' union.

Albert Shanker, president of the 600,000-member American Federation of Teachers, said, "We commend the National Science Board for its aggressive program ... to restore America's role as the leader in science and technology."

A spokesman for the American Association of School Administrators, an organization that has pressed for a bigger federal financial commitment to education, also seemed pleased.

"We have a deep federal interest in this country in assuring that we have people, plenty of them, who are adept in science and math," he said. "The recommendations sound interesting and have merit."

In its report, the 20-member National Science Board Commission on Pre-college Education noted that student achievement scores have steadily declined since 1960.

It also found youngsters in many other industrialized nations, such as Japan and the Soviet Union, get much more math and science education and have longer school years.

"The objective of the commission is to make the United States' math, science and technology education the finest in the world by 1995," Coleman said. "It can be done."

Sterilization, Not Pill, Top Birth Control Method

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sterilization is now the most popular method of birth control for American couples, pushing the pill to second place for the first time, a new report says.

What U.S. Women Think and Do About Contraception, published in Family Planning Perspectives Tuesday, is based on a survey of married and unmarried women 18 to 44.

Some 43.4 million women use some method to limit pregnancy, while 3 million others use no method, putting them at risk for an unintended pregnancy, the survey found.

The report published in the journal of the Alan Guttmacher Institute said sterilization is used by 11.6 million people, the pill by 10 million. The condom, third in popularity, is depended on by 4.5 million; IUD, 2.3 million; diaphragm, 1.9 million; vaginal spermicides, 1.5 million; withdrawal, 900,000; periodic abstinence or the rhythm method, 600,000; other methods, 200,000.

The survey also showed:

—Older, married women prefer sterilization; younger, unmarried ones, the pill.

—Poor women rely on sterilization to a greater extent than more affluent ones of the same age and marital status; black women are more likely than white to use the pill but less likely to be protected by sterilization.

—About half of unmarried and one-third of married women said they would consider abortion if they had an unintended pregnancy.

Sterilization is the most common choice among couples who have completed their families, the report said, noting that the 11.6 million sterilizations among such couples included 4.9 million vasectomies.

Concern over side effects of the pill and simplification of sterilization operations helped make sterilization the most popular method, the report said.

A survey of married couples in 1985 showed 7.5 percent depending on sterilization, husband or wife; and 15.3 percent, on the pill. A study done for the federal government in 1973 showed that 16.4 percent of married couples depended on sterilization, and 25.1 percent, the pill.

Authors of the report are Dr. Jacqueline Darroch Forrest, director of research, and Stanley K. Henshaw, senior research associate, at the Institute, an affiliate of Planned Parenthood Federation of America.

Questionnaires were mailed to 6,500 married women and 3,500 unmarried. Seventy-two percent of the married and 50 percent of the unmarried responded.

Lake Mary Manager Applicants Down To 3

The list of favored candidates for the city manager post in Lake Mary has been narrowed to three.

They are: Larry D. Myers, an executive officer with the Naval Construction Battalion Center in Gulfport, Miss.; Kathy S. Rice, previously with the East Central Florida Regional Planning Council; and Howard Tupper, a visiting adjunct associate in the department of geography at the University of Florida at Gainesville.

Others selected by the city commission from 41 applicants for the position — Michael Szunyog, city manager of Port St. Lucie; Ronald L. Allen, city manager of Ypsilanti, Mich.; and Wayne Allgire, former manager of Longboat Key — have withdrawn their applications because they "have found other jobs," said Lake Mary acting City Manager Connie Major.

Mrs. Major today said it is likely that the commission, at its 7:30 p.m. meeting Thursday at city hall, 158 N. Country Club Road, will schedule interviews with some or all of the remaining candidates.

The city's first manager, Phil Kulbes, resigned June 30 for personal reasons. Salary range for the position has been set at $18,000 to $22,000 annually.

Tupper, 42, is pursuing a master of arts degree at UF in urban and regional planning. He already holds a doctorate in urban and regional studies, population studies, cartography, remote sensing and resource utilization. He also has degrees in social studies, geography and psychology.

Mrs. Rice holds a masters degree in public administration from the University of Georgia. Among her past jobs are: planner-research coordinator for the East Central Florida Regional Planning Council, personnel director with the Clarke County board of commissioners in Athens, Ga., and program director with Action Inc. in Athens. She currently resides in Orlando.

Myers holds a bachelor's degree in building construction, a masters in resource management, and a masters in finance. He is 46 years old and serving in the U.S. Navy. Myers also notes in his resume that he is a registered professional engineer in Mississippi and Massachusetts. — Donna Estes
