HOUSE SPEEDS WORK IN ORDER TO FINISH SOON

Deficiency Act Given Approval In Record Time So Senate Can Have It Next Week

Saturday Slated For Last Session

Vote On Boulder Dam Bill Improbable Be- cause Of Filibuster

WASHINGTON, May 19.—(INS)—The plans of administration leaders to adjourn the Seventieth Congress next Saturday were a step nearer fulfillment today following the action of the House in passing the second deficiency appropriation bill in record-breaking time.

The deficiency bill, always a harbinger of adjournment, was sent to the Senate and immediately referred to the appropriations committee. Administration leaders announced it would be called up in the Senate early next week, thus paving the way for adjournment May 26.

Several protests against this adjournment date were voiced by friends of the Boulder Dam Bill, who declared the Senate should be given an opportunity to vote on the measure. Administration leaders opposed a further delay however in the belief that a well-organized filibuster will block any vote on the Boulder Dam bill even if Congress remained in session for another three weeks.

The Boulder Dam opposition has been felt for the last two weeks in consideration of the $288,000,000 tax reduction bill. Minor amendments, which ordinarily would be passed upon in a few hours, have provoked days of debate in which the Senate took no action. The tax bill itself, subject of but little controversy other than the amount of reduction to be allowed, has been under debate for three weeks.

JAP SUGGESTION IS REJECTED BY PEKING DICTATOR

Chang Tso Lin Determined To Fight Nationalists De- spite Danger To Foreigners; Japan Considers New Move

LONDON, May 19.—(INS)—Marshal Chang Tso Lin, dictator of the Peking Government and Generalissimo of the North China armies, has rejected the suggestion of Japan that he retire into Manchuria and avoid a decisive battle with the Southern (Nationalist) army.

Japan pointed out the possibility of foreign lives and property becoming endangered if Marshal Chang should stake his fortune upon a decisive conflict with the Nationalist army which is invading the Peking area.

Since the decisive defeat of the Northern army in the Shantung Peninsula it has been falling back upon Peking in a badly demoralized condition. There have been thousands of desertions. The advance guard of the Nationalist army is reported almost at the gates of Peking.

Advices from Shanghai said the communication from Japan warning the Nationalists not to attempt to invade Manchuria, is being studied by the officials of the Nanking Government.

All World Rejoiced As Word Was Flashed That American Had Made Successful Trip

NEW YORK, May 19.—(INS)—On a rather drab, misty morning in May a year ago tomorrow the usual calm of Roosevelt Field was broken when word spread like wildfire that "Lindy's" going!

"Lindy" was that tall, slim hatless youth with the tousle-hair who had zoomed into the flying field in his silvery-lued monoplane, "Spirit of St. Louis," from the West a few days before and quietly announced he would attempt a non-stop flight to Paris.

Rickard was unable to immediately set a new date for the fight because Monday night, and other dates in the near future, conflict with the fight shows billed by other local clubs. Rickard was endeavoring to placate other promoters so that he could announce another date acceptable to the New York State Boxing Commission.

Addresses Boys Of Famed School Says Secondary Train- ing More Important Than That Later On

ANDOVER, Mass., May 19.—(INS)—The academy, or secondary school, was hailed by President Coolidge today as one of the greatest factors in moulding the habits and thoughts of America's future generations.

Addressing the student body and alumni on the academy campus, Mr. Coolidge pointed out that the student mind is at the plastic stage at the age of matriculation at a secondary school.

"It is for this reason that our secondary schools are of such great importance," he said. "When students now enter the college they are no longer of an impressionable age. Habits of thought have become fixed. The college can no longer refashion its students.

Reigh Count Is Picked To Win Kentucky Derby With Ease Tomorrow Afternoon

By Davis J. Walsh
 LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 18.—(INS)—Having spent the last twenty-four hours disguised as a wild out in the feed box, I am forced to the conclusion today that there is only one factor operating against Reigh Count's chances of winning the Kentucky Derby tomorrow afternoon. He doesn't read the newspapers.

He, therefore, can't know that all the track-wise folk are agreed that there is nothing in the field that can be figured to beat him. He can't turn to the form sheets and be apprised of the adding tidings that he has all of the heart and foot of his field, and simply must do an imperial ballet to the pay-off over the entire mile and a quarter of the race.

He can't even see that the chicken gumbo in which he has been doing his recent "works" has been hailed as a further token of impending success.

From what I have been able to gather, the great race has two distinct possibilities—if the track remains muddy, Reigh Count can't lose; if it dries out by tomorrow afternoon, the rest of the field hasn't a chance.

The Count, in brief, is one of those incipient calamities known as a prohibitive favorite. He apparently is to go to the post with a vast majority of the homeless dollars in Kentucky riding on his withers, and it's just too bad that a thing like that has to be kept a secret from the only party involved who can do anything about it.

As it is, Reigh Count will line up at the barrier with some eighteen odd horses, without the slightest suspicion that he is a great horse and the others are merely steeds, as we say at the lively stable. He conceivably might finish last and feel no sense of social depression. He has learned by experience that the odds are just as good at the end of a long day as they are the day he wins.

It is from ignorance such as this that the 1 to 2 spot comes centering tentatively back to the judges' stand shortly before the start of the next race.

Therefore, and in all gravity, I declare that the crying need of the race track, excepting jockeys without firearms—is a horse that can be made to know that he is racing for the honor of a few old John Bannans and his two dollar ticket.

However, the good word here is that Reigh Count can remain dumber than an information bureau and still beat the field he is to face, for most of the derby entries either were discarded in the Proakness or were beaten off by the Count in the Mammoth Cave event on Monday last.

There is one notable and two minor exceptions to this statement. The former is Edward H. Moran's Tor, which would lose on the Proakness if he hadn't been on a rate. The main one is rail. Toro came all the way from DAYTONA BEACH, May 18.—Lefty Butler was right yesterday and the Sanford Celeryfeds were the victims, the Islanders chalking up a 9 to 0 victory in the opening tilt of the series. Butler held the Feds to three scattered hits, while he fanned 15 to insure an easy triumph for his mates. The Islanders shelled Hathaway off the mound in the fourth inning and he was replaced by Barron, who held the locals in check for the remainder of the game.

Cubs Gain Possession Of First Place In National League By Beating Boston

NEW YORK, May 18.—(INS)—The clubs supplying the fireworks in the Major League races at present are the Chicago Cubs who have won eleven straight games; the New York Yankees, who have won seven straight and taken eleven out of twelve from the Western clubs; the Boston Red Sox, who have won six straight; and the Brooklyn Robins, who have won four straight.

The Cubs gained undisputed possession of first place in the National League yesterday by blanketing Boston 2 to 0 while the Cincinnati Reds lost to Brooklyn, 1 to 0. The American League, limited the Braves to five hits and Hack Wilson elated a homer and a triple. The Reds dropped all the way to third place below the Cardinals who did not play.

The Yankees won in the ninth, 4 to 3, when pitcher Crowder of the Browns forced a run over the plate. Ruth, Gehrig, Blue and Brannon hit homers. Gehrig now has six homers and the Babe has twice as many.

The Yanks gave Stanley Coveleskie veteran spitball pitcher his last chance to make a comeback—and the pole came through like Bobby Jones' driver. He yielded only six hits.

Anything can happen in the American League now—the Boston Red Sox are in the first division for the first time since the adolescent days of the canine yelped Hector. The embattered Back Bay boys handed a 3 to 3 beating to George Moriarty's sweet-singing and sour-playing Tigers, who have lost seven in a row and are in last place.

The Chicago White Sox climbed out of the cellar by nosing out the Athletics 6 to 5. Alphonse Thomas won 7 1/2 game by hitting a double. Hauser got his eighth homer. George Uble was the whole works in Cleveland's 8 to 3 win over the Senators. He toyed with the Washington batters and, drove in four runs with a homer and a single.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 18.—(INS)—In an effort to check profanity over the telephone, the government has decided to install girl operators in the exchange at Bafdad. The telephone system throughout Turkey is antiquated and difficult to use. But that at Bafdad is said to be the worst. Patrons of the telephone system usually become so angry at their inability to get a number that they give vent to their feelings in profanity directed against the telephone operators. The "centrals" at present are men.

Basra is the only city in the Near East with a modern system of automatic telephones.

Milane Features George O'Brien In "Sharp Shooters"

Can gobs shake a wicked leg when it comes to the dance hall? George O'Brien, in Fox Films "Sharp Shooters," not only proves it to his dancing partner, Gwen Lee, but to every observer, as well.

No one else had a chance on the dance floor when George was tripping the light fantastic to the strains of a jazz tune, thus proving that he also had his lighter moments when he was not engaged in some flinty encounter.

It was in Miss Lee's favor that she was too good a dancer, or she would have been left far behind. It would almost take a professional to keep pace with the whirrs, turns and side-steps of the intricate fox trot.

John Moran is co-starred with O'Brien in this colorful story of the American navy in foreign ports. Others in the cast include William Demarest, Joseph Swickard, Tom Dugan and Noah Young. J. C. Hlystone directed. The picture comes to the Milane theatre Monday.

WELCOME RAPTURE

That escaping from prison in Australia is not such an easy accomplishment, has been learned by two honor men of Mills Afforestation Prison Camp after a week in the wilds. During the time they were at large rain fell continuously, and they walked 140 miles. They first crossed the Victorian border and reached the Snowey river, but being no bushmen, they became alarmed and retraced their steps into New South Wales. Stealing dry clothing and a lamp at Bombala they walked many miles along the railroad track only to find a passenger train stop and unload a band of policemen who captured them. The two were in such exhausted condition that they were glad to surrender. They are being closely confined and their terms may be extended as punishment.

BIBLE BARS MOB

Because he believes the Bible declares against bobbing, Joseph Kasser, of London, refuses to cut women's hair. He base this belief on the verse from 1 Corinthians XI: "But if a woman have long hair, it is a glory to her; for her hair is given her for a covering." In taking his stand Kasser said, "I believe in applying my religion to every day life. I believe that to rob a woman of her hair is to commit a sin. I turn away as many as five women a day. Some years ago, I was a woman's hair dresser, but I gave it up when it was brought to my notice that it is stated in the Bible that no man shall turn a white hair black. I gave up my job because I was engaged in dyeing women's hair."

FRANK EVANS SAYS:

In justice to the voters of district No. 3, I take exception to the advertisement published in a Sanford newspaper, Friday May 18 th., entitled, "Frank Evans and road building" and signed "Voters District No. 3".

I challenge the cowardly author of same to a public debate on the article he has written.

It is a tissue of malicious insinuations, most of which are so childish that they could come only from a warped or undeveloped mind, and based on imagination and lying rumors.

It is not only an unwarranted attack on the present Commissioner of District 3 and C. W. Entzminger a former commissioner, but a reflection on the intelligence of the people of Seminole County.

The author of the advertisement above referred to not only imposes on the voters of District No. 3, but by not signing same shows it to be the act of a coward.

The Island of Eternal Youth

SAILING around a portion of the Florida peninsula, after sighting land on that historic Easter morning in 1513, Ponce de Leon explored the coastline of Florida, supposing it to be an immense island. When we picture the Florida shoreland that he saw, resplendent in its green foliage, its sentinel palms, tall and straight as turbaned Seminoles, its veteran oaks with their sweeping beards of hoary gray moss—all radiant in the sunlight of Spring, there is small wonder that the famous Spanish adventurer returned home with glorious tales of an "Island of Eternal Youth."

It is this same enchanting Florida today, with the added appeal of palatial hotels, magnificent homes, tall white cities, great stretches of cultivated land and smooth un-ending highways, that casts its undeniable appeal to the people of all the world. Where the ocean surges across the wide stretches of white sand beach and the refreshing breezes stir the waters of blue lakes and rivers, it is easy for us to picture a fountain of youth flashing in the magic sunlight. Edison spends his winters in Florida and is one of the youngest men old in years. The famous golf games of the youthful John D. Rockefeller on the sunny courses of Florida are talked of the world over. Thousands of men and women who come here annually are ready to testify that here, in the delightful climate of Florida, they have found renewed strength and health.

Year after year, as the fame of Florida's youth restorative powers is spread abroad, a growing number of people come to the Sunshine State. Unsatisfied with a visit alone, more and more each year decide to stay to enjoy the incomparable living advantages here where there's sunshine in life, and a friendly environment throughout the year.

With all of the state's vast undeveloped wealth offering greater opportunities for young and old—for work as well as play—and with the state's incomparable appeal as a better place to live and enjoy life—Florida's future growth cannot but be an accepted fact. People everywhere, today more than ever before, are making their plans eventually to live in Florida. As the state's industrial and agricultural development increases, as more of its vast resources are brought to light and utilized, as all of its varied advantages become better known and understood, Florida will grow with increasing momentum. Those of us who are here need only to keep the way clear—to place no obstacles in the way—and by our attitude in our daily contacts with one another to spur onward that spirit of progress which is the very instinct of Florida.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

THE TREE OF LIFE—The fruit of the righteous is a tree of life; and he that winneth souls is wise.—Prov. 11:30.

PRAYER—Give us, Lord, a passion that only saved souls can satisfy.

We believe that if Carson or Taylor could demonstrate his ability to win in this election, either would have a walk-away on June 5.

There is one candidate running for office about whom there seems to be absolutely no argument, and that is, of course, Ruth Bryan Owen.

We haven't heard many squawks from the sheiks and flappers since the commissioners decided to turn out the lights.

We have the greatest respect for some of the candidates we are supporting, but when they begin sending us fifteen hundred word telegrams, and sending them COLLECT, we think it is time to turn the cold shoulder.

Hathaway followers condemn Carlton for mud-slinging, but when Hathaway starts mud-slinging, he hires someone else to do it for him. We prefer the man who is willing to do his own dirty work.

Row over a dog resulted in the shooting and near death of one of the quarrelers. It is a dangerous thing to make a man mad about his dog. Some men are as faithful to their dogs as the dogs are to them.

A vote against Hathaway is a vote for Catts. There are only two ways about it—John T. Graves in Jacksonville Journal. Don't be so extreme Johnny. Sensible people expect better stuff from you.—Palm Beach Independent.

An exchange criticizes Doyle Carlton for not attacking Catts, but for that matter we can't see where Dr. Hathaway has been very aggressive in his campaign against the former governor. When the chairman-candidate thinks it is time to take the gloves and go after Catts, he sends Senator Waybright.

Emory Martin, candidate for comptroller, has written us a letter in which he denies that he is supporting Catts, and which we have been glad to publish on the front page of our paper. But Mr. Martin must know that he should avoid the appearance of supporting Catts if he does not wish people to think he is.

James M. Carson of Miami, a candidate for the governor's office, was a welcome visitor to the Independent office Wednesday morning. We are always glad to see Jim and we have faith in his bravery and honesty. He has shown more of the former quality than any other candidate for the governor's office.—Palm Beach Independent.

The Bard of Bay street indignantly denies authorship of a shocking limerick now being whispered from Jaxxon to Jaxxon. We quote, with deep apologies: "There was a young lady from Hyde, who ate some green apples and died. Within the lamented the apples fermented. And made cider inside her insides."—Jacksonville Journal.

Our good friend, Senator McKensie, is undergoing some caustic criticism for having retired from the gubernatorial race in favor of Hon. Foss Hathaway. The criticism is if he had retired in favor of any of the candidates it should have been in favor of Senator Taylor as they were in the same boat and subject to the same legal tie-up, especially as Senator Taylor is without speaking blemish and his friends feel that it is wrong for McKensie to take this method of help in his defeat. Ocala Banner.

Make Your Will Sensible

During the past few weeks we have noticed in a number of Florida papers an editorial which asked the question, "Have you made your will yet?" The article then went on to show how extremely important it is that everyone should make his will since he never knows when he is going to die, and death without a will, even where the property left is comparatively small, is bound to result in embarrassment and difficulties for the heirs.

Of equal importance, it seems to us, with making a will, is making a sensible will. Very frequently there is some joker in a will that causes more trouble for the heirs than if no will had been made at all. The purpose of a will is merely to distribute property as the maker wishes, not to govern the whole course of future events.

We have not made many wills ourselves, but we have read a number of them in the newspapers, and we have found very frequently some such clause as this: "All property of which I die possessed shall go to my loving daughter Emily, but in case she should marry before she is forty-two, it shall be divided equally between the old ladies home and the institute for stray dogs."

At the present time, according to the despatches from London, a legal battle is being waged there over the will of Queen Victoria. This document contained a trust to continue until the death of "the last of Queen Victoria's descendants living at the time of the death of the testator." Now they can't find out whether any of her descendants living at the time of her death are still alive or not.

Among her descendants are included members of the Russian royal family, the fate of many of whom is still uncertain, and of the German royal house, about many of whom there is as much doubt as in the case of the Russian family. An archduke of Austria, another descendant, is said to have shipped as a sailor shortly after the war and has not been heard from since. Altogether there are said to be at least one hundred and twenty lineal descendants of England's greatest queen who are scattered throughout the world and cannot be traced.

So we would say, yes, make your will, but make it as sensible as possible.

Bulls And Bears—And Amateurs

Frederick Lewis Allen, the humorist, has been speculating in General Motors and has made $11.88 in the process.

Feeling that the rest of the world will be interested in how he did it, Mr. Allen explains the difficulties of the stock market—with a sober face but a twinkling eye—in May number of the Forum magazine.

"There are various sorts of careers among the wizards of finance," he writes. "Some of them work their way by slow and painful degrees from the bottom, others attain fortune at a single bound. My career has been the quick kind. Only a few months ago I knew nothing about the stock market. In fact, I knew even less than I do now. I never read the financial pages of the newspapers. When ever the men about me dropped into conversation about the remarkable rise in American Bread or the pressure exerted by the bears upon the leading rails, I seized the opportunity to be alone with my thoughts. This sort of talk meant nothing to me. I hadn't the slightest notion of how a bear exerts pressure upon a rail or of what happens to the rail when he does it. I could distinguish between stocks and bonds, but debentures were beyond me; and at the mention of amortization and sinking funds and time money I felt myself plunged into a fog.

"But that was before I began commuting from New Canaan. It's a long ride from New Canaan to the Grand Central; long enough to read clear through the latest torso murder, to arrive at the items beginning, 'Speculation for the advance was resumed yesterday on a broad scale, and the bulls, encouraged by the increased exports of steel filings, pushed several favorites to new highs', and to sit and wonder what a favorite thinks about when a bull is pushing it to a new high. I began to enjoy puzzling out of the dramas of this strange new world into which the financial pages led me. 'Shorts Are Squeezed As Motors Climb Steadily'; what was this, I would ask myself, if not a naughty romance of the open road, depicting the temptations of the limousine and the moral perils faced by the younger generation? 'Rubbers Are Heavy As Liquidation Progresses'—was this a weather report, a dispatch from the flooded area, or the deathbed confession of an over-shoe manufacturer?"

"Why do you call Mr. Catts 'the demagogue and destroyer'?" asks a correspondent in whose sincerity we are much inclined to believe. A demagogue is a man who insincerely capitalizes on public prejudices and gullibility, who attempts to be all things to all men, who does not scruple to sell the truth to serve his own selfish aims, who believes in nothing but pretends to believe in everything. We think that Mr. Catts' public record, his speeches and acts in the present campaign, his misstatements, his vaudeville acting, his two-faced efforts to pose as the particular friend of morally opposite elements, his bullying, his double-dealing—rank him high in the reign of demagoguery. And we think him a destroyer because we believe that if such a man is elected governor of Florida this state's dignity and good name abroad, its hope of prosperity in future, its power to serve its citizenry soberly and fairly and wisely, will be destroyed.—Jacksonville Journal.

"LET'S PRETEND"

By W. E. Woodward NEW YORK HERALD TRIBUNE

If you think that the great American game is baseball, or golf, or putting parties, or conviving with bootleggers, you are entirely wrong. It is undeniable that all these activities occupy our attention, more or less, but the really serious American game is "Let's Pretend." Children play it instinctively, though not nearly so well as grown people do. The dominant minds of the American race, have developed "Let's Pretend" into a fine art, and some of the current pretences are so well done that they look real enough to be true. We pretend that our government is a democracy. With all this clamor about elections and the good of the people going on, it certainly does appear to be one. But all well informed people know very well that it is nothing of the kind.

Then there is our lovely little game of free speech, freedom of assembly for any peaceful purpose, assembly for any peaceful purpose. These primitive liberties are guaranteed by the United States Constitution. As we play the game we point proudly to the Constitution and say: "Look at this marvelous protection; any man in America can stand on his feet and say what-

But Mr. Hays happens to be an able lawyer with an income and an education. He possesses houses, a dinner coat and belongs to clubs—so he has become a sort of social problem. The dominant minds hardly know what to do about him.

And now he has written a book called "Let Freedom Ring." There is a tinge of satire in the title, but there is no satire in the book itself. Mr. Hays is too much in earnest to play with fancies. It is a study of American intolerance, based on facts, on what Mr. Hays himself has seen and heard in his position as counsel for the Civil Liberties Union. He says:

Gradually, so slowly that it is hardly noticeable, the foundations of our institutions, the ideals for which America stands, the rights guaranteed to the citizen in the Constitution, are slipping away. There is no such thing as freedom of speech or assembly concerning any subject that really matters. —Today you can talk on any subject you please in Tennessee, except religion; in California, except the I. W. W.; in Boston, except the Sacco-Vanzetti case; in any place, except on a subject which, as a burning issue, would most profit by untrammelled discussion. Speech and assemblage are free in New Jersey, West Virginia and Pennsylvania, except to union men in time of strike. If you talk labor unionism then, you land in jail. I know it because I've tried it and I landed in jail.

Despite its author's obvious purpose to be legal-minded and stick strictly to the evidence, the book is amusing—almost comical in spots. No one with a sense of humor can read his account of the Scopes anti-evolution trial in Tennessee, where he was one of the attorneys for the defense, without laughing, for the subject matter of the whole thing is as funny as a burlesque show.

Among its highly-dramatic chapters is the one that tells what took place when a Negro physician in Detroit bought a house in a white neighborhood. If you still have some dim notion that the Civil War gave the Negro the constitutional rights enjoyed by other men, or that the Negro problem is settled, just read the story of Dr. Sweet and the tragedy that befell him in

Jack Sharkey Declares He Has No Intention Of Giving Lecture On Shakespeare

By WILLIAM A. CONSODINE, International News Service Staff Correspondent. BOSTON, May 19.—(INS)—Jack Sharkey has no intention of giving a lecture on Shakespeare. He is a professional boxer, not an actor, and he is not going to appear on a stage to recite the Bard of Avon to a university audience. He is a young man who is supposed to be even more "high hat" than those of Yale.

"I'm going to give a lecture on the volume of Shakespeare's works right here at home," said Sharkey, with a smile, as he strolled around the pretty little house that is the Sharkey domicile on the outskirts of the city.

"There's home of the tragedy, either. Occasionally though, Dorothy falls off her kiddy car and requires a little prompt attention to relieve her injured feelings," continued Jack, as he picked up his three-year-old daughter and gave her a toss into the air, much to the pleasure of that plump youngster.

"At home with kids. "As far as I am concerned, Gene Tunney can stick to his Shakespeare," remarked Sharkey, "and I will continue to have my good times with my youngsters, Dorothy and Marilyn."

"If Tunney ever is blessed with two pretty, active kiddies, he will give up Jack, I think," went on Sharkey.

Gene Sarazen Returns Today From England With Story About Prince

NEW YORK, May 19.—(INS)—Sunny how little things can upset big people. On the golf links especially. Take the Prince of Wales' caddy, for instance. Now, if Daniel, the caddy, had been where he should have been and the Prince didn't have to call him, Gene Sarazen—well, here's the story.

"Gene arrived on the Mauretania today from England, where he was runner-up in the medal play at Sandwich for the British Open championship. Walter Hagen won the tournament. With a big gallery watching, Gene was getting ready to essay a particularly difficult putt, to make an equally difficult par four.

"Daniel, oh Daniel!" some one shouted, not far behind the American star. He straightened up and looked around with an irritated frown. And there was the Prince of Wales, calling his caddy. Of course, one can't find fault with royalty, and Gene bent over his ball again.

Gene took his stroke. The gallery held its breath. Gene missed and took a five for the hole. If the caddy had been within Sarazen's reach, Daniel would have wished he were in the lion's den. Gene told the story smilingly, when reporters met him on the Mauretania, and assured them he didn't blame the Prince for the putt that missed.

"I'm going back there, too," he promised, as he walked down the gangplank, "and win that thing."

Famous Film At The Milane On Monday

Scene From "The Girl From Chicago" starring Conrad Nagel and Myrna Loy. A Warner Bros. Production.

"The Girl from Chicago" is a fine, glittering melodrama, the sort that keeps the audience at high tension from the first scene to the final fade-out. It recounts the adventures of a well-brought-up girl of the old South, who leaves her aged father and braves the dangers of a great city to save the life of her brother, who has fallen into the hands of crooks and is sentenced to death.

Exciting and swift as mud horses is the action of the melodrama, which whisks the girl, now known as "Molly," the Gal from Chicago, from one danger to another, until at last she accomplishes the task she has come to do.

Myrna Loy gives the greatest performance of her career, because she has the first party worthy of her talents. Conrad Nagel, always forceful and pleasing, triumphs as the dapper detective who is supposed by Molly to be another of the crooks. William Russell gives a characteristically strong portrayal of Big Steve of the tenderloin. Alderson is especially appealing as the Colonel of before-the-war gentility, pride and fierceness, and the director has been done with great deftness.

There is a strong story to build on and the building is of the last sort. No taver of red-blooded honest, thrilling melodrama should miss seeing Conrad Nagel and Myrna Loy in "The Girl from Chicago."

Stockton Reviews His Delegate Aims At Coming Primary

JACKSONVILLE, May 19.—(INS)—Christ B. Stockton of Jacksonville, in announcing his candidacy for delegate to the Democratic national convention from the Fourth congressional district, has addressed a communication to the Democratic voters of this congressional district in which he promises to propose a change in the voting representation in Democratic national conventions that would give Southern states a better representation in the conventions. For instance, Mr. Stockton says he would deny voting representation in Democratic national convention to congressmen from districts which fail either to elect Democratic congressmen or to elect at least 15,000 voters for the Democratic candidate to congress in either of two preceding congressional elections.

Also, he would deny voting representation to Alaska, the District of Columbia, Hawaii, the Philippines, Porto Rico, the Canal Zone and Virgin Islands, none of which are permitted to vote in the electoral college, although they are allowed 28 votes in the Democratic convention, a sufficient number to wipe out the votes of Florida and Alabama.

Mr. Stockton would allow an additional delegate-at-large to each state for every three votes it casts in the electoral college for the Democratic nominee in the states the College carried in 1932.

Mr. Stockton says he would deny voting representation in Democratic national convention to congressmen from districts which fail either to elect Democratic congressmen or to elect at least 15,000 voters

Recipe Long Remembered By Experts For The Memorial Day Repast

MEMORIAL DAY is often an opportunity for the hostess to gather her friends about her. A luncheon of tea, to relatives or intimate friends, with bridge, sets the day apart and makes it something to look back on with satisfaction. Sometimes one of the problems of entertaining is to think of novel dishes, new ways to serve old things.

Here are some suggestions—all easy to prepare in advance, and thus leaving the hostess' mind free to enjoy her visitors.

1 level tablespoonful Knox Spangling Gelatine
3/4 cup cold water or stock
3 cups chicken stock (canned broth or soup) (used)
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 cups vegetables (cooked peas, string beans, beets, carrots, asparagus, etc.) green pepper
1 green pepper
Soak gelatine in cold water 5 minutes and dissolve in boiling stock. Add salt and cool. Rinse a square mold in cold water, pour the liquid into it, let stand 15 minutes and refrigerate. Arrange the thickened gelatin layers and chill. Unmold on a bed of lettuce leaves and garnish with parsley and salad dressing.

Fruit Salad

3/4 cup canned pineapple juice
Few grains salt
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup almonds
1/2 cup strawberries
1/2 pound marshmallows
1/2 cup cream or evaporated milk
2 eggs
Soak gelatine in cold water 5 minutes and dissolve in hot pineapple juice. Add sugar and salt. When cold, whip with an egg beater. Add almonds and marshmallows in small pieces. Fold in whipped cream and lastly the stiffly beaten whites of eggs. Turn into a square mold and chill. Unmold on lettuce and serve with a whipped cream salad dressing. (This may also be used as a dessert.)

CALLS PRISONER SPORT.

(INS)—Sornath Woodward may be awaiting trial accused of robbery, felonious assault and carrying a pistol, but policeman here says that at least he has the courage to "face the music" for his misdeeds and is a sport.

Bound over to the grand jury under bond of $4,500 on the above charges, Woodward, at the suggestion of his attorney, in city court asked to shake the hand of his prosecutor, Motorcycle Officer Robert Hubbard, whom he had previously disarmed when the officer sought to arrest him on a liquor charge.

"I was in the wrong," he said. "I bear no ill will. I'm sorry for what I've done."

Then the officer and the prisoner shook hands. In regard to the pistol which he took away from the policeman, Woodward said: "The pistol I took from him dropped out of my pocket, otherwise I would have returned it to him."

And then the prisoner added: "If I ever get this trouble fixed up, I'll buy him another gun just as soon as I can get the money to do it."

New Refrigerator On Exhibition Here Creates Interest

Apartment owners, architects and residents are exhibiting great interest in an entirely revolutionary electric refrigerator developed by the General Electric Refrigerator Division, Inc., of the General Electric Co., Distributors of General Electric Refrigerators in Sanford.

"This new Apartment Model is small and will fit easily in small home or apartment kitchen. This places within the reach of the dweller in this type of building perfect refrigeration at a low initial cost," continued Mr. Randall.

"It has been found that apartments rent easier and tenants are more contented in the apartment equipped with modern conveniences. One General Electric distributor claims that an apartment owner in his territory to whom a number of General Electric Refrigerators were sold, uses this equipment as his chief talking point to prospective customers.

"The General Electric icing unit is trouble proof, requiring no mechanical attention on the part of the owner. It maintains a constant cold, dry temperature within the refrigerator which is ideal for the preservation of milk, vegetables and other perishable foods. Two or three days supply of food can be easily stored on the spacious shelves and will be perfectly preserved until consumed. Daily shopping is a thing of the past.

"Just think of having 48 ice cubes for cooling drinks and 18 pounds of ice in a single tray, and more of ice can be frozen at one time. If more is needed one freezing can be made in advance and stored in the tray beneath the freezing compartment while another batch is being frozen in the trays."

"The new model, as with all General Electric Refrigerators, requires no plumbing or special wiring. Current for its operation may be obtained by plugging it in at the nearest electric outlet.

"One of the outstanding features of the General Electric is that a permanent supply of oil is sealed within the dust proof casing. All moving parts are automatically oiled, giving smooth, efficient and practically noiseless operation at all times.

"The man of the house who has an obsession for tinkering is downed to disappointment when with hammer, pliers and screw driver in hand, sets out to solve the mystery of the hermetically sealed casing of his General Electric Refrigerator. The mechanism cannot be disturbed. It is adjusted at the factory and sealed within the casing making it impossible for any one to tamper with it.

"According to Mr. Randall this new Apartment Model General Electric Refrigerator will answer a long felt need for a refrigerator which not only gives perfect refrigeration at all times but is also quiet and trouble proof.

Employee Begins Second Fifty Years With Telephone Factory

George E. Perlewitz at the microphone on his fiftieth anniversary with the Western Electric Company, talking to some of his 22,000 fellow-employees over the public address system which he and they helped to construct.

Two years after Alexander Graham Bell created the first telephone, a young man fresh from school entered the employ of a small concern that was then beginning the manufacture of these new talking instruments. The other day this man rounded out a half century of association with that same concern, the Western Electric Company. During those fifty years, George E. Perlewitz has seen the company grow from a mere handful of workers into the largest manufacturer of telephones and telephone equipment in the world, with more than 40,000 men and women on its payroll.

The Hawthorne Works of the company in Chicago, the site of Mr. Perlewitz's labor. There, on the occasion of his fiftieth anniversary, a program of festivities was arranged, the chief feature of which was the presentation to the veteran of a diamond emblem and an address which he delivered to 22,000 of his fellow-employees scattered throughout the works. This was made possible by a public address system installed in the works. In the course of his remarks, Mr. Perlewitz said:

"I never thought the time would come when I personally would enjoy the unique experience of talking at one time to 22,000 fellow-workers. Back in 1878, as you thought, we were a pretty 'big outfit,' we had but 100 employees. Today, when I think of the thousands I am talking to, the great change seems almost unbelievable."

At seventy years of age, the veteran, who remembers the Chicago fire well, remains a master craftsman. Among the important pieces of work upon which he has been engaged were the telephone switchboards shown at the World's Fair in Chicago in 1893, those used at the Paris World's Fair in 1889, and the first switchboard ever shipped from the United States to Japan, over a generation ago.
