New Babe Ruth Imitates Babe's Mighty Power

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Huge Frank Howard, the kid some scouts call the "new Babe Ruth," picked the 25th anniversary and the place of the Babe's last homer to imitate his tremendous power Wednesday night.

Howard, the Los Angeles Dodgers' $108,000 bonus player, hit a homer in the second inning of the Dodgers' 5-1 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates. It was estimated that the blast over the left field wall traveled 860 to 870 feet in the air.

It was exactly 36 years to the day that Ruth ended his home run saga by blasting three homers for the Boston Braves in the same park, the last being the first ever hit over the right field roof.

NOW LOOK WHAT CORVAIR'S GONE AND DONE!

The same Corvaire that tallied a chumping 27.88 miles per gallon* in the Mobilgas Economy Run... went right on to climb Pikes Peak earlier in the spring than any car has ever tried!

We wanted to show you what the fabulous traction of Corvaire's rear-engine design and the sure-footedness of four-wheel independent suspension really mean. So the identical Economy Run car went right on to 14,110-foot Pikes Peak—and right up to the top of that savage mountain, on April 15, still deep in winter's snow and ice. No other car—even specially equipped—had ever been able to conquer that nightmare alpine road so early in the spring. But Corvaire (with United States Auto Club officials aboard to certify that not one nut or bolt was changed) purred right to the summit without chains or even snow tires! That just underscores the fact that Corvaire is totally unique. But you'll find that's not all. You'll find five minutes you're at the wheel!

Holiday Death Toll Climbing

Sanford Girl Killed; 269 Die Over Nation

An 11-year-old Sanford girl was killed and three others injured in a two-car collision Saturday night on Hwy. 17-92 as Florida and the nation's accidental death toll soared today with the homeward rush of traffic from the Memorial holiday weekend still to come.

A United Press International survey showed 14 dead in Florida. Eleven died in traffic, two in drownings and one in a fire. Sharon Glover, 801 Rosalia Dr., died of head injuries shortly following her arrival at Seminole Memorial Hospital, Sheriff J. L. Hobby said.

The girl's mother, Mrs. Gloria Glover, her brother, Willard, 10, and sister, Suzanne, 12 months were injured. The father, Willard Robert Glover, 39, was uninjured.

The Glover car was rammed from behind sending it reeling into a power pole and crashing 105 feet away into Ratliff's garage on Hwy. 17-92, south of Sanford, according to Deputy Roy Alford.

Harold D. King, a 22-year-old sailor, driver of the other car, was charged with manslaughter and driving while intoxicated, Sheriff Hobby said.

The Glover car was totally destroyed, and King's auto received $750 in damages. King is being held on bonds of $5,000 and $300.

Services for the 11-year-old girl will be held in the Church of God, French Ave., at 3 p. m. Wednesday with the Rev. Joel Brown, officiating. Grambow Funeral Home is in charge.

United Press International counted 269 traffic deaths over the nation since the three-day holiday began at 6 p. m. Friday. In addition, 58 drowned and 40 were killed in miscellaneous accidents for an overall total of 376.

Ohio led the nation in highway deaths with 26. North Carolina and New York had 17, Michigan and Alabama 15, Indiana and Pennsylvania 13 and Georgia, California and Illinois 12.

Boy Shot; Deputies Hunt For Clues

OCALA (UPI) — Robert Edwin Shaffer, 17, shot through the brain Saturday, remained unconscious and in "poor" condition at an Ocala hospital today.

The youth, of Loganport, Ind., was found in front of the hospital after he had been dumped out by a truck which left immediately.

Marion County deputies said they traced the truck to R. E. Williams Jr. of Live Oak, who admitted leaving the boy at the hospital. Williams was charged with assault with intent to murder. Shaffer had been living with Mr. and Mrs. Hilton Scott of Goldenrod. The Scotts said he left for Indiana after he got a letter from his grandmother, Mrs. Alva Shaffer, telling him she was sick.

Williams said he had picked the boy up north of Orlando when he saw him hitch-hiking. But he denied shooting him.

He said he did not know Shaffer was hurt until the boy asked his arm as they were riding and said "get me to a hospital." Deputies said they found a bullet hole in the window of the door on Shaffer's side of the truck.

Jaycees Urged To Ignore Mediocrity In Outlook

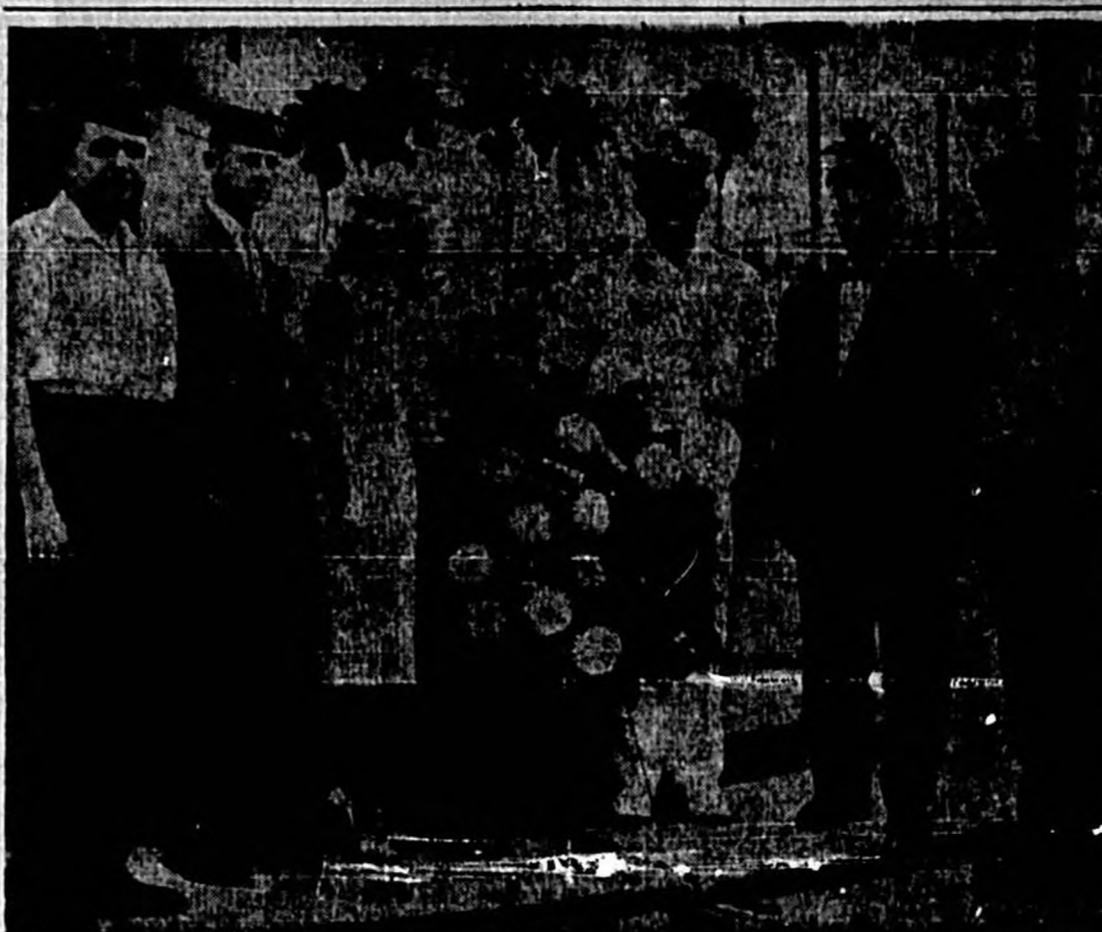

State Jaycee President Teeny Johnson urged local Jaycees not to be satisfied with "mediocrity" and do their best to aid Sanford's community growth.

Johnson spoke to over 100 Jaycees and their wives at the organization's installation ceremonies Saturday night.

Acting as installing officer, Johnson installed John Alexander as Jaycee president for the new year. Johnson told the Jaycees that "less than your best is worse than nothing." He added that being average was no help. "You all must strive to be above average and give back to the community what the community has given to you."

He said that community betterment should be the goal of every Jaycee.

Alexander, replacing Mason Wharton as president, asked Jaycees for their cooperation in making this year the best in the local organization's history.

Citrus Growers, Shippers Plan Meeting June 14

The Growers & Shippers League of Florida will hold its 37th annual meeting in Orlando June 14-16, Gordon C. Stedman, executive vice president, announced today.

J. J. Parrish, Titusville, president of the league, has issued the call for the annual gathering of growers and shippers, he said.

The Growers & Shippers League is the official representative of the Florida Citrus Commission, Florida Citrus Mutual, Citrus Processors Association and the Florida Express Shippers Association in traffic-transportation business.

The league is a non-profit organization.

A meeting of the league's executive committee will be held at the San Juan at 2 p. m. to start the session June 14. There will be a cocktail party, sponsored by Central Truck Lines, at 5 p. m.

The annual banquet and business meeting starts at 6:30 p. m. Last item on the agenda will be the annual election.

"A most interesting meeting is being planned," Stedman said in making his announcements, "with many matters concerning transportation up for discussion, such as 'piggy back' operations by railroad carriers, the latest in mechanical refrigeration, the new produce market for New York City in New Jersey, plus considerable more affecting Florida's fruit and vegetable industries."

The speaker for the evening at the annual banquet will be announced soon, Stedman said.

Memorial Day Service Draws Sparse Crowd

A sparse crowd gathered at the Sanford Bandshell today to attend special Memorial Day ceremonies in memory of the war dead.

Approximately 30 Sanfordites heard solemn prayers and speeches given by members of the First Baptist Church, Branch 147, the Ladies Auxiliary, and the principal address by William Holcomb, local investment broker.

Chaplain R. M. Laurensano of the Sanford Naval Air Station conducted the devotional services. Vic Arnett, president of the PRA and Libby White, president of the Ladies Auxiliary conducted the wreath service.

Similar ceremonies were being held throughout the nation and around the world. Speakers at scores of Memorial Day gatherings stressed the need for a strong defense in the new period of cold war tension.

Rep. James E. Van Zandt (R-Pa.) said in an address at Atlantic City, Pa., that "until universal peace is assured there could be no more willed folly than to lower our guard and relax our watchfulness."

"Even were we willing to abandon eternal vigilance and thus assume as terrible a risk for our own generation—we have no right to expose our children and their children to a future of unappealable possibilities," he said.

The American Legion said that legionnaires residing in France, Belgium, England, Holland, Italy, Tunisia, Luxembourg and the Philippines would place flags on graves in U. S. military cemeteries in those countries.

Search Off

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — Officers called off a two-state search Sunday after a 17-year-old girl admitted her story of being kidnapped, beaten and robbed was not true. Janice Charles Mosley, who works at a Jacksonville supermarket, said she made up the story to cover her absence from work Saturday when she went out on a date.

Runoff Called

RALEIGH, N. C. (UPI) — Dr. I. Beverly Lake is expected to make an official call today for a run-off with Terry Sanford for North Carolina's Democratic gubernatorial nomination in a hotly drawn square along racial lines. Sanford, a 48-year-old Fayetteville attorney who tried to avoid bringing the question of integration into the first primary, won about 41 percent of the vote in Saturday's first primary.

Ike Criticized

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — A double-barrelled blast of criticism against the Eisenhower administration issued today from the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America union conference. President John F. Kennedy took off on the administration in a keynote address and the union's general executive board issued a 100-page report echoing his sharp protest.

2 Dead; 25 Hurt As Grandstand Falls At '500'

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — Two persons were killed and an estimated 25 more injured today when a temporary grandstand on the northeast turn infield collapsed at the 500-mile race.

The Indianapolis Motor Speedway confirmed the accident and said "eight or 10" spectators were injured and taken to the field hospital.

The hospital declined to give any information on casualties "because we're so busy right now." But track reporters said it was confirmed that two persons were dead and many others hurt.

Word of the collapse came less than 10 minutes after the race started.

The infield seats are bleacher-type structures without a covering.

Quake Torn Town Starts Rebuilding

CONCEPCION, Chile (UPI) — The 150,000 citizens of Concepcion have started rebuilding this earthquake-shattered city even while the ground continues to shake under their feet.

Concepcion had to rebuild once before—in 1939 when an earthquake wrecked the city. Now it must do the job all over again.

Two tremors shook Concepcion Sunday while bulldozers were clearing rubble and heavy cranes were knocking down teetering walls. The first, at mid-morning, caused no alarm but the second, at the dinner hour, sent residents scurrying into the streets.

Several walls of buildings damaged when the first big shocks hit the city nine days ago collapsed in clouds of dust.

The latest count of the dead in Concepcion stands at 138. More than 300 houses were demolished and many others damaged beyond repair. Thousands of persons are homeless.

Fisherman Reels In His Dead Son

CLARKSVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — A soldier who had taken his family on an outing discovered Sunday that his young son and daughter had drowned when he pulled in his son's body on a fishing line.

"At first I thought I had a fish and started reeling it in," Thurman H. Jenner, 31, said, "but it was very heavy and I began to think it was a log or a branch. When it was about three feet away, I saw it was my boy."

"I reached down and grabbed an arm. My wife got hysterical," Jenner, of Truman, Ark., stationed at Ft. Campbell, Ky., had taken his wife and children on an outing and was fishing while his wife prepared lunch and the children, Robert 11, and Sharon, 10, played.

Jenner tried artificial respiration in vain on Robert's body while rescue units dragged for his daughter. Jenner theorized Sharon fell down a bank and Robert, who could swim a little, went in to save her.

Poisonous Snake Bites 'Expert'

MIAMI (UPI) — Snake expert William E. Haast apparently won his 63rd battle against the bite of a poisonous snake today.

Haast was rushed to Children's Variety Hospital Sunday in critical condition after being bitten by a diamond back rattlesnake while preparing to extract venom from the serpent.

Clean Up

This is Clean Up, Paint Up, Fix Up Week in Sanford and Mayor Earl Higginbotham has urged residents, businesses and organizations to take part in brightening up the town.

The garden circles already have a program of planting underway and some businesses have made renovations before the spring season began.

The city has completed painting the library and the police station.

The Herald is running some Clean Up, Paint Up, Fix Up suggestions this week. They are on Pages 6 and 7.

City Board Okays Zeuli Extension

City commissioners, at a special meeting Saturday, gave Philip Zeuli permission to begin construction on a proposed extension of Scott Ave., on the south side of Eighth St.

This was the third vote on the plat of Zeuli's subdivision which recently was annexed by the city. The location of the street in question had been protested by F. D. Scott, who argued that its extension as proposed by Zeuli would devalue his property.

The street would be constructed approximately 100 feet west of the original Scott Ave., which would face Scott's property.

Scott, who said his property would lose value because the lights of the oncoming cars on the proposed extension would directly face his home, suggested that Zeuli construct the road at an angle or curve.

Zeuli argued he could not do so, because he would lose a lot if he did. City attorney W. C. Hutchison told the commissioners that Zeuli had a legal right to construct the road on his property as long as he was in compliance with the health, welfare, and safety of the community.

City Manager Warren E. Knowles pointed out that a straight road was less hazardous than the other curved or angle roads suggested.

The plat as originally presented by Zeuli was then approved in a split vote. Commissioner J. H. Crapps and Joe Baker cast a dissenting vote, while Al Wilson and Robert Brown voted in favor of the plat. Mayor Earl Higginbotham broke the tie as he joined the ayes.

Action on the enforcement of the no parking rule on Ninth St., near the Catholic Church, was withheld by the commissioners, pending further study.

Russian Rocket Forces Alerted To Defend Areas

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet Defense Minister Rodion Malinovsky has ordered Russian rocket forces to attack any base from which a plane takes off and violates Soviet air space, Tass news agency said today.

Tass said Marshal Malinovsky announced the order in an outline of Russia's defense potential at a resumed conference of Communist labor shockworkers in the Kremlin.

Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev attended the session.

Malinovsky said he had ordered the commander of Soviet rocket forces "to strike at a base from which a plane would take off and violate the air space of the U.S.S.R."

Tass said the defense minister insisted it was a lawful decision because it could not be known what an intruding plane might be carrying.

"It might be armed with a hydrogen bomb," he said.

He said the Soviet Union had all it needed to strike such a retaliatory blow "at a political satellite and at a leader no matter behind which ocean they were hiding."

"This is not a threat, but a warning," he added.

Malinovsky referred to the incident of the U-2 spy plane shot down over Russia May 1 and said Western powers did not know the Soviet Union had anti-aircraft guided missiles.

He said Soviet rockets could hit a target "much higher" than 65,000 feet at which a U-2 can fly. He said there was no plane with such a high ceiling "as to be unreachably for our rockets."

Malinovsky again blamed the United States for the collapse of the summit conference.

He said that if a Soviet plane ever had violated the territory of another state it was unintentional and "we, like honest people, apologized and punished those guilty."

Thieves Net $140 From Local Home

More than $140 was stolen from the home of a Sanford resident Saturday, the Police Dept. said.

Bill Stemper, 1920 Locust Ave., told police someone entered his home and stole $100 from his wallet, and $41 from his wife's purse.

Stemper said he had picked the boy up north of Orlando when he saw him hitch-hiking. But he denied shooting him.

He said he did not know Shaffer was hurt until the boy asked his arm as they were riding and said "get me to a hospital." Deputies said they found a bullet hole in the window of the door on Shaffer's side of the truck.

Unrealistic To Hope For Change In Segregation

TAMPA (UPI) — Cody Fowler, chairman of the governor's bi-racial committee on racial relations, said in some areas of Florida resistance to integration is so great "it is unrealistic to hope for change in our lifetime."

However, Fowler described refusal to change in some other areas "absurd."

"For example, the practice of providing two water fountains side by side in public places," he said.

Fowler, in a 2,000 word statement which was the first issued by the committee, said "changes are in the making" and the committee has now "reached the point where we can begin to say many things."

Some of the things Fowler said:

"It has been suggested that for a leader of the Negro race to participate in a bi-racial committee is to be labeled as Uncle Tom. . . . And for a white man who so participated to be labeled an integrationist. . . . This could be the most unfair attitude we face in the whole problem."

"We believe in the Democratic control of change. We abhor ill will and violence. . . . What is required right now is the sanity to insist that we meet, listen and talk to each other."

"We know that each community must make its own decisions. We are not here to tell you what to do. But we are here to say to you that we join thousands of responsible citizens of Florida in recommending the discussion and study of these issues around a table."

Bryant Figures To Have Honeymoon With Legislature

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — All indications are that Farris Bryant, Florida's Democratic gubernatorial nominee, will have a honeymoon with the 1961 Legislature.

The one area where he is likely to run into trouble is in accomplishing the reapportionment plan he proposed in his recent winning race against Doyle Carlton.

The 38-man Senate, dominated by the small-county bloc known as "The Pork Chop Gang," takes a dim view of Bryant's suggestion the the Senate be reapportioned without adding any more seats.

Such plans have been turned down several times before.

For the most part, however, the road looks smooth for Bryant after he cake-walks past nominal Republican opposition in November.

On segregation, for example, Sen. Randolph Hodges of Cedar Key declares, "Bryant's election showed the NAACP and others that it would be useless for them to try to go any further. Governor Bryant, House Speaker William V. Chappell and I will be able to furnish the leadership to preserve segregation another four years."

Hodges, a Bryant booster, is to be president of the Senate. Chappell is Bryant's next door neighbor in Ocala and a close friend.

Others warm toward Bryant include Rep. Mallory Horns of Tallahassee, likely to be speaker of the 1963 session and a good bet for Bryant's floor leader in 1961, and Sen. Wilson Carraway of Tallahassee, a good possibility for Bryant's Senate floor leader.

That kind of backing leads Hodges to the prediction: "Governor Bryant will have more cooperation from the Legislature than any governor starting his term in a good many years."

Hodges said he does not think it will be necessary to re-introduce such legislation as the last resort school closing bill.

Here are some of Bryant's stated major aims which may find support in the Legislature:

Rain May Dampen Holiday Activities

By United Press International

Rain threatened to mar Memorial Day celebrations in several parts of the country today.

Rain at Indianapolis, scene of the annual 500-mile automobile race, ended at dawn. It remained cloudy, with a forecast for gradual clearing by the starting time.

The Weather Bureau forecast widely scattered showers or thunderstorms along the Gulf Coast, the central and southern Atlantic states, the western plains, Pacific Northwest, Ohio Valley and Northern Appalachians.

The western two-thirds of the nation generally expected clear to partly cloudy skies.

A very weak cold front moving through the eastern third of the nation Sunday night touched off some heavy rain, a severe wind storm and a tornado.

The tornado was spotted two miles north of Fort Branch, Ind., by an airline pilot, who said it never touched the ground.

WASHINGTON CALLING

by Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON—As they set in the garden of the British Embassy in Paris, looking out at the lovely prospect of smooth greenward walking away from the city's surging traffic, President Eisenhower said Prime Minister Macmillan something of the order he had been through over the shooting down of the U-2 espionage plane.

"It was the first opportunity that they had to talk reflectively about the awful events which had destroyed the hopes of both men for the beginning of a peaceful settlement between East and West. Among other things the president told the prime minister was that at the height of the hour over the U-2 Allen Dulles had offered to resign as director of the Central Intelligence Agency if this would make the president's task of decision any easier.

"But the president, as he explained it to Macmillan, put aside this offer. Many elements in a complex relationship were involved in the decision. Loyalty to Dulles was one. More important was the president's emotional reaction involving his own necessity to take responsibility before the world for what had happened.

In actual fact, inquiry in Washington suggests that the president in his talk with the British prime minister rather overstated the case. Dulles did not offer to resign as head of CIA, since he believed this would be running away from responsibility. What he did propose was in a sense more dramatic.

Dulles told the president that he was prepared to accept full and public responsibility for the U-2 flight. If this would simplify the president's problem on the eve of the summit conference, it had been, as Dulles well knew, a shared responsibility. Yet, as the No. 1 figure in intelligence, Dulles was willing to nurse himself, if the president considered it best, the target of attack by the Soviet Union and the sole author of the flight and its timing.

This avowal would have unquestionably brought down storm on Dulles' head, with attack at home as well as abroad. It could even have forced his resignation from the CIA. But whatever the risks involved he was willing to accept them if this could in any way alleviate a crisis as grave as any the United States had faced since the end of the war.

By one of those strange coincidences of history the involvement with Allen Dulles came just one year after the president had gone through perhaps the greatest emotional wrench of his tenure of the White House with the illness and death of John Foster Dulles. Having delegates more authoritatively over foreign policy to Dulles than probably any other secretary of state has ever exercised, the president found it difficult to reconcile himself to his disappearance from the scene. It was a tragedy and almost by default, the Eisenhower named Christina A. Herter, Dulles' deputy, as his successor.

Again and again—over Indonesia, Quemoy and Matsuo, Suez, Lebanon and Iraq—the president found himself on the brink, with his loyalty to "Foster" shaken. When Dulles died on May 24, 1959, the president ordered a state funeral for him such as has rarely been accorded any American citizen. Ironically, as it must seem in retrospect, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko came for the funeral and there was speculation at the time that he might in a private talk with the president seek means to break the deadlock that paralyzed the foreign ministers' conference at Geneva.

"It is natural then that the president in this latest and gravest crisis should find a Dulles at his side. While his dedication to government service and to the cause of the free world is at least as great as that of his older brother, Allen Dulles has a different exterior and a different approach. He has a sense of humor, he is more urbane, he is less dogmatic and more of a pragmatist.

As head of the CIA he has had remarkable success in fighting off congressional watchdog committees that would curtail the activities of his far-flung agency. The proposal of Sen. Mike Mansfield (D., Mont.) for such supervision was defeated, 50 to 37, four years ago.

The London Observer published recently a searching profile on Dulles that was on the whole favorable. But it stated what is only said in private here—that the CIA runs its own foreign policy in many parts of the world. Completely this has been true, according to the article, in Laos and Egypt. It stated without qualification that the CIA has been sending U-2 flights over China from bases in Formosa. Sources within the Soviet delegation were saying in Paris that Moscow has knowledge of such flights occurring over Red China since May 1.

In the history of the times both John Foster and Allen Dulles have a prominent part, but it is too early to appraise their respective roles. And certainly it is too soon even to guess at how Allen Dulles will look when, and if, the whole picture of the U-2 is finally known.

WORRY CLINIC by Dr. G. W. Crane

Want to be popular? Then follow the formula below! Every emotion has its corresponding emotion, so focus yourself to go through the proper emotion! If you brood and dab of your eyes with a handkerchief, of course you will feel blue and dejected. But if you smile, even though mechanically, or dance or sing, then you will begin to feel the part you play.

AGE 7-12: Emily, 9, aged 19, a college sophomore.

"Dr. Crane, you have often told us that if we act the way we'd like to be, then we'll soon be the way we'd like to be."

"But sometimes I feel so unhappy, I am not in the mood to act any and friendly."

"Instead, I want to hide away from the public and grieve alone. I'm not popular and don't have many dates."

"Other girls are far more attractive, so I grow blue and discouraged. And I don't feel like acting any, as you have recommended."

"Much of our action is due to coercion. We don't like to brush our teeth or get up early to go to work. So everybody must go into a mood with himself and decide whether his brain is to rule his behavior, or his emotions are to dominate his brain."

"Nobody can make this decision for you. If you are sad and dejected, or angry or afraid, or mean and hateful, or prejudiced and selfish, your emotions are controlling your brain."

"Do you want to convert yourself and revolt against this slavery to the bad emotions that keep you miserable, miserable and dejected?"

"Do you want to force yourself to smile and pay compliments and learn how to carry on an interesting conversation?"

"The decision is up to you! I cannot make it for you, nor can any other relative or friend. Even God will not help you until you first launch out and try to help yourself."

"It is desirable to pray but you must team up with God. Don't need for God to give you a sweetheart and then lastly expect him to do all the work.

Make your brain the captain and let your emotions be the crew. Then never permit mutiny to occur! Be master, not slave, of your feelings.

If your brain will boss you around and force you to perform the proper actions, your emotions will soon react accordingly.

"Act the way you'd like to be and soon you'll be the way you act," is an axiom of applied psychology.

"That is another way of saying that if you act the proper emotion, you will soon begin to feel the proper emotion!"

William James, our eminent pioneer American psychologist, stated that even if we assume the physical posture and actions of a given emotion, we shall soon feel those emotions.

If you are scared, but force yourself to go ahead anyway, then you feel more brave. If you run, you surrender to your fear and it will dominate you even more the next time.

Brave men are always scared when they perform their bravery, else it is not bravery! For courage means conquered fear.

Thus, brave people must first feel afraid. Many men have erroneously been called brave, who really were not brave at all.

For they didn't understand the danger at the time, or their own personal bravery was stupidity or ignorance.

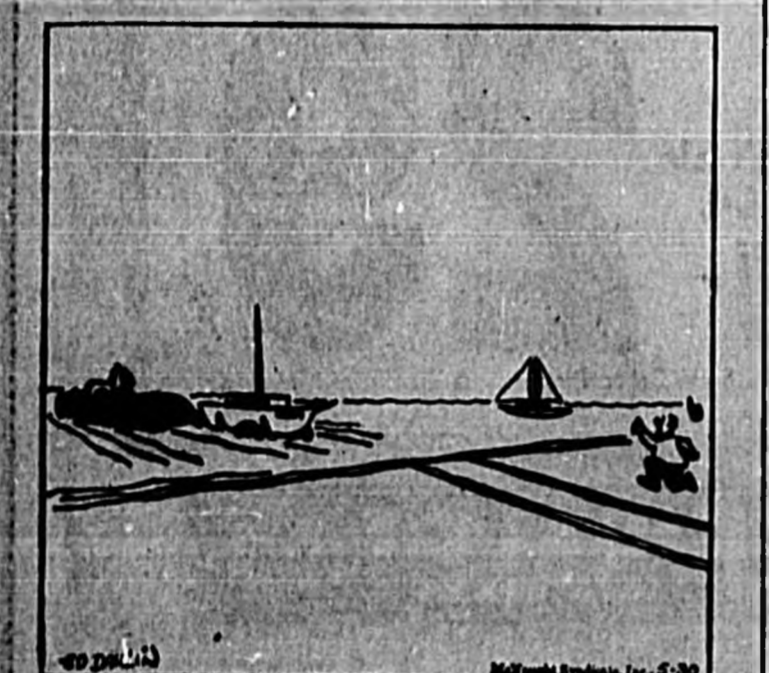

"Walk walk in where angels fear to tread," runs an apt adage in this connection.

Thus, a man who knows a bomb is alive and then throws it overboard, is properly called brave.

But a fellow who doesn't know what the bomb is, and curiously loses it overboard, is not brave. He is simply ignorant.

If you shy folks wish to win friends; pay compliments, even if you feel afraid. Break the social ice and speak first. Smile and praise!

Men like girls who make conversation easy. So read for my book, "Formula For Being An Interesting Conversationalist," enclosing a stamped, return envelope plus 30 cents (non-profit).

PERCUSSION CAPI

again temporarily while the airlines wait for the big jet landing that is being built on the coral reef at Tahiti.

A cool, steady trade wind blew across the field at Bora Bora. And we sat under a pandanus-thatch shelter, drinking French coffee and preparing for charming native kisses.

A sort of Bora Bora jam session started in one corner—anybody who walked in just picked up a coconut shell and joined the music.

A brown Bora Bora girl in a wrap-around blue-and-white print walked around with bare feet and a hip swing you could put in a Swiss watch movement.

Out of the powdered sugar clouds, a creamy white Bermuda flying boat flew along the background of the island peaks. It circled to meet the red-and-white-striped windsock and dropped out on a sea-green lagoon.

"As you step from your big South Pacific airliner, you're greeted by charming native girls who welcome you with a kiss and a fragrant lei of frangipani."

—SPAL brochure

We stepped out of the fragrant Honolulu night into the big South Pacific airliner and were greeted by a charming girl. She wore the silver wings with the Dollar sign.

"How about the smooth, charming native girl?" I said. "How about the frangipani lei?"

The stewardess said she was a native of Grand Junction, Colo. And how about a nice cup of coffee? The airliner to Paradise is bumpy.

South Pacific Airlines flies Constellation once a week now from Honolulu to Bora Bora—the old Dollar Steamship flag is airborne these days.

It is an eight-hour flight. (Quite an improvement over the days when we flew two days down to the Fiji. Then two more days back eastward to get to Tahiti.)

The native Colorado girl pulled out the footrest. She tilted us back like a barber chair.

And in the scattered-cloud morning, we slid down over the green lagoon into the Ilees Sous Le Vent—the islands Under the Wind.

Three Minutes A Day

By JAMES KEELER

A grateful immigrant who "so happy to live in America" left all her possessions, $7,000.18, to the United States government when she died recently in California at the age of 70.

Her simple, handwritten will, despite its mistakes in spelling and grammar, speaks volumes: "I give all the property of which I possessed to Uncle Sam of America who help me to adopt me. I was so happy to live in America. I graduate only to Uncle Sam and be will know what to do with my property."

How grateful are you for the blessings of freedom? Do you show your appreciation in a tangible way? Do you respect just laws? Vote regularly? Take an intelligent, constructive interest in solving local, state and national problems?

Expect your country to protect your God-given rights, to be sure. But don't fail to fulfill the obligations that accompany those precious rights.

Mohammed V Attempts To Hold Himself Above Politics As King

By PHIL NEWSON
UPI Foreign Editor

The new Moroccan King Mohammed V of Morocco.

The plan: Rabat, Morocco.

The quote: The new regime will be a "presidential system within a monarchy."

Since Morocco achieved its independence a little more than four years ago, the 56-year-old King has striven to hold himself above politics and act as a balance wheel between the rivalries of the political right and left.

Now he was abandoning a series of futile coalition governments and reserving all final decisions for himself.

Day-to-day rule, he said, would be carried out through his son, Crown Prince Moulay Hassan, 31.

For this movement of Arab kings, it was a decision full of risk. The premier he ousted, leftist Abdallah Ibrahim, 45, was a member of the powerful Istiqlal (Freedom) party which would be certain to oppose any sharp swing to the right.

The party's left wing, which Ibrahim leads, bases its ideas on Marxist theories. It favors strong ties with U.A.R. President Gamal Abdel Nasser and opposes conservative hopes for an independent grouping of Morocco, Algeria and Tunisia.

The latter view is closer to Mohammed's own.

Mohammed is immensely popular with his people, but his son is not a possible trouble source in Mohammed's new regime.

In theory Mohammed has absolute power of life and death over his approximately 10 million subjects. In practice he has never tried to wield it. He has granted broad authority to his ministers, and by patience and prudence preserved his country's capitalist economy while at the same time

Attention Meter Thieves: Keep Out Of Miami

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—Question: What has Chicago's Eldi Row got that Miami Beach doesn't have? Answer: New satellite cars, vandal-proof parking meters.

Miami Beach Motor Manager O. T. Rothwell reported Thursday that a methodical parking meter burglar, who is still free, clipped meters for an estimated $5,000 during the winter season.

First, said Rothwell, the crook unscrewed and stole two meters. Then he made two boys. Using the boys, he set out unhooking meters and taking the locked cash boxes from inside.

This crook was no small-time operator because he didn't even bother with one-hour nickel meters. According to Rothwell, he struck only at the all-day meters which take dimes and quarters, as well as nickels.

Only that traveling is good which reveals to me the value of home and enables me to enjoy it better.

WASHINGTON by Ed Koterba

WASHINGTON—The congressman made a rather rare discovery: The State Department gets the same amount of fun spending money from its "representation" fund as it does out of its "entertainment" fund.

"Representation," he learned, means drinking booze, serving canapes, and dancing under the moonlight... with taxpayers' money.

But, under State Department regulations, you can "represent" in this fashion only overseas. In the United States they call this finicking by its honest name: "entertainment."

This year, the State Department is allowing itself $835,000—pretty near a million dollars—for "representation."

Rep. Otto Passman (D. La.) feigned shock at the way State goes around hiding its fun-making behind strange titles. I say "feigned" because it's really nothing new in this world of bureaucracy. Our striped-pants gentlemen have been getting away with it for years.

Passman, chairman of the committee that looks into the strange things the State Department spends our money on, was asking the man specifically about $75,500 "fun" allowance requested by the State Department's Mutual Security Agency.

Asked Passman of W. J. Crockett, the budget man for State: "What is the total requested for 1961? And Crockett replied: $72,500, Mr. Chairman."

Passman: "But a minute ago you said $73,500."

Crockett: "I included $1,000 in entertainment—which is a domestic item." He elucidated: "Representation is always used in the connotation of entertainment overseas, while entertainment is used in the connotation of domestic entertainment."

"You have about the same amount of fun out of each appropriation..."

At that point, John E. Murphy, Mutual Security's money man, interceded. He said that representation actually includes funerals. "It covers a whole host of things," he said.

Crockett: "I did not intend to inject this into the record, but as you are going to lay stress on funerals, could you tell us how much has been paid for funerals?"

Please separate, he said, the funerals from the scotch. Budget man Crockett came up with the answer. Of the $72,000 or so spent last year on "representing" things overseas, he said, $145 was for funeral and memorial wreaths. The rest went for scotch, food caterers, bourbon and other forms of demon rum.

Said, lawmaker Passman noted that as of that moment our national debit hit a new record of $290,721,583,230.33. He also cocked a sad eye at the figure which told that the debt of the United States was $47 billion more than all the other nations of the world put together.

The interest, alone, on the money we borrow to give away overseas, he said, is costing us taxpayers $3.25 billion a year.

The gentleman of the State Department argued that we need to make fun overseas: in order to get along better with foreign big shots.

But, mumbled Passman: "I sometimes wonder if they would not have a little more respect for us if we would take these people to church rather than out to cocktail parties."

This may or may not make it easier on the Lord. But it would certainly make it easier on the taxpayer...

Goodness attains the demonstration of Truth.—Mary Baker Eddy

Mr. Billogg

Weeding is the removing of weeds from a flower bed. There is danger that the flowers will be mistaken for the weeds and removed also. Then the labor and the hopes of the gardener will be brought to nothing.

Weeds like flowers are green and have leaves and roots. They are indistinguishable from flowers when they are small. There are books which explain the difference between weeds and flowers but the average weeder is not given to reading books. If he were he would not be a weeder.

Weeds as a rule look healthier than flowers. But sometimes through luck or good soil a flower may look healthier than a weed. That is the worst sort of flower to mistake for a weed and dig up.

Another popular method of helping the weeder distinguish weeds from flowers is for the person who planted the flowers to actually be in the garden where they are or tell him where they are. But the weeder's mind may be wandering. Or he may have a bad memory. In that case he will imagine he was told the flowers were in one place and the weeds in another when actually it is just the opposite. In such manner a bed can be denuded of flowers before the error is discovered.

Or the person who planted the flowers can stand over the weeder and direct his work. This method serves very well until the planter is summoned to the telephone conversation irreparable damage can be done.

There is one consolation about a tragedy in weeding. For the moment it causes an emotional scene and provokes remarks of a personal nature that a better left unsaid. But once that is over the weeder who has done the damage is not likely to be asked to weed any more.

Tiros Satellite New Weather Aid

WASHINGTON (UPI)—America's Tiros I satellite has given science a valuable new tool for quickly locating high fast-moving air currents which govern weather conditions on the earth's surface.

This was disclosed today by Dr. Harry Wexler of the Weather Bureau as meteorologists studied more than 20,000 cloud cover photographs taken by the $70-pound "weather eye" since its launching April 1.

The drum-shaped satellite with its two tiny TV cameras is circling the earth once every 90 minutes at an altitude of about 450 miles. It scans clouds over a band of the earth extending roughly 3,600 miles north and south of the equator.

Recent photographs show bands of cirrus clouds extending at least 500 miles east of the southern Andes. These cirrus streamers cross the continent and poke out across the Atlantic in the vicinity of Cape Blanco.

Wexler, chief of meteorological research, said these clouds are tell-tale evidence of a strong jet stream crossing the mountains.

Surface weather is profoundly affected by the speed and routes taken by the high jets. In the southern hemisphere weather fronts form on the north side of such rivers of air. In the northern hemisphere, storm regions develop on the south side.

Silhouettes of graduates on the sides of red and white cartons of candy centered the tables. At each place setting were small red and white cups of candy with a "pipe cleaner graduate" perched on the side.

Hidden prizes in the cups were found by Sherlene Shepard, John Smith, Kay Ivey, Ronnie Lindsey.

Osteen Children Enjoy Beach Picnic

Mrs. Margaret Harris, teacher at the Osteen school, with the help of several parents, gave the children of the first, second and third grades a special treat last week.

The children left the school in cars and traveled to the Sea Zoo in Daytona Beach. There they enjoyed seeing all the sea animals and were allowed to touch the snakes. They saw the Sea Lion push a baby buggy and swing on a swing. The porpoises pushed a doll that had been thrown into the water to shore, played basketball and jumped for fish while the others went down a sliding board.

The children were then taken to the Atlantic Coast Line Depot where they boarded a train for New Smyrna Beach. The conductor guided the children through the entire train including the dining car and sleepers.

After arriving in New Smyrna Beach, they were taken to a playground and park, where they had a picnic lunch before returning to the school in cars.

Parents making the trip were, Mrs. Albert Pell, Mrs. Marvin Riggs, Mrs. W. L. Jones, Mrs. Elmer Shivers, Mrs. Robert Williams, Mrs. John Juras, Mrs. Hugh Gowan, Mrs. Eunice Jenkinson, Mrs. Harris and Mrs. Seitz.

Children enjoying the day were, William German, Susan Seitz, Linda Whidden, Brenda Palmer, Karen Osteen, Barbara and Becky Gowan, Mary Gary and Esther Fraser.

Jack and Doug Juras, Mike Shivers, Curtis Vincent, Bryant Hill, Robert Workmen, Ronnie Riggs, Ash Pell, George Fraser, Loren Jones, Neal Caldwell, Dell Rutherford, Chester Carpenter, Charles and Louis Suttin.

Pre-school children were, Tari Lynn Juras, Mark Pell, Pamela Gowan, Dennis Jones and Billy Seitz.

Don't Overlook Those Hidden Leaks

Most homeowners take steps to make immediate repairs on their home whenever damage becomes apparent. Unfortunately, the results of one culprit's work can go undetected by the inexperienced eye for a long time until it literally bursts out into the open. When this happens, the damage can be repaired but at severe expense.

The detection of roof deterioration at its earliest stages usually requires a professional inspection. Roofing contractors will make an inspection and give a comprehensive report on the actual condition of a roof without cost or obligation.

Landscaping Calls For Good Planning By Homeowners

Professional advice in landscaping the home property usually is more desirable for the home owner, says the American Association of Nurserymen.

However, there are some simple rules which every home owner should know.

The purpose of landscaping is to tie your home into the surrounding land area in such a way that it will create a pleasing picture to you, and your neighbors.

Frame the house with plants and trees.

Foundation plants should be low growing in order not to obscure windows as the plants mature.

Trees should be off the corners of the house so that they serve as a frame rather than obscuring the home. Stand directly in center front of your house; then look at the corners of the house. Trees should be placed outside the triangle formed by your position on the sidewalk and the two corners of the house.

Landscape nurserymen are professionally trained in landscaping and perhaps can do the best job for you.

Many do-it-yourselfers working together with their nursery men, can achieve proper and good-looking results.

It is an established fact that good landscaping helps increase the resale value of the home, 25 percent or more.

THE PALLADIAN ROOM DIVIDER organizes space. It includes three units and allows the decorator to decide whether he wants all shelves or a shelves and cabinet combination. Behind the doors are partitioned trays.

New Wallpaper Trend Highlights Added 'Elegant' Handling Use

One of the most noticeable trends in wallpaper today is a return to elegance — and, it's an elegance most everyone can afford! You can, for instance, buy designs by top flight artists at bargain prices.

This elegance is quieter and richer than that of yesterday — more suitable to this day and age.

Historical designs of the past are adapted by using lighter, more subtle colors with modern textures as background for these traditional designs.

Textures — moiré, shiki, silk, linen, grasscloth, metallic effects, brick, stone and marble (the field is growing daily) — are simulated on wallpaper with or without pattern to bring richness into the home.

There is also a noticeable favoring of the early American theme. There's emphasis on every type of Colonial design: old block prints, early American motifs, delightful papers of modern innovation dealing with old ships, covered wagons, historic scenes, and not forgetting the ever-present American eagle.

And — in addition to the popular light and airy florals, big and bountiful florals return in full force — but with a difference! Colors used now are so light and lovely the large florals add enormous charm to the most modern home.

Because of today's well designed modern furniture there is always a demand for the simple contemporary type of wallpaper. Curved line drawings and flat silhouettes are often used, combining with textures.

And, of course — the simulated brickwork, shutters, shoji screening, grillwork and similar types of design — add importance and interest to rooms!

With these trends in mind, you too can keep pace with interesting new ideas in your own decorating project.

In homes with children, a spacious sturdy playground set is almost a must. It helps give the youngsters healthful exercise and at the same time keeps them at home.

An ideal way to pave your patio or terrace is with concrete, reinforced with rods or wire mesh. For smart accent, concrete can be colored.

It's Important To Know Types Of Cooling Before Installation

In the Spring, a home-owner's fancy may turn to thoughts for summer cooling.

What is the most suitable cooling equipment for a particular house? Much depends upon the style and size of house. If hydronic (modern hot water) heating is already in, there's a greater variety of cooling equipment to choose from, including systems for both heating and cooling, or for cooling alone.

According to the Better Heating-Cooling Council, these so-called compatible cooling systems are:

Separate Chilled Water Unit: Chilled water is piped from a water chiller plant to a central cooling unit which converts the water into cool, conditioned air. Cooling unit is installed in a closet, or in a "distributing chamber" made by dripping the ceiling of a center hall.

Conditioned air is distributed to surrounding rooms through outlets located high on the walls. Separate hydronic baseboard system is used for heating.

Heating-Cooling Convectors: A boiler and water chiller connected to a common piping system circulate either chilled or hot water to heating-cooling convector units in each room. Convectors contain a fan, coils and filter. A switch is sometimes provided for individual room control.

Separate Chilled Air Unit: A "chilled air" unit, containing all equipment needed to cool and condition the air, is installed in the attic, a center hall closet or in a dropped ceiling chamber. From its central location, it cools all surrounding rooms. Separate hydronic baseboard system is used for heating.

Self-Contained Room Units:

Plant small groups of bulbs in an oval pattern for best effect. Prepare soil by spading it up, breaking clumps, then raking it smooth.

Guy up young trees as a protection against winter winds. Be certain to pad wire where it loops the tree so it doesn't tear the tender bark.

It's when you're safe at home that you wish you were having an adventure. When you're having an adventure, you wish you were safe at home. —Therese Wilder

Reduce Volume Of Kitchen Noises

The modern homemaker's kitchen is usually well-equipped with a full quota of wonderful mechanical and electrical servants. The telephone, disposer, mixer, laundry equipment and others are great helpers, but do not contribute to a much-wanted "luxury" — quiet!

For about twenty cents a square foot and a weekend of hubby's time, Mrs. Homemaker can have a sound-conditioning ceiling that will absorb up to 75 percent of the noise striking it.

In most kitchens with hard-surfaced flooring, cabinets and equipment, the noise merely bounces around. This need not be the case!

According to the engineers at the Celotex Corporation, sound-absorbing ceiling tile is as easy to maintain as it is to install — even in areas where grease and other dirt-provoking elements are ever-present.

Use Photographs In Decorating

The homemaker who does her own interior decorating can pick up a smart new idea from professional decorators by hanging large portrait photographs on the wall, perhaps as the focal point of her living room.

Decorators today consider portrait photographs as the family's most personal form of art, to be mated and framed in hundreds of exciting ways, geared to the homemaker's own furnishings and taste.

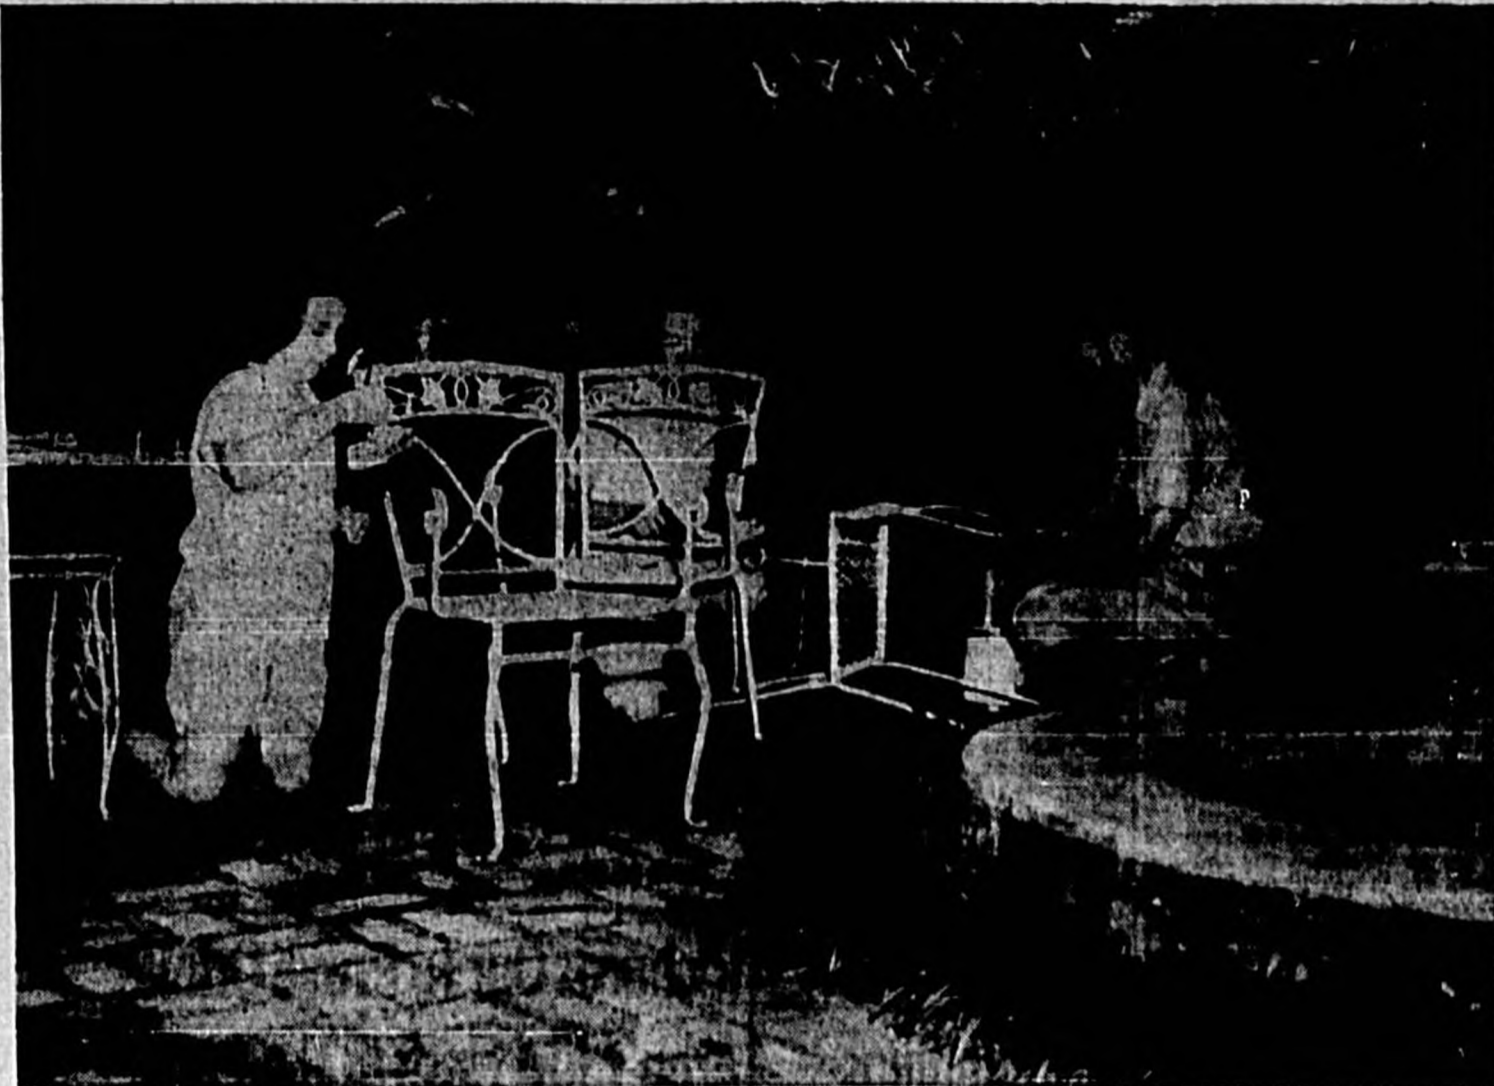

The first step in perking up your home with your family's portrait photographs is a trip to a local portrait photography studio. Next is selecting frames which complement, not dominate, the subjects. Frames can be pecky cypress, fruitwood, shadow-box styles or a variety of other possibilities geared to the personality of your decorative scheme.

Boat Owner Can Build A 'Port' In His Backyard

One of the nation's biggest family recreations is — boating. It is estimated that 37,000,000 people in about seven and a half million pleasure craft are enjoying the waterways.

A large proportion of the country's recreational fleet are transported on trailers. Easily pulled behind the family car, these boat trailers help broaden the range of waters that the "skipper and crew" can enjoy. The trailers also provide a convenient and inexpensive way to store the boat at home when it is not in use.

An important accessory for the trailer boat between trips, is a shelter for protection from the elements.

The makers of Scott outboard motors suggest a simple building project for a boat shelter — easily within the abilities of most do-it-yourselfers. It will help to keep the craft looking newer, the motor running better.

If yours is a one-car family with a two-car garage or carport, your problem is simple. The unused car space is just right for any trailer boat up to about 22 feet in length. Besides giving the boat complete protection, it also provides storage space for needed boating gear and offers a good place to work on the boat.

When garage space is not available Scott experts suggest construction of a simple "boatport" or shelter.

Consisting of roof and suitable supports, the boat shelter can be made free standing, supported all around by 2x4's or 4x4's. It may or may not have side walls of wood or canvas. Or, build it as a lean-to, adjacent to a wall of a house or garage.

The size of the "port" should encompass the full length of the boat and trailer; a width of nine feet should be ample for most boats.

The roof should have enough pitch to assure good run-off of snow and heavy rains. Corrugated aluminum, steel, fiberglass sheets or corrugated panels are all good shelter materials.

It may also be made of wood covered by roofing paper or composition shingles.

A favored type of lean-to construction features a roof that is hinged to the wall, and outside supports are either hinged or removable. The whole structure can swing down flat against the wall when not in use.

Scott experts point out that although modern metal and fiberglass craft stand up well with canvas or tarpaulin coverings, a more substantial shelter gives added protection — assuring a "like-new boat" for a much longer time.

Tamp soil gently with the hoe blade after sowing seeds in rows. You'll provide close contact between soil and seeds, get flower or vegetable seeds off to a far stronger start.

Stop! Think! Before You Tackle 'Do It Yourself' Job

Knowing where to stop can be as important as knowing where to begin—for the do-it-yourselfer. Listed here are some important considerations for the man about to tackle any major job himself:

Has he got the time? Interest often lags when a fix-up job "drags."

Has he got the time? Interest often lags when a project unworkable; later correction by a "pro" may be twice as costly.

Has he got the tools? Lack of proper tools prolong the work and may possibly ruin expensive materials.

If there is just one "no" or even a doubtful "yes" to these questions — then even the most skilled handyman should turn the improvement job over to a contractor.

The contractor takes responsibility for the satisfactory completion of the job—within a reasonably short time. He takes care of vital things the amateur may not even think of, or know—such as permits and compliance with building codes.

Another important consideration: in areas of safety and health, such as plumbing and electrical work, even the most informed and careful amateur should not tackle the improvement.

However, in almost all fields of home construction and improvement, the contractor's know-how, experience and proper equipment will pay off. Knowing what to select for a particular job, as well as how to install it, is half the "battle."

In this age of specialization, a relatively simple improvement may often involve several crafts. Part of the contractor's service is to find the variety of specialists needed and organizing them into a smooth working team.

That's how a contractor can achieve major savings in time, temper and money.

A contractor may often advise to give up the project or alter it. Many projects sound simple in the "talking"—yet are impractical or very costly in the "doing."

New Materials Ready For Fix-Up

If you're making important home improvements, you'll be interested in some of the newer materials available for more comfortable living.

Snow white or pastel-colored shingles do a better job of reflecting the sun's rays than darker shingles and help keep the home cooler during the summer. These shingles are also made available with longer tabs to accentuate the modern long, low look.

Rock wool insulation in ceilings, walls and floors helps cut heating and cooling costs . . . asbestos-cement siding shingles require no painting.

Vinyl-asbestos floor tiles throughout the house will offer added fire protection.

500 Mile Speedway Classic Up For Grabs; New Records Expected

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — The lion's share of auto racing's richest jackpot, an estimated $350,000, was up for grabs today for the driver who takes the greatest risks, at probably the highest speed ever, to finish ahead of the pack of 33 cars in the 4th 500-mile speedway grid.

The winner probably would earn $110,000, perhaps even a few dollars more, but to write his name on the paycheck which was to be awarded Tuesday night, he would have to drive faster than at least 187 m.p.h. for the grueling distance, evading possible wreckage which could result from the fastest field ever to start this annual event, and putting high speed pressure on all his foes.

Weather forecasters anticipated that showers might endure until an hour after the scheduled start of the race, should the track be wet, or the outlook dismal, the start would be delayed until four hours of dryness was likely to guarantee the expected crowd of 175,000 on all-out show.

If the race was postponed, it would be run Tuesday. Only once, however, has the Memorial Day classic been deferred, that in 1915, and only twice has it been cut short by rain, in 1950 when Johnnie Parsons won at 246 miles and in 1952 when Frank Lockhart won at 400 miles.

Three former winners are in the starting field — defending champion Rodger Ward, Indianapolis, who last year set the speed record at 135.867; Troy Ruttman, Dearborn, Mich., winner at 128.922 in 1954; and Jimmy Bryan, Phoenix, Ariz., the 1953 victor at 133.791 miles per hour.

All three had to be rated among the favorites, notably Ward—who with pole winner Eddie Sachs, Center Valley, Pa., and Jim Rathmann, Miami, runner-up last year and in 1957—would start in the front row. Rathmann, Sachs, Johnny Thomson, Boyertown, Pa., and Johnny Boyd, Fresno, Calif., also were well rated among the experienced hands.

Four rookies would bow and

Tampa Edges Greyhounds 8-7 In FSL Action

Tampa nipped the Sanford Greyhounds 8-7 Sunday as the Greyhounds committed five errors to throw open the doors to Tampa's winning run.

It was the second straight defeat for the locals as they were beaten Saturday by Orlando, 3-2.

Tonight the locals meet Tampa again on the road.

In the game Sunday, Tampa opened up with four runs in the first inning and were never headed after that.

Ron Banovic started on the mound for Sanford and couldn't get out of the first inning.

Richards Out To Prove Orioles Aren't Just Flash In The Pans

United Press International

The Baltimore Orioles, displaying great early speed, hit the Memorial Day quarter-pole in the American League race with a two-length lead today, while the San Francisco Giants and Pittsburgh Pirates were running neck-and-neck in the National League chase.

Many baseball experts believe the Orioles are strictly sprinters who will fold when the real running begins. However, they are equally certain that Paul Richards has staked out an early claim for manager of the year honors because of the way he has jockeyed Baltimore to the front of the AL pack.

Richards made all the right moves Sunday as the Orioles swept a doubleheader from the Red Sox, 6-1 and 5-4. The lean man from Waxahachie, Tex., called on Gene Woodling as a pinch-hitter in the ninth inning of the second game with the score tied 4-4 and Woodling singled home the winning run.

The Orioles had tied the score earlier in the ninth on a two-run homer by Ron Hansen, Mil. P., out since May 20 with sore elbow, gained the victory with two innings of scoreless relief pitching.

Rookie Steve Barber stopped the Red Sox with six hits in posting his fifth victory against one loss in the opener. The Orioles wrapped up the game in the sixth inning with a four-run burst, highlighted by Brooks Robinson's three-run homer.

The Cleveland Indians snapped Detroit's six-game winning streak by downing the Tigers, 6-1, in the second game of a doubleheader after dropping the opener, 6-5, while the New York Yankees turned back the Washington Senators, 6-4, in 11 innings and the Kansas City Athletics defeated the Chicago White Sox, 4-2.

In the National League, the Pirates outslugged the Philadelphia Phillies, 6-5, to pull into a first place tie with the Giants, who dropped a 4-1 decision to the St. Louis Cardinals. The Cincinnati Reds edged the Milwaukee Braves, 4-2, and the Los Angeles Dodgers blanked the Chicago Cubs, 4-0.

Jim Piersall's three-run homer in the ninth inning carried the Indians home in front in the second game at Detroit. The Tigers won the opener on a tie-breaking solo homer by Norm Cash in the Record Beater Through With Mile

MODESTO, Calif. (UPI) — The "big push" on Olympic berths moved to Compton, Calif., this weekend with many of the country's top stars — including the new U. S. 2-mile record holder, Jim Beatty — slated for action.

Beatty, coming off a 3:58 mile in the California Relays Saturday night when he beat Oregon's mighty Dyrol Burleson, said he is "through with the mile."

"My coach and I plan that I should run in the 5,000 meters in the Olympic trials," said Beatty. "And that's what I plan for Compton. But this effort in the mile may make us do some strong thinking."

Beatty wore down Burleson in the advertised "mile of the century" in a stirring stretch drive. Herb Elliott of Australia, who had been scheduled to be the star, was scratched from the event five minutes before post time with a pulled tendon in his right knee.

So Beatty assumed the role of pace setter and here as he beat the long-striding Burleson to the tape by six yards, The Oregon ace was clocked in 3:59.2. And Lennie Tabors, who helped Beatty set the pace, was timed in four minutes flat.

Williams May Be Named Bosox Mgr.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Boston Red Sox are expected to dismiss Manager Billy Jurges within a few days and offer the job to Ted Williams, even though he repeatedly has said he doesn't want it.

Despite Williams' protestations owner Tom Yawkey will ask him to take over the post and feels that he will, the United Press International has learned on excellent authority.

In Baltimore, where the Red Sox dropped into the American League cellar by losing a doubleheader to the Orioles Sunday, Williams said he had not been offered the job yet and still indicated he wouldn't accept it if it is offered to him.

Yawkey and General Manager Bucky Harris conferred in Boston Sunday and there was no comment from the Red Sox owner regarding the managerial situation.

Yawkey and Williams are close friends, each being a warm admirer of the other. The Red Sox owner realizes Williams' name is magic in and around Boston and that, no matter what, he will always be a prime favorite with New England fans.

Another factor in the $100,000 Ted is drawing chiefly for sitting on the bench. He'd certainly earn it much more as a manager where he undoubtedly would be a tremendous box-office attraction.

Lopsided Round Sparks Golf Play

PORTRUSH, Northern Ireland (UPI) — There was glory aplenty in the wake of the British amateur golf championship today for both winner Joe Carr of Ireland and loser Bob Cochran of St. Louis, Mo.

Carr became the first player in modern history to win the title three times when he trounced the surprising Cochran, 8 and 7, in Saturday's 36-hole final round. It was the most lopsided final round in 86 years.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: After an 8-year friendship with another couple, my husband and my best friend confessed they had been "in love" for five years. They asked for divorces so they could marry. (We have 3 children and they have 2.) There was nothing we could do but give them their freedom. They married February 14th the day their divorces became final.

The jilted husband has been coming to see me and has been taking me out. I am so lonely and so is he and we have a lot in common. I think I could care for him and he says he wants to marry me. He'd make a good husband, and my children need a full-time father. I'd like to marry him, but my parents are against it. They say people will say it was one of those "husband swapping deals" that was cooked up a long time ago. Please help me do the right thing, Abby. I don't want to ruin my reputation.

VICTIM OF GOSSIP

DEAR VICTIM: If you have walked straight—don't worry if your shadow is crooked. You are both free agents now. What your heart tells you is more important than what "people will say."

DEAR ABBY: My problem is a friend of mine. When he gets mad or excited he literally pulls the hair out of his head one by one. He has little bald patches already from his ridiculous practice. He has me worried sick. I think he is heading for a nervous breakdown. What can I do to help him?

HAIR PULLER'S FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: Pulling the hair out of one's head in a fit of temper or excitement is hardly normal behavior. You can't help him unless you are a psychiatrist. I suspect that it what your friend needs.

DEAR ABBY: My husband never talks to me any more. The minute he gets in the house he turns on the radio. But when we have company he can talk all evening (to them).

When we go anywhere in the car he can't turn the radio on fast enough, and he doesn't turn it off until we get where we're going.

NO CONVERSATION

DEAR NO CONVERSATION: Talk to HIM! Ask him questions about his work, relatives, taxes, sports, politics and the front page news. Maybe he has quit talking to you because he feels you aren't interested in what he has to say. Practice being a good audience and he'll perform.

DEAR ABBY: We girls would like you to help us settle a discussion we have been having. What, in your opinion, is the most attractive age for a woman?

THE COFFEE BREAKERS

DEAR COFFEE BREAKERS: I would say 39. The proof is that millions of women, by their own choice, remain 39 for years.

"What's your problem?" Write to Abby in care of this paper. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Abby's best-selling book, "Dear Teenager," is on sale at all bookstores.

United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. John Marshall Butler (R-Md.) declared today the pending baseball bill would be "harmful to the sport, perhaps fatal."

Of Course You Can Reduce!

Dear Edyth: "I am in a terrible state! I am 50, I weigh 200 pounds more than I should, I look older than my age and am a fright. I cannot let myself go, but I cannot go on a diet. I just can't reduce! My husband makes fun of my fat and I just stay at home while my neighbor, a good-looking, fifty-year-old woman often goes to musical affairs with my husband. I worry about this. Is there some medicine I could take to reduce?"

using an intense blue, lighten it a bit if you wish to wear fairly bright colors. Bluing white hair, at first, was done primarily to keep the hair from having yellow streaks but a soft blue became popular as a "shade" of hair.

Of course you can reduce and to my way of thinking, you had better go about it at once. For your health, your looks and your happy home! I am not a doctor and cannot recommend any reducing method other than the only one that is safe—watch your caloric intake and follow a proper diet.

Finch Trial Postponed Again

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The handsome doctor, his once-tanned face now pale from 10 months in confinement, comfortingly patted the arm of his tearful mistress as he was led back to jail.

The doctor was socialite-physician R. Bernard Finch, 43. He was returned to his jail cell Thursday to wait nearly one month more before he and his mistress return for retrial June 30 on murder charges.

Finch and Carole Tregoff, 23, are accused of the July 18 gunshot slaying of his estranged wife Barbara Jean, 33. Finch has been in jail since the day after the slaying.

He and Carole were ordered to return next month after the state Supreme Court rules June 12 on Carole's challenge to disqualify Superior Court Judge Le Roy Dawson from presiding at their retrial.

Carole remained calm during the brief court action while Dawson again refused to step down as prejudiced and continued the retrial. But as Finch was returned to jail she broke into tears and received her former lover's pat on the shoulder. She has been freed on $25,000 bail.

The district attorney's office refused to retry Finch separately in order to avoid a long delay while Mrs. Tregoff's attorneys challenge Dawson. The retrial of the couple originally was to have started last Monday.

The first trial of the couple lasted three months and ended March 12 when the jurors favored convicting Finch and freeing Carole but were unable to reach a unanimous verdict.

Ike's Grandson Rather Play Ball

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UPI) — President Eisenhower's 12-year-old grandson, David, apparently decided to play baseball rather than go to Russia this summer.

Even before the President's invitation to visit the Soviet Union was withdrawn, David was in "spring training" for the Little League baseball season here.

He plays second base and doubles as a pitcher for the Moose team, a leading contender for the championship of the six-club circuit.

Townfolk report that Moose managers expressed concern over his possible absence in mid-season to tour Russia with the President.

"I talked to my grandfather about it and we decided I would stay here," David was quoted as saying.

Girl Slain At Graduation Dance

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Young couples danced cheek to cheek at a college graduation party while death ended a broken romance in the next room.

Marianna Kathleen Hatch, a 21-year-old brunette beauty soon to graduate from Los Angeles City College, and Emil Daruty, 22, an engineering student at Pacific State University, had dated more than three years. Recently they split up, friends said.

As a photograph spiraled dance music into a dimly lit living room early Sunday morning, Emil and Marianna met once more. Minutes later friends found her body sprawled in a fish pond in the back yard.

"I loved her . . . I choked her . . . I don't know what came over me . . . I can't explain it," Daruty said as he was booked on suspicion of murder.

He told officers he called his ex-sweetheart into the kitchen and they began to argue.

"I just flipped, I guess," he said, "I just flipped."

"I choked her and carried her out the back door . . . I started to the fish pond to throw some water on her but when I got there I saw it was useless, so I threw her in the water," Daruty said.

Police said the crewcut, dark eyed youth then fled to his brother's home nearby and told him what he had done. His brother summoned police and Daruty was arrested.

Moments before Marianna walked into the kitchen to her death she told a girlfriend she wanted to go home. She was at the front door ready to leave when Daruty coaxed her into the kitchen to talk.

She was to have graduated as a dental technician in two weeks, friends said. Pictures showing her in her white uniform and cap already had been taken.

When officers took Daruty into custody they found a small portrait of Miss Hatch in his wallet. The inscription read:

"All my love always, Marianna."

Thank you for your wonderful vote. I am humbled by your confidence in my ability to help build a better Florida.

Thank You!

I pledge to serve all the people of Florida in my new role of Commissioner of Agriculture as faithfully as I have in the past.

Top Milers Set For Saturday Meet

MODESTO, Calif. (UPI) — The "mile race of the century" goes on the stage Saturday when Herb Elliott of Australia, Dyrrol Burleson of United States and László Tabori, ex-Hungarian, tangle in the 19th annual California Relays.

"It will be run in well under four minutes," says Elliott, who has been training here for the last 10 days. "But I won't make a prediction on breaking the world mark."

Florida Given Largest Tideland Area By Court

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court ruled today that the federal government is entitled to the rich oil lands underlying the Gulf of Mexico off the states of Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama beyond the historic three-mile limit.

The 5 to 2 ruling, by Justice John M. Harlan, decided the issue the opposite way in the case of Texas—out to a distance of three leagues or 10 1/2 miles. The federal government gets the rest out to the edge of the continental shelf.

The case of Florida, the fifth Gulf Coast state, was decided in a separate opinion by Justice Hugo L. Black. The ruling was that Florida is entitled to a belt of land under the Gulf three marine leagues (10 statute miles) wide. Harlan dissented.

The court retained the Florida case on the ground that further proceedings may be necessary to fix the coastline specifically.

Chief Justice Earl Warren and Justice Tom C. Clark disqualified themselves from participation in both cases. Clark was U. S. attorney general when the Justice Department was handling an earlier test case involving California. Warren was governor of California at the time.

The law suits, brought directly in the Supreme Court by the Justice Department, were to determine ownership of the rich undersea area beyond the three-mile limit and, accordingly, who gets the millions of dollars in royalties from oil companies which drill there.

The only drilling of consequence has been done off Louisiana. The money from this operation has gone into an escrow account and as of today amounted to $225,045,000. It now goes to the United States.

Intelligence Chief Meets Probers

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Director Allen W. Dulles of the Central Intelligence Agency met with the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in a top-secret session today to discuss his agency's role in the U. S. spy plane incident that preceded the Paris summit collapse.

When Dulles arrived for the second day of the committee's "blue ribbon" inquiry into events surrounding the recent summit failure, he gave a firm but smiling "no comment" to all questions by reporters.

The CIA chief, brother of the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, read a long prepared statement before the questioning began.

Richard Helms, a CIA official, was on hand to help Dulles censor his testimony in case any of it is made public later.

Several committee members felt the degree of coordination between the CIA, State and Defense Departments and White House—lack of it—was a key factor in events leading up to the summit conference collapse.

Dog Vaccinations Slated At Oviedo

All dog owners in the Oviedo area must comply with a city ordinance and get their dogs vaccinated Thursday, Mrs. John Courter Jr., city clerk, said today.

A veterinarian will be at the Oviedo City Hall from 2 to 5 p. m. Thursday to give the shots, Mrs. Courter said. Cost of the shots is $3 per animal. No dogs will be allowed on Oviedo streets without the tags signifying they have been vaccinated, she warned.

Countywide Zoning Law In Effect

The County Commission today unanimously adopted the comprehensive zoning law, calling it one of the most progressive steps the county ever has taken.

The countywide law is effective immediately. Commissioner J. H. Van Hoy said that the new zoning law was a step forward for the county. "We can't have orderly development without this law," he said.

Commissioner Vernon Dunn called the law "important to the growth of the county" and said it should have been adopted years ago.

Chairman John Krider said passage of the law was "a step in the right direction" in providing a plan for the county.

Zoning Director Robert Brown told the board that new comprehensive zoning maps are now on file in his office and can be examined by any person in the county.

The board adopted the new law after six hearings were held in the county. Two were conducted by the commission and four others were for individual county districts.

Most of the complaints from persons opposing the law came from those wanting higher protective zoning for their property.

Brown said that new law would safeguard all property in the county and would eliminate spot zoning.

County Attorney Mark Cleveland Jr. told the board that it is "obligated to give her the back pay."

Chairman John Krider proposed that "we include the full amount in next year's budget and set up a special fund to pay her then."

Krider added that "with only four and a half months to go on this budget, we must have money available to take care of any emergency that might arise."

Florida Holiday Deaths Total 18

By United Press International

Florida's Memorial Day holiday weekend death toll climbed past predictions today with heavy casualties on the highways.

A United Press International survey of the 78-hour period ending midnight Monday showed 18 deaths—15 in traffic, two in drownings and one in a fire.

Wayne A. Houck, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Houck of Orlando, was killed when his bicycle was hit by a car Monday night.

Houck was riding double on the bicycle with Bruce Walters, 11, also of Orlando. Walters was hospitalized in good condition.

The driver of the car which struck the boy was Don Sidham, 23, of Orlando Air Force Base. Police who investigated the accident said it was unavoidable and Sidham was not to blame.

Late-reported accidents pushed the national Memorial Day weekend traffic death figure toward the 370 mark today and safety workers praised press and radio and traffic officials for keeping it from going higher.

The National Safety Council had estimated that 375 persons would die in traffic accidents during the weekend which began at 6 p. m. Friday. At midday today, a United Press International count showed that 266 died.

Drownings, many of them the result of boating accidents, took 121 lives, plane crashes two, and other accidents 63, for an overall total of 372.

Ohio, which saw six servicemen die in one collision with a truck, led the list of states in traffic deaths with 37. California showed 23, New York and Pennsylvania 22, Illinois 20, Alabama and North Carolina 18, Michigan 17, and Indiana 16, among the leaders.

The 1956 Memorial Day mark was 371 dead in traffic, and this figure for a weekend of comparable length, was the one which council officials had feared would be eclipsed.

The worst single holiday disaster occurred near Cambridge, Ohio, Monday when six young servicemen were killed when their speeding car smacked head on into a tractor-trailer.

Wichita, Kan., spent two hours unloading the wreckage and authorities needed several more hours to identify the bodies of the young servicemen.

Another accident Monday night near Pottstown, Pa., killed four persons and injured five others.

The Indianapolis Express was a scene of the nation's greatest auto race, added to the holiday toll when a homemade grandstand collapsed, killing two fans and injuring more than 75 others.

County Asks Added Supply Controls For Workshop

The County Commission today agreed on the need to tighten controls on maintenance materials at the county shop and authorized County Engineer Robert Davis to hire a full time storekeeper to check all materials being used there.

Chairman John Krider said that from $35,000 to $50,000 was being spent each year for maintenance and "we must watch where it goes."

"I would like to know how much gas and oil is used at the shop for our vehicles and find how much is spent each month on new tools," Krider said.

The board authorized Davis to hire the fulltime storekeeper "as soon as possible."

In other business during the meeting, the board agreed to request that Joyce Rd. be paved on a joint participation basis by residents in the area. The road is between Goldenrod and Tanglewood.

Agreed not to abandoned a right-of-way in North Chuluota after Commissioner Lawrence Swoford said the county should not give away county property.

Requesting the abandoning was Alvin Pitts, attorney, representing Dr. John Jez.

Heard County Agent Cecil Tucker said the need for more storage space in his office and ask the board to study raising the salaries of his clerical help.

President, Nixon Warn SEATO Of Chinese Threat

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Dwight D. Eisenhower warned the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization allies today not to relax their vigilance against any Communist aggression or subversion in the Far East.

The President spoke at a White House lunch for SEATO members after Vice President Richard M. Nixon told them that in future dealings with Russia "we must be firmness without belligerence" if "we are to keep our differences from resulting in war."

Nixon also said the free world benefactor probably will put more of its faith in traditional types of diplomatic negotiation, but he did not rule out future summit conferences.

Eisenhower said that on the occasion of the SEATO conference opening today "we can take much satisfaction in the fact that our first objective of preventing further Communist domination through aggression or subversion in the treaty area has been realized."

"No defensive alliance of which we are a member faces greater challenge or protects a more vital segment of the free world than SEATO," he said. Members are Australia, Britain, France, New Zealand, Pakistan, the Philippines, Thailand and the United States.

Nixon spoke at the opening session of the annual ministerial meeting of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization. He welcomed the delegates on behalf of President Eisenhower.

Nixon took some hope from the fact that Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, despite bellicose talk, is not yet going along with Communist China's pro-war policy.

"The Chinese Communists have seized upon the failure of the conference as an opportunity for renewed emphasis on the orthodox communist philosophy of the need for force as an essential ingredient in world Communist tactics," Nixon said.

"In the world in which we live today, this emphasis is as dangerous as it is anachronistic. Fortunately, there are good indications even since the Paris conference that this view is not shared by Mr. Khrushchev."

The Southeast Asian allies also were told that the summit failure will have a direct bearing on Asia's future and that they must be on the alert against possible aggressive moves by Red China.

'All Weather' Status Given Sanford Station

The Sanford Naval Air Station has been designated an "all weather" air station, placing it on a status equal to the major naval air facilities around the world.

This gives the NAS a new role of maintaining the capability of accepting all types of military aircraft for landing on a continuous 24-hour basis under all weather conditions, Capt. Robert W. Slye, NAS commander, explained.

This designation stems from installation at the Sanford station of the most modern and versatile electronic and technical landing aids currently available. The installation of these devices represents large investments in modernizing the equipment available for operational use.

The installation of high intensity runway lights, the final requirement in becoming "all weather" was completed at a cost of $72,900.

"Attainment of this designation is but one of many improvements completed at NAS Sanford in recent years and reflects the continuous progress and development taking place at this facility," Capt. Slye said.

Water Study Plans To Be Discussed

City Commissioners will meet at 8 p. m. today to hear two engineering firms submit ideas on a study of Sanford's water problems.

The discussion will start with the Lefler and Bush firm of Sanford in association with Clark, Dailey and Diets engineers, Memphis, Tenn.

They will be followed at 8:30 p. m. by the William Hatfield and Stoner, Inc., engineering firm from Ft. Lauderdale.

City Manager Warren Knowles said they will present a proposal for the study of the water supply problem.

Courthouse Plans Studied Today

The County Commission met this afternoon with Winier Park architect James Gamba Rogers to go over preliminary plans for remodeling the courthouse.

Trooper Makes Heroic Rescue

PUTNAM VALLEY, N. Y. (UPI)—A state trooper groped through 1,000 feet of pitchblack underground passages Monday to reach a seriously injured youth who had tumbled 300 feet into a shaft of an abandoned iron mine.

The trooper, his arms and legs bleeding profusely, then carried the 175-pound youth piggy-back through muck and slime to a point where a stretcher had been lowered from above.

Less than two hours earlier, Trooper John Donohue, 31, had been dragged more than 30 feet by an automobile while making an arrest.

The youth, Gerald Kulich, 18, was reported in good condition today despite head and body injuries incurred during his head-first fall down the slanting mine shaft.

Kulich was on a pre-dawn exploring expedition with four other youths, state police said, when he tumbled into the shaft and out of sight.

Donohue, after failing to reach Kulich by rope, stripped to his pants and undershirt and scrambled down a shaft parallel to the one into which the youth had fallen. With only a flashlight to guide him, the trooper inched his way through mud and slime.
