Senator Douglas Stensom and Representative Mack N. Cleveland Jr., along with Seminole County Board of Commissioners Chairman Fred Olson and commissioners Lawrence Swafford, Homer Little, B. C. Dodd and John Krider, Mayor David Gatchel welcomed the Road Board members, as did Commissioner F. D. Scott, and A. L. Wilson.

The first session of the board got underway this afternoon at 2 o'clock with delegations from the League of Municipalities. The latter group will ask the State Road Board to approve an additional cent added to gasoline tax, it was reported.

Road Board member William H. Dal met briefly before the conference this morning with a delegation from the Seminole County Board of Commissioners headed by Chairman Fred Olson and Director Ernest Breckenridge relative to the highway between Deland, Orange City, Deary and Sanford. Details of the conference were not immediately available.

Tonight, beginning at 6:30 a cocktail party will precede a banquet in honor of the visiting State Road Board members and their wives. It is expected that about 75 will be entertained at the Mayfair Inn dinner. Local delegations from the Board of Seminole County Commissioners and the Long Range Highway Planning Committee of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce will honor the visiting road board executives.

The meeting will continue in Sanford through Saturday.

with the Festival Symphony

An artist is seldom encountered who in addition to brilliant virtuosity displays such technical knowledge of instruments in his employ. Rudie is a "wise and witty raconteur" when imparting this knowledge to his audience through the medium of lecture recitals which are distinguished by his "scenic good humor and easy charm. For example a usually hypercritical audience of students at a College of Mines was so fascinated by his remarks that they held the artist backstage after the performance for an hour and a half to exhibit his rare violin and to answer the most technical questions which concerned acoustics and construction.

While Rudie's popularity has been greatly enhanced by his brilliant personality, his stature as an artist rests firmly on his musical achievements. A versatile musician, he has enjoyed a varied career. He is the veteran of several New York recitals. He has appeared as a soloist with a score of major orchestras under leading conductors. He has appeared in recital from coast to coast, and on international radio broadcasts as well as television shows. He was twice—in 1951 and 1953—invited to appear with the elite of the world's musicians at the celebrated Casals Festival at Prades, France. He spent last summer as a performer, conductor and narrator at the music festival at Aspen, Colo.

The Festival Symphony is conducted by Robert Rudie and features Elizabeth Winslow, soprano, Cynthia Otis, harpist, and Howard Shaw, harpist.

Tonight's concert is the last in this season's series presented by the Seminole Mutual Concert Association.

The 17-year-old beauty, who models at Cypress Gardens, beat out four other finalists for the honor.

County To Be Included In Development Plans

Seminole County will be included in future plans for the industrial development of smaller counties, according to a release from the office of Gov. LeRoy Collins today.

The industrial development of smaller counties is one of the primary objectives of the Florida Development Commission, Gov. Collins said today.

In a letter to third-district Congressman Bob Sikes, of Crestview, who recently advocated such a program, the Governor said:

"This is a matter which has been close to my heart, and I am determined that no area of Florida shall be by-passed in the economic growth of our state."

"Development of just a program as you described is one of the primary objectives I outlined for the Florida Development Commission at its inception. That agency has made some fine progress, and your support is genuinely appreciated."

R. B. Fuller Jr., executive director of the commission, also wrote Sikes:

"The Development Commission believes that a program to help the underdeveloped counties is most vital to the State of Florida, and we certainly welcome your interest in the subject. We concur with you that every effort should be made to provide such assistance." Fuller wrote, "and the Florida Development Commission is planning to expand its present program during the 1957-58 biennium to provide the aid these counties need."

At the present time, the Development Commission's activities are limited in this field due to the lack of funds. But the commission has in its 1957-58 budget a request for sufficient funds to do an all-out job. Of course, the commission's efforts are contingent on the support of the 1957 Legislature in approving the funds requested for the program. (A minimum of $75,000 has been recommended by the Budget Commission.)

"The program the Development Commission is now operating for 1957-58, are identical in many ways to the program you proposed in your letter to Governor Collins."

"There is no question as to the financial assistance needed by the underdeveloped counties and communities in providing buildings to house industry. It is hoped that the 1957 Legislature will open the door to such assistance with the passage of a bill to create a Florida Development Credit Corporation. Such a corporation would provide the opportunity for regular financial institutions in Florida to pool their resources to assist established industry in the state to expand and help new industry to locate in Florida."

Ability To Strike Growing

WASHINGTON — A top Air Force general asserted today that Russia's ability to strike the United States with air-atomic weapons is increasing "steadily and rapidly."

Gen. Thomas D. White, vice chief of staff, also bared Air Force plans for dispersing combat units widely in the United States to reduce their vulnerability to sudden attack.

White was the leadoff speaker at a jet-age conference sponsored by the Air Force Assn. One thousand government, industry, military and education leaders were invited.

The general thus made it clear that the problem of noise from military jet aircraft, one of the prime topics of the jet-age conference, will be a continuing one.

He acknowledged that aircraft noise is "the greatest single point of friction" between the Air Force and communities near its bases.

The conference also heard of steps being taken to hold down the noise level of big commercial jet transports going into service in another two years and heard Civil Aeronautics Board plans for easing the air traffic control program.

White said that moving airports from population centers has proved of little value because an airbase is a big business which quickly spawns new communities.

Air defense bases and fields used by reservists must in any case be nearer towns and important target areas, he said.

The general, warning of Russia's growing atomic power, said this nation's retaliatory forces would be only the "crews, bombs and bombers that would escape" the first enemy attack.

He said the Strategic Air Command's bombers must be dispersed over more bases as a means of strengthening their deterrent power without increasing their numbers.

The noise problems will be reduced, White said, as missiles more and more replace airplanes because they will stand "silently in place and ready to go at their sites."

SEN. WILLIAM LANGER (R-N.D.), 70, is reported in "critical condition" at the Bethesda Naval Hospital, Maryland. The North Dakota Senator's office said that he was suffering from pleurisy and pneumonia. He has received blood transfusions and is under an oxygen tent. (International)

Next Year's Plans
To Be Discussed
At Guild Meet

An open meeting of the Sanford Theatre Guild will be held tonight at 8 o'clock in the office of the City Manager in the Sanford City Hall.

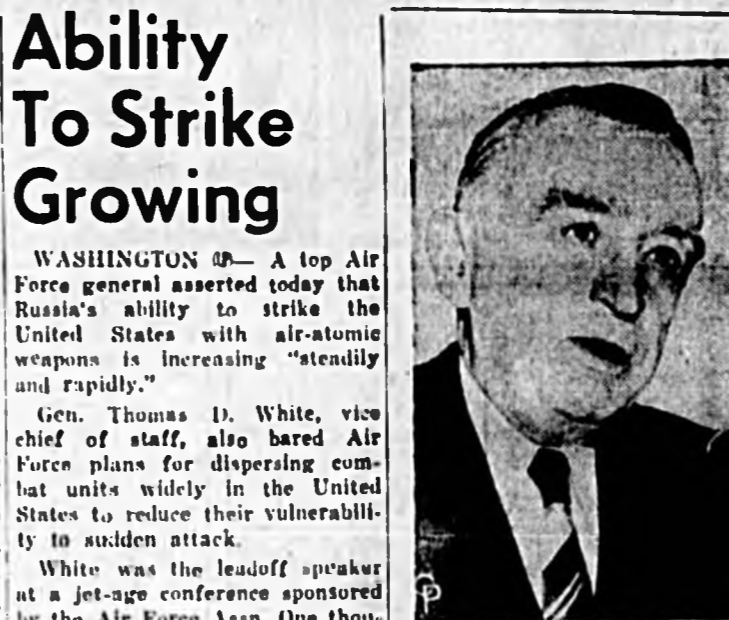

The open meeting is designed to sustain interest in the production of selected plays, musicals, or radio programs with an enlarged membership to provide calls of any size or type.

An official of the organization stated yesterday that "plans for next year will be thoroughly discussed," and that "new suggestions and ideas are certainly welcome."

"We know how many talented people we have here in this area following the successful staging of 'High Fever Follies' the guild official said.

At the present time, the Sanford Theatre Guild, under the presidency of Don Fletcher, has approximately 25 members.

"It is hoped," the officers say, "that many of those who took part in the recent musical will join with us for an expanded program of entertainment produced from local talent."

SENATOR Joseph C. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.), testifying before the Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations Committees in Washington, says President Eisenhower's Middle East proposal "breaks down the system of checks and balances" provided by the Constitution. The Senator has proposed several amendments to the President's doctrine. (International)

Crocker Academy was authorized to rent five acres of land east to the school for farming purposes by the Vocational Agriculture Department.

The Board of Education reviewed audit reports from various Seminole County Schools and found the financial statements to be in good condition.

Final action of the Board was to purchase a projector for the Goldsboro Elementary School.

Roxton Pleads Guilty To Charge

ORLANDO — The former vice president of a Sanford bank has pleaded guilty to charges of embezzling more than $100,000 over a four-year period.

Jack R. Roxton admitted in federal court here Wednesday that he stole $100,584 from the bank between Feb. 14, 1952 and Oct. 6, 1956. He also admitted making false entries in the bank books.

Judge William J. Barker delayed sentencing until he can study the background of the case. Roxton disappeared from the bank last Oct. 8, shortly after auditors began a routine check of the books. He surrendered a month later.

FOR A QUICKER PAY-OFF—If a military plane or guided missile should fall on your house or kill your children, how long would it take you to collect damages from Uncle Sam? Up to $1,000 could be paid once by the Secretary of the Military Department which was operating the plane. But, if your claim was for more than $1,000, you'd be lucky to get a check within two or three years. Then, it would take an act of Congress to pay you off. Senator Holland wants to speed up the payoff time. He has introduced a bill giving the Military Secretary the authority to pay up to $50,000 without Congressional approval and appropriation.

When he introduced his bill, Holland pointed out that falling military aircraft have killed seven civilians in Florida in recent months and have destroyed thousands of dollars worth of property. In helping process claims resulting from these accidents, Holland came face to face with the stark needs of the people not financially able to wait two or three years for payment from the Government. He indicated he had considerable support for his plan to speed up the present cumbersome method of helping these accident victims.

WHERE'S THE FRUD?—If you work for the CBS T.V. show, you watch an NBC-TV show. Some of the do. After Senator George Smathers appeared on Dave Garroway's early morning program recently he received the following letter: "Dear Senator Smathers: Please accept this letter as expressing our complete belief and support for what you had to say this morning on NBC's 'Today'. Your bill to appropriate the funds accumulated from enemy alien property toward scientific scholarships for American students should be passed in Congress. Yours, CBS Casting." It was signed by 11 CBS staff members.

FEELING THE PULSE—Look for Syd Herlong's annual questionnaire next week. For nine years Herlong has sought the opinion of his constituents on national problems—and has used the results of his polls to guide his vote in Congress. This year's query will cover the budget, statehood for Alaska, postal rates, extension of minimum wage requirements, school construction, and items recommended for passage by the President.

FLORIDA IMPRINT—The influence of Congressman Dante Fascell already is being felt on the Foreign Affairs Committee—his new assignment. When the President's Middle East Doctrine passed the house, it wore the Fascell-Hayes amendment around its neck. Although the President's Doctrine was given the approval of the House, Fascell's amendment would require the President to use the mechanism of the United Nations whenever practicable in any Middle East move. A significant feature of this action was the feather of prestige which was added to Fascell's cap. Important measures of this kind generally are handled by the members with more years of seniority.

FLORIDA MAN ELECTED—There are two exclusive clubs on Capitol Hill. Membership is limited to male secretaries to the Congressmen. To keep the parties separated the Republicans belong to the Bull Elephant Club and the Democrats to the Burro club. Last week, Joe Fuller, administrative assistant to Congressman Jim Haley, was named president of the Burros. Fuller is from Lakeland. He was formerly special agent there for the Prudential Insurance Company; a member of the Lakeland Rotary Club and past Commander of the American Legion Post at Mulberry. This is his fourth year in Washington.

Herlong Reports

Next week my newsletter will take the form of a questionnaire in hopes of obtaining your views on various pieces of major legislation which President Eisenhower has proposed to Congress.

The issues cover school construction, statehood for Hawaii and Alaska, changes in the Taft-Hartley Act, permanent resident for Hungarian refugees, increased foreign aid, extension of the minimum wage laws and the Small Business Act, and a hike in postal rates to overcome a Post Office Department deficit.

The questionnaire will be the ninth annual one I have sent out since coming to Congress. The response has been excellent and of much help. If you desire an individual questionnaire, mailed to you, please write me.

I had opportunity recently to discuss President Eisenhower's $71.9 billion budget with Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, who has said that our country is spending too much money and warned of the inflationary dangers involved.

Humphrey appeared before my House Ways and Means Committee in support of continuing the present tax rates for another year.

Earlier, I had commended the Secretary publicly for his statements in opposition to the record high budget. I also had agreed with him that we can not continue to take tax money out of our economy without causing a depression that, to use his words, would "make your hair curl."

I told the Secretary that it seemed a little inconsistent for him to say on one hand that we couldn't continue milking the economy and then come before our Committee and recommend that we make no reductions.

I therefore asked him how long we could continue these high taxes before we got our "Toni". Humphrey replied that "I don't know, but the people will know when it happens."

I asked him if that wouldn't be too late to do anything, and shouldn't we begin putting on brakes now to ward off a depression by cutting taxes and Federal spending.

He agreed that every "ounce of prevention" was good. Humphrey insisted, however, that he was opposed to any slice in taxes this year. But a lot will depend on what the Appropriations Committee do with the tions Committees do with the budget.

I have spent some time in recent days with the staff of the House Veterans' Affairs Committee in an effort to determine if anything can be done to help make more money available for veteran and FHA home mortgages.

Right now mortgage money is tight and it doesn't do any good for us to pass legislation to liberalize housing laws for veterans, low income families, or elderly persons if they can't obtain financing.

Our job is a difficult one. We would like to see more construction money and at the same time keep down inflation.

MINOR IRRITATION DEPARTMENT—Mail that reaches my office unsigned. Don't be reluctant to express your views even if they are in disagreement with what you understand is my position. When you don't agree with me, I like to know it, and also

3 Battles Recreated In Film 'War, Peace'

Although primarily a story of people rather than historical events, with a triple love theme that is the most moving in all literature, the mammoth film version of "War and Peace", starring Audrey Hepburn, Henry Fonda and Noel Ferrer, is backgrounded by three of the greatest battles ever recreated on the motion picture screen, along with scenes of military operations that are reported to be staggering in their vast scope.

The three hour and twenty-eight minute film, which opens Sunday at the Rita Theatre, follows the Grande Armee of Napoleon through his seven year invasion of Czarist Russia, beginning with the first Russian defeat at Austerlitz, through the epic Battle of Borodino, the burning of Moscow, the retreat of the French forces through the cruel Russian winter over a countryside they themselves devastated, and the final blow at Berezina that sent their decimated armies stumbling back toward Paris.

"Filmed in Italy in VistaVision and color by Technicolor, under the production hand of Dino De Laurentiis and the direction of King Vidor, the Paramount release used 18,000 troops of the Italian Army and thousands of horses to capture the historically accurate scenes. Muskets, cannon, equipment and uniforms are reproductions of those used and worn by the dragoons, hussars and grenadiers of the Napoleonic wars, while the sections of Moscow shown burning down around Napoleon's ears are exact replicas of the 1812 city.

Interwoven with this gigantic tapestry are the color and movement, violence and beauty, peace and conflict, love and hatred of the lives of fully a dozen people as their noble and glamorous world is shown in all its splendor.

Farmer To Open Insurance, Real Estate Office

City Is Proud Of Gen. Sanford Memorial Library, Museum

A grateful Sanford recognized the intrinsic value of priceless treasures last Friday afternoon when General Henry Shelton Sanford Memorial Library in Fort Mellon Park was dedicated.

More than 800 citizens from many of Sanford's organizations sat enthralled as an important guest list spoke briefly on the various phases of the value of a gift to Sanford—a gift that will long be remembered because of its irreplaceable value for reference and research, for studying and reading.

Books dating many years back into the history of America and the world have been placed on shelves carefully constructed in a library building which is a replica in many respects of the original library from which the treasures came.

One of the world's foremost minds on international law, one of the forerunners of true democracy beliefs are still finding an impact on nations of the world, wrote and read many of the volumes housed now in Sanford's own General Sanford Memorial Library.

Most important to many of the Sanford people attending last week's dedication of the General Henry Shelton Memorial Library was the fact that the daughter of General Sanford, one of her nieces, and the grandchildren, were present to turn over the keys to the newly dedicated building.

Mrs. Carola Dow, now 87-years-old came to the dedication from the homeplace at Derby, Conn. Her statement, as the keys were handed to Mayor David Gatchel, "I believe my mother and father helped me to be here" certainly brought vivid mental pictures of the stately Minister to Belgium, the founder of Sanford, to many minds as the audience listened intently to each spoken word. And Mrs. Dow's words rang strong with fervor as she expressed her happiness over being in Sanford, the namesake of her father.

It was a scene which won't be soon forgotten.

For behind Mrs. Dow stood General Sanford's grandchildren, Mrs. Mario Panza and Stephen Sanford, and the nephew of Mrs. Dow, Gifford Cochran.

In the words of Chaplain C. L. Arnold "I have heard that Sanford is one of the most friendly, cooperative cities in which we have served," words which came from Navy men who experienced other cities around the world. And Chaplain Arnold added to his statement "The groundwork was laid by the founder of the city and is now being carried on by his heirs."

And so Sanford has a General Henry Shelton Sanford Memorial Library, a library for which the community is proud—proud to show, proud to use, and proud to tell others of its existence.

Soon, news will spread from one community to another that history in the making can be read, studied, pursued, and written about, as books from the General Henry Shelton Sanford Memorial Library are available.

No doubt, the General Sanford Memorial Library will soon begin to grow as plans are completed for additions and expansion of this important phase of Sanford's growth is realized by those of us who are here to use the Library to its fullest extent.

Again we repeat, Sanford is proud of its General Henry Shelton Sanford Memorial Library—and we're sure that in our pride others will soon come to know about the Library's importance historically, economically, and educationally.

Docks, Terminals Important

It has been unveiled! The model of a proposed Docks and Terminals for Sanford to be located on the St. Johns River and Lake Monroe.

The scaled model is the culmination of a real dream for Sanford. And from here on out it should become more and more of an actuality rather than a model or plan.

Too often it has been said that such a project should have been provided 25 years ago. Too often it has been said that we're 25 years too late.

Replacing such remarks should be the optimism that "now we're beginning to realize real accomplishments, not only for Sanford and Seminole County but for all of Central Florida."

As the plans were revealed Tuesday night at the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors meeting a survey was also unveiled to the members of this important phase of Sanford's planning group showing the possibilities of such an undertaking so important as the Docks and Terminals.

Often it has been said that should Docks and Terminals become a part of the industrial picture of our community one of the most remarkable growths of an entire century would begin to unfold. Not only would population begin an upswing but industry would move in to provide employment for hundreds, even thousands, necessary to operate them.

Such an undertaking would mean that the entire area between First Street on the south, Lake Monroe on the North, French Ave. on the east and the Lake Monroe Bridge on the west would become a solid industrial center filled to capacity with warehouses, small industry, storage facilities, wholesale houses, and every other conceivable type of industry which would fit into one of Florida's biggest distribution centers.

One can readily visualize the tremendous impact such a project would have on Sanford, Seminole County, and the whole of Central Florida. One can readily visualize the importance the Docks and Terminals project plays in the Central Florida area.

There should be no lagging, no dragging of feet, no hemming and hawing over the realization of a project that means so much to such a wide and prolific territory surrounding Sanford and Seminole County.

Elvis Mentioned In 7 Categories Of Annual UP Poll

NEW YORK UP—Elvis Presley, the 22-year-old "rockabilly" who parlayed a wiggle and a wink into a million dollars, gyrated his way into seven categories of the annual United Press disk jockey poll, including "least liked" record of the year.

Presley's vote-catching appeal in almost every division overshadowed the victories of Frank Sinatra and Doris Day, who chalked up wins as best male and female singers of 1956.

Presley placed within the top 10 in six "best" categories including singer 4, rhythm and blues 2, country and Western 8, single record 7, "Don't Be Cruel," album 10 "Elvis" and promising newcomer 9.

Booby Prize, Too However, the former truck driver from Tupelo, Miss., also achieved the dubious honor of near-blanking the field in a seventh category—least liked record of the year. "Hound Dog" score as a solid first in the division, tallied by such Presley outpourings as "Heartbreak Hotel," "Love Me Tender" and "Don't Be Cruel."

More than 800 dealers participated in the voting, sending in ballots from all 48 states and Hawaii.

Sinatra finished well ahead of Pat Boone, Perry Como, Presley, Harry Belafonte and Nat King Cole in the race for top male singer. In addition, Sinatra's "Songs for Swingin' Lovers" won as top album of the year.

Sinatra was also the winner last year.

Doris Moves Up Doris Day nosed out such other performers as Patti Page, Ella Fitzgerald, Julie London, Gogi Grant and Teresa Brewer in the female division. Last year Miss Day ran second behind Jaye P. Morgan.

Nelson Riddle was a double winner—as best arranger and best studio orchestra. Riddle arranged the music for the bulk of Sinatra's Capitol recordings last year and scored with the instrumental "Lisbon Antigua."

Best single record—"Moonlight and Theme from Porgy and Bess" by Morris Stoloff.

Best vocal group—Four Freshmen.

Best dance band—Les Elgart.

Best jazz group—Dave Brubeck.

Best rhythm and blues performer—Fats Domino.

Best rhythm and blues group—The Platters.

Best country and Western performer—Marty Robbins.

Most promising newcomer—Tab Hunter.

Scientists Devise Formula To Detect Future Criminals

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. UP—

Scientists are preparing to release a formula for detecting the nation's future criminals while still in knee pants.

The formula was devised by two widely known criminologists, Prof. Sheldon Glueck and his wife, Dr. Eleanor T. Glueck, both of Harvard law school. Indications now are that it can almost unerringly point the finger at the future murderer or bank robber.

Their study based on histories of 1,000 Boston teen-agers, resulted in an amazing conclusion: Potential criminals can be spotted while in the kindergarten stage. Their formula operates out of the family relationship.

Some long-held theories on causes of juvenile delinquency were shaken with announcement of the investigators' findings. One surprising result was that delinquency, often thought a product of the slums, could occur in any economic background.

"A boy getting a $100-a-day allowance can still have a father and mother who hate him," the Gluecks said.

Who is the criminal embryo? The Gluecks, through study of some 500 juvenile delinquents came up with a surprisingly clear portrait.

He is adventurous and a braggart, energetic and impulsive. His self-reliant nature and grandiose notions make him immune to ordinary fears of defeat or failure. He despises authority, prefers to run with danger. He doesn't brood over his frustrations; he explodes.

Investigators also discovered that juvenile delinquents are no less intelligent than other boys and that in muscular development they are usually superior.

How Heart Reports On Its Own Health

By NORMAN H. BUNDESEN, M.D.

WITH some 10,000,000 Americans suffering from some form of heart and circulatory disease, the electrocardiograph has become an essential piece of medical equipment.

Yet, many persons mistakenly fear this device which records the electro-reactions of the heart, and spurn the valuable information an electrocardiograph can give them.

Let me emphasize that an electrocardiograph does not send any waves of electricity through your body. It doesn't have to, the electricity is already there.

Your heart beats on the average of 60 to 80 times a minute. This beating creates electrical current, which travels through your body.

Simply by placing wires on the surface of your body we can pick up and record that current. From this record we can determine whether your heart is functioning normally.

Injured Muscle

Whenever a heart attack occurs, an area of the heart muscle is injured and does not function properly. This malfunction changes the direction of the flow of the electrical current in the body.

Tracings on a graph record the current. In the center is a line called the isoelectric potential.

Deflections in the heart's potential from some heart injury are shown by a deflection in a stylus tracing the actions of the organ.

Curved Line These actions are recorded in a curved line—a complex curved line, I might add. The stylus traces a small loop when the upper chambers of the heart contract. Contraction of the large muscle chambers causes the stylus to form a different kind of loop.

Should there be an injury in the area of the heart muscle, the electrocardiograph will note a modification in the form of the curve traced for the big chamber of the heart.

The electrocardiograph, of course, is only one of the tools a physician uses to determine the status of your heart.

Sometimes an electrocardiograph alone won't tell us enough; but, in the majority of cases, it's a big help.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

T. P.: What would cause a feeling of an oily film on the lips?

Answer: This might be due to a vitamin deficiency, or it might be produced by a disturbance of the lips known as cheilitis. It might also be due to some infection of the mouth.

An examination by your physician would be needed to find the cause.

LONDON: Britain's Prime Minister Harold Macmillan telling NATO Commander Gen. Lauris Norstad that Britain must make "substantial reductions" in its defense efforts:

"Our strength to the rest of our allies depends as much upon the strength and resilience of our economy as upon anything else. Insurance is a fine thing, but over-insurance is debilitating."

MEMPHIS, Tenn.: Model Cathy Bandy describing her plan for protecting herself while hitch-hiking during the wildest strike of bus drivers which left the city without regular transit service:

"I carry a big bag and nobody knows what weapon I might have in it."

(such as a rollicking comedy or a staid drama) go to this meeting and tell them what you want. Maybe some of the Folles' talent could be used for a musical. Certainly the fine voices of Pina D'Abatta, Jean Nunnally and Gerald Covington should not go unnoticed or perhaps a radio show to demonstrate the dramatic ability of Guild members. Get on your duds and trot on down to the City Hall while everyone is in the mood. Incidentally, opening night of Hell, Book and Candle there will be a party before the play at the Mayfair. For fifty cents you may enjoy a cocktail and hot "oeuvre" with the other opening nights.

By the way, did any one else notice the de-emphasis of Lincoln's birthday? Fortunately, the children knew, but even if we are in the south, I should think that there would be some small observance. John Daly's program had a portion of the ceremony in Washington, but to my knowledge, except for Captain Kanger, no one else cared. Personally I don't hold with this neglect. Here it is Valentine's Day, and people have been tooting it up for weeks — not that the two have anything to do with each other, but Lincoln was not just symbolic of emancipation. His greatest reason for the "War between the States" was to unite once more this great country which was divided against itself in more issues than that of slavery. The children in our schools learn the Gettysburg address. It seems but little to expect that on Lincoln's birthday, those in the south could remember the words of this great man, if we cannot remember the suffering which he endured as his beloved country ravished itself.

All of this stems from noticing how well we can do things if we work together, and how poor when we stubbornly hold with our own opinions and will not listen to another's. We must learn to respect other's need as well as our own, and hence I think it would do us all good to read Lincoln's words, and breathe a sign of relief that our government today still feels the way he did.

Garden Gate

By Doris A. Cline
The Sanford Garden Club of Florida Federation of Garden Clubs

Azaleas are now at their showy best, but we should not overlook the many lovely flowering trees which are in bloom now, and the others which will provide color in the garden throughout most of the year. The National Arborist Association lists four general purposes for which trees are planted: for framing, to enhance the general appearance of a home; as shade trees; as screens against noise or undesirable views; and as ornamental trees with striking foliage, form, fruit, or flowers. This article will be concerned primarily with some of the flowering trees which can be grown successfully in Central Florida.

It is important to consider the size of a tree at maturity, as there are many beautiful small trees which may be used in the small garden, as well as those more suitable to large gardens or to extensive grounds. If space is available, plan to have several trees which will flower at different times of the year. Another important factor to consider is whether the tree is deciduous, so that it may be planted where it will not be unsightly when the leaves drop.

Among the trees in bloom now are the Orchid tree (Bauhinia variegata), the Dogwood (Cornus florida), and the Hibiscus tree (Hibiscus tiliaceus). The Orchid tree blooms in winter or early spring with a profusion of beautiful flowers similar to orchids, and which range in color from white or pale pink to purple.

Some of the species bearing white or pink flowers bloom all summer. The Bauhinia varies in height from 10 to 12 feet, and may lose its leaves for a few months during the winter. The Dogwood is native to the hammocks of Central Florida, and is an attractive lawn specimen, since its foliage turns red in the fall. In February its graceful white bracts are surrounded by a cluster of insignificant white flowers. The Dogwood may grow to a height of 40 feet.

The Hibiscus tree is now displaying a single yellow flower through its heart-shaped leaves. The flower has a maroon center, and the entire flower changes to this color before it closes at night. The Hibiscus grows rapidly to a height of 20 to 25 feet, and since it is bushy, needs considerable space.

It is difficult to distinguish sharply between seasons in Central Florida, but the new green on the bushes and shrubs tell us that spring is here. Watch for the blue trumpet-shaped bloom of the Jacaranda. It is a large sprawling tree with fern-like deciduous leaves which flowers from April through June or earlier. Another spring-blooming tree is the Jerusalem Thorn (Parkinsonia aculeata) with lacy foliage and attractive small yellow blossoms. It grows up to 30 feet and has great ornamental value. The Mimosa (Albizia Julibrissin) branching with pink globular blossoms and fern-like leaves. This tree often grows to 40 feet. The Bottlebrush (Callistemon) includes many varieties which have flowers two to six inches long. The red flower is most common, although there are yellow and pink. They often grow to a height of 30 to 40 feet in sunny places. A new variety of Callistemon has about three times as many flowers and leaves as the more familiar form. It blooms two to three times in the summer and in the winter. Jacarandas grow abundantly in Florida and are very showy evergreen trees with their shiny blossoms. They often grow to a height of 100 feet.

Another early spring-blooming tree is the Fringe Tree (Chionanthus virginicus) which is deciduous. Its name is derived from the cluster of greenish white flowers which give a fringe-like effect. In the late spring and early summer the Frangipani (Plumeria) displays its purplish-red flowers and broad leaves. Some varieties have large waxy funnel-shaped fragrant flowers, others have clusters of white flowers flushed with yellow. The tree may grow to a height of 20 feet. The Queen Crape myrtle (Lagerstroemia speciosa) is grown as a shrub or tree and displays large panicles of flowers in late spring and early summer. It is delicious, has flowers in panicles in colors ranging from white to pink, rose and purple. The Queen Crape myrtle may grow to a height of 60 feet.

The Casia includes several species grown as shrubs or trees, and its bright yellow flowers are seen frequently from early summer until fall. Some varieties have pink and white showy flowers. Another yellow-blooming tree is the Peltophorum inermis, which is a large umbrella-shaped tree with large spikes of blossoms from late spring until August.

There are many other lovely trees which cannot be described here, including some of our native or wild trees such as the Wild Plum and Ybarnum, which can be seen now in their natural habitat.

State Road Board Is Asked To Support Gas Tax Addition

3 Groups Discuss Code Problems Right-Of-Way,

"We would like to see eliminated from the Road Code everything but primary and secondary roads," Wilbur Jones, chairman of the State Road Board, told a group of county commissioners yesterday as discussions were opened on the controversial 66-foot right-of-way and other changes in the code.

The Sanford meeting has set two precedents. It was the first time that three groups have sat down together to discuss mutual problems—the Road Board, County Commissioners, and Municipalities.

Another precedent came in that the meeting is the second in the history of the present board which has been held outside of Tallahassee. One other meeting was held in Clearwater.

Representatives of the County Commissioners Association and of the Florida Municipal Association attended the Mayfair Inn meeting to discuss the road code problems and ways and means of procuring additional funds for rights of ways.

Ross Stanton, resident engineer for the board, said "In preparing the original road code they just took everything with the name in it and put it in."

"What I am suggesting," he said, "is that we take everything out that pertains to county roads—which will include the 66-foot controversy."

The State Road Board yesterday received an appeal for support in the adding of an additional cent tax on gasoline.

Stirling Hall, Executive Secretary of the Florida Municipal Association, said "More and more we're coming to realize in Florida that we're going to have to work together to solve our problems."

Hall made the statement as the Road Board, the County Commissioners Association, and the association of Municipalities sat down together to discuss changes in the road code and a possible solution for getting more funds for the purchase of rights of way and moving utilities.

"When it comes to roads, bridges and rights of way—whether they are in the municipality or in the county, it is impossible to keep them apart," said Hall.

Hall explained that he was carrying his own opinion over his association would not meet until next week in Jacksonville to formulate its plans for legislative action.

"Different counties have acted in different ways with municipalities he said, 'generally speaking funds have been so limited that they have limited their thinking.'"

"There are over 30 cities in Florida, and regardless of their size, rules promulgated will have to apply to all," commented the executive director of the municipal association.

"The last thing people want are more taxes—but in the final analysis, the purchase of right of

4-Day Waterfront Strike Enters Critical Phase

NEW YORK (UP)—The East Coast's four-day waterfront strike entered a critical phase today with shippers and longshoremen nagging over fine print details of a new contract.

Optimism over quick settlement of the walkout that has crippled shipping from Maine to Virginia evaporated Thursday night when the International Longshoremen's Union failed to reach agreement on the shippers' "final" offer.

The independent union's wage scale committee which represents 45,000 striking stevedores said it would continue discussion of the unsettled issues today.

"Within Reasoning Distance" Before the wage scale committee recessed the meeting shortly Robert Moore had said the shippers and longshoremen were "within reasoning distance."

"If there is no settlement tonight, we are very apt to find ourselves in a deadlocked situation," Moore said.

Statewide Hunt Underway For 3 Escaped Convicts

FORT MYERS (UP)—A statewide manhunt was under way today for three young convicts—including a convicted killer from Miami—who escaped from the road camp at Fort Myers.

Prison guards, sheriff's deputies and state highway patrolmen are searching in the area of the break, a thickly wooded, desolate region covered with palmetto underbrush and creeks. Bloodhounds were used to aid the trackers.

The trio broke out of the camp Thursday after feigning illness to get admitted to the infirmary. There they pruned a door and fled to thick underbrush behind the building.

WASHINGTON (UP)—Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban plans today to inform Secretary of State John Foster Dulles of his nation's partial acceptance of Dulles' proposal for the withdrawal of Israeli troops from Egypt.

Truman Pondering Invitation To Visit Greece, Turkey

Will Replace Shepilov

MOSCOW (UP)—Andrei Gromyko has been appointed Russia's foreign minister, replacing Dmitri Shepilov, it was announced today. Shepilov had served in the post only nine months, marked by unrest in Poland and armed revolution in Hungary.

The action was taken following secret meetings of the Soviet Communist Party central committee Wednesday and Thursday.

Shepilov, 51, former editor of the Communist Party organ Pravda replaced V. M. Molotov only last June. The new foreign minister was first deputy to both men.

Shepilov now becomes one of the eight secretaries of the central committee under Nikita S. Khrushchev.

The official Tass news agency announcement of Shepilov's removal gave no reason for the sudden government change. It said only that he was "released" in connection with a transfer to other work.

Shepilov's last major task as foreign minister was his foreign policy report to the Supreme Soviet last week. It was then that he launched the new Soviet "hands off" doctrine for the Middle East, generally interpreted as Moscow's counter to the Eisenhower doctrine.

The shakeup came as a complete surprise to Moscow observers who recalled the starring role played by Shepilov at the meeting.

Shepilov had been regarded as the leading Communist spokesman on foreign policy even before he was named to replace Molotov on June 24, 1956.

That was the day before President Tito of Yugoslavia arrived triumphantly in Moscow to seal what was then regarded as major rapprochement between Moscow and Belgrade after eight years of discord.

Since then, Tito's relations with the Soviet Union again have become strained. Egypt nationalized the Suez Canal, was erupted in the Middle East, revolution wracked Hungary and Poland threw off its Stalinist leadership.

This also was the period of a complete reappraisal of United States policy in the Middle East and the launching of the Eisenhower Doctrine.
