precious few. Greg Manning has relinquished his office to Terry Baker, his auccessor as Longwood police chief.

After 25 years with the department, 21 as chief, Manning is signing off. Friday, Dec. 19 is his last day on the job. Greg and Faye Manning are moving to Shorter, Ala., a heaven he discovered years ago on a hunting trip. He's already humming, "Sweet Home, Alabama."

"Shorter is exactly where I want to be," Manning said Triesday. "Population is 700. We'll make it 702."

Longwood, he said, in comparison is Gotham City.

The record shows that Manning and Longwood changed dramatically the last quarter of a century.

Job security worries employees

SANFORD - The reorganization of the Sanford Police Department has employees worried about job security and retirement benefits.

eighth of the current version.

Dispelling both allegations,
Dale on Wednesday said there have been no decisions made on anything regarding the reorganization of the SPD. However, Dale said he has met with SPD Chief Joe Dillard informally to discuss possible police services that could be contracted, one of which is communications.

"We've been trading memos with the chief," Dale said. "He and I and the city manager have met a few times."

Dale said Dillard forwarded a memo to him listing possible police services that could be contracted out to the Seminole County Sheriff's Office including Communications, K-9 Services, Information Technology Support/Computer-Data Processing, Crime Scene Technical Services and School Resource Officer/DARE. WINTER PARK - Orlando Police Department officials said they are "still talking and still negotiating" with John E. Armstrong, 39, a man suspected in the fatal shooting of a Winter Park man with familial ties in Sanford.

At around 5 a.m. Tuesday, Armstrong came to Jerome "Truck" Wilson's home looking for his girlfriend, Monica Gaines. Wilson was shot twice in the head and a friend of Wilson's. Wilma "Pat" Haynie, who was staying at his home, was shot four times with one hitting her in the arm and one grazing her forehead.

At 9:10 a.m., a chase began between Armstrong and officers from Orange. Seminole and the Winter Park departments on Interstate 4. The chase ended 18 minutes later with Armstrong's Jeep Cherokee running into another vehicle near the Gore Street exit.

Armstrong was surrounded by deputy sheriffs who had their guns drawn on him. He was able to escape across I-4 to a nearby house where, at this time, he is still holding two children hostage.

Orlando Police said that Armstrong has allowed the children to have pizza and Coke and that he requested cigarettes during the standoff last night. Officials from the department are not saying this morning what Armstrong's demands are. They also said that there is no indication that the situation is going to end soon.

The directors and staff of the senior agency shared their vision with ambassadors and supporters last week at an inaugural annual dinner.

"We have a great story to tell," said Jim Geary, director of development for BLS. Geary is in charge of the kitchen project, which will entail retrofitting an existing kitchen in the facility that houses the BLS offices. The facility is owned by Florida Hospital.

Darden Restaurants has donated $40,000 in kitchen equipment and board member lirian Overby, vice president of Barnett Banks Longwood, has worked to secure a line of credit for the agency to fund other improvements. Geary said electrical work is being completed at this time and the agency hopes to open the kitchen sometime in the first quarter of 1998, possibly mid-February.

BLS will also be able to purchase food through Second Harvest Food Bank, which will save the agency money.

Mission trip to Guyana: A picture of need

By DR. BOB PARKER Special to the Herald

Most third-world countries, generally undeveloped, exist in gross economic, political, educational and spiritual poverty. Guyana may be a typical third-world country, yet it is extremely unique in the geography of its people.

On Nov. 8, Dr. Ania Shorrosh la tecnage Palestinian refugee. born in Nazareth, educated in America) and I (Dr. William Robert "Bob" Parker, paster of First Baptist Church Markham Woods) as a team left Miami International Airport for Guyana, South America. From Miami, we flew into Barbados, stopped in Trinidad, and then on to Georgetown, the capital of Guyana.

Guyana, part of the Cartbbean, is known as the Cooperative Republic of Guyana. This South American country is bordered by Venezuela, Brazil, and Surinam. After gaining independence from Britain in 1988, most of the political parties have been Marxist in orientation, but divided on racial lines. An Afro-Guyanese dominated government held power until the '80a when Marxist policies moderated. Atheism was promoted until 1985 with great tensions between the government and the main churches, since that time, the country has experienced an increase of religious freedom. A free market economy has evolved with international pressure resulting in a multi-party election in 1992.

During the time that I was there, The Chrontele (Guyana's most widely circulated news-paper) in the Nov. 16, 1992 issue, carried the caption: Elections 97 - Consolidating Democracy.

When we stepped from the airplane in Georgetown around 10 p.m. on Nov. 8, 1 was in for some life changing experiences. We were over five hours from our first destination - Corriverton. Little did I know that the next five hours would be spent traveling over the only basically paved road in Guyana. Ninety percent of the population of 754,000 live on the north and mid-eastern road. Not only do most of the people live on this road, but bicycles, cows, donkeys, horses, pigs, chickens, and any other moving creatures can be found in the middle of the road and crossing from side-to-side 24 hours a day!

Can you imagine traveling over five hours at night on a rough road - filled with potholes trying to miss all of these creatures that roam at will?

As the next day unfolded [24] hours without sleep) and we unpacked our bags, the conventences of electricity, water, air conditioning, and refrigeration were missed. Oh, we Americans have it so good!

Most of the cars are imported from Japan and are by no means "new" but are reconditioned and are without air conditioning in an extremely hot climate.

Do you enjoy a warm shower or tub bath? Try bathing out of a five gallon bucket everyday! That was our daily experience. Although inconvenient, I must add that the water was gloriously refreshing in the heat.

Hospitals were sparse along the road and could only treat minor filnesses. The schools were also without modern facilities but were clean. The headmasters, teachers and students were of high spirits and greatly energetic in their pursuit of education.

Much of the water used in homes was carried on donkey driven carts or in five gallon cans on bicycles or on hand pulled wagons. The water is unsafe to drink without bolling. Many people have no elec-tricity at all; although generators are found in some of the homes.

Television is rare. TV dishes are only owned by million-aires; of which, there are few. Unemployment is above 30 percent and many jobs are only part-time. Consider Guyana's inflation: it takes 142 of their dollars to make "one" U.S. dollar.

Yet, in this country with economic depression that which overwhelmed me most was the high spirit of the people. There was an intense hunger and desire (not for ma-

Their seal for God appears to be without reservation, and the reception to us as visitors from America was genuinely warm and phenomenal in nature. Freedom' of religion is greatly extant today.

We had the privilege of speaking in mass meetings in the open air at night, civic theaters, over television and preaching in acveral churches throughout the country along with an engagement at the University of Guyana. The mission trip engaged in minister-ing and speaking to East in-dian. African/Eurafrican, Amerindian, Carib, Arawak and European/Asian peoples. The Amerindian with other primitive tribes occupy the interior areas which cannot be reached by automobile. There are about 9,000 Portuguese who are descendants of those who came over in 1492 with

Columbus. Our audiences included Hindu, Muslim and Christian peoples.

The entire visit gave me a keener sense of appreciation for living in America; and, the great and high spirit of the people overwhelmed me to practice increased care, compassion and ministry to peo-

Manning and the Longwood Police Department are the same," said Seminole County Chief Deputy Steve Harriett Tuesday.

. "He took a department that was in the development stages and made it a very effective law enforcement agency - one of the best anywhere. He trained his officers well. That's his legacy. Terry Baker learned from him, which surely means he'll be a good chief, too."

"Changes? Sure, there's change," 49 year old Manning said Tuesday. When I first came here and was working the midnight shift, there would be nights there wasn't a single

"Get two or three a night and we thought we were really busy," he said.

A busy month at the LPD meant 75 or so calls for service. They were handled by a dozen officers.

"Know what we had this past year? he asked. The answer is 36,000 calls.

This is a small community, a good neighborhood community." he said. "Our 14,000 residents are fine people and we've got 2,300 businesses that are run by fine people.

"What's changed is the congestion along Route 434. It's become one of the 10 worst congested roads in the state. I used to be able to count the cars that drove after dark on 434. Now, there are thousands. Most of the calls we get deal with those passing through here, Accidents. Stuff like that."

In his 25 years with the department, Greg Manning said he drew his weapon maybe a dozen times. He fired it once during an attempted robbery.

We haven't had the violent crime other cities experience. and we're grateful for that. There are burglaries but few murders - 10 or so in 25 years. A sheriff's deputy was killed in a holdup in 1979."

Most of Greg Manning's skirmishes were not with law breakers but law makers - city commissioners and managers he has dealt with through the

"If you satisfy 80 percent of the people all the time and still have the respect and cooperation of those on your force, you're going to have few problems," Manning said, "How you deal with the community and the employees are the important standards."

On leaving, Manning said he was certain that "our officers are the best around. No one's ever questioned them or what they did. Our top people have been here 15 years or more. We've sent a few along to larger organizations - and they've done well.

"I'm proud about what I may gone but not forgotten." have done to accomplish this. "Look," Manning said, pointing to a Seminole County

Terry Baker was Manning's sidekick for 23 years. They were a fine 1-2 for Longwood. "We're about as opposite as two guys can be," Baker said Trienday, "Maybe this is why we worked things out the way we did knowing what counted most was to have an effective law enforcement agency.

'Greg's been an excellent numager and administrator," Baker said. "He's let people apeak and he's answered every challenge. He's stood up and fought for all of un.

"I'm not as political a person as he is," Baker said. "Not as outspoken. That part of our department will be changed. The integrity, I believe, will be the same. This is Greg's legacy.

There's a bitter-sweet feeling at the department about the chief's retirement. Because the place is so open, everyone hears Manning's infectious laughter.

"I can't imagine what it'll be like without him," said Ruby Midgett, Mannings administrative aide for the last 10 years.

"For years I wondered if he knew my name," Midgett said. Chief calls everyone Killer or LeRoy. I was LeRoy for a long while. Lately, he's been calling me Ruby. "He's one of a kind. A character, too be sure. No one around here will ever forget him," Midgett said.

Manning was 24 when he joined the LPD. He had spent nearly four years in Vietnam as a Marine. He had a friend who said Florida was the place to be. Plenty of sunshine and days at the beach. And a job in Longwood.

The city's police department was in its formative years. Longwood was firing its police chiefa, too. Four of them in Dale said the items suggested on the memo were based on recommendations by the The Law Enforcement Op-tions Committee and the independent consultant's report.

Regarding retirement benefits being reduced, Dale said that was absolutely untrue. In a pension meeting last Friday, nothing like that even came up, Dale said. "I'm totally confused about that one." Several months ago, the city contracted a consultant at a cost of $53,000 to evaluate the SPD. The SPD was rated as dysfunctional and performing below average. The consultant offered three options: Option A- let the SPD fix itself; Option B- fix the SPD with the assistance of the sheriff; Option Cturn all operations over to the sheriff. An options committee, appointed by city commissioners, in effect recommended Option B. City commissioners later decided to maintain control for now of the SPD rather than turn the operation over to the city manager, as recommended by the consultant. They chose Option A with elements of B, which makes it more like Option B and that's the direction we're going." Dale said. "It's no secret that the PAS (consultant) report recommended communications be consolidated with the sheriffs

Dale said he is responding to the findings of the consultant and the options committee.

We had some serious problems with the police depart-ment and we'd be remise to do nothing. I wish people would settle down and let us do our Jobs."

Dale said he expects that any time there is a reorganization people are going to feel strongly and resent changes. However, he said he doesn't understand why would go to such lengths as sending in their city pin.

"It bothers me that someone would do that especially not signing it," he said. "Put your just pick up the phone and call

Longwood's Manning: Goodbye to a good cop, a fine police chief

Longwood Police Chief Greg Manning leaves his post this month after 25 years of service to the citizens, 21 of those years as chief. In the many years we at the Sanford Herald have worked with him, we have found him to be many things ... a great cop, motivational leader, helpful public servant and a no-nonsense chief, who didn't always like the politics involved in his position, but weathered the game well.

Sure Manning was always good for a sparkling quote, a needed piece of information, some insight into an issue, but what we liked most was his candid honesty, even if we didn't agree with him, and his courage to take a stand and stick to it.

We imagine that those officers working for him always knew where they stood...Manning has always let you know that. And those of us who worked with him in the unique way media works with law enforcement, always found him to be charming, laid back and a pretty colorful character at times.

Chief Manning may hang up his gun, turn in his badge, toss the police car keys on his desk and head for the mountains, but he leaves his indelible mark on Longwood; he leaves a strong, cohesive police force in a city with a low crime rate, after successfully driving out unsavory scrub parlors that were fronts for prostitution. He leaves after a job well done.

We wish Manning a prosperous and exciting retirement. He will be missed.

Rights denied

After attending a 'public hearing' with County Zoning and Planning Committee (Nov. 19, 1997), I've decided the public's rights were dented us. The results were cut and dried with regards to "Adult Entertainment" in our neighborhood. There was not one person, of the many speaking out, in fa-

Champion Ram boys 'bowl' over opponents

LAKE MARY _ After years of finishing just short of their goals, the Lake Mary Bowling team finally had the season they always knew they could.

This year, the team won the Seminole Athletic Conference for the first time in school history with 10 wins, one loss (to Lyman) and one tie (with Lake Howell).

The bowling teams here at Lake Mary have made tremendous strides over the past 10 years," said the boys coach Chuck Schmitz. "I have been involved with the team for nine of those and have seen first hand the hard work and dedication begin to pay off. This year the team did so well for one reason...they wanted it."

There may have been two other reasons that the Lake Mary bowlers had such a successful season.

Those reasons are Tony Corrao and Dominic Gurrieri.

The two juniors are the top bowlers on the team and helped to keep the Rams in the thick of things all season.

Neither one believes they deserve full credit,

We were successful because of an entire team's knowledge and skills," Gurrieri said.
"But most importantly because of everyone's

There were 11 guys on the team this year and although only five bowl at a match, we substituted all year. Eleven bowlers won the conference, not two or five," Corrao added. Whether they want the credit or not, Corrao and Gurrieri were two of those 11 bowlers and deserve to at least be recognized for their leadership role and proven talent for Corrao had been bowling for 10 years. He manages to maintain a 3.5 grade point average while working for a bowling alley and practicing every day. In the spring, Corrao can also be found on the pitcher's mound for the Lake Mary baseball team. Gurrieri also manages to bowl at least 10-15 games a day for practice while maintaining a 2.3 GPA and working almost full-time at a construction company. He also plays baseball and is an outfielder for a non-school related team. Because both of the bowlers are so good, there is a certain amount of competition that goes on within the team for the top spot.

"They are always fighting against each other for the number one spot," Schmitz admitted. "But I think that is good for them as long as it remains friendly...and it always hao."

The only problem with being on a bowling team as far as Corrao and Gurrieri are concerned, is the lack of publicity sometimes given to the supposed "smaller sport." Although neither one actually complained, both were willing to concede that it's sometimes hard to open the paper and see all sorts of stories about football, baseball and

Lyman girls steal victory from Fighting Seminoles

So did most of his players, inng Meghanne and Brianne Hickey.

They should have looked that way after the Lady Greyhounds stole a 56-56 win over Seminole in a Seminole Athletic Conference matchup last night at Bill Fleming Memorial Cymnasium.

Lyman trailed by nine points midway through the fourth quarter before a late raily stunned Seminole, it was capped off when Lisa Berganske put back a missed shot with 3.2 seconds remaining and Seminole's Felicia Henderson was called for traveling after the in-bound play. Meghanne Hickey completed a pass to her twin sister Brianne and Lyman pulled off the improbable win.

For the Lady Greyhounds, it moved their record to 10-2 with the two losses being to second-ranked Lake Mary. Except for those set-backs, Lyman has turned away Oviedo. Lake Howell and Seminole in the conference as well as Dr. Phillips from Orlando. With nine seniors, Lyman figured to be strong this season, but did anyone expect Bonaventure did.

"I expected to be right where we are at 10-2," Bonaventure said. They have put in the effort all year. They played 50 games this summer, they've been working out three times a week. It's a total team concept at all phases. They only care about getting it done."

It looked shaky when time was rilining down with a nine-point deficit but Lyman kept its composure on the court. Bonaventure did.

It almost didn't work out quite so nicely. Seminole came out tough and the Lady 'Noise jumped out to an 11-8 first quarter lend. Rosetta Jackson led the way with six of her game-high 21 points in the quarter. Seminole still led by two at the half, the free throws were falling, and Seminole was doing the job on the boards as coach Sylvester Wynn implored his team throughout the game to rebound.

In the third quarter, the free throws started to rise out for Seminole and it never stopped. The Tribe was 3-for-7 in the second half from the line and missed some key buckets down the stretch that let the Lady Greyhounds back into Meanwhile, Meghanne Hickey started to heat up, nailing consecutive three-pointers to keep Lyman in the game. After three quarters, it was 43-36, Seminole.

Jackson scored six unanswered points early in the fourth but Ly-man, down by nine, came back. Neketsha Smith hit a jumper to make it 53-46 and another short jumper to cut the lead to five. Then Xiamora Cruz took charge, hitting a pair of free throws and a layup off a nifty pass from Brianne Hickey to cut it to 53-52.

That's when Seminole missed on several free throw attempts and Brianne Hickey tied it with a free throw of her own.

With 1:57 remaining, Lesley Guidry scored two of her four points down the stretch to give Lyman a lead.

Still it wasn't quite over. Semi-nole's LaDatrice "DD" Hampton hit a three-pointer with six seconds remaining to tie it, setting the stage for Berganake's winner.

Isaac Thomas came into the game for Crooms and assisted his team with one rebound and one block, but Tavares took control of the game with a 25-10 scoring bulge in the third quarter.

basketball and see nothing on bowling.

"The kids have worked really hard to try and get noticed," Schmitz said. "And they have made great improvements over the years. Five years ago people would laugh when they found out that someone was on the bowling team. Not today."

No one will be laughing at all come February if the team attains their goal.

The state championship is held in February and the lake Mary boy's team will finally get their shot at a state title.

"This is not an easy sport to be successful at." Corrao said. "It's a hard sport that requires a lot of consistency. I believe that is we handle ourselves like we can and think positive, we just might come home with that state trophy."

"I honestly don't think we'll have any trouble winning the whole think if we play our game like we know how to," Gurrieri added.

If confidence is half the battle, Lake Mary will have another state trophy for their trophy case.

Quick — It's later than you think! Pretty soon, the New Year will be upon us, with its attendant New Year's resolutions. Pretty soon, we will all be swearing off Ints and suggers and swearing to the benefits of a low-fat, high floor diet. So this may be our last chance to include in a sutritionally indefendable, gestrosonically decadent, and sublimely delicious desacrt: bread padding.

I came to bread pudding late in He, having thought of it as some kind of weird, old-fashioned nursery food, something along the lines of blancmange or prune whip. Then, at a disser party, my friend Karen ("Bussy") Ziner, of Providence, R.I., served it for dessert, a bread pudding with a whishey sance that was defeately set rated PG. My only regret at the time was that she hadn't served it as the main course.

You will have NO regrets if you see the time was that she hadn't served it as the main course.

You will have NO regrets if you see the old year out with either of these superb desserts. I have reprinted Bunny's recipe here, along with an amazingly decadest Cappuccius Bread Pudding recipe from chef Michel LeBergue of the New England Culinary Institute. It uses three (count 'em) cups of heavy cream, PLUS 1-1/2 cups of half-and-half. To puraphrase the late coekhook writer and novelist Laurie Colwin, this dish should be esten by people whose cholesterol is too low.

So, enjoy the helidays. You can start eating celery in 1996.

Meanwhile, prepare the pudding In the top of the double boiler, off the heat, mix together the espresso, the regular coffee and the sugar. Add the whole eggs and the egg yolks, and mix with a wooden spoon (do not use a whisk, you don't want the mixture to foam).

Set the top of the double boiler over the simmering water and add the half-and-half and the heavy cream. Cook, stirring constantly, until the mixture thickens; it should cont the back of the spoon. Remove the top of the double boiler from the heat and set it in the bowl of ice and water immediately, to stop the cooking. Make sure no water gets into the bowl.

Family friend's stalking is good reason for girl to fear

DEAR ABBY: You printed a letter from a scared 15-year-old girl who was being postered by a family friend, and whose parents did not take her fear seriously.

I've got new for you: He already is California stalking laws are very specific, and Sam's activities would definitely qualify as such. Sam is 34 with a 15-year-old. Last time I checked, that was illegal - consua) or not. Being drunk is no excuse. She would be best advised to talk to the police and seek a restraining order. When looking for friends, maybe her parents should look somewhere other than the local ber.

BRYAN IN CALIFORNIA ...

DEAR ABBY: I'm 32, but when I was 15, a friend of my brother's (who is 10 years older than me) started making passes at me. This went on for about two months. It ended with my being raped. The emotional scars I have dealt with;

Abby, "Quaking in California" has reason to be afraid. "Sam" is stalking her, and if her parents won't listen, she should take co of the notes from her father's friend K.H. IN FRESNO, CALIF.

DEAR ABBY: I knew I had to write when I read the letter from

"Quaking." That was me 20 years ago. I spent several years of my life afraid to attend any family gatherings. If I went, I would be afraid even to go to the bathroom for fear "Uncle Pote" would follow me. My parents thought I was an everimag-inative child, too young to know what was going on.

Well, one night Uncle Pete d out on our couch, and I wo up to find him all over mel He he was going to rape me. I managed to push him off me and scream Uncle Pete ran out of the house and I never saw him again. My dad made sure of it!

Abby, too many parents think their children are too young to know what sexual harasament is, but they're not. Children know the feel-ings of shame and fear when someone makes sexual moves on them, even if they don't know what to call those feelings. But there is a name for it: sexual abuse of children.

Her instincts should be applauded, but she needs help fast. Most rapes are committed by a family friend or member, not by an unknown. Parents must teach their children not to succumb to the child

Ephedra can cause problems

erb ephodra do? DEAR READER: This is the ninth in my series on herbal remedies.

Ephedra is one of the most active herbal medicines; this makes it one of the most dangerous. Often marketed as "ma huang," ephedra contains ephedrine, which — although useful in treating acute asthma — can cause marked stimulation of the nervous market in fact, it has been used in marked stimulation of the nervous system. In fact, it has been used in place of methamphetamine, an illegal drug, by addicts. Complications of ephedra include runaway heart rhythm, stoke and nerve damage.

To date, more than 800 cases of adverse effects — including about 30 deaths — have been reported. Ephedra is particularly dangerous

Ephedra is particularly dangerous when taken by patients with hyperten-sion, glaucoma, heart disorders, or diabetes.

The negative press stemming from this product has prompted the Food and Drug Administration to promulgate regulations limiting the sale and use of ephedra. Although promoted as a treatment for weight loss and lassitude, this herb should be avoided: The risks of its use are substantial. (Next time: potentially testic herbs.)

DEAR DR. GOTT: Because of strial.

me: potentially tonic nerve.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Because of atrial fibrillation, my doctor prescribed Coumadin. This led to bleeding into the urine. The drug was stopped for several days. Now my doctor wants to start it again, but I refuse because it is rat poison. What is your opinion?

DEAR READER: Coumadin is indeed the potent ingredient in many rodenticides. But this is no reason to avoid the drug. In fact, you need it.

Atrial fibrillation, an uneven heartbeat, is statistically associated with an increased risk of stroke, because blood clots can form in the heart chambers. From time to time, pieces of these clots may break off, be car-ried to the brain and cause strokes. Therefore, most cardiologists urge their colleagues to treat fibrillation with anticoagulants such as

Obviously, no one wants to take medicine unnecessarily, especially drugs as powerful as Coumadin. But the medication could well save you from a nasty complication in the future. Your doctor will insist on monitoring your Coumadin dosage with a blood test called the "prothrombin time." If your gums bleed or you detect blood in your urine, the dose must be reduced. Please follow your physician's advice and guidance with respect to this important issue.

To give you more information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Understanding Heart Disease." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to

DEAR DR. GOTT: At 76, I am active, but my sports schedule is severely hampered by bad arthritis pain. My doctor has prescribed Voltaren. Although I have experienced some relief, I am concerned about the long-term use of this medi-cine.

DEAR READER: As well you might Voltaren is classified as a "nons-teroidal anti-inflammatory drug" (along with Inducia, Ladine and many others). Although very useful in con-trolling arthritis pain, MSAIDs all have the same drawback: They can cause peptic ulcers which may blood, leading to life-threatening hemor-

A product called Cytotec is market-ed to prevent this complication. Ask your doctor about it. Cytotec, although expensive, may permit you to contin-ue using Voltaren without fear of

Are you at your best first thing in the morning? Or does it take you until midday or early afternoon - or evening! to move into top gear?

Because no one plays bridge at nine in the morning (except New Zealanders), how does that relate to this deal? Well, one word points toward the key card. How would you play in four spades after West leads the club jack?

You or I — well, you — would reach three no trump, but South opened four spades because he didn't think he could make a slam opposite a passed partner and he wanted to shut out the After West leads the club jack, declarer plays low from the dummy. If West led from the king jack 10, South ould have had only three losers: two hearts and one diamond. However, here East wins with the king.

Did you see the necessary play? You must unblock the queen! As West's American writer, who said, "I write clubs, you must be in a position to fi-when I'm inspired, and I see to it that nesse dummy's nine on the second round. In this way, you can get one of your heart losers away. (Alternatively, count your winners: seven spades, one heart and two clubs.)
