

Conference Basketball Regrouping

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Six Southeastern Conference basketball teams regroup after the Christmas holidays and return to action in tournaments scattered from Buffalo, N.Y., to Miami and New Orleans.

Louisiana State, Georgia, Tulane and Florida start the basketball bonanza against Wednesday night in three different tournaments.

LSU and Georgia will participate in Jacksonville's Gator Bowl Tourney, Tulane goes to Miami for the inaugural Orange Bowl classic and the unbeaten Florida Gators will try to extend their five-game string in the All America college course at Oronochee, Ky.

The Sugar Bowl tournament cranks up Thursday night, with Alabama an entry, and Georgia Tech begins action the same night in the Queen City affair at Buffalo.

Florida grabbed sole possession of first place in the standings when Vanderbilt suffered its first setback of the season Friday night at Iowa State. The Commodores slipped into a tie with Mississippi for second with a 6-1 mark. Kentucky and Alabama, with 5-2 records, are tied for fourth.

None of the teams has started conference action. Florida and Auburn tip off the title chase Jan. 2 in Gainesville.

Mississippi, idle last week and again this week, continued to beat the SEC's top scorers in big Joe Gibbon, the Rebels' ace forward. Gibbon has 120 points in six games for a 20.0 average.

Alabama's George Lima moved up into the runner-up slot in the point parade with a 22.71 average through games of last week. Mississippi State's Jim Ashmore is third with a 22.00 mark, followed by Tennessee's Carl Widoath at 21.8.

Only new comer to the top ten scorers is Vanderbilt's Bobby Ely. He replaced his Commo-Commo teammate, Al Roehle, whose average dipped sharply when he got only four points against Georgia. Ely is 10th in the conference scoring parade with a 16.40 average.

This week's schedule:
Wednesday—LSU and Georgia in the Gator Bowl tournament at Jacksonville, Tulane in the Orange Bowl tournament at Miami, and Florida in the All America college tournament at Oronochee.

Michigan State Adds To Offense

Ann Arbor, Mich. (AP)—Michigan State adds a few more multiples to its mighty offense today while UCLA worked on razor-sharpening its single wing attack.

The Rose Bowl football opponents meet scheduled earlier than usual Monday night on the grass parkland of the afternoon championship game between the Los Angeles Rams and Cleveland Browns.

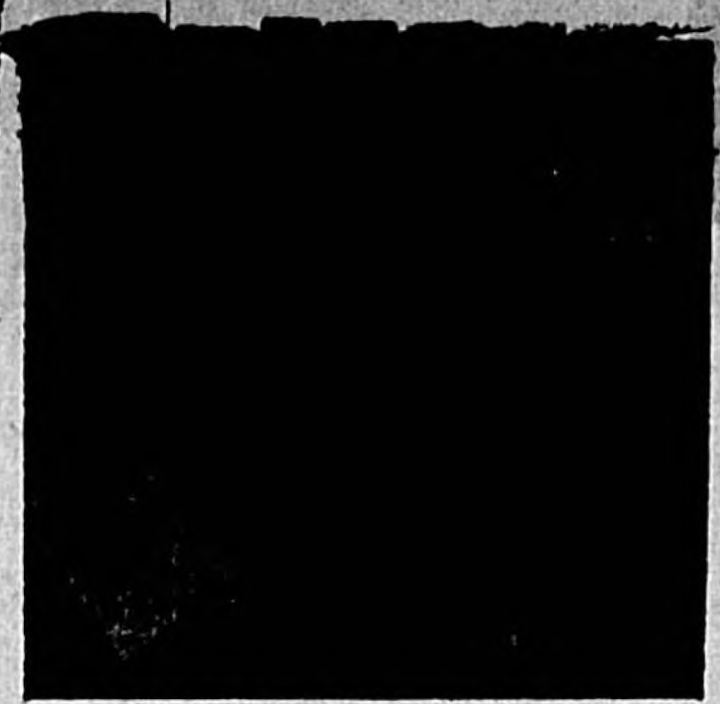

The various grand work started again after a welcome break for Christmas. UCLA players returned to their home benches over a long weekend period. Michigan State had a one-day break filled with a busy round of activities.

Rival coaches Red Sanders of the Bruins and Duffy Daugherty of the Spartans had agreed their boys were "pretty tired" and needed the holiday rest.

Now the book plans to buy her a horse of her own, maybe as a Christmas present. (International)

Past Clashes Mild Compared To Today

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Past clashes were exciting and generally bitter but they meant nothing today as the Cleveland Browns and the Los Angeles Rams lined up for the championship of the National Football League.

Twice before these clubs met for the big one. Each won a game and both encounters were packed with drama.

In 1950, in what the Rams called the Cleveland icebox, Los Angeles went ahead in the final minutes, then lost when quarterback Otto Graham sent his team charging upfield and, with 20 seconds to go, Lou Groza kicked a winning field goal.

In 1951, playing here, Graham and company were headed toward another championship when the Rams' field general, Norm (The Dutchman) Van Brocklin suddenly hurled a long pass. Left end Tom Fears snagged it and went on to score the winning touchdown. The play was good for 73 yards.

Today's nationally televised battle in Memorial Coliseum could well develop into another thriller. Or, as has happened in the National League, one or the other could split the game wide open.

Just a year ago Cleveland and the defending champion Detroit Lions played a regular season game. The outcome meant little to the Browns, who had already locked up the Eastern Division crown. Detroit won 14-10.

So what happened in the blue chip game for the title? Graham scored three touchdowns, halfback Ray Kenzie added two more and common opponents in the regular season this year between the Browns ruined the Lions 58-10. Browns and Rams added little to pregame speculation.

The Rams barely beat Pittsburgh in the final second, same almost against Philadelphia, scores being 27-26 and 23-21. Cleveland beat the Eagles 21-17 and lost to the Browns 20-30 and beat 'em 21-17. Both beat San Francisco rather handily. The Rams did beat Cleveland 26-1. But that was an exhibition and the Browns did not have Graham that afternoon.

Yama Bahama of Miami fights Paolo Mella of Montreal in an international welterweight match at St. Nicholas Arena tonight.

Bahama, whose real name is William Mohahis Buler Jr., got the main event as a last minute substitute for Chico Vejar, who complained of an aching back. Bahama has won 18 straight, 14 this year.

Oklahoma is flying to Miami in two sections, with both planes scheduled to land about 6:45 p. m.

Both squads are expected to hold two-a-day practice sessions until Friday when they begin tapering off for the annual clash before more than 70,000 fans and a nationwide television audience.

Maryland will stay in Miami Beach and work out in Miami Stadium. Oklahoma will be quartered at Del Harbor, north of the city, and will travel 20 miles across town to work out at the University of Miami field.

Oklahoma also drilled at this field in 1954 when the Sooners upset Maryland, 7-0, in the Orange Bowl.

Many Expected For Shrine Bowl All-Star Game

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Forty-eight of the nation's best college football players square off tonight in the Shrine's annual North-South All-Star Game before an expected crowd of 42,000.

Both Yankee and Rebel squads are loaded with stars and rival coaches say their charges are ready to put on a bang-up game.

"This squad seems very serious about winning," said Coach Bernie Crummins of Indiana, who with Art Lewis of West Virginia is to break the South jinx. (The Rebels lead 5-1-1). The spirit is outstanding.

Tom Knight, South Carolina coach who with Wally Butts of Georgia is mentor for the South, came back with: "It looks like this bunch (South) really wants to play ball. The boys have a lot of spirit and have worked together well all week."

The North boasts a beefy forward wall with all but two linemen weighing 200 pounds or more. The two lightweighters are Pat Biocigala and Gene Kapish, both of Notre Dame, who weigh in at 196 each. The backfield will be built around Freddy Wyatt of West

Pittsburgh Panthers Returning To Fame

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Pittsburgh's Panthers, returning to national prominence from the brink of football oblivion, arrive today to begin the final stages of their Sugar Bowl drills.

Pitt seeks to add a crowning touch to its best season since 1950 with a victory over favored Georgia Tech in the Jan. 8 game.

The 1952 Panthers won eight games and lost two. This year's team won seven and lost three and brought Pitt into the limelight since he Panthers defeated Washington 21-0 in the 1957 Rose Bowl.

After arriving at Molsart International Airport, Pitt planned a midafternoon workout at Tulane's Sugar Bowl Stadium, its first outdoor drill in warm weather weeks.

Tech won't arrive for its workouts until Friday.

Pitt Coach Johnny Michaels hopes the brief Christmas vacation brought the last two ailing members of his squad back into form.

End Joey Walton and fullback Bobby Grier stayed out of rough work last week, Walton with a pulled leg muscle and Grier with an injured knee. Both, however, are expected to play.

If Grier does see action, he will become the first Negro to perform before a Sugar Bowl football crowd.

Seminole County Borders Hold Many Attractions For Visitors

Seminole County is one of the small counties of the State. Yet, within the borders of Seminole County there are more attractions to interest the traveler and tourist than most counties in the State.

We fail to realize, in our scope of reviewing the facilities available here, that so much is at our disposal to brag about and to advertise.

There are at least nine, and possibly others, when we look for big attractions to bring to the attention of the sightseer.

For instance, there is SanLando Springs, a natural for year 'round swimming and for beautiful gardens as well as for picnicking. Millions of gallons of pure, clean water bubble into the swimming facilities at this natural attraction within the County.

There is the Big Tree, a natural phenomena that visitors come back to time and time again because of its unusual attractiveness.

Seminole Park Raceway is one of the newest attractions in Seminole County, but a natural for bringing visitors and friends in to see. A clubhouse that is plush to the nth degree looks over the trotting tracks and from the dining room one can watch the events as they take place. There are 300 stables, completely renovated in this attraction with more being planned for next year. The owners call it the "Country Club of Trotting Tracks".

Boat Cruises will take visitors along the St. Johns River to point out the vast historical background of our area. A 350-passenger boat has arrived to furnish Central Florida visitors with one of most enjoyable cruises along the St. Johns they have ever experienced.

The Sanford State Farmers Market is an area that opens the eyes of visitors when they come to realize that thousands of trucks from every section of the country are loaded here with fruits, produce, and vegetables most of which is grown right here on our own farms. It is along the platforms of the Sanford State Farmers Market that tourists come to realize that there is big business in foodstuffs alone.

Of course, one of the major attractions for the sportsmen in Seminole County is big bass fishing. With fishing camps in every direction in the county, the sportsman finds himself in a "fisherman's paradise" with the best of the biggest taking leaps at his files and bait.

The Sanford Naval Auxiliary Air Station is a natural booster for Seminole County and for Sanford. It is at this station, manned by trained pilots and airmen of the Navy that the nation stands ready to defend our country from attack by intruders.

The St. Johns River, one of two rivers in the world which flows north, is a veritable storehouse for exploration and wonderment. Visitors cannot realize the immensity of the attraction that lies along our boundary.

And then, we have the Sanford Orlando Kennel Club with greyhound racing 90 days out of each year. Here is a mecca for attracting those who are looking for excitement as well as entertainment. Only this year, the Sanford Orlando Kennel Club has been redecorated, revamped, and renewed to attract additional thousands to its grandstands.

When we sum up these attractions to which hundreds of others can be added, there is no doubt that Seminole County is the one County in the State of Florida that tourists cannot afford to pass up.

Since we are aware of these attractions, then it is up to the community to tell others about what we have for them to see and enjoy.

Little do we realize that when visitors come to be with us for a day, a week, or a month, there is added to the merchants till an added revenue. Our friendliness, and courtesies, extended to those we see only now and then, bring thousands upon thousands of dollars to the community to be circulated.

We need to shout about what we have in Seminole County. We need to tell the millions and millions of people in other parts of the country about the biggest little county in the world.

What with 33,000 people writing cards and letters telling friends and relatives about our attractions, the mail trucks should be loaded as they take off from our local post offices with messages going around the world.

With everyone doing his or her part, and with the already unprecedented growth of our county community, we can definitely look forward to a greater growth in the immediate future.

Same Acts Have Different Names

WASHINGTON (AP) — When the United Nations diplomats get something done it is called statesmanship. But if labor unions and management took as long to agree on a contract, or did as many flip-flops, they'd be out of business.

When the U. N. recently admitted 16 new members it climaxed a whole series of somersaults — going back for years — by the U. N. membership in general and the United States and Russia in particular. No one looked very pretty in this case.

Take the case of Spain. Since 1946 the U. N. had approved a series of resolutions to keep Spain out. In 1948 the United States suggested the Spanish people ought to get rid of their dictator, Francisco Franco.

Russia was just as opposed to U. N. membership for Spain. But time passed. The cold war began. And the United States wanted military bases in Spain as outposts against a Russian attack. Spain agreed.

Russia, anxious to get some of her satellites into the U. N., knew she couldn't if she tried to block Spain, which now had U. S. support. The result: Spain was admitted overwhelmingly, with the United States and Russia voting for her.

Take the case of Outer Mongolia, which declared itself a republic in 1945 and was recognized the same year by Nationalist China. In 1946 the United States and Nationalist China both backed Outer Mongolia for U. N. membership.

But in 1947 Mongolian and Nationalist Chinese troops were fighting and Nationalist China, an ally of this country, changed its mind. And so did the United States. Time passed.

This fall the U. N. members — in order finally to get in some of the nations which had been crying for membership in the U. N. for years — worked out a deal: 18 new members would be admitted five of them, including Outer Mongolia, would be Soviet satellites; the other 13 would be non-satellites. Russia warned that if her satellites were vetoed — a veto could

How To Help Child If He's A Stammerer

By NICHOLAS H. SUNDGREN, M.D.

A CHILD who stutters or stammers needs expert treatment, but you parents can do a lot to help him overcome his difficulty.

Although stammering and stuttering are different speech defects, the terms generally are used interchangeably and the same patient may have both conditions.

More Severe Form

A person who stutters has difficulty in beginning a word or syllable and usually repeats the first part of it frequently. Stammering, on the other hand, is a more severe form and means difficulty in uttering certain sounds at all. Stammering is not accompanied by repetition.

About 30 percent of afflicted children outgrow the difficulty. If stammering or stuttering begins before the age of four, it can generally be cured permanently by treatment. Most cases begin before the age of six. But if the trouble persists until the age of eight or ten, it might become permanent.

Watch Too Fast

In most cases of stammering and stuttering, the brain seems to be working too fast for the articulating apparatus. The speed which words momentarily precede a word being spoken or interrupted it as it is spoken.

While heredity seems to play an important part in these cases, other possible causes appear to be digestive disorders or disturbed action of the respiratory tract, such as adenoids, impairment of general health and excitement. These speech disorders are much more common in boys than in girls.

If your child stammers or stutters, build up his general health and eliminate any nervous tendency. Do not focus too much attention on his difficulty and do not discuss it continually.

If he is naturally left-handed, it might be a good idea to let him remain that way.

Speak Slowly

Try to prevent him from talking too rapidly. This does not mean you should make him stop in the middle of a sentence and have him start over again. Instead, advise him to say what he has to say slowly and in short sentences. Tell him to speak in a low voice.

There are also vocal gymnastics and exercises which help relax the muscles. These, however, should be taught by an expert.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

A. D. R.: What causes stammering and is there a cure for it?

Answer: Its cause is not known, but it is thought that stammering may be due to some disorder in the mechanism of utterance.

The type of treatment to be employed should be determined by a skin specialist.

Veterans Corner

Here are authoritative answers from the Veterans Administration to four questions of interest to former servicemen and their families:

Q. If I apply for disability compensation as soon as I get my discharge from service, will I be required to take a VA physical examination?

A. Not necessarily. As long as you file your claim within six months from your discharge, VA may give you an initial rating based on the records of your branch of service—unless it would appear that an error would result from such a procedure.

Q. If a veteran shows a lack of progress in his service, all his claims would be null and void? Would he have to make his own-employment change of status?

A. Yes, but only if he can show VA that the lack of progress was due to his own independent conduct or lack of application.

Q. I have been discharged from service, and I am thinking of getting a license. Will I have to pass a test? I already have a license in my home state.

A. You may be required to pass a test if you have a license in another state. You may be required to pass a test if you have a license in another state.

MRS. WILLIAM BROWN
Chapel Scene Of Ceremony For Dorothy Herrin, William Brown

The Orlando Air Force Base Chapel was the scene of the candlelight ceremony uniting Lt. William M. Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Brown of Sanford in Miss Dorothy Alicia Herrin, daughter of Colonel and Mrs. Foster B. Parham of Orlando.

Chaplain (Capt.) Francis A. Hanks, U.S.A.F. was officiating clergyman Dec. 22 at 7:30 p.m. in the rites. Palms, candelabras filled with burning tapers and large fan shaped baskets holding white gladioli along with mums, pom poms and white stock decorated the church for a fitting background. The markers of the pews were tied off with white satin bows centered around flowers of the bridal theme.

Mrs. Virginia Murchinson sang the traditional wedding song and James E. Hillson was organist.

The Bride
 Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiant in a Chintilly lace over white bridal satin wedding gown. A portrait neckline was featured with bouffant flares of nylon tulle on the sides and lace medallion falling over the tulle. Her headpiece was a tiara scattered with seed pearls. It held a veil of silk illusion in finger tip length edged in lace. Her brides bouquet was cascade with a yellow throat white orchid centered in two dozen white roses and lilies of the valley. This lovely creation was tied with white streamers.

Wedding Party
 Miss Joanne Lydia White, maid of honor wore a royal blue nylon tulle formal length gown. Soft folds made the neckline and it featured a bouffant skirt. She carried a bouquet of yellow and bronze cushion-type pom-poms with matching streamers.

The bridesmaids, Miss Kathryn Peters and Miss Ambrosia Lake wore dresses of crystal blue nylon tulle also of formal length. They carried cascade bouquets of yellow pom poms and yellow streamers.

Little Elaine Seiber was flower girl. She had a crystal blue taffeta formal fashioned after the maid of honor's dress. She carried a white basket of white bridal rose petals.

Charles E. Brown, brother of the groom was best man and ushers were Lt. Harry Hyde, U. S. A. F. and Lt. Harold Swartz, U. S. A. F.

Mrs. Parham chose for her daughter's wedding a French brocade dress in apricot and gold tones. With a square neckline it featured a straight skirt patio length with matching accessories. Her corsage was a single white orchid.

Mrs. Brown wore a beige brocade with a slightly flared skirt also of patio length. Matching accessories complimented her costume. On her left shoulder was pinned an orchid.

Reception
 A reception was held immediately after the ceremony in the Air Force Base Officers Club, Fin Room. Bridal flowers decorated the room. The couple cut a tiered cake of traditional height.

Miss M. Wilson Suggests Method For Room Heating

If you heat your home with a centrally located space heater, it is entirely possible that a small electric fan in connection with it can save you fuel and heating bills, says Mertie Wilson, Home Demonstration Agent.

Many space heaters have built-in electric fans, but others do not. If your heater has no built-in fan, one made especially for the heater, or a small nonoscillating fan can be placed near the heater to facilitate heat circulation.

The best location for the fan can be found by trial and error. Very likely best results will be obtained by placing it behind the heater and pointing at the ceiling.

A stool or other stand to raise the fan to the height of the heater may improve results.

With the better heat circulation resulting from this arrangement, the heater can be operated at a lower setting than formerly and the house will be heated adequately. The small amount of electricity used in operating the fan will be negligible in comparison with the saving in fuel used.

The fan motor, as should all other motors, should be given a small amount of oil at regular intervals.

Christmas

is still, above all else, the festival of the birth of Christ. At Christmas time we realize that Christ in our hearts and Christ in our lives is God's supreme gift to us . . . to guide our lives, to provide a solution to our problems, to show us the real meaning of Love and Peace and Good Will.

AMID the hurry and activity of the Holiday Season, let us turn again, each to his own church, to pay homage in our own way to Christ our Lord, who gave his name to this Holy Season.

Record May Be Set In Traffic Fatalities

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
An all-time holiday death record loomed as a distinct possibility today as the nation's motorists began the long homeward trek.
"Traffic accidents had claimed at least 25 lives. Fires had taken 44 lives and miscellaneous accidents 52, for a total of 121."
Ned H. Dearborn, president of the National Safety Council said in Chicago that "the last day is always the worst." He said past experience has shown the holiday death rate spurts during the closing hours of the holiday period.
He predicted 250 persons would die from traffic accidents during the 78-hour period that began 6 p. m. (local time) Friday and ends at midnight. He said.
"If the present rate of eight highly fatal accidents an hour continues, we are definitely headed for a new all-time record. It will be the most tragic Christmas, traffic-wise, the nation has ever seen."
"The only way to avert an all-time record now is for every motorist to redouble his care on the way home."
If the rate of eight traffic deaths per hour is maintained, the toll would reach 624 at the end of the 78-hour period.

Candles, Bags Attract Many To Stone Home

Mother, 5 Children Die In Flash Fire That Destroys Home
Christmas lighting has brought hundreds into Sanford streets to see the unusual displays of many categories.
One of the most popular this Christmas season was originated by L. and Mrs. Robert S. Stone of 2013 Grandview Ave., N., where hundreds of cars streamed by to see the display that caused comment for miles around.
Using a Mexican custom, L. Stone and his wife created the display which included 500 paper bags and as many candles which were placed at equal distance around the house, its lawn, and on top of the home.
Neighbors joined in to help light the display as paper bags were filled with sand, the candles placed in them, and each candle lighted.
In Mexico, entire neighborhoods and communities carry out the same theme creating an unusual Christmas atmosphere.
Photographers and onlookers alike were on hand when the candles were first lighted to get first hand glimpses of the unusual outdoor scene.
L. and Mrs. Stone, it is reported, had some difficulty at first in getting a supply of candles sufficient to complete the colorful display. However, with the help of neighbors, the candles were lighted at least twice during the Christmas season to give many an opportunity to see what other nations do at Christmastime.

Oklahoma Senator Sees Independence For CAA Agency

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Monroney (D-Okl.) predicts the Senate will vote to make the Civil Aeronautics Administration an independent agency as a result of the firing of Frederick B. Lee as its administrator.
CAA now is part of the Commerce Department. It establishes rules for nonmilitary aviation, both commercial and private. Enforcement, however, is the responsibility of another agency, the Civil Aeronautics Board.
A number of Democrats have complained that the CAA, a semi-judicial agency, has been subjected to political pressures in the past.
The station has loaned each city one of its Navy-owned trucks to aid in delivering special delivery parcels and letters.
A ton and a half truck was donated to Sanford and a panel truck to Sanford for the duration of the holidays. The vehicles will be driven by substitute civilian mailmen that have been hired by the post office special for the annual rush.
The trucks will be returned to the NAAS after Dec. 31.

Army Gives Boost On Defense Line

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army is giving another boost to the atomic fire power it has deployed along Western Europe's anti-Communist defense line.
It announced last night that six more battalions of Corporal guided missiles will go to Europe during the first four months of the new year.
These weapons, capable of using nuclear explosive warheads and with a range up to about 70 miles, will be added to a growing variety of atomic weapons the ground force already has stationed in Europe.
Army atomic weapons already there include one battalion of Corporal missiles, several batteries of Honest John bombardment rockets and six battalions of 300mm. cannon.
SUICIDE VICTIM

Soviet Union Parliament Opens Special Session To Adopt Budget

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union's Parliament opened a special session today to adopt a government budget for 1936 and hear Premier Bulganin and Communist Party Secretary Nikita S. Khrushchev report on their Asian tour.
The budget outlined to the Supreme Soviet (Parliament) by Finance Minister Arseny Zverev put defense spending at 102½ billion rubles, 9,622,000,000 less than the figure in the 1935 budget.
Zverev said the cut was to permit greater development of the public economy and culture.
(The Soviet Union values the ruble at 25 cents, which would give a defense expenditure in 1936 of $25,625,000,000. The U.S. defense budget for 1935 is 34 billion dollars, but a comparison of defense spending is difficult because much of the Soviet expense for that purpose actually is listed under different headings.)
The finance minister also announced the government is now building atomic power stations of 30,000 and 100,000-kilowatt capacity. He gave no details, but the Soviets already had announced construction of a 100,000-kilowatt plant was under way.

2 Indian Brothers Lauded For Saving Lives Of 33 People

EUREKA, Calif.—Two brave Indian brothers were credited today with saving 33 lives from the raging Klamath River after most of their town, Klamath, was swept away.
Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Whitney, who spent nine hours in swirling waters clinging to treeposts before the two Indians got to them, said the rescuers maneuvered their boat with great precision and daring through debris catapulting down the swollen stream.
The brothers, Bill and Greedy Frye, "rescued 33 people in that one area," said Mrs. Whitney.
"Then they took us all into their own home. Those brothers should get the Carnegie Medal for unsung heroism."
"They pulled one man off the top of a fence post and rescued a 92-year-old woman from her perch on a table as the water slopped up over its edge."
The Frye brothers' heroism came too late to save Whitney's brother, Ernest, 51.

Excited Bystanders Greet Boat

Capt. J. Oliver Stands At Helm
The "Nautican", 350 passenger boat that will operate from the Sanford pier at the foot of Park Ave., arrived Saturday afternoon shortly after three o'clock amid the loud blasts from excited bystanders as they watched the huge craft slip into its mooring place.
Capt. J. R. Oliver was at the helm bringing the big pleasure boat into Sanford.
Prior to coming into the Sanford pier, the Nautican paused at the Lake Monroe Bridge to take on officials and owners to bring them upstream on the first run into its home port.
Those meeting the boat at the bridge were: County Commission Chairman John Meisch, City Commissioner Earl Higginbotham, Al Wilson, Mrs. Richard Sodero, Miss Carol Sue Higginbotham, and the boat owners Richard Sodero and W. R. Kemp.
Those at the City Pier when the boat arrived included George Touhy, President of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, City Manager Warren E. Knowles, Deputy Sheriff James Singletary and a crowd of onlookers who had heard of the boat's arrival.
Arrival of the Nautican touched off extensive plans for the grand opening of the River Boat Cruises which will be held on Jan. 8.
Senator Estes Kefauver, a contender for the Democratic nomination for the presidency of the United States, Governor LeRoy Collins, and many other nationally known figures have been invited to attend the festivities.
Mayors of cities within a 75 miles radius of Sanford, along with Chamber of Commerce officials, have been invited to the dedication of the St. Johns River and the River Boat Cruises.
Silver Springs will be well represented at the big event with Seminole Indians attending the dedication of the historically important St. Johns.
Complete plans for the event will be unveiled as committees arrange for the chain of events that will take place at the Sanford handball when the regular schedule of boat trips and river cruises get underway.
At the present time, the handball is being converted into a veritable light bulb topped off with an animated sign atop a huge tower facing the stream of traffic on 17-32 coming into Sanford over the Lake Monroe Bridge.

Cardinal Spellman Pays Courtesy Call To Syngman Rhee

SEOUL (AP)—Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York and the River Boat Cruises, today paid a courtesy call on President Syngman Rhee after spending Christmas with troops in Korea.
The cardinal and his wife, Mrs. E. Spellman, spent Christmas in Seoul among the snow-powdered hills for officers and men of the 24th Infantry Division on the Western Front. He also visited the 7th Infantry Division, the 1st Corps and Air Force units yesterday for mass and benediction services.
The 67-year-old cardinal told the front-line troops, "Peace will come on earth only when men and nations know, respect and follow the commandments of God."
He held mass at Hialeah compound chapel in Pusan this morning before he went to Rhee's villa in Chinshai, west of Pusan.
The cardinal leaves for Japan today.
