

Reapportionment

New Plan Would Throw McCollum, Chappell Into Same District

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

A new congressional reapportionment proposal that would place U.S. Rep. Bill Chappell, D-Ocala, and U.S. Rep. Bill McCollum, R-Altamonte Springs, in the same district and keep Seminole County intact is the latest plan being mulled over in Tallahassee.

State Rep. Robert Hattaway, D-Altamonte Springs, said today he will "support this concept all the way" and has pledged his support to the leadership of the reapportionment struggle.

The proposal calls for a new district composed of all of Seminole, all of Marion, all of Alachua and about half of Lake County.

Currently, Seminole is represented in two congressional districts — the 4th and the 5th.

Seven northern Seminole precincts are in the 4th District with Clay, Flagler, Putnam, St. Johns and Volusia counties and parts of Duval, Lake and Marion. U.S. Rep. Bill Chappell, D-Ocala, is the district representative, a veteran of seven consecutive terms.

Sixty-five southern Seminole precincts are included in the 5th District with Citrus, Hernando, Pasco and Sumter counties and parts of Orange and Pinellas. McCollum, a first-term congressman, is the district representative.

"Seminole is not split in the proposal," Hattaway said today. "Seminole would be one of four counties in the district. I told (State Rep. Lee) Moffitt (D-Tampa) he has my wholehearted support." Moffitt is chairman of the House Reapportionment Committee.

Hattaway said the proposal gives McCollum and Chappell, the two incumbents, and former State Sen. Buddy McKay, D-Ocala, a shot at the office.

He said the portion of Lake in the proposed district has about 105,000 residents, while Marion has 122,000, Alachua 151,000 and Seminole 179,000. The ideal congressional district is supposed to have 512,000 residents.

Meanwhile, State Rep. Bobby Brantley, R-Longwood, a member of the House congressional reapportionment subcommittee, said today he opposes the proposal and supports instead a reapportionment plan submitted by Common Cause, the citizens lobby.

The Common Cause plan, Brantley said, would place all of Seminole with a portion of Orange County. "This district would be more compact," he said.

Under the plan, Orange would be split, but the city of Orlando would be kept together, Brantley said. He said incumbent congressmen have members of their staffs lobbying the Legislature for their own preferences in district lines.

"About all of the South Florida congressmen have staff people in Tallahassee lobbying full-time," Brantley said.

He said the Common Cause proposal was drawn up by a Florida State University research student. "She was not furnished with information about any incumbent congressmen. She did it blind and that's the most fair way."

"The basic problem we on the committee are having is tracking district lines on maps presented," Brantley said, adding that during debates on state House and Senate districts the committee members were furnished with census maps tracking district lines by streets.

"The Common Cause plan looks good. The proposed district lines are straight," Brantley said.

"It's hard to say what chance the Common Cause plan has. Most of the deliberations at this point are not among the committee, but rather between (State Rep.) Sam Bell (D-Ormond Beach), chairman of the House subcommittee, and members of the Senate trying to work out a mutually agreeable plan," he added.

County Fees Are Expected To Increase

By MARK VOGLER
Herald Staff Writer

Lawyers, developers, businessmen, residents and virtually anyone paying for services from Seminole County government can expect to see an increase in the price of doing business this year.

Although property taxes constitute the bulk of the local revenue coming into the county treasury, some of the costs for services are passed directly on to the consumer through various user fees.

Eleanor Anderson, director of the county's Office of Management and Budget, said some 20 user fees charged by the county are budgeted to bring in about $87,000 this year.

The fee range for all sorts of services. Developers and homeowners are assessed charges for building permits, sewer hookups and inspections. Residents may be charged for using facilities such as parks. Lawyers may pay certain fees for making applications.

Is the county getting its fair share in terms of user fees and money it collects for the services it renders?

That's what the Office of Management and Budget is trying to find out.

County Commission Chairman Bob Sturm said this week that a major priority of the commission in preparing the 1982-83 fiscal-year budget is to determine how the county can increase revenues before considering any major property-tax increase.

"We'll be looking at any and all fees the county should be reimbursed for or the user should be charged for," he said.

"Due to the dollar crunch, we have to look at every nook and cranny and take whatever steps are necessary to collect funds that are rightfully due the county for services it administers," he added.

For example, this week County Administrator Roger Neiswender complained at a commission workshop session that all too often lately, Seminole County appears as a defendant in litigation that may not even involve the county directly. Thus it costs unnecessary tax dollars while tying up the county attorney's office.

Neiswender asked the commission to consider filing future countersuits, seeking court costs for this type of suit. The commission accepted his recommendation.

"We're eating up all our time going down there (to court) explaining the difference between the Sheriff's Department and the School Board. We might as well start getting our money back," he said.

The judicial system and the costs it contributes to the operation of county government is a major concern of the commission.

Although many of the fees and court costs are controlled by the state, a recently published judicial-fee study prepared by the Office of Management and Budget says the county could take immediate steps to lessen the financial burden.

Neiswender recommended that the commission increase court filing fees and lobby for legislation that would increase fees on a statewide level.

Building-permit revenues for the first quarter of the current fiscal year, which ends Sept. 30, are off by about $34,000 this year compared to the same period last year. County officials say that although building permits are keeping pace, many people can't afford new homes. So most of the permits are for home improvements rather than new construction.

Assistant County Attorney Jim Easton said the county could be collecting more money in user fees from developers and homeowners who use the services of the county staff in the Building and Zoning Department.

"What we're looking at right now is what the actual costs are for the county each time we handle a rezoning case or new development project. We're interested in tracking all the people who have to look at the project and see whether we are capturing the true costs of county review," said Easton.

"I can tell you right now the answer is no. And there's probably going to be some in-depth discussion on this during the upcoming budget discussions. Most taxpayers in this county would probably agree that user fees should offset the cost of doing business," he said.

Proposed By Judge Leffler

Parents' Work-Release Setup Eyed

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

Recognizing a need for a more effective way of dealing with parents jailed for delinquent child-support payments, a Seminole County circuit judge is asking the sheriff and jail officials to consider devising a work-release program for the parents.

"Judge Kenneth M. Leffler contacted Sheriff (John) Polk and expressed his concern and desire for us to look into the possibility of a work-release program that would allow the jailed parent to serve time yet also work to make the support payments," said Jail Administrator Steve Saunders. "I will be getting together with the sheriff at his convenience next week to talk about the proposal. Right now it is in the early planning stages."

Saunders said he is "complimented" that the courts are receptive to such a program, and that he and Polk hope to begin looking at a possible program soon.

Leffler said he is requesting the program to allow jailed parents to work during the day so they can continue to attempt to meet support payments.

The proposed program is only in the planning stages.

— Steve Saunders

rather than fall farther behind in meeting the obligations while they are in jail.

Saunders said one apparent obstacle to such a proposed program is if the jailed parent is unemployed. The program could possibly be implemented with ease if all parents were employed, but if the jailed parent is unemployed, finding a job for that person would be another consideration, he said.

"If we're talking about one person a month, that's one thing," Saunders said. "However, if we're talking about 30 people a month, that's something quite different."

Saunders said most people jailed for non-support spend no more than 30 days in the county jail. He added, though, that most people are released by paying all or part of the support owed.

"The proposed program is only in the planning stages," he said. "Judge Leffler's office is currently compiling information on the number of persons jailed for non-support and the types of people, information on their backgrounds. We will probably begin looking at the program a little closer once current budget preparations are completed."

New Funding Due For Approval

Waste Removal Will Continue At City Chemicals Location

The removal of chemical waste from the two-acre City Chemicals Co. storage site off Airport Boulevard in Sanford is progressing, but the $50,000 set aside in the state budget to pay the removal costs has just about run out.

State Rep. Robert Hattaway, D-Altamonte Springs, said today, however, that he has been successful in gaining approval of colleagues on a House appropriations subcommittee to include $70,000 in the upcoming budget to complete the job.

"And I don't see any problem in getting the membership of the full committee to approve the $70,000 in cleanup funds for Orange and Seminole counties," he said.

Hattaway said he discussed the problem with the subcommittee chairman, Rep. Winston Gardner, D-Titusville, who instructed the staff to prepare appropriate language for inclusion in the budget.

Sanford City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles appealed to Hattaway early in the week for an increase in state funding for the cleanup.

Under an order from Circuit Judge Kenneth Leffler, City Chemicals, of Orlando, must remove the chemical waste from the site over a 26-week period, more than half of which has expired. The removal costs of $100,000 are to be loaned to the firm by the state Department of Environmental Regulation (DER), with repayment scheduled in May 1983. City Chemicals is to pay the state 18 percent interest on the loan during the period of time.

The money is coming from the state Hazardous Management Trust Fund.

The DER has approved payment of nearly $50,000, and about $48,000 of that money has been forwarded to City Chemicals. Ann Lancaster, assistant administrator for City Chemicals, said today about half the 3,264 barrels of chemicals kept at the Sanford site have been removed so far.

"But progress is slowing down as the funds are running out," she said, adding that quite a few bills forwarded to the state have not been paid at this point. — DONNA ESTES

NATION IN BRIEF

Budget Office Predicts Much Larger Deficits

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan's budget would lead to a deficit of $121 billion next year, then steadily increasing deficits in later years, a trend directly opposite of the president's projection, the Congressional Budget Office says.

House Republican Leader Bob Michel of Illinois told reporters he expects members of Congress to try to attach deficit-reducing measures such as tax hikes or defense cuts — forming perhaps an entire budget resolution — to debt-ceiling legislation that must be passed by mid-May.

Stockman Tires Of The Fray

WASHINGTON (UPI) — After recently losing a series of fiscal arguments with the White House, budget director David Stockman was despondent and ready to resign, sources say.

On Capitol Hill, even now, there is speculation Stockman may soon be gone. The Reagan administration, however, says rumors of his imminent departure are "unfounded, and the president has full confidence in him."

Now Comes The Defense

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI) — The state rested its case against Claus von Bulow on Thursday without presenting evidence that put a hypodermic needle in his hand. It had tried to prove by circumstantial evidence von Bulow attempted to murder his wealthy wife twice by injecting insulin.

Its final witness was his stepdaughter, Princess Annie-Laurie von Auersperg Kneissl, 23. She and her brother, Prince Alexander von Auersperg, 22, were among the first to become suspicious of their stepfather.

Watt Facing Contempt

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Energy Committee believes Interior Secretary James Watt should be cited for contempt of Congress for refusing, under President Reagan's orders, to provide subpoenaed documents.

By a vote of 23-19 Thursday, the committee approved a resolution by Rep. Albert Gore Jr., D-Tenn., informing the House of Watt's refusal to comply with a Sept. 28, 1982 subpoena and recommending he be cited for contempt "to the end that he may be proceeded against in the manner and form provided by law."

Had Been Released On Probation

Freed Sex Offender Charged Again

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

History has repeated itself for a 25-year-old man who was placed on lifetime probation for sexual assault and a Sanford burglary following his release from a state treatment center for mentally disordered sexual offenders in 1980.

Walter Brian Frizzell, formerly of Sorrento, Fla., was charged Feb. 5 and 8 with two counts of burglarizing occupied dwellings and attempted sexual battery of an 8-year-old girl according to the clerk of the Alachua Circuit Court in Gainesville. Frizzell's trial has been scheduled for May.

In addition, probation violation charges have been filed against Frizzell by state probation and parole officials who say he violated two conditions imposed in 1980 by Seminole Circuit Judge Robert B. McGregor after he pleaded guilty in 1977 to similar charges in a Sanford case.

In the Sanford incident, Frizzell was charged with burglarizing a Ridge Road home on June 29, forcing an 11-year-old to commit a sexual act, police reported.

After Frizzell pleaded guilty to the 1977 burglary charge, the Seminole state attorney's office dismissed the sexual battery charge.

Frizzell was then committed by McGregor to the North Florida Evaluation and Treatment Center near Gainesville, in December, 1977 to undergo psychiatric treatment designed for mentally disordered sex offenders.

McGregor ordered the state to return Frizzell for sentencing when it was determined he was no longer a menace to society or when all rehabilitative efforts had been exhausted.

The state Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services notified the court in March, 1980, that Frizzell no longer could be defined as an offender, court records indicate.

McGregor ordered another psychiatric evaluation of Frizzell later that month. In April, Frizzell was sentenced to life on probation by McGregor, who withheld a finding of guilt in the 1977 burglary case.

Terms of the court-imposed probation barred Frizzell from using alcohol or drugs, required him to continue undergoing treatment at the Gainesville center, and prohibited contact with any female under the age of 18.

In the Gainesville case, Frizzell is charged with burglarizing a home in which police report a man entered the bedroom of an 8-year-old girl and attempted to force her to perform sexual acts. Similar to the Sanford incident, entry was gained into the home through a window.

Police said the screaming girl kicked her attacker, pulled free of his grasp and escaped. The would-be assailant fled out the window, police said.

TWO HELD ON COCAINE CHARGES

An Altamonte Springs man and an Orlando man have been released from the Seminole County jail after posting $8,000 bonds each following their arrests Wednesday evening on charges of possession and conspiracy to sell cocaine.

Jeffrey Thomas Kennedy, 23, of 706 Raymond Circle, Altamonte Springs, and Robert Ty McKewen, 30, of 115 W. Princeton St., Orlando, were arrested about 11:40 p.m. by undercover sheriff deputies at an Interstate 4 rest area near Longwood when they reportedly tried to sell one gram of cocaine for $100.

CULPRITS STEAL CRIB

Thieves stole a wooden baby crib, four shovels, and an undetermined amount of tools from a Longwood woman's home sometime between noon Tuesday and 7:30 a.m. Thursday, deputies said.

Reatha Muffley, 85, of 1715 Sunset Drive, told deputies she estimates the value of her stolen property to be about $562.

CRIB MATTRESS STOLEN

When Lynne Joyner, 22, of 121 Donegal Ave., Lake Mary, moved out of her apartment at the Squire One Apartments, 2500 Howell Branch Road, Winter Park, Sunday, she left behind a soft drink and a crib mattress. When she returned to the apartment at about 10:30 a.m. Thursday, Ms. Joyner discovered someone had broken into the apartment and stolen the property, deputies said.

The thieves entered the apartment by prying open a sliding glass door, deputies said.

WOOD-BURNING ARSON

Someone set fire to a stack of firewood behind a Sanford man's garage early this morning, police said.

Edward Barbour Jr., 41, of 211 W. 13th St., notified police and fire officials when he discovered the blaze about 4:30 a.m., police reported. The fire was extinguished by Sanford fire personnel and an investigation is continuing to determine the origin of the fire. The garage sustained only slight damage.

United Way of Seminole County's first president George Touhy moves in for a kiss from retiring executive secretary Margaret Ganas as United Way President Richard Fess looks on. See the Ourselves section in Sunday's Herald for a feature story on Mrs. Ganas.

Retiring UW Secretary Honored

"One of those 'make-do' people" is the way United Way of Seminole County President Richard Fess described Mrs. Margaret Ganas, guest of honor at a retirement dinner Thursday night at the Lake Monroe Holiday Inn in Sanford.

Fess said Mrs. Ganas, who is retiring as United Way executive secretary after 20 years service by "making-do" had kept administrative costs below 10 percent so the truly needy could benefit from UW fundraising drives.

Not one to let flowery praise go to her head, Mrs. Ganas admitted she was just "cheap."

Fess also said he had learned to listen to Mrs. Ganas over the years, adding that even though she was retiring, the UW leadership would still be calling on the "voice of experience" for help.

The guest of honor was presented with a unique gold medal necklace engraved with the United Way logo, a gift from the UW board of directors. Mrs. Ganas also received a portable radio from the various UW agencies.

A certificate of appreciation was presented to Mrs. Ganas from the Central Florida Chapter of the American Red Cross.

The dinner was attended by 74 persons who had worked with Mrs. Ganas in United Way campaigns over the years, and representatives of participating UW agencies.

She introduced several former campaign chairmen, and by comparing the campaign goals at the time they served showed how United Way has grown: Richard Keogh, 1966, $40,700; Jack Horner, 1969, $50,000; George Foster, 1972, $82,000; Len Unidas, 1973, $100,000; Joe Hartwig, 1976, $186,000; Bob Daehn, 1978, $220,000; Sheila Brown, $236,000; Dave Joswick, 1980, $260,000; and Fess, 1981, $305,000.

"It's been simply super," said Mrs. Ganas, "but the most rewarding part is the absolutely fantastic friends I've made."

Economic Hard Times Triggering Job Rush

United Press International

Americans are desperate for secure, well-paying jobs — so desperate that 100,000 of them swarmed post offices in the Miami area this week to apply for 700 positions that may not be available until 1985. Others are offering $1,000 bounties to anyone who can find them work.

The New Federalism, budget deficits and the trickle-down effect are just bureaucratic lingo to the 9.3 million unemployed Americans and the millions of others who barely earn enough to get by. The only economic cliché they understand is "hard times."

"It is not to be believed," Postal Service spokesman Steve Korner said of the Miami job rush. "We never expected anything like this."

Union autoworkers may be the most beleaguered work force in the nation. More than 250,000 have been laid off — the highest number in the industry current three-year decline — and General Motors plans to close another four plants in the next 20 months.

To avoid more layoffs, Ford's union members have been voting 4-to-1 in favor of foregoing pay raises in return for a two-year moratorium on plant closings, a profit-sharing plan and better job security.

A Hills, Iowa, man — without a steady job for the past two years — is trying to buy a good position. He's offering $1,000 to anyone who can get him a job as a coal miner in Birmingham, Ala.

Kenneth Henley, 33, formerly a bricklayer, welder and construction worker, moved to Hills five months ago to work in a meat packing plant but soon after his arrival the plant closed.

"Things are getting desperate," he said Thursday. "About the only way to get a job is to pay somebody."

Henley ran an ad for a week in The Birmingham News offering the $1,000 bounty after seeing a similar ad in the Daily Iowan.

Henley, who has been seeking laborer's jobs while his wife works in a hamburger stand to support their two sons, said he chose coal mining for two reasons.

"For one reason, it pays a decent wage," he said. "When they shut down one mine, they'll send you to another one."

Job security also was a concern of the hordes who are seeking the postal jobs expected to become available within the next two to three years in Broward and Dade counties in Florida. Extra job applications had to be flown in and drive-in windows were opened to accommodate job hunters.

"There are a wide variety and types of people in the lines," Korner said. "Retirees who can no longer find it comfortable to live on a pension, people in the airline business ... people looking for jobs who aren't happy with present employment."

"I just came from a line and one guy was a lawyer. He said he wanted a good job with security and benefits."

Henley's newspaper ad has yet to attract an offer but a 23-year-old man secured a job in New York City by advertising himself on late-night television in a 30-second commercial last month. Vinny Rokus is now an advertising executive.

"Things are getting desperate. About the only way to get a job is to pay somebody."

— Kenneth Henley, unemployed construction worker

"It was sort of my last shot to do anything in this field," he said. "I am satisfied with the results considering the job situation. I think I've raised some eyebrows."

With encouragement from Gov. Vic Attyeh, newspapers in Oregon offered the jobless free classified ads to promote their availability. Some newspapers reported spectacular results.

"We've had wonderful reaction to it," Paul Raffin, classified manager of the Eugene Register-Guard, said. "We've had quite a few people find work through the ads. I've got probably 25 people who took the time to thank us."

School May Soon Get Even Tougher

TALLAHASSEE, (UPI) — Students will have a tougher time graduating from the state's high schools if Florida adopts strict statewide course requirements recommended Thursday by the Governor's Commission on Secondary Schools.

The commission wants to reimpose a system of statewide standards that was abandoned several years ago when responsibility for determining graduation requirements was turned over to county school boards.

"Our evaluation of the moment is that doesn't work," said Sen. Jack Gordon, D-Miami Beach, who offered a basic platform of requirements, designed to put Florida in the top 25 percent of the nation's schools in resources and performance by 1985.

The recommendations, which mandate strict English, science and mathematics course loads, will go to Gov. Bob Graham, Commissioner of Education Ralph Turington and the Legislature by October.

Graham told commission members at the meeting's start that he was concerned about an erosion in science, math and writing skills.

"I believe in a management style that says what we're concerned with is the end result — the achievement of students," Graham said.

The commission unanimously approved the following requirements:

- Four years of English composition and literature (journalism, yearbook and debate would not count toward fulfilling this requirement).
- Three years of math.
- Three years of science (two of the three in laboratory sciences).
- Three years of social studies (including American history, world history and economic principals).
- One semester each of health, physical education, practical arts, fine arts and computer skills.

during the month of March. Clothing can also be dropped off at the Art Brown office at 2562 Park Drive. Daus, who moved to Sanford six months ago, explained, "I thought it was time I did something for the community."

KKK Members Mobbed
By Black Demonstrators

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — Bill Wilkinson, imperial wizard of the Ku Klux Klan, was virtually run out of town Thursday by an infuriated crowd of counter-demonstrators, mostly young blacks belonging to an Islamic organization.

Six robed and hooded KKK members, headed by Wilkinson, of Denham Springs, La., and about six others carrying Confederate flags and placards had planned to rally in front of the Duval County Courthouse to protest the firing last week of KKK "kleagle" Robert McMullen.

McMullen, 31, a temporary employee in the sheriff's records section, was fired by Jacksonville Sheriff Dale Carson after he appeared at a news conference and identified himself as the local KKK leader.

Shooting Ruled 'Justifiable'

GAINESVILLE (UPI) — An Alachua County grand jury concluded Thursday that the shooting of a black youth by a white undercover policeman, which touched off two days of racial disturbances last December, was "justifiable use of force."

About 250 to 300 black youths reacted to the shooting Dec. 9 by throwing rocks, bottles and other objects at white motorists passing through the area, which is close to downtown Gainesville.

SCC Seeking Federal Funds For Occupational Ed Programs

Seminole Community College's General Advisory Committee for Occupational Education has approved requests for $794,030 in federal funding of several occupational education programs.

Included in the request is $42,000 to help get women into non-traditional fields.

Also included are requests for funding for several vocational programs, disadvantaged and handicapped students, a work-study program, food and nutrition training, home economics, research and curriculum development, vocational guidance and counseling, and implementing competency requirements for non-credit vocational students. SCC has an open entrance-open exit policy allowing the vocational student to begin at any time, progress at his or her own speed and exit when the student's level of performance meets the competency requirements established by the college in conjunction with the various industries involved.

The funding requests now go to the SCC Board of Trustees and then to the State Department of Education in Tallahassee.

The 19-member General Advisory Committee was host Wednesday morning to the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce Education Committee at a joint breakfast meeting at the SCC Food Service Facility Cookery Building. The breakfast was prepared and served by the Food Service and Culinary Arts students and Russell Moncrief, director of Occupational Education.

Chamber President Jack Horner is chairman of the General Advisory Committee which is made up of members representing a broad spectrum of the community and appointed by the SCC Board of Trustees.

There are a total of 32 different advisory committees involving 400 persons from the community with each vocational program having its own advisory group.

Williams Called 'Mad Dog Killer'

ATLANTA (UPI) — Prosecutor Jack Mallard told the jury in final arguments today that Wayne Williams was a "maddog killer," a Jekyll-and-Hyde personality driven to mass murder by the spur of his own failures.

"The man's living in a dream world," the icy-voiced chief inquisitor said at the outset of the state's summation in the complex, nine-week-long trial in the Atlanta child slayings. "He's a habitual, pathological liar."
"He fancies himself flying F-4 jets and driving race cars," Mallard told the jury of eight blacks and four whites, but "he's a non-achiever — he's failed at everything he's ever tried."
Williams, he said, fit the personality profile of a mass murderer — "literate, smart, cunning."
And Mallard quickly reminded the jury that testimony had shown that in the eight months since Williams' arrest, "there have been no such killings of black males around Atlanta's streets and rivers."

Vietnam Bugaboo

The "Vietnam syndrome," a malady commonly defined as excessive national timidity caused by the debacle in Southeast Asia, lingers.

Witness the extraordinary uproar over the fact that five members of the U.S. military training mission in El Salvador carried M16 rifles recently while supervising construction of a bridge in an unsecured area.

The servicemen's commanding officer, Army Lt. Col. Harry Melander, was promptly relieved and sent back to the United States. Deane Hinton, U.S. ambassador to El Salvador, felt compelled to call a news conference to reiterate that no American serviceman in El Salvador was authorized to carry anything more lethal than a sidearm.

And President Reagan himself ordered an investigation of why the five instructors were carrying automatic rifles.

On its face, the whole affair was the quintessential tempest in a teapot. U.S. military personnel in El Salvador know full well that they are there to teach and not to fight. They also know that a pistol is virtually worthless as a defensive weapon should they be attacked by guerrillas armed with automatic weapons.

It's true that embassy and Pentagon ground rules for El Salvador specify sidearms only, and therefore the five Americans violated orders. However, they can hardly be blamed for wanting something more useful outside the confines of a Salvadoran army training base.

The real issue here seems to be the Vietnam bugaboo. If American instructors start carrying M16s, that means they will be able to fight. If they fight, some will become casualties. Casualties might lead to escalation, and, so some apparently fear, before anyone realizes what is happening, thousands of American troops will be pouring into El Salvador to wage a protracted, no-win war.

That fear strikes us as overwrought to say the least. But such is the public apprehension over anything that could lead to "another Vietnam," that five Americans carrying M16s becomes a major policy headache for the Reagan administration.

The truth is that almost any location in El Salvador could properly be considered "unsecure" with the possible exception of Ambassador Hinton's armored embassy building. And, despite strict rules limiting American military instructors to training duties only, the possibility that some may become victims of terrorist attacks cannot be overlooked.

That it was apparently necessary to send the five Americans out on the Pan American highway to supervise construction of a new bridge in Usulután Province is a case in point. They were not there to fight, but they might well have been attacked.

The U.S. Marines who guard the embassy in San Salvador city are armed with M16s, M-60 machine guns, and shotguns. Maybe it's time to permit those who run even greater risks to carry minimal insurance for their own safety.

Budget: Fact Or Fiction?

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The Office of Management and Budget and its professional employees have long taken pride in their hard-earned reputation around this town for integrity and competence.

That reputation has been severely damaged by the release of the proposed federal budget for fiscal 1983. Many see that document as evidence of the total politicization of the budget-making process under the Reagan administration.

As a result, considerable tension has arisen within the agency between the professionals who have served under several presidents and their politically appointed superiors.

Critics contend that the budget figures and the underlying economic assumptions are so farfetched that the people who produced them must be either incompetent or, to put it delicately, less than honest. Well, the OMB professionals want it known that they are as competent as ever.

The budget forecasts deficits of $92 billion in fiscal 1983, $83 billion in fiscal 1984 and $71 billion in fiscal 1985. These projections are based on estimates of spending and revenues that many argue have little basis in reality. Examples abound. To cite a few:

— Spending for fiscal 1982 (the current fiscal year) has been estimated at $725 billion, although most knowledgeable forecasters now are putting actual outlays for the year at between $740 billion and $745 billion.

Yet, OMB has estimated fiscal 1983 outlays at $758 billion — only about $13 billion to $18 billion more — despite continuing inflation and substantially higher defense outlays. Meeting this projection would require billions of dollars' worth of cuts in non-defense spending.

— The budget estimates that Social Security outlays will rise by about 2 percent in fiscal 1984. Yet, Social Security officials estimated that the program will grow by 6 percent annually just from the addition of new growth rate to 2 percent in fiscal 1984 would mean not only no cost-of-living adjustments but an actual cutback in benefits.

— The budget predicts that the administration's changes in the Aid to Families with Dependent Children program will save $1.1 billion in fiscal 1982 and even more in fiscal 1983.

But nationwide surveys by the American Public Welfare Association put the actual savings at about $400 million. This estimate does not take into account increases in other welfare programs resulting from the decline in AFDC benefits; neither does it consider that additional AFDC payments may be necessary if the recession drags on through the entire fiscal year as many economists predict.

In commenting on OMB's budget, one middle-manager who has remained at the agency through four administrations said with a sigh, "The Government Printing Office should list it for sale in the fiction section."

Missing $2 Million For Needy Probed

WASHINGTON — The cruelest winter in years is draining many states of the federal funds that have been allotted to keep the poor from freezing to death. Every available dollar is needed to buy firewood for the poor and to help them pay utility bills. It is literally a matter of life or death.

Yet $2 million of this vital money seems to have disappeared in New Mexico. The Health and Human Services Department and the FBI are trying to find out where the money went.

The state was granted $9 million in federal fuel-assistance funds. The money was entrusted to the governor's Office of Community Affairs, which has been headed since 1967 by Herman Grace. Federal investigators in tracing allegations that some of the missing $2 million went into such private charities as:

- Refurbishing the home of Grace's girlfriend, converting the garage into a den and landscaping the property;
- Building a greenhouse for his mother;
- Repairing the porch on the house where Grace lives, which is owned by an administrative assistant to Gov. Bruce King;
- Refurbishing three apartments owned by the state agency's auditor, and Florida Hospital Administrator Edward H. Weiss is bidding farewell to the Sunshine State and returning to the golden sands of California and a challenging career.

The 55-year-old, Argentina-born hospital administrator has accepted a position as chief executive officer of the San Joaquin Valley Community Hospital in Bakersville, Calif. The four-year veteran administrator of Florida Hospital-Altamonte will vacate his post on February 27, leaving for California March 9 to assume his new duties March 15.

The California community hospital is, like the Florida Hospitals in Orlando and Altamonte, owned and operated by the 7th Day Adventist Church.

"I've enjoyed working in Florida," Weiss said. "I began working for the hospital in Orlando on Jan. 1, 1974 and transferred to the Altamonte hospital in February, 1978 to head the expansion program. It's been a very rewarding time and I have enjoyed the spirit of cooperation with my staff, the community and Altamonte Springs commissioners."

The Altamonte Springs commission Tuesday night presented Dr. Weiss with a plaque commending him for his outstanding leadership in civic matters and expressed their sadness in seeing him leave but wished him every success as he takes the helm at the California hospital.

"Ed Weiss has been an outstanding civic leader and one who has offered community service in every way possible," said Commissioner Lee Constantine at Tuesday's meeting. "I've known Ed for several years and he has always been a good neighbor to this city."

"Without Ed Weiss, the city might not have been able to keep an old house for restoration by our historical society, nor would we possibly have a historical society," said Commissioner Cheney Colardo. "Ed was very instrumental in letting the home stay on hospital property for at least two years which will allow the society to make plans for the old home's restoration and moving it to another site. We thank you, Ed and you will be missed."

"It's sad to leave old friends and acquaintances but I am not a stranger to California," Weiss said. "Several years ago I lived there for about two years and I have a daughter, Nancy, who is a nurse living near Los Angeles."

Weiss and his wife, Ruth, who is also a registered nurse, have two sons in addition to their California-based daughter. The Weiss' oldest son is attending Andrews University in Michigan studying engineering while 16-year-old Willie lives with his parents and will be moving with them to California.

Weiss, who has four sisters and a brother living in Argentina, and another brother in Florida, said he came to the United States in 1958 to write his college thesis in history.

"When I got here I couldn't speak any English and I still have an accent that will probably be with me for the rest of my life," he said. "You know you can't teach an old dog new tricks."

"When I came to the United States though I had planned to finish my thesis in history and teach but changed my major to business," Weiss said. "I worked in the hospitals and eventually became an administrator."

Under Weiss' direction, the Florida Hospital-Altamonte has grown from about 65 patients to about 180 patients being treated daily. The California hospital is "about the same size as the Altamonte hospital," he added.

Weiss' successor is Royce Thompson, who has served for 1½ years at the Florida Hospital-Orlando as a vice-president. Thompson will take the helm at the Altamonte hospital March 1, Weiss said.

The bear came over the mountain!

Decade Of Deflation

LONDON, England — Cold realism about the state of the world always is a scarce commodity. This is especially true today when national leaders speak in the language of yesterday.

If a visit to Britain and the Continent teaches anything, it is that the conditions of the post-war period no longer exist. No longer is there a consensus within the NATO alliance. And Western institutions for economic cooperation are in a state of virtual collapse.

The outlook is grim. Britain is perilously weak. France is in the hands of socialist ideologues who are nationalizing French industry and supplying Nicaragua's Marxist regime with rockets. The West Germans are moving to the left, fearful of any confrontation with the Soviet Union. Italy is in a state of almost total economic disarray. Once prosperous countries of Western Europe, such as Belgium and West Germany are experiencing high unemployment. With worsening economic conditions in Western Europe is likely to come more leftism.

In this situation, Secretary of State Alexander Haig's Europe-first policy seems dangerously obsolete. As the poet William Butler Yeats said, "the center will not hold." If Western Europe isn't dying, it certainly is very sick. The United States, for all its desire to sustain old allies, is unlikely to be able to revive a moribund alliance. The will to preserve freedom is very weak in Western Europe today. A willingness to face the realities of national and international life is hard to find.

To be sure, there are realists here and there from whom Americans can learn. One is Francis Pym, leader of the Conservatives in the British House of Commons.

In a grimly realistic speech in late January, Mr. Pym warned of the danger of discussing problems in the language of the 1960s. He referred to "the language of full employment, rising living standards and ever-improving social services."

This language, he noted, was the "natural product of increasing wealth, of post-war economic growth, when it was not unreasonable for people to look forward to ever-rising standards of living."

That period is behind us now—on both sides of the Atlantic. We live in a decade of deflation—deflated opportunities. The continuing oil shock has played a major role in reducing the wealth and confidence of Europe, even as it has impaired the economic strength of the United States.

Europe, like America, is paying tribute to the oil-rich countries of North Africa and the Middle East. The colossal transfer of wealth to hostile nations in OPEC is continuous, with grievous effect on the nations of the Western alliance. Unquestionably, Europe and America made a near-suicidal error when they allowed the oilfields of Saudi Arabia and Libya to escape Western control. This failure of nerve, vision and muscle has cost the Western peoples dearly. It may lead to the downfall of Europe. The Europeans are in the process of losing much of what they gained in wealth and security over 400 years. Much of Western Europe is in danger of falling to the low estate of Italy or Portugal over the next two decades.

As for the United States, it is responsible for much of the trouble afflicting Western Europe today. In the post-war period, it made a terrible mistake in insisting that the Europeans make a hasty departure from their colonies.

Chinese Discovery Doubted

By TERRANCE W. MCGARRY

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A Santa Barbara university professor has cast doubt on the theory that Chinese mariners discovered California centuries before Columbus was born or Sir Francis Drake gazed on San Francisco Bay.

The stone anchors discovered offshore from the Palos Verdes peninsula in 1975, interpreted by others as proof of the "Chinese connection," prove no such thing, said Frank J. Frost, professor of seafaring at UC Santa Barbara.

Among other evidence, the stones appear to come from California, not China, Frost wrote in the January edition of Archaeology magazine.

They may well have been left behind by Chinese boatmen, he said — not ancient mariners, but Chinese immigrants who fished California waters during the past century.

"At this point it seems most likely that all of the Palos Verdes stones are associated with the nineteenth-century California fishing industry, either as anchors, moorings or devices concerned in some way with the manipulation of nets," Frost wrote.

The best physical evidence for the Chinese discovery theory was provided by the stones, found in 1975 about 16 feet underwater off Palos Verdes, a peninsula that juts into the Pacific from Los Angeles.

About 20 of them were found by divers Wayne Baldwin and Bob Meistrell, and some were later brought to the surface and displayed in a Redondo Beach diving equipment shop.

They were obviously shaped by human hands, and most had holes drilled through them.

A Chinese maritime historian identified them as anchors, used for centuries by the Chinese who went to sea in junks.

In turn, two Southern California researchers — UCLA archaeologist William Clewlow and University of San Diego anthropologist James Moriarty III — interpreted the find as confirming ancient legends that Chinese sailors had discovered California.

The anchors appeared to be 500 to 1,000 years old, they said, perhaps left by the wreck of a Chinese trading vessel. In 1980, Moriarty and another researcher, Larry Pierson, reported in The Anthropological Journal of Canada that after study of the anchors, "It seems clear to us that Asiatic vessels reached the new world in pre-Columbian times."

Moriarty was quoted by interviewers as saying that the Chinese may have influenced the cultural development of American Indians, particularly the Indian civilizations of Mexico.

Frost takes issue with many of their conclusions. It would be "most peculiar" for Buddhists to try to make religious converts, he says.

of the hardest hit by the Reagan's administration's budget cuts: the Environmental Protection Agency.

Programs have been cut drastically; many EPA employees have been let go. The resulting morale problem was even the subject of a sequence in the satirical comic strip, "Doonesbury," which showed a despairing career employee on a window ledge. He was talked in off the ledge by a promise that things would get better — and was promptly fired.

Oblivious to the RIF's (reductions in force) and budget cuts, James Sanderson, acting assistant administrator for policy and resource management, has spent more than $8,000 gussaying up his suite of offices on the 12th floor of EPA headquarters.

Interestingly, Sanderson's nomination for the job is in some trouble in the Senate, where investigators are looking into charges that he took action favorable to his Denver clients while he was an EPA consultant last summer. This hasn't stopped Sanderson from settling in to stay. EPA sources say he exerts great influence over the agency's boss, Anne Gorsuch, whose suite is right next door.

had accounting errors and bookkeeping problems, and that Grace had not always followed government regulations. Perhaps significantly, he referred to Grace as "the former director."

With refreshing candor, Sanderoff also said, "If an agency has federal dollars at the end of its fiscal year, it is standard practice in a bureaucracy to spend it rather than allow it to revert back to the federal government."

Grace was placed on paid administrative leave by Gov. King when the charges first surfaced in a "preliminary" audit released by HHS Inspector General Richard Kusserow.

Footnote: After an intensive effort to locate Grace for his comment, his niece advised my office that I "should just run the story without talking to Herman because nobody knows where he is." The niece, incidentally, is Linda Kehoe, one of Gov. King's closest aides.

ROOM AT THE TOP: Two days after his inauguration, President Reagan issued a stern warning to his appointees: Don't throw money around on office renovations and other perks of high office.

The fatherly injunction has been ignored by the No. 3 official in an agency that's been one

Miss Moore, W.F. Brown Repeat Vows

Carolyn Peacha Moore and William Francis Brown were united in Holy Matrimony, Feb. 20, at 7 p.m., at Holy Cross Episcopal Church, Sanford. The Rev. LeRoy Soper performed the candlelight and double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Sanford Mayor and Mrs. Lee P. Moore. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. William Andrew Brown, Tangerine, Fla.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her vows an ivory gown of imported Chantilly lace over a satin lining. Fashioned with a high neckline, fitted sleeves and lowered waistline, the gown featured a sheer yoke and bodice accented with beaded silk embroidered schiffli lace. The A-line skirt extended into a graceful chapel train. A wreath of flowers and schiffli lace held her embroidered veil, imported from France. She carried a cascade of ivory tiara roses, stephanotis and miniature English ivy showered with picot streamers.

Jere Moore attended her sister as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Holly Kurimal, Carol Crain, Druetta Sellers, Leslie Park and Pidge Boyle, sister of the bridegroom. Their gowns were fashioned of rouge satin with sabrina necklines, long slim sleeves and softly gathered skirts. They wore Grecian headpieces of cranberry baby's breath, trailing English ivy and ribbons with Cara Mia roses added to the honor attendant's headpiece. Each carried a cascade of ivory Cymbidium orchids, Cara Mia roses and ivy.

Andrew E. Brown served his brother as best man. Ushers were Thomas Moore, brother of the bride and James Jahna. Groomsmen were John Hood, Brian Morris and Mike Stanley.

Laura Lovell, niece of the bride and flowergirl, wore a long candlelight satin gown with a lace overskirt. Her headpiece matched the attendants and she carried an ivory basket filled with cranberry and ivory rose petals.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Moore chose a pale blue silk chiffon gown designed with a pleated ruffled collar, a Vneckline and long ruffled sleeves, enhanced with a corsage of white gladioli tinged in blue.

Mrs. Brown, the bridegroom's mother, wore a pale pink crepe de chine gown fashioned with cap sleeves and an accordion pleated skirt. Her corsage was a pale pink Cymbidium orchid with blue and silver accents.

Following the ceremony, the bride's parents entertained at a reception at Maison Et Jardin, Altamonte Springs.

The newlyweds departed on a wedding trip to Eleuthra in the Bahama Islands. Their new home will be 5259 Willow Links, Sarasota, where the bridegroom is a salesman for Sunniland Corp.

A Garden View Of "Nutcracker" Dance Of The Flowers

By DORIS DIETRICH
OURSELVES Editor

Sanford Garden Club members and guests went to the ballet via interpretative floral designs at the February meeting.

Mrs. Frank Woodruff III, Sanford, made eight arrangements to the music of Tchaikovsky's immortal "Nutcracker," while the viewers observed spellbound.

"Fantastic and highly entertaining," a member said enthusiastically.

Mrs. Woodruff, an accredited flower show judge who is on the National Council of Accredited Instructors for Flower Show Schools, says she enjoys her work. Her deft hands moved in time to the classical music as she turned out the eight arrangements in about 40 minutes. Each design interpreted a movement from the popular ballet which is repeated around the world every Christmas.

Mrs. Woodruff's interpretation of the toy nutcracker — "stiff and artificial" — was created from standard mums accented with red glitter and arranged on a painted black and white platform of dock material against a red satin background.

As the music moved on swiftly to another segment of the ballet, so did Mrs. Woodruff's nimble fingers. She was assisted by Mrs. Charles R. Rose, Maitland

PAPI Rally Sets Mood For Action By Citizens

The PAPI (People Against Power Intrusion) Rally attracted hundreds of concerned Geneva citizens to hear Margaret Canimack, president of the Owners of Seminole County, Inc., Attorney Abbott M. Herring, Seminole County Commissioner Sandra Glenn, and State Rep. Bobby Hattaway (D-Altamonte Springs) address the power tower issue.

The flag flapped in the breeze at Fort Lane Park while the various speakers climbed the flatbed platform to take the microphone.

Rep. Hattaway commended the people of Geneva for having "an organization that can get something done." He pledged his support to the people of Seminole County saying, "We don't know what will happen in Tallahassee, but we do know we are in a fight." He continued, "If four or five of your spokesmen will sit down in Tallahassee with me, the governor and his cabinet, and then if you will go in force to Tallahassee, we will have a chance to win the fight."

Rep. Hattaway commented that the best fact going for the citizens of Geneva in their fight against the power lines is the testimony given before the state hearing officer several weeks ago regarding the endangered Dusty Seaside

Tallahassee including Gov. Bob Graham, Lt. Gov. Wayne Mixson, Secretary of State George Firestone, Atty. Gen. Jim Smith, Commissioner of Education Ralph D. Turlington, Treasurer and Insurance Commissioner Bill Gunter, Comptroller Gerald Lewis, and Commissioner of Agriculture Doyle Conner.

PAPI workers were taking pledges for financial support and circulating a bus reservation list for the trip to Tallahassee.

To emphasize the height of the proposed power towers, PAPI members released about 30 helium filled balloons which had been attached to a long string. The balloons ascended until they were as tall as a 10-story building!

From the twin American flags on Highway 46 signaling the way to the park, to the songs played by Dino Lorenzo on his dulcimer as the meeting drew to a close, the mood of the rally was definitely patriotic.

The rally was what this country was founded for — the rights of its citizens to assemble and the right for them to be heard by the government officials who represent them.

If you forgot the saying of Patrick Henry, "Give me liberty, or give me death," this rally was a source of memorable inspiration.

Simas Wins Excellence Award

Rita A. Simas of The Aerospace Corporation has received an Air Force Space Division Excellence Award.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Simas of Sanford, and was graduated from Seminole Community College with an A.A. degree in mathematics in 1971.

Space Division Vice Commander Maj. Gen. Gerald K. Hendricks cited Miss Simas' outstanding contributions to the cost portion of an Air Force Mission Application Evaluation Study on Space Laser Systems requested by Congress.

Aerospace is a nonprofit firm, with general offices in El Segundo, Calif., that performs technical, scientific and engineering services, primarily for the Air Force.

As senior cost estimator in Aerospace's Defense Development Division, Miss Simas directed a comprehensive evaluation of system options, development plans and program costs associated with a proposed Space Based Laser Weapon System capable of performing a variety of critical defense missions.

The results of this study were instrumental in Congress' decision to allocate fiscal year 1982 defense funds for Space Based Laser Systems so Space Division may begin comprehensive development planning.

Miss Simas has since been promoted to manager of the Aerospace Cost Analysis Office that supports the Space Division Space Defense Systems Program. She earned her bachelor's degree ('73) in mathematics from the University of Central Florida and master's degree ('75) in operations research from the University of Virginia.

3 Babies In 23 Months May Be Record Breaker

DEAR ABBY: Several years ago, a woman in Jonesboro, Ill., wrote: "Dear Abby: I gave birth to three babies in 23 months and one week. Dates of birth are July 19, 1956; June 21, 1957; and Aug. 26, 1958. I was wondering if I'd broken a record. — Busy Mom"

Your response was: "Dear Mom: Perhaps a mother who has delivered twins or triplets may have topped you, but for individual births, I'd say you were out in front again."

Well, Abby, I have that lady beat. Is there a prize? I gave birth to three babies in 23 months and one week. Dates of birth are: Aug. 23, 1959; June 25, 1960; and Aug. 15, 1961. My real name is Nina Beckman, but you can sign me

EXHAUSTED IN PLATTSMOUTH, NEB. DEAR EXHAUSTED: Unless someone else writes in to top your record, you win. There's no prize, but if I were to offer one, it would be a two-week vacation at your local Holiday Inn. Alone!

DEAR ABBY: I'll bet you never heard a problem like this before. I've been married for 26 years. I am 45 and my husband is 55. We have three grown children. I was a model and still do some modeling in addition to holding down a part-time secretarial job.

A few years ago, my husband started to go bald, so he used some of my dark-brown eye makeup to cover the bald spot. The balder he got, the more makeup he used to cover it up. It became more and more obvious until people began to look at him and snicker. It's terribly embarrassing to me, but he thinks it looks better than a bald spot.

I hate to go anywhere with him because he looks so foolish. Last year he started to lose his teeth! Now he has only one tooth left in his mouth! Abby, can you imagine a man going around like that in this day and age? He has insurance where he works, but he won't go to a dentist. With no teeth, he looks like an old man.

Our son announced last week that he is getting married later this summer and he asked his father to fix himself up for the wedding. (Quit painting his head and get some teeth.) My husband flatly refused, saying, "I'm happy. Why should I?"

I love my husband, but I can't go on this way. Please give me some suggestions.

NOWHERE TO TURN

DEAR NOWHERE: Let your husband know that you love him and want to be proud of him, and if he wants to hide his baldness, there are some wonderful hairpieces available. Also tell him that going toothless is bad for his general health and makes him look old and unattractive. Beg, plead, bargain, do whatever you can to convince him. If he turns a deaf ear, please get him to a doctor for a complete physical checkup.

DEAR ABBY: "Sleeping with Sidney" wrote to ask if there was anything wrong with a grown woman sleeping with a baby blanket she had had since day one.

That letter reminded me of my own situation. I'm nearly 30, have been married for 10 years, and I still sleep with my tattered little baby blanket.

A few years ago I asked a therapist if there was anything wrong with this habit, and she asked me a few simple questions: Is it hurting anyone? Is it harming you? Do you enjoy it?

The conclusion: If it isn't hurting anyone, isn't harming you and you enjoy it, it's OK.

NUFF SAID IN BREMERTON, WASH.

DEAR NUFF: And well said. Those three questions could be applied to any activity about which one has doubts. And one more should be added: Is it legal?

HOROSCOPE

By BENNICE BEDE OSOL

For Saturday, February 27, 1982

YOUR BIRTHDAY
February 27, 1982
This coming year you could be quite lucky in projects or enterprises that are glamorous or imaginative. Look for opportunities in areas which have these elements.
PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
Continue to be extremely prudent financially. Those impulses which could cause you to spend more than you should aren't totally subdued.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
Normally you're pretty good at gauging the abilities and limitations of others, but today you may expect things from them which they're not capable of producing.
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
Today you may be more cognizant of what others have and fail to be aware of your own blessings. Don't let material trappings make you discontented.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
One of your finer attributes is to always give the other guy the benefit of the doubt. Today, however, this quality may desert you. You could judge harshly without a good reason.
SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
Your natural inclinations today will be to help those who need you, but you must be careful not to bite off more than you can chew and jeopardize your own status.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
Instead of discovering too late that spending money won't guarantee fun times today, try to decide on inexpensive ways you and pals can while away the hours.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
Little disagreements can be blown out of proportion today if you rehash issues on which you and another do not see eye-to-eye. Select less volatile topics.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
Allow yourself adequate time today if there are a number of errands you have to run. You could get careless if you feel pressed.

Hitting The Bottle Troubles His Heart

Dr. Lamb
DEAR DR. LAMB— I have a friend who has been in the hospital for heart failure. He had swelling of his feet and ankles and even his belly was swollen. The worst part is that he had shortness of breath. He is too young to have heart trouble since he is only 32. It turned out that his heart was damaged from drinking. He does drink a lot, often more than a pint of whiskey a day. The doctors said the alcohol had damaged his heart muscle and caused it to get weak. That is why it failed.

against the formation of fatty-cholesterol deposits that lead to heart attacks. You can achieve the same results in more healthy ways through diet and exercise.

Your friend will have a recurrence of his problem if he returns to the bottle. That is a usual problem. I am sending you The Health Letter number 146, Alcohol Can Be Dangerous To Your Health, which I hope you encourage him to read. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Of course while he was in the hospital he couldn't drink and his heart recovered. All of the swelling and shortness of breath disappeared. I would like to know if his heart is completely recovered or if he will have the same thing again.

Also, I have read that alcohol protects a person against heart attacks. In that case, how come he had heart trouble?

DEAR READER— In the first place alcohol is a tissue poison. It can produce "alcoholic myocarditis" with changes in the heart muscle that can be seen with microscopic studies. In addition, alcohol affects important nutritional factors that lead to thiamine deficiencies and beri-beri heart disease. Prolonged excess use of alcohol can deplete the potassium stores in skeletal and heart muscle weakening the muscles involved.

DEAR DR. LAMB— Some time ago you had a question in your column about Paget's disease of the bone. Is there any connection between Paget's disease of the bone and Paget's disease of the breast?

DEAR READER— None whatever except being spelled alike. Paget's disease of the bone is degeneration and regeneration of bone tissue. It is not cancer. It can often be treated with calcitonin, a hormone. Other medicines are also used.

Paget's disease of the breast involves the nipple and surrounding area of the breast and may extend to the deeper structures of the breast. It is a form of breast cancer.

Now, there is a third form of Paget's disease, unrelated to the other two. It is Paget's disease of the vulva and may be a pre-cancerous lesion— something like skin cancer.

WIN AT BRIDGE

elect to open one diamond, the American South came into action with a 15 point no-trump North cue bid two diamonds to see if South could show a four card major. South bid three clubs and North had to bid a rather unhappy three no-trump.

East won the spade lead with the singleton ace and shifted to the queen of clubs. South won and led a spade. West took his king and decided to kill any later spade entry to dummy by continuing the suit.

South won with dummy's 10 and led a heart to his queen. He continued with a second heart and was delighted to see West's jack appear. He knocked out the heart ace and was now sure of two spades, three hearts, two diamonds and two clubs. He couldn't get three diamonds because he had to overtake his queen with dummy's king.

The result was lucky indeed, but over the years luck seems to favor declarers who bid close no-trump games.

At the other table the American East passed and North and South just got to a comfortable two diamonds. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Dancing Their Way Into Your Heart

Ballet Guild's Annual Concert

By DORIS DIETRICH
OURSELVES Editor

Ballet Guild of Sanford-Seminole will dance its way into the 14th annual concert Saturday and Sunday in the auditorium of Lake Mary High School.

The "little ballet company" that skeptics projected "wouldn't make it" has survived and flourished through community support.

Hundreds of dancers have auditioned to dance with the prestigious company. Many dancers have not been disciplined to the fast pace and rigorous schedule required of a company dancer. There is not much leisure time for these dancers who learn and rehearse sometimes seven days a week.

The Rye sisters, Valerie Weld and Miriam Wright, (Miss Valerie and Miss Miriam to their students of dance) have been the artistic directors, choreographers, and backbone of the guild since its inception. You would think the sisters would run out of ideas, year in and year out, but they always come up with spectacular innovations.

And this year's concert is no different. "Times and Tempos" is designed "to captivate audiences and leave them wanting more," Miss Valerie promises enthusiastically.

In speaking of the repertoire included in the concert, Miss Valerie said, "When our own sterling ballet company of Seminole County decides to do an evening of dances from its repertory, then you have fireworks, fun, beauty and lively and lulling excitement in motion."

"Times and Tempos" will feature 24 company dancers of the Ballet Guild complemented by eight handsome and talented male guest dancers.

The male guests are: Ed Korgun, Richard Ferguson, Marty Brister, Bob Meyers, Larry Deal, Danny Wallace, Kanny Kaleel and Donny Mann.

For the first time in 14 years, Miss Miriam will guest dance with the company.

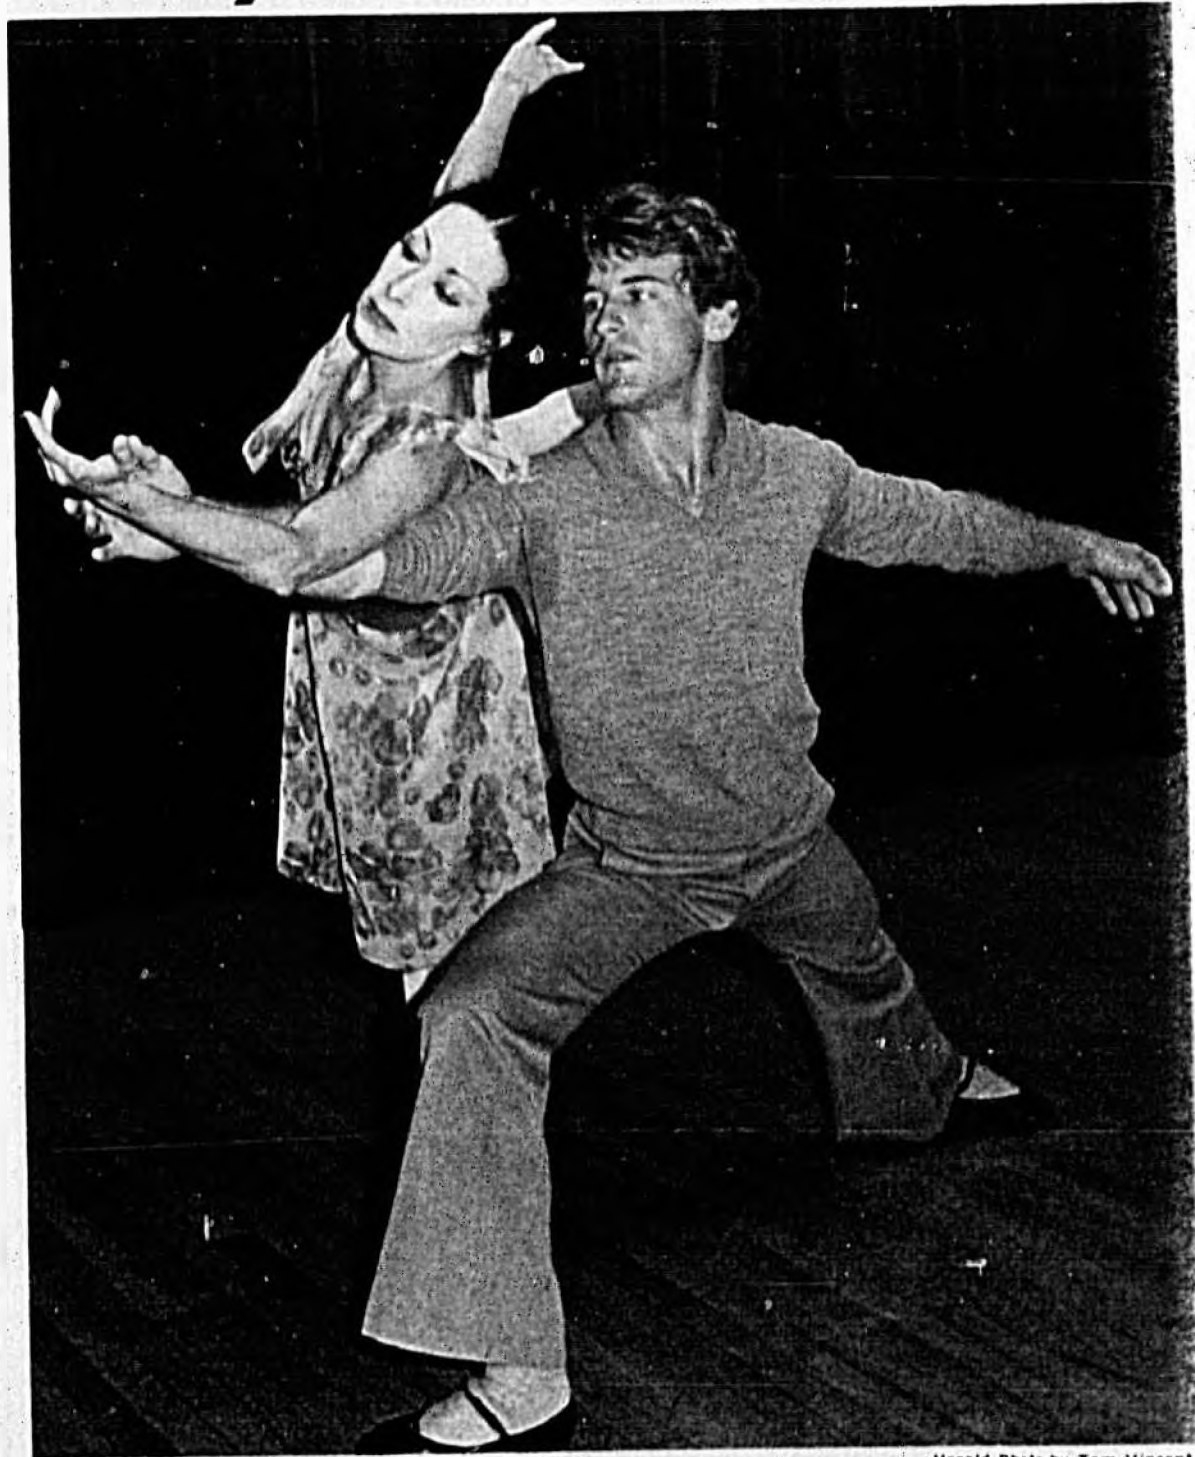

"Memories," a poignant pas de deux comes to life as an older couple remember the days of their youth. Miss Miriam and Marty Brister will perform in this guest spot to music by Neil Diamond.

"It has been a thrilling experience," Miss Miriam says, "and completely different. I love it. I have run the full spectrum — from dancer to teacher to dancer. I can't wait. I am looking forward to the concert — as a dancer this time. I think it is one of the best repertoires we have ever had."

A sunny afternoon in the park, "Summer Suite," will open the concert which will depict a romantic glimpse of days gone by — Ziegfeld Follies style. Nine males and nine females, dressed to the teeth in turn-of-the-century gowns and white suits, will steal your hearts away with innocent flirting and fun which ends in a marriage proposal to the tune of "The Bells Are Ringing For Me and My Gal."

"Così Così" is short and fiery Tarentella with four girls in colorful tutus and black bodices displaying their artistry with fans.

"Thoroughly Modern Millie," a character ballet features the music of Sammy Cohn and Jimmy Van Husen. The stylized dancing is a journey back to the 20s. There's "Wind-Up," "Top Hat," "Spin-Out," "Lazy Moon," "Classical Wind" and other ballets on the same par with the guild's rousing and immortal Civil War dance-drama, "The Blue and the Gray."

The finale, "Jump Shout," features the nostalgia of the '40s via the music of Barry Manilow. The stylized choreography conjures up memories of GIs in a canteen and their last furlough dancing their cares away with lovely young girls.

The premiere performance, Saturday at 8 p.m., will honor sponsors, patrons and other supporters. The encore matinee Sunday is at 3 p.m. Advance tickets ($5, adult and $2.50, children and senior citizens) are available at Knight's Shoe Store or the School of Dance Arts, Sanford. Tickets may also be purchased at the door.

Selleck In Chaz Ads Before 'Magnum, P.I.'

DEAR DICK: We would like to know if Tom Selleck does commercials for Chaz cologne for men. Half my family says he does, and the other half says he doesn't. LYNN HAZEN, LaCenter, Wash.

The half that says he does is right. Selleck did those commercials before "Magnum" made him a big star, so the company dusted them off and began using them again.

DEAR DICK: Who played with James Garner in the original "Maverick" series? He had a brother and a cousin. Lots of money riding on this one. MR. AND MRS. MERLE TERRELL, Spencer, Ind.

Jack Kelly played the brother, Bart. The cousin, Beauregard, only appeared late in the show's run, and he was played by Roger Moore, who currently is James Bond. Another brother, Brent, made a few appearances, and Robert Colbert played that part.

DEAR DICK: I have a bet and hope you can help. Could you please tell me if Buck Owens is 44 or 45, or is he closer to 60? PATRICIA STAMM, Williamsport, Pa.

Just about in the middle. Buck was born in '29, so he'll be 53 come his next birthday, in August.

DEAR DICK: I recently saw a movie on TV called, "Change of Seasons." One of the stars was Ed Winter. I would like to know if he was also the star of a series a couple of years ago called "Project UFO." I say he was, but my husband says I'm wrong. LINDA M. SERAFINE, Browns Mills, N.J.

Ask Dick Kleiner

No, this time you're right and your husband is wrong. Edward Winter was, indeed, one of the stars of "Project UFO." He played Capt. Ben Ryan.

DEAR DICK: Please settle a heated argument for me. A friend of mine says that Anson Williams of "Happy Days" is really named Poxie Weber. I say it is Potsie Weber. It's not a big bet, but he won't pay off until he sees it in your column. LURA AND JACKIE, Grosse Tete, La.

Pay off, and a poxie on you. Potsie is the character's name, and always has been. Incidentally, the character's actual first name is listed as Warren, with "Potsie" as his nickname.

Another Asa In The Asa Fan Club

By NANCY M. REICHARDT

NEW YORK — Nearly a year ago we gave you the story of the Asa Club, which was lightheartedly formed by ABC's Asa Hoff, Manager of Business Administration and Affairs for the network, and Asa Buchanan, portrayed on "One Life to Live" by Phil Carey.

When that story ran in Levittown, Pa., a young man named Asa Halsbard saw the article and urged his mother to write to the network explaining that he would like to join the club too. Mom took her pen in hand and wrote the letter to ABC-TV. The network executives were so impressed that they began making arrangements for the youngest Asa to join his "reel idol," Asa Buchanan, on the "One Life to Live" set for a visit.

When Asa Halsbard arrived in New York, his introduction to Asa Buchanan was handled by Asa Hoff. Thrilled to meet the "reel" Asa, the youngster announced to all: "I want to wear a cowboy hat and grow up to own a football team, too!"

Denise Pence (Katie Parker on "Guiding Light") could well have a second career in photography. Denise has practiced her shutterbug talents around the "Guiding Light" set during the four years she's been on the program and has recently produced a collage of snapshots of the show's cast, which has been given a place of honor on the studio's bulletin board.

Taro Meyer (ex-Melissa Needham on "Another World") has a new recording out titled "Heartbeats of America" and it's available through the mail by sending $2.95 plus $1 postage and handling, to the Heartbeats of America Co., 345 Hudson St., New York, NY 10014.

Wayne Massey (Johnny Drummond on "One Life to Live") also has a new record release, for MCA records, which you should be able to find at all local record outlets beginning this month.

Larry Riley (Calvin Barnes on "The Doctors") is moonlighting in the Negro Ensemble Theatre production of "Soldier Play." The subject of the play is the black-white tensions in the Army and it's been receiving such good reviews from critics that the cast is hoping they may be Broadway-bound very soon.

Star Subs Can't Stop The Show

By RUTH THOMPSON
"The show must go on!" And the show, any show, every show — usually does.

When baritone Sherrill Milnes had to cancel the rest of his engagements this season, it changed the structure of his planned joint appearance with handsome tenor Placido Domingo, for a gala special, "In Concert at the Met."

The only lucky element (for the program that is, not, alas, for Mr. Milnes) is that he bowed out early enough so that another major talent could step in, for the March 3 PBS program, taped at the Metropolitan Opera and presented through WNET-13 in New York.

The star who stepped in to save the show is soprano Tatiana Troyanos, who will join Domingo in some duets, interspersing solo arias by both. (A nice side note: It's almost five years to the day since she debuted at the Met in "Der Rosenkallier.")

The cry of "the show must go on" is most well-known for the theater and has been celebrated by two versions of "42nd Street." First, the old movie in which a chorus girl (Ruby Keeler) steps in and brings down the house when the star (Bebe Daniels) breaks an ankle. Now "42nd Street" is also a major Broadway musical.

Actress Jane Elliot has a proposition for producers that would supply them with competent professional standbys and understudies: "Hire soap opera actors who work in New York."

News correspondents Betsy Aaron (l. to r.), Garrick Utley, Douglas Kiker and Jack Perkins provide feature stories, news reports and profiles on "NBC Magazine," to air Friday evenings on NBC.

Newton's Special

NEW YORK — Wayne Newton's ABC special, his first since '68, has New York City as a background... On May 1, Melissa Manchester marries tour conductor Kevin De Remer in their L.A. home. The bride will wear a gown by Bob Mackie, who did her stage wardrobe... Kate Jackson believes her movie "Making Love" is the shot she needed. It's Kate's "transition to a theatrical movie star." In other words, Charlie's angel has kicked the series habit... Eubie Blake's birthday was honored at the Songwriters Hall of Fame. And what's Eubie, who wrote such hits as "I'm Just Wild About Harry," doing these days? "Doing!" squeaked his wife,

Lombardo Band Plays For Meals On Wheels

When the house lights go down at 8 p.m. at Orlando's new Centroplex near Exposition Park next month, the initial strains of "the sweetest music this side of heaven" will mark the first time the very danceable sounds of the famous Guy Lombardo band will be heard in Orlando.

Teddy Phillips, the top saxophone player in the Lombardo band, will lead the group. He was named to head the band following the death of Guy Lombardo in Nov., 1977.

Guy Lombardo and his Royal Canadians will make their first appearance in Orlando at a four-hour dance and entertainment benefit sponsored by Sun Bank for the Orange County Meals On Wheels program that delivers over 1,100 hot meals daily to frail and feeble elderly shut-ins. MOW is administered by the Christian Service Center for Central Florida. Unlike many other nonprofit organizations, the service center does not receive support from any service or fraternal organization. While federal, state and local government sources account for about 75 percent of the needed funds, the remaining 25 percent must come from contributions and individual donations.

Tickets for the March 19 performance are $25 each. Send checks or money orders payable to Meal On Wheels, c/o Sun Banks, P.O. Box 353, Orlando, 32802. Tickets will be sold on a first-come, first-served basis.

Priscilla Barnes: 'Thanks, Suzanne'

Although luck and looks have never hurt any actress, it takes more than that to reach stardom. Ask Priscilla Barnes, this year's blond roommate on ABC's "Three's Company."

"Talent is the key," says Priscilla, "but being in the right place at the right time doesn't hurt."

When she was 17, Bob Hope spotted her in a San Diego fashion show and asked her to join his troupe, which was performing at veterans' hospitals.

At 19, she met Peter Falk while she was working as a hostess at a well-known Los Angeles club. This led to a guest appearance on "Columbo" and several other television and movie roles.

In 1978, she starred in her first series, "American Girls," an unsuccessful attempt at putting "60 Minutes"-style reporters in a "Charlie's Angels" format. The series lasted three months. She says: "People always blame the actors when a show is bad." No one could blame her when she joined "Three's Company."

"It may look easy, but it's not," she answers, when asked about replacing Jenilee Harrison, who filled in for Suzanne Somers after Somers left the show due to contract problems. "A lot of it is very hard work; so much energy is involved. We're always under the gun. I take my work seriously."

Rehearsals are held Thursday, Friday, Monday and Tuesday. On Tuesday nights they do two tapings from which the actual show is taken. The hard work is made easier because she loves working with "roommates" John Ritter and Joyce DeWitt.

"John is a real cut-up," she says. "But he has a very serious side, too. Joyce is a real humanist. I'm the most conservative of the three."

"I had a very strict upbringing," she says, mostly due to her Air Force father. "I couldn't go to my prom, no basketball games, no bicycles. But I was a very gregarious child. I constantly embarrassed my parents with my insanity."

She wanted to be a dancer, but after a broken leg she decided to stick to acting. And beauty contests, of which she won several. Realizing that luck and looks can run out, Miss Barnes continues to work on her craft with acting lessons.
