that one out. West shifted to the kind of diamonds.

South grabbed that one; drew trumps; cashed the ace of clubs; ruffed dummy's last club and threw West in with the queen of diamonds.

Now West led a low heart to his partner's queen, but South knew exactly what to do. West was marked with five hearts so South just let East hold the trick. East had to lead a club or a diamond and whatever he led would allow South to ruff in dummy and discard his 10 of hearts.

South might well have worked out this same play if West had not made that one unnecessary bid. He might have, but we will never know.

Dems Win 'Not Just Victory'—Albert

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats cashed in on voter discontent with Republican scandals and the nation's despondent economic ills and headed for a two-thirds bulge in the House, an expanded margin in the Senate and a near-record total of governorships.

They gained at least four seats in the Senate, at least 38 in the House and elected more governors than either party has held since the Democratic landslide in the elections of 1958.

Their precise margins, however, depended on a half-dozen extremely tight races, including a tangled Ohio governor's contest in which Republican James Rhodes conceded defeat to Democratic Gov. John J. Gilligan, then shot into the lead.

The voters included some new national Democratic stars, potential candidates for national office: Gov.-elect Hugh L. Carey of New York and California, and Sens.-elect John H. Glenn Jr. of Ohio and Dale Bumpers of Arkansas.

And the losers included a half-dozen Republicans who had been among the loudest and longest defenders of former President Richard M. Nixon: four members of the House Judiciary Committee who stood by Nixon during last summer's hearings and Reps. Dan H. Rostenkowski of Tennessee and Earl F. Landgrebe of Indiana.

Though the Democratic gains Tuesday were a bit below some pre-election forecasts and in line with the normal off-year pattern of opposition party success, Democratic spokesmen hailed their victory as a signal to support Ford's economic policies with measures of their own.

"This is not just a victory, this is a mandate," declared Speaker Carl B. Albert of Oklahoma, scheduled to preside over the first House in a decade with a two-thirds Democratic margin, theoretically the "veto-proof" body Ford warned might block his programs.

Other Democrats cocked their eyes toward 1976 and the presidential contest they hope will restore them to White House control.

If Ford doesn't change his economic programs "we will win the White House in 1976," declared Sen. Lloyd M. Bentsen of Texas, a likely Democratic presidential contender. And Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington said he might unveil his White House bid before year's end.

"We're seeing the rebuilding of the old Democratic coalition which served the Democratic party and the nation so well for so many years," declared Democratic Chairman Robert S. Strauss.

At the White House, President Ford watched the returns on television and conceded his party had lost.

"I have accepted the verdict," he said. "Those who lose often come back to win another day."

With final returns still being tabulated in a number of states, this was the picture:

Senate — Democrats picked up five seats but were trailing in one they now hold, giving them a likely margin of 62 to 38 in the new Senate compared to their 58 to 42 lead in the current one.

House — Democrats had picked up at least 43 seats from Republicans while losing five to GOP candidates. They had elected 281 House members and led in 12 other races for a possible total of 293, 45 more than the current House in which they hold a 248 to 187 majority. The margin is the biggest since the 295-10 majority after the Lyndon B. Johnson landslide of 1964.

Governors — Democrats had captured another from the Republicans, lost one to the GOP and lost another to an independent candidate in Maine. They led for another GOP seat, while Republicans led in three current Democratic states, for an indicated breakdown of 36 Democrats, 11 Republicans and one independent, surpassing the 35 to 14 margin after 1958 but short of the record 39 governors elected in 1936.

As expected, the Democrats captured Senate seats in Florida, Kentucky, Colorado and North Dakota.

In Florida, former Secretary of State Richard Stone, a moderate Democrat, defeated conservative GOP businessman Jack Eckert for the seat of Republican Sen. Edward J. Gurney, under federal indictment for bribery, conspiracy and perjury.

In Kentucky, Democratic Gov. Wendell Ford scored heavily in rural areas and held his own in Louisville to unseat freshman GOP Sen. Marlow W. Cook.

In Colorado, Gary Hart, the 36-year-old 1972 campaign manager for Democratic presidential nominee George S. McGovern, swamped two-term Republican Sen. Peter H. Dornik.

In Vermont, a 34-year-old Democrat, Latick Leahy, surprised Republican Rep. Richard Mallary in the race to succeed retiring Sen. George D. Aiken. He became the first Democrat ever elected to the Senate from that once rock-ribbed Republican state.

And in North Dakota, former Gov. William L. Guy narrowly defeated veteran GOP Sen. Milton Young.

In Oklahoma, former Rep. Ed Edmondson was closing in on front-running Republican Sen. Henry Bellmon.

In Nevada, former Republican Gov. Paul A. Laxalt edged ahead of Democratic Lt. Gov. Harry Reid for the seat of retiring Democrat Alan Bible.

Elsewhere, the incumbents generally won. The two biggest names among the Democratic senators, George McGovern of South Dakota and Birch Bayh of Indiana, captured third terms.

And Bumpers and Glenn won easily the Arkansas and Ohio Senate seats now held by Democrats J. W. Fulbright and Howard Metzenbaum, their victims in bitter primary battles last May.

In Kansas, scene of one of the nation's most bitter Senate races, former Republican Sen.

Voters Split Local Issues

Seminole County voters rejected two ballot questions and endorsed two others in Tuesday's election.

Both the switch to the appointed school superintendent and $3.8 million jail bond requests were defeated. The questions of a countywide library system and non-partisan election of school board members were approved, although both were straw ballots and necessitate legislation in order to be implemented.

The unofficial count of 30 precincts reporting from the Seminole County Supervisor of Elections office Wednesday morning was:

- 12,027 or 60 per cent against the jail bond and 7,910 in favor;
- 12,330 or 60 per cent against the appointed superintendent and 8,083 in favor;
- 11,071 or 54 per cent in favor of the county wide library system and 9,528 opposed;
- 13,871 or 68 per cent, in favor of non-partisan school board elections and 6,379 against.

Only the 567 absentee ballots remain to be tallied.

The issue of appointing rather than electing the school superintendent as is the current practice went down to defeat for the third time in recent years, having previously failed in both statewide and local referendums. The jail bond would have financed a new county jail in the Five Points area, which County officials declared was necessary because of state legislation mandating improved county detention facilities within the next few years.

The same question had been defeated by county voters in March.

The countywide library system, although endorsed by the voters, depends on legislation by the County Commission. The ballot question was simply to measure the popular feeling on the subject.

Sanford Rejects Drainage Bonds

Sanford voters rejected a $2.04 million drainage bond issue Wednesday.

City commissioners weren't surprised at the outcome of the referendum and at least one commissioner attributed the negative vote to "economic conditions."

The bond issue would have financed major storm drainage interceptor mains and laterals in five "basins" over the city where flooding is commonplace during periods of heavy rainfall.

A. A. McClannahan, the only commissioner who campaigned against the bond issue, said at a noon work session today, following canvass of the vote and tabulation of 59 absentee ballots, he would propose that the city concentrate efforts with a special crew to cleaning present open ditches and storm drains.

"At the same time we need to explore possibilities of finding a professional line cleaning company to work on the drainage mains," McClannahan said. He said he would also propose starting an immediate study to determine costs of acquiring rights-of-way needed for maintenance of present drainage facilities as well as for any future drainage main installations.

"Cleaning won't solve all our problems," McClannahan noted, "but I think it would give us some relief."

The rejected 40-year bond issue would have taken 5.35 mills tax on property in the city to retire over a 26-year period, according to Mayor Lee Moore.

In 1971 city voters defeated by a 3-1 margin a similar same-duration plan. At that time $3.8 million in bonds was sought but consulting engineers reported last August that the costs had now jumped to $6.15 million not including rights-of-way and engineering and other fees.

Under state law city commissioners can't tax property for such projects without voter approval of bonds in a referendum.

Robert (Bobby) Hattaway, (shown with arrow), son of an old Seminole family, won his first elective office, — a seat in the Legislature — Tuesday, giving incumbent Eugene Mooney (R-Casselberry) a stunning defeat. The only Seminole resident legislator, Hattaway discusses his victory with old friend and former Jaycee, Sanford City Commissioner John Morris. County Road Building Plan Almost Settled

By BILL BELLEVILLE
Herald Staff Writer

When an agreement permitting the county's road department to build city roads "at cost" is cleared up Monday, it would pave the way for considerable savings for Seminole County cities.

"The county could build roads completely within the boundaries of a city, and then charge the city for this work," commissioner Mike Hattaway said. By eliminating such items as contractors fees, performance bonds, etc. the cities could save from 30 to 40 per cent on the construction paving of such a road.

The only two contingencies Hattaway said, is that the city must pay in advance, and the work must not interfere with, or delay, planned county roadbuilding.

Hattaway said that he has already had three "active" requests from cities within his district — Oviedo, Winter Springs, and Casselberry — for paving city roads under such an agreement.

Both Casselberry and Winter Springs are "ready to go," the engineering is done and there are no right of way problems. In the paving of strictly county roads — the paving of roads that are city roads, but that extend into the county and are used frequently by county residents.

On the latter projects, the county provides the labor and machines for the work, and the cities the engineering and materials. The county has already constructed several roads under this cooperative agreement. Hattaway said, including Red Bug, Ballard Avenue, Sanford Avenue and Palm Springs Road.

But the agreement for construction of strictly city roads is still a little up in the air. Hattaway was sure that the city had an "agreement" to do this, but commissioner Greg Drummond said earlier this week that he was not aware of it.

On Drummond's recommendation, the agreement will be discussed at a work session Monday so that "all the cities in the county can be included."

Hattaway says he sees no problem that would keep the agreement from being made official at the board's regularly scheduled meeting the following Tuesday.

"The question came to the board last week after Casselberry Council chairman Tom Embree asked the commissioner to pave the remainder of Crystal Bowl Drive.

The county and city are already working on part of the road under the plan where the county provides labor and machines, and the city pays for engineering and materials.

Shootout Trio Is Indicted

Three suspects in the Friday robbery-shootout at A&P in the Interstate Mall, Altamonte Springs, have been indicted for felony murder, attempted murder, attempted robbery, shooting within an occupied building and unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

Being held in county jail at Sanford without bond are Dennis Robert Phillips, 28, Vidalia, Ga., and Mrs. Dean Parrish, also known as Nadene McPier, 39, Lyons, Ga. They were scheduled for a hearing in county court at 2 p.m. today for appointment of defense counsel if they hadn't retained private attorneys. The suspects are scheduled for arraignment Tuesday in circuit court on the indictments returned Monday by the Seminole County Grand Jury.

A second woman indicted in the case, Dorothy L. Kitteringham of south Georgia, is being sought in the case. State Atty. Abbott Herring's office said if the fugitive isn't apprehended this week the FBI will be asked to enter a nationwide search for her.

A spokesman for Herring said the red-haired Kitteringham, believed to be in her late 20s, was seen near the supermarket about the time of the robbery-shootout wearing a pink dress and driving a black and white 1970 Thunderbird bearing Georgia license plates.

The fourth suspect in the supermarket robbery, Charles Hobbs of Atlanta, was killed in a brief gun fight in the store with police.

Altamonte Springs police Lt. Steve Garner, shot twice by Hobbs, was listed in good condition today at Florida Hospital North, Altamonte Springs.

The Inflation Fighter

One of the best ways to reduce gasoline consumption is still by driving more slowly. A steady speed of 55 m.p.h. instead of 70 can save four miles per gallon in the average car. Quick starts and slamming on the brakes at traffic lights eat gasoline and burn out brakes. Jackrabbit starts require about twice as much gasoline as smooth starts.

When caught in rush-hour crawl, avoid fast starts and stops. Needless stopping can waste up to two miles per gallon.

Have you a clever way to save energy or fight inflation? Send your idea to The Inflation Fighter, care of The Herald. The best ideas will be used in future columns. Sorry, but we won't be able to acknowledge receipt.

NATION

IN BRIEF

Defector Now Citizen

NEW YORK (AP) — Simas Kadrika, who once vainly tried to defect to America from the Soviet Union, has returned as a United States citizen. He said that after he got some rest he'd like to see an American prison and perhaps go sailing.

It was almost four years ago that Kadrika, 44, a radio operator on a Russian fishing trawler, climbed aboard a Coast Guard cutter and asked for asylum, only to be dragged back aboard the trawler by the Russians. On Tuesday he arrived in New York from Moscow with his wife, two children and mother.

A few hours later — and after getting his first trip through New York rush-hour traffic — he told The Associated Press he wants to rest and, weather permitting, to go sailing.

Asked what he would like to see in the United States, Kadrika said "prisons." He said he would like to compare life in American prisons with his experience in a Soviet prison.

Coal Talks Continue

WASHINGTON (AP) — With a coal strike a virtual certainty, industry and union negotiators are pressing for an early settlement that would shorten the length of the predicted walkout.

Both sides scheduled another bargaining session for today after a Tuesday night counterproposal from the United Mine Workers.

UAW President Arnold Miller said the union proposed a "comprehensive contract package" which, if given quick approval, "will prevent a prolonged shutdown of the nation's mines."

Guy Farmer, chief negotiator for the Bituminous Coal Operators Association, said serious differences between the union package and what the industry offered Monday need to be resolved.

Auto Sales Plunge

DETROIT (AP) — U.S. auto makers, saying they can't even get people into showrooms to look at new cars, have reported that domestic auto sales in October plummeted to a 10-year low for the month. Chrysler announced new layoffs.

October sales were down 26.8 per cent from October of last year.

"The problem is consumer concern and confusion about the economy," said a Detroit industry spokesman. "People worried as hell about what's happening tomorrow. We can't even get them into the showrooms just to look."

With sales during the last 11 days of the month down 35 per cent from 1973, the four auto companies said October deliveries totaled just 677,521 units, compared with 67,070 the year before.

It was the worst October performance since 1964, when sales were 566,000 units. General Motors reported a 32 per cent decline from October 1973. Ford was off 17.1 per cent. Chrysler dropped 16.5 per cent and American Motors was down 52.5 per cent.

Arafat Willing To Meet

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger won't meet with Yasser Arafat today despite reports by Cairo newspapers that the Palestine guerrilla chief is in the Egyptian capital, State Department spokesman Robert Anderson says.

The Arab summit conference last week recognized Arafat's Palestine Liberation Organization as the future government of the West Bank of the Jordan river, and King Hussein of Jordan said this meant the PLO and not Jordan would have to negotiate for Israel's withdrawal from the territory.

After months of militant opposition to Kissinger's mediation, Arafat was reported willing to meet with the secretary of state. But Anderson reiterated previous statements from his chief of staff that neither Kissinger nor his aides planned to meet with the guerrilla leader.

Prove Tapes Genuine

WASHINGTON (AP) — Watergate prosecutors have begun the time-consuming process of establishing the authenticity of former President Richard M. Nixon's White House tapes.

For strictly legal reasons, the prosecutors must establish that the White House taping system was installed in 1969, how the recordings came to be delivered to U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica's courtroom and that the voices on them are the voices of the people the prosecutors say they are.

Associate special prosecutor James F. Neal said at the cover-up trial Tuesday he is anxious to clear up the preliminaries and begin playing the tapes for the jury.

"The recordings are what I consider this case to be all about," he said.

Most of the 25 tapes, which the jury will hear starting next week, record conversations in April 1973 when the cover-up was coming apart. Two of the defendants, former senior White House aides John D. Ehrlichman and H.R. Haldeman, resigned April 30, 1973.

Petersen To Retire

WASHINGTON (AP) — Henry E. Petersen's first 25 years at the Justice Department were overshadowed in the 20th by the Watergate investigation and accusations that he bungled it.

In the 27th year, the charge lingers and still rankles as Petersen ends his government career. His retirement Dec. 31 was announced Tuesday.

Hardly anyone outside Washington noticed as Henry Ford Petersen scaled the bureaucratic ladder from a lowly job as an FBI clerk to the powerful position of assistant attorney general in charge of the department's criminal division.

But millions watched during those stormy Senate Watergate committee hearings in 1973 when Petersen exploded in anger on national television.

represented for a quarter century before Nixon picked him for the vice presidency. Democratic Rep. Richard VanderVeen won again despite Ford's visit last week.

Republican losses came in clusters — five in Indiana, four in New Jersey, four in New York, two in Wisconsin and two in Virginia, including suburban Washington Rep. Roy Brohyll, a 22-year veteran.

In California, the GOP was losing in four races.

On the Democratic side, there were single losses in Florida, Louisiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania and South Dakota.

But in Arkansas, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., the embattled chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, was easily re-elected over Republican Judy Petty, despite the adverse publicity of last month's incident in which police stopped his speeding car, found the congressman intoxicated and a former stripper jumped out and into Washington's Tidal Basin.

In the governor's races, Democrats scored expected victories over Republicans in a number of states, including New York, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Colorado, Oregon, Tennessee and Wyoming.

In New York, Carey ran up an 800,000-vote margin over Republican Gov. Malcolm Wilson, who became governor when Nelson A. Rockefeller resigned last December, to recapture the state for the party for the first time in 18 years.

In Maine, meanwhile, independent James B. Longley surprised Democrat George Mitchell and Republican James Erwin.

In Connecticut, Rep. Ella T. Grasso became the first woman to win a governorship without succeeding her husband.

Incumbents re-elected included Democrats George C. Wallace in Alabama, Reubin Askew in Florida, Milton Shapp in Pennsylvania, Wendell Anderson in Minnesota, Marvin Mandel in Maryland, Patrick J. Lee in Wisconsin, Philip W. Lucier in Rhode Island and Republicans Robert Ray of Iowa and Meldrim Thomson Jr. of New Hampshire.

In Missouri, Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, who was dropped from the vice presidential spot on the 1972 Democratic ticket, was elected decisively to a second Senate term.

Rep. John C. Culver, D-Iowa, who passed up a Senate race two years ago only to see Richard Clark, his former administrative assistant achieve a victory, won in his own right. Culver will take the seat being vacated by Sen. Harold E. Hughes, D-Iowa, who is retiring to become a full-time lay minister.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., the chairman of the Senate Watergate committee, also is retiring. His seat was won by state Atty. Gen. Robert Morgan.

Other Democratic incumbents achieving re-election included Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin, Adlai E. Stevenson III of Illinois, Frank Church of Idaho, Herman E. Talmadge of Georgia, Warren G. Magnuson of Washington, Russel B. Long of Louisiana, James B. Allen of Alabama, Ernest F. Hollings of South Carolina, Daniel K. Inouye of Hawaii, Abraham A. Ribicoff of Connecticut and Alan Cranston of California.

A fourth Senate term was won by Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., the GOP's 1964 presidential candidate. And a third term was won by Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., who beat back a strong challenge from Indianapolis Mayor Richard Lugar.

In Alaska, Democratic Sen. Frank Merrill, who was dropped from the vice presidential spot on the 1972 Democratic ticket, was elected decisively to a second Senate term.

In Alaska, Democratic Sen. Frank Merrill, who was dropped from the vice presidential spot on the 1972 Democratic ticket, was elected decisively to a second Senate term.

Rep. John C. Culver, D-Iowa, who passed up a Senate race two years ago only to see Richard Clark, his former administrative assistant achieve a victory, won in his own right. Culver will take the seat being vacated by Sen. Harold E. Hughes, D-Iowa, who is retiring to become a full-time lay minister.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., the chairman of the Senate Watergate committee, also is retiring. His seat was won by state Atty. Gen. Robert Morgan.

Other Democratic incumbents achieving re-election included Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin, Adlai E. Stevenson III of Illinois, Frank Church of Idaho, Herman E. Talmadge of Georgia, Warren G. Magnuson of Washington, Russel B. Long of Louisiana, James B. Allen of Alabama, Ernest F. Hollings of South Carolina, Daniel K. Inouye of Hawaii, Abraham A. Ribicoff of Connecticut and Alan Cranston of California.

A fourth Senate term was won by Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., the GOP's 1964 presidential candidate. And a third term was won by Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., who beat back a strong challenge from Indianapolis Mayor Richard Lugar.

And in California, Brown, the 36-year-old son of the state's last Democratic governor, became the youngest governor in over a century by defeating Republican Houston Flournoy.

But Democrat Sander Levin's second bid to unseat Republican Gov. William G. In Maine, meanwhile, independent James B. Longley surprised Democrat George Mitchell and Republican James Erwin.

In Connecticut, Rep. Ella T. Grasso became the first woman to win a governorship without succeeding her husband.

Incumbents re-elected included Democrats George C. Wallace in Alabama, Reubin Askew in Florida, Milton Shapp in Pennsylvania, Wendell Anderson in Minnesota, Marvin Mandel in Maryland, Patrick J. GOV. ASKEW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats ended the Republican era in the statehouses of New York and California, the nation's two most populous states, and picked up a half-dozen other governorships held by the GOP.

Tuesday's Democratic tide left the party in solid command of the nation's statehouses and with immeasurable influence over the machinery for choosing a president two years hence.

California's elected Democrat Edmund G. Brown Jr. after eight years of the conservative Republican administration of Gov. Ronald Reagan.

At 36, Brown became the state's youngest governor in 119 years. He whipped Houston Flournoy, the state controller and a former college professor.

Rep. Hugh L. Carey ended 16 years of Republican reign at the statehouse by solidly defeating Gov. Malcolm Wilson, who finished out the term of Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Ohio's seaway race between incumbent Democrat John J. Gilligan and his GOP predecessor James A. Rhodes dangled in doubt with almost all the votes counted.

The lead in Kansas tilted toward Democrat Vern Miller, the state attorney general, and Republican State Senate president Robert F. Bennett.

Democrats went into the election with a 32 to 18 hold on the governorships and were emerging with their domination approaching 36 of the 50 states.

Democrats took over GOP-held statehouses in Colorado, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Oregon, Tennessee and Wyoming as well as in the two biggest states.

In the 10 states with half the nation's population and half the electoral votes for president, Democrats sealed their victory in eight and conceded Michigan to the GOP.

But the Republican candidate took the South Carolina statehouse for the first time in a century.

The governorship of Alaska, now held by a Democrat, was in limbo with leads swinging back and forth as the tabulation wound to an end, statehouse turned Democratic for the first time in eight years. Raul Castro, 58, a former envoy to Bolivia, won in his second bid for the office.

The Arizona statehouse turned Democratic for the first time in eight years. Raul Castro, 58, a former envoy to Bolivia, won in his second bid for the office.

George C. Wallace overthrew his Republican challenger in Alabama with an 85 per cent victory margin for an unprecedented third term. "I do have plans" for 1976, he told an interviewer.

Florida Gov. Reubin Askew won re-election and a boost for his national aspirations with a solid margin over Republican Jerry Thomas, who was presi-

The Great Booze Battle In The Air

The era of the "white knuckle" air passenger may be coming to an end. There is a very good possibility that the airlines will make certain we're all drunk when we're in the air.

The "battle of the booze" broke into the open when National Airlines — reeling from the effects of a 110-day strike and anxious to let prospective customers know it was back in business — took newspaper advertisements offering two free cocktails to adult passengers on the New York to Florida run.

The "swells" who ride first class always got their booze free, but those who rode steerage were charged $1.50 per shot. No more. Now it'll be free for all — which is exactly what may happen if the trend continues.

Eastern Airlines, for instance, rose to the challenge by calling National's actions "unconscionable," but in the next breath matched its rival's two-drinks-on-the-Florida-run and raised it to "two-drinks-everywhere."

Meanwhile, those airline passengers who won't even look at the sky without a belt or two under their belts, were anxiously awaiting word from Delta Air Lines, the third nonstop carrier to Florida. Delta is playing its cards close to the vest for the moment but there is speculation it might see National and Eastern on the two drinks and raise it to an anchovy.

If all this sounds foolish, remember, it's one way of keeping drunks off the highways.

Temporary Defeat

It was not unexpected when the House of Representatives voted to reject a meaningful reform of its committee system. But nevertheless it was disappointing because it means the lower house of the Congress will launch into a new session in January still excited and uncombed by the barnacles of seniority and vested interest.

Over the years some powerful senior members, mainly chairmen, and pressure groups have built up their influence in a cozy committee structure which will fight to the end to protect.

But the public interest deserves better. The people are represented just as much by the newest congressman arriving in Washington fresh from a hard election fight in a closely contested district as by the oldest congressman from a safe district in a one-party state or city who can't remember when he had to campaign for office.

It is wrong for a few entrenched committee chairmen to so dominate the congressional process that freshmen congressmen get discouraged after a few terms and leave Washington without ever having an impact in the Capitol.

This is not what the founding fathers envisioned when they created a lower house with two-year terms to be close to the people, capable of quick response to public opinion. The Democrats who control the House must share the responsibility with the senior Republicans who voted with the majority to preserve the status quo in the committee system.

Conservatives were against any change in the establishment. Liberals with powerful seats wanted to keep their influential committee positions.

But the pressure for reform will prevail eventually unless the House reformers lose heart. Public opinion is on their side.

People Haven't Lost Faith In America

WASHINGTON — As the nation's attention turns from Watergate to the economy, the headlines have become blacker with grim news. Prohibitive oil prices have thrown the economy out of whack. Outgoing energy czar John S. Dillinger warns that the United States has no clear policy to deal with the crisis.

All we did was invite our readers to express their feelings about America in a slogan, which could be used as the official slogan for our Bicentennial celebration. We offered no prizes. We simply asked for "the right words to reaffirm our faith in America."

We have been inundated with stirring slogans, which have poured into our office by the tens of thousands. Our mail has become so swamped that we have arranged with the Bicentennial Administration to use their postal box. So send your future slogans, please, to: Slogans, USA, Post Office Box 1978, Washington, D.C.

The Jaycees and American Legion, meanwhile, are helping us sort out all the slogans. We would have cleaner politics if the Senate and House had scrapped the 48-page law as passed and substituted 49 lines they eliminated.

Reform Bill Won't Stop Corruption

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The paragraphs Senate and House conferees voted to eliminate from the "revolutionary" clean elections law recently signed by President Ford are more significant than the bewildering maze of do's and don'ts which were left in.

Congress passed the wrong bill. Representatives were simple and direct. Of them, thirty-nine would have required congressmen, congressional and presidential candidates and federal employees earning $25,000 or more to report in detail their financial dealings and possible conflicts of interest that included:

1. Any stocks bought and sold each year in excess of $1,000.

2. Any commodity transactions in excess of $1,000.

3. Any purchase or sale of real property worth more than $1,000, concerned only the buying or selling of a private residence.

4. Taxes paid the previous year.

5. The amount and source of each item of income greater than $100, including honorariums and gifts of goods and services.

6. A list of current assets and liabilities valued at more than $1,000.

7. These reports would be open to the press and the public. Those who neglected to expose their dealings could be sentenced to five years in prison.

Another 10-line section of the Senate bill which was eliminated was equally stringent. It would have, in essence, made any phone call from a congressman (or any other outsider) to a regulating agency a matter of open record. It would thus have made public each and every attempt by senators and representatives (and members of the executive branch, including the president) to influence the actions of regulating agencies on anti-trust matters, the licensing of radio and TV stations, the regulation of railroads, trucking firms and barge lines, the assignment of air routes and other actions, which could give millions of dollars in benefits to some parties and take away millions from others.

It is not difficult to understand why the House of Representatives insisted on striking these provisions. The publicity called for would have made known the immoral conflicts of interest of many men in the legislature. It would have brought into the open congressional self-serving activities which cost the public millions (perhaps billions) a year. It would have exposed the payoffs a goodly number of congressmen receive to vote for or against bills, and for interfering with the honest enforcement of laws.

Laws limiting campaign giving and spending will not clean up elections. Candidates and donors equipped with ingenious attorneys will find ways to circumvent the law. Only publicity on candidates, office holders and their associates, their sources of income, backers, financial connections and obligations will make it possible for voters to throw out those rascals who pervert the system.

But let him ask in faith, with no doubting, for he who doubts is like a wave of the sea that is driven and tossed by the wind. For that person must not suppose that a double-minded man, unstable in all his ways, will receive anything from the Lord. — James 1:6,7.

"Always vote for a principle, though you vote alone, and you may cherish the sweet reflection that your vote is never lost." — John Quincy Adams, 6th U.S. President.

My good friend John Spolski has the right as a Herald columnist to express any view he wishes anytime he wants to say it. I pray to God the day will never come in this country when a columnist cannot express a personal opinion, particularly a dissenting view. Should that ever happen this country's principles will have gone down the drain.

What I asked of John, he and The Herald did ably and admirably. John expressed his view and he permitted me to express mine. Nothing could have been any fairer. The Herald objectively reported the city-sponsored forum and the debates before several city organizations. Further, I am highly confident that John Spolski will attest that while we sometimes have opposing views we certainly respect each other's right to his own opinion and the right to express them openly and publicly.

Consequently, let it be known that Julian Stenstrom is the last man in this world today who would deny anyone the right to his opinion and to state it publicly.

Cordially yours, Julian Stenstrom City Commissioner Sanford

Have you met the new manager at the Sanford Rocking Chair Theatre? His name is Maxie Stephens. The local civic organizations should get to know him.

Stephens has "free office space" at the theatre which he is offering to those organizations in the midst of a campaign, but lack an identification office, if you will.

Stack in my typewriter... "John — the geat at Len's Pastry Shop called and said our recent article on the rising cost of sugar is already outdated."

We're told a Tampa concern is offering the sweet staff at a price of $53.75 per hundred pounds (which just goes to prove a point... if something gets too "rich" for your blood, it isn't so difficult to give it up. I never really enjoyed coffee, but had to at least have some milk and sugar with that one cup in the am.

Now it's no sugar, no milk and none of the stuff which only kept me awake all day anyhow!

Copernicus State also joined us in sponsoring the slogan search. As an extra incentive, the society is putting up $1,000 in prize money — $5,000 for the best slogan and $1,000 apiece for the next five.

The response to our appeal, both the slogans themselves and the accompanying letters, have been heartwarming. Despite all the shabby performances and prominent failures of leading politicians, most Americans remain upbeat about the basic worth and prospects of this country.

The prevailing attitude is summed up in a slogan from the late Ernest Sipola, who died of a heart attack before he could mail it to us. He was popular in his Fortuna, Calif., hometown, according to the tributes from his friends, as a forester who loved the outdoors and had a natural ease with his neighbors.

"In going through his pockets," his widow wrote to us, "I found his handwritten theme for the Bicentennial." Ernie Sipola's slogan for America was: "Golden Past to a Golden Future."

STRANGE SAGA: From secret grand jury transcripts, we have been writing the strange saga of Dr. Timothy Leary, the former saint of the psychedelic set. Today's chapter deals with his mysterious mistress. Back in the 1960s, Leary was a Harvard psychology professor who found happiness in hallucinants and became the high priest of the drug cult. He was jailed on a marijuana rap, broke out of prison and fled to Algeria.

He drifted to Switzerland where he met a 28-year-old jetsetter named Joanna Harcourt-Smith. They flew off together on a romantic odyssey and wound up in Afghanistan in the custody of U.S. authorities.

The peripatetic professor was brought back under guard to California, where the faithful Joanna has been visiting him in various prisons. She wanted to marry him, but prison rules prevented it. So she took on his name anyway.

"I changed my name in the Superior Court of California to Leary," she told the grand jury, "so Leary is my legal name."

As we reported in an earlier column, Leary has made a dramatic break with his past and has turned against the drug cult. It is uncertain from the grand jury transcripts whether he enlisted her or she persuaded him to cooperate with federal narcotics agents. But she helped agents get evidence against Leary's former lawyer, George Chula, who has pleaded innocent to a drug indictment.

"I found 89.9 per cent of them to be dishonest, lying people," she said, "not telling the truth and not knowing where they were coming and where they were going."

She told about sniffing cocaine with Chula through rolled-up $100 bills. "And then he gets up, she testified, "and he says, 'Let's do this in style,' and he pulls out a hundred-dollar bill from his pocket and then he starts rolling the hundred bill. Then he says, 'You put it in your nose and take it.'"

The ritual, complete with the $100 bill, was repeated on other occasions, she swore. Shortly before his arrest she lectured him on the evils of cocaine.

"I took this opportunity to tell him," she testified, "that it was very bad to take that much cocaine or any cocaine, because it just makes you see life in a crazy way and you are seeing crazy things."

MIAMI (AP) — State Treasurer Thomas O'Malley has overcome grand jury bribery and perjury charges to win re-election as all five Democratic contenders made a clean sweep of Cabinet races.

Agriculture Commissioner Doyle Conner, Comptroller candidate Gerald Lewis and Education Commissioner Ralph Turlington piled up more than a million votes each in Tuesday's Democratic landslide.

By contrast, O'Malley's race against Republican Jeffrey Latham was a squeaker, O'Malley getting just 52 per cent of the vote.

However, O'Malley, 40, told cheering supporters at his Miami campaign headquarters that he viewed the results as a mandate from the people to continue working in their behalf.

"I hope to accomplish even more in the next four years than the last four," O'Malley said, discounting talk that he could be forced out by impeachment.

MIAMI (AP) — Public Service Commission Chairman Bill Bevis, a former University of Tennessee blocking back, says a campaign fund was the turning point in his successful re-election victory over Republican Noel Bacon.

With all but a few precincts reporting, Bevis had 635,200 votes to 624,914 for Bacon, a Fort Lauderdale commodities broker who flew with the Flying Tiger in World War II.

Three weeks before the election, Atty. Gen. Robert Shevin issued an opinion that the PSC had improperly allowed utilities to add fuel adjustment charges into utility bills without advance public hearings.

With consumers already irked over rising utility bills, Shevin's finding of improper procedures by incumbent commissioners could have been a serious blow.

But Bevis claims he quickly recovered the potentially dangerous fumble in ensuing public hearings.

"That was the turning point right there," Bevis said. "In my opinion, the meetings that we had on the fuel adjustment focused attention on it and it here out the fact that no one at the state level has anything to do with the price of oil."

A disappointed Bacon said his defeat may have been caused by misreading the depth of consumer discontent over utility rates.

"It would seem that the consumer interest I thought was there didn't show up at the polls," he said. "It's conceivable that I misjudged their interest."

But Bacon hoped that "my campaigning has been a help to the consumer in the end."

"I hope that my opponent's new-found dedication to a balanced interest in commission affairs may continue," he said.

Bacon said he deserves some of the credit for recent actions by Bevis in having the PSC reconsider the basis of fuel adjustment charges and the state's utility rate structure.

MIAMI (AP) — Dade County voters Tuesday rejected a proposed ban on throwaway beverage containers and pop-top cans.

The vote was 136,616 against the proposal and 98,283 for it. The ordinance would have imposed a minimum 5-cent deposit on returnable containers as an attempt to cope with the county's litter problems.

"It appears that the voters of Dade have shown that they still want their freedom of choice," said Marvin Kimmel, spokesman for bottling interests who campaigned against the proposal.

Harvey Ruvin, Dade commissioner who introduced the proposal, urged supporters "continue casting their votes" by demanding returnable containers in stores.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — State Transportation Secretary Walter Revell has awarded nearly $900,000 in no-bid management consultant contracts to a firm headed by three former business colleagues, The Miami Herald has reported.

Today's editions of the newspaper report that Business Science Corp. of Frederick, Md., already has received $376,616 from contracts signed weeks after Revell was appointed DOT secretary in August 1972.

The company is scheduled to receive nearly $500,000 over the next two years in a new contract signed last month, the Herald said.

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Dr. John Beasley, founder of the Family Health Foundation, has retained colorful Jim Garrison as his chief counsel in a fraud trial in Jacksonville.

Dr. Beasley described the former New Orleans district attorney as a "street fighter."

"Certain elements of the federal government have dragged me into a street fight," Beasley said Tuesday. "Jim Garrison is not afraid of the federal government."

Beasley and three other former officials of the foundation are charged with bilking the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare out of $77,000 in federal grants.

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — U.S. District Judge Ben Krentzman has granted a $50,000 suit filed by a Tampa woman who was wrongfully arrested on gambling charges.

Krentzman said Tuesday that although FBI agents were negligent in arresting Margaret Rodriguez, they did not violate her constitutional rights.

Mrs. Rodriguez, owner of a beauty salon, was arrested in a gambling raid in March, 1972. Charges against her were dismissed in April, 1973, when the FBI learned that there was an error in an electronic device which provided the telephone number through which she was traced.

Mrs. Rodriguez, 33, claimed that her arrest was a violation of the Fourth Amendment.

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — A Tallahassee banker has spent five hours testifying before a federal grand jury investigating the finances of Florida Comptroller Fred Dickinson.

John A. Madigan, chairman of Parkway National Bank from which Dickinson once obtained a $50,000 mortgage, was accompanied by his attorney.

Madigan declined comment on why he was called before the panel. Grand jury testimony is secret under Florida law.

In 1972, Madigan headed the Florida Democrats for Nixon campaign.

FORT WALTON BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Okaloosa County Sheriff Ray Wilson has admitted that investigators "made a monumental and monstrous mistake" in charging a young Air Force sergeant with murder.

Sergeant Allen Scott was arrested Oct. 10 and charged with the murder of Theresa Dusevitch, 19, and the attempted murder of a 15-year-old girl.

Wilson said Tuesday "a human error in a ballistics test" had erroneously identified Scott's .38 caliber pistol as the weapon that killed Miss Dusevitch and wounded the unidentified girl.

MIAMI (AP) — State Treasurer Thomas O'Malley has overcome grand jury bribery and perjury charges to win re-election as all five Democratic contenders made a clean sweep of Cabinet races.

Agriculture Commissioner Doyle Conner, Comptroller candidate Gerald Lewis and Education Commissioner Ralph Turlington piled up more than a million votes each in Tuesday's Democratic landslide.

By contrast, O'Malley's race against Republican Jeffrey Latham was a squeaker, O'Malley getting just 52 per cent of the vote.

However, O'Malley, 40, told cheering supporters at his Miami campaign headquarters that he viewed the results as a mandate from the people to continue working in their behalf.

"I hope to accomplish even more in the next four years than the last four," O'Malley said, discounting talk that he could be forced out by impeachment.

"When people know you have saved them millions of dollars in insurance fees, they'll support you," Secretary of state candidate Bruce Smathers, 31, son of former Sen. George Smathers, D-

MIAMI (AP) — Public Service Commission Chairman Bill Bevis, a former University of Tennessee blocking back, says a campaign fund was the turning point in his successful re-election victory over Republican Noel Bacon.

With all but a few precincts reporting, Bevis had 635,200 votes to 624,914 for Bacon, a Fort Lauderdale commodities broker who flew with the Flying Tiger in World War II.

Three weeks before the election, Atty. Gen. Robert Shevin issued an opinion that the PSC had improperly allowed utilities to add fuel adjustment charges into utility bills without advance public hearings.

With consumers already irked over rising utility bills, Shevin's finding of improper procedures by incumbent commissioners could have been a serious blow.

But Bevis claims he quickly recovered the potentially dangerous fumble in ensuing public hearings.

"That was the turning point right there," Bevis said. "In my opinion, the meetings that we had on the fuel adjustment focused attention on it and it here out the fact that no one at the state level has anything to do with the price of oil."

A disappointed Bacon said his defeat may have been caused by misreading the depth of consumer discontent over utility rates.

"It would seem that the consumer interest I thought was there didn't show up at the polls," he said. "It's conceivable that I misjudged their interest."

But Bacon hoped that "my campaigning has been a help to the consumer in the end."

"I hope that my opponent's new-found dedication to a balanced interest in commission affairs may continue," he said.

Bacon said he deserves some of the credit for recent actions by Bevis in having the PSC reconsider the basis of fuel adjustment charges and the state's utility rate structure.

MIAMI (AP) — Dade County voters Tuesday rejected a proposed ban on throwaway beverage containers and pop-top cans.

The vote was 136,616 against the proposal and 98,283 for it. The ordinance would have imposed a minimum 5-cent deposit on returnable containers as an attempt to cope with the county's litter problems.

"It appears that the voters of Dade have shown that they still want their freedom of choice," said Marvin Kimmel, spokesman for bottling interests who campaigned against the proposal.

Harvey Ruvin, Dade commissioner who introduced the proposal, urged supporters "continue casting their votes" by demanding returnable containers in stores.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Cocoa Outlaws Topless

COCOA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Topless bathing for women was outlawed by a sheer 265 votes in a straw ballot Tuesday. One advocate of bare-breasted swimming tallied the outcome as "Shirts 1, Skins 0."

City commissioner Agatha Doerer, who proposed the referendum, said the ballot's wording led to as much confusion as the issue itself.

A vote "for" the proposed ordinance was a vote against topless bathing.

Voters ended the city's heated debate by narrowly approving the referendum 1,589 votes to 1,234. The outcome, which city commissioners said in advance they would honor, bans topless sunbathing for women on five miles of city beaches.

"It just shows it was worthwhile putting it to a vote because it turned out much closer than proponents of the ordinance said it would," said commissioner Paul Fernandez. He said he remains convinced that the ordinance is unconstitutional because it bans topless swimming for women, and not for men.

Turner's Trial To Tampa

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — The mail fraud trial of super-salesman Glenn W. Turner and Boston Attorney F. Lee Bailey will be shifted from Jacksonville to Tampa, a newspaper has reported.

The Tampa Tribune quoted unidentified sources Tuesday as saying arrangements were being made to transfer to Tampa some 40,000 pounds of trial-related documents.

The Tribune said the trial will be scheduled at Tampa federal court in January before U.S. District Judge W. Terrell Hedges.

The first trial of Turner, Bailey and seven others ended May 30 in federal court in Jacksonville with a deadlocked jury.

Chester Is A Popular Fellow?

BELLEVUE, Wash. (AP) — In her love letter to Chester, a young lady asked a question that's been on all our minds: "Can a 12-year-old girl and a three-year-old machine make it in today's world?"
Chester gets his share of love letters and fan letters, but so far it doesn't seem to have given him any egotistical delusions. He's still pretty much the same unassuming 6-foot-tall, 20-foot-long hunk of green metal with red and yellow glowing dials, meters and blinking lights he's always been.

burning question. She also asked Chester what his hobbies are and whether he has any brothers or sisters.
Chester replied that his hobbies are old radio shows, comedy, music, lectures, and all sorts of diverse things. "I don't have any brothers or sisters," he said. "However, I have 24 tape decks and two video-tape decks."
He was just being modest. Actually, Chester has about 50 to 60 brothers and sisters around the country. They just aren't quite like him.

Chester originally was meant for the college's students. They could simply call him by phone and pick their lesson. In the school library, the lectures are linked to small television screens where they can see what Chester is talking about. The tapes are made by teachers, or Chester's voice, Mark Balsam, 27, who is in charge of programming.

Exiles Want Cuban Sanctions Retained

MIAMI (AP) — A group of prominent Cuban exiles, headed by former President Carlos Prío Socarrás and Fidel Castro's sister Juana, will protest a move by the Organization of American States to remove sanctions against Castro's Cuba.
The group was invited to travel to Quito, Ecuador, where the OAS foreign ministers are meeting this weekend, by Chile's ambassador to the United Nations, Julio Duran. Duran was the speaker at a "unity day" rally which drew 5,000 refugees Sunday.
"We will demonstrate to the OAS members that lifting the sanctions against the Castro regime would be an action founded on lies," said Prío, the last constitutional president of Cuba.
"Other members of that organization will show that Castro's aggression and interventionism against other countries continues as always," Prío added.
He referred to last-minute attempts by Chile, Uruguay and one or two others to try to head off what appeared to be a certain vote to remove restrictions

How would you like to put yourself in our shoes?

Being a funeral director isn't for everyone. The hours are unpredictable... you are continuously exposed to grief... you become the subject of a lot of bad jokes... and when you have a sick friend, you can't visit him because people will say you're a "vulture" and you can't stay away because his feelings will be hurt.
But we're not complaining. We know there are disadvantages to this very job, and ours has an unusual redeeming feature: it provides the satisfaction of knowing we've helped others at a time when help is needed most.

PETE ROGERS
Nicklaus, An Imposing Figure
As He Goes About His Business

The man with the build of a linebacker, bleached blond hair and deep tan is certainly an imposing figure. He must be important as everyone in sight is following him as he goes about his business making money, (playing golf).

Having never attended a PGA golf tournament, I decided the Disney Team Championship was a good time to see the likes of Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer, Jack Miller and Sam Snead in person, instead of them being interviewed by Jim McKay on Wide World of Sports.

Upon arriving at the tournament, I immediately began asking everyone near me, "Which hole is Nicklaus on," and I was constantly being asked the same question myself.

But it didn't take long to locate the "Golden Bear" he was where the largest crowd was assembled. As I elbowed my way to the 14th green, it was there I got my first look at this prosperous looking man, as he approached with his playing partner Tom Weiskopf.

You can just sense the respect he commands from a gallery; you could hear a pin drop as he assumed his famous putting stance. But the gallery around that particular green really amazed me, as I observed not only youngsters staring in awe, but men and women twice Nicklaus' age staring as if he was from another world.

Occasionally Nicklaus would sneak a peak at the starry-eyed gallery, of which all eyes were focused on his every move, and it appeared he was blushing, and maybe just asking himself, "Am I really that famous?"

Considering his incredible golf record, it's amazing how he handles all the attention he receives during a tournament, but he did show how tension was relieved on the very next hole.

While teeing the ball up on the short 15th hole, he remarked to Weiskopf, loud enough for the entire gallery to hear, "I haven't made a hole in one all year." The remark immediately brought laughter from the gallery.

Playing a round with Nicklaus during a tournament, one would think a pro would develop an inferiority complex, as in the case of the team of Babe Hickey and Kermit Zarley, as their names weren't mentioned once in the gallery, and probably nobody cared.

Having heard and read that Nicklaus is often cool toward the press, I wondered how I would approach him after his round, but I never got the chance. As he walked from the 18th green to the clubhouse a mere 100 yards away he was immediately engulfed by autograph seekers of all ages, which lasted 45 minutes until everyone was satisfied.

As the clubhouse door closed behind him, I was sure there really is a Jack Nicklaus. By the way, the man along with Tom Weiskopf, finished in 16th place behind winners Hubert Green and Mac McLendon.

Van Brocklin Fired; Public Forced Move

ATLANTA (AP) — Norm Van Brocklin generally regarded as a technical football genius with a volatile personality, was fired as head coach and general manager of the Atlanta Falcons Tuesday.

Van Brocklin, 48, had built the expansion team into a legitimate playoff contender last year but was forced out of his job by public pressure after the Falcons staggered to a 2-4 start.

The announcement of the firing came in a terse statement from club owner Rankin Smith at the dinner hour Tuesday night. Smith said Marion Campbell, 46, will assume the coaching duties immediately.

Campbell had served as Van Brocklin's defensive coordinator since 1969, building a unit that was respected throughout the National Football League.

"I had no inkling of anything like this," said Campbell. "I've just been trying to get the defense going... That's all that has concerned me."

"I appreciate Rankin's faith in me, but my heart goes out to Norm Van Brocklin. We were together for nine years. He let me coach the defense and never second-guessed me. We talked today at the stadium after the change was made," Campbell said.

whether he would be the coach next year until after the season is over. "But I'm not concerned about that," he said. "I just want to do the job for Rankin, the Falcons and the assistants. As for next year, we didn't sit down and talk about promises."

The downfall of Van Brocklin, known as the Dutchman, began late last season after the Falcons put together a seven-game winning streak and needed only victories over Buffalo, St. Louis and New Orleans to reach the playoffs for the first time in their eight-year history.

Buffalo and St. Louis whipped all players in Atlanta, ending all playoff hopes. Then 1974 arrived and Van Brocklin was optimistic, calling this the best Falcon team in history.

The strike of the NFL Players' Association kept more than 20 veterans out of training camp, but such was the case at most other NFL sites.

When Atlanta lost its first three games this year, the Dutchman blamed it on the strike. He began spicing every weekly news conference with expletives.

There had been several newspaper articles recently urging Smith to fire Van Brocklin and salvage something of the season. The newspapers also had been publishing numerous letters to the editors critical of the Dutchman.

Marshall Named Best NL Pitcher

NEW YORK (AP) — Mike Marshall, the tireless relief pitcher who helped the Los Angeles Dodgers win their first pennant in eight years, was named the National League's Cy Young Award winner today.

Marshall finished with 24 possible first-place votes to outscore teammate Andy Messersmith, 96 points to 66, and become the first relief pitcher in history to win the coveted prize.

The only other reliever to win a major award from the Baseball Writers Association of America was Jim Konstanty, who was the National League's Most Valuable Player during the "Whiz Kid" days of the Philadelphia Phillies in 1950.

The Dodgers took three of the first four places as Atlanta's Phil Niekro finished third with 15 points and Los Angeles' Don Sutton was fourth with 12.

Messersmith, along with Niekro the only 20-game winners in the National League this year, received five first-place votes. Niekro and Sutton had one each. Pitchers from the National League champion Dodgers thus gained 23 of the 24 first-place votes.

The remainder of the field included Al Hrabosky of St. Louis with nine points; Cincinnati's Jack Billingham, eight; Cincinnati's Don Galt, five; Gay Carroll of Cincinnati, two, and Pittsburgh's Dave Giusti, Buzz Capra of Atlanta, and Lynn McLoughen of St. Louis, all one.

A total of 34 writers voted, two from each National League city, and the point total was decided on a basis of five for first place, three for second and one for third.

Marshall appeared in a record-breaking 106 games this past season, an achievement that bettered his own National League standard of 92 set the year before with the Montreal Expos.

He became the first relief pitcher in National League history to qualify for the earned run title with 208 innings. Mar-year, received five first-place votes. Niekro and Sutton had one each.

Defensively Marcus was again led by tackle Marwan Kendrick along with Ken Cahill and Pat Renea, who recovered three fumbles.

In the final period, quarterback Mark Renaud scored with four yard sneak play. Renaud started an entire new line as the Panthers upped their record to 4-1 with their final against Oviedo next Thursday.

Along with Lively, Alvin Hight shared in the running game before the Panthers dominated the running game. But Wenholt was surprised with passing game as Renaud completed several passes to ends James Edmonds and Troy Sloan for 150 total yards.

Except for the Lyman Greyhounds, who are a member of the Metro Conference, supporters of the other Seminole County prep teams have probably wondered how their teams would fare against the Metro schools. On December 6 at the Lyman High School field, the answer may be resolved as the first annual Rotary Bowl will be played. The Seminole County South Rotary Club is initiating the game for the purpose of raising money for charities. John Jones, spokesman for the upcoming game, originally thought of bringing two Seminole County teams for the event, but is now leaning to one county team, against one of the Metro teams. If that doesn't work out, a winning team from outside the area will be brought in to face the yet unnamed county team. Hopefully the announcement of the participating teams will be made next week.

Eastbrook Undelected

The Eastbrook Cobras ran the record to 8-0 this past Saturday by overwhelming a determined Oviedo team 33-0. Eastbrook now is assured of at least a tie for the Pee Wee championship. The Cobras, led by the offensive line of Bruce Brightman, Tom Blanton, Robert Kent, Mark Williams, Jaime Lugo, and Billy Merston; ran up and down the field for 200 yards. The first score came on a 4 yard burst by Keith Barganier. Quarterback Mike Stephens scored twice on runs of 16 and 20 yards. A 25 yard pass to back John Harvey and an 18 yard sweep by Edward Thatcher accounted for the 5 TDs. Pats were scored by Harvey, Stephens, and Barry Stockwell. The defense, keyed by the play of Mark Hodges, Mickey McGuire, and Brian Adamson, held Oviedo to a total offense of 8 yards while recording their fifth shutout. The Cobras can clinch the crown this Saturday when they vie with Sanford at Seminole Little League field. Game time is 12:00.

A Treat For Hikers

Camping, hiking and backpacking have become year-round activities for many families. College students also take to the woods or mountains surrounding their campuses for day or week-end hikes. There is a compact world and few extraneous items such as bulky cooking utensils fit in. This is why snack foods that provide energy and nutrition are so popular. One such is an apricot back-packin' bar which combines filling oats, raisins and apricots. These keep well.

APRICOT BACK-PACKIN' BARS
1/2 cup sesame seeds

1/2 cup butter or margarine, softened
1 cup packed light brown sugar
1 egg
1 cup unfluffed all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1 cup finely chopped dried California apricots
1/2 cup seedless raisins

To toast sesame seed: Place sesame seed in shallow pan in 350-degree oven for 3 to 5 minutes, stirring occasionally until golden. Remove from oven. Cool.

In a large mixer bowl, cream butter, brown sugar and egg until light and fluffy. Stir flour, salt, baking soda and cinnamon into butter mixture until well mixed. Add oats, apricots, toasted sesame seed and raisins; mix well. (Mixture will be thick.) Spread evenly in a greased 13 x 9-inch baking pan. Bake in a 350-degree oven for 20 to 25 minutes or until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool in pan 5 minutes. Cut into 24 bars.

Apricot-filled bars are welcome on back-packing jaunts

Chutney Really A Taste Of India

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
Of all the recipes from India, Americans have been more interested in the chutneys of that country than in any other authentic Indian dishes. Now that there's a revival of home preserving here, you may want to "put up" an especially delicious Indian chutney made with dates and oranges that we've never before come across.

We found the recipe in "A Taste of India" by Mary S. Alwood, published by Houghton Mifflin about five years ago and still in print. Mrs. Alwood's book is a decidedly worthwhile introduction to Indian cooking.

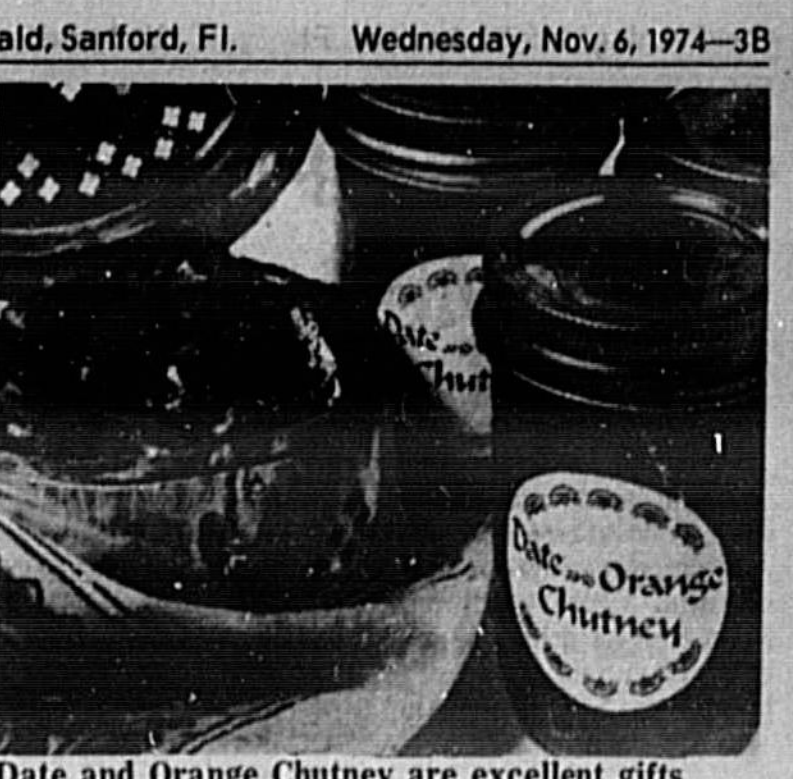

She lived in India for almost 12 months (counting four different visits) and, as she says, "spent a large portion of that time in the homes of many Indian friends and dining at some of India's best tables."

DATE AND ORANGE CHUTNEY

2 cups sugar
2 cups water
1 quart distilled white vinegar
3 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1 teaspoon ground nutmeg
2 teaspoons chili powder
2 tablespoons minced fresh or finely grated dried ginger root
2 large unpeeled oranges

(quartered, seeded and finely knife-chopped or ground)
1/2 cups finely chopped onion
1 clove garlic, crushed
2 cups raisins
16-ounce and 8-ounce package pitted dates

Into a large kettle turn the sugar, water, vinegar, salt, cinnamon, nutmeg, chili powder and ginger. Stir over low heat until sugar dissolves. Bring to a boil; add remaining ingredients and boil for 5 minutes; simmer, stirring occasionally, for 1 hour. Ladle the boiling hot chutney into clean hot wide-mouth preserving jars with two-part caps, leaving 1/2-inch

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Two factions of a church were locked in a bitter struggle over the powers of a controversial minister. Finally they took the issue to court for settlement. But the judge refused to take sides. Calling attention to the constitutional separation of church and state, the judge said: "Courts do not inquire into questions exclusively ecclesiastical. If the courts should deal with litigation of that nature, the whole subject of theology would have to be examined. Such a course would establish the courts as the final arbiter in every religious controversy."

This is the law's usual attitude toward religious disputes, declining to intrude into "things that are God's." However, the courts can and do take a hand in "things that are Caesar's."

For example, in one case a pastor had a disagreement with his church about the terms of his employment contract. A court had no hesitation in weighing the opposing arguments and in ruling (on strictly legal grounds) against the church.

Likewise, courts have dealt with such mundane matters as the ownership of church real estate or the administration of trust funds left to a church. Furthermore, of course, churchmen are just as subject to the criminal law as any other citizen. Thus:

A minister, while denouncing sin in his sermon, described it in unusually vivid language. Outraged members of his congregation complained to the police, and the minister was duly haled into court on a charge of using obscene language in a public place.

Finding him guilty, the court commented: "He has a right to propagate his religious views, but will not be permitted to commit a breach of the peace under the guise of preaching the gospel." A public service feature of the Florida Bar and the American Bar Association. Written by Will Bernard.

Ancient Apricot Makes Ideal Meringue Dessert

By AILEEN CLAIRE
The Herald Services

Dupes usually make good desserts. This is especially true if the dupe is an apricot, or a fruit with a hard woody pit. Eaten fresh or dried, the ancient (it can trace its ancestry back to some 3,000 years ago in China) is appreciated thoroughly in today's eating schemes. If not eaten out of hand, the apricot makes a delicious cooked dessert such as an Apricot Cream Meringue Pie.

APRICOT CREAM MERINGUE PIE

1/2 cup dried apricots
1/2 cup water
1 cup sugar
3 Tablespoons cornstarch
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cups milk
3 eggs, separated
1 Tablespoon butter or margarine
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup dried almonds, roasted
1 baked, cooled 8-inch pie shell
Cut apricots into small pieces. Combine with water in saucepan. Cover and simmer 10 minutes or until fruit is soft. Meanwhile, combine 2-3rd cup of sugar, cornstarch and salt in saucepan; add milk and cook, stirring, over medium heat until mixture comes to boil and is thickened. Lightly beat egg yolks; stir in a little milk mixture; combine with remaining mixture in saucepan. Cook, stirring constantly, 1 or 2 minutes. Do not boil. Remove from heat and stir in apricots, butter, vanilla and all but 2 tablespoons almonds. Turn into pie shell. Beat egg whites until foamy; gradually beat in remaining sugar and continue beating until stiff. Spread meringue over pie and bake at 425 degrees 5 minutes or until lightly browned. Sprinkle pie with remaining almonds. Cool before cutting. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Meal A Taste Tickler

By AILEEN CLAIRE
The Herald Services

Quiche Lorraine was created to match the hearty appetites of those in the French province of Lorraine where much of the steel of France is produced. It served as a taste-tickler preceding a dinner of roast fowl or game. As such, it crossed the Atlantic to become a favorite hors d'oeuvre in the United States. Through the years it has undergone many changes—ranging in use from appetizer to a favorite main dish for lunch, supper or breakfast.

There are many variations of a quiche. One puts fresh ripe pears on top of the rich baked custard tart. These are filled with bits of green onion and glazed with a spicy catsup sauce. Fresh pears now are plentiful for your Bartlett Quiche. Mature pears are green when picked. To ripen, store them in a brown paper sack for three or four days until they turn golden and yield slightly when squeezed gently between your palms.

BARLETT QUICHE
1 unbaked 9-inch pie shell
4 eggs
2 cups half-and-half (thin cream)
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon onion powder
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1/4 teaspoon savory, crumbled
1-1/8th teaspoon pepper
Dash cayenne
1 1/2 cups grated process Swiss cheese (6 ounces)
1/2 cup finely chopped cooked ham
3 fresh California Bartlett pears
1/2 cup water
1/4 cup catsup
1 Tablespoon cornstarch
1/4 cup chopped green onion

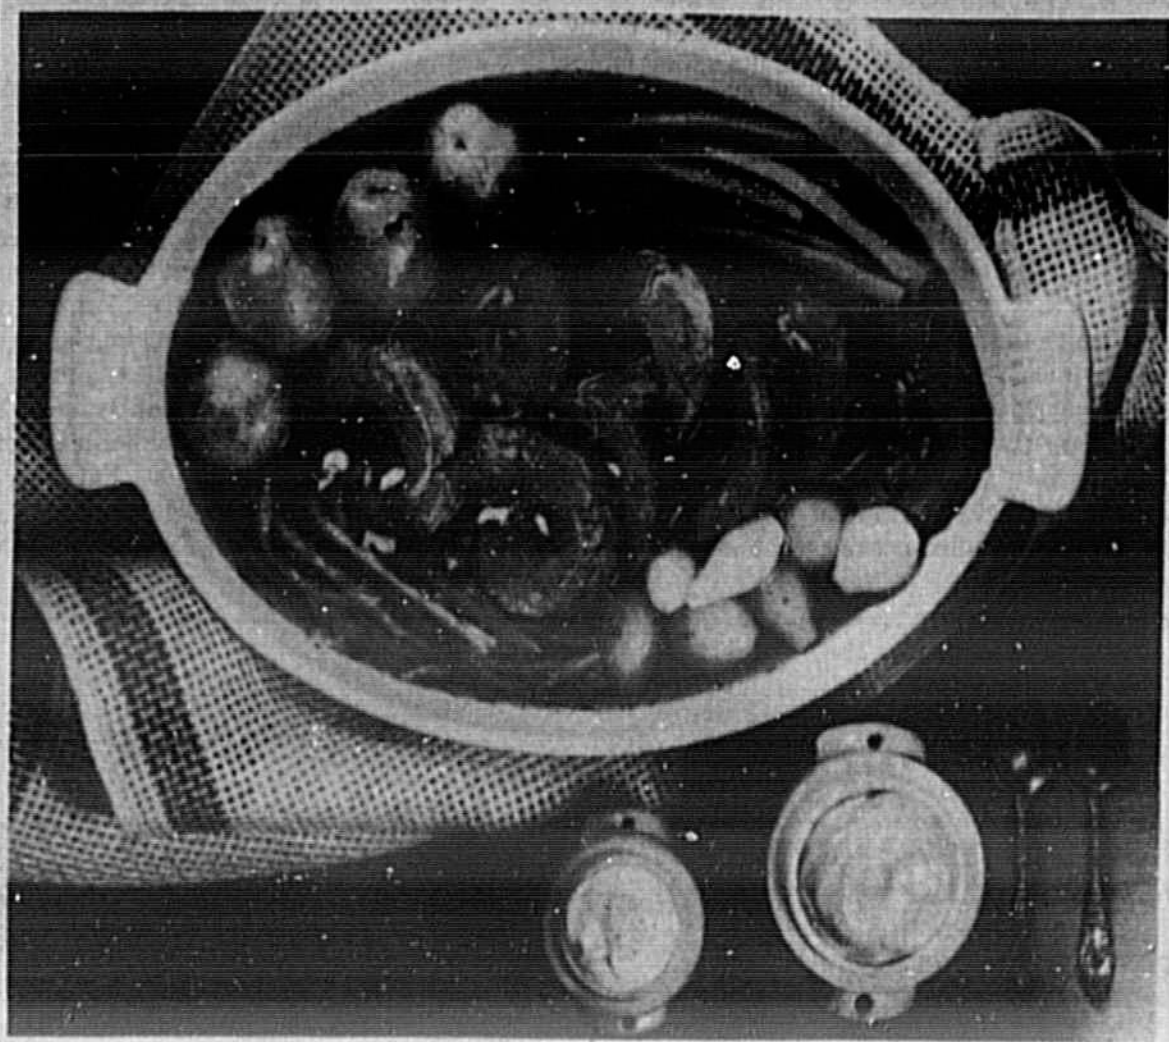

Prepare pie shell. Beat eggs. Add half-and-half, salt and dry seasonings and mix well. Stir in cheese and ham. Turn into pie shell. Bake below over center in 350 degree oven 40 minutes. Meanwhile, halve, pare and core pears. Cut a small slice from rounded side of pear halves, so they will sit level. Combine water, catsup and cornstarch in small saucepan and stir over moderate heat until clear and thickened. When quiche has baked 40 minutes and is set on top, remove from oven, arrange pears cut side up over top. Spoon catsup mixture over all. Return to oven for 5 minutes longer. Let stand 15 minutes before serving. Serve warm or cold. Makes 6 servings.

PIE SHELL: Combine 1 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour with 3/4 teaspoon salt. Cut on 1/2 cup shortening. Sprinkle with 3 to 4 tablespoons cold milk, adding just enough to make dough hold together. Shape into a ball. Roll on lightly floured board to a circle about 13-inches diameter and fit loosely into a 9-inch pie plate. Trim edge about 1-inch wider than edge of plate, fold under, and flt, building up a high rim.

Flank Steak: 'Different' Stew

Rolled flank steak with vegetables makes a different stew

By AILEEN CLAIRE
The Herald Services

Although flank steak is no longer the most inexpensive of beef cuts, it still is a lean cut that stretches to serve several persons. For a different beef stew, roll a beef flank steak around a layer of fresh herbs, onion and bacon. Simmer slowly until done and combine cooked vegetables with the sliced steak for a different beef stew.

PINWHEEL FLANK STEAK

1 beef flank steak
1 cup finely chopped parsley
1 tablespoon minced onion
2 thick slices bacon, chopped
2 tablespoons cooking oil
2 (14-ounce) cans beef broth
1 bay leaf
1/4 cup celery leaves

Choice of vegetables

Lay the steak flat on cutting board. Mix parsley, onion and uncooked bacon. Spread over steak, roll jelly roll fashion and fasten with skewers securely. Cut roll into 2 pieces. Brown in oil in large soup pot. Add broth, salt, bay leaf and celery leaves. Cover. Simmer 50 minutes or until tender. Skim off fat. Meanwhile cook vegetables in boiling salted water until barely tender. Remove beef from broth and cut into slices. Arrange beef pinwheels in casserole or individual bowls with vegetables. Heat broth to boiling. Pour over beef and vegetables. Makes 6 servings.

* Small unpeeled potatoes, onions, carrot strips, green beans or other vegetables.

Meatless Dish Nourishing

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

"When you have an engineer husband you're likely to live many places—all over the world," says Eda Bollo in explanation of her adventurous cooking, which ranges from Javanese to German.

When we heard about Eda's Vegetables and Eggs with Peanut Sauce, we begged the recipe. Why track down this particular main dish? Because it's meatless and that's what readers have been asking us for. When we tried it, we found it interesting and delicious. Thanks to the eggs and peanut butter included, it offers high-quality and low-cost protein.

At present Eda is in Korea. Her engineer husband, now retired, was called there to do a special consulting job. But in a few months the Bollos will be back in Houston, where they now make their home. If you like this dish of Eda's, let me know and I'll ask her to pass along the best budget recipe she finds in Korea.

VEGETABLES AND EGGS WITH PEANUT SAUCE

4 eggs
2 tablespoons peanut oil
Medium onion, cut in thin strips
2 large ribs celery, thinly sliced on the diagonal
Medium green pepper, cut in thin strips
6 medium mushrooms, sliced (1 cup)
1 teaspoon curry powder
1/2 teaspoon garlic powder
Pinch of cayenne pepper
2 tablespoons soy sauce
1/4-cup water can condensed chicken broth, undiluted
1/2 cup water chestnuts, sliced (from an 8-ounce can)

1-3rd cup raisins
1-3rd cup creamy or chunky peanut butter
1 Tablespoon cornstarch combined with 1/4 cup cold water

Hard-cook eggs and let stand in cooking water off heat but in a warm place. In a 10-inch skillet over moderate heat, heat oil; add onion, celery, green pepper and mushrooms; cook, stirring, just until onion begins to wilt—a minute or so. Stir in curry powder, garlic powder and cayenne, then soy sauce, chicken broth, water chestnuts and raisins; simmer about 5 minutes. Stir in peanut butter until blended, then cornstarch mixture; cook over moderate heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Shell and quarter eggs. Turn vegetable mixture into a serving dish; surround with eggs. Serve with rice and chutney. Makes 4 servings.

Cheese Puff Ring Makes Surprising Brunch Delight

By AILEEN CLAIRE
The Herald Services

A rich, pleasantly surprising dish for special guests combines Danish cheese, mushrooms and shrimp in a cream sauce. This is served as a filling in individual pastry puff rings along with asparagus spears and a favorite beverage. You may find a Cheese Puff Ring just the answer for something different to serve for Sunday brunches.

CHEESE PUFF RING

Pastry:
1 cup water
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 cup unsifted all-purpose flour
4 eggs
2 cups (8 ounces) grated Danish Exom cheese

Filling:

1/4 cup butter or margarine
1-3rd cup flour
1 1/2 cups half and half
1/4 cup sherry
1 can (8 ounces) sliced mushrooms, drained
1 pound shrimp, cooked, shelled and deveined

In a saucepan heat water and butter to boiling until butter melts. Stir in flour all at once and stir until mixture forms a ball that leaves the sides of the pan. Remove from heat and cool. Beat in eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Stir in half cup of cheese. Lightly grease a cookie sheet and with a finger mark an 8-inch in diameter circle on the cookie sheet. Drop egg mixture by heaping tablespoons on top of ring mark. Bake in a preheated 400-degree oven for 45 to 50 minutes or until puffed and brown. Remove from oven and prick several times with the tines of a fork. Replace in oven and bake another 5 minutes. Cool on a rack.

To prepare filling, in a saucepan melt butter. Stir in flour. Gradually stir in half and half and sherry. Stir over low heat until sauce bubbles and thickens. Stir in remaining cheese until smooth. Stir in mushrooms and shrimp. Add salt and pepper to taste. Reheat until bubbly. Split puff ring into 2 halves. Place bottom half on a serving platter. Remove cheesy strands of dough on the inside of ring. Spoon on hot cream and shrimp. Replace top of ring. Serve with asparagus spears and watercress. Makes 6 servings.

Fresh Peach Kuchen

By AILEEN CLAIRE
The Herald Services

Peaches are in the full flush of their juicy ripeness. This is a good time to buy peaches for baking, eating out-of-hand, for freezing or making preserves and jams. Fresh peach kuchen is made to disappear soonest or the home-baker will be unhappy. However, the freezer peach jam is for eating during winter months... if the jars put up now stretch until then.

FRSH PEACH KUCHEN
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 cup packed brown sugar
2 eggs
1 cup milk
2 1/2 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups sliced peeled peaches
3 tablespoons cinnamon
2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted

Cream butter and brown sugar until light and fluffy. Beat in eggs one at a time. Mix together flour, baking powder and salt. Blend in dry ingredients alternately with milk, beginning and ending with flour mixture. Turn into peach-baking pan, top with peaches and sprinkle surface with mixture of granulated sugar and cinnamon. Drizzle melted butter over sugar. Bake in 375 degree oven for 35 to 40 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Serve warm or cool. Makes 9 to 12 servings.

FREEZER PEACH JAM
2 cups finely chopped or crushed peeled ripe peaches
4 cups sugar
1/2 bottle liquid fruit pectin
1 tablespoon lemon juice

In a medium bowl combine peaches and sugar; mix well. In a small bowl mix pectin and lemon juice. Add to peaches. Stir constantly for 3 minutes. Pour into sterilized half-pint jars, cover tightly. Let stand at room temperature for 24 hours, then store in freezer. Jam may be stored in refrigerator for 3 weeks. Makes five half-pint jars.

Consumers Pay Food Stamp Bill

By DON KENDALL, Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal food stamp program, in fattening the poor man's diet, costs the American consumer twice — first in taxes to pay for the program, and again in higher food prices brought on by higher demand.

In an inflated, contracting economy, the question is bound to arise: what price generosity? And since for more than a year, even for the poor.

The food stamp program is still a baby. But it is growing rapidly. Today it costs the nation $3.9 billion annually, 22 times more than it did in 1967, and it served 12.5 million people, five times as many as in 1967.

The Department of Agriculture is spending $8 billion annually — two-thirds of its budget — on food stamps and other free food programs from school lunches to richer diets for pregnant women of low income.

The food stamps alone account for 2.5 per cent of the $160 billion Americans spend on food each year — enough to increase the cost of everyone's food because of the higher demand at the market place.

Dr. Alen Manchester, a food consumption analyst in the Department of Agriculture's Economic Research Service, says that of a 15 per cent food price increase expected this year, "maybe one or two percentage points" are due to the extra spending power afforded by food stamps.

That means that a family which spent $100 monthly on food last year is spending $115 monthly today. And food stamps are the reason for $1 or $2 of the inflation.

"It's a minor cost," says Manchester. "But nobody's going to argue that food stamps don't have something to do with it."

Nevertheless, without a food stamp program the alternative for many Americans might be hunger and malnutrition.

Food stamps are now so woven into the fabric of American life — like welfare, social security and Medicare — that many Americans depend on them.

Oddly enough they even benefit the American farmer — as an indirect and slight subsidy for his products.

Even now there are political pressures building to expand food stamps. Suits are pending against 15 states and the Department of Agriculture is arguing that they must obey a Congressional mandate to reach out and enroll more poor people in the program.

One organization pressing the suits estimates that there may be up to 50 million people eligible for food stamps — roughly one out of every four Americans.

Many people on food stamps find them inadequate, even with a recent 4 per cent cost-of-living boost. Indeed, the adequacy of the program was a focus of the Symbionese Liberation Army's propaganda campaign for Patty Hearst.

The SIA demanded $70 worth of meats, vegetables and dairy products for its poor people in California.

Not surprisingly, thousands of people lined up to collect the bounty.

Today, in San Francisco, some food stamp recipients still criticize the program. Noley Scott, 59, is unemployed, disabled with a broken back, and collects less than $300 a month in disability, welfare and social security payments.

On the other hand, there's Alice French, 20, an expectant mother, who shops on San Francisco's Market Street. She says her allotment of food stamps — under $100 a month — is more than adequate for herself and her husband.

"We've been doing okay. We don't eat an awful lot, so my husband and I are kind of oblivious to the whole food price problem. I don't eat meats or fish, so I buy lots of vegetables, whatever happens to be on sale or in season."

"When the baby's born in December, we'll qualify for an increase in stamps. But I don't know how we'll really need it. We usually have a surplus at the end of every month now."

Any social program centrally based has its inequalities. Food stamps are not unique.

Hugo Menendez is an assistant manager of a Safeway supermarket on Market Street where shoppers bring their orange, maroon and blue food stamps.

Mostly, says Menendez, the stamps are helpful, "but sometimes the wrong ones get the stamps... Especially the younger people shouldn't get them. They're not sick. They should have jobs."

The food stamp program had its origins 30 years ago as an experiment in Rochester, N.Y. Poor people, the New Deal of Franklin Roosevelt decided, should have the option of getting surplus farm products at grocery stores rather than at welfare offices.

So, on a spring day in 1939, the poor of Rochester began what today is a program that helps food seven out of every 100 Americans.

True, the modern program began with President Kennedy's day after his inauguration in 1961. After three years of pilot experiments, Congress sent the food stamp plan to President Johnson and it became a law of the land on Aug. 31, 1964.

Ten years later, every county in the U.S. has enrolled.

A huge federal bureaucracy works with state and local welfare officials to screen the millions of people seeking food stamp relief. The greatest concentration is in California.

One good reason would be that the ace was a singleton. In that case South would have no trouble getting two diamond tricks but the third one just wouldn't be there.
"What else could it be showing?" The doubleton ace-jack was the mental answer. Now South made the play to give him his contract against that second combination. He dropped his 10 of diamonds!
East led back a heart. South won in dummy; he did a diamond to his king and finessed successfully against West's nine of diamonds after East produced that important jack.

Board, Teachers Talk Via Lawyers

By SEAN CODE Herald Staff Writer

There were no fireworks at the Seminole County School Board meeting last night. As a matter of fact, everything went quite smoothly.

The Seminole Education Association (SEA), refused recognition at last week's meeting, when Sims asked Hart to act again as the negotiator for the board. Sims made no recommendation, and the board took no action.

However, the subject came up again during the two-hour meeting, when Sims presented the board with a letter from Dr. Jerry Hart, an educational consultant who acted as the board's negotiator in the abortive bargaining session last spring. Hart offers to act again as the negotiator for the board. Sims made no recommendation, and the board took no action.

present to have the group's attorney contact him, and that was that.

But the subject of negotiations came up again during the two-hour meeting, when Sims presented the board with a letter from Dr. Jerry Hart, an educational consultant who acted as the board's negotiator in the abortive bargaining session last spring. Hart offers to act again as the negotiator for the board. Sims made no recommendation, and the board took no action.

Hart offers to act again as the negotiator for the board. Sims made no recommendation, and the board took no action.

Then D. F. Kirkpatrick, director of plant planning, reported Sandhills Utilities Co., which would provide sewer and water service to the school, was not willing to accept the amendment to the contract suggested last week in which the $44,000 for the connection would be considered as part of the purchase price of the utility should the county decide to buy the company. The amendment was offered in an attempt to avoid having the taxpayers pay for the service twice, once for the connection fee, and again for the purchase of the company. The board approved the contract anyway, upon the recommendation of Kirkpatrick, in an effort to provide the service in time for the occupancy of the school, tentatively set for the Jan. 2.

However, even that is in doubt. Sims pointed out that Woodlands contractor, Building Movers, Inc., of Winter Park, is again behind schedule, and probably will not meet the Nov. 30 deadline for the completion of the job.

Sims said an inspection Wednesday showed the cafeteria was only then being prepared for movement to the new site. Whereas the timetable indicated the entire building would have been moved by this date, which Sims said shows the contractor is at least two weeks behind schedule.

The board instructed the staff to investigate the most efficient and economical method of providing water to the school site for fire-fighting purposes.

The board took no action on Layer's recommendation to purchase five acres adjacent to Lake Branley High School at a total cost of $69,500. But the board approved the partial reclamation of swampland adjoining the Seminole High School property. Both property increases are intended to facilitate the physical education programs. The board approved a policy change to classify the capacity of the district's high schools as 1,600 pupils, reversing its decision last spring to raise the capacity from 1,200 to 2,400. The rationale of the earlier switch was explained as providing individual schools with enrollments capable of supporting unpopular elective programs. The need for reverting to the old standards, Layer and other staff members explained, is to demonstrate to the Florida Education Department survey team, scheduled to arrive in early December, the overcrowding that exists in the schools and the necessity, in the light of growth projections, of at least two new schools, to be funded in part by the state.

The board also approved field trips for students of Longwood and Geneva elementary schools to St. Augustine.

The board scheduled its reorganization meeting, to seat the two newly elected members of the board, Mrs. Pat Telson, who defeated Dr. Stuart Calpepper, and E. C. Harper Jr., who unseated Mrs. Jean Bryant, on Tuesday, Nov. 19 at 5 p.m. in the school district board room. The regularly scheduled board meeting will follow and no meeting will be held Wednesday, Nov. 20.

CHRISTMAS CHECKS Just in time for Christmas shopping, checks were mailed today from local banks to Christmas Club savers. Altamonte Votes Full Pay For Wounded Policeman

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Police Lt. Steve Garver, recovering from gunshot wounds received last weekend while attempting to foil an attempted holdup, will remain on the city's payroll until he is able to return to work.

City council, voting unanimously, authorized Garver's full salary to continue after Police Chief Justus East recommended the board pay the officer the difference between workmen's compensation payments and his regular pay.

Councilman Cal DeVoney also asked Mayor Norman Floyd to determine if council can pay Garver "something extra" during his hospitalization.

Garver was removed from intensive care and placed in a regular room Wednesday, according to Florida Hospital spokesman. His condition is listed today as satisfactory.

In other business, council instructed City Atty. Joe Davis to obtain sewer and water line easements from the Altamonte Mall.

Floyd said according to an agreement approved last year the city is to accept and maintain the lines and easements in the parking area of the shopping center. The city is to waive fire hydrant rentals on 14 hydrants within the shopping center, under the agreement.

DeVoney reported that the city cannot receive federal money for a pilot project to inject treated drainage water underground until an application is submitted.

Floyd said he would not like the city to be a pilot project and council should consider long and hard before it approves any plan to pump drainage into the water table.

Once the planned sewer plant is built and in operation, Floyd said he would rather see treated effluent placed back in the ground than water from drainage ponds.

Sanford Prepares For Drainage Cleaning

By BOB LLOYD City Editor

Sanford city commissioners have authorized city staff members to immediately investigate and study right-of-way and easement acquisition costs to allow use of a city-owned cleaning machine in a drainage ditch cleaning program.

The action came Wednesday after commissioners certified the deficit in Tuesday's election of a proposed $6.5 million drainage bond issue that would have been used to finance a citywide drainage program using piped and paved drainage structures to channel storm waters to Lake Monroe from five "basin" areas over the city.

Official tabulation showed 2,101 voters against the bond issue and only 754 in favor of it. This includes 55 absentee ballots. Four absentee ballots were thrown out because of irregularities. Sanford has 6,915 registered voters.

Commissioner A. A. McClanahan called his ditch cleaning proposal a stop-gap measure to help relieve drainage problems and said the right-of-way and easement study "would be the first step."

The city is unable to use the existing drainage machine, purchased several years ago, in many areas of the city because the city doesn't own right-of-way or easements along major open drainage ditches. What cleaning that has been done in these areas has been done by hand by city crews.

During a recent public forum on the drainage bond issue, citizens took commissioners to task for inadequate cleaning of present drainage ditches.

In other business, commissioners: Denied a Newburgh Development Co. request for increased utility service to a proposed residential development outside the city of the Old Orlando Highway. The city signed a utility service contract with Newburgh almost 16 months ago when a construction start was anticipated. What City Atty. Vernon Mize will render an opinion Tuesday on whether the city can seek to void the contract because the development hasn't gotten underway. Commissioners McClanahan and Gordon Meyer indicated if the city can legally rescind the contract they want to do so.

Appointed commissioner: Julian Stenstrom as city representative on the Seminole Community Action Inc. board of directors.

Advisory Committee to recommend a replacement for Mrs. Stella Woodhouse who has resigned. Mrs. Woodhouse is a candidate for a city commission seat in the Dec. 3 city election.

— Voted to drop consideration of franchising commercial refuse pickup to a private contractor in the city. The move came after a survey report that 18 businessmen replied to questionnaires sent a sample of 52 commercial refuse accounts. Ten did not object to a change, three were concerned that prices would increase despite city control of fees and five accounts objected to a switch to private pickup.

— Adopted a sick leave policy for city employees of 15 days a year. The new policy will allow employees with up to five years service to accrue a maximum of 30 days sick leave; employees with five to 10 years service to accrue 60 days, and employees with over 10 years service to accrue a maximum of 90 days sick leave. Terminated or retiring employees are not paid for accrued sick leave.

Bad Checks Plague Merchants

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer

Have you tried to get a check cashed lately? Pretty difficult, wasn't it, unless you went to your own bank before going on that shopping spree?

Two positive identifications are necessary before a store accepts a check — preferably a driver's license and a voter registration card. In some cases a frowning clerk whose piercing eyes seem to be looking into your soul takes a photograph.

Fly the individual who is not a licensed driver or a registered voter. He will find it next to impossible to pay by check.

Just a few years ago when this area was a close knit community Seminole County merchants accepted checks with a smile. Today, they must be leery of the checkwriter.

The merchants suffer the direct or indirect loss of some $30,000 monthly from bad or forged checks.

Predictions are that the combination of a sour economy and the approaching Christmas season will see the circulation of "bad paper" skyrocket before 1975 arrives.

PART ONE

Law abiding customers are annoyed by the rigamarole they must go through over their good checks. Merchants are downright angry at the losses they suffer and the situation is a serious one.

Sanford merchants and the local chamber of commerce have joined with the sheriff's department, Sanford Police Department and the state attorney's office to set up a bad check seminar on Nov. 14 from 8 a.m. to 10 a.m. at the C of C building to discuss ways to cut the losses.

Three local banking institutions will also be represented on the panel for discussions, according to Sanford Chamber Executive Manager Jack Horner.

The merchants are asking the banks to come up with some new way of cancelling checks so that the lengthy process of marking checks with identification information will not be a waste of time.

Merchants are having difficulty tracking down bad check passers after the bank cancelling process obliterates in many cases the identification information marked on the checks, Horner said.

Some checks returned from the banks look "like a third grader has been scribbling on them," Horner said, adding that the bankers are being asked if merchants should place the identification information someplace other than the back of the checks.

"It's a fact gathering session," Horner said, to find out what can be done so that merchants are not stung so badly and so often and to find a way to get rid of the "paperhangers" in the area.

Something also has to be done about the law that requires clerks to remember the person who cashed the bad check well enough to identify him. With the turnover in stores of clerks in the low-paying positions, Horner said, the clerk would have left the area for the next county or the next state before the case comes to court.

The type person who passes a check knowing that he does not have sufficient funds in the bank to cover it is no better than a con man, said Sheriff Sgt. Bill Vinton, who for the past 17 months has been assigned to bad check investigations.

The housewife who messes up her checkbook or the man who unwittingly passes a check with insufficient funds in the bank to cover it usually do not come to Vinton's attention. They immediately make restitution when their error is pointed out, Vinton said.

Forgeries on stolen checks is another matter, he said. Recently a group of professionals hit Seminole County and in a three-day period passed forged checks for more than $12,000.

In June, 1973, Vinton has 20 bad check cases. In August of 1973 the number declined to seven or eight, but by September had reached 120 per month.

Last month 150 bad checks were handed to Vinton for action. Each bad check averaged $100. If the money stolen in armed robberies over a 12 month period in Seminole County were totaled and compared to money gained by those passing bad checks, bad check artists would win hands down, Vinton said. It wouldn't even be close.

The public can help to cut the forgeries, Vinton said, by leaving their pocketbooks containing the family check book in unattended cars.

"As more working men are laid off, the problem with bad checks is going to increase, there's no doubt about it," Vinton said. "And when the merchants lose money from bad checks they have to make it up some way and usually this means higher prices to the law-abiding citizens."

Children are often more pleased with a simple toy adapted from something you already own than by elaborate, expensive items.

Look around your house for eye-catching colors and appealing designs, but don't neglect the safety aspect. Good playthings can often be found in the kitchen — wooden spoons, squishy plastic pan cleaners, plastic measuring spoons on a secure ring, and pots that can be beaten upon for satisfying sound effects.
