NEW GAME LAWS FOR SEMINOLE COUNTY

GERMAN SEPARATISTS NOT IN PUBLIC FAVOR

GERMAN SEPARATIST MOVE WILL BE DISSOLVED SOON UNLESS IT HAS SUPPORT

OF GENERAL POPULATION IS REPORTED IN OFFICIAL CIRCLES

FAVOR AUTONOMY

Representative Citizens Will Have Nothing To Do With Present Movement

(By The Associated Press)
BERLIN, Nov. 1.—After a party caucus lasting seven hours the United Socialists Reichstag delegation last night drafted a program of demands, upon which it makes contingent its further membership in the present coalition government. While the nature of its communication to Chancellor Stresemann suggests a 24-hour ultimatum, the Reichstag leaders believe that its tenor and contents are wholly dictated by the desire of the party's moderate leaders to appease its clamorous radical wing, which has been endeavoring to stampede the party into defection from the coalition.

The Socialist ministers, Solmann, Radbruch and Schmidt, whose withdrawal from the cabinet was under advisement at yesterday's caucus, informed their comrades that the government action against Saxony had not been referred to the cabinet, but was determined and put into execution by the Federal government's commander in Dresden, General Von Mueller, and the Reich commissioner, Dr. Heinze.

The party's moderate wing succeeded in winning over the radical majority to support of the anti-secession sentiment in view of the general international situation and the further fact that the new Saxon government required aid from Berlin, which would not be forthcoming if the socialists were out of the government.

There was also strong suspicion discernable in the ranks of the leaders of the moderate section that a parliamentary crisis precipitated by the socialists at this time could prove a doubtful asset to the party's prestige—this because the issues on which the party is at variance with the chancellor constitute poor political propaganda, especially in view of the socialists' recent ill starred union with the Saxon communists.

The party's Reichstag delegation will suggest to Dr. Stresemann that the existing military state of emergency be converted into a Federal civil regime and that the Federal troop contingents in Saxony shall be reduced and the policing functions there assigned to the local organization.

Regarding Bavaria the socialists are considerably more aggressive; they pre-emptorily demand that the Central government come-out in the open and publicly brand Bavaria's attitude toward the Federal authorities as a breach of the constitution, and deal with it accordingly.

COBLENZ, Nov. 1.—Unless there is some indication soon the efforts to establish independent Rhineland state have support of general publication present Separatist movement may dissolve of itself within few weeks it was said today in official circles which are closely in touch with all developments. Several proposals for compromise already have been advanced it is understood. There are many representative citizens who favor autonomy but they will have nothing to do with present government on ground that leaders of movement are not representative of officials or business men and lack of confidence of people.

HUGHES CONFERS WITH PRESIDENT COOLIDGE ON THE SUBJECT

GERMAN DEMANDS

In Present Situation Become More Insistent For Action

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—American government officials while awaiting official word from Great Britain that the allied powers had agreed to a conference of economic experts to unravel, if possible, the reparations tangle, arranged today to move expeditiously with regard to participation by the United States in the discussions.

With the situation in Germany recognized as daily growing more serious, officials here are mindful of the need of prompt action. An intimation came from an official source today that action in connection with American representation on the advisory committee might be expected with as much expedition as marked the step leading to the decision to hold the conference.

Officials generally were still emphatic today in their assertion that the manner of selecting the American committee members had not been given any great consideration. The impression was given, however, by some officials in close touch with the situation that the administration desired more than one member, possibly three, and that in the selection of representatives consideration would be given to differing groups of interests and to geographical considerations.

Apprehension expressed in some quarters that the United States might, through participation in the experts' conference, become involved in the affairs of the League of Nations is given some thought by administration officials, and it was indicated that the American members would be so elected as to ally any such fears.

Secretary Hughes had half an hour's conference late yesterday with President Coolidge, and although no statement was forthcoming as to the nature of his call, it was believed that the reparations question had been up for consideration.

Secretary Hoover, whose name has been mentioned as a possible American representative, also saw the President during the day, but there was no indication that the reparations problem was discussed.

AIN'T NO USE TO PINE.
Teach your lips to smile, my honey,
Teach your eyes to shine.
Maybe life ain't always funny,
Little girl o' mine,
But you'll find that folks are after
All the joy you have to spare;
Give to them your bong and laughter,
They've enough o' pain and care.
They've enough o' sad complaining,
Life is full o' gloom and doubt,
And you'll find its load more straining
If you travel with a pout.

Sing to keep the long trial sunny,
Ain't no use to sit and pine;
Teach your lips to smile, my honey,
Teach your eyes to shine.

LETTER CARRIERS WANT MORE MONEY

Resolutions condemning the present salary scale for letter carriers as not being even on a par with common labor, and declaring the present efficiency rating system in force by the postoffice department as impracticable and tending toward inefficiency rather than efficiency, were adopted by the Florida State Association of Letter Carriers in a reorganization convention in Tampa Sunday, the sessions being held in the federal court room of the postoffice building.

The resolution touching salaries advocated congressional legislation providing for a new classification act of three grades, $2,000, $2,200, and $2,400 per year for letter carriers, to supersede the present five grade classification of $1,400 to $1,800, the latter salary being paid to carriers who have proved efficient and capable during the five preceding years, providing an increase of $100 per year.

Congressman Herbert J. Drane of Lakeland was the principal speaker before the convention, delivering a forceful address during the morning session, which opened at 9 o'clock. He pledged his hearty support and persistent effort to the end of securing passage of legislation through the next congress to provide a higher salary scale for letter carriers. Asserting that this class of government employees is decidedly underpaid, he emphasized this statement with the assertion that letter carriers are receiving considerably less than organized street sweepers.

The proposed new salary classification as approved by the Florida association further provides that substitute letter carriers shall be paid eighty cents per hour instead of the present rate of sixty cents per hour.

FELT TIRED, SO TIRED

Indiana Lady Says She Was Run-Down, Suffered With Her Back, Took Cardui, and Got Well.

Richmond, Ind.—"I thought I would write a line or so, to say that I owe my good health and strength to Cardui," says a letter from Mrs. Cora Courtney, 31 Railroad Street, this city.

"I was all run-down until my family thought they would lose me," writes Mrs. Courtney. "My husband coaxed me to take Cardui, so, to please him, I did, and will say I do not regret it, for I am able to do all my work and do my shopping."

"I have five children, four in school, my husband and a boarder to do for, and I do all my own work for all of us, and find time to play. We all praise Cardui. Every sick and run-down woman should take this wonderful medicine."

"I suffered with my back; a very weak feeling in my limbs.

"I felt hardly able to drag; just tired—so tired all the time.

"It was an effort for me to do anything, but Cardui helped me so I felt like a different woman."

If you are in a run-down physical condition, suffering as this Indiana lady says she did, give Cardui a fair trial. It should help you. Take Cardui. NC-147

Will Hereafter Be Two Reports On Intentions Of Farmer To Plant

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—In response to demands from farmers and others for continuance and expansion of its reports on intentions of farmers to plant crops, the department of agriculture announced today it would issue two such reports each year hereafter.

Evidence is available, department officials say, that with farmers generally made readjustments in acreage in an effort to prevent over- or under-planting of crops and to bring the prospective production into better correlation with demand.

"The heavy losses to producers from over-production and to consumers from under production of certain crops has created a demand for some method of avoiding these disasters," a statement issued by the department says. "The potato crop of 1922, for example, was so large, 451,000,000 bushels, that thousands of bushels were never dug. This was one cause of the present depression in the Northwest. Over-production due to expanded acreage can be avoided by farmers by giving due attention to the early intentions reports. A slight over-production frequently depresses the producers' prices without corresponding benefits to consumers."

The value of the service is brought out in a comparison between the April intentions report and the July acreage report this year, department officials point out. The intentions report indicated a 10 per cent increase in the tobacco acreage over 1922 while the July acreage report showed an increase of only 2.1 per cent was planted. Had farmers not had information of what tobacco growers as a group intended to do, it is declared, the actual acreage planted might well have been considerably larger than last year, the result being possibly an even larger tobacco crop than was actually grown, depending, of course, on weather and growing conditions.

A similar situation is shown for oats, flax, potatoes and corn of which farmers planted acreages smaller than the intentions report indicated. In spring wheat and barley, farmers evidently regarded the intended plantings as too low and the actual performance was an increase.

Lake County Realtors At State Convention Orlando Next Week

Baby Board of State Will Have Bills On

ORLANDO, Fla., Nov. 1.—(Special) Lake County Realtors are coming to the State Realtor's Convention in Orlando November 5-6 with 100 percent of their membership, headed by president George R. Wheeler and secretary J. R. Ashmore. This is the baby board of the state, the most recently organized realty board, having only been in existence a few weeks, but already it has made a large place for itself in the life of this progressive county.

The fact that George R. Wheeler is president of the Lake county realty board alone insures the attendance of this board 100 percent next week at the state convention for George is one of the prime movers in the Realtors Rotary Club, the organization that set a world record when the membership attended the International Rotary convention 100 percent at St. Louis last June.

Miami is bringing a brass band along to "whoop it up" for the magic city, they are also bringing a song leader and a bunch of husky singers for the Miami crowd can sing as well as they boost and work that city.

Davenport in Pory county is also bringing their membership 100 percent to the state convention in Orlando November 5-6. This live crowd had 100 percent attendance at the National Realtor's Convention in Cleveland in June, they know how to do that sort of a thing.

In fact the 1923 convention of the Florida Realtors' Association at Orlando will be a 100 percent convention in every particular. At least five boards in the state will bring a 100 percent attendance, the program will be 100 percent inspiring and practical, the entertainment features 100 percent "in sunshine and cheer, no moonshine or beer," all the 100 percent realtors of the state will be in attendance, including 100 percent of the officers of the state association, 100 percent of the realty boards of the state will be represented.

This Seventh Annual Convention of the Florida Realtors' Association will be a meeting that no one interested in the handling of real estate in Florida can afford to miss.

WEEKLY WEATHER AND CROP BULLETIN

For the week ending October 29: The weather was dry, "sunny, and unusually cool for the season. Light frost occurred over the northern and western counties on 24, 25 and 26; and locally in upper counties on 24 and 25; other than slight damage to very tender truck no ill effects results. The week was one of the driest of the year and some uplands need rain very bad; low lands continue in good condition, but moderate rains on some lands would be beneficial. The lands are drying in the Okeechobee district; waters are within the canals over much of the territory which was recently flooded as a result of the breaking of the dykes in the Moore Haven district.

The cool, dry weather was ideal for harvesting hay, digging sweet potatoes, maturing and coloring citrus fruits, and syrup making. The setting of cabbage and strawberry plants continued where soil moisture was ample; celery and lettuce are in fair to good condition—benefited by cooler weather. Moderate shipments of beans, peppers, squash, and other truck continued; as a whole, the weather during the fall months has been very favorable for trucking over all portions of the Section, except the immediate Okeechobee district. Oats and rye need rain, but made fair to good progress. The peanut crop has been harvested. The shipping of citrus fruits increased; the bulk of the satsuma crop has been shipped from some districts in the western belt. The cool, dry weather unfavorably affected ranges.

English Author Boosts Paige Automobiles

John Phillimore, author of "Motor Road Transport" and an authority of motor cars in England, wrote the following articles which appeared recently in The Financial Times, London, England.

Mr. Phillimore, with the usual distaste of the British automobile expert for American-made cars does not spare himself in criticizing automobiles made in the United States. This article was devoted to one of the more popular makes of American cars which has been in big demand in England this year. Excerpts follow: "Paige cars have always been well turned out, and the latest four-passenger phaeton of 70 horse-power is undoubtedly an attractive model. Let it be said at the outset that the power denomination need not frighten the timid, for although the car will do its 65 miles an hour or so with full load on a level road, it can be driven at moderate speeds with ease and comfort. To have power in reserve is not extravagant, rather the reverse. The model with all its complete equipment—is not expensive, and for the motorist who likes smooth swiftness, a goodly margin of power always ready to the touch, and an occasional burst of joyous speed when an open and free road is entered, this car has an undoubted appeal.

"The engine, clutch and gear box are assembled as a unit and the whole is suspended in the chassis at three points. The general design of the car is, with a few exceptions, neat, and affords accessibility. The engine has a bore and stroke of 3.3-4 and 5 inches and both head and cylinder block are detachable. The crankshaft is carried in four bearings, the valves are arranged side-by-side and the timing is by chain-drive. There is a welcome absence of slovenliness in the planning of the car, which cannot always be said of American productions. For example, the silent chain driving the camshaft (and on the near side of the engine the vertically set distributor and oil pump, the water pump and the generator) is tensioned automatically. Again, the clutch spigot is oiled from the crankshaft, and therefore requires no attention, the universal joints at the propeller shaft ends will run for 15,000 miles on one charge of oil, and the chassis lubrication is effected by a sensible form of oil or grease gun.

"With regard to the cooling system, the radiator has ample surface, is fitted with a convenient type of filler cap in which is a thermometer, and is suspended by two arms from the cross-member. The practice of attaching the radiator thus is sound, since it helps to minimize any tendency to strain due to flame distortion. A thermostat device cuts the radiator out of the circulating system while the water is below a certain temperature.

"The steering of the car tested was by worm and half nuts, though I believe this is being changed for worm and complete wheel. For brakes, drums on the back wheels are utilized inside and outside. It is but a matter of time, in my opinion, before cars of the Paige order have adequate four-wheel braking, wherein proper compensation and simple adjustments are furnished.

"For action, the brakes were not unsatisfactory, but are capable of improvement. The suspension is superior, and the car holds the road at all times as well as any car I know. The steering was a trifle heavy on the lock, but proved quite steady, and the driver's wrists are free from fatiguing shake. The clutch behaved well, the engine never showed signs of overheating and the gears are orthodox in the matter of being changed. Second speed was inclined to jump out at high crankshaft speed, but this should be rectifiable by a stronger spring.

Oklahoma Solons Preparing For Walton's Trial

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 31.—The House impeachment committee today began investigating the departments of health, highways, affairs and game, while the legislature was completing final arrangements for the impeachment trial of Governor J. C. Walton Thursday.

The first issue of the daily newspaper published by Governor Walton for the announced purpose of carrying on his side of the impeachment proceedings appeared today. The paper, named "Jack Walton's Daily," carried lengthy articles attacking alleged Ku Klux Klan influence over the legislature and other departments of the state government. In it the governor reiterated his charge that his impeachment was the result of a Klan conspiracy in the lower house.

"Although the Paige will do its walking crawl on top, and make a clean acceleration therefrom, I should like it better had it a fourth speed, so that early changes could be made. It is, of course, but fair to add that many motorists do not care about gear-changing and that the manufacturer has naturally to meet the demands of the many rather than of the few. The engine ran quietly and smoothly throughout its range, but the lower gears might be made quieter. They were not noisy, but at say 25 miles an hour on second, there was an inclination to grumble.

"Hills have few terrors for the car. With a full load, the lowest rate recorded on second on Westerham was 27 miles an hour. On Titsey a steady 27-28 miles per hour was maintained on the steep section and the climb finished on top at 45. Kidd's Hill, a mile pull of average 1 in 8 gradient, in Sussex, was run up on second with 30 miles per hour as a minimum.

"In fact my impression of the 6-70 Paige was that the car is built to last, capable of being worked hard without complaint and at the same time of giving enjoyment by reason of its 'joie de vivre'."

Homeseeker Rate Offer Held To Be Impractical

Group of five homeseeker rates to Florida, as announced by Southern railroad lines through H. N. Rodenbaugh, general manager of the Florida East Coast, are impractical and unsatisfactory, the city commission decided at its meeting last night, and the railroad are urged in a resolution adopted to grant the homeseeker committee of the Florida Realtors' association an opportunity to present the state's case again. Individual homeseeker rates are also asked for in the resolution adopted.

H. H. Richardson, chairman of the homeseeker committee of the realtors' association, appeared before the commission and declared the rate is unsatisfactory. He stated that the realtors association has been working on the matter for a year and a half and appreciated the co-operation of the commission.

"All that Florida wants," he said, "is homeseeker rates identical to those now in effect to the west and Canada."

These are individual rates, he explained, and have 21 day stop over privileges. Mr. Richardson also expressed the opinion before the commission that April to September is the wrong season for homeseeker rates to Florida and said that the realtors' association is working for is for the rates to be put in effect two days monthly every month in the year. The Illinois Central and the Seaboard Air Line have consistently favored homeseeker rates, he declared, while the Atlantic Coast Line and the Florida East Coast have opposed them.

The resolution adopted by the commission was introduced by Commissioner Valtz and seconded by Commissioner Acosta. It was unanimously adopted.—Jacksonville Journal.

ONE MILLION VISITORS COMING TO FLORIDA THIS YEAR SAYS BLAND

"Florida will have at least 1,000,000 visitors this winter," declared Hon. W. T. Bland, president of the First National Bank in Orlando, upon his return to the City Beautiful, yesterday. "These figures," he continued, "are based on statistics compiled by the Jacksonville newspapers and from other sources. They figure that automobiles alone will bring nearly 500,000 persons into Florida this winter. Take 500,000 persons and figure that they will spend $100 each and you will find that the tourist crop will amount to $50,000,000."

Judge Bland and Mrs. Bland have been in New York and other eastern points for the past month, the latter there since June and returning to Orlando greatly improved in health.

"While I was away I had an opportunity to talk to many bankers," said Judge Bland, "and they are of the opinion that a horde of new capital and gold will flow into Florida in the next few years due to the favorable laws here relating to State inheritance and income taxes. This subject has been largely discussed in the eastern press and banking circles. What little amount the state of Florida may lose in not collecting state inheritance and income taxes will be repaid a hundred fold by investors."

"Orlando was frequently mentioned by big business men with whom I came in contact and they were anxious to know more about this thriving, progressive city. I find that our city is demanding more and more attention all the time."

"Florida is coming into a future where big things are underway in this state. Hereafter, it might and where big money has its eye be said, Florida has been doing things in a small way but now the program is to do things on a larger scale. And in this large program of investing and developing, all Florida, and not a part, will benefit. The whole state is before the people of the north from the laboring class to the bankers."

"Florida's future is assured for many reasons. First, we have the advantage of close proximity with the eastern cities and manufacturing centers. To reach Florida it is unnecessary to cross two mountain ranges and travel days at a time, sometimes crossing a desert. You will find this will not only be America's playground but it will be America's land of opportunity. In the years to come the products of fauna and flora in the great mid-western centers will be exported from Southern ports. Waterways will play a great part in the development of the south and power plants will ultimately be developed. "Orlando is building for the future in a permanent manner which is encouraging to not only investors but to the home people as well."

who feel that their energy and money has been safely and wisely expended. I really believe that Florida is destined to be a very great city and that there will only be three port cities exceeding its population when the next census is taken. We have everything in our favor and we are attracting new capital and now people every hour of the day."

County Motor Deputy Is Exonerated Today By Coroner's Jury

For Killing Negro Auto Driver on Road Last Sunday

County Motorcycle Deputy C. C. Stephenson was forced to shoot a negro named Son Coker last Sunday afternoon while the negro was advancing on him with a knife when the officer tried to place him under arrest. The negro was drunk and had been doing some reckless driving and the officer was placing him under arrest when he pulled this knife and started after the officer. The negro was shot three times and was immediately brought here to the hospital but died the day after. The remains were taken to the undertaker on Sanford avenue and while there were viewed by the coroner's jury and were then shipped to DeLand the home of the negro. The coroner's jury met again this morning and with the state attorney, George A. DeCottes and county attorney Scheele Maines again went over the case and the jury retired to bring in a verdict of justifiable homicide by an officer in the discharge of his duty.

Officer Stephenson is a fine young officer and has been very impartial in the discharge of his duties and while he regrets taking human life it was his life or the negro's and he only fired in self defense.

ONE FLORIDA ACRE WORTH MORE THAN ALL GOLDEN WEST

"Now that I have seen what has been told me was the Golden West I am the better satisfied to stay right here in Florida," says Howard Row-ten, upon his return from the national convention of the American Legion at San Francisco. "We had a splendid time while away, and we saw hundreds of things of interest. It is true. We obtained some idea of the vastness of that portion of the country west of the Mississippi and we saw mountains galore. Things out there are on a big scale both as regards nature and the work of man. It would be useless for me to tell anything about any of it, for everyone has read and been told about it; but I'm telling you that I would trade a quart of the old Saint Johns river for the whole of Colorado river, for an acre of Florida for the entire western territory."

More disclosures are being made each day about the probing of the Disabled Veterans' Bureau. Men making money from crippled soldiers are men who would rob a cemetery.

We should all strive to make Armistice Day one of the greatest days in the year for that is what the day really means. Those that really suffered by the World War know what it means.

England has accepted Frank Kellogg as the official ambassador and we hope that being the ambassador to England will not swell the head of Mr. Kellogg as it did Col. Gawge Harvey, Esquire.

We believe that Sanford is the place for Henry Ford to have his assembling plant if he intends to have one in Florida. Sanford has everything that is needed in the way of rates and distribution and Sanford likes Henry and his products.

The Sanford Herald says the season for candidates' speeches is not yet open. It never is going to be very wide open for the Star. If you want to know what a candidate has to say, go hear him. He seldom means half he says, anyhow.—Ocala Star.

The English speaking peoples can save civilization from doom says Lloyd George in one of his speeches. And there was never truer words spoken. In all the strife and bad blood and dissension today it seems that England and America must stand together to make world peace lasting.

Nathan Mayo, the new Commissioner of Agriculture, takes his seat today and in Nathan Mayo Florida has a real farmer, a real business man and a Florida booster. He should make Florida one of the best commissioners of agriculture that the state has ever had and the editor of the Herald believes that Governor Hardee made an appointment in this office that could not be improved upon.

Looks like cooler weather and this is the time for the merchants to put on sales and dispose of the winter goods before the holidays. While there is always cold weather in January and February it is a well known fact that people want their winter clothing before the holidays and they usually buy it at this time of the year. Putting on sales now is making money and bringing in new people to trade in Sanford.

An air mail service is now assured to Jacksonville and in a few years this air mail service will be extended all over Florida. Sanford is already on the aerial maps as a stopping place between Jacksonville and Tampa and we should preserve the aviation field for this purpose if for no other. To be a stopping place on the aerial routes will be just as important as being a stopping place for the railways and bus lines.

Now that we have settled the rum running business between America and England it seems that we can stop the rum ships anywhere between the Tropic of Cancer and the Tropic of Barleycorn and the rum hounds had better beware. They cannot have any more peace on the ocean wave and it will be up to the ships that pass in the night to pass very quietly or they will be found and searched. This old business of going down to the sea in ships is getting plenty of thrills.

FOR THANKSGIVING.

Among the many things we have to be thankful for this year, says Edward S. Martin in the November Harper's is that: "We are getting to know a great deal more about our neighbors in the world, their habits, dispositions and politics, than we used to. The papers print many times as much foreign news as they did ten years ago, and print it much more conspicuously, and we read much more of it because we think it concerns us. That is a significant change and we should count it a gain, and feel that it makes in its way for eventual peace and order.

"Finally, we have abundant cause to be thankful that we live in such lively times, when there is so much going on and nobody knows what will happen tomorrow. A gamble is always interesting, so much so that folks incline to pay too much for it. But for us that interest in life is abundantly provided without effort of our own or deviation from the paths of discretion. We have only to keep track of current events and the process of reconstruction as they work out in the world, and as we look ahead there looms up a speculation the like of which there never was. These times are not humdrum anyhow. Let us be thankful for that. Thanksgiving certainly brings us more this year than turkey, roast and boiled, and three kinds of pie."

DOUGHBOYS HAVE HAD ENOUGH

Back of all the big armament talk and big army and navy and aviation talk are the men who think they will get a good job as an officer—that a war would give them a better position than they now hold and that war would give the men in big business a chance to graft the government again. All of those who are not going into the ranks as doughboys and stand in the trenches are in favor of more wars and do all the talking about wars. If they had to go into the ranks they would never think of another war again. The Jacksonville Journal says:

"The investigation of the Veterans' Bureau has a tragic suggestion to it. Back of all the charges and counter-charges the politics and the noise, are thousands of boys who lie in hospitals and suffer in silence, victims of these things. There are thousands of other boys who should be in hospitals and who are not cared for because of these things. Others have already died in neglect.

"Graters and other blood-feeders can be punished, but the wrong that has been done many of these boys can not be fought, as far as they are concerned the finger of fate has written and moved on; they are the tragic and post-sacrifices of war.

"There is only one way to prevent these things, and these body-broken boys and their comrades who were fortunate enough to return in health, with only mental memories to haunt them, and those who sleep in lonely places in the great silence of their own youth, marched away to war with the promise ringing in their ears, the promise of an end of wars. That promise cannot be withdrawn. It is written in blood drawn from hearts that were responsive to the appeal of a nation. And a nation that calls upon men to die for it and which does not keep faith with them cannot expect to live. It seals its own doom for faith is the breath and soul of government.

"There must be no more wars, if we are to keep faith, and everything must be done AT ONCE to relieve the suffering of the boys, our boys! That's about all that can be done. The rest is shameful history."

A SNAPPY CAMPAIGN

The Tampa Times says that the editor of the Gainesville Sun is too impatient about wanting to see politics open up with a little more snap than is in evidence so far. The Times says that "the people are tired of politics—and politicians. The primary date is nearly eight months in the future, and it would be a great misfortune if this long period should be filled with excitement and wrangling. Let's make it short and snappy—one of those whirlwind campaigns."

We quite agree with the Times about the people being tired of politics but the fact is this campaign has been open already for fully a year. What we complain about is that the blamed thing drags. Under the primary system we are practically in politics all the time. We have to be. Take for instance the present race for governor. It has been fully a year since the people were given to understand, either by direct or indirect announcements, that certain gentlemen were in the field for governor and, indeed, at least four distinguished Floridians have been actually at work for that length of time and have been suffering the agony of slow death. What we complain about is the want of "pep."—Gainesville Sun.

THE STATE ROAD PROBLEM.

Florida's road problem is one for the state. Noble work has been done by the counties of South Florida in the past, but the task is becoming too great for independent localities to assume.

Every highway built in the future should be built in accordance with a statewide plan, and with reference to its connection with other roads. It should also be built according to specifications approved by the best engineering authority.

Agitation of this question in the state papers will bring the final solution nearer. Some splendid articles have been published by the Highlands County Pilot and by the Lakeland Star-Telegram. They are taking the broad view, which this paper has previously announced, that the situation has ceased to be local. The Star-Telegram would like to see the question of a $75,000,000 road bond issue submitted to the people of Florida.

The Courier would be in hearty accord with such a proposition. County road construction is about at the end of its tether. Traffic today thinks in terms of states or even larger divisions. The road which you traverse from end to end on half a gallon of gas is a mere neighborhood institution, and no matter how good, only on unimportant incident in what should be the general scheme of state highways.

which connects important points—a road which is uniform in character and width—a road which pays no attention to county lines—a road, in short, which does not convey to the sophisticated traveler the information that it was built to catch the votes of a particular locality.

But whatever else we do, let's proceed right. Roads built in the past sufficed for the needs of a past period. But they are not adapted to the needs of the present, and will be less adapted to the future. It is time to design a highway which will stand, and build it by some authority, either state or national, which can command sufficient capital to complete it.—Plant City Courier.

DO WE WANT TOURISTS?

This question has been asked in Sanford so often in the past twenty years and has been answered by the Herald so often that we take pleasure in reproducing an editorial from the Plant City Courier on the question that more nearly covers our field and condition:

"Plant City differs from most other towns in South Florida in making no effort to attract or accommodate the tourists. At the same time it has prospered more in proportion to its population, perhaps, than any other town in the state.

"Has it prospered because of its attitude toward tourist traffic, or in spite of it?"

"This is a vitally important question. If its anti-tourist policy is profitable, it should be adhered to; if not, then, the addition of the tourist business to its other industries would mean a great increase of population, wealth and annual income.

"There is something to be said on both sides. Self reliance has doubtless contributed greatly to the city's success. Its people have gone out and labored for their income instead of waiting for strangers to bring it to them from the north. It has formed habits of industry, enterprise, business push and hustle, which are sadly lacking in some localities where the tourist is the chief source of revenue. The city certainly has little to regret in his past policy. On the other hand, if we can hold what we have—our most substantial asset being the thrift and energy of our people—and at the same time add tourist entertainment to our activities, it will mean a great progressive step.

Plant City's major activities should be considered separately, in connection with the possible effect of the tourist trade on each of them.

"First comes strawberries. This is the biggest strawberry shipping point in the world, and that distinction must be maintained at all costs. The tourist business would probably not interfere with it one way or the other.

"This is one of the great citrus points, and there is room for some increase in that line. The coming of the tourists would stimulate the citrus business, judging from results elsewhere. It is a line which appeals strongly to northerners—with capital, and there is no better gold anywhere for that sort of endeavor.

more interesting than the canned stuff with which a good many tourist boarding hotels are provided.

"Upon the whole, therefore, it looks like a good business move to provide some means by which tourist entertainment can be added to our industries, but taking great care to make it supplement rather than supplant our other sources of income.

Probably thinking it was an office seeker the governor of Michigan hit a pig with his auto.

SOUTHERN COLLEGE FOOTBALL TEAM ATTACKS STETSON HATTERS SATURDAY

This is expected to be one of the most interesting games of the season. Both teams are in excellent shape, and are eager for the match. October 13, the Southern took the Hatters in camp by one point, the score being 14-13, and the Hatters are determined to reverse the result of that game.

Southern has one of the strongest football aggregations that she has produced since 1910, when she took the state championship.

Stetson also has a very good team, and with teams as evenly matched as these seem to be, an excellent game should result with the score close for the winner.

In Whitnell, the speedy and excellent quarterback to manage the playing, Stetson has one of her strongest players. In the back field to assist him will probably be Johnson, the bar-hitting, line-going, full-back. Johnson is doing good work this week. Teare, the steady yet aggressive half, will also be there to do his bit. Courtney also has shown some fine stuff. Coy has been lame for several days, but will possibly be seen in the line-up.

Stetson's line will just have to be seen in action. Dody, our line star, and Layton, who gets the man he's after, will play the tackle. Boyle, the tough captain, and Hargraves, will watch end positions. With 230 pound guard, Miller, and his other team mates, Stetson will answer for herself in Saturday's game.

Michigan-Iowa Game May Prove "Dope" Upsetter

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—While the Milwaukee-Chicago game Saturday at Urbana is holding the principal attention in big football circles this week, there is a likelihood that the encounter between Michigan and Iowa may have as important bearing on the outcome of the conference season.

Coach Yost has a veteran team to send against the Hawkeyes, Iowa, however, has twice been tested against Strong and the defeat at the hands of Illinois has only served to strengthen the Iowa team.

Both Michigan and Iowa have defeated Ohio by about the same scores indicating that the two teams are evenly matched.

Chicago and Illinois are in the heart of their training week today, perfecting their offense. Many believe that Coach Stagg will have his team uncock a forward pass on Saturday to compete with the open playing of the Illinois team.

Zev Easily Wins $5,000 Stakes Race

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Zev today demonstrated that he is fit for the $50,000 championship at Latonia next Saturday when he will meet My Own in what may prove the deciding three year old test of the year, by galloping to easy victory in the $5,000 autumn championship stakes, feature event of the closing days' card at Empire City track.

The race, at a mile for all ages, proved little more than a workout for the conqueror of Papyrus, which will be shipped tomorrow to Latonia. Ridden by Earl Sande and carrying 120 pounds, Zev breezed under the wire in 1:40 3-5, five lengths ahead of Brackadale, a stable mate. Harry Payne Whitney's Tryster was third and Laddion, the only other starter finished fourth after breaking away to run three quarters of a mile before the race.

Zev was worked an extra furlong by Sande, finishing the mile and an eighth in 1:56 1-5.

The Rancocas star went to the post coupled with Brackadale at Tryster set the pace for the first odds of 1 to 15 in the betting, half mile after which Zev took command and was never threatened.

Sande, who will ride Zev in the Latonia championship, left for Cincinnati tonight.

A number of friends of the family of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Lundquist gathered at their home to celebrate the fifteenth birthday anniversary of Eric Lundquist last Tuesday evening.

On returning, Miss Eunice remained at home for the Halloween party.

There are to be two parties in Grapeville Wednesday evening. One to be held at the home of Leonard West for the children and the grown-ups will be the guests of the Misses Florence and Eunice Tyner and their brother, Elmer. Everyone is expected to wear a costume appropriate for the season.

George Ballinger has purchased some strawberry plants of John Dorff, who has a large crop of the luscious fruit.

Rev. J. S. Clark will be with us next Sunday. Sunday school will be conducted at 2:30 o'clock. Preaching service will be held at 3:30. All are expected to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Peterson and daughter Idalene, of Holly Hill, were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Lundquist, and attended the service at the Lutheran church. Mrs. Peterson and daughter recently returned from a sojourn in Knoxville, Tenn., where they spent several months with Mrs. Sjoblom.

Miss Edwina Peterson is taking a course in nurse's training in a hospital in that city.

The Lutheran church services were well attended last Sunday afternoon, when Rev. Eckhart baptized five little children. Lake Okeechobee Gauges Indicate A Slight Decrease

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Oct. 30.—A slight downward tendency was indicated at the several gauging stations around Lake Okeechobee but not yet sufficient for a definite record and the semi-weekly summary of Everglades drainage conditions, issued today by the chief engineer. The summary reported favorable weather conditions during the last three days of last week, and tractors were reported in the fields in many localities and land preparation for farming crops increasing in amount.

The summary reported diminishing inflow to the lake from tributary streams, which, it was predicted, will be reflected in a lower lake level soon.

No important changes took place in either the East Coast or in the Caloosahatchee section.

NATIONAL POLITICAL BAROMETER WILL NOT BE AFFECTED BY TUESDAY'S ELECTION

Off Year Election Over Scattered Territory in United States

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—The national political barometer is not likely to be much affected by the off-year elections to be held in scattering states throughout the country on next Tuesday.

Vermont will elect a United States senator to succeed the late William P. Dillingham, and a representative; New York will elect four representatives, and Maryland, Kentucky and Mississippi will choose governors.

In the few other states which hold elections, referendums and election of state legislatures hold the interest.

The four congressional elections in New York are to fill vacancies. In the 11th district, the candidates are Anning S. Pratt, democrat; Guy O. Palmer, republican, and W. H. Dearing, socialist; in the 16th district, John L. O'Connor, democrat, John C. O'Connor, republican, and Philip Zausner, socialist; in the 24th district Edward R. Koch, democrat; Benjamin L. Mairerid, republican, and Alexander Braunstein, socialist, and in the 32nd district, Daniel C. Burke, democrat, Thaddeus C. Sweet, republican, and James A. Manson, socialist.

Chief interest in the New York election is centered in the lower house of the state assembly. At present the assembly is made up of 81 republicans and 69 democrats. The democrats have been conducting a vigorous campaign to control the lower house as they already control the senate. Governor Smith is a democrat.

Majority elections will be held in two score cities and supreme court justices will be chosen in several judicial districts.

Maryland will elect a governor, state officer, a new house of delegates and one half of the senate membership. Governor Ritchie is opposed for re-election by Alexander Armstrong, republican, attorney-general. Both are avowedly wet, but as the republican platform ignored the prohibition question the association against prohibition has endorsed Governor Ritchie.

Interest in Pennsylvania has been confined largely to county and other local contests, the results of which may have some bearing on the voting next year for delegates to the national party conventions.

Four proposed amendments to the state constitution are to be acted upon. One would permit the state to borrow $50,000,000 for road building and repairing; another would exempt from taxation buildings used by G. A. R. and American Legion posts and similar organizations; the third would provide for classification of counties and municipalities for legislative purposes, and the fourth would permit transportation companies to grant passes or reduced rates to clergymen, which is now prohibited by the state constitution.

In New Jersey the principal interest has been focused on efforts of the democrats to reduce the republican majority in the state assembly. The are now 44 republicans and 16 democrats. The state senate is composed of 17 republicans and four democrats and eight new senators are to be chosen.

There is only one election of consequence in the west, and that is a referendum in Oregon on a state income tax measure.

CITRUS FRUIT INSPECTION HEADQUARTERS AT ORLANDO

ORLANDO, Nov. 1.—The central office of the Florida citrus fruit inspection service will be located here, it has been definitely announced by S. K. Guernsey, executive secretary of the chamber of commerce. Inspections are expected to begin about November 15, it is understood, when about 75 inspectors will start work in the state. They will officially grade and label citrus fruit packed in Florida for shipment. The service is furnished by the government and is paid for by the shippers at the rate of five cents for each box inspected. This arrangement enables the shippers, it is stated, to sell a particular grade of fruit at a certain price, and the wholesale purchasers must accept the grading of the experts.

NATHAN MAYO NEW COM. MISSIONER OF AGRICULTURE

Mr. Mayo says that he will continue the advertising policy of Mr. McRae, in letting the world know of the many advantages Florida possesses as an agricultural and fruit growing state. He is a great advocate of cooperative marketing, having had a great deal of successful, personal experience.

Now it may be well to let the people of Florida who are not acquainted with their new commissioner of agriculture know something about his life history, so here it is:

Nathan Mayo was born on a plantation at Whitakers, Nash county, N. C., December 1, 1876. His father was Col. James M. Mayo and a native of Richmond, Va., and his mother a native of North Carolina. His family moved to Florida in 1886 and settled at Ocala, where he finished his education in the public schools.

At the age of 12 years he undertook his first business venture which was a cool drink and confectionery stand under the firm name of Mayo and Livingston, their building being a piano box, and next door to the Monroe & Chambliss bank. At the age of 14 years and between school hours he began working for the Anti-Monopoly Drug Store. This position he held, becoming part owner of same, until he was 23. Finding the business very confining and very much against his health, he moved to Summerfield, Marion county, with a capital of less than $200 and started a small store in which the postoffice was located. After five years he was owner of a flourishing country store and today the Mayo-Lyles store is the largest general store between Ocala and Dade City. The firm has done some extensive business as cotton buyers, and buyers of farm produce, and handle everything from the "cradle to the grave."

In 1889 Mr. Mayo was married to Miss Nora Newsom, daughter of Dr. W. V. Newsom, of Ocala, Fla., and who was one of the most capable physicians in the state during his life time. Mrs. Mayo has been closely identified with her husband in all of his business undertakings, and has inspired him with both idea and enthusiasm. They have three children. Mr. Mayo is an active member of the Methodist church and is affiliated with the Masons, Klukhs of Phythias, and Independent Order of Odd Fellows.

He is interested in and operates a large farm and nursery at Summerfield and owns citrus groves at Weisale and extensive real estate holdings. He has always been a great worker for good roads and the small farmers in helping them market their crops to the best advantage. He is a director of the Monroe & Chambliss National bank, Ocala, Fla., of the Florida development board, Summerfield Tomato Growers' Association, Marion County Fair and Agricultural Association. Was a practical naval stores operator for several years, and until the boll weevil destroyed the cotton crops, was president and general manager of the Farmers Gin and Mill Company, which was one of the largest cotton gins in the central part of the state.

Mr. Mayo served in the 1921 and 1923 terms of house of representatives from Marion county in which position he has made an enviable record. During the 1923 session he served on the following committees: Agriculture, appropriation, finance and taxation, public roads, efficiency, legislative expense, insurance and was chairman of convicts committee. He also served on the following special committees: Investigation of boys school at Marianna and the Hospital for the Insane at Chattahoochee; was chairman of house conference committee on appropriation bill.

Mr. Mayo was joint author of the bill making an appropriation to fight the boll weevil that has about wiped out the cotton industry of this state. It will be remembered that the abolishing of the convict lease system bill, which was finally accepted by the house and senate conference committee, was the house convict committee amendment, of which Mr. Mayo was chairman.

2,500 FOREIGN AUTOMOBILES IN TAMPA

TAMPA, Nov. 1.—Twenty-five hundred foreign automobiles have been listed in Hillsborough county since September 18 under provisions of the Florida motor vehicle law, according to figures compiled by the county traffic department. Machines bearing Georgia licenses take a decided lead among the various states, L. M. Hiers, chief of the county traffic department, states. Ohio has the next highest list, with Illinois third, Michigan fourth and Indiana a close fifth.

Production of Motor Cars in Big Volume Requires Vast Resources and Facilities

Top picture shows Plant 2 of The Studebaker Corporation, South Bend, where the Light-Six models are manufactured complete. The middle view shows Plant 1, also at South Bend, where the open and closed bodies, springs, windshields, etc., for all models are made. Studebaker's Detroit plants are not shown in the above illustrations.

STUDEBAKER'S production record of 110,540 cars for the first eight months of this year—surpassing the record for the entire year of 1922—has caused wide comment in motor and business circles.

In an effort to keep pace with demand, Studebaker produced, during the month of August, a total of 15,700 cars, which broke all records for a single month's production, and indications point to a continued, heavy demand.

Such an achievement requires enormous physical and financial resources, an idea of which may be gained by the knowledge that Studebaker's actual net assets total $90,000,000 including $45,000,000 in plants.

Notable among these plants are the immense new factories at South Bend, Ind., in which the Light-Six models are manufactured complete. They reflect the results of six years' exhaustive investigation and study by construction engineers and production men, and are recognized as among the most modern and efficient manufacturing plants in the world.

Innovation in Assembly

One of the greatest advances the automobile industry has made has been in the direction of building motor cars of lighter weight without the sacrifice of strength, thus making them sturdy and serviceable, yet economical in operation.

The Studebaker Light-Six is a striking example of such a car, and every detail in connection with the arrangement of the various factory buildings, the selection and placing of machinery and stock has been inspired by the desire on the part of Studebaker experts to manufacture the Light-Six on the most economical and efficient basis, and to give the purchaser the benefit of savings effected.

One of the striking innovations and efficiency ideas in the new factory is to be found in the building where final assembly is carried on. Here an improvement on the familiar conveyor system used in automobile factories is employed. Endless Chain to Completion

Moving along on an "endless chain" behind each frame upon which a car is assembled is a carrier upon which the various units that go into the car are hung. These units, such as transmission, steering assembly, axles, etc., are stacked alongside the endless chain, and placed on the carriers as they go by.

When the last of these units is hung upon the carriers, the actual assembly of the complete car begins, under careful and expert supervision, an improvement upon the former method of long draw-out, piecemeal assembly. The arrangement of this progressive assembly also provides for the mechanical handling of all material, and it reduces to a minimum the cost and confusion of moving stock.

The sub-assembly building, where the various units themselves are assembled, is four stories high, of reinforced concrete construction, and has an interior bay open to the roof. The bay is covered with a glass skylight, and is equipped with crane service and landing balconies on all floors for the quick and economical handling of materials.

The bay also has a depressed unloading track with accommodations for ten freight cars. In this sub-assembly building are located the store-rooms, tool departments, machinery maintenance and repair departments, together with factory administration offices and employees' restaurant.

The great building that houses the stamping department which represents an investment of $4,000,000, is of steel-frame construction, with tile roof and glass sides. Heavy metal-forming presses manufacture the frames, fenders, hoods and other stamped parts of the car, while huge ovens are utilized for the baking of the enameled pieces.

Visitors who make the trip through the Light-Six factory always like to linger in this department, watch the interesting processes performed—veritable miracles they seem—and study the remarkable economies in operation, as well as the perfect accuracy and efficiency with which each task is completed.

Modernity of Facilities

Among many notable features of manufacture which illustrate the modernity of facilities of the Light-Six plants are the machine shops which alone represent an investment of $7,000,000. Here the Light-Six crankshafts and connecting rods are machined to very accurate limits on all surfaces, a practice that is largely responsible for the practical elimination of vibration in the Light-Six—a practice that is followed exclusively by Studebaker on cars at the Light-Six price. Sixty-one precision operations are required on the crankshaft alone.

The South Bend plants contain 4,875,000 square feet of floor space. They employ 12,000 persons. They cost $33,250,000. The South Bend forge plant cost $4,000,000, the power plants $2,500,000 and the assembly and stock plants cost $5,000,000. The new foundries now under construction will cost over $2,000,000.

HEAVY TOURIST TRAVEL.

More than five hundred cars entered Florida Thursday over the road that leads south from the Georgia line to Lake City. It is probable that they averaged three persons to the car or 1,500 in all. Others entered the state further west and it is probable that as many came by the Waycross as by the Lake City road, for it has been known longer as the main entrance to Florida and the tide of travel does not change in a day.

So here we have, in one day, between three and four thousand people coming into this state in automobiles. While it may be assumed that this was an unusual if not an unprecedented number for the time of the year it must be remembered that the tourist season is not yet open. Only the advance guard or more properly speaking, the pickets of the big army are coming now.

So while this number may be unprecedented for the time of year, it is probably not more than the daily average will be when the season is in full swing. Probably an estimate as nearly correct as possible would be one hundred thousand a month for another equal period of time. This would make four hundred and fifty thousand entering the state in automobiles in the winter season.

The steamships entering Florida ports are full almost to capacity and, counting all lines, these will probably bring to the state during the winter season another hundred thousand. The railroads can be counted on to bring in the four hundred and fifty thousand needed to make out the million. We think it probable that nearly if not quite a million tourists will visit Florida this winter and more than one hundred thousand—probably twice that number—will come in the spring and summer.

Four and a half million tourists went to or through Colorado last year but as it is estimated that these spent in the state only $45,000,000, it may be assumed that they went through, few of them stopping. Florida is the end of the journey—not a mere way station on the route. The tourists will probably spend in this state this year nearly one hundred million dollars.

And they will get their money's worth. If they did not they would not come winter after winter. If the visitors were not satisfied the tourist tide would diminish year by year instead of growing steadily and rapidly larger. Population is increasing; wealth is increasing more rapidly than population and the number of people who are ready to turn loose their money for the pleasure of travel is increasing still more rapidly. And most rapid of all is the number of men who are learning that Florida is a land of promise.—Times Union.

THE SALARY LIST OF OFFICE HOLDERS.

Editor Davis, of the Gainesville Sun, is beginning a series of editorials on state taxation and, in the first of the series, he takes up the state's salary list—"the army of office-holders we have in Florida."

Colonel Davis says he desired to print a list of those who are drawing pay and traveling expenses from the state, but found that the space at his command was entirely inadequate for the purpose—for the reason that this list fills FORTY-EIGHT PAGES of the Acts of the Legislature of 1923. That a list of salaried officials of that extent is entirely too large for a state like Florida goes without saying. Editor Davis comments:

"If I had my way I would readily approve all those items relating to the Governor's office and the offices of the members of the cabinet, the expenses of the Supreme Court, the items of expense relating to education, to the experiment station, and part of the items relating to health. From that on—I would use the pruning knife. I would cut and slash. Go look up this act for yourself and see if you do not agree with me. I would cut off some of the bureaus entirely and others I would trim down. Florida, has only about a million of people and yet, we are trying to run it on a scale with the state of New York with its more than ten millions or

School of Education At Florida State Greater Than In Years

Total Enrollment at College Is Nearly One Thousand.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Nov. 1.—The school of education at the Florida State College for Women has an enrollment to date for the season 1923-1924 that is already 75 per cent greater than the total for the entire 1922-1923 session, according to figures compiled by Dean N. M. Salley. Last year the total enrollment of the school of education and normal school was 2167; for the current year the total figure is 376 to date.

This showing, it is declared, is an indication of the increasing interest of Floridians in the work of training teachers.

Dean Salley also shows the increase by classes and courses in the teacher-training department. Last year there were 76 enrolled in the four year course, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science in Education. This year there are 164 in the same course, which is an increase of 115 per cent.

Last year there were 134 enrolled in the two year Normal School course leading to the L. I. degree. This year there are 213 in this course, or an increase of 59 per cent.

The new state scholarship in the School of Education has helped to swell the enrollment in the Freshman class of the School of Education, it is stated, but the largest increases have been in the upper classes that were practically not very much affected by the new state scholarships.

Last year the total enrollment for the State College for Women, winter session, was 733; this year to date the total enrollment for the whole college is 945. This is an increase of 29 per cent. During the same period the School of Education and Normal School has shown 75 per cent.

This showing, it is suggested, is sufficient answer to any suggestion that may have been made that the state should have a separate normal school.

"Give the School of Education and Normal School at the Florida State College for Women the proper support and it will send out hundreds of teachers to the schools of Florida," it is urged.

Illinois with its more than six millions or Georgia with its nearly three millions, or California with its three millions. Lots of members of the last legislature promised before they went to Tallahassee that they were going to use the pruning knife. Did they?

The Tribune trusts that Colonel Davis will pursue his investigations along this line and point out, as he is fully capable of doing, just where the "pruning knife" should be applied to this list of state employees. There must be dozens of offices on that list which are unnecessary—which serve no valuable purpose in the state government—which have been created or allowed to remain thereon for political favoritism or patronage.

The "pruning knife" should be used industriously on these forty-eight pages by the next legislature—and voters should insist that candidates for the legislature pledge themselves to reduce this burden of unnecessary expense and rid the state and the taxpayers of the enormous cost of maintaining these official sinecures and "soft snaps."—Tampa Tribune.

Control Measures For Stem End Rot Florida Citrus Fruits

Have Been Developed Recently By Scientists.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Nov. 1.—Practical control measures for the destructive stem-end rot of Florida oranges and grapefruit have been developed recently by scientists in the United States department of agriculture (according to information received here by the commissioner of agriculture). The most important discovery in this connection, it is said, is that removing the small knobs, or "buttons," which ordinarily are left on the fruits, greatly reduces the danger of infection by either of the two fungi causing this rot which does the most damage when the oranges and grapefruit are in storage, in transit, or on the market, rarely when it is still on the tree.

It has been found that the process of gassing generally practiced for coloring these fruits, is also beneficial in loosening these "buttons" so that the added expense is very low, probably about one cent a box. Other factors, however, enter into the control of this trouble. Growers should keep their trees reasonably free from dead wood as the spores, particularly those of one of the fungi, are produced on the bark of dead twigs and branches. If this pruning is carried on only to the extent required by good orchard practice, the expense will not be great and not all of the cost can be charged to the control of this trouble. The young fruit should be sprayed once or twice with 3-3-50 Bordeaux mixture plus one per cent oil as emulsion during April or certainly not later than May 5 under ordinary Florida conditions. This spraying controls melonose, a surface blemish also caused by one of these two fungi. If the fruit comes from old trees with much dead wood when it should be disbuttoned by gassing, the best process being to subject the fruit for about 36 hours to gas from a gasoline engine exhaust or from a kerosene stove with imperfect combustion. This does the coloring as well as removing the stem buttons.

Even if such trees have been pruned and the young fruit sprayed, removing the "buttons" will add to its keeping quality through more complete protection from stem-end rot. In addition the fruit should be kept at a low temperature, preferably between 40 degrees and 45 degrees F., and the time between picking and consumption should be made as short as possible.

SEVERE BLADDER TROUBLE

"Could not stand nor sit and was forced to cry out from intense pain," writes Henry Williams, Tarkio, Montana. "The doctors said I had inflammation of the bladder and an operation was necessary. Tried Foley Kidney Pills and improved at once. Tell all my friends about Foley Kidney Pills and perhaps, as in my case, a dangerous operation." Bladder and kidney trouble demand prompt treatment. Foley Kidney Pills give quick relief.

HEALTH LECTURE

"Mr. R. J. Holly, "Sanford, Fla., "Dear Sir:

"Attached please find memorandum bearing on lecture which has been arranged for by the Atlantic Coast Line to be delivered at Milane Theatre, Sanford, 3:00 p. m., Sunday, Nov. 18, by Regional Consultant, U. S. Public Health Service. You will probably recall that Capt. Gillette visited Sanford and gave a lecture on Nov. 12, 1922. This lecture, while put on by the railroad, is open to the men and boys of Sanford. It is particularly desired that all boys over 14 years of age attend this lecture. We believe and hope that the information which they will gain will prove of lasting benefit and that these boys will be so thoroughly impressed by the moving pictures which will be used in connection with the lecture that they will never forget the lesson taught. I sincerely hope that you will use your great influence to secure a large attendance at the Milane Theatre on Nov. 18, 1923.

"I shall be glad to furnish you copies of any additional advertising matter that may reach me in connection with this lecture.

"Yours truly, "T. L. Dumas, "Superintendent."

Standing out as the second railway in the South to institute a far-reaching industrial health campaign, which will improve the general health and industrial conditions among its thousands of employes, the Atlantic Coast Line Railway is entering upon a work of public service.

The inauguration of this educational campaign is through arrangement between the Atlantic Coast Line Railway and the Bureau of Communicable Disease of the Florida State Board of Health and the United States Government, and will extend throughout the entire system and will consist of the distribution of literature, the posting of bulletins and exhibits, confidential interviews with employes, free lectures supplemented with motion pictures.

The purpose of the effort is to educate employes of the road to the dangers of social diseases and to teach preventive measures. Probably no single plague has been so costly as has been that of social diseases. Figures compiled by the government show an annual economic waste from this source running into millions of dollars. Florida, owing to certain conditions which have long existed, is more than bearing its share of this waste and to alleviate and check this annual reduction of man-power and dollar-power, this campaign has been planned and will be carried out in the industrial plants of the state.

A careful and accurate survey conducted by the State Board of Health, of rural industrial plants, such as saw mills, turpentine plants and phosphate mines, showed an actual infection rate running from thirty-four to well beyond fifty per cent of the total population surveyed. When these figures are applied to the state as a whole it must certainly be of such a total as to impress any citizen of the enormous burden the state is bearing as a result of social diseases.

A sick man or woman cannot work efficiently. A sick boy or girl cannot study and acquire an education. In the sense that "sick" is used here it must not be understood to imply a degree of sickness that renders the victim inactive or helpless, although when that is the case work or study is impossible. But as here used, the work "sick" is employed in the sense of "something wrong" with the physical man, woman or child; something that impairs physical and mental strength and renders those afflicted incapable of performing their given or voluntary tasks. The sick person may be able to go about, to attend, in some manner, to work or business but the results are not satisfactory to self or employer.

Business executives are ever on the alert to learn new methods for eliminating industrial wastage, from whatever cause it may result. They know that the strands of personal service strengthen the fabric of efficiency; hence their desire to secure better housing facilities for employes; their endorsement of "Safety First" and public health movements; their co-operation in recreational efforts and their increasing interest in all activities covered by the general term social hygiene. This attitude serves a three-fold purpose. It conserves the health of the employe; promotes harmony between him and the employer, and increases the financial returns to both—the one through the medium of wages or profit sharing, the other by increased dividends. These reasons explain the rapidly increasing interest taken by industrial leaders in the national campaign for the control and prevention of venereal diseases.

Railway accidents are a serious cause of waste, and they are not infrequently caused by the effect of the venereal diseases on the nervous system. In the later stages of syphilis insanity is not infrequent. Nervous conditions have much to do with accidents in all walks of life.

As applied to the up-keep of state institutions: the care of a large percentage of the insane, the feeble-minded and epileptic, the blind children and the delinquents in industrial schools; the up-keep of jails and prisons; the up-keep of charity hospitals. As applied to individuals: sickness, poverty, unhappiness, death, the disruption of homes and the propagation of defective children to bankrupt future generations.

GRADY JOURNALISTIC STUDENTS FORM BODY NAMED THE QUILL

Athens, Ga., Oct. 31.—"The Quill" is the name of a new organization now being formed among the students of the Henry W. Grady School of Journalism, at the University of Georgia. The organization is as yet in its embryonic form, but in the course of a few weeks the pinks for this new society will be completed, according to students and faculty members who are backing the movement.

The sole purpose of the new organization is to foster a high standard of excellency among the students in the school of journalism, it is stated, and merit will be the only basis for membership. There will be no charter for the organization and there will be no honorary members. It is authoritatively intimated. Both men and women will be eligible for membership and the roster of the members is to be made up from journalistic students and members of the faculty.

The tentative announcement of the movement to organize the "Quill" declared that the initiation fee will not be large; that there will be no "politics" in the organization, and that its main reason for coming into existence is to encourage excellent work on the part of the students of journalism at the university.

The Henry W. Grady School of Journalism at the university is the youngest school at the state university, but within the few years of its existence it has shown remarkable growth and today more than 150 are taking work in that department. Dr. S. V. Sanford is at the head of the school and assisting him in giving the professional course is John E. Drewry.

NATIONAL POLITICAL BAROMETER WILL NOT BE AFFECTED BY TUESDAY'S ELECTION

Off Year Election Over Scattered Territory in United States

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—The national political barometer is not likely to be much affected by the off-year elections to be held in scattering states throughout the country on next Tuesday.

Vermont will elect a United States senator to succeed the late William P. Dillingham, and a representative; New York will elect four representatives, and Maryland, Kentucky and Mississippi will choose governors.

In the few other states which hold elections, referendums and election of state legislatures hold the interest.

The four congressional elections in New York are to fill vacancies. In the 11th district, the candidates are Anning S. Pratt, democrat; Guy O. Palmer, republican, and W. H. Dearing, socialist; in the 16th district, John L. O'Connor, democrat, John C. O'Connor, republican, and Philip Zauner, socialist; in the 24th district Edward R. Kock, democrat, Benjamin L. Mairerid, republican, and Alexander Braunstein, socialist, and in the 32nd district, Daniel C. Burke, democrat, Thaddeus C. Sweet, republican, and James A. Manson, socialist.

Chief interest in the New York election is centered in the lower house of the state assembly. At present the assembly is made up of 81 republicans and 69 democrats. The democrats have been conducting a vigorous campaign to control the lower house as they already control the senate. Governor Smith is a democrat.

Mayorality elections will be held in two score cities and supreme court justices will be chosen in several judicial districts.

Maryland will elect a governor, state officer, a new house of delegates and one half of the senate membership. Governor Ritchie is opposed for re-election by Alexander Armstrong, republican, attorney-general. Both are avowedly wet, but as the republican platform ignored the prohibition question the association against prohibition has endorsed Governor Ritchie.

Interest in Pennsylvania has been confined largely to county and other local contests, the results of which may have some bearing on the voting next year for delegates to the national party conventions.

Four proposed amendments to the state constitution are to be acted upon. One would permit the state to borrow $50,000,000 for road building and repairing; another would exempt from taxation buildings used by G. A. R. and American Legion posts and similar organizations; the third would provide for classification of counties and municipalities for legislative purposes, and the fourth would permit transportation companies to grant passes or reduced rates to clergymen, which is now prohibited by the state constitution.

In New Jersey the principal interest has been focused on efforts of the democrats to reduce the republican majority in the state assembly. The new 44 republicans and 16 democrats. The state senate is composed of 17 republicans and four democrats and eight new senators are to be chosen.

There is only one election of consequence in the west, and that is a referendum in Oregon on a state income tax measure.

CITRUS FRUIT INSPECTION HEADQUARTERS AT ORLANDO

ORLANDO, Nov. 1.—The central office of the Florida citrus fruit inspection service will be located here, it has been definitely announced by S. K. Guernsey, executive secretary of the chamber of commerce. Inspectors are expected to begin about November 15, it is understood, when about 75 inspectors will start work in the state. They will officially grade and label citrus fruit packed in Florida for shipment. The service is furnished by the government and is paid for by the shippers at the rate of five cents for each box inspected. This arrangement enables the shippers, it is stated, to sell a particular grade of fruit at a certain price, and the wholesale purchasers must accept the grading of the experts.

2,500 FOREIGN AUTOMOBILES IN TAMPA

TAMPA, Nov. 1.—Twenty-five hundred foreign automobiles have been listed in Hillsborough county since September 18 under provisions of the Florida motor vehicle law, according to figures compiled by the county traffic department. Machines bearing Georgia licenses take a decided lead among the various states, L. M. Hiers, chief of the county traffic department, states. Ohio has the next highest list, with Illinois third, Michigan fourth and Indiana a close fifth.

Production of Motor Cars in Big Volume Requires Vast Resources and Facilities

Top picture shows Plant 2 of The Studebaker Corporation, South Bend, where the Light-Six models are manufactured complete. The middle view shows Plant 1, also at South Bend, where the open and closed bodies, springs, windshields, etc., for all models are made. Studebaker's Detroit plants are not shown in the above illustrations.

The Studebaker Light Six Touring Car

STUDEBAKER'S production record of 110,510 cars for the first eight months of this year—surpassing the record for the entire year of 1922—has caused wide comment in motor and business circles.

In an effort to keep pace with demand, Studebaker produced, during the month of August, a total of 16,700 cars, which broke all records for a single month's production, and indications point to a continued, heavy demand.

Such an achievement requires enormous physical and financial resources, an idea of which may be gained by the knowledge that Studebaker's actual net assets total $90,000,000 including $16,000,000 in plants.

Notable among these plants are the immense new factories at South Bend, Ind., in which the Light-Six models are manufactured complete. They reflect the results of six years' exhaustive investigation and study by construction engineers and production men and are recognized as among the most modern and efficient manufacturing plants in the world.

Innovation in Assembly

One of the greatest advances the automobile industry has made has been in the direction of building motor cars of lighter weight without the sacrifice of strength, thus making them sturdy and serviceable, yet economical in operation.

The Studebaker Light-Six is a striking example of such a car, and every detail in connection with the arrangement of the various factory buildings, the selection and placing of machinery and stock has been inspired by the desire on the part of Studebaker experts to manufacture the Light-Six on the most economical and efficient basis, and to give the purchaser the benefit of savings effected.

One of the striking innovations and efficiency ideas in the new factory is to be found in the building where final assembly is carried on. Here an improvement on the familiar conveyor system used in automobile factories is employed.

Endless Chain to Completion

Moving along on an "endless chain" behind each frame upon which a car is assembled is a carrier upon which the various units that go into the car are hung. These units, such as transmission, steering assembly, axles, etc., are stocked alongside the endless chain, and placed on the carriers as they go by.

When the last of these units is hung upon the carriers, the actual assembly of the complete car begins, under careful and expert supervision, an improvement upon the former method of long draw-out, piecemeal assembly. The arrangement of this progressive assembly also provides for the mechanical handling of all material, and it reduces to a minimum the cost and confusion of moving stock.

The sub-assembly building, where the various units themselves are assembled, is four stories high, of reinforced concrete construction, and has an interior bay open to the roof. The bay is covered with a glass skylight, and is equipped with crane service and landing balconies on all floors for the quick and economical handling of materials.

The bay also has a depressed unloading track with accommodations for ten freight cars. In this sub-assembly building are located the stores-rooms, tool departments, machinery maintenance and repair departments, together with factory administration offices and employees' restaurant.

The great building that houses the stamping department which represents an investment of $4,000,000, is of steel-frame construction, with tile roof and glass sides. Heavy metal-forming presses manufacture the frames, fenders, hoods and other stamped parts of the car, while huge ovens are utilized for the baking of the enameled pieces.

Visitors who make the trip through the Light-Six factory always like to linger in this department, watch the interesting processes performed—veritable miracles they seem—and study the remarkable economies in operation, as well as the perfect accuracy and efficiency with which each task is completed.

Modernity of Facilities

Among many notable features of manufacture which illustrate the modernity of facilities of the Light-Six plants are the machine shops which alone represent an investment of $7,000,000. Here the Light-Six crankshafts and connecting rods are machined to very accurate limits on all surfaces, a practice that is largely responsible for the practical elimination of vibration in the Light-Six—a practice that is followed exclusively by Studebaker on cars at the Light-Six price. Sixty-one precision operations are required on the crankshaft alone.

The South Bend plants contain 4,875,000 square feet of floor space. They employ 12,000 persons. They cost $33,250,000. The South Bend forgo plant cost $4,000,000, the assembly and stock plants cost $5,000,000. The new foundries now under construction will cost $2,000,000.

HEAVY TOURIST TRAVEL

More than five hundred cars entered Florida Thursday over the road that leads south from the Georgia line to Lake City. It is probable that they averaged three persons to the car or 1,500 in all. Others entered the state further west and it is probable that as many came by the Waycross as by the Lake City road, for it has been known longer as the main entrance to Florida and the tide of travel does not change in a day.

So here we have, in one day, between three and four thousand people coming into this state in automobiles. While it may be assumed that this was an unusual if not an unprecedented number for the time of the year it must be remembered that the tourist season is not yet open. Only the advance guard or more properly speaking, the pickets of the big army are coming now.

So while this number may be unprecedented for the time of year, it is probably not more than the daily average will be when the season is in full swing. Probably an estimate as nearly correct as possible would be one hundred thousand a month for another equal period of time. This would make four hundred and fifty thousand entering the state in automobiles in the winter season.

The steamships entering Florida ports are full almost to capacity and, counting all lines, these will probably bring to the state during the winter season another hundred thousand. The railroads can be counted on to bring in the four hundred and fifty thousand needed to make out the million. We think it probable that nearly if not quite a million tourists will visit Florida this winter and more than one hundred thousand—probably twice that number—will come in the spring and summer.

Four and a half million tourists went to or through Colorado last year but as it is estimated that those spent in the state only $16,000,000, it may be assumed that they went through, few of them stopping. Florida is the end of the journey—not a mere way station on the route. The tourists will probably spend in this state this year nearly one hundred million dollars.

And they will get their money's worth. If they did not they would not come winter after winter. If the visitors were not satisfied the tourist tide would diminish year by year instead of growing steadily and rapidly larger. Population is increasing; wealth is increasing more rapidly than population and the number of people who are ready to turn loose their money for the pleasure of travel is increasing still more rapidly. And most rapid of all is the number of men who are learning that Florida is a land of promise.—Times Union.

School of Education At Florida State Greater Than In Years

Total Enrollment at College Is Nearly One Thousand.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Nov. 1.—The school of education at the Florida State College for Women has an enrollment to date for the season 1923-1924 that is already 75 per cent greater than the total for the entire 1922-1923 session, according to figures compiled by Dean N. M. Salley. Last year the total enrollment of the school of education and normal school was 2167; for the current year the total figure is 376 to date.

This showing, it is declared, is an indication of the increasing interest of Floridians in the work of training teachers.

Dean Salley also shows the increase by classes and courses in the teacher-training department. Last year there were 76 enrolled in the four year course, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science in Education. This year there are 164 in the same course, which is an increase of 115 per cent.

Last year there were 134 enrolled in the two year Normal School course leading to the L. I. degree. This year there are 213 in this course, or an increase of 59 per cent.

The new state scholarship in the School of Education have helped to swell the enrollment in the Freshman class of the School of Education, it is stated, but the larger increases have been in the upper classes that were practically not very much affected by the new state scholarships.

Last year the total enrollment for the State College for Women, winter session, was 733; this year to date the total enrollment for the whole college is 945. This is an increase of 29 per cent. During the same period the School of Education and Normal School has shown 75 per cent.

This showing, it is suggested, is sufficient answer to any suggestion that may have been made that the state should have a separate normal school.

"Give the School of Education and Normal School at the Florida State College for Women the proper support and it will send out hundreds of teachers to the schools of Florida," it is urged.

Illinois with its more than six millions or Georgia with its nearly three millions, or California with its three millions. Lots of members of the last legislature promised before they went to Tallahassee that they were going to use the pruning knife. Did they? The Tribune trusts that Colonel Davis will pursue his investigations along this line and point out, as he is fully capable of doing, just where the "pruning knife" should be applied to this list of state employees. There must be dozens of offices on that list which are unnecessary—which serve no valuable purpose in the state government—which have been created or allowed to remain through political favoritism or patronage.

The "pruning knife" should be used industriously on these forty-eight voters by the next legislature—and voters should insist that candidates for the legislature pledge themselves to reduce this burden of unnecessary expense and rid the state and the taxpayers of the enormous cost of maintaining these official sinecures and "soft snags."—Tampa Tribune.

Control Measures For Stem End Rot Florida Citrus Fruits

Have Been Developed Recently By Scientists.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Nov. 1.—Practical control measures for the destructive stem-end rot of Florida oranges and grapefruit have been developed recently by scientists in the United States department of agriculture (according to information received here by the commissioner of agriculture). The most important discovery in this connection, it is said, is that removing the small knobs, or "buttons," which ordinarily are left on the fruits, greatly reduces the danger of infection by either of the two fungi causing this rot which does the most damage when the oranges and grapefruit are in storage, in transit, or on the market, rarely when it is still on the tree.

It has been found that the process of gassing generally practiced for coloring these fruits, is also beneficial in loosening these "buttons" so that the added expense is very low, probably about one cent a box. Other factors, however, enter into the control of this trouble. Growers should keep their trees reasonably free from dead wood as the spores, particularly those of one of the fungi, are produced on the bark of dead twigs and branches. If this pruning is carried on only to the extent required by good orchard practice, the expense will not be great and not all of the cost can be charged to the control of this trouble. The young fruit should be sprayed once or twice with 3-3-50 Bordeaux mixture plus one per cent oil as emulsion during April or certainly not later than May 5 under ordinary Florida conditions. This spraying controls melanose, a surface blemish also caused by one of these two fungi. If the fruit comes from old trees with much dead wood when it should be disbuttoned by gassing, the best process to be subject the fruit for about 36 hours to gas from a gasoline engine exhaust or from a kerosene stove with imperfect combustion. This does the coloring as well as removing the stem buttons.

Even if such trees have been pruned and the young fruit sprayed, removing the "buttons" will add to its keeping quality through more complete protection from stem-end rot. In addition the fruit should be kept at a low temperature, preferably between 40 degrees and 45 degrees F., and the time between picking and consumption should be made as short as possible.

SEVERE BLADDER TROUBLE

"Could not stand nor sit and was forced to cry out from intense pain," writes Henry Williams, Tarkio, Montana. "The doctors said I had inflammation of the bladder and an operation was necessary. Tried Foley Kidney Pills and improved at once. Tell all my friends about Foley Kidney Pills and perhaps, as in my case, a dangerous operation." Bladder and kidney trouble demand prompt treatment. Foley Kidney Pills give quick relief.

HEALTH LECTURE

"Mr. R. J. Holly, "Sanford, Fla., "Dear Sir:

"Attached please find memorandum bearing on lecture which has been arranged for by the Atlantic Coast Line to be delivered at Milano Theatre, Sanford, 3:00 p. m., Sunday, Nov. 18, by Regional Consultant, U. S. Public Health Service. You will probably recall that Capt. Gillette visited Sanford and gave a lecture on Nov. 12, 1922. This lecture, while put on by the railroad, is open to the men and boys of Sanford. It is particularly desired that all boys over 14 years of age attend this lecture. We believe and hope that the information which they will gain will prove of lasting benefit and that these boys will be so thoroughly impressed by the moving pictures which will be used in connection with the lecture that they will never forget the lesson taught. I sincerely hope that you will use your great influence to secure a large attendance at the Milano Theatre on Nov. 18, 1923.

"I shall be glad to furnish you copies of any additional advertising matter that may reach me in connection with this lecture.

"Yours truly, "T. L. Dumas, "Superintendent."

Standing out as the second railway in the South to institute a far-reaching industrial health campaign, which will improve the general health and industrial conditions among its thousands of employees, the Atlantic Coast Line Railway is entering upon a work of public service.

The inauguration of this educational campaign is through arrangement between the Atlantic Coast Line Railway and the Bureau of Communicable Disease of the Florida State Board of Health and the United States Government, and will extend throughout the entire system and will consist of the distribution of literature, the posting of bulletins and exhibits, confidential interviews with employees, free lectures supplemented with motion pictures.

The purpose of the effort is to educate employees of the road to the dangers of social diseases and to teach preventive measures. Probably no single plague has been so costly as has been that of social diseases. Figures compiled by the government show an annual economic waste from this source running into millions of dollars. Florida, owing to certain conditions which have long existed, is more than bearing its share of this waste and to alleviate and check this annual reduction of man-power and dollar-power, this campaign has been planned and will be carried out in the industrial plants of the state.

A careful and accurate survey conducted by the State Board of Health, of rural industrial plants, such as saw mills, turpentine plants and phosphate mines, showed an actual infection rate running from thirty-four to well beyond fifty per cent of the total population surveyed. When these figures are applied to the state as a whole it must certainly be of such a total as to impress any citizen of the enormous burden the state is bearing as a result of social diseases.

A sick man or woman cannot work efficiently. A sick boy or girl cannot study and acquire an education. In the sense that "sick" is used here it must not be understood to imply a degree of sickness that renders the victim inactive or helpless, although when that is the case work or study is impossible. But as here used, the work "sick" is employed in the sense of "something wrong" with the physical man, woman or child; something that impairs physical and mental strength and renders those afflicted incapable of performing their given or voluntary tasks. The sick person may be able to go about, to attend, in some manner, to work or business but the results are not satisfactory to self or employer.

Business executives are ever on the alert to learn new methods for eliminating industrial wastage, from whatever cause it may result. They know that the strands of personal service strengthen the fabric of efficiency; hence their desire to secure better housing facilities for employees; their endorsement of "Safety First" and public health movements; their co-operation in recreational efforts and their increasing interest in all activities covered by the general term social hygiene. This attitude serves a three-fold purpose. It conserves the health of the employe; promotes harmony between him and the employer, and increases the financial returns to both—the one through the medium of wages or profit sharing, the other by increased dividends. These reasons explain the rapidly increasing interest taken by industrial leaders in the national campaign for the control and prevention of venereal diseases.

Railway accidents are a serious cause of waste, and they are not infrequently caused by the effect of the venereal diseases on the nervous system. In the later stages of syphilis insanity is not infrequent. Nervous conditions have much to do with accidents in all walks of life.

As applied to the up-keep of state institutions: the care of a large percentage of the insane, the feeble-minded and epileptic, the blind children and the delinquents in industrial schools; the up-keep of jails and prisons; the up-keep of charity hospitals. As applied to individuals: sickness, poverty, unhappiness, death, the "disruption of homes" and the propagation of defective children to bankrupt future generations.

GRADY JOURNALISTIC STUDENTS FORM BODY NAMED THE QUILL

Athens, Ga., Oct. 31.—"The Quill" is the name of a new organization now being formed among the students of the Henry W. Grady School of Journalism, at the University of Georgia. The organization is as yet in its embryonic form, but in the course of a few weeks the plans for this new society will be completed, according to students and faculty members who are backing the movement.

The sole purpose of the new organization is to foster a high standard of excellency among the students in the school of journalism, it is stated, and merit will be the only basis for membership. There will be no charter for the organization and there will be no honorary members, it is authoritatively intimated. Both men and women will be eligible for membership and the roster of the members is to be made up from journalistic students and members of the faculty.

The tentative announcement of the movement to organize the "Quill" declared that the initiation fee will not be large; that there will be no "politics" in the organization, and that its main reason for coming into existence is to encourage excellent work on the part of the students of journalism at the university.

The Henry W. Grady School of Journalism at the university is the youngest school at the state university, but within the few years of its existence it has shown remarkable growth and today more than 160 are taking work in that department. Dr. S. V. Sanford is at the head of the school and assisting him in giving the professional course is John E. Drewry.
